It was a long career, beginning, practically, as an infant in appearances as the Duke of York in Richard III and ending as a child less than 3 years of age. At 4 she made her début in New York with J. K. Emmett at Wallack's Theatre. She was a star at 19. After that she took what fate the Queen offered, playing the trivial as well as the profound. Her appearances in Shakespeare were innumerable. Beginning in Nothing to Nothing as the Norwegian, she appeared in fifteen parts before public esteem had committed him in the most course of events she played the title parts in such varied dramas as "Tess of the D'Urbervilles," "Leah Kleschna," "Becky Sharp," "Mrs. Bumpstead-Leigh" and "Madame Sand", when she astonished the world by smoking a cigar. She was the feminine Duffy in "Wake up, Jonathan," which, by the way was such a tradition that thirty years after her original appearance in that gallant and anxious role it still threatened to swamp her repertory on closing.

What she stood for was splendid. What she accomplished was fine. But what made of us an adventure with the tenderest affection is the personality of the woman, tremulous with wit and animation on the stage, without having any of the magnificence of showmanship, her address to the moments of the keenest excitement, like the reaches of a superior being who charged us to be quiet and to be ourselves, meticsome vitality. Sometimes her plays were ordinary, but there was nothing ordinary about her. And as the years went on, by some sort of inner refreshment, the spirit remained without losing any of its ripeness. When she set her sights at sixties she could apply sunny commonsense to a gloomy playwright's heroine and give us a Mrs. Alving who was right with her thinking. Mrs. Fiske never surrendered to idolatry.—New York Times.

Little Benny's Note Book

THE WEEKLY NEWS

Weather: Summer.

SOCIAL PAGE

Miss Maud Jonson received a homemade valleytime under her door from the Valleytime Day, being a picture of roses and vyiets growing on the same tree and a pome as follows:

Roses are red
And vyiets are blue,
I hope I never get married
But if I half to have a wife I hope
Its you.

CROSSWERD PUZZLE

A 5 letter werd meening the indigestion.

Anser, Picknick.

Anuther letter werd meening bad news.

Anser, Report card.

HOME DAY SKINNY MARTIN

A Matter of Taist

When I shine my shoes on the edge of the tub

They change to brite from dim,

But my parents injoy the ole much more

Than the site of the bathtub rim.

PERSONEL

Puds Simkins rubs his fingers to clean them off when he eats, the only thing part being how he gets his napkin so dirty at the same time.

LABOR NOTES

Sid Hunts big brother Fred insent working again just at present, sayings he would hate to feel he was keeping somebody out of a job.

Dr. Johnson used to say that where accuracy or mystery began, vice or roguery was not far off.

Letters to the Editor

Editor Ontario Intelligencer:

Dear Sir,—A writer in one of the newspapers said that it indicates a know-back to Jungle days to say "Oh, yeah".

When you give a guy the air
Say, Oh yeah,
And like a glassy stare
And say, Oh yeah
To show him his position
And bring on the "all wet" condition
Just say, Oh yeah.

When you meet a naughty bandit
Say, Oh yeah,
When he says, "Your money, hand it",
Just say, Oh yeah?
Then watch him sneak away
Without a word to say.
Think so? Oh yeah.

When the wife gets in a rage
Say, Oh yeah.
Just look solemn, wise and sage
And say, Oh yeah.
When the rolling pin's in action
Don't deviate a fraction,
Softly say, Oh yeah.

Old Tarzan of the Apes
Says, Oh yeah.
He lions stands and gapes
And says, Oh yeah.
With years they'll fill the air
As they crawl into their lair
Sure! Oh yeah.

Just fallacies in the jungle
Said, Oh yeah,
When o'er tigers they would stumble
Sir,
Just, Oh yeah.
When the enemies got sore
Just this and nothing more,
Oh, yeah.

So in the custom Spanish
Say, Oh yeah.
Then watch your troubles vanish
Oh, yeah.
Just take your ukelele,
And strum it once and gaily,
Yeah, oh, yeah.

Yours truly,
R. W. CLARE.

HONORED BY TEACHERS

Brantford, Feb. 20—The school teachers of Brant County tendered a complimentary banquet last evening to T. W. Standing, who retired on Dec. 31 last after long service as rural school inspector. He was succeeded by Lieut.-Col. W. Joyce, Ivegg principal of Central School here.

Spare this lovely

An Eagle in the Sky

By Wallace Havelock Robb, of Abbey Dawn

Three Bald Eagles Are Reported Wintering Near Picton, and Have Been Seen Over Gananoque, Kingston, Napanee and Belleville.

Bald Eagles!
Soaring in the heavens!
Lighting the azure dome
With sunlight flashes from Their snowy heads and Pure white, farming tails—
Flashing lights
In the starless, cloudless void
Of flanking day!

Soaring eagles,
Beautiful to see!
Save them!
Save them from the thoughtless gun.
The craven hand
Too ready to despoil.

My God, in holy service
To thy people,
Calling aloud in the name of Beauty,
Pleading with the Passionate violence
Of uncontrolled adoration
Prostrate before Thee—I appeal.
Save this lovely sight.
This Bird in the Blue,
Filling the eyes of humanity
With wild ecstasy.
Winging undefiled!

O Saviour of Man,
Save also this—
A soaring, winnowing,
Sweeping light, as a smile
Beaming on the boy of noon,
Or is it some distilled
Essence of Thy Divine Sense
Of the fitness of things?
A gesture of joy—
A Bald Eagle!
Hovering over the Rolling landscape,
Wheeling in the waning day,
And winging its passage westward
As the soul of yearning man
Has often longed to fly,
Sailing as a shadow
Dream of life,
Fading from earthly vision,
And disappearing
In the blue of eternal beauty
Bursting through
A scattered bank of clouds
At sve!

O Giver of Life,
And Lover of Light
And Understanding,
Have compassion on posterity,

Spare this lovely

WATCH REPAIRS
Don't put your watch to sleep—it's as useless until you've had it repaired. Don't let it be a mere trifle will make it go.

Watch repairing is our specialty.

We do repairs quickly, guarantee results and ask reasonable prices always.

J. O. R. McCurdy
Phone 318 234 Front St.

Will Receive at least $200 Monthly During the Rest of Her Life!

IN NOVEMBER, 1925, M.R., holder of Monthly Income Policies Nos. 152,205 and 127,666 died. Every month since that time his widow has received a cheque for $200 from The Mutual Life of Canada. During the past six years she has also received more than $4,400 in excess interest dividends, and will continue to receive these dividends for the next fourteen years.

Her age when the payments started was 53. She will receive monthly cheques for $200 AS LONG AS SHE LIVES.

If she does not survive to receive 240 payments the balance of this number will be paid to her heirs.

Money placed in a Mutual Life of Canada Monthly Income Policy is well-invested. It provides a steady, substantial income when it is needed most.

The Monthly Income Policy can be combined with the Endowment Plan. This provides for a retirement income for the person insured.

If you would like further information, send the coupon below to our Head Office.

THE MUTUAL LIFE Assurance Company OF CANADA
Head Office: WATERLOO, ONT.
Established 1869

I should like to have further particulars of your Monthly Income Plans

Name .....

Address .....

Age .....

Age of person to be the beneficiary .....

S. BURROWS, C.L.U.
District Manager,
Belleville, Ontario

COLLEGIATE HITS A SNAG IN TWEED KIDS

Knowledge Hunters On Short End of 4-3 Count

FAST GAME

Locals' Inability to Get Rubber Off Ice Cause of Downfall

In a wild and hectic finish, the Tweed High School hockey team bested the local Collegiate team by the score of 4 to 3 in Tweed last night. The game was filled with thrills from the beginning until the final bell and the Tweed team were in command of the situation for the greater part of the night, but the locals staged rally after rally to pull up even with the Homesters.

For the 'Homsters' McGuire and Ryan were the pick with Rashotte also playing good hockey. For Belleville, Hinton turned in a very good game while 'Shud' Ethier was good on the offensive but his work on the defence was anything but what would be expected from a player with the experience, that Ethier has had. The rest of the local team played fair hockey but could not get used to the smaller ice surface. Carl Morgan and Jimmie Polwell turned in the most steady game but could not seem to score any goals for the locals.

Play Opened Fast

Play opened fast as was expected and both teams were bombarding almost as a will but neither team were making much headway. The home team were beginning to show their wares just before Ryan took a perfect pass from McGuire 40 open the scoring of the night.

Both teams presented players, who have had considerable experience in higher classes of hockey than they were playing in, when Belleville had some Junior O.H.A. players and Tweed had some players, who have been playing in the Hastings County League. Just before the half was ushered to end the first period, Merlw broke loose and with a nice clever effort put the home team two goals up. The period ended Tweed 2, Belleville 0.

Play opened cautiously in the second frame with Ethier broke through the entire Tweed team to open the scoring for the locals, when he beat Sloan with a nice snide shot. Rashotte, not to be out-done, also broke away on a second rush and evaded the entire Belleville team to score the score 3 to 1 for Tweed. Play became more intense and many penalties were meted out by Referee Scally, as the players became somewhat rough. Just before the end of the period 'Shud' Ethier again broke loose and skated through the entire defence for another counter for Belleville. Play raged up and down the ice but no further scoring was the evidence and the period ended 3 to 2 for Tweed.

In the final frame the Belleville team threw caution to the winds and bombarded the Tweed citadel from all angles, but were unable to beat Shoney as their shooting was anything but good. Nothing remained but for "Shud" Ethier to again open the scoring for the locals, which he beat Sloan with a nice shot. Seeing the sight of victory slipping out of their grasp, the locals started a series of rushes, which were broken up by the Tweed goal, when Terry scored on a long shot from outside of the defence. The Belleville team had the puck down with the greater part of the game and ended 4 to 3 for Tweed.

The O.C.I. team are still out in front of their league and can top the league honors by winning from the Tweed team on Tuesday.

Lineups:

Tweed — goal Shoney; defence LaPentaine and Rashotte; centre Arbor; wings Ryan and McGuire.

Tuba, McCrea, Merlw, Colton and Terry.

Belleville — goal Hinton; defence Ethier and Polwell; centre High; wings, Barrington and Ethier, Bobo Goyer, Morgan, and Graves.

Referee—Tommy Scally of Tweed.

Summary

1st Period—

Tweed—Ryan (McGuire) 11.50

Tweed—Merlw 6.50

2nd Period—

Belleville—Ethier 3.15

Tweed—Rashotte 2.45

Belleville—Ethier 2.55

3rd Period—

Belleville—Ethier 10.00

Tweed—Terry 3.00

KI-Y LEAGUE

By virtue of their win over the Spartans last night, the Red Wings jumped into second place, one full game behind the league leading Bulldogs. The Red Wings battled the entire sixty minutes before they could merge winners, by the score of 2 to 1, over the Spartans. These Ki-Y league juvenile game are interesting affairs, spectators each night and before the season is finished a goodly crowd will witness the final play-offs. On the night's play no individual star was to be seen as both teams resorted to combination team play. A Ki-Y league game can be seen almost every night between the hours of 8 and 9 at the Arena. The Belleville juveniles battle the Kingston juveniles this afternoon.

Lineups for last night's game:

Spartans—Scrivens, White, Hilton, Richardson, Wood, Kelcher and Hay.

Red Wings—McLaughan, Empson, Schrieden, Forster, Mattis, Green, Hogan and Burt.

Watson scored for the Spartans while Empson and Mattis got the Red Wing's counters.

Referee—Ken Fox.

League Standings

HOCKEY	Won	Lost
Tweed High School ...	3	1
Belleville I. ...	3	1
Napanee High School ...	1	3
O. C. I. ...	1	3

BASKETALL—E.O.S.T.

	Won	Lost
R. M. C. ...	4	1
Belleville ...	3	2
Queen's ...	1	3
Kingston ...	1	3

VOLLETBALL	Won	Lost
Senior A ...	4	0
Business Men ...	3	1
Rotary Club ...	2	2
Kiwanis Club ...	2	2
Senior B. ...	1	3
R.C.A.F. ...	0	4

All the volleyball teams will meet on Tuesday night.

These games are played at the Y.M.C.A. and the public are invited to witness these contests of local interest.

COMING

Sensational Figure Skating by WORLD CHAMPIONS TORONTO SKATING CLUB "Kaleidoscope"

A glittering whirling fantasy of beauty and color—the most beautiful lighting effects ever conceived—especially trained unit of 100 misicians—ensemble that will fascinate and delight. You will see for this is a world-wide company to bring them all together—the world's best skaters set in a brilliant, beautiful spectacle.

The most marvelous aggregation of figure skating ever gathered together in one spectacle.

NEVER BEFORE— PERHAPS NEVER AGAIN

GET YOUR TICKETS EARLY

One Night Only

Belleville Arena

Friday, Mar. 11, 1932

THE WORLD'S MOST WONDERFUL SPECTACLE ON ICE

REXALL BIRTHDAY SALE

50c bottle VAPURE INHALANT and 25c box LAXATIVE BROMIDE QUININE

BOTH FOR

50c

McKeown's

DRUG STORE

ARENA

SATURDAY

9.00—12.00—Public Schools

2.30—5.00—Public Skating

8.00—10.00

Public Skating, Band Admission 35c and 25c

25% OFF ALL OVERCOATS at CHAS. J. SYMONS Men's Store 206 Front St.

SPORTS

By JIMMY THOMPSON

GEORGE BOUCHER

Newmanager for the Chicago's Professional Hockey Team

SLATED FOR COACH

Strange rumors continue to emanate from Chicago that George Boucher, one of the real veterans still active in the National Hockey League will replace Emil Iverson as Black Hawk leader. Boucher is performing well on the Hawk defence, filling in after injuries disabled the team. Should he be appointed this season he would be the third coach-manager the Hawks have had since the start of the season. Godfrey Matheson, of the distinguished Canadian churchman, Archbishop Matheson, being the first and Iverson the second.

Hockey Results

O. H. A. Senior

sPort Colborne 4; Niagara Falls 2

sPort Colborne wins the round by 6-1.

O.H.A. Intermediate

sActon 4; Georgetown 3

sActon wins round 6-4.

sDurham 7; Wiarton 1.

10 minutes overtime, Durham wins round 8-4.

Stratford 4; Tavistock 1.

Preston 3; New Hamburg 0.

Dunnville 3; Hagersville 1.

Simcoe 6; Port Dover 1.

O.H.A. Junior

sMarlboro 3; West Toronto 0.

sMarlboro wins group.

sLondon 8; Windsor 2.

Comic Sections Are Banned

Saskatoon, February 20. — An order banning newspaper comic sections from the children's department of the city libraries caused a mild sensation here today. The order emanated from Mrs. J. B. Harrington, one of the board members who was assigned to "clean up" the library and was prompted by a desire to elevate the literary tastes of the children in the city, she explained. Other members of the board were divided on the question.

The ban came close on the heels of a ban on such novels as "All Quiet on the Western Front" and "Grand Hotel" which were kept under lock and key until after a controversy the board decided to permit their circulation among adults, from a "closed" shelf.

INJURED AT MILL

Campbellford, Feb. 20. — Miss Mabel Haynes met with a painful accident at the Cloth Mills here when a bobbin flew out of a machine she was operating, making a cut above her eye.

Belcano

Beauty is Yours for the Asking

IT is so simple to give yourself a facial treatment with the quickly pleasant, fragrant Belcano Mask, that even the husband of women may have topple, unblemished, luminous complexions.

ONE merely applies a soft smooth, even layer of the Mask, and goes about one home tasks while it is drying. In about half an hour, remove the Mask with clear water. Then use Theuo Cream and make-up as usual.

DOLAN

THE DRUGGIST

PHONE 138

Current Sport

By The Observer

Belleville's famous hockey team of 1944 will be the talk of this topic for today. Many versions have been handed down as to their ability and prowess on the ice. Even to this day old-timers still talk about the Belleville team of 1944.

Perhaps the older hockey fans know more about the personnel of the team than we do, but, here is the line-up—Goal, Winkler; defence, Ted McNamara, owner-point, Harry Brown; rover, "Sandy" Burrows; centre, "Tiny" Mosher; wings, Jack Marks and Harry Kennedy; coach, Percy Johnson. We need not here dilate upon their great ability and scientific methods as their feats while on the ice have been handed down from time to time.

The locals were grouped with Peterboro, Port Hope and Picton that year, and only lost one game, that being in Peterboro by a one-goal margin. It seems that there was plenty of trouble that year and numerous protests were lodged by the various clubs, but, eventually Belleville won the group and Brockville, as winners of group No. 1, decided to play the locals for the playdown series. The next play off series was held in the old Lyceum Toronto Marlboros and Belleville. The locals lost in Toronto and Marlboros defaulted the final game, which was to be played here. The "Dukes", however sent a scratch team to Belleville and some sort of a game was played. Then Belleville went to Ottawa to participate in the O.H.A. semifinals.

The locals defeated Midland by the score of 10 to 7 and were about to return home for the second game, in Midland. The winners of this series were to play Stratford in the semi-finals. When the locals arrived in Toronto on their return trip, they were informed that Midland had been disqualified and thrown out of the O. H. A. This bit of news caused the bursting of a bomb-shell in the camp of the locals as they did not know that there had been about or at least they pretended they didn't know.

The trouble arose over the local's star defence player, "Buddy" Ryan, who by the way is residing in Cornwall. Ont. "Red" had been professionalism of for the sum of $50 accepted money. The true and exact story has never been told, but here is one of the current stories related. It seems that Mc-Millan owed a bill of $80.00 in Smith's Falls and the local club officials were supposed to have paid this bill. It was a grocery account and the grocer in question passed the information on when they applied as establish a game in that town. (You can take that story for what it is worth).

These are some of the facts concerning Belleville's famous hockey team of 1944. We expect to hear a lot of controversy on the subject but we have handed down exactly the information to kindle the o'd fire which always keeps burning over the 1904 hockey team.

Belleville's junior team did not go far that year, as they were defeated in their group by the Cobourg juniors, who were composed of the following goal; W. Hamilton, point; Conley, cover-point; Jack Murray, centre; Spangenburg, centre, and Weiler and E. Hamilton, wings. Chancer Elliott of Kingston was the official referee in those days.

In going over the old files of the Daily Ontario we find that Belleville had also a basketball team as far back as 1898. That year the team consisted of the following players: Hitchon, McLeary, Hickey, Nash and Wallace. We find one entry of their victory in the Provincial basketball team. The score was 16 to 7 and the game was played in the Lift Lock I was told. The local team was called the Belleville Y.M.C.A. team.

Early this afternoon the Belleville juveniles were battling the Kingston juveniles at the Belleville Arena. This is a return fixture as the locals have already played a 5-all tie in the Limestone City. The locals look for a win this afternoon.

Jack Dempsey ran into a bad snag on Thursday night when King Levinsky stood toe to toe with him and outslugged the Manassa Mauler, but, the old age saying of "youth must be served" held true, for it might be added that no heavyweight with the exception of Tunney stayed a successful come-back so perhaps the Dempsey admirers are just wishing for a little too much. Of course he may yet live to annex his lost crown.

The B.C.I. hockey team sure ran amiss last night out in Tweed. The lack of scoring punch seems to be the great trouble with the Students this year. They are not the team they were last season. Their defence is not as steady as it was last year, but we are of the opinion that if these self-same kids would "cut loose the game" a little more and forget their outside troubles, they would be a tough team to beat. Better snap out of it boys.

A large crowd of fans should be present at the Tweed - Belleville game next week. After their defeat last night, by the score of 4 to 3, the locals should put "pep" in at their next game here.

CURLING

Although it was slightly warmer yesterday, the curlers had two perfect sheets of ice for their play in the spoon competition last night. C. A. Symons added to his collection of silverware by winning, but Dr. Daly gave him a scare. Willis Galloway went to play his last rock, the doctor was lying five and all fairly well guarded. "Jim" had nothing but a "dead" draw to the button and he laid away a perfect stone. A slight wick and roll gave him the counter and set Dr. Daly out of the winner's class. Some of the boys enjoyed the cosy fire in the club house and played euchre and from all reports it was a tidy battle.

The Junior rink will journey to Kingston on Thursday night next for their return game on the club in a C.O.C.L. fixture. The Belleville Curling Club enjoyed a 15-shot lead and hope to bring the cup up with them on the mantel piece of the Club Room. The scores last night were:

J. Mcgrath	Skip—12	J. Anderson
A. R. Graham		Dr. Seymour
C. H. Deacy		E. A. Peck
J. O. Galloway	Skip—15	Dr. M. A. Day
G. Elliott		Dr. Gutheridge
J. A. Cowen	Skip—11	J. O. R. McCurdy
A. R. Symons		J. W. Daviaud
C. J. Symons	Skip—6	R. E. Orr

16th Selection

Following is the sixteenth of a Canadian Press series of National Hockey League all-star team selections by editors in N.H.L. cities. A consensus will be prepared later.

By Lloyd Northard, "The News", Detroit.

First Team—Goal, Gardiner, Chicago; defence, Shore, Boston; centre, Conacher, Toronto; centre, Morenz, Canadiens; right wing, W. Cook, Rangers; left wing, Smith, Maroons; coach, Patrick, Rangers.

Alternate Team—Goal, Worters, Americans; defence, Dutton, American; defence, Johnson, Rangers; centre, Goodfellow, Detroit; right wing, Gagnon, Canadiens; left wing, Klinck, Detroit; coach, Irvin, Toronto.

NORWAY WINS AT OWN STYLE

Taken Nearly all the Honors in World Speed Skating

Lake Placid, N.Y., Feb. 20—Norway held almost all the places of honor in the world's speed skating championships going into the second half of the programme today as well as the first two titles decided.

Led by Ivar Ballangrud, the Norwegian skaters who failed in their attempt to master the North American style of racing in the Olympic games, held the first three places in the point scoring for the big individual title of "champion of the world in speed skating for 1932."

The world's championship events are run on the European plan of having two men state against time in each heat. The best time wins the championship and the low point total, based on the times made in the four events, decides the all-around championship.

MERCURY DOES NOT HIT ZERO

Four Degree Margin Saves Season's Record So Far

"It's not exactly cold — it's the north wind," said the editor as he wobbled wearily into the sanctorum this morning, with coat collar up around his ears.

"How do you like to have been me . . . . ? My furnace went out last night," moaned the man with the pasts beside him. "I got up and build up the fire early this morning . . . and then when I went back to bed I was too cold to sleep."

"We nearly froze to death coming to work," chorused the staff.

"It's a couple of months from now you'll be yelling: 'It isn't the heat—it's the humidity'," chided the man with the shears as he reached for the out-of-town papers. "The cheery game of news butchery was about to begin.

"Well, we wish it would make up it's mind to either be hot or cold," finished the staff.

"Find out if it really is below zero" requested the editor, scenting a story. "See how late we have had real zero weather in past years."

"It wasn't below zero after all," exulted the man who had been making observations. "At midnight this morning the lowest that has been recorded at the pump house was 4 above zero. Now that the sun is coming up it's getting warmer."

"The ice man may get ice on the bay after all," remarked the statistician. "The records show that we have had zero weather right up to April. That was in 1925. See what I found in the files: For the past number of years concerning the latest periods of the month zero has been recorded:

1925—April 1st it was one below zero, but in March of that same year there were three days: 27-28-29 with temperatures averaging around nine below zero. A man drove across the ice on the bay that April the second that year to and from the pump house right across to Rednerville," he added helpfully.

March 1924 it was 2 below on the first day of the month.

March 1923 it was 3 below on the third day of the month.

March 1926 it was 10 below on the sixth. That was the latest and coldest that had been recorded. And since that year of 1926 the winters have been getting warmer and warmer all the time." "Ain't that something," echoed the staff. "The ice man may get a break after all."

"Here's something else that may revive memories", added the man on the fyles. Back in February, 1877, Dr. Barnes came up from Montreal, with four containers of Thermite, each 400 pounds in weight. The idea was to blast the ice out of the river for fear that there would be a flood when it started to go. Half the council were for it, and half were against it. If you remember back that far, and there was almost a war before the thing was finished. Anyhow the stuff was disintegrated and it gave a lot of them a big kick . . . ."

"And everybody was happy," added the staff.

"Something' like that."

Safe Speedy Relief NEURALGIA

Neuralgic pain let loose by any other part of the body quickly ended by

T-R-C's

Tablets Effervescent

30c and $1 at all druggists

ANOTHER TRIUMPH for CANADA!

"Imports of Canadian tobacco through the Port of London in 1930 amounted to 728,000 lbs. and in 1931 to 2,070,000 lbs. and is still on the increase."

THUS marked and growing preference, by the sophisticated smokers of the Homeland, for Canada's tobacco, is a tribute to the quality of her tobacco crop.

And Picobac is the pick of this crop . . . cool, mild, fragrant and long-burning . . . small wonder that Picobac, Canada's own Burley, is gaining scores of new friends each week. Have you tried it?

—and don't forget, you get more tobacco for your money!

Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada, Limited

Picobac

The Pick of Canada's Burley Tobacco

GROWN IN SUNNY, SOUTHERN ONTARIO

A. C. Hoover, in the Leaves of the Mayweed Daily Star, January 25, 1932

it's Canadian through and through

HANDY POCKET TIN 15c.

HALF-POUND HUMIDOR 75c.

Leishman Suits

Made to Measure

$35.00

MONDAY TUESDAY WEDNESDAY

Feb. 22nd, 23rd, 24th.

Will be days of Opportunity For You

A representative of the Leishman Co., will be with us for these three days to take care of all orders.

SEE WINDOWS FOR SPECIAL OFFERING!

Quick & Robertson

CORRECT CLOTHING FOR MEN

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

The Robbers Are Worried

By Thornton W. Burgess

In all the world the saddest end Is that of one who lacks a friend. —Old Mother Nature.

For a long time Robber the Rat, his children and grandchildren, had lived in comparative peace in Farmer Brown's barn. They had increased in numbers until they felt that they owned the place. They came and went about as they pleased and grew fat on stolen grain. Robber was a grey old Rat with the cunning and wisdom of long experience, and what he knew he taught the others. In vain Farmer Brown's Boy set traps for them. They were all about the traps and warned the others. Now and then Flip the Terrier would catch a foolish and heedless young Rat, but he was not much of a Mouse. They all laughed.

There seemed to be nothing that Farmer Brown's Boy could do to get rid of, that tribe of Robbers.

Once a long time ago Billy the Mink had come to live in that barn, and Robber the Rat and Billy had agreed to leave with such of his family as had not been killed. Since that time Robber had learned that Billy was no longer there, but he never turned. Now for a long time the Robbers had done about as they pleased.

Of late a feeling of uneasiness had taken possession of Robber and all the other Rats. Their numbers had decreased in a mysterious way, and no one seemed to know why. A young Rat would leave his home to steal grain and would not return. He mysteriously disappeared and nothing more was heard of him. No trace of him could be found. Perhaps he had been caught, but no other would disappear in the same mysterious way. Now and then the same thing would happen to one of the older and wiser members of the tribe.

Robber called together the oldest and wisest of the Rats and they talked the matter over. All knew what was happening, yet not one had an explanation to offer. All were sure that Billy Mink had not returned to the barn. Then that sly cousin, Shadow the Weasel, was nowhere around. They would have known it had they been there, for it was the way of Billy and Shadow to follow their trails to their very homes. Besides they left the bodies of those they killed, for it is not a single dead Rat had been found. Those that had disappeared were in the line to catch. They went out and just never came back.

"I have noticed, too," said another, "that it was those who have gone outside the barn who have never come back."

Again Robber nodded. "That means that whatever has happened had happened outside. There must be the enemy out there of whom we know nothing. Pass the word around that hereafter we are sure to go outside and all stealing is to be done in the darkness of the night or in daylight. We shall see what happens then."

So the word was passed and in the early evening and in the early morning all the Rats crawled in their homes. For several days there seemed to be nothing to worry Robber began to feel easier. And then all in an instant his worries returned. He had climbed up to the haymow and was sitting where he was hidden by hay but could look out across an empty space from which the hay had been taken. It was in the middle of the afternoon, and while the light up there was dim there was plenty to see by. A Mouse started to run across the floor but never reached the other side. Something seemed to drop on that Mouse, something that made no sound. Then that something disappeared high overhead and took the Mouse with it.

Robber called together the oldest and wisest of the Rats and they talked the matter over.

Robber gasped. He knew now where those missing members of the tribe had gone. "An Owl!" he exclaimed under his breath. "An Owl and inside this barn! It couldn't be Hooty, and it wasn't Spooky the Screech Owl, for it was too big for him. But it certainly was an Owl. Only an Owl could have caught that Mouse and made no sound with his wings. I must warn all the tribe. Now I know that there is danger inside as well as outside. I wonder how that fellow got in."

So Robber warned all his children and grandchildren and there was much worrying among the Robbers.

(Copyright, 1932, T. W. Burgess)

The next story: "Robber Has a Shock."

Few men are admired by their servants.—Montaigne.

So New This Year!

Sweaters are being knitted as fast as long fingers and clicking needles can move them out. And when these dainty garments become soiled MODERN dry cleaned makes them new again without danger of shrinking.

MODERN
CLEANERS AND DYERS
126 Front St. Phone 729
If Modern Cleaned It's Clean

290-2tf

INDIGESTION

Immediate relief!

RICH food . . . strong coffee . . . drink need of an anti-acid. Heed heavy breathing. Then the penalty for indulgence. Digestive distress!

Nothing can be banished by this form of suffering simply have not learned its one unfailing cause.

Usually, it's the fault of too much acid.

Meats, fish, breads, pastry can easily cause over-acidity, and this disturbs the alkaline balance; foods don't digest. They can't. Nothing ever tastes good. One cigar—and you are logy as if you had smoked ten. Things you eat sour in the stomach, causing pain, flatulence. Your head aches, and you are constipated. Those are danger signals! Warnings that you are in need of an anti-acid. Phillips' Milk of Magnesia corrects acidity instantly. It's one of 50 cent bottle. (Made in Can.)

Phillips' Milk of Magnesia is the quickest and most certain way with a little Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

A creamy, pleasant-tasting spoonful will neutralize many times its volume in harmful acid. Just take it for several days, all the whole digestive system is sweetened. Until the appetite returns, and that sour, over-acidity has disappeared. Doctors endorse Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. So be sure you get genuine Phillips' and not a substitute. All drug stores in the dominion have genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia in convenient sizes.

Women's Interests in the Home

WARNS OF EYE STRAIN AND BLINDNESS

National Society of U. S. Cites Various Causes of Blindness

Despite man's ingenuity in combating the forces of evil and guarding against the dangers that confront him daily, the ability becomes lacking when accidents to the eyes occur which often result in blindness, it was declared today, according to L. H. Carris in Life and Health. In a circular taken by the National Society for the Prevention of Blindness it was intimated that an appalling loss of sight and an amazing variety of accidents cause injury to one or both eyes.

A statistical tabulation and analysis of eye-injuring accidents has been made by the society, based on newspaper accounts published throughout the United States over a period of several months. Approximately one such eye accident is resulted in a total loss of sight and 1,000 others in the loss of one eye.

The most terrible accidents occur usually in shops and factories. 35 per cent of all accidents reported were of industrial origin. Most of these could have been avoided by wearing goggles, by the use of machine guards, or by proper care of explosives, says the writer.

"Curiously, the same eye accidents in schools seemed to happen with regularity year after year; one notable exception was the case of a college professor, who took his mask off while shooting, and had it not been put out by his opponent's foil," he remarked. Carelessness and bewildering mishaps and carelessness with penknives resulted in numerous painful injuries.

"High school students in physics and chemistry classes suffered very painful eye injuries occasionally when they experimented on their own without the supervision of an instructor. Thus, the careless use of acquate facilities in their own homes.

"It is estimated that a tremendous total of blindness is caused by accidents with fireworks annually. There are many instances of amateur carpenters who suffer serious eye injuries when nails are split in driving rebound and strike them in the eye. Children suffer eye injuries by flying pieces of wood while chopping fuel.

Women share in these dangers around the home as well as the man. A surprising number of these are known to have seriously injured their eyesight by accidentally touching this delicate human mechanism with hot curling irons while curling their hair. Drops of cheap face lotions sometimes under the eyelids sometimes have disastrous results.

"But children are most susceptible victims. The girl who are interested in observing the exact manner in which a boy bats on the wonderful process of making pancakes toss them high enough to be out of eye by the flying grease from the pan. A small boy trying to cut his shoe laces with a pair of scissors he shoes before rushing out to play accidentally cuts his eyeball when his eyes.

"Whibbling is the cause of a number of eye injuries among boys; air rifles and bows and arrows also take their toll. Sometimes carelessness leads to dire consequences, as in the case of the boy who was struck in the eye with a bit of flying metal from a grinding the plumber working in his home.

On the list of dangerous holiday is June 25. Every Christmas thousands of boys get a gift that most of them will be sorry for regretfully—an air rifle. Its use may be safe in the hands of boys over 15 January and February brings a high toll of eyes injured or destroyed by shotgun air rifles and revolvers cities and other thickly populated communities.

"Perhaps the saddest case of men and women being crippled for life unnecessarily are those which result from gunpowder explosions. The practical joker who shoots pins and paper clips and does other supposedly funny stunts in the school, workshop or office is to blame for numberless instances of blindness or serious eye injuries."

Poet's Corner

LOST KINGDOMS

And now I believe the words of those who weep.
Through empty days and nights of bleak despair,
For dear, lost kingdoms that they could not keep.
I too must stand in alien fields and stare
With burning eyes upon a distant land.
On hallow hills, whose purple splendor lies
Carelessly on meadows far more green
Than those that claim this cold, unfriendly sky;
Not theirs the loss of cherished bloom and leaf;
Not theirs the pang of beauty's perishing
Within us all, the listening heart and sight bear
A lone child's grief for kingdoms lost and dear.
—Constance Davies Woodrow in Canadian Bookman.

Beauty..... BY HELEN JAMIESON

Revising the M ake-up Schedule

Paris couturieres, with the ever-keen French eye for business, carry their own lines of perfume and cosmetics. Their cosmetic, salons are beautifully appointed, presided over by pretty maids, and by salesmen who, evidently, were born with the gifts of gab and flattery highly developed. The American cash-customer—deeply impressed if it is her first visit to the maison of the distinguisher designer— selects her frocks and then is assisted into the powder-and-paint shop to fling a young fortune on special make-up, a set of toiletries for each robe. It's an expensive diversion, but the thrills may be worth the money.

An American woman just returned from the city of sartorial raptures is lamenting. Her complexion problems were worked out for her by an expert. For the green frock there was this powder, that rouge, a certain lipstick, a divine eyeshadow, or the mauve frock, another color scheme. Her hair, the groups in all. Then, in the madness and confusion of hasty packing, she lost the precious combinations, all so carefully worked out. I don't know what lipstick goes with which rouge. Don't know anything about any of them. She only knows that she put them in half dozen lots, and no two settles are to overlap sides.

She'll have fun putting them together like a new puzzle, anyhow observing results, trotting them out when the girls come in for a little chat, telling about the big time she's had attending.

LIBRARY CORNER

One of the Library's new books this week is the autobiography of a Dutch boy from Java, who building a "plane between the time he was in the air, taught himself to fly, whose odd-looking monoplane was turned down by England at the outbreak of the war because of the fear that when the 'plane was successful was offered £2,000,000 to rectify the error. Flying Dutchman, the story of Anthony Fokker", by Jimmy Hatt. "Fokker and Bert Cooke" contains many such exciting incidents. He was the first pilot in Germany to loop-the-loop and the first to fly under the bridges in Berlin while the latter was considered impossible. He was also the first to fly a machine with a machine gun which shot between the propeller blades. During the World War he was interned in Holland and was not released until 1919. He then began to build planes in Holland and in 1922 came to America. He has had many interesting experiences and has written a very interesting book.

"Travels in Nature Land" by Clara Kern Bayliss. Mrs. Bayliss has written a book of nature stories for children. Each story is told in a delightful manner and is full of information about the birds, animals and flowers. The book is illustrated with many pictures.

"Sea Legs" by Frank T. Bullen. Mr. Bullen has written a book of sea stories which will appeal to boys. The stories are told in a manner which makes them very interesting

FINANCIAL NEWS

NO CHANGE ON MINE BOARD

All Important Gold Stock Important Gold Stocks Are All Easy

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 20.—Price moved irregularly lower on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange during the index's abbreviated session. Interest in higher-priced stocks was marked by light selling, while cheaper issues displayed mixed changes for the day.

Movement among more important issues were all easy. Teck Hughes, Granada and Dome dropping 3 to 5 cents apiece and Pioneer of B.C. 10 to $3.46. Hollinger and Lake Shore were firm. In the lower-priced division Mosher reached a couple, McLeod River lost a cent or so under pressure but there persisted liquidation and Alexandria and Canadian Malartic local interests. Harry Hollinger and Harker displayed some buoyancy.

Noranda sold off 30 at the opening and failed to recover International Nickel was a soft spot, price slipping 55 to around $8. Hudson Bay managed to turn a fairly good 4-point-loss turnover. Siderado was subjected to some profit-taking but was only a cent or so down on end. In the oil group Nordon was up a half and Peninsular Pete was slightly lower.

CLOSING TONE WAS HEAVY

Traders With Profit Decide to Cash in Over Weekend

New York, N.Y., Feb. 20.—The Stock Market was quietly and heavily on weight at the close of the week today. Trading was quiet, and the volume of business for the short day or two although a few issues lost fractions of a point. Trade and business reports failed to provide any fresh encouragement, and traders with profits decided to cash in on them over the week-end in view of the Washington's birthday week end.

Reburn was an isolated weak feature, tumbling more than 10 points, as a large block of stock appeared on the market, and found no nearby bids. American Telephone was also under pressure, losing more than 3 points. Santa Fe fell 4. The demand for the day's offerings was, however, was only about 900,000 shares, the closing hour being dull.

If short selling was not entirely checked by yesterday's Federal Government on the subject late yesterday, Wall Street Bears were at least extremely wary.

Losses of one to two points appeared in most issues of U. S. Steel, General Motors, American Can, American Tobacco, Allied Chemical, Continental Can, Johns Manville, Westinghouse Electric and others.

Estimates indicating a substantial slackening of steel and iron production in the Youngstown area next week were an adverse influence, and the announcement of a price increase by the Standard Oil Corp., was interpreted as indicating that the petroleum refiners were having little success in their efforts to get crude oil production down from the steel makers, but this failed to have a notable market influence. Hudson Motor continued its liquidation of 20,000 shares of Curtis Central, Dupont, International Harvester, Johns Manville, Allied Chemical, Consolidated Gas, Johns Manville, Westinghouse Electric and others.

Estimates indicating a substantial slackening of steel and iron production in the Youngstown area next week were an adverse influence, and the announcement of a price increase by the Standard Oil Corp., was interpreted as indicating that the petroleum refiners were having little success in their efforts to get crude oil production down from the steel makers, but this failed to have a notable market influence. Hudson Motor continued its liquidation of 20,000 shares of Curtis Central, Dupont, International Harvester, Johns Manville, Allied Chemical, Consolidated Gas, Johns Manville, Westinghouse Electric and others.

EGGS SELL AT 25 CTS. DOZ

Under the spell of ideal winter weather, a large local market was in evidence on Saturday morning. The receipts were not large but that did not again were slightly up in price, when they remained, steady. At 25 cents per dozen the hours of trading. Butter also was quite steady when in brought 22 to 25 cents a pound. Fine young chickens were seen and sold from 18 cents up according to their weight and quality. The season of the year apparently was the sale of cut cord wood. Numerous wagons were seen at the market this morning laden with cord wood. There has not been as much demand for the local product in a number of years as there has been latterly. The price was placed around $8.00 per load and is put into stove lengths. Plenty of vegetables were in evidence and the retail prices of beets, carrots, turnips, parsnips, 20 cents a bunch. Potatoes were also in those rhubarb sold for 15 cents a bunch. Quite a few apples were brought 5 cents a bunch. Potatoes remained at 80 cents per bag. The young celery brought 15 cents a bunch. Plenty of apples were seen and sold at the prices, which have prevailed all winter.

Saturday's market was very well attended and brisk trading was in evidence throughout the trading hours.

EXCHANGE RATES

New York, Feb. 20 (CP) — The Canadian dollar was a strong spot today on foreign exchanges when it touched 88 cents, the highest point reached this year and but of one per cent. higher than the previous close.

The pound sterling, after opening 1-4 cent higher at $3.40½ in limited trade finds, slipped back to $3.45.

PRODUCE MARKET

Toronto, Feb. 20.—The United Farmers Co-Operative Co. today supplied the Canadian Press with the following quotations on produce delivered at Toronto: Eggs, extra, 25c dozen; eggs, first, 21 cents dozen; churning cream, No. 1, 13c to 16c lb.; creamery butter, No. 1, solids, 15½c to 17c lb.; potatoes, No. 1, in bags, 25 cents.

Stock Markets

Quotations furnished by Biggar Gordon Ltd., E. R. Wills branch manager. Quotations at 12.30.

Acme	14½
Bidgood	45
Falconbridge	75
Hollinger	1.00
Hollinger	5.00
Hudson's Bay	5.30
McIntyre	17.25
Nipissing	81¼
Teck Hughes	3.40
Wright Hargreaves	3.74
Dome	20.00
NEW YORK
American Can	69
Auburn	107½
Beth. "A"	27½
Byers	17
Chrysler	22
Can. Gas	43½
Case	36½
General Motors	23½
Chrysler	13½
Montgomery Ward	9¾
North American	27½
Standard Oil of N.J.	28½
Radio	9¾
Standard Brands	13½
Simmons Bed	8½
U. S. Steel	42¾
Vanadium	16½
U. S. Steel	48½
TORONTO
B. A. Oil	9.00
Brazilian	13½
McColl Frontenac	9¾
International Nickel	8.00
Distill Seagrams	3½
Hiram Walker	41½
O.I.A. Oil	1½
O.P.R.	14½
Ford	4.00
Gypsum	3½
Nickle	8.00
Steelers	6.00
Lobbie A	3.00
Massey Harris	3½
Siderado	8.10
Brazilian	13½
WHEAT
May	66½
July	68½
May Silver	31.30

DOCTOR ALGER SENT TO TRIAL

$40,000 Bail Arranged After Committal By Magistrate

Magistrate Mikel on Saturday morning at ten o'clock committed Dr. H. E. Alger, of Stirling, for trial by a higher court on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of a young woman in Detroit, Michigan.

The magistrate later on authority from His Honor County Judge O. J. Deroche, admitted Dr. Alger to bail on the same bonds as previously accepted that is in two sureties each $10,000 each and his own recognizance for $20,000.

Preliminary hearing was held on Wednesday in this case at which time the adjournment was made until Saturday by the police magistrate.

Coasting Visions Quite Blasted

Children with visions of a whole day of coasting on the ice-coated hills and roadways in the City were a bit disappointed this morning when they emerged from their respective homes and found the nice glary surface covered with a thin coat of fresh snow. Done in a pleasing brown. Men in the employ of the Department of public works were out at an early hour scattering the sand indiscriminately, but individuals throughout the downtown section and on the slippery hills in the East was so badly needed, and presumably after many a fall on the part of numbers of pedestrians who skidded on the slippery surface. However coasting will be enjoyed by residents of the City during the afternoon and had helped to form ice not only on the hills but also on the walks and roads throughout the city.

POLICE COURT

After a rather quiet week in the police court this morning a number of heard before Magistrate Mikel this the morning. Two cases of non-support were heard and both pleaded guilty to the charge and one was sentenced to three months in gaol. The other three months in the common gaol. In one case a recommendation of deportation was added.

Alex McMillan faced a charge of having liquor in a place other than a private residence and was fined $100.00 and costs or three months in gaol.

The accused stated that he could pay the fine and the army would probably consolidate its position there before making further advances.

Dessy Sicey

Chinese military authorities this afternoon disputed claims of Japanese naval officials that the Japanese had captured Kiangwan, and that Japanese troops had driven the Japanese back.

Shanghai, Feb. 20 (AP).—Japanese naval headquarters announced this afternoon that the Japanese army occupied Kiangwan, town where a severe battle was fought through the week-end, which it constituted the objective for today. The statement said the army would probably consolidate its position there before making further advances.

Dessy Sicey

Chinese military authorities this afternoon disputed claims of Japanese naval officials that the Japanese had captured Kiangwan, and that Japanese troops had driven the Japanese back.

DEATHS

BROWN—At Marlbank on Friday, Feb. 19th, Wm. Nelson Brown, in his 71st year.

Funeral will take place from his late residence on Sunday, Feb. 21st. Service at 1.30. Interment Bonar Mill Cemetery. 1t

F. C. Martin and Son
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
FUNERAL HOME
218-218 CHURCH ST.
PRIVATE AMBULANCE
IN CONNECTION
PHONE 2995
M-f

THOMPSON
FUNERAL SERVICE
Universalist Service
Moderate Prices
Thos. C. Thompson
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
Phone 62
Nights and Sundays 1213
14-tf

TICKELL & BROWNE
Funeral Home
248 Church St.
Cor. Victoria Ave.
Phone 2295
50% of our adult funerals cost
$100.00 and less
Limousine Ambulance Service
d16-tf

BELLEVILLE
BURIAL COMPANY
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
Phone 74-W Day and Night
J. W. IMLACH,
Proprietor
Mausoleum Crypts For Sale
130-tf

To Let
Furnished house, medium size, all conveniences, centrally located, for the months of Mar., April, May. Possession March 1st. Phone 78 or 236.
f20-3t

Store
To Let
Best location in Belleville. New and modern; copper and marble show window and storm fronts. Immediate possession. Apply
W. H. MORTON
Ontario Intelligencer
Belleville.
j14-tf

N. Hardwick
Electrical Contractor
Fixtures, Radio, Motors
Repairs
All Work Guaranteed
75 BURTON ST., BELLEVILLE

Painting, Paperhanging and Decorating
Give Us a Trial
E. A. McPhee
Decorator to People Who Care
Phone 503
Bellevue, Apt. 6
wnn-tf

BUSINESS LINERS

A. Peterson wishes to announce that the Waverlette Beauty Shop will be closed during Hairdressers' Convention, February 22 to 25.
f20-2t

We teach dancing at the Johnson Street Academy. Phone 730W for appointment.
f20-1t

Belleville Locators office 25½ Bridge St. East, is their main centre for the buying, renting or exchanging of properties.
f20-1t

Belleville Locators report Spring business opening up. If you want to sell your city home, or exchange for a farm, why not call at their office 25½ Bridge St. East, and talk the matter over.
f20-1t

List your Farm or City property with Belleville Locators, the Farm and Home sellers.
f20-1t

As optimist is a man who, finding himself in hot water, decides that he needs a bath anyway. An old man is twice a child.

FOR SALE

SUBURBAN PROPERTY. 3½ acres, good land, suitable for market garden, brick dwelling, barn, one mile from City Hall. Apply 365 Front Street.
f20-3t

BANNER OATS FROM REG. Seed; free from noxious weeds. Charles Macfarlane, Shannonville. Phone 72r1-3.
f20-3t

USED PIANO, GOOD CONDition. Bargain for quick sale. Apply Carl Read & Co., Limited, Phone 1180.
f20-3t

50 ACRES, ONE MILE EAST OF Stirling county road joining two highways. Suitable for public, high schools, churches and cheese and butter factory. Clay loam soil, nearly all workable. Seven room frame house. Good buildings. Priced for quick sale. Apply Louis Rodgers, R. 2, Stirling.
f20-2t

GOOD USED ELECTRIC RADIOS. 7 tube Amplex $35 cash. 8 tube Stewart Warner $55 cash. 204 Front St. Phone 183.
f18-3t

11 PULLETS, APPLY J. MATTIN ,90 Moira St. East.
f18-6t

For Sale
Belleville Locators

$0000.00. will buy 74 West Bridge St., this property must be sold to close out estate, excellent condition, hot water heating, all conveniences. Make us an offer.

$0000.00. Buy sight room solid brick dwelling on Foster Ave. below Queen St. This house is going to be sold, an offer will be submit us. Look into this.

$0000.00. One of the finest homes on the Bridge St. Highway, ideal for Tourists, about 8 acres choice garden land, Outbuildings complete, about two miles west of city limits. This is a real snap.

$0000.00. Another one on the Bridge St. Highway, at Bayside, about two acres of choice garden land, and a real home for Tourists, has about nine rooms. Step lively for this one.

$0000.00. 132 West Moira St., owner has left the city and we must sell to get our commission. It is a small house but completely up to date in every way. Believe can be bought for less than $1,000 down on your own terms. Come in and talk it over with you.

'Phone 891

NOTICE TO CREDITORS

IN THE ESTATE OF CHARLES H. Weese, late of the Township of Thurlow, in the County of Hastings, Farmer, Deceased.

NOTICE is hereby given pursuant to Statutes in that behalf that creditors and others having claims or demands against the estate of Charles H. Weese, who died on or about the 7th December, A.D. 1931, are required to send by post prepaid on or before the first day of March, 1932, or deliver to Messrs. Fenton, Fenton & Bennett, 26 Bridge Street, Belleville, Solicitors for the Executors, their names and addresses and full particulars of their claims and statement of their accounts and the nature of the security, if any, held by them, duly verified.

AND TAKE NOTICE that after the First day of March, 1932, the said Executors will proceed to distribute the estate of the said Deceased among the persons entitled thereto, having regard only to the claims of which they shall then have had notice.

DATED at Belleville this 27th day of January, 1932.

FENTON, FENTON & GRAHAM, 26 Bridge Street, Belleville, Solicitors for Executors.
j30 f6 13 20

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR LETTERS PATENT

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that W. F. Nickle, of the City of Kingston, Province of Ontario, Barrister, Trustee, will apply to the Legislature at the next session thereof, for an Act extending the powers of said Trustee, and enabling him, in addition thereto, to share, the terms of the Trust Deed made by the late Right Hon. George Taylor Richardson for the benefit of the children of certain married men of "F" Company of the 2nd. Battalion, 1st. Brigade of First Canadian Expeditionary Force.

DATED at the City of Kingston, this twenty-second day of January, A.D. 1932.

NICKLE & FARRELL, Solicitors for the Applicant.
f6 13 20 27

WANTED

WANTED — DISTRICT AGENT wanted by Montreal Corporation —one able to finance himself — excellent prospect for capable energetic man—Write Box "C," Ontario Intelligencer.
f20-2t

WANTED—AN 8,000 CHEESE VAT —Must be in No. 1 condition. State length, width, depth. Write Box "F" Ontario Intelligencer.
f20-3t

OPPORTUNITIES FOR MEN AND WOMEN

WANTED SPARE TIME SALESpeople to sell useful household novelties. Apply by mail to: Novelty Sales Supply Co., Room 145 King Street W., Toronto, Ont.
f20-1t

EARN $20 AND UPWARDS weekly, growing mushrooms in your cellar or shed. We buy, you sell. Toronto Mushroom Co., 33 Orchard View Blvd., Toronto.
f21 24

MALE HELP WANTED

GOVERNMENT JOBS—HOW TO get them. Be ready for spring appointments. Write immediately for M.C.C., Toronto 10.
f6 13 20 27

FEMALE HELP WANTED

WANTED—WOMEN WANTED TO sew for us at home. Send stamp machine necessary. No selling. Ontario Knitting Company, Dept. 101, Toronto 8.
f13 20 27

FARMS WANTED

SELL YOUR FARM BY EXchanging for a revenue producing property. I have clients wanting farms, also those wanting unrented duplexes, houses and cash for good properties. Send me full particulars at once to J. W. Burtt, Cobourg, Ont.

WOMEN WANTED

TO CONDUCT KINDERGARTEN Classes at home. Free Booklet. Address Canadian Kindergarten Institute, Toronto (10).

WANTED — SALESMAN AND Collector, experience not essential. Apply Acme Sanitary Machine Co., 279 Front St. 19-22.

WANTED AT ONCE — A baby boy age 6 months or a good R.C. home with view to adoption. Prepared to pay for clothing and its maintenance. Apply Box "A" Ontario Intelligencer. f18-4t

WANTED—SMALL UNFURNISHed apartment, with kitchenette, by 2 adults, East Hill. f19-3t

WANTED—DESIRABLE HOMES for boys and girls, all between years of age; also girl 16. Apply The D. Barton, Superintendent, Children's Aid Society, 32 Church Street, Belleville.
f18-6t

WANTED—ROOMS WANTED UNfurnished, centrally located, seconds 30c, Poultry crates and thirty dozen egg cases. Brunelle Carrots and Reilly, Registered, 1986 Notre Dame, West, Montreal.
f17-4t

WANTED—BOARDERS, PRIVATE home. All conveniences. Phone 2236F.
f15-1w

TO-LET

NICE CLEAN THREE ROOM flat, 177 Pinnacle Street. Phone 334W.
f20-2t

HEATED APARTMENT, CENTRAL location. Electric stove, refrigerator. Possession April first. Apply 23 Turnbull St. Phone 1407.
f20-1w

APARTMENT, NO. 1, GROUND floor, 3 rooms and bath. Stove and refrigerator. Possession April 1st. Apply at once or Phone 84.
f20-tfn-4-1

LIGHT HOUSEKEEPING ROOMS —furnished or unfurnished, for lady, 255 John St. Phone 2222.
f19-3t

TWO APARTMENTS TO LET — Hardwood floors, fireplaces, bath. Reasonable rent. Phone 1012.
f19-3t

SEVEN ROOMED HOUSE. ALL conveniences. Hot water heating. Moderate rent. Apply 15 Campbell St.
f19-3t

TWO SIX ROOM BRICK HOUSES —All conveniences. Phone 1357W.
f18-6t

3 ROOM HOUSE, 194 CHURCH St., near Bridge. Convenient locally, $24. Apply 172 Foster Ave.
f16-tf

BRICK HOUSE, ALL CONVENIences. Hot water heating. Available March 1st. Suitable for small family only. Apply 285 Bridge, Phone 1972 Church.
f16-tf

FLAT, 285 WILLIAM STREET, 6 rooms. Bath and garage, $40 per month. Apply 172 Church, phone 305.
f13-tf.

HOUSE ON PINNACLE STREET, 7 rooms. Hot water heating. Church. Phone 1987F. Apply 218 George St.
f11-tf.

APARTMENTS TO RENT. Apply 5. J. Fisher, Bridge Street.
429-tf

COTTAGE, NO. 29 GROVE ST., 7 rooms, furnace, laundry tubs, gas water heater and floors, wired for stove. Apply 36 Grove St. d15-tf.

FOR SALE OR TO LET

UP TO DATE HOME, NO. 37 Highland Ave. Can be had on easy payments or for bargain. Apply Dan Doyle, 283 Front St., Phone 869. Hours 2 to 3 p.m.
d26-tf

British Boys and Young Men 15 to 22 Years of Age

Inexperienced and Partly Experienced For Farm Work

May be secured through THE HOSTEL, NORVAL, ONTARIO Yearly Engagement Only — Wages Reasonable and According to Ability and Experience.

f20 27.

Classified Ad. Rates

PHONE 99

SOCIAL NOTICES—Births, 50c; marriage and engagement notices, $1.50; Deaths and Funeral notices, $1.00; In Memoriams, $1.00; Memorian Poetry, minimum charge, $1.00 for 16 lines, not more than 10c per count line; Lodge Meeting Announcements, minimum charge, 75c.

CLASSIFIED — For Sale, Wanted, etc.—1½c per word cash for first insertion. 1c per word for insertions in succession. Minimum 30 words.

COMING EVENTS—75c per insertion for 25 words or under, over that amount 2c per word.

PROFESSIONAL BUSINESS CARDS—Yearly Contract) $2.00 per month per inch

OFFICIAL, MUNICIPAL AND GOVERNMENT NOTICES (including those concerning Estates) 1½c per agate line (14 lines to the inch) for first insertion and 1c per line for subsequent insertions.

AUCTION SALES—$2.00 per insertion.

CARD OF THANKS—75c per minimum 25 words for 1st insertion, 50c per insertion.

'An initial or figure counts as one word.

In estimating space five words to the line.

Telephone your Want Ads when it is more convenient. PHONE 99.

The Ontario Intelligencer will not be responsible for more than one incorrect insertion of any Want Ad. If it is reported.

Advertisers may have their copies changed for each number care of the Ontario Intelligencer.

CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAYS

Change of Time effective January 10, 1932

TRAINS GOING EAST

No. 14 12.40 A.M.—Mail and Express Daily.

No. 8 2.22 A.M.—Express, Daily to Ottawa.

No. 12 11.20 A.M.—The Internationalist, daily except Saturday.

No. 56 3.47 P.M.—The Capitol, daily except Sunday, to Montreal.

No. 6 6.05 P.M.—The Inter – City limited, daily, Mail and Express train to Montreal.

TRAINS GOING WEST

No. 19 2.45 A.M.—Mail and Express, daily.

No. 7 2.50 A.M.—Express, daily.

No. 17 6.43 A.M.—The Inter – City, daily except Sunday.

No. 5 2.20 P.M.—The Maple Leaf, daily.

No. 35 4.57 P.M.—The Capitol daily except Sunday.

No. 39 5.00 P.M.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.

No. 15 8.00 P.M.—The International, daily except Saturday.

BELLEVILLE TO PETERBORO

No. 11 5.30 A.M.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.

BELLEVILLE TO MADOC

No. 35 3.55 P.M.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.

INSURANCE

Fire, Automobile, Accident, and all other departments.

Wide range of excellent Companies to choose from at reasonable rates.

FARM BUSINESS

A specialty, with yearly, or three year policies.

Your inquiry will be appreciated.

S. J. FISHER & SON, Insurance, Agents.

Successors to H. F. Ketcheson Co.,

39 Bridge St. E. Belleville

Phone 168.

ALTERATIONS, CLOSED VERANDAHS, ENCLOSING FRONT FLOOR, GENERAL REPAIRS.

Estimates Free.

Special Low Prices Now By Hour or Contract

Foster—1382-F

FRASER AYLESWORTH

Ontario Land Surveyor and Registered Provincial Land Surveyor. Land Surveys Plans and Descriptions, etc., promptly attended to. PHONE 5 — P. O. BOX 69

MADOC, ONT.

LOST

POLICE DOG, NAME ON COLlar. Phone 2216.
f19-2t

Business Directory

LEGAL

T. Y. WILLIS, BARRISTER, SOLICitor, Notary Public, etc., 13 Campbell St., Belleville. Telephone 74.
206-tf

PORTER, PAYNE & ARNOTT, Barristers, Solicitors, and Notaries Public, Solicitors for Royal Bank. Chas. A. Payne, K.C., F. B. Arnott. Offices: 218 Front St., Belleville.

MALCOLM WRIGHT, BARRISter, Solicitor, Notary Public, etc. Solicitor for Canadian Bank of Commerce.

PONTON, PONTON & GRAHAM, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Commissioners Offices 28 Bridge Street east, Colborne, Bank of Montreal. Money to loan on mortgages. W. N. Ponton, K.C., R. D. Ponton, K.C., R. J. Graham, Belleville.

WALLBRIDGE, CAMERON AND Co. (Successors to the late P. S. Wallbridge), Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries. Money to loan. Dominion Bank Building, corner Front and Bridge streets, Belleville, Ontario.

BUTLER & BUTLER, BARRISters, Solicitors, Notaries, etc. Office 28 Bridge Street E. R. J. Butler, K.C., Lorne Butler.

B. C. DONNAN, COUNTY CROWN Attorney, Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, Office corner Front and Hoase Building, Belleville, Ontario.

COLLINS AND COLLINS, A. E. Collins, K.C., F. O. Cushing, Barristers and Solicitors, Offices: Above Royal Bank, corner Bridge and Campbell streets. Phone 187, Company and private funds to loan on first mortgages.

INSURANCE

BONE & MARTIN
LIMITED
GENERAL
INSURANCE
Belleville, Ont.
Chamber of Commerce Bldg.
Phone 1344

The Toll is Always Great Where Insurance is Inefficiently covered by Inexperienced Agents
ASK US
BURROWS—FROST
251 Front St.

HALL & EARLE

General Insurance Fire, Automobile, Accident, Plate Glass, 278 Front Street. Phone 1141W

DENTAL

DR. R. H. EMPSON, DENTIST (Successor to Dr. Morton), X-Ray, 349½ Front St. Phone 462, Belleville.
130-3m

DR. G. A. MARSHALL
DENTAL SURGEON
Gas Anaesthesia
Evenings by Appointment
119 Bridge St. East Phone 168
(Between John and George)

MEDICAL

Dr. S. A. McCreary, B.Sc. Physician & Surgeon
X-Ray and Electrical Radium Treatment
128 Bridge St. East Phone 1200
(Between Church and Donald)

DR. J. S. SIGHAM SPECIALIST, Eye, Ear, Nose and Throat. Post Graduate, New York, Nose, Throat and Ear Hospital, New York. Eye and Ear Infirmary. Glasses fitted and supplied. Office Hours 10-12, 2-4, and 7-9. 238-tf

CHIROPRACTOR

R. A. WYATT, Ph C, SPECIAL Sanitorium Treatments and adjustments by appointment for all chronic diseases. Foot disorders corrected. Office hours 9-12 and 2-5. Office 288 Coleman Street Belleville. Picton, Tuesday and Friday.

H. R. and Vera B. Pitcher
CHIROPRACTORS
(Honour Graduates)
Palmer-Neuropathic Specialists
421½ Bridge St. E.
Phone 1274 Belleville, Ont.

STOCKS AND BONDS
JIGGAR & CHAWFORD MEMbers of Toronto Stock Exchange. Phone 1738 P. B. H., Brokers Manager.
25-1y

H. S. Parry

BUILDING CONTRACTOR
Repair Work of All Kinds
Phone 1852
15-1y

Biggest Battle Since Great War Started is Launched at Shanghai

Advancing Japanese Troops Forced to Retire When Mines Sprung

PROTECT AREA

Bombardment Opens, As Chinese Ignore Japan Ultimatum

Shanghai, Feb. 20.—(UP)—Japanese troops were involved in the first phase of their big offensive today when Chinese troops, fighting stubbornly, reached the village of Kiangwan and beat off a tank attack.

Lieutenant-Governor Uyeda, Japanese commander-in-chief, immediately moved his headquarters to the Kiangwan front. There the fighting was proceeding furiously at 10.30 a.m. (9.30 p.m. New York time).

He immediately ordered an aerial attack and Japanese airplanes and naval airplanes began bombing Chapei and Kiangwan preparatory to an infantry attack.

The Japanese infantry apparently planned to storm through three routes from the military highway at Woosung and engage at the Kiangwan race course, where the Chinese troops were heavily entrenched.

The Japanese tank charge revealed the Chinese troops had strengthened the area heavily and had planted hidden batteries of 4.7 guns which threatened to put the Japanese tank force out of commission.

Before dark, Japanese tanks retreated under heavy fire to a point 4 miles before the enemy wanders west into a hurried conference to consider the next move.

ARMY MAKES ADVANCE

Shanghai, February 20.—(AP)—Infantry and armored cars preceding this morning behind the cover of a Japanese battle laid down a Chinese position on the Kiangwan front. Japanese naval headquarters announced.

By Herrik J Harris
Associated Press Staff Correspondent. (Copyright, 1932 by The Associated Press)

Shanghai, Feb. 20.—The big Japanese push, aimed at overwhelming the stubborn Nineteenth Chinese Route Army that has been defending Shanghai, got under way with the defending roar of guns this morning, and there was every possible that it would develop into the greatest military action since the Great War.

At 8.50 a.m. deep-throated Japanese guns roared from warships and stations in Hongkew Park.

A few minutes later the Chinese artillery accepted the gage of battle. The bombardment, both sides was of terrific proportions.

Japan's ultimatum that the Nineteenth Army—heroes of all China for the way they have performed in the field during the last few weeks—withdraw 12 miles from Shanghai had expired at 7 a.m.

A few minutes after 7 o'clock five Japanese pursuit planes soared into the air and reconnoitered over the Chinese positions in Chapei.

It was a chilly, foggy day, but the alarum could see enough to indicate that the Chinese front lines were intact — that the Chinese army was defying the ultimatum.

Big Push Gets Under Way

That word was brought back to Japanese headquarters, and soon the big push was under way.

The Japanese command rushed men, tanks, machine guns and field pieces toward the front in vast quantities.

The troop movement had been going on all night long, but when the big guns spoke at 8.50 o'clock the battle zone had been comparatively quiet. Only a burst of machine-gun fire here and again told of war-fare.

After the big Japanese guns had started their streams of projectiles toward Chapei, headquarters ordered up the tank battalion, each one of them carrying a full load of explosives.

It was evident the crisscross of Chinese trenches in Chapei and Kiangwan was in for a terrific battering.

Across from the Japanese headquarters 50 planes were lined up in a newly built landing field. Their motors were running and the pilots were ready to take a hand in the battle as soon as the word was spoken.

A detachment of tanks, followed by 18 motor trucks loaded with ammunition, was dispatched toward Japanese headquarters toward Woosung.

Patience of Japanese Ended

Lieut.-General Kenkichi Uyeda, commanding officer of the Japanese army forces, told an Associated Press correspondent in his field quarters at 8 a.m. that "the end of our patience has been reached.

"We received no answer from the National Government to our ultimatum, and at 7 a.m. the ultimatum expired in their front lines," the general said.

"We gave them 30 minutes' grace this morning in which the National Government remains silent," the general continued.

"Now we must take offensive action."

A few minutes after the general had made his statement ten airplanes, heavily laden with bombs, took off from the airfield across from his headquarters.

Bombers Roar Into the Air

As the big bombers roared into the air they turned to the north, apparently bound for the district where Chinese troops are entrenched, and the Chinese forts at Woosung.

It was a bright, sunny day and the planes soon disappeared from sight. It took them only a few minutes to reach the Chinese lines, but no sounds of bombing were immediately heard.

Meanwhile a long stream of pontoon, laden with machine guns and ammunition, moved along the north boundary of the International Settlement and also within the Settlement itself. They were bound toward Chapei.

Several companies of soldiers plodded along toward Chapei, and in front of the headquarters dozens of automobiles, each with a chauffeur ready at the wheel, waited to take officers on missions toward the front.

Nearby six tanks were lined up, their crews standing near them and eating themselves about little fires.

18 MILES OF BATTLE FRONT

Operations in Progress From North Station to Woosung Forts

Shanghai, Feb. 20—The battle-front considered today by Chinese military forces extends from the north station, in the Chapei district and on the northern edge of the International Settlement, to the Woosung forts, a distance of 18 miles down the Whangpo River.

There are three main points of concentration:

North Station, which is the Chapei front in the heart of Shanghai.

Kiangwan, which is on the railroad about seven miles down the river toward Woosung.

Woosung, which is at the mouth of the river and includes forts, the small walled city of Paochan and a larger area in which Chinese are entrenched.

The Kiangwan district is closer to north station than to Woosung, but is almost in the middle of the warfront.

The Japanese have their military base in the Hongkew area of the International, opposite Chapei. They are operating all along the battle-front.

SHORE LEAVE CUT SHORT

Reservists Are Ordered to Prepare For Mobilization

Brisbane, Australia, Feb. 20—It was understood today that extended shore leaves for the fleet of the royal navy have been curtailed and naval reservists ordered to prepare for possible mobilization in view of the Shanghai situation.

The Australian navy, it was understood, is ready to co-operate with the British navy in sending ships to China in the event they are needed to protect British lives and property.

The Australian fleet consists of two cruisers, two destroyers and an airplane carrier, with a reserve fleet of two cruisers, six destroyers, and two sloops.

FARMS FEWER IN PROVINCE

Decrease is 6,748 in Ten Years—More in Canada as Whole

Ottawa, Feb. 20.—Census returns show Canada has 728,344 occupied farms, a decrease of 17,154 since 1921, it is reported by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. Each of the Western Provinces, Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia, recorded an increase, but Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island showed fewer occupied farms than ten years ago. The number of vacant farms in Canada was placed at 33,787.

Ontario recorded a decrease of 6,748 occupied farms, or 3.2 per cent. Alberta showed the largest percentage increase in the Prairie Provinces, 17.7 per cent.

POWERS BACK LEAGUE, TOKIO RESISTS PLEA

Impossible to Exaggerate Gravity of Situation Council Told

JAPS REFUSE

Dramatic Appeal to Avoid Bloodshed Made By French Chairman

BY SAMUEL DASHIELL
United Press Staff Correspondent
Geneva, Feb. 20—The League of Nations' Council, firmly supported by every great European power, made a last, desperate effort last night to halt the impending Japanese drive against Chinese troops at Shanghai.

The Council urgently asked Japan to delay the hour of expiration of her ultimatum to the Chinese and simultaneously convoked a special meeting of the League's general assembly for March 3 to deal with the Far Eastern situation.

"Before last night's red with blood before the fatal hour is struck will you render this great service to the League?" Joseph Paul-Boncour, French chairman, in a dramatic declaration asking Nostake Sato, the Japanese delegate, to forward the Council's appeal to the Japanese government.

Sato replied that he would submit the request at once.

The Council met, facing the fact that an ultimatum has been delivered and that the French premier, Paul-Boncour declared, bringing a tense silence to the crowded room, "is the ultimatum is delayed the world will rest more calmly today."

Britain Supports Appeal

"It is impossible to exaggerate the gravity of the situation," said the Marquis of Londonderry of Britain, in an appeal to Japan. "There are but a few hours before the forces there will be in a life and death struggle, Great Britain fully endorses my request."

One after another, the representatives of Italy, Germany, Spain, Poland Rumania, Czechoslovakia, Ireland, Panama and Guatemala rose to express their support of the request.

"This is a critical hour," said Sato in reply. "I feel profound regret that such events have happened."

He added that he was sorry the Council had not also addressed its appeal to China.

The council session was the most dramatic of any that have been held during the Shanghai crisis. The public benches were crowded with spectators and the atmosphere of the chamber was charged with excitement.

BRITAIN KEEPS DIRECT WATCH

London, Feb. 20—Specific instructions were sent today to Sir Miles Lampson, British Minister to China, outlining the action he should take to protect British interests in Shanghai.

The instructions were not made public. They followed a night of activity in Whitehall during which the lights in Foreign office, Admiralty and War offices were not extinguished.

An emergency cabinet committee stood by throughout the night keeping constantly in touch with the latest developments at Shanghai.

The government last night formed the emergency committee consisting with full powers to deal with any situation that may arise at Shanghai involving British interests.

Keeping in Contact

The committee will maintain contact with the developments at Shanghai and that it will be prepared to act on one hour's notice.

The members of the committee cancelled other plans for the week-end.

For the first time since the World War it was arranged for the Admiralty and the War Office to remain open all night until further notice.

The members of the emergency committee are:

Stanley Baldwin, Conservative party leader and Lord President of the Council.

Sir John Simon, the Foreign Secretary.

Lord Hailsham, Secretary for War.

Sir Samuel Hoare-Monsell, First Lord of the Admiralty.

Lord Irwin Hoare, Secretary of State for India.

Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer.

J. H. Thomas, Dominions Secretary.

Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald will be consulted whenever the committee. The Prime Minister is now at Chequers.

ACQUITTED OF ROBBERY

St. Catharines, Feb. 20—Mike Hoolichuk and a juvenile brother, whose parents were murdered at Stonehill South, a few months ago, were absolved of the charge of robbing Mike Slobodchin, a Welland bailiff, by Magistrate J. H. Campbell, yesterday. They were convicted of assaulting the baker, but were allowed to go on suspended sentence. The brothers contended that the attack followed repeated warnings to the baker to cease unwelcome attentions to Mike Holochuk's wife.

DeValera Gains Grow in Free State Election

Likely Will Have to Combine With Labor For Majority

Labor Will Not Rush Into Alliance Until Conditions Stated

Dublin, Irish Free State, Feb. 20.—Eamann de Valera's Fianna Fail (Republican Party) and its labor allies, needing only eight more votes to give them a majority in the Dail Eireann, early today held a lead of nine seats over the combined forces of President William T. Cosgrave's Government and its Independent supporters, as counting of votes in Tuesday's election proceeded.

Tabulation of returns from 122 seats out of 145 showed the following standing:

Fianna Fail	50
Labor (Republican)	13
Government party	45
Independents	15

Returns showed the Government forces had gained two seats and lost eight. The Republicans, on the other hand, had gained two and lost four, as also the Independents.

The strength of results already revealed the Labor group was considering conditions under which he would support the Fianna Fail if it should find itself leading the balance of power in the Dail. William Norton, Chairman of the Labor Party, who was elected in Kildare, said the Republicans would have the support of Labor only on conditions that it adopt Labor's plans for the relief of unemployment.

Some sources already saw signs of an "understanding" between the two major parties in a speech delivered by President Cosgrave in this city. The President said: "Whatever the final result, the task before all parties is to endeavor to promote the common welfare of their country." The President made similar remarks elsewhere, notably in Cork, where he declared: "All parties should put forth their best endeavors to the common welfare of the country."

Other observers saw in the forthcoming Eucharistic Congress at Dublin and the Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa in July reasons to suppose the two parties would work in comparative harmony at least until after these events.

An announcement today said the new Dail would not be convened until March 8, instead of on March 2, owing to the postponed voting in the seven divisions of Leitrim.

100,000 PINTS DOWN SEWER

Windsor, Ont., Feb. 20— (CP) — Customs department employes are busily pouring more than 100,000 pints of beer and ale into sewer in the basement of a local warehouse. It is expected the job will require about two weeks to complete.

The beer and ale, contained in 4300 bags of 24 pint bottles each, was the cargo of the Vedas, which she was seized in August, 1930, in Lake Erie. It was alleged that she was "mother ship" for a fleet of fast motor boats, that they were using the "liquid refreshment" to ports along the United States shore of the lake.

About 135,000,000 acres of land in the United States are still virgin forests.

Crying Babies Basis of Suit to be Entered

Kingston, Ont., Feb. 20 (CP)—Crying babies are the basis of a case to come before spring assizes opening here Monday, when an injunction to restrain the Kingston Infant's home from erecting an extension will be up for decision.

The injunction is sought by a number of citizens realized near the home, who claim the crying of the babies constitutes a nuisance and is injurious to health.

FREE SPEECH UPHELD SAYS COL. W.H. PRICE

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 20 — (UP) — The Canadian Press quotes Col. Price, Appellate division of the Supreme Court of Ontario, which presided at Communist appeals of seven Communists against recent sentences, upheld the right to free speech and defined the bounds beyond which it was exceeded, said Hon. W. H. Price, Ontario Attorney-General, commenting on the decision.

The eight were convicted recently on charges laid under section 98 of the Criminal Code, dealing with unlawful assemblies.

"The opposition to the conviction was based on the erroneous claim that it aimed at free speech," said Col. Price. "This is incorrect and is a destructive claim. Canadians realize this. Such a claim is contrary part of the steady propaganda of the Communist Party, designed to gain the support of the well-meaning people, who feel that free speech has been endangered.

"Free speech is not in any danger. The advocacy, however, of an armed revolt, civil war, sedition, and direct fighting against the establishment of Government has been dealt a crushing blow he declared.

Footpaths Lie with Township

Toronto, Feb. 20 (CP)—Responsibility for construction of footpaths along highways of Ontario rests with the townships in which they lie, said Hon. Leopold Macauley, Minister of Highways, commenting on criticism voiced Thursday by Rev. D. N. McLaren, rector of St. Johns Anglican Church, Winona. Mr. McLaren urged government aid in providing means for footpaths, speaking at the funeral of Mrs. Herma Robertson and her sister, Miss Edna Stewart, both of Winona who were struck and fatally injured in an automobile accident the previous Sunday last. The government contributed 40 percent of the cost of construction on such footpaths to the townships, said Mr. Macauley.

A section of the Papia desert of Peru has not had a drop of rain for more than 40 years.

HORNER AND CONACHER ARE SUSPENDED

Sharp Practice of Coach Irvin Not Allowed to Pass by Proxy

USED RULE BOOK

Both Players Had Two Major Penalties Before Offence

Montreal, Que. Feb. 20—Indefinite suspension of Red Horner and Charlie Conacher of Toronto Maple Leafs was announced here today by President Frank Calder of the National Hockey League following major penalties awarded to the two players in the game against New York Rangers Thursday night.

Both Horner and Conacher both injured and probably unable to play tomorrow night and with two major penalties each it was reported that Irvin, Toronto coach, sent both of them into the ice last night purposely to incur the third major which would have meant their suspension for a game. The two went on the ice when Toronto had the full quota of players already on the ice and the major penalties were automatic.

Irvin, it was reported, thought the two men would be useless tomorrow night anyway through injuries and might better serve their three-major penalty suspension, while they were on the casualty list and be ready for play without a suspension handicap when they have recovered.

Toronto to Hold Motor Show

Toronto, Feb. 20 (CP)—Counterpart of the historic New York National Automobile Show which yearly attracts hundreds of thousands, a national motor show for Canada has been decided upon by the Canadian Automobile Chamber of Commerce. The first annual show will open here March 8 and every auto manufacturer in the Dominion will exhibit, said an announcement yesterday by the chamber.

WE EXCEL IN NEAT
Wiring Jobs
AND ALL
*ELECTRIC REPAIRING SERVICE
OLIPHANT
Electric and Hardware
182A Front St. Phone 12687

Safeguard Your National Service Loan Certificates!

IF you are a subscriber to the National Service Loan, you need a Safety Deposit Box. Your Interim Certificate must be guarded safely—you can't get your bonds without it—and they, in turn, will require protection.

A Safety Deposit Box offers absolute security. The owner alone has access to it and you can rent a box for very little at the nearest branch of this bank.

Our Manager will be glad to demonstrate the security and convenience of a Safety Deposit Box.

The Royal Bank of Canada
CAPITAL AND RESERVES—$75 MILLION DOLLARS
Belleville Branch — W. A. Parker, Manager
1913

Belleville Burial Company
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
J. W. IMLAH, Proprietor
14 Campbell Street. Phone 774-W
Belleville Day and Night
Mausoleum Crypts for Sale

SASH AND DOORS
We Specialize in BUILDING MATERIALS
SHINGLES
BRICK TILE
BUILDERS' HARDWARE
PAINT
CEMENT
Hardwood Flooring a Specialty
MILLWORK
MOULDINGS FRAMES LUMBER LIME
EVERYTHING IN BUILDING
GYPROC
PLASTER AND LIME
PREPARED ROOFING
Houston Co.
LIMITED, BELLEVILLE
Office: 75 Bl. Paul St. Ph. 1677

Make Sure of Your ICE NOW
For Next Summer
Weather Indications Point to a Scarcity of Ice
Don't be Caught Napping
WE GUARANTEE our Milk Customers ICE during the entire season at no increase in price
Phone 374 NOW, tell us your ice requirements for next summer and the ice will be made now and stored until required.
PURE MILK PURE ICE
PROTECT THE FAMILY HEALTH
Milk from Thoroughbred Government Inspected Cows kept in Sanitary surroundings. Ice made from Pure Spring Water.
The GRAHAM COLD STORAGE and MONTROSE DAIRY Phone 374

For Next Week Only
EXCEPTIONAL OPPORTUNITY TO GET A NEW RADIO AT A LOW PRICE
SPECIAL TRADE-IN ALLOWANCE ON YOUR OLD SET to apply on every Console Model in the Store. Very Latest Models with All New Improvements of ROGERS and MAJESTIC RADIOS
YOU WILL BE SURPRISED
For One Week Only we will give exceptionally liberal allowances on your old set. Kyles-did chance to get the very latest in radio receiving set with better reception, wider range, selection tone and everything that you have been hoping for in radio.
Rogers' Radio Tubes
The Kind That Last Longer and Give Perfect Satisfaction.
Radio and Refrigeration Shop
316 FRONT STREET
Phone 395

TERSE TALKS on TIMELY TOPICS by
Sam Dobbs Little Plumber

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK FOR 1932
Friends:
Business is going to be gradually better from now on. I am optimistic, but not a liar, and I admit I think so. I wouldn't say so if I have been keeping my ear to the ground, sandpaper to my pocket, who have been trying to keep it there for me, and I am beginning to hear the far-off rumble of approaching prosperity.
The only trouble is that a lot of fellows are sitting around the edge waiting for the prosperity Limited, when what is coming is a local. They will let it go by when all they ought to do is to hop on. But in this life anything is all right as long as it is going in the right direction.
You can figure on an average growth of 4% in business volume in this country every year over the average volume for the previous ten years. I figure on 4% as the growth of the country as I see it, the growth of a hen-coop, an early bush, a boil, or the population of an Italian ward.
But we don't feel enough for some of us. A man can walk all day, but if now and then he gets to ride now and then he will have to stop and rest. Walking is the best way, but both the walker and runner will get there all right, but the runner will get there the walker in little better shape.
In 1929 I was in 1930 and 31 we rested, and in 1932 we will have walk—no, I can't get there. And don't compare 1930 with 1929. Compare it with 1920. We've done more and better work today than we did 8 years ago and intend to go on increasing with the years. Please tell you want that plumbing job done quickly and correctly.
Canada may slow up, but never stops.
Sincerely yours,
SAM DOBBS,
The Little Plumber Around the Corner on Victoria Ave.

The Dime-a-Dance Girl

By Joan Clayton

"So, but I guess it's on file. He must have looked up my card at the store."

The bedroom door opened and Molly entered. She was visibly excited. Black, curly hair stood out in little drake-tails. Her blue eyes blazed. For once she had not even taken time to powder her pretty face.

"Hurry, child," she said to Ellen. "You mustn't keep Mr. Barclay waiting. He's had enough ado as 'phone."

Again Ellen felt a rising irritation. "What makes you so sure it's Mr. Barclay?" she snapped.

"I've got a hunch." Molly affected mysterious and smiling mystery. "Don't be so slow, honey. I can't run through the halls with no stockings on, can I?"

Ellen took a quick brush at her hair, slipped into pumps and ran out of the apartment and down the four flights of stairs. The only telephone in the house was in Mrs. Clancy's apartment on the first floor. She ate facing, who occupied the building were, in the generous phrase of Mrs. Clancy, "perfectly welcome to use the phone so long as they pay for outgoing calls". And so long as they let Mrs. Clancy listen in on their business Ellen had thought privately.

Sure enough, the fat, good-natured Irish woman was waiting in the hall at the foot of the stairs. For all the world like a master of ceremonies, she said, "Right this way." Then after she had shown Ellen where the telephone was (as Ellen had not known before) she delicately seated herself in the vicinity of the conversation: Unfortunately for the listener the conversation was extremely short. Ellen replaced the receiver, presented her thanks and prepared to leave. Mrs. Clancy saw a golden opportunity fading.

She said quickly and ingratiatingly, "Was that the rich fellow your mother was telling me all about?"

"I don't know who you mean," Ellen replied coldly.

"Sure you do," said Mrs. Clancy, chuckling. "I mean Mr. Steven Barclay, you know. Your maw said he was fairly daft over you."

Ellen had to smile.

"Yes, it was Mr. Barclay," she admitted to the other's evident pleasure. She even added, "Mr. Barclay wanted me to go driving with him this afternoon."

"I heard you saying that you couldn't go," Mrs. Clancy confessed "That's too bad. It's such a nice day for an automobile ride."

"Yes, it is, isn't it," Ellen agreed and made her escape.

Ellen returned to the bedroom. Myra was dressing but Molly had collapsed on the bed and was nibbling at a bit of toast. Both fell abruptly silent at Ellen's entrance and she realized that they had been discussing her. Let them, though, Ellen grimly.

"Won't you tell us about your call?" asked Molly, after a delicate interval of silence. "Or is it a secret?"

"There's nothing much to tell," said Ellen airily. "It was Steven Barclay. He wanted me for a drive this afternoon."

"Ah!" said Molly.

There was another interval of silence. Myra looked sharply at her sister but Ellen's face was blank and innocent. Presently she said to her mother, "I'd like to invite a friend to supper."

"Who is it?" asked Molly. She thought she knew the answer. A look of complete astonishment cross ed her face when Ellen corrected the impression.

"But Ellen!" she cried in dismay. "What about Mr. Barclay?"

"What about him?" repeated Ellen.

She said he'd asked you for a drive."

"So he did. I told him I couldn't go. I can't, can I? I have a date this afternoon with Joseph. It would be nice to bring him here afterwards for supper. Molly, have we enough to eat?"

Molly shifted uneasily. "I would like to have invited Joseph myself," she said, her eyes clear and limpid, "but it's out of the question, Ellen. There's not a clean tablecloth in the house for one thing; they're all at the laundry. Besides, Mr. Clancy is coming up. I've already asked her."

Ellen suspected that her mother was being untruthful, but was aware of it when Molly with an aggrieved air remarked that she supposed a daughter of hers would have as much pride as was left to see a man already engaged to another in the flat Myrtle Beach there. Put she was not content to let the matter rest.

"Personally I think it rather odd of the Harrowgate boy to ask you to supper, considering the circumstances," said Molly. "I'm glad it would have been considered dishonorable."

"If you don't know whether it's dishonorable or not," Ellen said ungratefully, ignoring her own secret qualms, "I don't see the necessity of knowing that I might consider it. I'm not fond of engaged important. I don't consider it dishonorable. I like him—that's enough! This isn't like Victorian days, you know."

There's no use discussing it," observed Myra, lightly. "We wouldn't agree, I'm sure."

Cook's Regulating Compound

Cook's Cotton Root Compound, safe, reliable regulator, sold in three degrees of strength—No. 1, No. 2, No. 3. $1 per box. Sold by druggists, or sent prepaid on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: THE COOK MEDICINE CO. TORONTO ONT. (Formerly Windsor)

Molly Rossiter could, when she chose, adopt the most exasperating mood in the world. She chose just then to adopt that mood. When Ellen asked her to meet Larry, Molly remembered a previous engagement to go walking with Mrs. Clancy. Mrs. Clancy was a great aid to Molly in managing her daughters. Whenever they made a request she did not wish to grant Mrs. Clancy in one way or another became a word in her charge. Ellen understood that as did Myra. But the family rules forbade any mention of the fiction.

"I'm sorry you can't meet him," Ellen said at last with cold finality.

"I'm sorry, too," conceded Molly. Turning to Myra she said plaintively, "Would you mind hemstringing me some coffee? Lots of cream and I like it weak. Would you be a lamb and make a fresh pot."

Of course Myra would. But as she walked to the kitchen she was hoping Molly would be caught. Never in her life had Molly been cautious.

"Did Mr. Barclay say anything special over the 'phone?" she demanded the instant the door had closed behind Myra. "Anything that you might not want anybody except me to know?"

"No," replied Ellen, half smiling, half sighing at Molly's terrier-like persistence. "He didn't say anything more than I've told you."

"Was he surprised yesterday when you returned the dress?"

"I don't think so."

Molly clasped her hands about her knees and stared dreamily out into the hot afternoon. A little smile flickered across her lips.

"I've been thinking," she remarked meditatively, "and I believe you were right in declining his invitation this afternoon. He will appreciate you all the more for checking him at first. Men are like that."

"I didn't refuse for that reason and I'm sure you know I didn't," said Ellen in intense exasperation. "We've gone over and over this and you know exactly how I feel. I can't think of anything so dishonest as encouraging a man I don't love."

"Well," countered Molly in well simulated surprise, "I for one can't understand your ethics. Do you think it less dishonest to go running around with a man who is not free, a man engaged to another girl?"

Ellen was halted. "I'm not proud of that part of it," she said in a chastened voice.

"The trouble is that you always believe you're right and I'm wrong," Molly continued in a sad little tone. "I'm older and more experienced. I'm your mother and you should respect my opinions. I can't see why any girl would want to risk her reputation —that's what you're doing—running around with a man who is free, a man engaged to another girl!

Buy With Confidence "Goods Satisfactory or Money Refunded"

THE CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES LIMITED

Store Hours—Open 9 a.m. Close 6 p.m. Saturday—Open 9 a.m. Close 9.30 p.m.

Buy With Confidence "Goods Satisfactory or Money Refunded"

BROADCAST SALE OF PAINTS

"The Broadcast Sale means that for this special event prices are extraordinarily low. It means "buy all you need and buy quickly" because when goods of every-day demand such as these are offered, you should get a supply when such unusual savings are available. Phone orders given prompt attention. Have you a D.A.

Fast Drying 4-Hour Finishes—Reg. 85c

Fast Drying Varnish Stain qt. 59c — In light oak, dark oak or mahogany. Combines beauty of color and varnish for floors woodwork, etc.

Fast Drying Ground Color qt. 59c — Use it to cover up old surfaces before applying new colors. Dries in about 4 hours.

Fast Drying Undercoat qt. 59c — Use it under enamel to assure obtaining an even finish. In ivory and white.

Fast Drying Varnish qt. 59c — Recommended for floors, woodwork, furniture, etc. Glossy and durable.

Fast Drying Enamel qt. 59c — White, cream or ivory. For woodwork or furniture. Dries in about 4 hours with a hard glossy finish.

59c

Floor Paint 45c

For inside floors, cellar steps, porch floors, etc. In battleship grey and golden brown. Sale Price, quart ..

—basement

White Lead Outfit — Splendid quality materials for those who prefer to mix their own paint. 25 lbs. Elephant or B.B. white lead, 1 gal. raw or boiled oil and 1 quart turpentine. Sale Price, outfit 4.15

Floor Polishers — Protected corners, weight about 15 lbs. Sale Price, each 1.27

Floor Wax and Turpentine — 1 lb. Old English Floor Wax with 24 oz. bottle Turpentine. The two, Sale Price 69c

Johnson's Floor Mop and ½ lb. Wax — A handy set at a low price! Consists of full sized floor mop and handle and ½ lb. tin Johnson's wax. Sale Price, set 69c

—basement

Paint Brushes
No. 3 Oval paint brush, each 75c
2 Inch Wall Brush, each 45c
3½ Inch Wall Brush, each 55c
2½ Inch Varnish Brush, each 37c

2 lbs. Old English Wax & Steel Wool — Excellent quality wax and steel wool to remove dirt, stains or old wax before polishing. Sale Price, 2 lbs. and pkg. steel wool 1.00

Best Quality Turpentine — For cleaning hardwood floors or thinning paint. Sale Price, qt. 32c

1 lb. tin Joy Wax 14c

BROADCAST SALE OF WALLPAPERS

Offering a Good Choice of New Papers in Five Low Price Groups—Buy and Save!

Papers — Living Room or Bedroom. Sale Price Roll ..... 12c — 22 inch papers in a variety of attractive patterns. Excellent Value! Border to match, yard 5c

Papers — Living Room or Bedroom. Sale Price Roll ..... 19c — Good quality 22 inch papers in tasteful patterns and colorings at a low sale price. Border to match, yard 6c Varnished Tile Papers — Sale Price Roll ..... 23c — Ideal papers for kitchens and bathrooms—in a good selection of popular patterns. Be early for this value!

Lower Room Papers — Sale Price Roll ..... 25c — Dignified designs for halls and living rooms—22 inches wide. A big saving at this low price. Border to match, yard 7c

Sunworthy Plastic Papers — Sale Price Roll ..... 39c — Rough, plastic embossings in semi-modern designs. Effective for lower rooms. In softly blended tones. Be early—big saving! Border to match, yard 8c

© CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES LIMITED

What's New!

If you have a problem regarding styles, or about things you used for your home, your family or yourself, write to Toronto Correspondent c/o the C.D.S.

I was passing the hosiery counter the other day and my attention was drawn to a woman buying a pair of hose. I heard her say to the sales clerk:—"Have they got the 'cradle sole'?"

I pricked up my ears because it is a feature of most of the new hosiery, and apparently the people are asking for it. It is a reinforced sole which comes rather high on each side of the foot. I think it is a splendid idea because you have the extra material where you need it most.

The New Mayfair

Features The Cradle Sole

—And it's in a fine, sheer chiffon weight with the new dull finish and the new "cradle" sole. Smoketone, Inky, Mayfair and gunmetal are smartest. Pair 1.50

Rousing 2 o'Clock Specials Monday!

On Sale While Quantities Last!

Kiddies' Sweaters

Children's fine wool and rayon or all wool sweaters at a low price! V neck or with a neat collar—choice of attractive shades. Sizes 2 to 6 years. A limited stock, each 49c

Boys' Pullovers

V neck pullovers for boys, in fancy knit in brown and blue heather mixtures with ring fitting knit cuffs and waist band. Sizes in the lot 28-34. Housing Value, each 69c

—men's store

Cushion Tops

Of velvet or tapestry—cushion tops and squares in a varied assortment of conventional and floral patterns. Ordinarily 50c to 1.50. At 2 o'clock, each ..... 35c to 98c

—main floor left

Sale of Wash Goods

Rayon and cotton wash fabrics in various weaves and fancy patterns—Choice of rose, sand, navy or grey. 36 inches wide. Housing feature at this special price. Buy yards for future use! 2 o'clock Special, Monday, yard 10c

—second floor

At The City Churches

The United Church of Canada

(Congregational) BRIDGE STREET (Presbyterian) Methodist

11—John Hunter. (Premier Boys' Parliament) 7.—T. Hare "Played the Fool."

JOHN STREET
Minister: Robert Hall, B.A., B.D. Director of Music: Leo B. Riggs.

TABERNACLE
Minister: A. E. McCutcheon, B.A.,B.D Organist and Choir Leader: Mrs M. F. Daff.

HOLLOWAY STREET
11 a.m.—Public Worship.
7 p.m.—Reception and Son Service. Speaker: Mr. John Hunter, Premier Older Boys' Parliament.

Divine Worship and Sermons: Eleven and Seven
S. S. and Bible Classes 2.30 (Bridge St. 2.45)
"Thy house shall be called a house of prayer for all peoples."

St. Andrews Presbyterian Church

Rev. J. A. Seymour, M.A., S.T.D., Minister

Services 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. conducted by Rev. Dr. Seymour.
Sunday School 2 p.m.
ERNEST WHEATLEY, Mus. Bac. A.R.C.O., Organist.

VICTORIA AVENUE BAPTIST CHURCH
A. Hilliard—Pastor. Minister
11 a.m.—C.G.I.T. Service.
Speaker Mr. Grafton, B.A.
7 p.m.—Young Men's Bible Class Service. Speaker, Mr. Bazett Jones.
Laura D. LaVoie
L.T.C.M., A.A.C.O.
Organist and Choir Leader

EMMANUEL CHURCH SERVICES

THE FREE CHURCH OF ENGLAND
Rev. George Wetherell, Rector
11 a.m.—Morning Prayer and Sermon. "The Righteous Scarcely Saved."
7 p.m.—Sunday School and Bible Classes.
7 p.m.—Evening Prayer and Sermon. "Test For the Weary."
Lenten Service on Wednesday at 8 p.m. and each Wednesday throughout Lent.

CHURCH OF ST. THOMAS
(Church of England)
Rev. A. Beauchamp Payne, Vicar
Second Sunday in Lent
8 a.m.—Holy Communion.
9.30 a.m.—Church School.
11 a.m.—Holy Communion (Church) with Sermon
2 p.m.—Sunday School.
7 p.m.—Evensong.
Week Day Services During Lent
Thursday 7.30 a.m. Holy Communion (in Chapel). Friday 10 a.m. Holy Communion (in Chapel); Friday 4.30 p.m. Children's Service (in Church). Friday 8 p.m. Lenten Service (in Church).
Every Monday evening during the Lent at eight o'clock in the Parish Hall Mr. Ernest Bevan, Boys' Champ Payne, will lecture on Church history, illustrated by lantern slides.

REGULAR BAPTIST CHURCH
Masonic Building
Rev. H. E. Buchner, Minister
Sunday 7 a.m.—Sunday School.
3 p.m.—A Wonderful Saviour.
Wed. 8 p.m.—Prayer Meeting.

Alliance Tabernacle
West Moira Street
Pastor—Rev. W. M. Willoughby
10 a.m.—Sunday School.
11 a.m.—"Humility"
7 p.m.—"Why Men Reject God."
Wednesday, Feb. 24, 8 p.m.—Special Long Night of Prayer
Prayer Changes Things

CHRIST CHURCH
Sunday, February 21st
Rev. G. G. Wright, L. Th.
Services
8 a.m.—Holy Communion.
11 a.m.—Morning Prayer and Week Day Holy Communion Service—Sermon.
3 p.m.—Sunday School.
7 p.m.—Evening Prayer and Sermon.
St. George's Wednesday at 8 o'clock.
Christ Church Friday at 7.30 p.m.
Organist: Miss Eva Laveie

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY
Branch of the Mother Church
The First Church of Christ Scientist, Boston, Mass
Odd-Fellows Hall, Corner Front and Pinnacle Streets
SUNDAY, FEB. 21st—Subject
"MIND"
Sunday Service—11 a.m.
Testimonial Meeting 2nd Wednesday of each Month 8 p.m.

FORCE BALLOT ON AIR POLICY

Ottawa, Feb. 20.—Col. J. L. Ralston, Liberal, former Minister of National Defence, arose in the House of Commons today afternoon, to discuss a question "of urgent public importance," namely, the reported retirement by the government of from 200 to 300 men from the Royal Canadian Air Force, on the ground of economy and the possible enlistment of these men in the Chinese forces of China to fight in the Far East.

Col. Ralston said the men were being retired by the government without regard to their families or their overseas service. He also referred to circumstances which might compel them to seek employment in the armies of another nation.

The Speaker ruled the discussion out of order on the ground that a "prima facie" case had not been made that such case was of urgent public importance. The Speaker said the matter could be taken up when the next motion to go into supply comes up.

Appeals Ruling.

Premier Bennett supported the views of the Speaker and then Col. Ralston respectfully said he would appeal from the Speaker's ruling to the House.

Hon. E. N. Rhodes suggested that the appeal be taken without prejudice to the Speaker. Further discussion ensued on the appeal which was finally put as the insistance of Col. Ralston. The vote was then formal division in the present session.

Verdict Sustained.

The Speaker's ruling was sustained. The vote was 72 for and 49 against, and by the decision Col. Ralston was not permitted to further discuss the dismissal of the air force men.

Speaker Black ruled against Col. Ralston on the ground that the matter was one which could be disagreed when the government put before the House into supply.

Supply Next.

Hon. Wm. D. Euderkin, King's Opposition leader, stated that this was one of the days when the House went into supply without a motion being put. Consequently the Opposition would not have an opportunity to discuss the matter until next week.

Mr. Speaker said that next week would be time enough.

Scores Delay.

Mr. King persisted that Monday was a motion member's day and that would be no opportunity for supply on that day. On Tuesday the government was in a position to decide whether or not the House would go into' supply. Consequently the Opposition might be blocked for several days from the discussion.

MORE FREIGHT MOVING

St. Thomas, Feb. 20.—It is conservatively estimated by officials of the Canadian division of the Pere Marquette at St. Thomas that through freight traffic is now within 85 per cent. of normal. There has been a large volume of through freight during the past few months, and with the contribution made by the shipment of automobiles it is hoped that traffic will soon be 100 per cent. normal.

Let us not forget that a good deal of our prosperous appearance is due to driving a mortgaged car over a bonded road.

BARN IS BURNED

Sarnia, Feb. 20.—A barn on the sixth concession of Plymouth, owned by Mrs. Charles Cameron, was destroyed by fire. Thirty head of cattle, a number of horses and pigs were removed from the building safely but the flames destroyed a haybinder and a drill. The loss is estimated at $2,000. The farm is occupied by William Campbell, a son of the owner.

Florida was first settled in 1565 by a bridge over the Pearl River connecting Torreon and Gomez Palacio, Mexico, has been opened.

SCREEN ATTRACTIONS

Present and Prospective

Previews and Reviews of Current Offerings at Belleville Theatres

At The Belle

5 FAVORITE STARS IN PARAMOUNT HIT, "TWO KINDS OF WOMEN"

Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday

Each lady attending the Belle Monday evening will be presented with a Rose Quartz Dresserware gift with the compliments of the Belle management.

Are people in New York different from people in other places, and does it matter to the big city change your character? Affirmative evidence is offered by "Two Kinds of Women," the Paramount picture opening at the Belle Monday for two days, matinee daily. Miriam Hopkins play Vicki, a New Yorker, by Robert E. Sherwood, "Two Kinds of Women" tells the story of interesting events in the lives of visitors to the metropolis, but gives a group of favorite stars a bright new opportunity to be different from the way you've seen them before.

Miriam Hopkins, playing in "Two Kinds of Women," the golden-haired daughter of a South Dakota senator has a role in brilliant contrast to her former parts. If you saw "Twenty-Four Hours" you remember as the night club hostess, and in "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde" she was the pretty music hall singer victimized by Hyde. In both these roles Miss Hopkins, besides being murdered, was required to appear sophisticated and—well, not quite a lady.

Now, in "Two Kinds of Women," she is the nice girl who rescues the hero from the clutches of a well-bred villain played by Wynne Gibson.

Those who have the pleasure of seeing all three of these performances will come away filled with admiration for Miss Hopkins' versatility, for she made a huge success of her "tough" roles as in some sense delightful in "Two Kinds of Women" as the ingenue seeing the big city for the first time and just thrilled to death. You'll understand why when the blase young millionaire introduced do her in her first speakeasy, is charmed by her sparkle and zest.

But her ingenuous delight in this new world is not shared by her father, the Senator, who has come from the street.

From the standpoint of complete-ness rather than significance, "Street Scene" is more revolutionary than the first talking picture. While there are virtually no silent films now being made in Hollywood the intention to talk was a cautious and tentative process. Al Jolson in "The Jazz Singer" spoke only one line of dialogue. Next came a series of features which were first filmed entirely in silence, after which a few short scenes were retaken with dialogue and interpolated into the drama.

In one telling swoop, however, Vidor is bringing "Street Scene" to the screen with a full enunciation of the unity of time and place which the speaking stage has followed since the days of Aristotle. He prove to be the wedding of the screen and stage which some critics have long predicted. The effort has been made to retain Elmer Rice's great drama by the fact that the author helped himself to a generous portion of screen technique in concocting his stage play. Rice is an experienced screen writer as well as stage dramatist, and "Street Scene" was built with a view to a continuous stage formula that most Broadway producers turned to down.

Producer Samuel Goldwyn brought Elmer Rice to Hollywood to make his own adaptation of the screen play, with the result that everything the author considers vital has been retained. On the shoulders of King Vidor, however, falls the ponderous burden of creating the swiftness of movement necessary to a "movie" play.

Rice's method of a series of episodes, of oppressive and almost casual events, emotional, dramatic, but mounting slowly until, with two revolver shots, matters come to a tense quick climax only to subside again. What matters a birth or two, a death or two, or a love or two in the life of a city of 7,000,000 inhabitants?

To quicken the pace of these crises and events Vidor has used camera angles. Not for so much as thirty seconds does his camera pause as it shifts from the daughter, emotions and actions of Sylvia Sidney, William Collier Jr., Estelle Taylor, and the eight members of the New York cast of "Street Scene."

"Street Scene" is now playing at the Capitol.

Irving Pichel, Miriam Hopkins and Phillips Holmes in a dramatic scene from "Two Kinds of Women," opening at the Belle, Monday.

At The Capitol

"STREET SCENE" HAS NO INTERIOR SCENES

There have been few abrupt upheavals in the quarter-century during which film play making has been taking shape, aside from the cataclysmic change from silence to sound. The silent era has been a process of evolution, rather than revolution.

And now comes King Vidor to direct Samuel Goldwyn's production of "Street Scene," the most revolutionary film ever made from Hollywood, he claims. A screen drama for the first time photographed in a single set, without a single interior scene, and filmed just as it was seen on the stage and will be seen on the screen—from first shot to last in regular dramatic sequence.

And yet the entire life of a New York tenement house is supposed in this street scene, just as Elmer Rice regarded it on the stage for two solid years on Broadway. The poignant but futile love of a young boy and girl, a hurband staving his wife and her lover, the birth of a baby, the critical illness of the non-payment of rent—all the intimate joys and sorrows of a crowded tenement house are exposed to view a thousand miles to tell the city fock how wicked they are. Was a fabloid reporter (Stuart Erwin) informs him that his daughter has fallen in love with a famous Broadway playboy and been jailed as a murder witness, the Senator is at a loss for words—if a Senator is ever at a loss for words. Incidentally all this role of fatherly moralizer from the West is a novelty for Irving Pichel, and Miss Sidney, Taylor, and the eight members of the New York cast are in "Street Scene."

Sylvia Sidney and William Col ller, Jr., in "Street Scene," now at the Capitol Theatre.

"Street Scene" is now playing at the Capitol.

History records a German tendrance society in the year 1600, the rules of which allowed a knight to drink seven glasses at each meal, but only twice in the day!

Old age comes on apace to ravage all the clime.—Beattie.

Telephones may soon their voices in the form of a shaky green line by use of a new invention in England.

Affliction like the iron-smith, shapes as it smites.—Bovee.

Intellectual and large-minded persons are dreaming of a wider patriotism that shall embrace the whole of humanity.

Cotton mills of India fear an invasion of Japanese products.

THE WEATHER
Fresh northwest winds: mostly fair and colder tonight and Tuesday; local snowflurries.

The Ontario Intelligencer

Ten Pages

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, MONDAY, FEBRUARY 22, 1932.

CHINESE ADVANCE ALONG ENTIRE FRONT

Battle to be Decided Before Auxiliaries Can be Sent to Front

Japanese Anxious as Reports of Repulses Come in

CHINESE ADVANCE

Japanese Fliers Distribute Pamphlet Over Chapei

By Morvis J. Harris

Shanghai, Monday, Feb. 23 (AP). — Chinese headquarters issued a bulletin early this morning declaring that their army was advancing rapidly along the whole front from Chapei to Woosung, driving back the Japanese despite the arrival of enemy reinforcements.

Shanghai, Feb. 22 (AP) —An unsubstantiated report was circulated in Shanghai tonight that the arrival of heavy Japanese reinforcements possibly totalling two divisions of troops was imminent. Japanese military headquarters, said, however that there were no reinforcements nearby.

Today's offensive was begun by the Japanese at daybreak. It opened with a tremendous artillery attack as the heavy guns along the line roared into action. Visibility was poor, because of heavy fogs and driving rain that it was impossible for the gunners to make observations, so they shot blindly. Large groups of tanks and troops stood ready to follow the artillery bombardment when it ended.

China Preparing For Year of War Against Japan

Shanghai, Feb. 22 (AP). — China's National Government is preparing for a long struggle against Japan which will last a year, it was said today, in an authoritative quarter.

The government is buying large quantities of ammunitions and aeroplanes and importing trench-digging machinery from Germany. The authorities are convinced the failure of the Chinese nation depends on the outcome of the struggle and are confident of the support of all the people.

against the new Manchurian state had again broken out in Kirin province where 2,000 Chinese troops, former followers of General Ting Chao, where marching on Ilinsing and threatening the rule of His Hsia, Kirin governor, and one of the federators of the new state.

The despatches said the rebels already had seized Wulumbo and that the troops of the governor were returning to the south.

RESENT TALK OF SUICIDE

Friends Explain That Girl Had Bought Wedding Ring, Veil

Boston, Mass., Feb. 22—Relatives of Elizabeth Barrett Cook, who died at sea last week-end aboard the S.S. Pilsna, on the steamship Chinese Prince, were skeptical today of what they termed "attempts to blacken the character of a dead girl."

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Carroll of Brookline, aunt and uncle of the dead girl, said they had started an enquiry at various telegraph offices in Italy to prove the girl did not send herself a hoax message she received shortly before her death. The message falsely announced the death in Boston of her fiance, Mr. George Arnold, and ordered her not to return, to this city. It was signed "Helen James."

"The fact," said Mr. Carroll, "that she bought a wedding ring and veil for her marriage ceremony certainly belies the theory she planned to end her life."

Miss Cook died under mysterious circumstances shortly before the Chinese Prince arrived at Gibraltar. She was buried at Gibraltar and an autopsy is now being performed.

SEES REIGN OF TERRORISM

Claims Political Prisoners in Canada Should Be Released

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 22. — By the Canadian Press) — Terror has been "rear marked" as the city in which the police would set the pace for a campaign of terrorism in subduing the political activities of the worklily classes, a delegation of the Eastern Canada Repeal Conference told the Minister of Justice today. The Minister, Hon. W. A. Gordon, K.C., received the deputation which had sought an interview with Premier Bennett with a petition that the Government repeal Section 98 of the Criminal Code.

Repeal of this section, aimed at a bill of workers' rights and anti-deportation measures outlined by the workers' conference, immediate release of all "political prisoners in Canada" including thirteen alleged Communists in Toronto, and Hamilton, Welland, Windsor, Port Arthur and Ottawa.

DUTCH DESTROYER ON WAY

The Hague, Netherlands, Feb. 22 (AP)—A despatch from Batavia, Java today, said the Dutch destroyer Van Ghent left that port for Shanghai by way of Hong Kong.

HOOVER PAYS TRIBUTE TO WASHINGTON

New System of Life is Builded Up in America

100 YEARS HENCE

President Refers to Fine Character of "Founder of His Country"

Washington, D.C., Feb. 22 (By Ken Clark, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent) —Before a joint session of the House of Representatives and Senate of the United States President Herbert Hoover in celebration of the 200th birthday anniversary of George Washington's birthday this afternoon made an address of tribute to "the father of his country."

The President said upon foundations of liberty laid down by our forefathers and led by Washington, our nation has grown up during a century and a half a new system of life, a system unique to the American people.

Self-Government.

"It comprises", he continued, "a political system of self-government with the responsibilities resting on the duties of individual men to the community, and of local communities to the nation. It is a government designed in spirit to sustain a dual purpose; to protect our people among nations by great national power, and to preserve individual freedom by local self government.

"It comprises a social system free of inherited position, based upon the equality of rights given to men by the equal privilege of men to strive and achieve, and the responsibilities of men to their neighbors.

Economic System.

"It embraces an economic system based upon the largest degree of individual initiative, of individual and enterprise which can be permitted and still maintain the ideal of equality of opportunity among all men."

President began by quoting Daniel Webster at the centennial celebration of Washington's birth other disciples of Washington will celebrate his birth with no less sincere admiration than we now commemorate it."

That man was here. "Proudly", Mr. Hoover said, "we report to our fellow citizens in the republic more secure, more constant, more powerful than Washington knew in any time in its history."

The Real Spectacular.

The qualities which marked George Washington for immortality were not spectacular, he continued. He had courages without excitement, determination without emotion. The men of his day brought many evils and many virtues to him because he had more character, a finer character, a purer character than any people before. He was free from the ensing pressures of his generation all men acknowledged. No more admirable force was the overwhelming influence of his moral power—could felt harmless before him, shame hone to shame, folly did not risk to look him in the face, evil could not skunk from his presence, cowardice could not shrink from his example.

Through streets where 40,000 flags with their crimson bars flapped in the morning breeze, the Presidential party returned from the White House to the Capitol.

De Valera's Mother Resident in States

Rochester, Feb. 22—A lonely Irish mother separated from her hard fighting son, Eamon De Valera, by thousands of miles of land and ocean, hopes that the hope that he would win the Irish Free State election and then do something for the "auld sod".

There was fire in the gray-blue eyes of Mrs. Catherine Wheelwright, a pink-cheeked, snowy-haired woman of 80 years, as she heard the news that her son by a second marriage, William T. Cosgrave was defeated in the Irish Free State election.

Her first husband, Eamon's father, was a Spanish sculptor and musician, a descendant of the ancient family for which the Spanish town of Valera was named.

He died two years after Eamon was born. Her second husband, Charles Wheelwright, lived here all his life. Under modern circumstances Eamon paid his last visit to his mother in 1926.

Corona Hotel at Edmonton is Destroyed by Fire

Canadian Exhibits at Industries Fair

Continental Buyers on Hand Today as Fair Opens Simultaneously at London and in Birmingham—Largest of 18 Fairs

London, Feb. 22 (Canadian Press Cable)—Including the booths of many Canadian exhibitors, nearly thirty acres of floor space are occupied by the British Industries Fair which opened simultaneously today at Olympia and the White City, London, and Castle Bromwich in Birmingham.

Abundant interest of continental buyers was evidence and the Danish government in particular has authorized a considerable rebate on the state railways for travellers to the B.I.F. It is the 13th of the series and the largest of them all, with more than 2,000 exhibitors.

The Duke of York and Rt. Hon. Walter Runciman, president of the Board of Trade, speak at a banquet at the Mansion House tonight in connection with the fair, while the Prince of Wales will visit the Birmingham section on Thursday.

Lighter Trades

The lighter trades occupy Olympia, the textile section is at the White City and ten industrial groups comprise the "heavy trades" at Birmingham. Birmingham, incidentally, has been associated with the fair for the past twenty-four centuries. The city's pre-eminence in brass-founding has been maintained for more than 200 years, and its reputation is now being extended by domestic manufacturers and by domestic labor-saving devices in light metal work.

20,000 Starving, Homeless Chinese Create Problem

How to Keep Miserable Refugees Alive Puzzle Relief Officials

PORRIDGE GIVEN

Nanking, Feb. 23 (AP).—Twenty-thousand homeless, penniless, half-starved Chinese, innocent victims of the "war" at Shanghai, presented a picture of mass misery at the Sanpaiow war refugee camp near here today which was without parallel in the present Sino-Japanese conflict.

The problem of keeping the miserable refugees alive was also serious and becoming increasingly so day by day as their number increased. The brunt of the huge task of feeding and sheltering the destitute thousands fell upon the National flood relief commission and various missionary groups.

The city government was providing one meal of porridge a day. Wheat was being used in large quantities to help stave off starvation and small amounts of rice and vegetables also were being donated.

Giant Dirigible Breaks Loose Today

Lakehurst, N.J., Feb. 22.—A rudder of the United States Navy Dirigible Akron was broken off today as the giant craft broke loose from its rear handling gear and scraped the ground in a tail quarter turn in a light north wind.

The dirigible was being prepared for a flight with a congressional inspection committee when the accident occurred, and as the mishap resulted in the inspection trip being indefinitely postponed.

The fate of the Akron's sister was seen, leaving a wide gap in the ship's side.

St. Germain Treaty Type Suggested to Conference

United States Advances Treaty as Yard-Stick

MEASURE ARMIES

Geneva, Feb. 22—The treaty of St. Germain which disarmed Austria after the world war was suggested to the World Disarmament Conference today by the states delegation as a yard-stick to measure forces necessary as national police forces.

The delegation presented its formal proposals for disarmament as requested by Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, president of the world conference.

The St. Germain treaty was advanced by the United States as Point No. 7 of nine propositions and was the only suggestion among nine not covered in Ambassador Hugh Gibson's speech before the conference recently. Point No. 7 asked for computation of the numbers of armed forces on a basis of effectives necessary for the maintenance of internal or some suitable contingent for defence.

NEW SYSTEM OF EXCHANGE MAY FOLLOW

Dr. D. M. Marvin Says Nations Must Conform to Conditions

HIGH PRICE CREDIT

Sterlinh Most Likely Form of Possible Exchange

Toronto, Ont., Feb. 22 — (Can. Press) — Dr. D. M. Mar, economist today told the Canadian Club of Toronto he saw a possibility that, unless countries remaining on the gold standard, are prepared to conform to certain conditions within a reasonable period of time, a new system of money and exchange might be developed.

The new system, he thought, would be based on currencies more closely related in relation to the index numbers of the price level. Sterling, he suggested, would be the logical basis for such a system.

Sterling is Ideal

The traditional position of sterling as the world's medium of exchange, the position of London as the world's banking centre, her wealth of experience, her splendid banking system, at the centre of which the Bank of England operates without the stringent restrictions and inhibitions of the central banks of France and the United States form a combination ideally designed for this purpose," he said.

Dr. Marvin Changes Necessary

He pointed out that within the British Empire, with the exception of Canada, no basic changes would be necessary to bring such a system into being. Scandinavian countries, he continued, quickly followed sterling off the gold standard and have enjoyed increased stabilization their currencies in terms of sterling.

"It requires no great stretch of the imagination to visualize a similar change in other gold standard countries, Japan and South America," he declared.

Dr. Marvin was speaking on what he sees as the reason for the world trade depression and on remedial measures which he believes would set the machinery of commerce in normal motion again.

Two Kinds of Credit

He saw the high price of credit in countries on the gold standard as the major cause of the depression and suggested trade would swing upwards when credit was obtainable at low prices. Stabilized by the "pull in my pocketbook," he said, "that is why business is closing private, though general tone of the list is firm.

Nosanda and International Nickle were fairly well taken in the local list, the former moving up 20 to 16.25 and the latter 15 to 15. Hollinger touched 1.43 but when taken at noon was unchanged at 1.40. Mining Corporation turned over at 1.02 for an 8-cent loss.

Algoma Steel was up 3 to 1.03 and was the only lower-priced oil to move. Teck Hughes, which has been subjected to some pressure but maintained its position, standing up 4 cent at 4.35, when taken. Wright Hargreaves moved 4 to 2.70, while other higher-priced golds were just holding. Among the senior oils were McLeod River, Moffatt Hall, Brett Trethewey and Ribago lost minor fractions.

JAPANESE KILL DEFENCELESS

U. S. Editor in Shanghai Sees Murders By The Sword

Shanghai, China, Feb. 22.—(AP) — Carl Crow, American born editor of the United States owned Shanghai Evening Post-Mercury, under his own signature in today's edition of that newspaper an article from the front of Chapei's winter forbind Kiangwan lines are killing defenceless Chinese peasants.

Mr. Thackrey stated he reached the Kiangwan Provisional Race Club without being observed by the Japanese quartered there and watched Japanese soldiers putting men, women and children to the sword.

"I stood there in the grandstand with one of my reporters," he wrote "and watched what happened to these Chinese prisoners in the hands of the Japanese.

"Perhaps, as the official Japanese Military communiques say, these corpses once had been snipers or even perhaps spies. I make no challenge, I just detail what I have seen."

POLICE LOOK FOR FIRE BUG

Held Responsible For Six Serious Fires in Last Two Months

New Glasgow, N.S., Feb. 22 (CP).—Police of this town today redoubled their efforts to trace a "fire bug" who is held responsible for six serious fires and several smaller blazes that have occurred here during the last two months. A fire yesterday totalled Barker's Bakery and Joseph R. Murray's furniture store with a loss of $25,000, repeating the total since December 29th up to nearly $300,000.

NORANDA AND NICKEL UP

Quiet Turnover and Narrow Movement Featured Trading

Toronto, Feb. 22—Quiet turnover and narrow price movements marked today's forenoon trade on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange market. With American exchanges closed interlisted stocks had small attention and the closing levels, though general tone of the list was firm.

Noranda and International Nickle were fairly well taken in the local list, the former moving up 20 to 16.25 and the latter 15 to 15. Hollinger touched 1.43 but when taken at noon was unchanged at 1.40. Mining Corporation turned over at 1.02 for an 8-cent loss.

Algoma Steel was up 3 to 1.03 and was the only lower-priced oil to move. Teck Hughes, which has been subjected to some pressure but maintained its position, standing up 4 cent at 4.35, when taken. Wright Hargreaves moved 4 to 2.70, while other higher-priced golds were just holding. Among the senior oils were McLeod River, Moffatt Hall, Brett Trethewey and Ribago lost minor fractions.

First Heat of Dog Derby is Being Run

QUEBEC, Que., Feb. 22.—Shorty Russell, Fish Lake Mosher, today won the first forty-mile lap of the 200-mile international 126-mile dog sled derby. His time was 3.29.15. Merl St. Godard, The Pas, Man., was second in 3.29.45.

Quebec, Feb. 22 (CP)—The 11th Annual Eastern International Dog Sled Derby, the mushing event which is the feature of Quebec's winter sports carnival each year, got under way this morning with fourteen teams entered for the three day race around the forty mile course.

This year's line-up includes the names of most of the veteran crack drivers who have figured prominently in the race in the past, namely Emile St. Godard, Shorty Russell, Earl Brydges and Shorty Rusick. These four mushers have at one time or another all captured the classic. The team covering the total distance of 121 miles in the least elapsed time wins first place, a money prize of $800, a silver cup and a one-third right on the permanent ownership of a gold cup. Fourth $200 and fifth $100.

Breaks World's Record For 200 Metre Swim

Copenhagen, Denmark, Feb. 22 (AP)—Else Jacobsen of Copenhagen established what is claimed to be a new world's record for the 200 metre breast stroke today when she swam the distance in 3 minutes 8 3-5 seconds, beating Miss Kersten Liberg of Sweden by one yard.

Both will compete in the coming Olympic games at Los Angeles.

150 Guests Flee From Blaze Swept Edmonton Hotel, $500,000 Damage

One Man Has Narrow Escape, Engineer is Burned

SIX-HOUR FIGHT

Every Available Fireman in Edmonton is Called to Scene

Edmonton, Alta., Feb. 22 (By The Canadian Press)— In the most spectacular fire here in months, loss of $500,000 was inflicted Sunday evening as the Corona Hotel building was gutted. The blaze drove 150 guests of the hotel to the streets, many of them leaving possessions behind. There was no loss of life, although one man had a narrow escape.

Corona barber shop and premises of the Motor Car Supply Company, situated in the same structure, lie in ruins. The Motor Car Supply lost $150,000 in stock and equipment.

Explosion Blamed.

The blaze was caused by an explosion, presumably due to leaky gas pipes, in the basement of the hotel. James Charlebois, night engineer at the hotel, was burned about the head, face and hands when, blinding, searing blast of flame caught him as he opened the furnace doors. He was taken to a doctor for medical attention and then to his home.

Every available fireman in the city fought the blaze, and after a six-hour battle retired with their black coats turned white by layers of spray-ice on them, and with their mitts frozen to their hands.

Four Killed in Tignish Train Wreck

Summerside, P.E.I. Feb. 22 (CP)—Four dead and eleven injured was the toll of a wreck at Tignish Station, on the Canadian National Railway main line east of Tignish early yesterday morning, when a snow train, drawn by two locomotives, crashed into the rear of a stalled freight train carrying 27 snow shovellers in the baggage car and a coach.

POLICE FIRE ON CROWD

Sonowiec, Poland, Feb. 23 (AP).—Two laborers were shot dead and killed today when police fired on a meeting of striking miners.

WEATHER

Meteorological Office, Toronto, Feb. 23 (7 a.m.)—Low area of high pressure extends from the lower Mississippi Valley and Tennessee across Manitoba to the western States. A deep low area is centred over the Gulf of St. Lawrence and pressure is low and decreasing on the middle Atlantic coast. Some light local snow has fallen in Ontario and in the Maritime Provinces in other parts of the Dominion the weather has been fair. Temperatures are considerably below zero in Manitoba.

Lake Superior—Fresh northwest winds; fair and colder tonight and Tuesday.

Manitoba—Fair and cold. Tuesday unsettled and colder. Local snowflurries.

Saskatchewan—Mostly fair tonight and Tuesday, with local snowflurries and a little higher temperature in Eastern districts.

Alberta—Fair, cloudy today and Tuesday, with local snowflurries; somewhat higher temperature in the Southern districts.

Coming Events

COMING — COMING —COMING. Geo. War Memorial Hy Comrades, to the S. of L.F. & E. Easter Monday Ball, at Johnstown's Academy. 122-15

EUCHRE, ODDFELLOWS HALL, Feb. 24th, at 2.30. Six prizes, Ball prizes, Bridge and Euchre. Admission 25c. 122-16

EUCHRE AND DANCE AT MEMORIAL Hall, Tuesday, Feb. 23rd.—Cards 8-10. Dancing 10-1. Admission 25c. 122-11

MR. H. J. MOORE, SECRETARY of International Peace Gardens, will lecture in the Collegiate Auditorium Tuesday evening, Feb. 23rd, 8 p.m. Admission Free. 122-2c

City and District News

RUBBISH CATCHES FIRE IN GANGWAY

Constable Thomson of the city police while on his rounds about 2.15 o'clock yesterday morning found a fire in a driveway between the building occupied by the Dominion Store on the east and store of Mitchell & Bishop and Son on Front street.

Near the side entrance to the Bishop store Constable Thomson found a blanket of flame in which fire was smouldering and when he lifted the blanket the smouldering fire broke into flame. The constable hurriedly obtained two pails full of water and the blaze was extinguished.

FLEW TO BRIGHTON TO MAKE VISIT

Flying his Curtiss aeroplane, with Mr. George Sweetman as passenger, R. F. Ellsott flew up to Brighton and landed on the ice after which he and his passenger partook of dinner with Mr. George Lawson, of Brighton. Mr. Elliott reports that the landing on the ice was perfect and Brighton Bay, when viewed over-all, makes a perfect landing and take-off field. Both members of the party report that the weather conditions prevailed throughout the trip.

CARS COLLIDE ON DUNDAS ST.

A car moving west on Dundas street cast on Sunday evening was struck by a car approaching from the east. The latter car was making a left turn at the time and the road was slippery. No one was injured, however, the mercury soared until it reached 41 at noon while the lowest point reached was 21 early this morning.

THIRD DOG FALLS POISON VICTIM

Third dog to fall a victim to a poisoner was that of "Scotty" Millie, a water spaniel being the choice of the poison. The report took the Canadian Intelligencer today he was going to have the stomach analyzed. This section of the city has been hard hit during the past week and efforts are being made to find the perpetrator.

CARS COLLIDE AT INTERSECTION

Sunday night about seven-fifteen o'clock, Ernest Fox, of Queen and Catherine street, was driving west in the middle car on Dundas street and at Burnham street, he turned into that street and backed out in order to turn and go east and in doing so his car and a car driven by Ernest Ford of Brighton, who was travelling east, came into collision.

The report of the accident, which was made to the city police, does not mention that any serious damage resulted to either car.

MERCURY MOUNTS TO NEW HIGH

Strangely enough the mercury in Belleville today, the temperature was far higher than has been experienced in February in quite some time. The temperature at noon registered 41 and the mercury steadily rising. During the past 24 hours there has been a marked difference in the registration of the mercury, when it registered as high yesterday and dropped as low as 5 degrees above zero. Today, however, the mercury soared until it reached 41 at noon while the lowest point reached was 21 early this morning.

FRANCIS BRANT NOW OUT OF DANGER

Francis Brant, Indian youth of the Mohawk Institute, who wounded himself with a 22 calibre rifle, is progressing favorably and tonight at 9 o'clock his physician in charge, Dr. Wilson, stated that the patient would fully recover from his rash act.

SNOW NEEDED IN TWO WEEKS

Stocks of Grains Said to Be Very Low in Ontario

"We should have four inches of snow within two weeks," stated Mr. Harry Pearson of the Federal Department of Agriculture at Belleville, in a report in an answer to a query as to the outlook of the crops as spring draws near after the most remarkable open winter for more than a generation or two.

"We need that snow to protect the roots now. The earth is full of moisture and there will be no danger from frost if we do not have snow."

Mr. Pearson told of a recent rainer exhaustive survey he made throughout this part of the province. He finds that there is little grain in the hands of farmers and elsewhere.

Though this is true, the prices are still very low and the demand is very light, the present winter having reduced the demand to a minimum.

As there always is possibility of a bad season the department, and Mr. Pearson, has advised the farmers to keep on hand at least one season's requirement of red clover for seeding.

Baby's Colds
Best treated without dosing—just rub on VICKS
VAPORUB
OR COLDS OF ALL THE FAMILY

WATCH
for ANNOUNCEMENT of the
PIANO-PLAYING CONTEST for the
CAPITOL
THEATRE
SILVER CUP!
COMMENCES SOON!!

BEGGARS DESCRIPTION STREET SCENE with SYLVIA SIDNEY
Wm. Collier, Jr.
Estelle Taylor
ADDED FOR YOUR ENJOYMENT
FOOTLIGHTS
A-SNAPPY REVUE
PATHE NEWS
PIANO 2.30
9.00 RECITALS
CAPITOL
NOW! 2.45 7.15 9.00

Five O.B.C. Old Boys Meet Down By Sea

A former Belleville boy, Mr. Arthur R. Crose, who now resides in Ottawa, recently made a tour of the Maritime Provinces. While in Sydney, N.S., he attended a service club luncheon and met there two business men, who inquired about Belleville and Ontario Business Colleges. They were very interested in hearing news of the College and also spoke in highest terms of the training they had received at O.B.C. some years ago. Mr. Crose is himself an O.B.C. graduate who was started on his business career by the thorough Ontario Business College training. One of the men he met in Sydney was a class mate of his while at O.B.C.

REPAIR IT NOW!

Skilled workmen and repair that car top of yours in the shortest possible time and guarantee a first class job.

ST. CHARLES MOTOR CO.
PHONE 222

C. G. I. T. LEAD IN SERVICE

Anti-Can't Class of Boys Are in Charge at Evensong

Two very impressive and beautiful services were held yesterday at the Victoria Avenue Baptist Church.

In the morning, the Canadian Girls in Training were in charge. The girls dressed in their uniforms occupied the front seats in the church.

The service which began with the singing of "The Lord is in His Holy Temple," was conducted by the following order: Miss K. Jones gave opening prayer, Hymn No. 596 was sung; Miss Ruth Looker read the Scripture lesson from Luke 5, 17-26; Miss Jean Hyde led in prayer; Miss Looker read the announcements for the week and the offering was received; Miss Jones gave the offertory prayer; "I Would Be True" was sung very sweetly by Miss Dorothy Asselstine and Miss Audrey Looker and Miss Merry told the regular Sunday morning story to the boys and girls.

Mr. Grafton, the speaker for the service gave a very beautiful message which will long be remembered not only by the Canadian Girls in Training but by the entire congregation. Taking as his subject the little Jewish slave girl who told Naaman the Leper of the healing powers of the Prophet of God in Israel, he brought out the wonderful qualities of faith, hope and charity. In the readings of her Confidence, her Graciousness, her Independence and her Cheerfulness.

The C.G.I.T. sang "These Things Shall Be," after which Mr. Grafton closed in prayer.

The evening service was conducted by the boys of the Anti-Can't Class and was conducted as follows:

After the singing of the Doxology, Mr. Grafton gave the opening prayer; Coward Christian Solomon read the Scripture and Mr. Arthur Looker led in prayer.

A quartette composed of Messrs. Hitchon, Cornell, Wynn and Wilson sang "Kindly Light." Mr. Edgar Jones read the announcements for the week after which the offering was received gave the Offertory prayer.

A lovely anthem was sung by the choir and then the Scripture lesson was sung.

The speaker was Mr. Bassett-Jones, leader of the Anti-Can't Class. His subject was "Citizenship in the Heavenly Kingdom" and the "Temple of God which is our Body." This message was very inspiring.

After the singing of a hymn, Mr. Bassett-Jones closed the service with prayer.

RALPH SWEETMAN OF MADOC DIES

Youth Succumbs to Sudden Attack of Intestinal Flu

Madoc, Feb. 22 (Special)—Residents of the village of Madoc received with much regret the news of the sudden death of Ralph Sweetman, 20 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Sweetman, on Saturday evening. Ralph, a student attending Madoc High School, was at school on Friday afternoon but was not feeling well. Upon his arrival home the family physician was called in and on Saturday morning Dr. Bogart and Dr. Argue-ham pronounced intestinal influenza the cause of illness. Dr. Connell of this village was summoned but his young man passed away suddenly Saturday evening in spite of all efforts.

Ralph was well known throughout the Madoc district and will be sadly missed by those who had come to know and respect him. He was connected with all branches of school activities being a favourite among his fellow scholars. Besides his parents he leaves two brothers and two sisters to mourn his loss. Ralph was the oldest child of the family. Mr. Sweetman, father of Ralph, is an employee of the C.N.R. at Madoc.

The funeral will take place in Madoc on Tuesday afternoon.

TEN KILLED IN WEEKEND

Twenty-One Are Also Injured in Various Kinds of Accidents

(By The Canadian Press)

Ten persons were killed and 21 injured in Canada over the week-end as trains, automobiles and a motor boat took a heavy toll of life.

P. E. I., four of Mr. Summerside, were the only persons killed in an automobile which was struck by a train at a level crossing near Woodstock, Ont.

Eight persons were injured, one seriously, when an automobile in which they were riding left the road and plunged into a ditch near Ingersoll, Ont. Reckless had driving caused the accident resulting in extricating the victims from the car which was wrecked in a fire passenger model.

A Windsor man, Fred Stevens, died as a result of injuries sustained when his clothing caught in the propeller shaft of a motor boat on which he was working.

CHAS. PEPPIN HAS RETIRED

F. H. Chesher Succeeds Engineer as School For The Deaf

"Another vacancy has occurred in connection with the staff of the Ontario Government in 1891, serving first in the Parliament Buildings in Toronto. In 1899 he was transferred to the School for the Deaf, where he has since served except for an interval of about one year. He has always been faithful and efficient, and has always been most courteous and obliging in his relations with the other members of the staff, and is much esteemed by all. In leaving, he carries with him the best wishes of everyone at the School for his future welfare and happiness, and the hope that he may enjoy many more years to enjoy his well-earned rest.

"His place has been taken by Mr. Frank Chesher, of Belleville, who is an experienced and fully qualified engineer, holding a second class stationary engineer's certificate of competency, and until it closed down he was chief engineer at the Belleville Rolling mills, and since then has been employed at the Corbyville Industrial Alcohol Distillery."

MAY BE COURTNEY

Salem John, N.B., Feb. 22— Although no identification is possible wreckage found at Margaretville, N.B. may be from the schooner Courtney, not heard from since she left Yarmouth, N.S., on Dec. 22, it is reported in a letter J. C. Chesley, New Brunswick agent of the Department of Marine, has received from the light keeper at Margaretville.

"MY NERVES ARE IMPROVED"

MY TROUBLE was irregular periods," writes Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped me to become more regular.

"It has decreased the pain considerably. I get sleeping better too. I can honestly state my nerves are improved. —

"The pains I used to get in my back are practically gone." Miss Sally Brown, 327 Queens Street South, Hamilton, Ontario.

Lydia E. Pinkham's VEGETABLE COMPOUND

Old at 40?

Beware Kidney Acidity

If you feel old and run-down from Getting Up Nights, Nervousness, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Leg Pains, Dizziness, Burning Bladder or Kidney Acidity, use quick-acting Cystex (Sistex) which often stops trouble in 24 hours. Guaranteed to work satisfactorily or your money back and get money back. Only 75c at druggists.

CANADA GEESE FLY OVER CITY

Harbinger of Spring Can Not Find Resting Place

Last week a not so weary "Weary Willie," in all the glory of his rags and tatters blew into town, stopped at the corner of Bridge and Cook a mess of "slum" on his little tin can, swipe a few cigar butts and continue on his way. Where he went is not known. But he was heralded as the first signs of an early spring and quality in extricating the victims from the car which was wrecked in a fire passenger model.

A Windsor man, Fred Stevens, died as a result of injuries sustained when his clothing caught in the propeller shaft of a motor boat on which he was working.

F. H. Chesher Succeeds Engineer as School For The Deaf

"Another vacancy has occurred in connection with the staff of the Ontario Government in 1891, serving first in the Parliament Buildings in Toronto. In 1899 he was transferred to the School for the Deaf, where he has since served except for an interval of about one year. He has always been faithful and efficient, and has always been most courteous and obliging in his relations with the other members of the staff, and is much esteemed by all. In leaving, he carries with him the best wishes of everyone at the School for his future welfare and happiness, and the hope that he may enjoy many more years to enjoy his well-earned rest.

"His place has been taken by Mr. Frank Chesher, of Belleville, who is an experienced and fully qualified engineer, holding a second class stationary engineer's certificate of competency, and until it closed down he was chief engineer at the Belleville Rolling mills, and since then has been employed at the Corbyville Industrial Alcohol Distillery."

MAY BE COURTNEY

Salem John, N.B., Feb. 22— Although no identification is possible wreckage found at Margaretville, N.B. may be from the schooner Courtney, not heard from since she left Yarmouth, N.S., on Dec. 22, it is reported in a letter J. C. Chesley, New Brunswick agent of the Department of Marine, has received from the light keeper at Margaretville.

Obituary

MISS SARAH E. MORDEN

The death of Miss Sarah Eliza beth Morden of 1230 Alberni street of Vancouver, occurred on January 22nd deceased being in her 87th year She was the daughter of J. C. Morden and came of U.E.L. parentage. She was born in Belleville, resided in California and Vancouver, where she passed away at the home of her niece, Mrs. R. Hamilton.

Of a family of eight, but one sister survives, namely Mrs. Nancy Card of Hamilton, Ont.

LATE J. ARTHUR McKINNEY

A large concourse of neighbors, friends and organizations gathered during his former colleagues in the County Council, headed by Warden E. M. Mallory, representatives of the Masonic and Orange fraternities, and the citizens of the country generally in the memorial service this afternoon to pay their last respects to the late J. Arthur McKinney, a man honored by them during his life time and whose passing will be only of the township of Tyendinaga but of the whole district throughout the county.

Services under Masonic auspices were held at the home in third concession of his native township, at the Orange Hall, Shannonville, and at the graveside in Melrose cemetery. The late Mr. McKinney was Worshipful Master Rowson of Craig Lodge, No. 317, A.F. and A.M., Shannonville, officiating at all three services.

Floral tributes were many, comprising pieces from the township council, municipal, fraternal and business bodies with which the deceased was associated as well as from personal friends who had ever held the late Mr. McKinney in love, honour and esteem.

EDGAR STAPLEY

The death occurred early today at the family residence, second concession of Thurlow of Edgar Stapley, a resident of that township since his birth three seventy-nine years ago. The late Mr. Stapley was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Stapley and was a member of the Centre St. United Church Mission.

The deceased was twice married, the first Mrs. Stapley predeceasing forty-four years ago. Surviving by that union are three sons and two daughters, namely: Rev. New Westminster, B.C.; Harrey of Carey, O.; and Ellis of Belleville; Mrs. Emma Hutchins, of Tweoma, Wash., and Mrs. H. Meagher, of this city; by his second marriage remain, the widow, a son and five daughters, Herbert at home; Mrs. Walter Way, of Thurlow; Mrs. A. Keller, Oshawa; Mrs. Harry McNeil, Picton; Mrs. Albert Reid, Belleville, and Miss Hazel at home. Two brothers, Albert and Richard of Thurlow and a sister, Mrs. Annie Bowler of Toronto, also survive.

To the numerous relatives left to mourn his loss is extended the sympathy of the community in which he so long resided, and where he was for years respected and esteemed as a kindly neighbor.

LATE MRS. B. J. PEOPLES

Word has been received in this city of the sudden death of Mrs. Robert J. Peoples of Smith's Falls on Thursday of last week. Her husband was a former resident of this city.

LICENSE ALL BICYCLISTS

Boy on Bicycle Cuts in Before Motor at Corner

"If I had my way about it I'd not allow those heavy riders past a test and get a license to have and ride a bicycle, just the same as we car owners do," growled a local motorist, as he backed his car out of the corner of Front Street and Saturday night skidded to a severe stop while the boy on the bicycle, who had cut in ahead of him and almost rubbed his front fender gaily and blithely continued on his way without a backward look. If that car owner had not been alert and applied his brakes when he did there there was just the possibility of a serious accident.

"Yet if I had run into that boy on that bicycle I would have probably got blamed for the whole thing no matter how innocent or blameless I was in the accident. Of all the crazy freaks in the world the kid on the bicycle is worst. Ever try driving behind one on a crowded street? Ever try to pass one of them on a narrow street some time, and see if you don't have to hold your horn while you're doing it. And have your foot on the brake all the time. Ever see coming down East Bridge Street the whole bunch when one of those school boys on a bike did the same stunt, and I only saved both of us when he cut in ahead of my car, by driving my car over to the left corner of the road almost in front of another car that was coming down Bridge street. I'll tell you about it."

It seems to be a fact that boys on bicycles constitute a greater menace to motorists than anything anything else. Any day, near the traffic lights or on any of those spots to be observed sailing serenely along whether the light is in their favor or not. Recent accidents have resulted from this contempt our disregard by the cyclists for all traffic laws, and generally the motorist has to pay the penalty. Yet an observation of their erratic and wobbly course through the streets of the city will show that the bike riders themselves are the ones who really should suffer the consequences of the accident.

BUYERS BUSY SAY DEALERS

Special Lines Seem to Be Reaching Top of Trading

That the "buying spirit" is awakening in this city in no uncertain manner was evidenced by a trip through downtown stores Saturday evening. Information obtained from outstanding merchants and managers of the stores brought to light the fact that sales surpassed by many for the past few weeks have shown a gain of from fifteen to twenty per cent. over that of the post-Christmas period. This percentage does not apply only to the number of sales but volume of business. Many stores state that Christmas season about the same number of sales as in other years was registered, but the total receipts were greatly off owing to the fact that shoppers were buying less expensive articles. In this manner, people are buying the most substantial lines they have held off buying for some time.

While nearly all lines of merchandise such as silk, furniture, radio, electrical equipment of the larger kind, have been moving, bookings have been selling the most. This is also reflected in the fact being spent than has been the case for some time.

Further questioning of those who are familiar with credit bureaus, or those who accept time payments, show that more regular payments have been made and new accounts which have been hanging fire for some time.

Old at 40?

Beware Kidney Acidity

If you feel old and run-down from Getting Up Nights, Nervousness, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Leg Pains, Dizziness, Burning Bladder or Kidney Acidity, use quick-acting Cystex (Sistex) which often stops trouble in 24 hours. Guaranteed to work satisfactorily or your money back and get money back. Only 75c at druggists.

A&P
ESTABLISHED 1859
WHERE ECONOMY RULES

Early Week Specials

Monday, Tuesday Wednesday

A PURE HARD SOAP
Comfort 10 bars 37c

Sardines Brunswick Brand 2 tins 9c

Figs cooking 3 lbs. 25c

FANCY BLUE ROSE
Rice - 2 lbs. 11c

FINEST QUALITY
Raisins 2 lbs. 25c

Lobster Finest Quality 3 oz. Tin 17c 1/2 oz. Tin 29c

FULL MEATED PORK
Spare Ribs lb. 8c

Flanks of Beef lb. 6c

A AND P QUALITY BEEF
STEAKS
WING - lb. 22c
SIRLOIN - lb. 12c
SILVER KNIGHT
Salmon Half or Whole lb. 12c

BABY CHICKEN
Halibut Half or Whole lb. 12c

THESE PRICES ARE GOOD IN TRENTON
The Great ATLANTIC & PACIFIC Tea Co.
LIMITED OF CANADA

ANNOUNCEMENT
Walter Thomas, 377 Front Street
PHONE 205
WILL RE-OPEN HIS BUTCHER SHOP ON WEDNESDAY
February 24th
CASH AND DELIVERY

Union Issues Flat Denial to Statement

Street Railway Union was made this morning by officers of the Union.

It was emphatically denied the men had voted to strike in March was wired by Internet.

O. E. Waller, manager of the transportation system, declared he had had no notice of any such intent by the members of the Hamilton lent on the part of the men.

Hamilton Ont., Feb. 22—Flat denial that a strike had been voted by the members of the Hamilton

Some are Good—Some are Not—Some are Beautiful — Some are Dangerous . . . BUT in Every Man's Life there are —

Two Kinds of Women

Miriam HOPKINS Phillips HOLMES

WYNNE GIBSON IRVING PICHEL STUART ARWIN

NEWS — COMEDY
NOVELETTE

TONIGHT — A Dresser-ware Gift to Each Lady.

BELLE NOW
DAILY AT 2.30—7.15—9.15

BEGINS WEDNESDAY
The World's Two Greatest Actors
Alfred LUNT Lynne FONTANNE in
The Wittiest Comedy of the Year
"THE GUARDSMAN"
PLUS
LAUREL—HARDY in "BEAU HUNKS"

LIVE O.B.C. Old Boys Meet Down By Sea

A former Belleville boy, Mr. Arthur R. Crose, who now resides in Ottawa, recently made a tour of the Maritime Provinces. While in Sydney, N.S., he attended a service club luncheon and met there two business men, who inquired about Belleville and Ontario Business Colleges. They were very interested in hearing news of the College and also spoke in highest terms of the training they had received at O.B.C. some years ago. Mr. Crose is himself an O.B.C. graduate who was started on his business career by the thorough Ontario Business College training. One of the men he met in Sydney was a class mate of his while at O.B.C.

CHINA REPULSES EFFORTS OF INVADERS

Chinese Repulse Wave After Wave of Japanese, Block Whole Offensive

Offensive Reopened With Crash Along Kiangwan-Chapei Front

BIG GUNS USED

Chinese May Launch Offensive Against Weakened Woosung Sector

By JAMES P. HOWE

Shanghai, Feb. 22.—The Japanese offensive, repulsed time and again by dogged Chinese soldiers, reopened with a crash at daybreak along the Kiangwan-Chapei front in a further attempt to wrest a village from a handful of men.

A few hundred Japanese troops today still held the walled village of Kiangwan, midway of the battle line from Chapei to Wohsung, against the strategy and blows of a Japanese army of 25,000.

Japanese heavy artillery roared into action against the stout defenders and other Chinese troops entrenched along the front with the break of the third day of the great push. Chinese field guns took up the challenge of battle, returning shell for shell.

With the night through heavy mists and driving rain so poor as to make observations impossible, the Japanese guns shot blindly. Tanks and troops, rushed into battle yesterday, were expected to follow up the barrage with promise of a decisive engagement as four powerful Chinese defence northwest of Hongkew Park were entered.

With the Japanese garrison at Woosung pressed hard by the demand for fighters for the Kiangwan sector, unofficial observers interpreted the heavy movement toward Woosung as indicating that the Chinese were taking advantage of the Japanese weakness at this far extremity of the battle front by launching an offensive on their own.

Although the Japanese drive a hole in the Chinese line north of Kiangwan, Chinese troops, estimated by the Japanese at 60,000, entrenched, held the village against a frontal attack by tanks, artillery, cavalry and infantry in yesterday's assault.

Checks Army.

A small band of Chinese fighting men, holding the walled village of Kiangwan, midway of the Chapei-Woosung battle line, continued late last night to upset the strategy of a Japanese army of 25,000.

These troops, estimated by the Japanese themselves at 60,000, entrenched their little trick merely by holding the village of Kiangwan against a frontal attack by tanks, artillery, cavalry and infantry.

As infantry approached their casualties were unnumbered, but the Japanese admitted that they themselves had lost 100 men dead or injured.

The Japanese altered their plan of action shortly after darkness had set in. Tanks entered Kiangwan but not north of Kiangwan, driving a hole in the Chinese line. Instead they obviously had pushed in the Chinese defences south of Kiangwan. They hoped to surround the town on the southeast, east, north and northwest leaving the Chinese no escape or escape southwestward. They declared it would be poor strategy to cut off a Chinese retreat.

Action Centres at Kiangwan.

The general Japanese plan of action appeared to centre at Kiangwan. There, the Japanese east-westward curve of idle Chapei-Woosung 16-mile line would be straightened in a north and south direction between the two points that ancient walled village would open for them a double gate, which they could enter at will from either Chapei and on the right toward Woosung. Japanese military experts plish this they must therefore continue to try counter-tactics at Kiangwan.

Chapei and Woosung themselves were quiet after intense activity on both ends of the line earlier in the day. Only a few artillery and rifle shots were exchanged in the Chapei sector and as night drew on the Woosung bombardment also subsided.

There was some evidence that the Chinese intended to retreat from Kiangwan sooner or later. Chinese continued to strafe bodies of Chinese troops moving westward from the Kiangwan area and many buildings in the town were in flames. The fires were set either by the Chinese themselves to cover retreat or by Japanese shells.

Unwilling to Sacrifice Lives.

The Japanese military appeared in changing their tactics to the north of Kiangwan said they were unwilling to sacrifice lives needlessly by rushing the walls. They hoped by their north flank assault to endanger a greater area of the Kiangwan defence, and as a result force the village garrison to flee. They announced they would continue to subject the town to heavy artillery bombardment in a final effort to drive the Chinese troops regardless of all else.

Tonight a battery of 16 Japanese Howitzers were thrust into action north of the walled city, but their guns appeared to be negligible to material damage. Observers proclaimed, however, to have made an advance of two miles on both sides of Kiangwan during the two days' fighting.

Royal Affection

This unusual photo shows a king and an ex-king in a remarkably affectionate pose, considering that one ousted the other from the throne. They are King Carol of Roumania and Crown Prince Michael, left, for a time before his Dad's crown. The happy boy and His Majesty are watching the army act compelitions at Predeal, in the Carpathian Mountains.

Their attack on the north drew the heaviest reply from Chinese artillery and had not succeeded. Many shells were dropped near the Kiangwan race course, where part of the Japanese headquarters and cavalry and tank units were stationed. The race course is about a mile east of the town.

Chinese artillery fire also was concentrated between the race course and General Kenkichi Ueda's headquarters, just to the south-east, were fired. Several projectiles fell around Point Haig, the Japanese naval headquarters, general was quartered last night, and was located a mile in the road within a few yards of the university entrance.

ARREST MAY BE MADE SOON

Anderson Case in Hamilton Occupying Attention of Police

Hamilton, Feb. 22.—Provincial police tonight refused to deny or confirm a report that a warrant has been issued for the arrest of Harry Anderson as the result of the shooting which was thrice shot while seated in his car on the east mountain.

Sergeant Oliver of the local provincial police, said there was no reason for the secrecy, "but we prefer not to comment further at this time."

Magistrate J. F. Vance of Wentworth county, who would be called upon to execute the official paper, was equally reticent and said any information would be given out later.

The mysterious "Harry" would be safe if he walked into central police station, for the officers there know nothing of any warrant.

"Harry", mentioned in Anderson's dying statement, has been in Hamilton several occasions, it was learned over the week-end, and several acquaintances have been questioned. Also his movements were being checked and it was understood that efforts were being made to trace him.

Painful Piles

Go Quick—No Cutting—No Salves

It takes only one bottle of Dr. J. S. Leonhardt's prescription HEM-ROID—to end itching, bleeding, protruding piles This internal remedy acts quickly even in old stubborn cases. It shrinks the hemorrhoids because it heals and restores the affected parts and removes blood congestion in the lower bowel—the cause of piles. Only an internal medicine can do this. That's why salves and cutting fail. J. S. McKeown's Drug Store says HEM-ROID Tablets must end your piles misery or money back.

It is estimated that there are 732,000 school teachers in the United States.

Irish Laborites Elected Stand Behind British Treaty

PLANS ARE LAID TO EVACUATE IF NECESSARY

Britain Completes Plans to Leave Shanghai Quickly

STANDS BY

Preparations Launched For Emergency League Assembly Meeting

London, Feb. 22—Great Britain's plans for evacuation of British subjects from Shanghai's war zone are "complete in every detail," Lord Hailsham, the War Secretary, announced yesterday, as another of His Majesty's warships departed for Chinese waters.

The cruiser Vindicative was loaded with ammunition at Plymouth, and sailed through the English East, carrying relief crews for warships already there.

"The evacuation of British subjects from the international settlement at Shanghai will be necessary only if the Japanese drive the Chinese from the settlement," said Lord Hailsham.

So far there has not been much fighting near the settlement. Nothing suggests that it may come into dislate alarm. Our plans for speedy evacuation, if it is ultimately considered necessary, are complete in every detail."

Prime Minister J. Ramsay MacDonald, who has been resting after his recent illness, will be back in the Downing Street from Chejuers before Parliament meets, it is confidently his recuperation. The cabinet emergency committee, headed by Premier Hon. Stanley Baldwin, is keeping in constant touch with the developments at Shanghai.

George Lansbury, the Labor leader in the House of Commons, observed his 73rd birthday yesterday by issuing a plea for a statement against Christians and women throughout the world to "join hands" in human appeal to Japan to halt the warfare in China.

"There is not one great power with clean hands which can protest," Lansbury said. "Japan knows that every imperialistic power, when interests are endangered, will do as she is doing at Shanghai, whether the scene be Bombay, Singapore, Hong Kong or the Philippines.

"We dare not blame Japan alone. She learned her lesson from the white nations and from the world."

Lansbury urged pressure be exerted to stop the "human speed up" in their treaty rights "imposed on China and leave her free to work out her own life in her own way."

Prepare for Assembly

Geneva, Feb. 22—The probability of a "general housecleaning" of outstanding world problems involving European, American and Far Eastern affairs was widely discussed last night as League of Nations leaders prepared for the opening of a general assembly, called into special session March 3 to deal with the Manchurian crisis.

It was emphasized that the gathering of representatives of world powers in connection with the disarmament session, the League session and the forthcoming reparations conference would be an unusual opportunity for vigorous action, if the United States will participate. The American government has been invited to be represented at the League assembly session.

Awaiting the outcome of the battle at Shanghai, the League leaders were still optimistic that the League will survive the crisis and emerge stronger than ever.

Behind the scenes political elements associated with the present crisis gathered in force.

I.—The Chinese—Japanese conflict, which the League hopes to solve, is a direct result of the 14th article of the Treaty of Versailles.

II.—Abandonment of reparations and war debt payments.

Many observers believed that the forthcoming crisis in connection with a reparations settlement and the imminent showdown on the disarmament issue, which will represent the capitals of the world.

Should the United States take an active interest, it was believed the statesmen convened for the session be ready to go a long way toward a solution of the world's problems which have disturbed international affairs since the World War.

RELIEF BILL PREDICTED

OTTAWA, Feb. 22.—(CP)—Reports in political circles are that an unemployment relief measure will be brought down in the House of Commons next week.

The bill, it is rumored, will leave the amount to be used for relief at the discretion of the administration, as was done in the measure introduced at the last session of Parliament.

LESS SATISFACTORY

LONDON, Feb. 22.—The condition of John Drinkwater, poet and dramatist, was less satisfactory today as a result of bronchial complications which set in over the week-end.

Drinkwater is 50 years old. He has been ill since last week.

"I STAND FOR EMPIRE UNITY—WHAT DO YOU SAY?

According to the latest reports from Ireland the general election seems to be swinging toward the Republican Party and its leader, De Valera (inset)..... President Cosgrave above, has openly pledged his party, the Government, for Empire Unity and closer co-operation with Great Britain, whereas De Valera wants further separation from the British Isles even to the extent of abolishing the oath of allegiance. His Majesty King George the King.

Free State vote will not be known until the week-end, and two murders have already disturbed the polling. It would seem that all the eloquence of the Government Leader, Mr. Cosgrave, will be necessary if Ireland is to remain an unruffled part of the British Empire.

T. H. COPPIN DIES SUDDENLY

Agent For C. N. R. at This Terminal For Past 32 Years

Following a sudden, brief, but serious illness, Thomas Henry Coppin, freight agent for the C.N.R. in this city for the past 32 years, passed away at his residence, 17 Forin St., late Sunday afternoon. The deceased has not been in the best of health, but was taken seriously ill a week ago and the best of medical skill and aid could not prolong life. In the passing of Mr. T. H. Coppin, Belleville loses a citizen of whom she was justly proud. Of a quiet and reserved nature, the deceased made many friends, especially among the employees of the Canadian National Railway, an organization which he served nearly a half century and from which he would have been retiring in less than two years.

Active Worker

The deceased took an active interest in all municipal, social and financial life, enjoying the confidence of a large clientele as agent for the C.N.R. at this terminus. A church work he was also active, being a member of Bridge Street United Church. The late Mr. Coppin was born at Picton, but for a number of years ago, being the son of the late Joseph and Mary Coppin. As a young man he came to this country and settled in Milford, where he received his early education. Joining the old Grand Trunk railway in the early days, he worked through the various branches, finally being given charge of a station, as agent. He served in this capacity at Mitchell and Colborne and for some years was a relieving agent. In 1900 he was appointed as agent at Belleville, where he has resided since that time.

He was a member of the Order of Railway Conductors and the Independent Order of Foresters at Oshawa. On Friday night last he was appointed by the Board of Education to the Technical Committee and would, no doubt, have served in adopted city well in this responsible position. He leaves to mourn his loss a widow, one son, T. Harold Coppin, of General Motors, Oshawa; one daughter, Mrs. A. B. Gribble, of this city; one brother, W. A. Coppin, of Moose Jaw, Sask., and two sisters, the Misses Nellie and Annie of Mitchell, Ont. The funeral will be held on Tuesday from his late residence at 2.30 p.m.

(Oshawa and Mitchell papers please copy.)

MEMORANDUM SUBMITTED

OTTAWA, Feb. 22. — The Civil Servants' Association has completed a memorandum containing representations to the Government on the proposed 10 per cent. decrease in the salaries of civil servants and the postponement of annual increases. The memorandum, it is stated, is being forwarded to the Government immediately.

WOOSUNG FORTS RETURN TO LIFE

Pour Shells on Japanese Fleet—Lively Fire is Returned

Woosung, China, Feb. 22.—(AP)—The battered guns of the Woosung forts which the Japanese thought they had pounded into scrap iron came to life early this morning and poured shells into the Japanese fleet lying in the Whangpoo River.

The warships sent back as good as they got, firing repeated broadsides with their heaviest guns.

Everytime they fired they would scuttle away, wheel about more on the range and let go with the battery on the other side.

It was make it harder for the forts they doused every light and moved with some danger of collision in the dark.

At 4 o'clock in the morning when this fight started, Up till then the guns of the forts had been idle because in their exposed position any activity would have drawn a raking fire upon the Japanese guns.

Nobody knew how many guns the forts had, but all that escaped the bombardment of the past week were in action.

Lake Ontario Seal Rides on Ice Floe

Picton, Feb. 22.—In a seal inhabiting the waters in Lake Ontario off the Sandbanks. Will Hyatt, Arnold McDonald, Bruce McDonald, John Stanton, Jr., Hulf and Garfield Mayne yesterday were attending a bee, helping Mr. Hyatt fill his icehouse. Something was noticed on an ice floe about one hundred yards from shore. It appeared to be about six feet long. The whole party watched it until it finally slipped off the ice into the water. It reappeared a short distance further out in the lake, showed its head and disappeared. All the men declare that it was a fact that a monster "sea serpent" was reported at Cobourg. Was it the Sandbanks seal?

NOT AT BRIDGE

OTTAWA, Feb. 22.—"If de Valera repudiates the oath of allegiance to the King, will the Irish Free State be eligible to send delegates to the Imperial Economic Conference at Ottawa?" asked Harry

This was the question put to the Department of External Affairs to-night by a reporter, and the answer was "We will cross that bridge when we come to it."

Canada's trade with the Irish Free State totalled less than $3,000,000 last year.

Grass widows in the Sandwich Islands have the names of their ex-husbands tattooed on their tongues.

WAR PARTY IN TOKIO RETURN TO POWER

Huge Majority Indicates People Believe in Action

ONE-THIRD IN

Final Outcome Will Not Be Known 'Till Tonight at Earliest

By GLENN BABB

(A. P. Staff Correspondent)

Tokio, Feb. 22—The Seiyukai party of Premier Suyoshi Inukai was leading in returns today from Japan's general election by such a margin that its leaders claimed the government had remained in power by an unprecedented victory.

The party of Japan's "Grey Fox," the 76 year old Inuzkai took over the power in the Parliament's lower minority in the House of Representatives which made the election test of the country inevitable. The returns up to midnight gave it a lead of 28 seats over the Minseito, the principal opposition.

With 381 out of the Diet's 460 seats reported, the standing was: Seiyukai 194, Minseito 166, others 4.

Thus the party in power at the time of the election appeared to win, as it usually does in Japanese elections, and this time with a record breaking majority.

Whereas a small margin had been expected, leaders of the Seiyukai movement were so encouraged that they claimed victory for the party in the new House would be 300.

Nearly every district where the counting began soon after the polls closed Saturday reported heavy Seiyukai gains and Minseito losses.

The final outcome, however, will not be known before tonight at the earliest, two-thirds of the ballot votes remaining unreported.

On Economic Issues

The election, without significance so far as foreign policy was concerned, was principally on economic issues. "A vote for the Seiyukai hastens the return of prosperity," the party's slogan.

The Minseito party, which lost control when the cabinet of former Premier Reijiro Wakatsuki fell last December, argued that "one cannot feed on a fictitious boom," referring to the Seiyukai assertion that its inflationary policy would bring better times.

The new diet was elected to replace the one dissolved on January 21, but that one the Minseito held 247 seats against 171 held by the Seiyukai and 42 by the Independents. Proletarians and other groups, the first time the usual quota of three votes. Several Tokio jokesters voted for Mah Meng, Chinese Communist general who was routed from this province by Nationalist troops. Several churls by the Japanese soldiery last Fall.

Others voted for Japanese heroes long dead. Many admirers expressed disapproval of Premier Inukai by voting for Junnosuke Inouye, former Finance Minister in the late Wakatsuki Cabinet, who was assassinated by a political foe.

Some scrawled accusations of corruption against both major parties on their ballots. One wrote "Give us rice."

"REDS" IN CHINA BESIEGE KANCHOW

Fate of Whites Unknown —Telegraph Lines Are Cut

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23—(UP)—The fate of Americans in Kanchow, China, remained unknown today as "Red" army, remained unknown today.

The State Department received word from Nelson A. Adams, American Consul-General at Canton, this afternoon that he was renewing representations to the Nanking authorities to protect American lives at Kanchow.

The "Red" army threat was received by the State Department today by letter on February 6. The church man urged that immediate relief be sent. The department announced that a telegram he had sent Oshea on February 16 requesting the telegraph line had been destroyed by bandits.

The department announced General Ho Chen Chun told Adams that the Kanchow garrison of the Kuomintang, but that troops in the neighborhood were being replaced by fresh forces.

TWO BURNED TO DEATH

CHICAGO, Feb. 22.—Two persons burned to death here today in a flaming trolley car. Six others suffered severe injuries. The street car crashed into a truck. The gasoline tank of the latter ruptured, spraying both car and truck with flame.

The famous Gutenberg Bible is still regarded as the original copies. Each copy is valued at about $100,000.

Labor Will Resist De Valera's Plans to Cut British Ties, is Stated

Sino-Jew General

Will Support Apparent New Executive Head on Tariff Policy

OPPOSE ATTEMPT

Anglo-Irish Treaty Must Be Respected Says Party Leader

By GLENN BABB

(A. P. Staff Correspondent)

Dublin, Feb. 22—A new pledge came from a Labor spokesman today that the party would support the Anglo-Irish Treaty and not allow Mr. de Valera to tinker with it.

"We stand for the working of the treaty, and will have nothing to do with its abrogation," said William Norton, member for Kildare, who since the defeat of the Labor leader, T. J. O'Connell, is likely to head Labor's small but important group in the Dail.

Labor's present intention is to retain separate identity, and only support Mr. de Valera's high-tariff policy, but its close affiliation with the British Labor Party forbid it to break from the British Commonwealth.

The general belief is that should de Valera assume office, his difficulties will accumulate quickly from the moment of his taking it, and will find an early result in another general election.

Hope that he will move cautiously is entertained by the tone of his newspaper, the Irish Press, which accepts the assumed victory with quiet dignity and moderation and makes distinct overtures to Irish Protestants. Since only a couple of brief few months the Eucharistic Congress will be an influence favoring public peace and political caution, the pride and interests of the church are involved in its success.

Need Five More.

Dublin, Feb. 22.—Returns on de Valera's Fianna Fail (Republican party) and its Labor allies tonight needed only five seats to give them a bare majority in the Dail Eireann as tabulation of the returns from Tuesday's Free State election was halted for tomorrow.

With results from seven divisions of the 153 which would missing, the standing of parties was:

Fianna Fail	65
Labor (Republican)	7
Government	49
Independents	17

WATCH REPAIRS

Don't put your watch to one side and forget about it—you've had it examined. Maybe a mere trifle will make it go.

Watch repairing is our specialty.

We do repair quickly, guarantee results and ask reasonable prices always.

J. O. R. McCURDY
Phone 518 — 234 Front St.

Colds
LaGrippe
PHONE 138
For Cough Medicines, Cold Tablets, Inhalit, Thermofuge, or whatever you may need, it has been delivered in a rush. You can pay the boy at the door.
No order is too small.
DOLAN
THE DRUGGIST
PHONE 138

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER

THE DAILY ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER is published every afternoon (Sunday and holidays excepted) at the Ontario Intelligencer Building, Front Street.

TERMS—DAILY EDITION—
Year, delivered in city $7.25
Year, by mail to rural offices $5.00
Year, in U. S. A. $6.50
W. H. MORTON, Publisher.

WILL BE MISSED

J. Arthur McKinney whose death last week removed one of the younger men of the township who had in his short life made a deep impression and a lasting contribution, to the life of Hastings County, is mourned by all people who knew him, for he possessed in a remarkable degree the quality of making friends.

Life was real and it was earnest to Arthur McKinney. As an agriculturist he was active and progressive, he knew the science of agriculture and marketing, he was chairman of the Belleville Cheese Board of Trade. As a young man he entered municipal life and was twice honored with the reeveship of his township of Tyendinaga and was a member of the council to committees of the county council, in church he was active and was recording steward of Melrose.

Taken away at the age of 42 years, Mr. McKinney will not be forgotten. He was of the type of man we need more like to do much for their day and generation. While men puzzle at the mystery of life which calls from this scene of earthly activity one of Mr. McKinney's fine leadership and breadth of vision, there is the enduring satisfaction that his time was not ill-spent or wasted that he was able to do much while he lived.

BATTLE ABOUT ZERO

The battle of the zero's and the anti-zero's is on in earnest. Saturday morning the zero's almost looked winners when the anti-zero's were looking their worst doubtful. Thermometers said the temperature had not reached zero, and men said that the writer was responsible for the exceedingly cold feeling outside.

From now on the two camps will be set against one another and hence each and every turn of the weather will be scanned with a closeness and care that the weather bureau never knew. Some more winter without zero, but others just want to show them that they do not know what they are talking about when they say we will not be sub-zero weather this year. But the anti-zeroites were given a scare on Saturday morning.

CROP ACREAGE

Interesting farm statistics have been announced by the Minister of Trade and Commerce respecting the acreage devoted to the principal crops.

Figures for Hastings County show 1660 acres of fall wheat, 1493 in spring wheat, 10,547 in barley, 68,903 in oats, 1,317 in rye, 527 in corn for husking, 48 in flax, 5,078 in buckwheat, 1,403 in beans, 1,058 in peas, 15,329 in mixed grains, 89,479 in timothy and clover, 12,943 in alfalfa, 5,619 in alsike, 1,207 corn, 5,388 in potatoes, and 742 acres in roots.

In Prince Edward County the acreage in 1931 was: fall wheat 1,982 acres, spring wheat 1,082, barley, 8,589, oats 30,828, rye 2,140, corn for husking 435, flax 18, buckwheat 1,260, peas 1,287, beans 1,237, mixed grains 7,727, timothy and clover 34,910, alfalfa 431,110, ensilage corn 264,786, potatoes 168,167, roots 112,136.

RACIAL ORIGIN AND BASIS

Celebration of Washington's birthday causes Dominion Archives officers to remark the varied, national origins of the people of the United States, the melting pot of which is united to bring unity out of many (e pluribus unum.) There in New York is a trace of Old Russia with its tea rooms and its Caucasian dagger dances of old and its whirling breathless waltzes. Further uptown is a French celebration and farther on an Austrian band plays a Wagnerian program while a peasant wedding is in swing. Over all is United States music.

The dances but samples of the many which go to form the one in the United States. The immigration is now so restricted as to exercise little effect on the basis of the present blood strains in the States. Now all these are going to form, are forming, and have formed U. S. national character. The chief aim or essential is control and absorption of the foreign strains. Canada has taken a hand in the immigration question and the depression has assisted the government. When the slump lifts, the problem will be again faced, whom to admit and whom to refuse entry to Canada as future citizens in the making. The admission of select foreign blood under restrictions cannot but be for the betterment of the country as long as the original stock is not overwhelmed.

Races are very much mixed in every country of Europe, yet out of these have emerged new races or strains throughout this welding of the races. The British race has many strains though dominantly Saxon, France is dominantly Gallic though there is a strain of Frankish, Norse blood. Italians show mixture with the Greek and the Norsemen, and so throughout Europe.

In these cases the welding has taken place over a good many decades and the results are new races. By the fortune of things, France is essentially Gallic though enriched by a foreign strain of Germanic and Norse, Britain is basically Saxon. Had the strains in England been in different proportion, quite a different race would have emerged. What could it have been like?

No one knows.

To-day matters which require immigration cannot afford to let it be haphazard, they must govern the ingress.

The working cells is of course generally the migrating class who move to better their own conditions. It is here that the racial interest must be watched. Racial origin must be regarded, for it is they who mould the racial future of the nation. Who is to decide what future characteristic is to be sought, and who is to proportion the blood to be mixed? The study is interesting.

JOY LIES IN EFFORT, THAT IS MAIN THING

Joys Possible to Succeed Too Easily, Too Quickly

By LOUIS E. BISCH, M.D., Ph.D. (Famous Authority on Health and Psychology)

LOUIS E. BISCH

And which column of performance has given you the greater joy, the real zest, the unbelievable gratification that can come only from some big well done?

Yes, we can succeed too easily, too quickly. Some idiot somewhere hit down as axiomatic that the less the effort put forth, the greater accomplishment the less the joy value to be derived therefrom.

Take any event and he will admit that if his play or book, or whatever his favorite amusement may be gives him a lot of trouble—when he has to struggle with difficulties—that as he wishes; when his emotions simply won't project themselves into words—he will value his final product more highly and he will feel keener enjoyment in its accomplishment to still better work—in short, his final success will unquestionably yield him a greater and richer thrill than if he worked easily and made it seem more money for it. It's what we put into things that counts. Indeed, if others have done it and we know was an ordinary job, we even go so far as to belittle their compliments and to be derived of their critical judgment.

Can you imagine what life would be like without striving or without labor? Why, there'd be no joy would be gone. Think of always getting what you want, of never having to make you think of a colorless, emotional existence, of unbearable monotony boredom of the very worst kind.

I always feel a little sorry for the man or woman who is not making a great hit, whatever its nature, without much effort. For I know that soon he will become fed up, that dissatisfaction will come, that after a while there will be little left from which to extract real joy.

To be sure, this axiom does not encompass all our emotional strivings. Love, for instance, is a tremendous factor in making life worth while. Nevertheless, work is unique in this, that it never goes back on you, can always be counted upon, frequently is a refuge for other sorrows, lastly that without it no human being can possibly be happy.

What is more, early and readily-won accomplishments lowers the standards of the allegedly lucky one. If success comes to him without trying, you are bound to let well enough alone, follow the lines of least resistance, and so be left behind with a mere repetition of the same performance while the less gifted one strives and goes on to greater accomplishments. If you want too long he may not be able to help you much. Readers are finding these articles by Dr. Bisch very interesting and full of good sensible counsel on matters which do not always receive the thoughtful consideration they merit. Dr. Bisch turns the spotlight of science, philosophy and good human sympathy upon this little drama, comedy, tragedy, called life, and by his kindly interpretation makes the past leads from the cradle to the grave, better, brighter and safer.

x

FOR THE SAKE of getting better acquainted with the inside family of this Great Family Journal may we suggest a little Benny's Note Book", so pleasing to junior readers; "Burgess Bedtime Stories" in which junior readers meet Peter and other useful things in the great outdoors with Farmer Brown's Boy; also "Tarzan of the Apes" those thrilling illustrated adventures which please young and old, because Dad reads them just as closely as Junior. Then the two serials we have Beatrice Fairfax, and Helen Jamieson on topics which do not interest men, although the effect of the articles certainly applies male interest. "Bringing Up Father", by that veteran cartoonist, George McManus, is still going strong, and Gene Ahern carries on with "Tilly the Toiler" and "Mr. and Mrs."—and others, writers and cartoonists from all parts of the world contributing to the entertainment and education of the large family of readers of this newspaper. Gosh all hemlock, when one compares the modern newspaper with that of fifty years ago the change is amazing, and the wonder of it is that giving so much more, the subscription rates are lower now than they were then.

MODERN ETIQUETTE
By Roberta Lee

Q. What is the correct way to eat strawberries?

A. If hulled, they are eaten with a spoon. If served with the hulls on, each berry is picked up by the hull with the fingers and dipped into sugar.

Q. When should the bride and her attendants arrive at the church?

A. Just at the moment the ceremony is to begin.

SIDELIGHTS
GRAVE and GAY
Supervised by The Lamplighter

GROUCHINESS IS SURE SIGN of illness, states Louis E. Bisch, M.D., Ph.D., well known authority on health and psychology, whose interesting column appears daily in The Ontario Intelligencer and other newspapers. In an interesting article by Dr. Bisch, he said "A grouchy person is never a well one. For health breeds optimism and happiness. If something is wrong either with the body or the mind, dissatisfaction, uneasiness and irritability are the cure." The doctor then proceeds to elaborate his theme to show that the grouch is not always to blame for his testiness.

Dr. Bisch gives the perfect alibi to the grouch who should take something for it and graduate into the sunshine class for his own good and the good of those with whom he comes into contact.

In another of Dr. Bisch's articles which appeared some days ago Dr. stands for his theory that the average line of people can take stock of their past, note the mistakes, and start all over again, mentioning the specific errors. The chief faults of life which cause much trouble and pay no dividends, gambling and excessive drinking are not in one hundred per cent strong," says the doctor, "All of us harbor weaknesses, and it is so much easier to succumb than to resist. Even the line of least resistance than if it is to fight our weaknesses and conquer. Yet, it is never too late to begin anew and to charge over the proverbial new leaf. Never is the time actually past and gone when we cannot start once more with higher ideals and purposes and buttressed by the experience of our ups and downs. Many have been able to accomplish in "Thirty days" what they had failed to down them. And in the second try, so to speak, they have often succeeded beyond their first most sanguine hopes. If you will start with a mere repetition of the same performance you will be the same great state. Others who have worked hard accomplish the impossible. If you wait too long he may not be able to help you much. Readers are finding these articles by Dr. Bisch very interesting and full of good sensible counsel on matters which do not always receive the thoughtful consideration they merit. Dr. Bisch turns the spotlight of science, philosophy and good human sympathy upon this little drama, comedy, tragedy, called life, and by his kindly interpretation makes the past leads from the cradle to the grave, better, brighter and safer.

Other Papers' Opinions

A NEW FARM INDUSTRY

The sale of Christmas trees has in recent years developed into a substantial industry in Canada. It is estimated that 4,000,00 trees are cut in the Dominion to meet the Christmas demand and most of these are exported to the United States. Supply comes mainly from Nova Scotia and New Brunswick. In 1920 only 1,000 trees in the above areas exported from Canada was $203,326.

This is the approximate annual

EVENING PAPERS DOMINANT

Total net paid circulation of all evening papers in Canada and the United States, as listed by the Audit Bureau of Circulation, was 24,117,-397 last year, as against a circulation for morning newspapers of 14,-342,790.

Canada has 25 morning newspapers and 83 evening papers on the list, including a few which issue both morning and evening. The former, which cover in each case a single city, have a total circulation of 496,970. The circulation of evening papers, mostly with local, provincial or district constituencies, was 1,606,152.

Other interesting facts are contained in an elaborate series of tabulations which fill a large volume, a handbook number for 1932 of Editor and Publisher, New York. It is a veritable gold mine of nearly 300 large pages, providing minutest information about every publication, including advertising rates, circulation, publication days, political views, business staffs, lists of advertising agencies and numerous other features.

One of these features is a circulation comparison. Here are some of these statements:

Total net paid circulation of the Canadian group is 494,373 copies for each 100 per cent. as compared with that of 1930.

Total city circulation of Canadian morning papers was 1,606,152, a loss of 2.8 per cent.

Total net paid circulation of Canadian morning papers is 70,-000 copies, a gain of 3.4 per cent.

"All other" circulation of Canadian morning papers was 190,833 copies, a gain of 4.6 per cent.

Total net paid circulation of Canadian evening papers was 1,014,005 copies, a gain of 4.6 per cent.

Total "all other" circulation of Canadian evening papers totalled 311,365 copies, a loss of one-tenth of one per cent.—Woodstock Sentinel Review.

Maxim Litvinoff, in behalf of Russia, sporting with Genoa, regarded total and universal disarmament as the most acceptable against against war, and now Germany proposes disarmament by other nations on the ground that she has no right to take arm under the provisions of the Versailles treaty. Neither of the conference has had submitted to it concrete proposals for disarmament, limitation to real disarmament, which justifies the hope that there will be a reduction in the rate of speed at which armaments are accumulated. Disarmament is the great stumbling block and it is being approached by different quarters.—Montreal Gazette.

MASTER OF ART OF LIFE

M.A., University of Life, was the degree the late Bernard McEvoy Bigelow seized upon with delight.

Master of many arts, he excelled in one—living, according to Hoyle.

His brushwork had that fresh fidelity which gave the beholder the very scent of the rain or the sea. He loved the sea. Hence he was happy, disciplined and generous.

Pioneer of Muskoka, leisure which become a necessity in every degree of progress, he devoted Evoy's contributions to the daily delight of readers always reflected the sunshine of his own nature, with some outlook, and wide interest; in fact there was an interest in all.

The by-line was to him ire knit a bond of fellowship with his fellows. His excellent work was completely anonymous. Toronto readers of The Globe, the Mail and Empire department, and the Mail and Empire editorials, were thoroughly amused and pleased by happy hits which could only be associated with the pen and caption "Redbarn Relates". They would not know that the relations of Mr. Redbarn and the author whom they admired all came from Bernard McEvoy Bigelow.

"Diogenes," the non-de-plume which Mr. Bigelow used for many years of his street corner comments loved the well, far underneath the genial mellow outlook of the writer. He had no need of a daylight lantern to reveal the human side of the nobler work of God. His mirror served that purpose. He was content with his own mirror.

He had the gift of writing interestingly about everything he touched. The secret of this was simple. Warm personal interest concerns in all aspects. He never wrote from the scholastic standpoint.

His life was a triumph. To die in harness a week after celebrating his 90th birthday, the oldest working journalist in the British Empire was a fitting crown; one to would have chosen.—Toronto Telegram.

TRAVEL INCOGNITO

Athens, Feb. 22—Premier King Alfonso of Spain, travelling as the Duke of Toledo, arrived here today en route to Istanbul. He sailed from Marseilles last week.

Poet's Corner

BRIGHT HORSEMAN

Darkness stands ear-pricked, poised champing its icy snaffle,
Pawing the cold electric straw of its airy stall,
Darkness whinnies through space; and the sky-eyed can baffle its sharp and delicate hoofs, precisely pacing their feet.

Who will conquer darkness, who will mount that black stallion?
From the east comes the glorious light, the golden horse shaker.
White flame leaps from his bridle;
He is the dawn, the sun-god.
And darkness, sees and trembles; darkness, knows and pales.
—Miriam Allen De Ford, in Poetry.

Little Benny's Note Book

Ma and pop was taking a wark before supper and pop said, That's Magistrate Cullen, the man that lite blue car. Theres a politician what got everything elected in it. Well, election time is rolling around again soon, and he'll find he aint got no more chance as he had the last time. Everybody is fed up with him, and I believe me if he gets one vote it will be a miracle. As a magistrate that man is a falls alarm, and as a man he's a skunk. He's a vandle. He has been barred from the mails. He's a convicted, ignorant pane in the neck. And he's got no morals, and no morals, education or brazee, he's got nerve. He'll have to go away with, he's a blot that aint to be erased. Why, he has to have a nurse out of corse the pompous clown wouldent remember me, pop said. And he kept on talking and after a while we saw the lite blue autocoupe coming down the street of the cerb with Magistrate Cullen still in it, and he got out and walked around and got out and started to shake hands with pop. Then he put his arm around his shoulder with the other, saying, Well, well, how are you, Potts, this is a fine day, isnt it, and so forth.

Very well thanks, Judge, I hardly will lose control of his self control, pop said, Magistrate Cullen said, I allways remember your face, but I cant seem to remember your name, pop said, Potts, he ha, he said, I'll have to get back saying. The ideer of anybody not remembering good old Potts, ha ha, he said, he kept on laffing and I still have your little joke wont you? Magistrate Cullen said, I love a little humor of yours, ha ha ha. Well, so long old man, I'll see you anything I can do for you at any time, dont hesitate to call on me. All I'll use my influence for all its worth, well so long and take care of yourself, he said.

And me and pop kept on going, pop saying, He dident seem to be such a bad skate after all.

Well, I said, are you going to vote for him? I said, and pop said, I'll tell you later.

Proving it all depends.

Longer Terms For Dope Peddlers

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 22.—(By the Canadian Press)—Longer prison sentences for dope peddlers were urged upon the House of Commons today, associate secretary of the Social Service Council of Canada, in a local Presbyterian Church. At the same time, he advocated establishment of Sanitaria for drug addicts.

Short sentences such as were given dope peddlers now, were a farce, Rev. Dr. Scott declared. The evil was concerned, he said. "We should have legislation which would terrify these drug-takers," he said.

Birth of Baby Betrays Father

Kitchener, Feb. 22.— narvey G. Blundell of Preston, was arrested at the C.P.R. station at Galt last night charged with being one of those implicated in the Morristen bank robbery of November 12. The charge was by police and he was taken confessed to the robbery, and would be identified by Manager Arthur Watt at Guelph to-day.

The arrest followed police activities in connection with the hold-up at the Galt branch of the Bank of Toronto. Earl Watchorn, of Kitchener, was arrested in Montreal. This was followed by the arrest of William Habermehl, of Preston and on Friday William Morgal and Bernard Brodnacker of Kitchener, were arrested at Guelph. A child was born to Mr. and Mrs. Blundell aboard the Pacific Limited somewhere between Fort William and Callente, Nevada, on Wednesday, Mrs. Blundell and the child, and the police waited at the Galt station when the train arrived. Mrs. Blundell and the baby were taken to the waiting ambulance Blundell was handcuffed to a detective Constable Constable Oldfield, of Kitchener, and Constable Mennie of Guelph.

CONDUCT INQUIRY

King, Ont., Feb. 22 (CP)—Judge Charles M. Hay and Vere Dunbar, Sorgoste and County Judge, was advised at a special meeting of the councils of King and West Gwillimbury townships here Saturday night to conduct a probe into charges laid by Clifford Case, M.L.A. for North York, in connection with the Holland Marsh drainage project.

Nobody wants to plant an ockey seem so slow growing. Plant a quick crop. Others will benefit as you have.

Hamilton Railway Employees to Strike

Hamilton, Ont., Feb. 23 (CP) — Leeching to consider what was tanging the wage cut policy of the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission, Mr. Hamilton Street Railway employees voted for a general strike, commencing at midnight on the night of March 15, at a mass meeting Saturday night.

Union officials said there would be no negotiations with the commission regarding the proposed wage cut. They said a 20 per cent cut was planned for the street railway employees. Conductors, motormen, bus drivers, and repair men were at the meeting and cast their votes for the strike.

Heard On The Street

Down South the big league baseball teams are packing their club bags preparatory to taking up new quarters on training grounds further South, and hotels down there who are anticipating the arrival of the players are once more at work removing the number "13" from their doors on the various floors of their buildings. For nowhere else can you find so many superstitious people in one place as you can find among any class of baseball players—with the possible exception of the clerical folk

Of all the sports, in none are the beliefs in jinxes and charms hunored to the extent that they are in baseball. Some hockey players imagine that only the one stick will score them a goal. If that stick breaks then they are out of commission and have to borrow one from the next man. No matter how old a hockey stick may be it is carefully guarded, and only on very slow days does one get out during the half of battle is carefully scrutinized after the game and well wrapped again with the ever-present black tape. Every ball player feels that there are just so many hits to a bat and for that reason he has an aversion to it being used by any other players.

x—x—x—x—x

In the old days santitation was often sacrificed for Lady Luck. If there happened to be a winning streak and games were being won more often than lost, then it would be considerable to have any uniform on any player washed. Bob Shawkey, to mention individual cases, when he hurled for the New York Yankees, would never take his place in the pitching box without first pounding a faded and tattered sweat shirt Just a common old red shirt, yet he believed implicity in its good luck charms.

x—x—x—x—x

Most players chew gum incessantly, and when they step up to bat, plaster it on the little button on top of their cap. Rabbit Maranville used an old fielder's glove so old and battered that it was ready to fall apart. Many baseball players through manufacturers offered him free and again any specimen in stock he would care to pick out, gratis. But he held on to it like grim death because he feared a kink if he were to change gloves during a game or between innings. Ty Cobb, the Georgia peach, one of the greatest of all ball players, was perhaps the most superstitious of the lot. He would start with myriad myriad beliefs in every game, but Tris Speaker ignored all "sech foolishness" altogether, as also did Honus Wagner.

x—x—x—x—x

Other than the practice of stepping on second base when going to the field and the usual batting, although why all get into a slump at times is a mystery among all the players, Babe Ruth is just superstitious. Burleigh Grimes never shaves the day before he pitches. Bill Terry has a particular pet for a "charley horse," and has the rubber in the dug-out perform on his arm before every game. Charlie Gehringer has a certain ash can he kicks every inning, and "Pooch" Pitt, the angry man" (Lazzeri) generally manages to carry a small amulet all the time.

x—x—x—x—x

One of the common superstitions is the accidence of bats in the air in the field. Any time during which the ball is in the air when the team is in a slump and bases are not being won by the players. Throwing the ball around every inning may have a beneficial effect to some degree, any evil jinx that may be hovering around. When the home team is in the field at the bat the law of averages is in favor of the visitors. Perhaps that is the bats which are not being used must at all costs be prevented from being crossed. Until this season Ty Cobb would not lose control of his ball altogether and eventually lose the game for them. Or so they say.

x—x—x—x—x

In a certain business office in a building on Front Street, occupied by a man who is a baseball fan, there was spent a full hour of the day and who has no time for lengthy interviews with any one, a new interviewer was discovered in the person of Ty Cobb, who was not to be adopted by other busy men all over the city when the story is told. It may be a bit hard on the office boy who is supposed to keep any unreasonable or sleep-walker who may enter the office in the dark to the detriment of his toes or shins, but it has the following advantages.

It's like this: The chairs visitors generally use when they are lucky enough to beard the tiger in his den are carefully screwed to the floor. As a suitable and perpendicular measured distance from the chair the busy man uses, four holes were bored in the floor and plugs set in. The ends of the chair legs were then inserted in the plugs and firmly clamped down. Try as he may, the visitor cannot drag the chair closer to the desk of the man who is giving him the time for the interview.

x—x—x—x—x

"It was like this," explained the man. "I do have a lot of men into this office in the course of a day. In my business you have to see so many worthless guys. Some of them are pests, and they speak their little piece, state plainly what they want and get out. Others come in, beat around the bush for an hour and then when their time is up I know no more about what they've been trying to tell me than they do themselves. Consequently I dislike the type of visitor, the one who comes in with all the time in the world to spend, and imagines that I have the same. He squirms and twists and turns and tries to get closer. As every sentence or so in the wandering speech he is wasting my time with the dregs of which there is little closer. I'm so close to me that I have to lean backwards, almost, to keep from rubbing whiskers. He reeks with the scent of onions every time he opens his mouth, and the food still hanging to his teeth maks me uneasy. He laughs uproariously at me jokes, and I'm literally with his stomach in my lap. I squirm, but for politenss' sake I listen. But all the while I rack my mind for some way to put an end to all this torture."

Distinguishing Characteristics

(Weekly Message)

LONDON LIFE dividends to policy-holders are on a very high scale and have consistently good for each long period of years as to establish an enviable record.

An Example—Ten years ago a contractor, aged 33, bought a $10,000 policy (number 98,699) on the Juli-Deferred Dividend Plan. This annual premium was $214.90—$45.90 a year less than the standard rate as the Juliee is entitled to a reduction of 20% reduced dividends reduced this low premium still further as shown.

Year	Ann. Payable Dividends (Prem. less Dividend)
1922	$214.90
1923	208.50
1924	202.50
1925	201.50
1926	200.50
1927	189.40
1928	185.20
1929	180.90
1930	176.30
1931	171.80
1932	167.20

Although the above example does not include the Disability income benefit, this feature is still available in London Life policy contracts.

Established 1874

London Life

Insurance Company

"Canada's Individual Ordinary" Company

HEAD OFFICE LONDON, CANADA

The London Life Insurance Company, London, Ontario

Please send your booklet, "Insuring Facts." I am interested in insurance and should like to know more about your Company.

Name (Please Print) .....

Address .....

Ki-Y's Win Game and Round From Kingston Shamrocks

Score 2 to 0 Here and the round 3 to 1 Over Rivals

CLEAN GAME

Many Boys Seen Who Probably Some Day Will Be Real Stars

Minor league hockey came into its own on Saturday afternoon, when the Belleville Ki-Y league juveniles defeated the Kingston Shamrocks, juvenile winners of Kingston, by the score of 3 to 0. This win gives Belleville the interclty juvenile championship, as they played the Shamrocks a one to one tie two weeks ago at the Jock Harty arena in Kingston.

200 Fans Present

Two hundred or more eyed-in-the-wool hockey fans who attended the game were well rewarded by witnessing a high class juvenile hockey game. These kids play a brand of hockey, which is well worth seeing and many of them will be the future hockey stars of Belleville and Kingston. Their ability to play combination and their ideas of shift plays were the freshest we've witnessed in the game most. It might be added, that they are a long way from pros I mean, in their shooting, but that art will eventually come to them in later years.

Sinfield Cashing

The local team was sponsored by the Kiwanis Club and the Y.M.C.A. Thus the name Ki-Y juveniles. They trotted out on Saturday wearing nice looking sweaters of maroon, blue and white. The team was immediately dubbed "the Ki-Y Colors". Their uniform were, the characteristic colors of most Shamrock teams, maroon and white. Sinfield, in the nets for the locals, turned in a stellar game and proved the most junior goalies a run for the position next season. White and Payers, on the defence, turned in a smart exhibition and saved their team on many occasions. The front line of High, Howie and Tobe were working in union and they too accounted for one counter. "The other line of Carr, Harper, Pratt and Hammett also displayed a fine exhibition of combination and were well rewarded with a goal, when Bill Hammett scored the opening goal on Don Lee's rebound. After these kids cast aside, carry a puck and check we have little inability to shoot was noted.

Stars Classy

For the visitors Cunningham, Laird, Allen, Carter and Gow were the best although Scruton in the nets for the Shamrocks was the star of the day. He saved his team on many occasions.

The teams presented a well balanced team and this was chiefly brought to the attention of Art McGladson and Bud Gratton the two men who coach and sponsor the club.

The Play

Both teams displayed plenty of combination at the opening of the game and excellent rushes were met for the goalies of both teams. As the players were unable to shoot as well as expected no goals were in evidence. The defensive work of both teams was a credit. The defencemen were not afraid to step into the opposing forward with the result, that plenty of action was seen. Don Lee and Laird both had their opposition goalies at their mercy early but Sinfield stood to the occasion. Lee, Harvey, and Hammett all went well this period. The period ended with no score being registered by either team.

2nd Period

Belleville—Hammett (Lee) .. 19.30

Penalties—Lindsay.

3rd Period

Belleville—Tobe (High) 15.00

Penalties—High.

REXALL BIRTHDAY SALE
JONTEEL SPECIAL
50c BOX
FACE POWDER AND 50c JR FACE CREAM
1.00 VALUE BOTH FOR
50c
McKeown's DRUG STORE

ARENA
MONDAY
2.30—5.00—
Public Skating
8.00—10.00—
Public Skating
Admission 25c and 15c

25% OFF ALL OVERCOATS at CHAS. J. SYMONS
Men's Store 206 Front St.

WHO IS RIGHT?

Following is the eighteenth of a Canadian Press series of National Hockey League all-star selections by Editors in N.H.L. cities. A consensus will be prepared later.

By C. L. Jones, Boston Post-Intelligencer, Boston.

First team — Thompson, Boston, goal; Shore, Boston, defence; Clancy, Toronto, defence; Morenz, Canadiens, centre; Conacher, Toronto, right wing; Gottlieb, Chicago, left wing; Irvin, Toronto, coach.

Alternate Team — Hainsworth, Canadiens, goal; S. Mantha, Canadiens, defence; Abel, Chicago, defence; Smith, Maroons, centre; Ward, Maroons, right wing; Joliat, Canadiens, left wing; Patrick, Rangers, coach.

Samson had the first shot in the second period, when he tested Sinfield but the local goalie rose to the occasion as he did all through the game. Howie and High stopped many a rush but could not seem to bulge the twine. Clarke and Gow tore in on Sinfield for what looked like a sure counter but Sinfield again saved the day, when he beat them. Play raged up and down the ice and was very close throughout with the result, that plenty of good hockey was seen. With one minute to go Don Lee bore in on Scruton, shot, but Scruton saved. Bill Hammett was left behind the play and grabbed the loose puck and passed to Don Lee who won the game and 2 to 1 on the round.

Belleville scored first when Bill Lindsay drew a penalty for accidental kicking of the frame ended 1 to 0 for the locals.

Cunningham tested Sinfield when the final period opened. With play was rather ragged for a few minutes as Belleville fell behind the fenstre hockey and the visitors were unable to take advantage of these tactics brought forth plenty of boos from Belleville fans but teams seemed to lose their sense of combination for a few minutes. With but 5 minutes left Bill Tod and Tobe broke away and on High's pass Tobe drove them in the corner to make the score 2 to 0 for Belleville. Tobe was the only Belleville scorer but a four-man offensive kept them in control not beat Sinfield and the game ended 2 to 0 for Belleville.

After the game the visitors were taken to Dickens and Son, where they were entertained by members of the officials of the Kiwanis Club and the Y.M.C.A. This minor league games, which produce the stars of tomorrow and both Belleville and Kingston have some real classy hockey players in the making.

The line-ups were:

Kingston — goal Scruton, defence Samson and Allen, centre Clarke, wings Cunningham and Laird.

Subs Gow, Kitto, Connors and Sheppard.

Belleville — goal Sinfield, defence Payers and White, centre High, wings Howie and Tobe.

Subs Lindsay, Lee, Harvey and Hammett.

Referee—Vern Weir of Belleville.

Timekeeper—Ed Richardson.

No score and no penalties.

2nd Period—

Belleville—Hammett (Lee) .. 19.30

Penalties—Lindsay.

3rd Period—

Belleville—Tobe (High) 15.00

Penalties—High.

School League

Queen Alexandra School hockey team jumped up into a tie with Queen Victoria School for the league leadership in the public school hockey league, when they defeated Queen Mary School by a score of 5 to 0 at Arena Saturday morning. In the other game St. George School helped the Queen Alexander cause, when they held the league leading puckisters to a one all tie.

In the first game this morning Gerow bagged two goals for his team. Hanna got two and Storms netted the other counter for the Ann Street boys. In the second game Maitis scored for King George, while Morgan bagged the Q.V.S. goal.

Next Saturday morning Queen Alexandra and Queen Victoria schools meet in a sudden death final game for the school championship of Belleville .This little league has been a decided success this season and has brought to light many promising young hockey players.

NEARER TITLE

Kapuskasing, Ont., Feb. 22 (CP)—Timmins moved nearer the senior northern Ontario Association hockey championship here today as they trounced Kapuskasing 6 to 3 here Saturday night. The return encounter of the two-game series will be played at Timmins, Monday.

BULLDOGS IMPROVE POSITION

Toronto, Feb. 22 (CP)—Riding to clear cut victories over Kapuskasing Yellow Jackets and Cleveland Indians on successive nights, Windsor Bulldogs improved their position in the International Hockey League race and today are seated in second place a single game behind the league-leading Buffalo Bisons who broke even in a pair of week-end fixtures.

Picking up two points by defeating London, Saturday, Bisons received a jolt when they slipped into Syracuse last night and met a 6-3 defeat at the hands of the Stars.

CANADIENS ON TOP OF HEAP

Tied With Detroit While Leafs Are Losing at Montreal

Toronto, Ont., Feb. 22 (CP) — Canadiens are sitting on the top rung of the Canadian division of the National hockey league today after an uphill struggle in Detroit last night, when they defeated a 1-1 tie with Jack Adams' Falcons. The two points garnered by the world champions left them half a game in front of Toronto Maple Leafs who were blanked 3-0 Saturday by the uptumbling Montreal Maroons. Canadiens also benefitted by the division of points and took possession of third place in the American section a point in front of Boston Bruins who dropped a 3-1 decision to Black Hawks in Chicago. New York Americans recorded the victory of the four-game week-end programme by snapping out of a fourthy losing streak and defeating their fellow townsmen, Rangers 4-2.

Racking up their high scoring forward line combinations with an old time flourish, Maroons gained revenge for their 6-0 setback in Montreal a week previous when they downed Leafs in a grueling battle. The win put them third place in the Canadian division. Baldy Northcott, Nels Stewart and Flat Walsh in goal were the outstanding stars for Maroons, the former scoring two goals each and Walsh almost single handed turning back 25 shots. Ebbie Goodfellow with his spectacular display be-hind Detroit's defence.

Black Hawks grabbed possession of second place in the standings with a 3-1 triumph over Bruins. The game was exciting throughout, Chicago enjoying the majority of thrills being provided by Johnny Gottlieb, classy defence man, who finished the game the proud possessor of a match penalty after attacking Cooper Smeaton.

SEA FLEAS TO MEET SAILORS

Defeat Marlboros 7 to 4 on Round in Classy Tilt

Toronto, Ont., Feb. 22 (CP) — Navigators, the right to meet Port Colborne for the Senior Ontario Hockey Association final and the John Ross Robertson trophy, when they put Marlboros into the discard by a 7-4 decision last night, 4 to 1. The Sea Fleas and their old rivals, the Iron Dukes, battled to a 3-3 tie in the opening game of their series, which left them on top on round 7-4.

Handicapped by the absence of Freddy Robertson, starry defence player, Marlboros were outclassed by the speedy Fleas. It was a clean-cut victory, with the winners making few mistakes and playing consistently sound hockey.

Hockey Results

National League

Montreal 3; Maple Leafs 0.
Canadiens 1; Detroit 1.
sCanadiens 1; Detroit 1.
sChicago 3; Rangers 2.
sChicago 2; Boston 1.

Senior O.H.A.

xNationals 4; Marlboros 1.
xNationals win round 7-4.
O.H.A. Intermediate
xHamilton 3; Paris 2.
x10 minutes extra.
Bowmanville 4; Cobourg 2.

O.H.A. Junior

xSt. Michael's 3; Kingston 2.
xSt. Michael's win round 6-4.
xStayner 3; North Toronto 0.
xStayner win round 4-3.
xPreston 5; Listowel 3.
xPreston wins round 6-4.

International

Buffalo 5; London 1.
Windsor 3; Pittsburgh 0.
xSyracuse 6; Buffalo 3.
xWindsor 4; Cleveland 4.
Canadian-American
xBronx Tigers 3; Philadelphia 0.
oSpringfield 3; New Haven 3.
New Haven 4; Springfield 3.
American
Chicago 2; Tulsa 1.
Duluth 2; St. Louis 0.

LEAGUE LEADERS

(Canadian Section)

Team — Montreal Canadiens, won 17, lost 14, tied 6, 40 points.

Points — Goals and Assists — Hooley Smith, Maroons, 8 goals, 29 assists, 38 points.

Goals — C. Conacher, Toronto, 32.

Assists — Primeau, Toronto, 30.

Penalties — Dutton, Americans, 82.

Shutouts — Worters, Americans, and Hainsworth, Canadiens, 5 each (American Section)

Team — New York Rangers, won 19, lost 12, tied 6, 44 points.

Points — Goals and Assists — Bill Cook, Rangers, 26, goals 8 assists, 34 points.

Goals — Bill Cook, Rangers, 26.

Assists — Boucher, Rangers and Clapper, Boston, 17 each.

Penalties—Johnson, Rangers, 76 minutes.

Shutouts — Roach, Rangers, and Thompson, Boston, 8 each.

Current Sport

By The Observer

Lovers of school hockey will have a chance to see two out-of-town teams battle at the local arena on Wednesday afternoon. Each year, about this time, two teams, junior and senior, from St. Alban's School, Brockville and Lakefield "Prep" school of that town come to Belleville and battle for their supremacy on the ice. For the past three years, born of considerable interest in local hockey circles, a goodly number of enthusiasts are always present at their meetings.

Two years ago, if our memory is right, the Lakefield team presented one of the smallest players ever seen on local ice but he was the favorite of the fans present that day. What his name is we hate to make up for in hockey ability and displayed a brand of hockey which was well worth travelling some distance to see. The speedy Fleas. It was a clean-cut victory, with the winners making few mistakes and playing consistently sound hockey.

Belleville has a smart hockey team which the fans did not know much about until last Saturday afternoon. The team in question is the Ki-Y juveniles. They defeated the Kingston champion juveniles and annexed the juvenile title of this section of the province. The juveniles play a hard and hockey which is a credit to any community. They are not afraid to pass the puck and we might draw the attention of the O.H.A. officials to this fact. Their only downfall is the inability to shoot. They cannot get the puck off the ice when endeavoring to score. Of course we are of the opinion that this art will eventually come to them, but in the meantime they must keep practising their shooting. They were quite proud when they appeared on the ice clothed in their new maroon, blue and white uniforms. They upset the old-age superstition of wearing new uniforms when they while-washed their rivals from Kingston 2 to 0. Bold seems a high class juvenile clubs and the future of hockey is assured in both Kingston and Belleville as long as they are such deserving enterprises as juvenile hockey.

The "students" will have a chance to redeem themselves when they meet the league leading Tweed "knowledge hunters" at the local arena on Wednesday evening. This will be their chance to jump into the league leadership, if they can win.

MAY FORM A CITY LEAGUE

For the purpose of forming a Belleville and District Hockey League a meeting has been called tonight at the local Y.M.C.A. The league is being organized by Mr. Don Roe and Mr. A. G. Mesgher of this city. These two young men have been assured of at least eight teams being represented at tonight's meeting and feel, that the league will be an asset to this district.

The idea of this post-season hockey league is to supply a little more hockey, in the dying days of the season, for the fans, the nights to be decided upon tonight at the organization meeting.

The eight teams and their delegates to be present tonight are—Napanee, Chief Watts; Picton, Ron Church; Wellington, Mr. MacDonald; Madoc, Ken Nichols; Tweed, Tom Beatty; Stirling, Bill Whitty; Trenton Dave Perry; Frankford, Ross Turley and Belleville, Lester Shiels of the B.C.I. Any other local team, that wishes to enter may do so, but they must have their delegates at the meeting tonight ready to enter the loop.

As Campbellford have not been invited it is more than likely Ken Watts and Buster Wilson will line up with the Stirling club.

The trophy to be competed for, is the Burrows Cup one of the finest and largest trophies ever seen in Belleville.

The one Belleville entry will be drawn as the Belleville Intermediate "Grads" and will be made up of members of the collegiate and managed by Les Shiels, of the B.C.I. staff. Tonight's meeting is an open affair where the views and ideas of all may be heard and it is expected that a number of excellent ideas will be brought before the meeting. All games are to be played at the Belleville Arena but the question of expenses, etc, will be thoroughly gone into tonight. Referees and other items of interest will be also discussed. The question of the right kind of schedule and other questions of hockey interest will of course be thrashed out.

All interested in hockey are invited and those endeavouring to sponsor the loop hope for a large turn-out.

EARLY NAVIGATION

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Feb. 22— Early opening of navigation on the Great Lakes is indicated in an ice survey report issued here yesterday. Ice is heaviest in Duluth-Superior Harbor, where 15-7 inches is reported, says the survey. In Lake Superior ice is scattered and moving. At Port Arthur it is about eight inches thick.

SPORTS

By JIMMY THOMPSON

"HAMMER AND TONGS"

The long standing feud of rival managers Art Ross and Sprague Cleghorn has aroused much comment from readers that I think the story will stand retelling. So here goes. Or maybe you don't know there is a feud? Well just sit in on any game between the Bruins and the Maroons in which the two master-minds are mastering an opposing hockey team season and watch the tension mount! Yes once upon a time these boys were David and Jonathon. The ground swell for the break in the old pal stock when Cleghorn was sold down river from the Canadiens to Boston where he continued to astoundy Art Ross, as the roughest, toughest player that ever cracked a rival's skull-in nothing flat. One red letter day Ross was stricken with illness. In his absence Cleghorn took charge of the master-minding. He was a complete success. The then boisterous Bruins invigorated a winning streak that staggered their rivals. In those days, incidentally, they were anybody's punching bag.

Cleghorn began to vision a lifetime as pilot of the Beantown six. He was nearing the twilight of his active playing career, which increased the advantages of a nice, soft spot in Boston. Small wonder that he nearly expired on the spot, when given his unconditional release the following summer.

This, said Cleghorn; is the work of my old pal Ross. Cleghorn met Ross in combat forthwith and during the Stanley cup playoffs last spring Ross and Cleghorn met in the Montreal forum. Some very fancy socking was the immediate result. Now they are rival managers and a bitter feud is said to be the result. Harry have more rugged gentlemen thirsted for each other's scalps, 'tis said.

PROS BECKONING WILBUR SMITH

Niagara Falls, Ont., Feb. 22 (CP)

The ranks of professional hockey are beckoning to Wilbur Smith of the Niagara Falls Senior Ontario Hockey Association team. Smith has received a telegram from James Strachan, president of the Montreal Maroons, of the National Hockey League, seeking his services for the rest of the season and for 1932-33. Smith, who is seventeen years of age, weighs 170 pounds. He plays at right wing for the Cataracts, who reached the semi-finals of the Senior O.H.A. this year. The youthful star said yesterday he was undecided as to whether or not he would accept the offer.

TODAY TUESDAY and WEDNESDAY
FEB. 22nd, 23rd, 24th WILL BE
LEISHMAN SUIT
DAYS IN OUR STORE
$35.00
A representative of the Leishman Company will be with us for these three days to take care of all orders. Make sure yours is among them.
This is your last chance to get a Leishman Suit for $35.00.
SEE WINDOWS FOR SPECIAL OFFERING!
Quick & Robertson
CORRECT CLOTHING FOR MEN

CHECKERS

Tomorrow will be checker-day in Belleville. A number of the best checker exponents in Eastern Ontario have signified their intentions of being present and compete at this tournament. The checker tournament will be staged in the Y. M.C.A. and accommodations are being prepared to take care of the large number of participants. The tournament opens early in the afternoon and continues until the winner is declared which we'll see is until late in the evening, it is thought. The tournament is also to all lovers of checkers or chess.

The Advertisements ... printed for your convenience

Suppose all the advertisers in your favorite newspaper should stop advertising for a week.

What inconvenience would result! How much telephoning and shopping around to get the answers to such questions as: "What's playing at the downtown theatres? When will that new vacuum cleaner be on sale? Who is offering shoe bargains? Where can I buy that dry shampoo Emily told me about?"

The answers to these questions, and to hundreds of similar ones, that people ask every day, are news. Vital news. You're interested to learn who won yesterday's ball game. But you're really interested to learn that a certain store is selling a product you need for a price you can afford to pay.

Furthermore, the advertisements save your time, for you can read them quickly. They save your energy, for you can read them at home, away from the pushing crowds, and plan just what to buy and where to buy. And they save your money, by enabling you to adjust your needs to the limitations of your budget. In short, they are pocketbook editorials, condensing and interpreting for you the merchandise news of the day.

PERSIAN BALM
Quinta Toilet Requisite

Beauty that springs from classic purity—youthful radiance that comes from active circulation—blooms at the touch of Persian Balm. Completely absorbed by gentle rubbing. Ask your druggist for Persian Balm. Price 35c. Write for gift samples.

The cost and product of Northrop & Lyman Co., Limited
Toronto, Ontario

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Robber Hal as a Shock

By Thornton W. Burgess

The wise to luck will never trust
Unless it happens that they must.

Robber the Rat.

Robber the Rat, old gray and wise with the cunning of long experience, had discovered what had become of the Rake who had disappeared so mysteriously. At least he had discovered two cases of those disappearances. He knew that they had been caught by part of the enemies he feared most, an Owl. The words of it was that Owl was stunned by the shock of finding Farmer Brown's boy in the barn where Robber and his tribe had so long done about as they pleased. He called together all the Robbers, old and young, and told them what he had seen and warned them of the great danger they were in if they were stirring or lay bold.

"You all know," said he, "that Owls are among our most dangerous enemies for they hunt in the night at the very time we like best to be out and about, they fly without making a sound and Rats and Mice are their favorite food. There is an Owl in this barn. How he happens to be here I don't know. Only once before have I known of such a thing, and that was when Spooky the Screech Owl took shelter in here for a short time, and he was more interested in Mice than in us, for Spooky is a little fellow. The Owl I saw today is a big fellow. It wasn't Hooty the Great Horned Owl. I don't know what member of the family it was, but that doesn't matter. As long as that fellow is in this barn you will each one of you have to watch your step. Probably he will not stay long. If you keep out of his sight he will decide that the hunting isn't good here and move on.

"Now that we know who to expect we will know who to watch for and that is a help. There is nothing we can do except to be on the alert and be careful. The safest time to move about is when it is broad daylight for Owls sleep through the day.

"Don't you think it would be better for us to leave and find another home?" asked a timid young Rat.

"Where would you have us go?" demanded Robber.

"I don't know," confessed the timid young Rat.

"I didn't think you did," replied Robber drily. "To leave without knowing where we are going would be trusting to luck. Never trust to luck until you are sure that the first thing to do is find out what we can about the Owl, which one of the family he is, where he perches, what time he goes on the hunt and what he usually returns.

"But if he does his hunting inside what good will that do?" asked another young Rat.

"I don't believe he does his hunting inside," replied Robber. "He probably happened to see that Mouse and dropped on him. Just take care that he doesn't have a chance to see any of you. This barn is too fine a place and the living is too good to leave unless we must. I don't intend to give it up for just one Owl. All we need do is to be smarter than he is."

"Don't you think it would be better for us to leave and find another home?" asked a timid young Rat.

So all the Rats promised to be careful and to report anything they might discover. Robber, being old and wise, with long experience in avoiding danger, had no fear for himself. He felt that he was too smart and cunning to be caught. He knew every hole and cranny and hiding-place in that barn and how to move about without once showing himself. So the first chance he got to go by himself he climbed up into the haymow to see if he could find out more about this dreaded enemy. He was very careful to keep under cover.

He worked his way up the timbers behind the hay until he was well up toward the roof. There he remained, looking and listening. He heard some strange sounds that seemed to come from what looked like a great box on the rafters above him. Then he saw a big shadowy thing fly across the gable window from which a pane was missing and disappear inside.

"So that is the way he gets in and out," thought Robber. A moment later he received one of the worst shocks of his life. There was another shadowy form standing on the edge of that great box!

Robber the Rat scrambled Robber under his breath.

The next story: "Robber Makes a Shrewd Guess."

It is estimated that there are from three to six million boy and fever sufferers in the United States.

Women's Interests in the Home

DISH GARDENS ADD GAY NOTE

Art of Grandmother's Day a Fascinating Hobby

Halifax, N. S.—Once an art in grandmother's day, dish gardening has again become a unique decoration in many Halifax homes. The unusual air which dish gardens lend to a room is never monotonous: the feminine ways and means of utilizing odd jars and peculiarly shaped dishes in combination with a great variety of plants will ensure its originality.

Inexpensive and cheerful, the dish garden can be made a tiny thing of natural beauty. Any old dish does to start with, although a deep meal platter is one of the best. A sandy soil covers the bottom of the plate, then a layer of moss placed to furnished food for the plants.

Even then on the building of the garden depends on the selection of plants, and their adaption to the atmosphere of a room. A simple and very effective garden can be made from cactus, coleus or burbulps, which, after being planted in the gravel for a time, will shoot up tall fronds to furnish vertical lines. Moss places berries and plants cover the dish area, leaving a small portion of gravel visible, will give the impression of a tiny pool.

Adding life to the gardens is the finishing touch of perfection. Small human figures or one or two cellulloid swans in the case of the pool give the desired effect. The more elaborate gardens may have as figures in imported pottery, glass tanks, sections of logs or in odd corners, even rustic bridges. They may be filled with Chinese cedars, miniature ferns, berries and mosses. The primary preparation of the bed for the garden is of the utmost importance, they need little sunshine but plenty of light.

In summer the yield of the woods and fields is charming. Caterpillars! But it is important to see the wild plants have some of the attractive beauty of growing in foreign surroundings.

For this time of year, the florist can supply Irish moss, sedum, alpestris, Chinese evergreens, cupressis, sevalricis, cactus and others. Some unusual arrangements can be had by confining the garden to cactus only. A miniature rock garden can be made by setting the plants between large stones.

DRAPERIES MADE NEW

"When we resumed housekeeping a month ago I found my draperies had become grimy from dust. I hung them out on the line, hoping to remove the creases. They did. I forgot to take them in, however, and they became badly faded and sun-spotted.

"I was thinking how happy though drunk me to dye them. I had dyed them a deeper green and as I used Diamond Dyes, they took a smooth and even color. I've never seen easier dyes to use than Diamond Dyes. They give beautiful results, too—when used either for tinting or dyeing—and have the right shade for any out of cloth at hand. do."

Mrs. J.P.T., Montreal

Co-Eds' Leap Year Bids Are Returned

LONDON, Feb. 22.—Women may think they can assert their independence and become privileged personages during leap year, but they'll be mighty mortified students at the University of Western Ontario are apprised of the co-eds' harsh mandance.

Executive of the women of Arts College for humbling the lordly male tottered and crashed Saturday night when a notice appeared on the university notice board, the wholesale second instalment of bids to the annual prom, which was received by James Poole, president of the men's council of the medicos.

According to reports the invitation declared that if any poor Meds so far had been neglected by the Fair Sex at any time they were rectified if the gentlemen in questions will write a detailed description regarding height, color of hair and eyes, dwelling ability and conversational brilliance to the Arts College. It was not exactly stated that the co-eds were looking for the most desirable gentlemen, but it was assumed that the applicants would be looked after in a most efficient manner.

But the Meds balked and the best laid plans of co-eds came to naught when the invitations, badly misspelled, was returned to the sub-prefect of Arts College, without further comment.

The Meds will be conspicuous by their absence at the prom on the 29th of February, it is stated.

MARRIAGE TRICKY

Montreal, Que. (By The Canadian Press)—Marriage and their escorts declares Commandant N. R. Tricky of the Salvation Army, "should remember that marriage is a tricky business—it plunges too soon. But above all, don't try to put the pilings too late!"

Tricky, for instance, should think twice before getting married at 18 or 19. He thought that they knew their own minds better at 23. Young men on the other hand, ought to accept the conjugal yoke when they were about 25. If they let it go till later, they became old-bachelorish with set ideas, and were often hard to get along with in double harness. As for young women, they ought to have their right to pop the question in these days of fair play."

CLEARING the Skin

TO ALL of you who are combating bumps and blotches, and hoping for the clear color and fine texture of a healthy skin, this advice is directed.

The simplest and most generally useful of healing treatments consists of my Spotprof Lotion and Spotprof Cream used in conjunction. After you have cleansed your skin night and morning with Cleansing Cream, pat with Spotprof Lotion. At night, pat a thin film of Spotprof Cream on the affected areas.

For the oily skin with persistent eruptions, begin with an application of Anti-Brown Spot exactly according to directions.

Remove Anti-Brown Spot with Cleansing Cream and Tissues. Wipe thoroughly and gently. Press out surface gatherings. Pat on Acne Lotion. For dryness, powder directly over the Lotion; at night, follow with Healing Cream, which is left on. Given nightly, this treatment has successfully cleared many cases of acne.

There is not room to give more detailed instructions, but to any of you who are interested I will gladly send my booklet "The Quest of the Beautiful," describing my Preparations fully.

ELIZABETH ARDEN'S PREPARATIONS

For Quickening the Circulation
VENETIAN ANTI-BROWN SPOT OINTMENT.. $1.50, $3.25
VENETIAN ARDENA MASQUE $3.5

For Soothing and Healing
VENETIAN ACNE LOTION $1.25
VENETIAN HEALING CREAM $1.25
SPOTPROF LOTION .. $1
SPOTPROF CREAM .. $1
SPOTPROF HAIR TONIC .. $1

ELIZABETH ARDEN'S VENETIAN TOILET PREPARATIONS ARE ON SALE AT

DOYLE'S DRUG STORE
221 FRONT ST. PHONE 328

So New This Year!

Sweaters are being knitted as fast as busy fingers and clicking needles can turn them out. And when these dainty garments become soiled MODERN'S careful cleaning makes them new again without danger of stretching or shrinking.

MODERN
CLEANERS AND DYERS
195 Front St. Phone 729
If Modern Cleaned it's Clean

Beauty..... BY HELEN JAMIESON

Another Chapter on the Nagging Wife

Some time ago, this pulchritude preacher sent out a warning to nagging wives, urging them to keep cool, pull up their socks, lay low when signs pointed toward a family fight. The article brought in a torrential deluge of letters. What would you do if a man said this, if a man did that, came home drunk, or wouldn't give you any money for clothes?" And so on, through the whole long list of wails and vines of the male sex when married.

Evidently, I did not make my contention clear. Nagging is a boomerang. It comes back and hits you on the head and crushes you. Expressing one's injured feelings and shouting one's indignation may be easing to the mind, but it is soul destroying, and it does hurt to the physical mechanism. It can destroy a sound nervous system. It makes sleep impossible. It ruins appetite and impairs digestion.

Women shouldn't nag, not because nagging isn't coming to some husbands, but because loss of emotional control is devastating.

If a woman is unhappily married, if there is no chance of release, if she must endure conditions, then she must create for herself an inner life of her own, an existence apart from her matrimonial sentence. It will be her salvation. Existence must go on. She must go on. Peace at any price should be her motto. If she is to hang onto the spirit of youth, if she is not to grow old and ugly, she must take the line of least resistance, which is silence.

Nagging never changed the habits or character of a man. Some husbands aren't as bad as their wives think they are, though there are many that are cruel, unbearable, selfish. Some of the wives aren't exactly angels. Some of the husbands are nagers. But that's not the point. The point is that if a woman is going to win out in any domestic war she must cultivate emotional control. She must use her head. Bawling and protesting get her no place. Her old man bangs out the door, seeks congenial companionship wherever he can find it, the wife flops into a heap and cries her nose red.

It is surprising how many married women have survived matrimonial wars by a simple process of removing. Though they may have raged inside, they learned to hold their tongues. They weren't servile or cringing. They composed themselves for being shrews, and put on a manic composure of dignity, decent manners and tolerance. At least the husband develops respect.

Quarrels, all emotional disturbances, are deadly blows to mental and physical health. They grind gullies into a face that once was sweet and young and pretty. They curdle the digestion, impair the tissues of the body. They are futile. They contribute nothing to the heart's contentment.

If all husbands were perfect and all wives beautiful of spirit, all homes would be happy, and the world would be paradise. But that doesn't seem to be the case.

Weddings

ROSE—IRELAND

A quiet but pretty wedding took place Saturday afternoon at 2.30 at Bayside United Church parsonage, when Claude Earl Rose, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Rose of Sidney Township, was happily united in marriage to Miss Phyllis Ireland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ireland of Ameliasburg. Rev. J. R. Butler performed the ceremony, the bride was gowned in fille green crepe trimmed with eggshell satin and was attended by Mrs. James George attired in black silk crepe trimmed with pink. The groom was supported by Mr. James George of Smithfield. The young couple will reside in Sidney Township.

BOOTH—MARTIN

Christ Church, Belleville, was the scene of a very pretty wedding Saturday, February 20th at high noon, Rev. C. G. Wright officiating, when Miss Marietta Elsie Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Martin of Latta, became the bride of Mr. Gordon William Booth of Belleville, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Booth, Ereham, England.

The bride was very charmingly attired in white satin, trimmed with net, worn with a net veil. She carried lilies of the valley and sweetheart. The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Walter Means of Oshawa, the latter a sister of the bride, who was attired in black brown crepe ensemble trimmed with Chantilly lace and carried Sunset roses.

After the ceremony a dainty lunch was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Milligan, sister of the bride, after which the happy couple left on the 2.30 train C.N.R. for Toronto and points west.

The bride's travelling costume was of Spanish ilie and lace with black fur jacket and felt and straw hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Booth will reside in Belleville.

Personals

Col. W. N. Ponton, K.C., who underwent an operation in Hamilton General Hospital is progressing favorably.

The condition of Mrs. John Sargent, second concession of Sidney who underwent a hurried operation Saturday afternoon at Belleville General Hospital is reported favorable this morning.

Mrs. P. C. MacLaurin entertained at luncheon today in honour of Mrs. W. H. Lattimer of Toronto who is visiting in Belleville, the guest of Mrs. H. W. Ackerman.

Miss Alice Potter, nurse-in-training at St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto, spent the week end at her home, Charles Street.

Miss Jessie Knight, who was operated on for appendicitis at the Belleville General Hospital on Sunday is reported progressing favorably.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Springer have left for St. Augustine Florida, where they will spend the remainder of the winter season.

Judge J. F. Wills, Mrs. Wills and Mr. T. Y. Wills, spent the week end in Toronto.

Miss Grace Amott who is attending McDonald Hall, Guelph, spent the week end at her home in Picton.

Mr. and Mrs. Waller Means have returned to Oshawa after attending the wedding of the latter's sister, Miss Marietta Martin to Mr. Gordon William Booth, which was solemnized at Christ Church on Saturday.

Mr. Harold Brouck, North Bay, is visiting in the home of Mr. and Mr. Wesley Huffman, North Front street.

Miss Jean Last of London, spent the week end in Belleville.

Miss Winnifred McAuley is confined to her home, Dundas street, with a severe attack of influenza.

In honour of Mrs. G. S. Henry, the Cabinet Ministers' wives and wives of the members of the Legislature, Lady Eaton entertained at a delightful tea Saturday afternoon at Ardvreil, Tyrwohn. Among the guests were Mrs. C. W. Hambly, Napanee, Mrs. J. F. Hill, Shannonville, Mrs. W. H. Ireland, Toronto.

Mr. A. F. Sharland, Alexander street, who has been seriously ill, was removed to Belleville General Hospital on Saturday afternoon.

The balance-wheel of a watch moves more than 2,500 miles in a year.

YOUR HUSBAND'S Favourite DESSERT

IF you don't already make it with coconut, try adding this enticing, tropical flavour to it. Most men love coconut—that's what restaurant chefs say.

Indeed, more women every day are finding how easy it is to make practically every cake or pie—even the simplest ones—unbelievably more appetizing with coconut.

Order coconut from your grocer today—but insist on Baker's. The Baker special process and Baker packing bring you the finest, tastiest coconut flesh at very sensible prices.

Baker's Coconut is made from fresh coconuts in Canada.

Three Styles:
BAKER'S SOUTHERN STYLE—medium-cut and fine—slightly sweetened—deliciously fresh.
BAKER'S PREMIUM SHRED—is the finest triple-sealed stay-fresh cereal.
BY THE POUND—the same fresh full-flavored coconut in bulk.

15-32

BAKER'S COCONUT

FULLNESS OF JOY

The Bible contains many passages which connect joy with spirituality. Indeed, the Apostle Paul, in the fifth chapter of the epistle to the Galatians, definitely speaks of joy as one of the fruits of the Spirit. As a matter of fact, true joy is never the outcome of, nor can it be produced by, materiality in any form. Joy implies, rather a deep inward sense of satisfaction, assurance, and peace—something which materiality can neither give nor take away.

Neither the ownership of material possessions nor their lack can confer true joy. Christ Jesus, who on one occasion declared, "The foxes have holes, and the birds of the air have nests; but the Son of man hath not where to lay his head," could also say to His disciples, "These things have I spoken unto you, that my joy might remain in you, and that your joy might be full," because His joy accompanied His recognition of His true selfhood as a son of God, it could not be affected by outward circumstances. Thus, the earthly career of Christ Jesus was characterized by a serenity and poise which has never been equaled in human experience.

The ability to perceive spiritual reality always imparts joy, even on the dying plane. The believer who suddenly apprehends some phase of knowledge which enables him to complete his invention finds a sense of satisfaction akin to joy welling up in his heart. The same is true of the mathematician who perceives the mathematical fact which brings to him the solution of the problem. Every advance in useful knowledge must bring with it a degree of joy. How much more, then, is this the case when one grasps even a portion of absolute truth! Truly does he rejoice as one that findeth great spoil."

(From The Christian Science Monitor.)

Maple products are used extensively in the manufacture of tobacco.

TRAINED NURSE BROKE DOWN

Her Nerves Gone, Margaret Owings Learned Value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills—Mrs. O'Connor Likewise.

Wonderful Change in Condition.

"I am a trained nurse," writes Margaret Owings, of Edmonton, Alberta. "One year ago, in the midst of one of my busiest seasons, I collapsed. I was a total wreck; my nerves gone. Rest and ordinary treatment failed to restore me. I knew that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were good, but did not realize how really beneficial they were until I started to take them. Then I knew a change was wonderful. The color came back to my cheeks. I am sweeter by 20 lbs. than I was six months ago, and stronger. I owe glad vials. 50c a package.

Strenuous days have no effect now upon my nerves. I am again young, thanks to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills."

Mrs. James R. O'Connor, Godfrey, Ont., writes: "After my first baby was born, I had a breakdown. I could not sleep, eat or sit still. One day a neighbor told me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Before I had one box taken, I was feeling better; I continued taking the Pills until completely well. I also give them to my growing girls, and find them wonderful."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills ease such conditions yield to the blood-building properties of this long-tested remedy. Young girls are wonderfully helped in their growth and development. Your druggist has Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in the new protective glass vials. Sold in boxes, or by mail at 50c a package from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

PREMIUM BY-PRODUCT COKE
IS THE BEST PREPARED COKE OBTAINABLE
HIGH IN HEAT CONTENT
LOW IN ASH
NO SMOKE

$10.25
F.O.B. PLANT, OR $11.00
DELIVERED IN YOUR CELLAR

This Coke Gives More Heat Per Dollar Than Ordinary Fuel. Try a Ton And Be Convinced.

ONTARIO SHORE GAS
Co. Limited
48 BRIDGE ST.
TELEPHONE 2306

FINANCIAL NEWS

HUGE MERGER GERMAN BANKS

Mammoth Institution to Eclipse Other Banks

Berlin, Feb. 22 (AP)—A new mammoth German banking institution, third largest of its type, great Danat and Dresdener banks which have been the hands of the government for several months was announced today.

The preliminary announcement did not include details of the plan, but it was said there would be available tonight. The merger is one of several affecting smaller groups as well as the great "D" banks.

Reduces them Value

The Danat merger contemplates an arbitrary reduction in the par value of its shares to 33 per cent. of their original price which is to be applied against stock in the new bank. The same basic will be applied for 220,000,000 marks.

The smaller mergers will betray together the Deutsche Diskonto Gesellschaft, the Barmer Bankier Verein and Commerz und Privat Bank. The Deutsche Diskonto stockholders will be credited with the shares to each five held.

In financial circles it was said the mergers might mean the probable collapse, for the present at least, of a number of weaker lenders.

The "Danat" — Darmstadter und National Bank — was organized in last fall and marked the first major catastrophe leading to the German financial crisis.

Stock Markets

Quotations furnished by Riggs and Dowling, J. H. Wilk branch manager. Quotations at 3 p.m.

MINES
Acme	14¾
Amulet	bid 18
Ajax	1.03
Barry Hollinger	bid 6¾
Falconbridge	bid 80
Base Metals	1.02
Granada	1.01
Hollinger	23.05
Hudson's Bay	2.30
Howey	4¼
Kirkland Lake	46½
Lake Shore	17.35
McIntyre	61
Sicoe	6
Mining Corp.	14
Sylvanite	1.35
Teck Hughes	45
Ventures	4.50
Wright Hargreaves	2.70
Aces	10.25
Moffat Mall	4
York Ryckle	16.50
Normada

TORONTO
B. A. Oil	10¾
Imperial Oil	9
McColl Frontenac	8¾
International Nickel	10¾
Distill Seagrams	34¾
Steam Walker	19¼
Bell Telephone	110
C.P.R.	11¾
Cockshutt	10¾
Dominion Stores	17½
Ford A	5¾
Smelters	69
Loblaw A	10
Massey Harris	3¾
Brazilian	13¾
Steel of Canada	31½
WHEAT
May	67⅝
July	68¾
May Rye	47¾

EXCHANGE RATES

Toronto, Ont., Feb. 22 (CP) — Exchange rates at noon today were as follows Pound sterling in Montreal $3.92 8-16.

Sisters Artery in Rescuing Niece

OWEN SOUND, Ont., Feb. 22.—Miss Hazel Hackett of Wiarton, in a serious condition following a fire at her home Sunday morning, suffering from shock and exposure and also from loss of blood when severed an artery in one of her wrists in breaking the pane of a window to rescue her niece, Miss Hackett, and another little girl, Rhoda Thomas.

Mr. Hackett's financial loss will be heavy, the house being burned to the ground.

We will be taking part in all major bond issues as they come along during the next few months. Clients should telephone us for information and advice.

Jamieson Bone & Co.

Phone 1366
Belleville, Ont.

KEY ISSUES WEAKER TODAY

Bell Telephone Drops When Peg Removed From Stock

Toronto, Ont., Feb. 22.—Key issues were unusually quiet on Toronto Stock Exchange this morning, the day's activity being by Wall Street. Chief activity on the local market had to do with Bell Telephone, which, this morning, was placed on the free list.

When the peg was removed from Bell, the price dropped to 107 1-2, a net loss of 11 1-2 points from the former minimum of 119. Support came into the market and that figure and there was a fairly heavy turnover as the price advanced from time to time to 110 1-2, where it steadied.

The usual leaders were unchanged to a small fraction lower. Brazilian showed no change but Nickel at 9, Steel of Canada at 31 were down 1-2 point, Imperial and mackenzie dey cote on chin, hands and his shoulder bruised.

Lloyd Lauder, also of Picton was asleep; he was not thrown from the truck and sustained only cuts above the left eye, on the face and chin.

Constables Issard and Evans were on the scene of the accident shortly after it happened. The injured men were taken up to Dr. Cronk's office and their injuries were at once given attention.

The truck was taken to the hospital from Dr. Cronk's office and an X-ray revealed that no bones were broken. He will, however, be confined to the hospital for a day or two.

The truck is almost a complete wreck; a truck arrived from Picton this morning and took as much as possible of the merchandise and conveyed it to Picton. The load was made up of flour, rice, feed and salt.

Lloyd Ostrander was the driver in charge of the truck; he, it is said, turned the wheel over to Wood at Napanee and visited an aunt. Wood it is said, is not a licensed driver.

The men left Picton according to their report on Friday, February 19 at 10 p.m. and on their return trip they left Montreal at four-fifteen o'clock in the afternoon on Saturday reached Belleville at 4 o'clock on Sunday morning when the accident occurred.

DOMINION STORES MEAT MARKETS

Round Steak . . . . 17c per lb.	2 lbs. Weiners or Silver Bright Salmon 2 lbs. 25c
Sirloin Steak . . . . 21c per lb.
Side Pork . . . . 9c per lb.
Pork Chops . . 2 lbs. for 25c
Phone 2310 . . . . Free Delivery on All Meat Orders	Phone 286 225 Front St.

TRANSPORT STRIKES TREE INJURING TWO

Allege Driver at Wheel Without Necessary Permit

ONE ASLEEP

Paint, Rice, and Candy Scattered Over Roadside

Sunday morning at six o'clock a truck owned by the Dav Transport Co., Picton, which was coming west on Dundas Street, failed to make the turn from Dundas south into Front Street, but continued across the road and collided with a large tree on the west side of Front St.

The driver of the truck, "Happy" Wood, aged 35, years of Picton, was asleep when the truck struck and sustained deep cuts on chin, hands and his shoulder bruised.

Lloyd Lauder, also of Picton was asleep; he was not thrown from the truck and sustained only cuts above the left eye, on the face and chin.

Constables Issard and Evans were on the scene of the accident shortly after it happened. The injured men were taken up to Dr. Cronk's office and their injuries were at once given attention.

The truck was taken to the hospital from Dr. Cronk's office and an X-ray revealed that no bones were broken. He will, however, be confined to the hospital for a day or two.

The truck is almost a complete wreck; a truck arrived from Picton this morning and took as much as possible of the merchandise and conveyed it to Picton. The load was made up of flour, rice, feed and salt.

Lloyd Ostrander was the driver in charge of the truck; he, it is said, turned the wheel over to Wood at Napanee and visited an aunt. Wood it is said, is not a licensed driver.

The men left Picton according to their report on Friday, February 19 at 10 p.m. and on their return trip they left Montreal at four-fifteen o'clock in the afternoon on Saturday reached Belleville at 4 o'clock on Sunday morning when the accident occurred.

BUFFALO MARKET

East Buffalo, Feb. 22.—Hogs 8,700; active; 5-15 over Friday's average; bulk 160-210 lbs. 4.65-4.75; mixed lots with light weights 4.50-4.60; 200-260 lbs. 4.35-4.50; 260-310 lbs. 4.20-4.35; pigs 4.00 down; lbs. 3.75-4.25.

Cattle, 1,250; all classes and grades active; strong to 25 higher; killing quality improved; good steers and yearlings, 750 lbs. and medium steers and heifers 5.50-6.75; choice steers and heifers 7.00; fat cows 3.50-4.00; cutter grades 1.50-3.75; mostly sausage bulls 3.50-3.75.

YOUNG DOG TAKEN CARE OF BY POLICE

A city police constable today noticed a police dog wandering on Front Street. It appeared to be lost and as there was no collar on the animal, the constable took it "into custody" on the charge of "vagrancy" and placed it in the cell room at the police station. Later in the day Chief Thompson the city dog keep by Thomas Thorn, the city officer in charge of stray animals, Sandbanks, where it now awaits being claimed by its owner, if not claimed within a reasonable time the dog will be placed in a new home, if suitable or painlessly destroyed. The dog is about six months' old and is said to be well bred.

UKRAINIAN WILL NOT BE EXECUTED

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 22. — (By the Canadian Press)—Official announcement was made today that commutation of the imprisonment has been granted in the case of Ataman Fedak, Ukrainian, sentenced to die at Fort Frances, Ont., tomorrow for the murder of Mrs. Anna Stayka and her two daughters. The commutation was granted following a medical examination as to the sanity of Unicki.

CANADIAN ART SHOWN AT N. YORK

NEW YORK, N.Y., Feb. 22.—(By the Canadian Press)—Works by the most distinguished living Canadian artists, including the international famous "group of seven", will be shown for one month at the Grand Central Galleries of Roerich Museum here starting March 5.

The collection was assembled by Lawren Harris, who has won wide recognition as one of Canada's foremost present day artists. There are 70 paintings in the exhibition.

HILLIER TO BE CANDIDATE

BERLIN, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Tempo Democratic Evening newspaper, today asserted that Adolf Hitler has agreed to become the Nazis candidate for the presidency and that Lieut. Colonel Theodore Duesterberg would be the United candidate of the Nationalists and steel-helmeters.

GUIDANCE FOR TEEN AGE LAD

Boys' Premier, John Hunter, Speaks in City on Sunday

Youth as typified in the boys and young men who are members of the Boys' Parliament is not the flaming youth so often blazoned in speeches and in films today, going the downward path.

Youth, the best of it, according to Premier John Hunter of Peterboro, is desirous of the best and highest ideals in life. Its aim is to fit boys and young men for the place they are to occupy in life, to interest them in a wholesome citizenship, for the good of themselves and others.

Sunday, Belleville boys were enlisted under the Boys' Parliament or form part of the thousands who have now listened and twenty representatives in the boys' parliament and their premier heard the boys' premier at Bridge Street United Church in the morning and at Albert-loway Street United Church in the evening.

Silent Work

Mr. Hunter at Bridge Street, preached on the subject in the temple, emphasizing the need of strong foundations for life. The boys' parliament seeks to put in shape the foundations for the various branches of boys' work. The character building which is the main aim of boys' work and the kind of work amongst girls is work which is done in silence. He said:

"Boys and girls must be prepared to fight the battles of life as stones which went to make Solomon's temple, which were to be able to train youth. We want to be able to take our place and give service to God in His kingdom here."

Speaking of education and the criticism of the costs of education the premier remarked: "We must give the boys and girls everything which is to be a background to them when all else is forgotten."

There is a call for more vocational guidance.

Finding Vocation

The preparation of youth is got at through a training in the weaknesses and strength of individuals. Teachers are taken into confidence and a boy's possible vocation is studied—that for which he is fitted. The result is that boys look for a vocation, not a mere job.

"To do your best" he must be in the proper niche in life", remarked Mr. Hunter.

He spoke of the need of boys going "the second mile" with another.

Fellowship among the boys of the parliament was explained when the three candidates for premier drew up platforms and asked them out to the representatives, but not to vote for, nor a vote. They stayed together while the boys voted in that way no one would get advantage over the other.

There are 15,000 boys in 200 groups in Ontario parliaments.

Value of Camps

Speaking of camps he said they inculcated high ideals and sent the boys back to city, town and country with a new vision for the betterment of life. While the boys do not call themselves saints, they do not try to be like the saint, who was defined as "Christ's sinner," in the days of Rome.

At Holloway Street Church Sunday night, Mr. Hunter also spoke to the congregation on the subject of "The Trail of Life." The service at Holloway Street Church was that of "father and son" nature and the body of the church was well represented by the parents and children of the congregation. Rev. Mr. Elton McMurray, local member of the Boys' Parliament, and Rev. Mr. Hunter Fairman both assisted Mr. Hunter in conducting the service.

Proper Guidance

Mr. Hunter pointed out the necessity of proper guidance of the teen age boys and showed how the program outlined in the Trail Rangers and the Tuxis Boys was instrumental in building up the boy for the right character for our young manhood. He also pointed out that the church home and school could all assist the boy in making the best of his young life. Mr. Hunter outlined a definite plan for the younger boys and concluded by urging the congregation need for them to follow the "trail of life."

There was special music supplied by the Holloway Street Church choir which was heartily enjoyed by all present. Mr. Hunter addressed the Hunter spoke to the members of Holloway Street Sunday School and also attended the Sunday School and spoke to the members of the Victoria Ave. Methodist Sunday School. All of Mr. Hunter's messages were inspiring and educational.

COLORFUL CAREER ENDED

Iroquois, Ont., Feb. 22.—(By the Canadian Press)—A colorful career was ended with the death here last night of Col. Lorne W. Mudley, former professor of military history at the Royal Military College, King-ston and veteran of two wars.

IN MEMORIAM

SYMONS—In loving memory of our dear sons, who passed away eleven years ago.

The years are passing swiftly by,
But still we don't forget.
For our hearts that love you best
Your memory never can.
The stars are dimly shining
Upon the lonely grave,
Where sleep without awakening
Our sons we loved so dear.
Away on that beautiful hill of God,
By the valley of peace so fair.
Some day, some where we shall meet
Sadly missed by Sons and Daughter.

ANGELL—In loving memory of Arthur George Angell, who departed this life Feb. 22nd, 1928.

Sweet is the sacred remembrance
As these few lines will show
You will always be remembered
By father

In the years that come and go,
—Sadly missed by Wife, sons and daughter. 222-1r

DEATHS

FISH—In Rochester, N.Y., on Friday, Feb. 19th, 1932, Frances Ann Thompson, widow of the late Arthur E. Fish.

The remains will arrive in Belleville at 6 p.m. Monday. Funeral service at Thain & Bevan Funeral Home, 268 Church Street, on Tuesday, Feb. 23rd at 2 p.m. Interment in Belleville Cemetery. 222-1r COPPIN — In Belleville, Sunday February 21, 1932, Thomas H. Coppin, aged 82 years.

Funeral from his late residence 17 Perin Street, Belleville, Tuesday, February 23rd at 2.30 p.m. Interment at 2.30 p.m. Interment Belleville Cemetery. 222-1r

STAPLEY—In Thurlow Township, on Monday, February 22nd, 1932, Edgar Stapley, in his 79th year. The funeral will take place from his late residence, 2nd Concession of Thurlow, on Wednesday, February 24th, 1932. Service at the house at 2 p.m. Interment Belleville Cemetery. 222-1r

BELLEVILLE BURIAL COMPANY
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
24 Hours Service
Phone 774-W Day and Night
J. W. HALEY,
Proprietor
Mausoleum Crypts For Sale
120-tf

F. C. Martin and Son
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
FUNERAL HOME
218-218 CHURCH ST.
PRIVATE AMBULANCE IN CONNECTION
PHONE 2600

THOMPSON FUNERAL SERVICE
Incorporated 1930
Moderate Prices
Thos. C. Thompson
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
Phone 58
Nights and Sundays 1813
18-tf

TICKELL & BROWNE
Funeral Home
248 Church St.
Cor. Victoria Ave.
Phone 2555
Limousine Ambulance Service
d18-tf

To Let

Furnished house, modern also, all conveniences. Desirable locality, for the months of Mar. April, May. Possession March 1st. Phone 76 or 228. 222-3r

Store To Let

Best location in Belleville. New and modern, copper and marble show window front. Steam heated. Immediate possession. Apply
W. H. MORTON
Ontario Intelligencer
Belleville.
121-tf

N. Hardwick
Electrical Contractor
Fixtures, Sales, Receptacles
Repairs
All Work Guaranteed
75 BURTON ST., BELLEVILLE

WANTED

WANTED — CAPABLE WOMAN wants work as practical housekeeper, willing to work in the country. Write Box "R" Ontario Intelligencer. 222-3t.

WANTED DISTRICT AGENT (enabled by Monarch) Demonstration —one able to finance himself excellent prospects for capable energetic man. Write Box "C" Ontario Intelligencer. 220-7t

WANTED—AN EXPERIENCED Salesman to call on R.C. homes. State weight, width, depth. Write Box "T" Ontario Intelligencer. 220-3t

WANTED TO PLACE OUT A baby boy, 3 months old, in good R.C. home with view to adoption. Prepare to pay a little towards its maintenance. Apply Box "A" Ontario Intelligencer. 219-3t

WANTED—TO UNFURNISH-ed apartment, with kitchenette, for 2 adults, East Hill. Phone 2600. 219-3t

WANTED—DESIRABLE HOMES for boys and girls up to eleven years of age; also girl 16. Apply Thos. D. Ruston, Superintendent, Children's Aid Society, 38 Dundas Street, Belleville. 719-6t

WANTED—ROOMS WANTED UNfurnished, one or two rooms, for months 29c. Poultry crates and shipping cases. Apply Canada Wire and Reilly, Registered, 1886 Notre Dame, West Montreal. f17-1f.

FOR SALE

NINETEEN THIRTY FRANCIS Barnett Motor Cycle. Good condition. Best offer. Phone 1264W. 222-3t.

SPRINGER COWS, DUE TO freshen soon. Jonh McMullen, 2nd Concession, Sidney. Phone 424r12 222-3t.

90 LAYING HENS, BROODER stove, 400 chick size. Apply Fred Weiler, Carrying Place. 222-1t

BANNER OATS FROM REG. Seed, purchased nonlous weeds. Charles Macfarlane, Shannonville. Phone 73r1-3. 126-2t

TO-LET

6 ROOM HOUSE, ALL CONVENiences, except furnace. Apply 11 Brett St. Possession, March 17. Apply 46 Ontario. 222-1w

APARTMENT IN MARSHALL'S Apts. newly laying town. Apply 114 Bridge St. E. Phone 1853. 222-3t

FURNISHED HEATED LARGE front rooms. All conveniences. Garage. Close to business section. 12 North Front St. 222-3t

FOUR ROOM APARTMENT, heated. All conveniences. Good. Dellne, 190 Front St. f22-1w

ATTRACTIVE ROOM, PRIVATE entrance; also bed room, central. Board optional, 74 W. Bridge. Phone 1018W. 222-3t

7 ROOM BRICK HOUSE, 180 Concession Thurlow, Garage and garden. Close to school and church. Apply Ernest Hough, Corbyville. 222-1t

NICE CLEAN THREE ROOM flat, 177 Pinnacle Street. Phone 334W. 220-2t

HEATED APARTMENT, CENTRAL —All conveniences, electric refrigerator. Possession April first. Apply 81 Turnbull St. Phone 214J. 220-1w

TWO APARTMENTS TO LET — Hardwood floors, fireplaces, bath. Reasonable rent. Phone 1010J. 119-3t

BRICK HOUSE, ALL CONVEniences, 287 Charles Street. Available March 1st. Suitable for small family. Apply 285 Pinnacle St. Phone 77. f16-6t

FLAT, 263 WILLIAM STREET, 6 rooms, all conveniences, $20 a month. Apply 172 Clinton or phone 508. 218-tf

HOUSE, 177 PINNACLE STREET, second door north Baptist Church. Phone 736J. Apply 181 Geneva St. f11-1f.

APARTMENTS TO RENT. Apply G. J. Fisher, Bridge Street.

COTTAGE NO. 39 GROVE ST. 7 rooms, furnace, laundry tube, pur water heater and floors, wired for stove Apply 36 Grove St. d15-1f.

AUCTION SALE

March 3rd, 1932, Farm Stock and Implements, Lot 24, Township 4, two miles west of Belleville. See large bills. H. E. Putman. f22-1t

Six Nation Lacrosse Team for Olympiad

Brantford, Ont., Feb. 22.—Word from lacrosse headquarters at Sour Springs today was that the Olympiad Lacrosse Committee has asked the Six Nations Indians to enter a lacrosse team for the Olympic title and preparations are under way to pick an all-star team from the Reserve. Britain, Canada and the United States have each entered a team for the event.

Classified Ad. Rates
PHONE 99

SOCIAL NOTICES—Births, 50c; marriages and Engagement Notices $1.00; Deaths and Funeral Notices, $1.00; In Memoriam, $1.00; Cards of Thanks, $1.00; Obituaries, charge, $1.00 for 10 lines, over that the per count line; Lodge and Meeting Announcements, minimum charge, 75c.

CLASSIFIED — One Sale, Wanted, etc.)—1st, per word each for first TWO insertions. Subsequent insertions 1c per word, minimum 25c.

COMING EVENTS—50c per insertion for 25 words or less, 1c per word for each additional word.

PROFESSIONAL, LEGAL AND BUSINESS CARDS—$5.00 per month (or three months $13.00 per month per inch.

CONTRACT ADVERTISEMENTS—Rates according to space and number of insertions required.

AUCTION SALE—By card, heading to count as 12 words; minimum 25 words for the; consecutive insertions, 3c per word.

An initial or figure counts as one word.

In estimating space five words to the line.

Telephone your Want Ads and it is more convenient. PHONE 99.

The Intelligencer will not be responsible for more than one insertion of an incorrect Ad., unless it is in error.

Advertisers may have their replies addressed to a number care of the Ontario Intelligencer.

CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAYS

Change of Time effective Sunday, February 21st, 1932

TRAINS GOING EAST

No. 18 12.40 A.M.—Mail and Express Daily.

No. 16 2.50 A.M.—The Maple Leaf, Daily.

No. 8 2.33 A.M.—Express, Daily to Ottawa.

No. 14 11.20 A.M.—The International—Daily except Sunday.

No. 36 2.47 P.M.—The Capitol, daily except Sunday, to Ottawa.

No. 6 6.05 P.M.—The Inter - City Limited, daily, fast train to Montreal.

TRAINS GOING WEST

No. 19 2.45 A.M.—Mail and Express, daily.

No. 7 3.50 A.M.—Express, daily

No. 17 4.42 A.M.—The Inter - City, Limited, daily.

No. 35 4.57 P.M.—The Maple Leaf, daily.

The Capitol daily except Sunday.

No. 39 8.00 P.M.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.

No. 13 8.00 P.M.—The International—Daily except Sunday.

BELLEVILLE TO PETERSBORO

No. 11 2.30 A.M.—Local Passenger—daily except Sunday.

BELLEVILLE TO MADOC

No. 35 3.55 P.M.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.

INSURANCE

Fire, Automobile, Accident, and all other departments.

Wide range of excellent Companies to choose from at reasonable rates.

FARLY BUSINESS

a specialty, with yearly, or three year policies.

Your inquiry will be appreciated.

S. J. FISHER & SON, Insurance,

Successors to H. F. Ketcheson Co.,

39 Bridge St. E. Belleville

Phone 188.

ALTERATIONS, CLOSED VER-ANDAHS, ENCLOSED PORCH, GENERAL REPAIRS, GARAGES.

Special Low Rates Now
By Hour or Contract
Foster—1295-W

FRASER AYLESWORTH

Ontario Land Surveyor and Registered Commercial Civil Engineer Land Surveys, Plans and Reports. Illona, ont. promptly attended to PHONE P. O. BOX 69

MADOC, ONT.

BUSINESS LINERS

A. Peterson wishes to announce that the Waverley Lunch Room will be closed during Hairdressers' Convention, February 22 to 25. 220-2t.

CARD OF HANKS

Mr. J. L. Herbertson and daughters wish to thank their many friends for kindness and sympathy shown them in their recent sad bereavement, also for floral offerings. 222-1t

Business Directory

LEGAL

T. V. WELLS, BARRISTER, SOLICitor, Notary Public, etc. 15 Campbell St., Belleville. Phone 1444. 2nd-tf

PORTER, PAYNE & ARNOTT, Barristers, Solicitors, and Notaries Public, Solicitors for Royal Bank, Chas. A. Payne, K.C., S. G. Arnott, Solicitors; 319 Front St., Belleville, Ont. 38-tf.

MALCOLM WRIGHT, BARRISter, Solicitor, Notary Public, etc. Office Campbell Street, Belleville.

PONTON, PONTON & GRAHAM, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Commissioners, etc. Bond Bridge Street cast. Solicitors, Bank of Montreal. Money to loan on mortgages. W. N. Ponton, K.C., R. D. Ponton, K.C., R. J. S. Graham. Office: Belleville.

WALLBRIDGE, CAMERON AND Ch. Gluscoomo to the late F. S. Wallbridge, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, Money to loan. Dominion Bank Building, corner Front and Bridge streets, Belleville, Ontario.

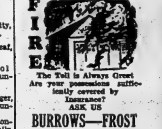
BUTLER & BUTLER, BARRISters, Solicitors, Notaries, etc. Office in Bridge Street E. Block. C. J. Butler, K.C., Gerrards Butler.

B. C. DONHAM, COUNTY CROWN Attorney, Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, etc. Office Court House Building, Belleville, Ontario.

COLLINS AND CUSHING, A. B. Collins, K.C., F. G. Cushing, Barristers at Law, Solicitors, etc. Office: Above Royal Bank, corner Front and Campbell streets. Phone 162. Company has private funds to loan on first mortgages.

INSURANCE

BONE & MARTIN



LIMITED

GENERAL INSURANCE

Belleville, Ont.

Chamber of Commerce Bldg.

Phone 1366

The Tell is Always Great Aver your possessions sufficiently covered by

ASK US

BURROWS — FROST

221 Front St.

HALL & EARLE

General Insurance Fire, Automobile, Accident, Plate Glass. 178 Front Street. Phone 1154W

DENTAL

DR. R. B. EMPSON, DENTIST (Successor to Dr. Morton), X-Ray. 348½ Front St. Phone 462, Belleville. 130-3m

DR. G. A. MARSHALL, D.D.S., L.D.S., M.R.C.S.(Eng.) Gas Anaesthesia
Phone 1847
Evenings by Appointment
218 Bridge St. East
(Between John and George)

MEDICAL

Dr. S. R. McCreary, B.Sc. Physician & Surgeon X-Ray & Radium Therapy Radium Treatment
126 Bridge St. East Phone 1209
(Between George and William)

DR. J. S. HOGAN SPECIALIST, EYE, EAR, NOSE AND THROAT. Post Graduate, New York, Nose, Throat and Ear Hospitals and New York Eye and Ear Infirmary. Glasses fitted and supplied. Office 174 Front Street, Belleville. Phone 1120 Hours 10-13, 2-4, and 7-8. 128-tf.

CHIROPRACTOR

S. A. WYATT, Ph.C. SPECIAL Sanitorium treatments and adjustments given by the month to all chronic diseases. Foot disorders corrected. For appointment phone 90 or call 204 Coleman Street Belleville. Picton, Tuesdays and Fridays.

H. R. and Vera B. Pilcher CHIROPRACTORS
(Honour Graduates)
Pain-less-ness Service
121½ Bridge St. E.
Phone 1274 Belleville Ont.

STOCKS AND BONDS

EDGAR & CRAWFORD MEMbers of Toronto Stock Exchange. Phone 1738 P. H. Wills, Branch Manager. nh-1y.

H. S. Parry

BUILDING CONTRACTOR
Repair Work of All Kinds
Phone 1623

EARLY DAYS OF CHARLES II. IS BROUGHT BACK

Drinkwater Points Out Taste of Period is Admirable

SHOWING HELPS

Relics of These Early Days Are Very Interesting

(By Thomas T. Champion)
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)
London (By The Canadian Press)—Remembering the common impression which is held of the court of Charles II there may seem something humorous in holding an exhibition of relics of his reign in aid of the Young Women Christian Association. John Drinkwater, the eminent poet and dramatist, probably puts the matter in true perspective in his prefatory note to the catalogue.

"The taste of the period to which this Exhibition is devoted was admirable," says Mr. Drinkwater, "it was so good as to be in itself an effective answer to the popular whole talk of Restoration England—as though it were entirely given over to license and debauchery. The nation, recovering from its terrible ordeal, was no doubt at moments ordeal, was no doubt at moments a little light-headed morally and politically. The Court, led by a king who had suffered every kind of humiliation and privation, could now making the best of a good time when it came, naturally liked it with a freedom that was an obvious and highly relished theme for censure."

The Exhibition is being held in two adjoining houses in Grosvenor Place, lent by the Duke of Westminster. Lady Lyons and others of the committee have gathered a most representative collection of relics, including many lent from private and public collections. The Duchess of Portsmouth, in pale blue is an amiable neighbor of Nell Gwynne, in brown satin, and with the Duchess of Cleveland, in gold-Gazing down from the walls are pictures of the statesmen with whom the King had many a tussle, when his own viewpoint was not always an unworthy one compared with that of his Ministers.

The exhibition is an arresting reminder of the contributions which the period made to art, literature and the sciences. As Mr. Drinkwater says, "he who admired these pictures, made this furniture, struck these medals, wrote these books, designed these goblets and tilt-pages, were manifestly the products of an age that esteemed wit and imagination and intellectual dignity. Taste like this can only be the token of a responsible spirit."

The lively People's Chock-a-block with the more sedate Evelyn. There are specimens of Pepys's mss; minutes of meetings of the Board of Admiralty, and specimens also of church music by that ancient composer, Henry Purcell. It was during Charles's reign that the Hudson's Bay Company was founded. The original Charter is on view; it is as well to note only half of it is unrolled long that it may be kept a seal as large as a cheese-plate, and probably a good deal heavier.

King's Cup For Flying Races in June

London (By The Canadian Press)—Amateur and professional British pilots will compete on two days early in July for the King's Cup. The first day's contest over a course of 750 miles, will serve the purpose of an eliminating heat, because only 50 competitors who put up the best handicap performances will be eligible to continue the race next day.

Speeds generally should be higher than those of last year. Every machine entered will be handicapped on the assumption that it can fly round the whole course at an average of at least 110 miles an hour; entry of a craft which cannot make the speed will be sheer waste of time and of the entrance fee. Higher speeds will also be encouraged by the lesser distances to be flown within the day—750 and 500 miles as compared with the 1,000 miles of last year's contest.

Only pilots who have flown "solo" 100 miles or more will be permitted to fly in the race. Any type of civil aircraft is eligible, but modified versions of the British military craft which have placed this country on top of the world may not be entered, and it is unlikely, therefore, that the highest speeds attained in the race will even approach the velocities that are easily within the powers of many present-day British aircraft.

On each day, racing will start and end at an aerodrome near London. The stages will be approximately 250 miles in length, and the number of hails and ground "controls" less than in previous years."

Germany's Jig-Saw Tank

Forbidden by the Versailles Treaty from manufacturing the German Army uses these imitation tanks to keep familiar with the art of modern warfare. The tank shown here is in pieces which can be assembled in a few minutes. It is composed of cardboard and sheet iron. The caterpillars are adjusted over the wheels of the small automobile and the gun turret fits over the driver's seat completely enclosing the whole thing in the appearance of a real tank.

Tour Behind Lines Reveals Preparations as Zero Hour Strikes

Correspondent Finds Soldiers of Both Sides Ready

MORALE HIGH

Japanese Appear Well Drilled and Eager for Action

(By H. R. Ekins)
Shanghai, Saturday, February 20.—As the zero hour for the battle of Shanghai has arrived.

It is 7 a.m. The cold, grey mist of dawn rolls over the city. A red sun rises from the China sea to the east.

Sharp commands can be heard through the lines of the Chinese and Japanese trenches on the Chapei front.

The order for battle is given by the Japanese military command as the ultimatum expires.

The Chinese batteries speak first and instantly the Japanese attack. The Japanese artillery replies. There is intermittent firing.

Thus begins the battle of Shanghai—a battle that may go down in history as one of the most portentous in this century.

Both Sides Impatient

During an all-night tour of the Japanese and Chinese front lines, I moved out just in time to escape the heavy bombardment which actually started the big push—I found both sides impatient, tense, nervous and ready to clash with bayonet and rifle machine gun and heavy artillery.

There were the Chinese in short, fat, baggy knee breeches with gray wrapping puttees and many wearing rush slippers. These uniforms are padded and quilted against the cold, their military caps bore the Kuo Ming Tang, the emblem of the Kuo mintang.

Their morale seemed high. Some of them talked about how their fathers had fought the army of China had held the line against the communists in Shansi province and Japanese machines and air forces. Most of them were seasoned fighters with years of service behind the civil warfare that has swept China.

Ligaide the Japanese lines I found line after line of smart, well-drilled soldiers in khaki uniforms with dark green, almost black pulltees, steel helmets, heavy knapsacks. Many of them were just boys out for their first baptism of blood, and a little nervous about it, though striving to appear as "hard boiled" as some of the veterans they were billeted with.

Short, sturdy Japanese officers, some with stubby moustaches, snapped out orders with military precision, reminiscent of Prussian militarism.

Japanese Marines Look Glum

Nearby were Japanese marines in their regulation bluejacket uniforms, white leggings, knapsacks and cartridge belts. Some of them looked glum, admitted feeling that they had "lost face" in not being able to evict the stubborn Chinese without the help of the army.

Early man was a poor sailor.

There are more than 47,000 women employed in banks of the United States.

The world's largest stamp collection is said to be that of Baron P. ver. Ferrary, of Paris. Started in 1865, it now contains more than 500,000 specimens bought at a cost of more than $2,000,000.

MOVE AND SECOND SPEECH FROM THE THRONE

G. H. Cockburn, M.L.A., (top) for Charlotte, will move the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne following the opening of the New Brunswick Legislature in Fredericton, and W. H. Coffyn M.L.A., (bottom) for Gloucester, will be the seconder.

SAILORS ENTER CHARMED LIST

Defeat Cataracts and Now Play off for Senior Championship

Port Colborne, Feb. 20.—Port Colborne seniors outplayed Niagara Falls in the first and third periods of last night's semi-final and carried a 3-0 victory to take the round 4-1 and the right to enter the O.H.A. finals.

During the first ten minutes the Puck kept up their relentless attack and were rewarded with the first goal of the game before they eased up a little and Niagara Falls had more of the play.

In the second period the Cataracts played better hockey and Moore was given some very difficult shots but rose to all occasions to keep his goal intact.

In the final period the Sailors put in hard waiting for a break. They shot the puck the length of the ice and then followed in to check. They did not leave the Falls players uncovered for a moment and Morrill's checking around the net, together with a lone rush by Hudson, gave them two more goals in the first half of the period.

In the Vatican Library, the root of which suddenly collapsed recently, were 400,000 printed books, 35,000 manuscripts, and 6,000 works of art. Most of these, however, were undamaged.

DECREASE OF COLLIERY COSTS

Duncan Commission, Give Report to the Government

(By Charles Bruce)
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)
Halifax, Feb. 20.—Emphasizing the contention that "the need for decreasing colliery costs is from every point of view imperative", the Duncan Commission which investigated Nova Scotia's coal problems recommended a wage reduction; appointment of an independent umpire to settle disputes on the interpretation and application of terms; acceptance of the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation's proposals, with the exception of the plan to close Cumberland No. 6 at Springhill; and amendment of the Industrial Fuel Act to bring under its provision amounts of Nova Scotia coal not now eligible for bonus.

Members of the commission, Sir Andrew Rae Duncan, Rev. Dr. H. MacPherson and Fred. J. W. MacMillan, D. D., believe it proper to regard the present report as but some respects supplementary to the previous one," of 1925. The report makes clear however that "these recommendations in so far as they relate to economies could not be regarded as alternative remedies. The economies are necessary in their entirety."

THREE SHILLINGS PER BAG OF FLOUR

Levy on British Imports Under Quota Bill Reported

London, Feb. 20—The Morning Post today said it understood the Government's next move in milk which will be brought down in the House of Commons next week, will require British millers and flour importers to pay a levy of about three shillings a bag on all flour sold in the United Kingdom.

This tax, the newspaper said, was dependent on the price of wheat remaining stationary as the present level. With an annual flour consumption in Great Britain of 280,000,000 bags, the levy was expected to provide revenue of about 4,800,000 pounds annually.

The wheat quota scheme, the Morning Post continued, is expected to come into operation on August 1, the beginning of a cereal year. It is understood, however, that powers would be sought by the Ministry of Agriculture to impose the levy almost immediately, probably as from April 1.

The newspaper said the British wheat grower would receive a subsidy for every quarter (eight bushels) of wheat sold. The subsidy would be computed on the difference between the price obtained in the open markets and a "basic price" which would be fixed.

It is believed that the "basic price" would be arrived at after consideration of the cost of production plus a reasonable profit to the farmer, and that it would almost certainly be 45 shillings a quarter.

VOTERS WATCH ALL BULLETINS

Elections Not as Important as News From Shanghai Front

Tokyo, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Approximately nine million Japanese voters turned from anxiously watching the latest bulletins of the advance on Shanghai today to vote in the country's general election while government officials prepared to fight their battle before the League of Nations Assembly at Geneva to uphold the Japanese actions in Shanghai and in Manchuria.

The Japanese reply to the League Council was prepared today and probably will be sent to Geneva tomorrow. It was stated authoritatively it would challenge the regularity of the new mandate issued by the twelve neutral members of the Council and contain "some plain speaking" regarding Chinese action pleading for a special session of the League Assembly.

Banks to Always Have Time on Duty

London (By The Canadian Press) In an attempt to secure better protection for bank employees in charge of lonely branches a Bill is being drafted by the Bank Officers' Guild. It is a sequel to the murder of a bank manager in the Clydebank district last summer. Its main provision would be that no bank should permit any single employee to be on the premises alone during business hours, and that no clerk or servant should be in charge of cash or currency while it was in transit outside the bank.

Powers for the enforcement of such provisions would be conferred upon the President of the Board of Trade. The promoters of the Bill maintain that many branch banks at present are still left in the charge of one man only.

Quizzing Arrested Gandhiette

Following the arrest of Mahatma Gandhi in India, his faithful disciples continued the work of "organized disobedience" to British authority and government police were kept busy coping with the unsatisfied campaign. Above, British authorities in Bombay are shown questioning a Mrs. Purshottum and a boy, who were arrested for picketing. It is in women that give most trouble, as the only course open to the police is to release them, there not being enough jail space in the country to house the number arrested daily.

Take Communists To Penitentiary

Toronto, Ont., Feb. 22 (By The Canadian Press)—Their appeal dismissed, eight Communist leaders found guilty of being and acting as members of an unlawful assembly, Saturday were taken to Portsmouth Penitentiary to serve their sentences.

The men are Tim Buck, Tom Ewen a food John Boychuk, Amos T. Hill, Malcolm L. Bruce, Samuel Cohen, Matthew Popovitch and Thomas Cecile. All except Cecile will serve five years while he received a two year term.

The famous Sir Arthur Sullivan had learned at the age of eight to play every wind instrument in the orchestra conducted by his father.

The greatest benefits conferred by carbon dioxide in ice action as a food material for plants.

E. J. BIDWELL KENT RECTOR

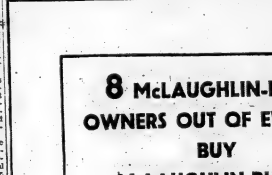
Is Former Bishop of Ontario and Describes Country Parish

(By Thomas T. Champion)
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)
London (By The Canadian Press)—The Rt. Rev. E. J. Bidwell, formerly Bishop of Ontario, is now rector of Sellindge, a rural parish in Kent. He replied in The Manchester Guardian to another correspondent of that paper who had spoken of country rectors who held "a free house and $1500 a year". Rev. Dr. Bidwell asks if it is realized what this means too often to clergymen without private income.

His own vicarage is worth a little more than that sum, but there is a large rambling house with 10 bedrooms, with neither light nor water, large out-houses with stabling for three horses, and about four acres of ground. Doing all the unfilled work himself in the garden it still costs about $300 a year for skilled labor. A small cheap car is a necessity when one is six miles from the station, which means that even one resident domestic cannot be afforded. All this, adds Dr. Bidwell, is in addition to the ordinary duties of one's position. No time left for reading or writing.

"It is not having to do our own work that worries us," continued Rev. Dr. Bidwell. "One got used to that overseas. Only there they were housed in a manner to fit every kind of modern convenience and labor-saving device. It is the utter stupidity of expecting a poor man to live in such a house as I have described which is so exasperating, in which quite unnecessary demands are made upon his time and income. No serious attempt seems to have been made as yet to solve this problem, for permission to sell, as far as most country parsonages are concerned, is a policy pour rire. Nobody wants such houses nowadays.

"Hitherto, all efforts seem to have been directed to increasing the stipends of the clergy, to enable them to meet changed conditions. As far as the country clergy are concerned, this seems to me to be beginning at the wrong end. What is required is a drastic decrease in their liabilities. An income of, say, $1700, and freed from the crushing exactions invested in the present system, would in most cases be quite sufficient for a simple life, lived in a house proportioned to it."



DELIUS' HOUSE TO BE BOUGHT

London (By The Canadian Press) —A proposal is on foot for the purchase of the house at Grez-sur-Loing, near Bradford where Frederick Delius was born and lived during his youth, Delius, who celebrated his 70th birthday recently, has been described by Sir Thomas Beecham as the greatest composer since Wagner. As the whole musical world knows, he has suffered for many years from the double affliction of total blindness and almost complete nervous paralysis, and the serenity and fortitude which he has shown in the face of such adversity have been a source of perpetual wonder and admiration to all who have the privilege of knowing him.

Two years ago he attended the Festival organized in his honor in the Albert Hall by Sir Thomas Beecham. Last September an entire Promenade Concert was devoted by Sir Henry Wood to the works of Delius, and in the same month of another concert of this series his latest work was performed "A Song of Summer," which the composer had been able to give to the world by a system of dictation.

Sharpen tools to prevent dull days.

8 McLAUGHLIN-BUICK OWNERS OUT OF EVERY 10 BUY McLAUGHLIN-BUICKS AGAIN AND AGAIN

"An investment that over 80% insist on renewing is good enough for me".

SAYS a business man: "When I learned that eight out of every ten McLaughlin-Buick owners stick to McLaughlin-Buick, I decided that it was the car for me. When an automobile gives such perfect service that almost every owner buys the same make again—that's surely conclusive proof of satisfaction. And this year especially, with Wizard Control and all the other important improvements, McLaughlin-Buick looks like a sounder investment than ever.

"Add to this the fact that there are four series of McLaughlin-Buick models, covering almost every price class, and I can understand why McLaughlin-Buick sales are leading those of any other eight by three to one."

* * * * *

If you, too, would enjoy complete motoring satisfaction—the pleasure and economy of driving a McLaughlin-Buick can be demonstrated in a few minutes. We'll be glad to place a car at your disposal—call us today!

A GENERAL MOTORS VALUE

PRODUCED IN CANADA

The New McLAUGHLIN-BUICK EIGHTS

J. B. BOYCE

350 FRONT ST. BELLEVILLE

Listen to General Motors' broadcasts of all Maple Leaf Hockey Team's home games from CFRB or CFCA at 9 p.m.

M10-B9

The Dime-a-Dance Girl

By Joan Clayton

Ellen laughed. "You're panting with the same," she jeered. "Did you any chance see Mrs. Clancy you were coming up? She generally opens her door to investigate noises."

That the party with the red nose and the cane got a few past the second floor?" he inquired he reached the landing and ased panting. "Sure, She was so nterested I thought she meant to me on the last lap."

You're lucky she didn't," Ellen ied him with a little giggle. ould have had to carry her, I'm was a break." stood for a moment laugh- at the door of the living room here afternoon sunlight shone ssively on the bodgepodge furre and leveled its rays as well the shabby, worn carpet and fad wall paper. Ellen had thoroughly ed the apartment and folded up ny Sunday papers but she had nged nothing. She felt an ob- determination that Larry stereygosie should see the place as were. Now that he was there, thoroughly at ease as though he en in the home of a millionaire, breathed with relief.

He was so good

Judy and Mike had disappeared Myra was there. She refused urgent invitation to join them the score of some darning she ld do. So Ellen and Larry de- ained alone.

"Your sister's swell," Larry ob- ed.

"Is, isn't she?" Ellen agreed ptly.

"She could see that we wanted be alone; he went on. "I had hat he had no darning to do." was conscious of not wanting e to forget a word of all this. he knew she would remember other what he had said. would have been a little better he had not laughed so, still less was—he had said they wanted be alone.

They giggled when Mrs. Clancy opened the door and peered out at m. Ellen did not speak. That ould have been too embarrassing the lonely neighbor who was friending she was invisible. Then y reached the street where a llection of grimy urchins, their mby clothes already hopelessly ed, scrambled over a shining ra roadster.

"That's a marvelous car," Ellen ebled.

"And you can see of it isn't so ht the moment it looks some- like a human ant hill," he re- ated, adding carelessly, "Doesn't me to me. I wish it did. But I've no use of it till seven."

Larry dug into his pockets and ought forth a handful with a hand- of nickels and dimes. For all e world like a pitcher preparing hurl a fast one, he swung his ht whipping to Ellen to watch. ins sprang from his hand and altered to the street in all direc- s, some of them rolling half the ck away. At once the roadster s abandoned by the shouting tching youngsters who pounced for the elusive coins. Several fist- s had begun by the times Ellen and Larry, laughing helplessly, step d into the empty car and drove

"You'll never be rich if you row away money like that," the ief said after a while.

"Ho! Ho! So you're another one those people who going to tell e things for my own good," he mmented with a sidewise and de- ded glance at her.

"Certainly not!" she assured m as she entered her profile finale ith indifference.

He glanced under his color rose and e wondering who those others re. Certainly this charming, re- ponsible young man needed to told things for his own good, as he referring to Judy or Myra his fiance? Briefly Ellen experi- enced a twist of pain. Then she determined sensibly that no ch speculation was worthy her ttention. For a few hours at ast Larry belonged exclusively to r. She must get what fun she ould from those hours.

"You did tell me that you were or," she ventured.

"That's right. I'm poor man with rich man's habits. Don't you el sorry for me?"

"Can't say that I do exactly."

He laughed and called her hard- rted. Then they were swing- g gally, pleased with each other ith themselves, pleased to be gether, riding in a smooth, luxu- ious car on such a glorious day.

"That's a nice truck," Larry said as they swept out ct Pine street and toward Manhattan.

"I were it last night." Ellen responded innocently. "This is the same one with the jacket added."

"You're a smart little girl, aren't you, Ellen?"

"Girls have to be smart about clothes," Ellen countered, hiding her exultation with the compliment.

"With or without the jacket, that dress is just your ticket," Larry summarized it.

The car slid over Brooklyn bridge Ellen, glancing up, surprised an odd expression on Larry's face. He spoke but the roar of Sunday traffic drowned his voice. Helplessly the girl shook her head.

Lower Manhattan was quieter. Empty office buildings frowned down into empty canyons that on week-days were filled with scurrying stenographers and clerks and brokers and customers' men. Nothing open, not a restaurant, not a drug-store, not a news-stand. A few pedestrians idled along lower Broadway, a few cars idled along the deserted street, but everywhere was the peace of Sunday. Ellen waited for Larry to speak. He had start ed to say something; he had said something on the bridge. His persistent silence disturbed the girl, made her nervous and absurdly anxious.

"Well?" she said at length.

"Well," he repeated after her.

"You said something to me on the bridge but I couldn't hear," she told him a little stiffly.

"So I did," he agreed exasperatingly.

"What was it?"

"Something I hadn't any right to say ,so forget it."

"Oh, for heaven's sake!" she cried in irritation. "You have a right to say anything you want to say to me."

"Do you really mean that?"

"Certainly. Please tell!"

The car slowed; his speech slowed. "I was only thinking," he said lightly, "that I like your dress today a good deal better than the one you wore the first night I met you."

That dress again!

"Most people thought the other one was lovely," Ell-- jus in faint- ly. How she wished she had not forced this issue!

"That's not quite what I was getting at."

Just then he turned a sharp corner and Ellen caught off guard, was literally flung into his arms. She gasped, extricated herself and moved back to her own corner with an uncertain laugh. She hoped the man would laugh too; hoped his attention would have been diverted from the dress. It had not been.

"You know what I was getting at, don't you?" he inquired idly.

"How should I?"

She was determined not to help him.

"Very well then, I'll tell you," he began briskly and in a quicker mood matter of fact. "It's none of my business and I'm rushing in where angels fear to tread and all that but it seems funny to me that--well --" he continued stubbornly after a break, "--that was an expensive dress, wasn't it?"

"This is an expensive car, isn't it?"

"Oh, I see! Meaning that at just this point a young man watches his step?"

"Meaning precisely that!"

Ellen was annoyed, as much with herself as with him. She wanted to be furiously angry. Larry had no right to question her affairs; she could not question him. Her affairs were as sacred as his own as were his affairs. But she could not be really angry; she sulked out of wanting the slender thread that bound them to Judy and Myra. That must mean something. She would not explain.

"I'm sorry, I've no right to be so curious," he apologized im- pectedly and almost as if he were reading her secret thoughts. "I don't know what got into me. Let's drop the subject and talk about the weather or what we're going to do this afternoon."

The subject also failed to satisfy. Ellen was conscious of a certain dis- appointment, bewilderment and disquieting. She would not admit that Larry in his own clumsy way had tried to find out whether or not she was wearing the slender thread that bound them to Judy. She would not explain.

Still the silence

MISSIONARY AT W. HUNTINGDON

Mrs. (Rev.) Simmons is Home From China—Addresses S. S.

West Huntingdon—Mrs. (Rev.) Simmons recently returned missionary from China, was a visitor at the Sunday School and Church on Sunday last. Mrs. Simmons prior to her marriage was Miss L. Kingston and was actively engaged with the work of the then Methodist Church here, by invitation from the Pastor Mrs. Simmons gave a very interesting talk her work in China. Mrs. Simmons and little Peter are guests at Mrs. Wm. Wilson's.

Mr. and Mrs. George Searles spent the week end with relatives at Madoc.

Helen Wright spent Sunday at the Parsonage with Marion Truscott.

Mrs. Bird who has been laid up with the flu was able to attend S.S. and Church on Sunday.

Mr. John Ashley spent the week end with his parents.

Mrs. T. C. Searles has been visiting at the home of her uncle, the Hon. Mr. Cooke, for a week.

Mrs. Alex McCurdy was the teacher at the Junior Adult Class on Sunday in the absence of the regular teacher, Mrs. Truscott, through sickness in the family.

Mrs. A. Wright has recovered from an attack of the mild measles dially greeted at S.S. and Church on Sunday.

Mrs. W. Pilchett very ably presided at the piano on Sunday last in the absence of the regular pianist Miss Pitman.

Mr. George Rupert had to call for the services of his doctor today.

At the Church Special services on Sunday night the choir was taken by the young men who sang two special numbers very acceptably.

A good congregation greeted the Pastor on Sunday night last. His special theme was "The responsibility of parents training their children for the Kingdom," his text was Genesis 7 and 1. "Come thou and all thy house into the Ark."

Mr. Phill Carr taught the Senior Bible Class on Sunday last in the absence of the teacher, Mr. W. Bray through family sickness.

A very unfortunate thing happened last week end when a dog attacked little Ray Johnson and bit him severely in the ear, necessitating medical aid.

Rev. C. S. and Mrs. Reddick of Bloomfield were visitors at Mr. and Mrs. G. Post's on Monday last.

Rev. J. W. Rowland had charge of the Service at the Church on Monday night. The Pastor was called away on a sad mission.

The report has reached this community that Mrs. Bray who underwent a serious operation at Belleville Hospital is doing well and hopes to come home in a few days now.

The good old occasion of Valentine's Day was as usual well observed among pupils at the West Huntingdon Public School on Friday last.

Mrs. Rev. Reddick is visiting at Mrs. W. Wilson's this midweek.

Fred Newcomb who has been wintering at Wheeler Wilson's has work employment on the roads at the north.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Burke with Miss B. Hoisington and Dorothy North attended the special services here on Tuesday night last from Fuller.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Emmerson have settled in their new home at the cross roads at W. Huntingdon. The community extends their welcome to them.

Mr. Cadman, a brother of Mrs. Frank Ashley is seriously ill in the Belleville Hospital.

A body of young men recently converted have pledged their support to the Pastor during the campaign now on.

Mr. Joseph English is still in a convalescing condition and is experiencing some relief and much missed from the services of the Church.

St. Andrew's Presbyterians held a Missionary meeting and concert at Mrs. Thompson's on Thursday last

Mr. Mac Searles purchased the sawing outfit from Mr. Carr and is quite busy sawing wood through the community.

Mrs. Bray was able to leave Belleville Hospital on Friday and is going to Toronto for further treatment immediately.

It is reported that the water test from the mill pond here reveals the presence of typhoid germs, rendering instructions not to use the ice.

Mrs. (Rev) Reddick returned to her home at Bloomfield on Friday last after making a number of visits to old friends, all of whom were glad to welcome her.

Mrs. George Post is visiting friends at Bloomfield.

Mrs. Truscott returned from a week's visit her home in Napanee on Saturday last.

A number of friends from Rawden called on Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Rupert on Friday evening ast.

The last week of Revival Meetings closed on Friday night last, after a very fruitful and profitable time, which was well supported and heartily responded to. They will likely continue indefinitely.

BUGGY HIT, PARTY INJURED

Sarnia, Ont., Feb. 22 (CP) — Mr. and Mrs. James Smith, Plumpton Township, suffered slight injuries Friday night when buggy in which they were riding was struck by an auto driven by Carol Newell, Point Edward.

Before the rise of historical fiction in prose, the epic supplied its place and helped to satisfy man's craving for a knowledge of history.

SCREEN ATTRACTIONS

Present and Prospective

Previews and Reviews of Current Offerings at Belleville Theatres

At The Belle

"TWO KINDS OF WOMEN" IS EXCITING, ROMANTIC DRAMA

Rose Dresselyan Tonight.

It was in "Fast and Loose," a gay musical comedy produced by Paramount about one year ago, that Miriam Hopkins, blond star of the New York stage, made her initial screen appearance. Since then she has created three roles which motion picture audiences have acclaimed. She was the tragic cabaret entertainer, Rosie Degan, in "Twenty Four Hours." She was the dowdy gullcross who eventually became conscious of her charms and made Maurice Chevalier sit up and take notice in "The Smiling Lieutenant." And more recently she portrayed the beautiful street waif bounded by the Hendish Hyde in "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde."

Today as the result of her versatile performances in these pictures, Miriam Hopkins gives every promise of becoming one of the most popular of Paramount's stars. She has youth, beauty, a deep sense of dramatic, and a great feeling for comedy. She has all the qualities that appeal to the feminine and masculine mind.

In her newest picture "Two Kinds of Women", in which she shares starring honors with Phillips Holmes and the Belle Theatre, Miriam Hopkins undoubtedly is given the best role of her career. In "Two Kinds of Women" she has the chance to show emotion and contrast, to be sparkling, gay and witty one minute, and serious, straight for ward and believable the next. In short "Two Kinds of Women" is the one picture Miss Hopkins has been waiting for. It is as perfectly suited to Miriam Hopkins as Miriam Hopkins is to it. Which ought to satisfy everyone.

"Two Kinds of Women" is the story of a young girl who arrives in New York from the mid west and it falls in love with a wealthy, reckless ne'er do well who, although tied up with another woman, falls deeply in love with Miriam. What happens when Miriam innocently works herself into a scandal, thereby threatening the career of her politically ambitious father, contributes importantly to the ups and downs of "Two Kinds of Women". You can be sure, too, that once in love Miriam is true she even though she is forced to go back with her reputation and happiness. There is a climax of surpassing charm which brings "Two Kinds of Women" to an appropriate and satisfying end.

In addition to Miriam Hopkins and Phillips Holmes, who plays the boy Miriam loves, the cast includes Irving Pichel, Wm. Gibson, Beatrice Edwin, Vivienne Osborne and Stanley Fields.

At The Capitol

"STREET SCENE" AT THE CAPITOL THEATRE

In these columns we can rarely use the word masterpiece in connection with "Street Scene", now playing at the Capitol Theatre. No critic of drama this symphony of a street in any city offers unlimited material; and it is questionable whether there is a single soul, having seen "Street Scene", who was not entranced.

The story is life, ungilded, natural and real, a story of what is possibly happening at this very moment somewhere or other. Who has not gossiped, maliciously or otherwise, some time in his or her life? Who has not let a small seed of distrust grow into a veritable harvest of suspicion, whether it be in matters of small or great importance, and in that suspicion, mentally committed murder?

"Street Scene", as the title suggests, all takes place in a street, any street, and opens with the close of day. The heat is terrible, and the residents of the block find it difficult to seek relief from the humidity. Lolling in front of a tenement house we see some of the tenants endeavoring to obtain the discomfort in happy gossip, and the particular victim of their malice is a neighbor, the mother of a grown daughter and a young son, a misunderstood mother, who, in her husband's suspicious and jealous negligence, has sought an outlet to her miserable loneliness by an innuendo with a 'misunderstood' married man. His visits during her husband's absence have started tongues wagging, and stories have begun to reach the ears of those immediately concerned, with the result that the suspicious husband now finds himself with grounds for his jealousy.

His daughter, loved by a young Jewish boy in the tenement, knows of her mother's intrigue, but fully understands and champions her mother, as does the young brother even to the limits of fisticuffs.

What can be the inevitable result to such a tangle other than murder? What husband will stand for infidelity, particularly when gossip goads him to drink, and drink goads him to commit the extreme crime?

But, the story is almost negligible when compared with the masterly directing King Vidor has put into "Street Scene". It is this directing that gives characters of the dramas together with the most natural dialogue in the whole wide world which makes "Street Scene" the most outstanding picture of a decade. The dialogue and story won for its author, Elmer Rice, the coveted Pulitzer prize, a prize which is awarded for a work of a genius only.

It is only left for me to say, "See Street Scene". It is impossible to either waste time or money by doing so.

In addition, the program includes "Poodlights", a very clever revue, and the Pathe News which shows some interesting shots of the Sino-Japanese conflict in Shanghai and the sinking of the M-2 submarine in England.

This program ends on Tuesday night.

WM. GIBBENS EDITOR, DIES

Owner and Publisher of Cornwall Standard For Many Years

Brockville, Ont., Feb. 22 (By The Canadian Press—William Gibbens, editor and proprietor of the Cornwall Standard newspaper for many years, died on Saturday morning after a short illness. Born in London, England, in 1853, he was educated in that country and came to Canada in 1869, first engaging in commercial work and becoming the first local reporter of the Brockville Evening Recorder in 1870. Later he served as city editor of the Times Citizen, and on the staffs of The Rapid City Banner Standard and the Minnedosa, Thune, Manitoba newspapers. In Ottawa he was managing editor of the Citizen for four years. Since then he had been editor and publisher of the Cornwall Standard and since 1907, its proprietor. He was married to Miss Florence S. Culbert, Lindsay, Ont. The funeral will be held at Cornwall Monday afternoon.

William Collier, Jr., feature player in "Street Scene," the Pulitzer prize drama now playing at the Capitol Theatre.

Alfred Lunt and Lynne Fontanne, in the delightful comedy-drama, "The Guardsman," opening at the Belle, Wednesday.

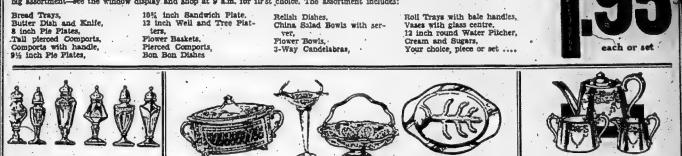
Ailine dyes shoes made of coal tar, now are available in more than 2,000 different colors.

THE CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES LIMITED

Store Hours—Open 9 a.m. Close 6 p.m. Saturday—Open 9 a.m. Close 9.30 p.m.

BROADCAST SALE OF PLATEDWARE

Broadcast Sale means the biggest value-giving event perhaps of the season in the goods advertised. When a Broadcast Sale is announced it means Hurry to share in the big savings!! Come early Tuesday for these unusual values in silver-plated ware!



A Big Group of Silverplated Pieces

In a Feature Offering at a Low Price—

1.95 each or set

Every piece is new—specially purchased from noted makers for this feature Broadcast Sale offering! It's the opportunity of the season to buy, for wedding or anniversary gifts, for bridge prizes or for your own use at unusual savings! Just look at the big assortment—see the window display and shop at 9 a.m. for first choice. The assortment includes:

Bread Trays,
Butter Dish and Knife,
8 inch Pie Plates,
2nd Pierced Compports,
Comports with handle,
9½ Inch Pie Plates,
10½ inch Sandwich Plate,
12 inch Well and Tree Platters,
Flower Baskets,
Pierced Comports,
Bon Bon Dishes
Relish Dishes,
China Bowls with server,
Flower Bowls,
3-Way Candelabras,
Roll Trays with sale handles,
Vases with glass centre,
12 inch round Water Pitcher,
Cream and Sugars,
Your choice, piece or set ....

Salt and Pepper Shakers

Sale Price 59c

Be early for this offering! Silverplated salt and pepper shakers in a choice of designs. Put up in a neat box. Broadcast Sale Special, pair 59c

3 Piece Tea Set

Sale Price 5.95

Remarkably good value! English design 3 piece tea set with gilt lined sugar and cream. Bright silver-plated with hand engraved decoration. Sale price 5.95

Another Big Group at 3.95

Handsome pieces at a decidedly low price! All new and specially purchased—note the assortment—come early for first choice:

Casseroles, 9 inch Comport, Flower Baskets, Water Pitchers, Muffin Dishes, 18 inch Serving Trays, 16 inch Well and Tree Platters, 11 inch Flower Basket, Hot Water Jugs. Your choice, each .....

What's New!

If you have a problem regarding styles, or about things you need for your home, your family or yourself, write to Toronto Correspondent "I", the C.D.S.

Have you seen the new silk "mesh mitts?" I saw them for the first time today and they would look "just the thing" with these soft, ruffly, flowered chiffon evening dresses you see so often nowadays.

You can buy them in either plain or patterned mesh—16-button length —and I believe you get them in eggshell and white. Only $1 a pair, too!

Specials! Tuesday

Cotton Doris Prints, yard

Specially Priced, Tuesday 22c

Fine quality cotton print in very smart designs and color combinations. The colors are TUBFAST, blue, green, rose, yellow, mauve, red, grey, orange etc. Suitable for women's and children's wear. Width 36 inches. Special, yard .....

Good-Wearing

English Bath Towels

The famous Christie make—of strong, firm cotton yarns—very soft and absorbent. Fringed and style of design. 20"x40". A rousing special, Tuesday, pair 49c

—main floor right rear

Dainty Lunch Sets

Dainty lunch sets that are woven from all linen or linen and rayon mixtures—extremely serviceable as well as being smart looking. In damask weave—choice of blue, gold or rose. In assorted patterns. Sets of 1 cloth, 45" square and 4 serviettes to match. Special value, set 4.95

—main floor right rear

Irish Linen Breakfast Sets

Irish manufacture—these smart looking linen breakfast sets —made of strong, good wearing yarns—and woven closely and firmly. White with blue, green or gold borders. Set consists of 1 cloth, size 52"x52", 4 serviettes, 1 apron, and 2 glass towels. Special, the set 1.00

—main floor right rear

Half Price Sale of

Lovely Madeira Linens

Exquisite pieces of real madeira linen in a half price clearance sale—lovely quality—now white in a splendid assortment of hand-worked cloths, tea cloths, five o'clocks, doylies, tray cloths, runners, cloths, and towels. Reg. 10c to $3.95. Clearing at half price. Special ..... 9c to 2.95

—main floor right rear

CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES LIMITED

MARMORA GIRL GUIDES MEET

Captain Mrs F. S. Pearce in Charge of Evening's Activities

Marmora—The weekly meeting of the 1st Company of Marmora Girl Guides was held in the White Hall on Monday evening. Captain Mrs F. S. Pearce opened the meeting with prayer and took the inspection which was pronounced fair. As the Guides proceeded to patrol corners, roll call was taken, sowing the number present to be twenty-nine. A few games were played and a short sing-song was followed by a period of pencil business, and the meeting concluded with the singing of Taps.

Marmora defeated Havelock on Wednesday night on Marmora rink by a score of 8-3. The game was ably handled by Referee Jack Brady of Marmora.

Mr. M. Flimlgan visited in Belleville on Sunday.

Rev. Father Keeley is visiting his brother at Timmins.

Miss Mary Lumsden has returned from a visit in Peterboro.

A meeting of the C.W.L. was held at the home of Mrs. S. McWilliams on Wednesday evening.

Miss Agnes Keene of Belleville is visiting with relatives here for a few days.

Mrs. J. Peever of Maynooth is a guest of Mrs. Wesley Grant.

Mr. and Mrs. O. McInroy of West Huntingdon spent Tuesday at the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Campion.

Mr. Harry Lovibond of Stirling spent Thursday in town.

Mr. Wade of Madoc was in Marmora on Thursday.

CHICKEN THIEVES VISIT DISTRICT

Mr. J. Lowery, Halloway, Robbed of Forty Fowl

Holloway—Sneak thieves visited this locality on Wednesday night of this week, relieving Mr. J. Lowery of over forty of his largest Plymouth Rock fowl.

The Women's Institute held a box social in the Turner School House on Friday night of last week. These wasn't as large a crowd as there usually had been in years past, owing perhaps to strenuous times.

Mr. C. Cadman is still convalescent in the Belleville hospital after undergoing an operation on Saturday last.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Garrison of Bayside and nephew spent Tuesday last with the former's daughter, Mrs. H. Townsend.

The W.M.S. held their regular monthly meeting and dinner at the Church on Wednesday of this week with a fair attendance.

Mrs. A. Lowery is spending the past week with her niece Mrs. O. Goodfellow near Latta.

Mr. O. Phillips had a bee one day last week, moving to his farm on the 3rd concession of Sidney near Trenton.

Mrs. P. Eggleton is entertaining her sister and husband from Toronto.

The fry resulting from some 31,000,000 Atlantic salmon eggs collected last fall by the Fish Culture branch of the Dominion Department of Fisheries will be distributed in suitable streams this year.

Most of the great Governments of the world proclaimed equal advantage to man and woman during and after the World War.

PAPER DISPUTE ENDED FOR TIME

Merger of Canuroe-Rothamere Papers Effected in Bristol

(By Thomas T. Champion)

(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London (By The Canadian Press) —A series of newspaper mergers just announced to take place in Newcastle, Bristol, and Derby brings to an end, for a time at least, the intensive competition started several years ago between Lord Canuroe and Lord Rothermere. Allied Newspapers Ltd., controlled by Lord Canuroe, is to take over the Newcastle Evening World from Northcliffe Newspapers, controlled by Lord Rothermere. Similarly, Northcliffe Newspapers will incorporate The Bristol Evening Times and Echo in the Bristol Evening World and the Derby Daily Express in the Derby Daily Telegraph. These changes, it is stated, "are rendered inevitable by the high and increasing cost of production, particularly wages, which remain far above pre-war level."

Three years ago Lord Rothermere inaugurated an ambitious scheme to establish entirely new evening papers in several large centres outside London. No centre was spared on the first two ventures in Newcastle and Bristol, the stakes offered even for comparatively humble workers in the news and editorial departments being of an extravagant liberal character.

Sheffield was to have been the third city for the establishment of a new evening paper. The building was actually erected, and then the rival newspaper magnates intervened upon a truce. The building at Sheffield was put upon the market, and Lord Rothermere left this field to Lord Canuroe. The Berry group of which Lord Canuroe is the head now control all the daily newspapers published in Sheffield. They have long had a controlling interest in the Sheffield Telegraph, and recently acquired the Sheffield Independent from the Starmer Company.

The mergers now announced in Newcastle, Bristol, and Derby will naturally entail a serious loss of employment to workers in the newspaper field.

We no thinge because they see light to our eyes. Light like root visible; it is the object mined by the light that is seen.

THE WEATHER
Northerly winds fair and cold today and most of Wednesday, then moderating.

The Ontario Intelligencer

Ten Pages

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, TUESDAY, FEBRUARY 23, 1932.

CHINESE ABLE TO HOLD OUT, JAPAN ADMITS

REIGN OF TERROR IS FOUND IN SHAMBLES AT SHANGHAI

ONSLAUGHT IS BIG FAILURE

Correspondent Depicts Scene of Devastation After Battle

BATTLE RENEWED

Japanese Admit Attack Upon Kiangwan Fails to Dislodge

By MORRIS J. HARRIS
(Copyright Canadian Press)

Shanghai, Feb. 23.—I visited the no-man's land north of the village of Kiangwan today, where most of the heavy fighting has taken place during the last two or three days, and found there the marks of a reign of terror.

In the middle of the wartorn area I saw an old Chinese woman sitting in an open field, weeping and wringing her hands, ignorant of all but the wreck and destruction of what was going on about her and entirely helpless to protect herself.

Some distance to the right a Japanese soldier appeared, in full kit, was looking, followed by several more, shortly behind. The time limit ending with his rifle, aimed at the woman and fired.

Woman Weeps

He missed. The woman continued to weep, her face buried in her hands, and the riflemen leisurely aimed his gun again and fired. This time he fired with deadly accuracy. His bullet sent the helpless victim into eternity and in the meantime his comrades pushed forward.

At 4 o'clock the same Japanese sniper was bringing out the dead and wounded. A group passed every few minutes. Half of the forms on the stretcher appeared only were dead. In the meantime other Japanese bands were laying waste any remaining property within the area.

See Two Dead

Large numbers of Chinese dead could be seen before the burning ruins of what had been their home. I saw ten Chinese dead piled up beside a dirt path. Machine bullets revealed the hands of all of them were bound behind their backs.

I passed the burning ruins of the home of a peasant. The fire had burned down almost to the ground. Lying in front of it were the bodies of an old man and woman, apparently its former occupants. Farther on I passed another burning homesite. In front of it lay scattered five dead Chinese, including one woman.

Machine Denial

Japanese Consular officials denied today the accuracy of a statement printed in the United States owned Evening Post-Mercury under the signature of Frank J. Mackey, managing editor, saying he saw Japanese snipers killing Chinese men, women and children at the International Race Club.

The consular officials said the race club area had been under fire for two days and that it was not likely any Chinese civilians were in the vicinity during Japanese military operations, before launching their attack, warned the civilians to depart, they said.

They added they had no knowledge of any such incidents as matters, they explained, were entirely in the hands of the military.

Something to Happen

When the gunfire subsided as night closed down, the city waited with tense expectation, certain that "something was going to happen."

During the day's fighting the only change in the position of the contending armies was a shift of the Japanese right flank about 1,000 yards westward in the Kiangwan sector.

The attack on the village of Kiangwan was still a wide bulge around the eastern side of the village, and the nearby settlement of Miaohung then was still an object of dispute.

Terrain Heavy

Japanese artillery and trench mortars were in action during most of the day but the terrain was too soggy for the tanks.

The day began with a vicious assault by the Japanese right flank on the Chinese positions northwest of Kiangwan, but the defenders only wavered slightly under the shock, then held against everything the enemy could send. At the Japanese headquarters it was admitted the wedge had advanced scarcely at all.

Wrecking, farther down the Whangpoo river, was quiet all day. Even the Chinese field guns which had been blazing away at Japanese warships were silent.

Tokyo, Feb. 22.—Declaring that China in the past, by common consent, has been treated as an organized state, the Japanese note to the powers said that "fictious cannot last forever nor can they be tolerated when they become grave sources of practical danger."

"The time has inevitably come," the reply added, "when realities, rather than fictions, must be reckoned with. If Japan had no interests save in name it might be possible to continue indefinitely respecting the fiction that the region is occupied by 'an organized people.' Japan, however, has enormous interests there and it is impossible longer to treat the Chats in China as if it were order.

"The Japanese government does not pretend it is easy to work out the implications and consequences of this situation. It is not easy, but it is necessary. We must face the facts, and the fundamental fact is that there is no unified control in China and no authority entitled to claim entire control."

In conclusion, the government repudiated what it called the "stigma" which the world is attempting to attach to Japan of favoring or desiring war.

Shanghai, Feb. 22 (AP)—Reliable Chinese sources today placed the Chinese casualties in yesterday's terrific fighting northwest of Kiangwan at 2,000 killed and wounded.

Two hundred beds in an emergency hospital opened here on Sunday were filled in a few hours with men badly mutilated by shrapnel bursts. All the other hospitals were crowded.

Shanghai, Feb. 23.—As a result of the continued intermittent failing of shells from the Chapei front within the Hongkew portion of the settlement, in which most of the Japanese residents live, the Japanese Residents Association passed a resolution this afternoon advising all their women and children Nationals to evacuate the city and return to Japan. The Japanese authorities immediately made arrangements for the transportation of those who still remain here.

Tokyo, Feb. 22.—General Uyeda's slow progress against the Chinese 19th army was disquieting enough in itself, Japanese officials said, but much more alarming were reported reactions of Chiang Kai-Shek's well trained army were arriving in the battle zone.

Shanghai, Wednesday, Feb. 24 (AP)—Japanese headquarters admitted early this morning that the terrific onslaught against Kiangwan had failed to dislodge the Chinese defenders and that it appeared the Chinese were capable of holding out for a long time.

Facing Reality, Not Fiction Says Japan

Chinese Temple of Refuge Used As Headquarters

Shanghai, Feb. 23 (AP)—While stray bullets spattered against its walls and shells thundered in the vicinity, a silk-spindled Chinese temple with the words "order and safety" inscribed over its entrance became the military headquarters of Lieutenant General Kenkichi Uyeda, Japanese commander, tonight.

Japanese troops spent the day digging trenches and dragging around the building. Two anti-aircraft guns were set up within one hundred yards of it, indicating the Japanese feared the possibility of a Chinese air attack.

ANNIVERSARY OF RED ARMY IS OBSERVED

Columns of Space Used to Reiterate Peace-ful Intentions

BUNTING FLOWS

Support Theory France is Sponsoring Anti-Soviet Aggression

By STANLEY P. RICHARDSON

Moscow, Feb. 23 (AP)—Red flags floated from nearly every building in Soviet Russia today as the country commemorated the 14th anniversary of the organization of the Red army.

Columns of newspaper space were devoted to reiterating the country's peaceful intentions.

A warning was added that the Soviets must be prepared for "coming imperialistic attacks." The day was not a holiday and no formal ceremonies were held in the Red Square in Moscow as on the 1st of May, Day and November 7, but the people were reminded of the day's significance not only by the flags and the bunting but by the screaming headlines, pictures of Stalin and caustic editorial comment on the progress of the disarmament conference in the newspapers.

The comment on the disarmament conference was coupled with reference to the conference being held simultaneously with "undeclared" war in the Far East.

The Soviet Militant, the houses the revolutionary war council was adorned with great lights of flame which with vari-colored electric lights, formed a gigantic figure 14, providing a splash of color against the adjacent snow-capped roofs.

Parades Reviewed by Soldiers.

Theatres were thrown open to all soldiers and gigantic demonstration of a military motif provided the theme for most of the entertainment.

The newspaper Pravada in its leading article deplored the "systematic refusal of the capitalistic countries of the Soviet disarmament proposals at the same time as they are the proof of the peaceful policy of the Soviet Union. It is well known that the government of Czar Nicholas would have declared war on consumption by Japan of the chief centres of Manchuria. "The Soviet government, however, the Pravada article said, "proposed a non-aggression pact to Japan and it is no fault of ours if it is unrealized thus far. The paper added that considerable space is supporting a theory held here that France is sponsoring anti-Soviets aggression.

"But no provocation," it continued, "can stir either the nerves or the policy of peace, although we must continue unremittingly to arm. The best guarantee of safety for our country in its building of socialism. By strengthening their armies, imperialist countries are trying to claim war. We answer this menace by strengthening the Red army."

Air Mail Assists Rancher's Difficulties

Perth, Australia, Feb. 23.—(By AP)—Far out in northwest Australia, a rancher broke his wooden leg, with no one within a hundred miles to repair it.

He solved his problem by airmailing the broken pin to Perth, within 72 hours it caught the return plane, all ready to go.

Fix Armed Strength of Nation by Population Area Nature of States

Chinese Proposals For Limitation of Armaments Made to Conference in United Form — South African Views Are Aired

By P. L. LISHEY, Jr.

Geneva, Feb. 23 (AP)—China submitted her proposals for limitation of armaments to the world disarmament conference in published form today.

The proposals suggested that armed national forces of the various countries be fixed according to the extent of territory in each country, its population, the length and nature of its frontiers, its facilities for land, sea, and aerial communications, its degree of security against external aggression, and its national resources.

Most of the day's session was given over to hearing the proposals of representatives of several South and Central American Countries. Bolivia's representative, Costa du Rels cited the proposed non-aggression pact between Bolivia and Paraguay as an example of what might be done to eliminate war.

The proposal Costa du Rels, he told delegates, is now under consideration by a mixed commission. "We are hopeful it will reach a definite settlement of our differences," he said.

Costa du Rels, Guatemalan delegate, cited the Central American convention of 1923 for limitation of armaments as an example of what could be done. This agreement, supported by five Central American States, has proved a sure guarantee of peace in Central America.

CUT BUILDING OF HIGHWAYS

Province to Hold Maintenance at Very Minimum

Toronto, Ont., Feb. 23 (CP) — While Ontario must preserve its road system, every effort must be made to accomplish this aim as inexpensively as possible, declared Hon. Leopold Macaulay, Minister of Highways, at the conference of county road representatives with the government today.

The Province had an investment of $220,000,000 in Kings Highways and County Roads, the minister declared, and this investment must be conserved. The highway system was of immense value to every person in the province, and must be kept adequate.

This year, the province had spent $15,000,000 for the King's Highway system, while $5,000,000 had been spent on $12,000,000 on county roads, he said. Ontario had to pay only 22,000,000 of that amount. Thus no province in Canada was paying a fair share of all highways expenditure.

There would be a greatly reduced programme of construction this year, the Government endeavor to hold maintenances to a minimum. Last year $600,000 had been saved on maintenance contracts.

Time to Build

The Government did not propose to curtail construction entirely, he declared, for many counties which had not completed construction during the boom times were in a position to receive grants in aid. He also pointed out, had no debenture debt while others owed very little money. They were ready to go ahead with anything for the Province by proceeding now that material was cheaper and the work was needed.

Representatives from all parts of the Province attended the conference, including Wardens, Reeves and officials of Hastings, Wentworth, Carelton, Wellington, Grey, Victoria, Lincoln and Lambton counties all spoke on a variety of subjects dealing with highway finances and classifications.

LANDING GEAR IS DAMAGED

Record Flight is Held up For Some Days at Boston

Boston, Mass., Feb. 23—Nat C. Browne, former army flyer, and Edward Muldowney, who took off today from Old Orchard Beach, Me., on a projected non-stop flight to Buenos Aires, landed their plane, the Cumberland, at the East Boston airport two hours later because of engine trouble.

Browne said he believed the landing gear and the cylinder could be repaired within a few days and that he was determined to make another try.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 23—The unmuzzled Cumberland Comet, the plane which took off from Old Orchard, Me., today with Nat Browne and Edward Muldowney, reported backer of the flight, was seated in the fuselage in back of the plane's single wing Muldowney was separated from Browne in the plane by gasoline tanks and other supplies but the men have a telephone under which may be passed by Browne in the pilot's seat to Muldowney in the rear. An opening has been cut in the fuselage to provide an entrance and exit for Muldowney. In this way Browne, experienced flyer, can, necessary, take over the controls.

Both men are aware the plane had been removed and restitched so that Browne could drop it as a last resort if he was unable to find his way.

The plane has two small wheels inside the fuselage, which Browne can drop through slits in the fabric cover when he wishes to land.

WILL OPPOSE REPUDIATION

French Premier Says That Govt Will Look on Adjustment

Paris, Feb. 23 (AP)—Premier Andre Tardieu, in his first ministerial declaration today before the Chamber of the new cabinet, told the Chamber of Deputies today that with regard to reparations his government will delay is to co-operate in negotiations looking toward adjustment, but to oppose repudiation of existing agreements.

As for disarmament, said he, the new cabinet is in full agreement with its predecessor that security must precede reduction.

MOVIE DIRECTOR KILLED

Hollywood, Calif., Feb. 23—Struck down by an automobile as he was crossing Hollywood boulevard, Geo. McFarlane, 53, screen character actor and former director, died last night from his injuries. The driver of the car, Harold Davis, was not held.

ST. GODDARD WINS 2ND LAP

The Pas Musher Makes Every Post a Winning One

Quebec. Que. Feb. 23 (CP)—Emile St. Goddard of The Pas, Manitoba today's lap of the Eastern International Dog Sled Derby, with an elapsed time for the 30 5-8 mile journey of 3.07, 40 minutes ahead of Leonhard Sepulis, of Alaska, who got in around 4 p.m. Sherry Russell, driver of yesterday's initial lap, came third with a window of 4.01.35, and Jean Girard of Quebec, fourth, with 3.56.46. Frank Carter, of Hertbier, Que., was fifth in fifth place, his time being 4.01.35.

PARKS ACROSS BORDER.

WASHINGTON, D.C., February 23.—(AP)—A bill to link Glacier National Park with Waterton Park across the Canadian border in an international Peace Park was reported favorably today by the Committee on Public Lands of Representatives Public Lands Committee.

Two Farmers Killed When Truck Crashes C. P. Flier

Terrific Crash Near Toronto, Train Roars on Half a Mile

SHEEP SURVIVE

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 23.—(By the Canadian Press) — Two men were instantly killed today when their light truck collided with the Toronto-Hamilton-Buffalo Limited flier at Coxwelle crossing, about 15 miles east of Toronto. The driver of the car was identified as Edmund Webber and his companion as Frederick Cowan. Both were farmers and livestock men of Lisowel.

The truck and men were carried a considerable distance on the fender of the locomotive before the train was brought to a standstill. The men were badly crushed and were dead when taken from the wreckage.

One Sheep Survives

Four sheep and a basket of dressed fowl were in the back of the truck at the time of the accident and were scattered along the ditch. Only survivor of the truck's occupants was a sheep. The animal was trying in the ditch, 20 feet from its crossing with its hind leg broken in several places.

An official statement issued by the Canadian Pacific Railway stated the engine bell was ringing continuously as the locomotive approached and that the wig-wag signal was in order. Visibility was good, it was stated.

Conductor on the train and J. Cochrane also of Toronto, the engineer. The train passed through Lawrence Station at 7.31 a.m.

Terrific Crash.

"It was a terrific crash," said an eyewitness. "The train roared on for a half a mile with the front end of the engine, Sheep and poultry scattered and men were killed.

Moore was married and leaves a widow and two children. Webber, a neighbor of Moore's also was married, and leaves four children. The bodies were taken to Port Credit Morgue. Coroner A. B. Sutton investigated.

This was the first fatal accident to occur at the crossing in over five years. Some years ago an elderly couple driving to Toronto, early in the evening, were instantly killed by a westbound train.

Just an Adventure as Aviatrix Takes Off in Tiny Plane

London, Feb. 23 (AP)—Jrane Sewell, 21, British aviatrix, left quietly from the Gatwick aerodrome at Surrey yesterday in a tiny plane on a flight to visit friends in Trans Jordania. The Daily Herald said today.

She was alone and unafraid, The Herald said, and carried a trunk, two pigs and a hat box in the p'ane. She learned to fly two years ago, but had never ventured outside of England before.

Reparation Problem is Chief for Conference

Britain is Favorable to Budgetary Limitation of Arms

PEACE AIM

Jeopardizing of League Feared By Far-Eastern Situation

By GEORGE HAMBLETON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, Feb. 23 — Rt. Hon. Sir John Simon, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, left London this afternoon for Geneva, where an important series of conversations is expected to take place. In authoritative British circles the questions and the Far East are all reparations, disarmament gained as approaching a critical stage.

The British viewpoint may be summed up thus:

(1) While reparations and interallied war debts are connected, the most immediate need is a satisfactory arrangement on reparations between the European nations concern. It is felt that if the reparations situation can be cleaned up—which may mean substantial modifications in the present situation—then greater consideration is likely to be secured on the question of war debts due to the United States.

Cross Check.

(2) In committee discussions of disarmament that are approaching, the British representatives are understood to be intending to favor examination of the method of budgetary limitation of armaments as offering a valuable cross-check.

(3) In regard to the Far East, the British aim is to remain in a position where her good offices for peace can be made available at the earliest possible moment, and in the most effective manner. In British circles the situation at Shanghai is frankly regarded as likely—unless peace can be restored—to jeopardize both the application of the principles of the League and the value of the League's machinery.

Before leaving, Sir John, it is understood, received a message from Aristo Tardieu, new French Premier, saying that M. Tardieu expected to be in Geneva on Wednesday. Premier Tardieu remains head of the French delegation to the world disarmament conference.

S. E. TURPIN IS SUIT WINNER IN FISH DEAL

Judge Deroche Gives Plaintiff $207.06 and Costs in Judgment

EVIDENCE IN CASE

Judgment in Brighton Case Over Contract on Fish Catch

Before His Honor Judge Deroche the case of Turpin vs. The Atlantic and Pacific Packing Company Incorporated was heard in the County Court last week. His Honor reserved judgment at the time of the trial and handed down his verdict yesterday afternoon.

According to the evidence at the case, S. E. Turpin, of Brighton, the plaintiff, signed a contract with the Atlantic Fisheries, Limited, of which Mr. Ben Miller was representative. Mr. Miller informed the plaintiff that he was also the representative of the Atlantic and Pacific Packing Company and both companies with whom Turpin called for the defendant to pay the plaintiff 10 cents a pound for cisco and herring.

Compromise

When Turpin delivered the fish he was asked to accept 5 cents a pound, refused to do so, but on pain, however, agreed to compromise by accepting 8 cents a pound for herring but wanted the contract or 10 cents a pound for ciscoes is remain as contracted.

The defendants held that the fish delivered by Turpin were not to be smoked but as nothing had been said in the contract in regard to the smoking qualities of the fish this evidence was over-ruled. The plaintiff produced letters and telegrams stating that the defendant had received and accepted some of Turpin's fish.

In handing down his decision His Honor held "Judgment therefore will be entered for the plaintiff in the amount of $207.06 and costs." Mr. Wills, A. Ponton, K.C., appeared for the plaintiff, while Mr. H. S. Rose-Bell, of Toronto, appeared for the defendant.

WEATHER

Meteorological Office, Toronto, Ont., Feb. 23.—Synopsis:—Pressure is high from Mackenzie Valley eastward over the Great Lakes and middle states. A deep low area is centred over the Aleutian Islands Coast and anotner, 29.92 inches is Brecklinn Island, covers the Davis Straits. The weather is mostly fair and cold from Manitoba to Maritime Provinces.

Lake Superior—Fair and cold.

Upper Lakes—Fair and cold but quite so cold, with local snowflurries.

Western Provinces—Partly cloudy and cold with local light snow and snowflurries. Wednesday — Mostly fair and cold.

Canadian Butter Export to U. S. is Largest Since 1924

Milk and Cream Almost at Vanishing Point in 1931

CHEESE FALLS

Washington, D.C., Feb. 23 (By The Canadian Press)—While exports of Canadian milk and cream to the United States decreased almost the point of vanishing during 1931, and exports of cheese fell off, the export of butter was the largest since 1924 according to a report of the Department of Agriculture.

Imports to the United States of butter from Canada mounted to 864,231 pounds—or 35 per cent of the total imports. New Zealand supplied a big part in her exports for the past four years supplied 40 per cent.

Imports of cheese, mostly of the cheddar type, from Canada have fallen off from 13,267,838 pounds in 1927 to 1,211,611 pounds in 1931.

The total value of dairy products imported into the United States has declined since 1927 from $38,-944,435 to $15,757,834.

Exports of Canadian exports of dairy products to the United States for the years ended March 31:

Cream 1927—4,540,000, 1930—1,-530,000, 1931—77,877 gallons.

Milk, 1927—4,591,000, 1930—1,837,-000, 1931—611,316 gallons.

Condensed milk, 1927—1,233,000, 1930—599,836, 1931—307 pounds.

Sweetened, 1927—31,856, 1930—599,836, 1931—307 pounds.

Milkpowder, 1927—3,836,00, 1930—1,292,000, 1931—788,887 pounds.

Cream Powder;

Malted Milk, 1927—885,165, 1930—366,168, 1931—2,360.

Butter, 1927—392,172, 1930—188,-366, 1931—864,231 (increase).

Cheese, 1927—13,267,000, 1930—3,-143,000, 1931—1,211,000.

Coming Events

THE CHURCH HELP SOCIETY of John Street United Church, are holding an afternoon tea and sale of home cooking at the home of Mrs. Newton Thompson, 10 Bridge St. East, on Wednesday, Feb. 24th. Admission 25c. 22-18

RESERVE MONDAY, FEB. 29TH. Leap Year dance, Johnstown Academy. Auspices Quinte Chapter 36 O.E.S. Round and square dancing 9 to 1. Novelties, door prize. $1.00 couple. 723-18

MR. H. J. MOORE, SECRETARY of International Peace Gardens, will lecture in the Collegiate Auditorium Tuesday evening, Feb. 23rd, 8 p.m. Admission free. 721-28

City and District News

COLLEGIATE FLAGS AT HALF MAST

As a token of respect to the late Lt. Col. Hon. Colin Campbell, who was recently appointed by the Board of Education to a place on the Technical committee of the Collegiate Institute and Technical School, the flag on that institution is flying at half mast.

ORANGE LODGE HOLDS EUCHRE

At a regular monthly euchre held by the Orange Lodge of Belleville, a rather large gathering was in evidence last evening. Cards were played and enjoyed from 8 until 10 p.m., while dancing till 1 a.m. was indulged in to the music of Sprague's Orchestra.

One of the largest collection of euchre players ever seen in Belleville sat down and the prize winners were as follows: ladies' first—Mrs. Hadley; second, Miss Sprague; third, Mrs. C. Smith; gentlemen, first Mr. Ainsley; second Mr. Turner; third, Mr. Mercover. The consolation prize was won by Miss M. Smith, while the door prize was won by Mr. C. Johnson. At the conclusion of the cards and games, refreshments were served before the dancing commenced.

BID GOODBYE TO MR. AND MRS. EASTON

A pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Easton, Ann street, when a number of their friends and members of the L.O.L. No. 209, L.O.L. gathered together to wish Mr. Easton and happy future of the day, upon the occasion of his birthday last evening. During the evening a suitable gift were answered upon Mr. and Mrs. Easton by appreciation of the great work which they had accomplished in both lodge and home circles.

It was with regret, that Mr. Easton announced that he and family moved to Toronto by his employers as he could not bear to leave such a large circle of friends in Belleville. The evening was spent in cards and a very delicious lunch was served. The many friends present wished both Mr. and Mrs. Easton every success in their new home and surroundings in the metropolis and thanks to the hosts the little gathering broke up around midnight.

DECIDED DROP IN TEMPERATURE

Dropping 32 points in twenty-four hours the temperature of today was decidedly colder when the mercury registered 15 points above zero this morning. The present weather conditions and temperature are both entirely in keeping for this year, however. Yesterday's temperatures at 4:30 p.m. was 47 while today the mercury dropped to .09 and had risen to 15 at noon.

ARCH MASONS IN ANNUAL CONVENTION

To attend the annual Grand Chapter of the Royal Arch Masons in Hamilton, Ex. Comp. E. T. Cherry and Ex. Comp. D. Burgess of Moira Chapter and Ex. Comp. Fred Thompson of Quinte Chapter, both of Belleville, left this morning to represent the above various chapters at the convention.

The first Grand Chapter convention was held in the city of Hamilton exactly 75 years ago this month. Moira Chapter was 104 years old. Moira Chapter was instituted in 1856 and is the seventh oldest R.A.M. chapter in Canada.

The annual election of officers and appointment of district superintendents will take place at the Hamilton convention, which opens today. Other matters of importance to every chapter is also thoroughly discussed and all new bylaws and constitutions have to be presented at these annual conventions.

The convention is expected to last four days.

OFFICERS EXCHANGE FOR CH. SERVICES

An exchange of officers for the day took place on Sunday between the Belleville and Trenton Corps of the Salvation Army.

Ensign Kennedy and Lieutenant Reading of Trenton conducted the meetings at the Belleville Citadel and Ensign Calvert and Sergt. Major Hart of the Belleville Corps were in charge of the meeting at Trenton.

REPAIR IT NOW!

Skilled workmen can repair that car for less money in their shortest possible time and guarantee a first class job.

ST. CHARLES MOTOR CO.
PHONE 525

CELEBRATION AT HONG KONG

Chinese Make Merry When News of Victory Arrives

SHANGHAI, Feb. 22.—(AP)—Despatches from Hong Kong said a tremendous celebration took place there today on receipt of reports from Shanghai that the Chinese had won a sensational military victories.

Loads of firecrackers were shot off at noon. The sudden fusillade scared the foreign residents of the city, who feared it was an outbreak of fighting.

Pandemonium continued there throughout the day in spite of more sober reports published in foreign newspapers and office workers were unable to work in the terrific din.

Similar incidents have happened previously at Canton over exaggerated reports and it was estimated that Canton residents spent $50,000 in one day celebrating a "great victory."

World-Be Fliers Hope War Lasts

Chicago, Ills., Feb. 22.—There are thirty-five Chinese students in Chicago who hope the Chinese "war" does not end within less than two months.

They called at a flying school yesterday and learned it would take that long to fit them for flying with the Chinese Air Forces "over there".

Four signed up at once and the others said they would as soon as necessary funds were raised.

Five hundred Chinese enlisted night and poured contributions into a fund for their training.

2 New Departments To Be Established

Halifax, N. S. Feb. 23 (CP). — Premier Tory announced in the Speech from the Throne, read today as the House of Assembly was opened by W. H. Covert, Lieutenant-Governor.

A suggestion that the Dominion census of 1931 might affect the present distribution of seats in the House was seen in the statement that changes in the act dealing with the franchise, powers and privileges of the House might be effected.

The chief food factory of the organ.

An automatic cane picker and husker has been invented to do the work of 16 men.

YOUR EYES

THE BEST PLAN

Regarding your eyes is to have them examined whether or not they seem to need it. Nothing will pay greater dividends than giving the eyes needed attention. The best results and the ability to do your best under your best. So YOU can make no mistake it is best to see an examination and not worry, if it does not seem necessary.

Phone 2222
FOR APPOINTMENT

J. A. McFEE
OPTOMETRIST

KNOCKED DOWN BY MOTORCAR

Mrs. Allison Escapes Serious Injury Near Market

Mrs. Allison, who resides with her son, Mr. Harold Allison, 70 Dundas Street east, was struck by a motorcar while crossing Front St. nearly opposite McAnnany Street, Monday afternoon about five-thirty o'clock and knocked to the pavement.

Mrs. Clarence Vermilyea of Thurlow, assisted Mrs. Allison into the car of Dr. R. Bishop-Tom, and Mr. Thomas Brown, R.R. 4, Belleville, who was driving the car at the time, took her home in his car.

The car driven by Mrs. Allison was driven by Rev. Albert Ingolsby, Carlisle, who was first stopped and offered assistance to Mrs. Allison but his services were not required.

Mrs. Allison was badly shaken up and suffered considerably from various shock, but otherwise, it is stated, she is not seriously injured.

The accident was investigated by Sergeant Arthur Booth and Mr. Doggett has made the required report covering the accident to the police department.

A REVIVAL COMING?

So far we have Homeric measures, mostly directed towards credit expansion, but that is the next step! In the "reflationist" view, public confidence will return before credit rather than credit merely flowing into confidence. Gilded great expansion in volume of credit, a rise in the price level should follow. Failing that, some time the dream is brought on depression. With rising prices, investment becomes safe, trade becomes profitable, and the shortest possible time. When the wholesaler steps into the market, industry naturally picks up. With industry improving, employment rises, and with more men earning wages and better wages public buying power is restored. Buying power stimulates retail trade, which in turn boosts wholesale. Thus we have the vicious circle reversed.

Here, then, is the hoped for revival in outline. According to its chosen prophets, but is a thoroughly plated, wrapped-in-cellophane, sure-fire revival. But there are many weak links in the chain. The Federal Reserve has made given the power to do this and that, which does not by any means guarantee that they will do so, and, since all reckless public speculation, rushing to the stock exchanges, would mean an adverse effect on business, much as it did in the 20's, which were a "boom psychology", for the Twin brother of boom is depression.—The Montreal Herald.

WHAT ONE GIRL WORE

By Betty Brownlee

For the last few seasons a great deal of emphasis has been placed upon the hat, bag and shoe ensemble. And rightly so, for these three articles are chosen so that they have a definite relation to one another, you may be sure that you have a knowledge of fashions and good taste.

Of course in these times of economic stress it is difficult to have accessories to match each individual costume, but with some thought and it is possible to buy the small things that make the completed ensemble a perfect one with such matches and color that they can be worn with two or three of the main costumes.

Consider, for instance, this charm.ng trio pictured on this page today. The black hat of navy straw is the modified sailor, and has a lifted brim on the lifted side and finishes in a bow. The band is of netting in fresh and black.

The black suede bag reveals a zipper closing and a strap of black calf ornamented with an ivory buckle.

Oxfords of black alligator and kid are practical. Inden representing clay may be worn for either street or informal occasions. These feature a very high heel.

An inventor in Florida has designed a new style of shoe, seven feet long and a foot wide, used in walking on the water.

Parisian girls are sporting two-tone lips. One is painted a vivid red and the other a different color.

Traffic Scene

Sarnia-twenty last evening near a theatre. Crowds hurrying for the first performance. A brightly lighted canopy above the walk displaying excitingly the show inside. Cars parked,hub to hub for an almost solid block. Traffic moving north watching the east side of Front Street for an empty parking space can closely following the other one; a lone man in the first sedan, a man and a woman in the second. Two drivers with but a single thought.

Right by the only parking spot directly in front of the theatre the driver of the first car, as the other observed the vacancy out of the corner of his eye. The car behind hailed a little ahead of it also. Both cars back up at the same time—only the car behind stopped before the car in front did. Bumpers collided and the car behind was slowly forced backwards. Until the driver behind stopped on the gas and played tug of war.

Eight wheels spun, on a damp roadway. The one fighting hard, and four or five pedestrians stopped to see what was.

Both engines slowed to a hum, eight wheels stopped revolving and two car doors opened. Two heads popped out. One faced backwards.

"Back up—back up! Lemme in to that parking space."

"G'wan and find a place for yourself, it's mine first," was the horrid man," from the girl friend.

"Back up, you lousy! Lemme in that parkin' space. I saw it first."

"Don't you do it, John. You stay right here! I'll find a place for you, you should . . . the big thing."

A car door slowly banged shut and once more came the drones of an engine revving up. Then again bumpers bent under the strain. Then, second, and a couple of scorched rubber ascended in the clear night air.

The crowd on the walk had now become larger. Four cars behind the first still had their engines, and should . . . the big thing."

A car door slowly banged shut and once more came the drones of an engine revving up. Then again bumpers bent under the strain. Then, second, and a couple of scorched rubber ascended in the clear night air.

The crowd on the walk had now become larger. Four cars behind the first still had their engines, and shrieks and howls rent the air. Horns honked into dismal wailings—like a lizzer on a cold day.

"Come on! Get outta the way!" "Let 'em go, up ahead there," from another.

Whaddya mean blockin' the traffic?"

Outnumbered and outmaneuvered, the car ahead slowly pulled ahead while the rear car slid into the nearby space.

SAME BOARD IS RETURNED

Inaugural Meeting of Parks Board Held on Monday

The City Parks Board held the first meeting of this year's Board last evening in the City Engineer's office at City Hall.

The special business of the meeting was the election of officers for the ensuing year and the appointing of committees.

The officers elected in the same officers and committees as last year being unanimously returned to office.

The committees are: Mr. C. J. Symons, Chairman of the Board; Mr. Fred Wiggins, Secretary.

The committees are as follows:

Tree Trimming Committee—Commissioner Harris, Snell and L. H. Walmsley.

Exhibition Park Committee — Commissioners R. E. Collins, Walmsley and J. Lafferty.

Parks & General Committee — Commissioners J. B. Findlay, R. Snell, Harris and Wiggins.

Lights for Parks Committee — Commissioners J. Lafferty and R. Snell.

Special Committee Memorial Park — Commissioners R. Snell, J. B. Findlay, L. E. Walmsley and Mayor George C. Tice.

Mr. C. J. Symons, the chairman of the board, is a member of all the committees.

Famous Carlsbad hospital at Carlsbad, Czecho-Slovakia, is to be enlarged.

So New This Year!

Sweaters are being knitted as fast as busy fingers and clicking needles can turn them but the modified and dainty garments become soiled MODERN'S careful cleansing makes them new again without danger of stretching or shrinking.

MODERN
CLEANERS AND DYERS
182 Front St. Phone 729
If Modern Cleaned It's Clean

ICE CUTTING IN FULL SWING

Good Quality and in General About One Foot Thick

Eight men, a few trucks, a horse and sleigh are now busily at work of the government dock this morning, while the cold wind blew, in a final effort to harvest enough ice to make up for the lack of that article which has been scattered this winter.

A long channel has been cut into the ice some one hundred yards east of the long cement pier running into the bay, and fifty or so yards north of the buildings on the "ice". Into this channel the cut dingonally into the ice from the channel, men with cross-cut saws sawed off the cakes as needed poled them down the channel to the small lift, operated by the horse, and from there were lifted up from the floor of the truck which had been backed in to receive them.

The ice is good, and it seems to be well over a foot in thickness.

Obituary

MRS. JOHN CARLETON

Roslin (Special)—There was a large attendance of relatives and friends at the funeral of the late Mrs. John Carleton which was held from her late residence on Friday afternoon, Feb. 19th.

The Rev. R. N. Grant conducted a service at the house, after which the cortege proceeded to the Roslin cemetery where the funeral service was held. Rev. Grant officiated at the grave-side service, ter and part of the 14th verse, "For what is your life?

"It is even as a vapour that appeareth for a little while, and then vanisheth away."

Many beautiful and beautiful floral tributes were many and beautiful bearing silent testimony to the high esteem in which the deceased was held.

The pall bearers were her four sons, Arthur, Ernest, Jas. A. Dafoe, Tweed and Mr. L. Carleton, Belleville.

Interment was made in the family plot in the Anglican Cemetery at Roslin.

LATE MRS. A. E. FISH.

Many of her former friends were this forenoon in attendance at the funeral service of Mrs. Annie E. Fish at the Tickell and Browne chapel, Bridge street, when Rev. Dr. E. N. Baker, a former pastor of the deceased, conducted the services at both the funeral home and in the graveside in the Belleville cemetery.

The bearers were Messrs Harry W. Ackerman, Thomas Sullman, Charles Sullman, Wilfred Holmes, Clifford I. White and Dr. Morley Day.

PERCY SINE

(Contributed)

The pale messenger of death visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Sine, Rawdon, on Sunday, the 11th of February, 1932, and carried away their only son Percy at the age of 21 years 11 months 3 days.

Twelve years ago he married Miss Marion Rollins of Huntingdon township with whom three children, Norman, age 9 years and Eva, 7 years mourn the loss of a loving husband and father.

Percy dropped out very suddenly, on Monday morning, complained of a sore headache and on Wednesday, on the advice of his doctor he was removed to his home in the Belleville Hospital, where every care and attention was made given the boy from an attack of spinal meningitis, the result of which proved fatal on Thursday he passed over to the silent majority.

The funeral was held on Saturday, the 13th inst. from the family residence to Bethel party of mourners.

The pall bearers were Messrs. Jas. Lawrence, Jas. Rollins, Jas. Rollins, Jr., Frank McGee and Spray by Mrs. Jane Rollins, were beautiful, and spoke of the high esteem in which Percy was held, both by the societies of which he was an active member, the neighborhood and the community at large.

The Pall Bearers were Harper Rollins, Harry Farrell and Roy Thrasher representing the I.O.O.F. and Fred Cooke, Stanley McMurtry and Fred Mcloe representing the I.O.L.

Percy was courteous and pleasing in his manner and held a warm place in the hearts of all with whom he came in contact, and consequently leaves a large circle of friends and associates in the community who deeply mourn his passing and who tender their deepest and warmest sympathy to the home so suddenly and sadly bereft.

He leaves behind his wife and two children, Nathan and Eva, his parents and one sister, Mrs. Frost, while he has slipped across to the other shore to wait the coming of those dear ones who so deeply mourn his going.

I cannot see the secret things
In this my dark abode
I may not reach with earthly wings
The heights and depths of God.

So faith and patience wait awhile
And trust Him for the rest
For soon in Heaven my Father's smile
Will render all things clear.

MRS. DANIEL McCORMICK

Early today there passed away a well known and highly respected resident of this community in the person of Lillie E. Dale, beloved wife of Daniel McCormick. She was Mrs. McCormick has been ill for some time and death has been looked for at her late home, 25 Isabel street, for several days. She was born forty-sixty-five years ago, being the daughter of Mrs. Dale and the late Mr. Dorland Dale, and has resided in Belleville all her life, respected by all. She was a member of St. Michael's church.

The surviving family left to mourn her are the mother, Mrs. Dorland Dale, of Belleville, one son and four daughters; J. A. McCormick of New York; Mrs. John Lynch of Niagara Falls, Miss Madeline of Port Erie and Misses Hilda and Beatrice at home, and one sister Joseph Dole of Marmora.

The sincerest sympathy is extended the sympathy of the community in their bereavement.

STREET SWEEPER IS OVERHAULED

Given Fresh Coat of Paint and New Belt Added

A brand new five-year-old city sweeper stood on the Market Square this morning reflecting the sun on its shiny sides in the early morning. Gold lettering on the front and sides proclaimed its ownership and it attracted pleasantly with the green and red wheels and body work. Shining steel gears, sprockets and speckled chains showed that a week of work must have been put on the machine to get it in the condition it is now. Under the direction of City Engineer Chas. Mott and the city mechanics the machine was complete overhaul of the machine has been completed in the past few weeks and now stands ready for the spring cleaning conducted the services at both the funeral home and in the graveside in the Belleville cemetery.

The bearers were Messrs Harry W. Ackerman, Thomas Sullman, Charles Sullman, Wilfred Holmes, Clifford I. White and Dr. Morley Day.

PERCY SINE

(Contributed)

The pale messenger of death visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Sine, Rawdon, on Sunday, the 11th of February, 1932, and carried away their only son Percy at the age of 21 years 11 months 3 days.

Twelve years ago he married Miss Marion Rollins of Huntingdon township with whom three children, Norman, age 9 years and Eva, 7 years mourn the loss of a loving husband and father.

Percy dropped out very suddenly, on Monday morning, complained of a sore headache and on Wednesday, on the advice of his doctor he was removed to his home in the Belleville Hospital, where every care and attention was made given the boy from an attack of spinal meningitis, the result of which proved fatal on Thursday he passed over to the silent majority.

The funeral was held on Saturday, the 13th inst. from the family residence to Bethel party of mourners.

The pall bearers were Messrs. Jas. Lawrence, Jas. Rollins, Jas. Rollins, Jr., Frank McGee and spray by Mrs. Jane Rollins, were beautiful, and spoke of the high esteem in which Percy was held, both by the societies of which he was an active member, the neighborhood and the community at large.

The Pall Bearers were Harper Rollins, Harry Farrell and Roy Thrasher representing the I.O.O.F. and Fred Cooke, Stanley McMurtry and Fred Mcloe representing the I.O.L.

Percy was courteous and pleasing in his manner and held a warm place in the hearts of all with whom he came in contact, and consequently leaves a large circle of friends and associates in the community who deeply mourn his passing and who tender their deepest and warmest sympathy to the home so suddenly and sadly bereft.

He leaves behind his wife and

HEAR LECTURE ON PALESTINE

F. T. Grafton of Collegiate Staff, Addresses Y's Men's Clubs

"The Palestine of Today" was the subject of the illustrated lecture delivered to the members of the Y's Men's Club last night by Mr. F. T. Grafton of the Belleville Collegiate Institute staff. Mr. Grafton has travelled extensively throughout the Holy Land and had gathered together one of the finest collections of colored slides in Canada. Mr. Grafton, in his rather short lecture, gave a brief outline of the conditions existing today in the Holy Land.

His first dwelt upon the people and their occupations there today. Mr. Grafton pointed out that although the people of Palestine had been a bit primitive in their methods of living from the time history began, they were today, slowly accepting the advantages of the Western civilization. He gave as an illustration the building of the new and modern dam across the Jordan River from which source they expect to build one of the most modern hydro electric power plants in the world.

Mr. Grafton showed views of the agricultural conditions there today, depicting the crude methods which are still in use as they were in Biblical times. He also showed views related in the Bible and dilated fully upon many of the incidents related. One of the interesting scenes was the harvesting of grain, which he showed from the time that the grain was sown until the crop was cut. Their methods are very primitive but the speaker was of the opinion that the present conditions would be a thing of the past as the people of that country are rapidly accepting Occidental ways. He also showed a few scenes of the present way and means of transportation and although there is a railroad system running through the country the main mode of travel is by camel or caravan as it was over 2,000 years or more ago. In conclusion he stated that the living conditions were more or less instrumental in the keeping back of modern civilization in the Holy Land as some of the finest climates in the world exist there and the Bible, are still in existence there. This was due to the missionary conditions which prevail. "The scarcity of water is perhaps one of the most vital obstacles to the advancement of the country," he said to speaker. Before resuming his seat Mr. Grafton assured the members that he would be pleased to show illustrations of a travel trip through the Holy Land at a later date if the members wished it. On behalf of the club President Mel Blanchard thanked Mr. Grafton for his only too short and instructive address and announced that the club members would only be too glad to hear him at any future date.

DISMISSED APPEAL

London, Feb. 23 (CP cable)—The Judicia Committee of the Privy Council today dismissed the appeal of The Montreal Light, Heat and Power Company from a judgment of the Court of King's Bench of Quebec, in a dispute with the city of Toronto Convention and Tourist Association.

HITLER CHIEF IS EXCLUDED

Calls Hindenburg Group "Supernaumated From Yesterday"

Hitler Wait

BERLIN, Feb. 23.—(AP)—Adolf Hitler's right hand man, Dr. Joseph Goebbels, was excluded from the Prussian Diet at the opening session for "a serious insult to the dignity of the house."

Bedlam broke loose when Goebbels in the course of a speech of the session declared that President Hindenburg was supported by "supernaumated from yesterday conditions age", and by the social democrats "the party of deserters".

The members almost came to blows as the points and the speaker suspended the session for an hour.

The meeting, the first in several months, was called after the announcement that the council of elders, the sort of steering committee, had voted to exclude Herr Goebbels from the rest of the day's meeting.

LIVESTOCK MEN MEET DEATH

Crack Express Train Hits Truck Carrying it Three-Quarters of Mile

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 23.—(By the Canadian Press)—George Moore and Edward Wayer, livestock dealers of Listowel, Ont., were killed today when their truck was struck instantly by the C.P.R. Chicago-Montreal flier at Bramalea, a level crossing, about 10 miles west of Toronto on the Dixie highway.

Early reports stated the truck was carried for about three-quarters of a mile by the fast moving train.

FISHING ACT CHANGES

Toronto, Ont., Feb. 23 (CP)—The Ontario Game and Fisheries Act has been amended by Fisheries Act has been amended to change the date of expiration of fishing licenses. According to the request of the Lake Erie Fishermen's Association, the government has altered the act so the licenses will expire in future on September 30th instead of November 30th, as at present.

DANCE

To

INGLIS' DANCELAND ORCHESTRA

Old Time and Modern Music

Terms Reasonable

Write

G. M. Creighton Grafton, or Phone Grafton 800 for terms and engagements

After thoroughly discussing their coming play and finding it stated that the one now being rehearsed was to play in Consecon, Napanee and Belleville, and also electing officers for their coming dashe on March 1st the meeting closed.

Newton Thompson read correspondence from Chinese and Japanese Y's Men's Clubs relative to the present conditions in the east and asking for help to try and restore peace.

Unsightly Shacks On Highway Scored

Toronto, Feb. 23—Sharp criticism by President A. E. Gibson of the continued toleration along main highways of tourist travel of unsightly shacks, hot dog stands and "so-called tourist camps," and an urgent suggestion by Mayor W. J. Stewart, Hamilton, that efforts be forts to keep as many citizens at home and attract as many visitors as possible featured the annual meeting of the Toronto Convention and Tourist Association.

Cheer! Cheer! Here's Another Movie that's Different! It's a Totally New Thrill for Every Movie-goer!

Jealous Husbands! Fickle Wives! Laugh Your Quarrels Away!

Here's the story of a Green-eyed Husband . . . Of a Wife who liked a variety of love! Titters, Giggles, Roars in "THE GUARDSMAN." Don't let the title fool you! It's the wittiest, gayest comedy-romance of the year! Featured are two most famous actors of the American Stage. See their first picture!

ALFRED LUNT & LYNN FONTANNE IN "THE GUARDSMAN"

ROLAND YOUNG — ZASU PITTS

PLUS

The Beau Jeste of Comedies — Forty Minutes of Howls and Laffs.

STAN LAUREL & OLIVER HARDY IN "Beau Hunks"

Their second extra length comedy success. YOU'LL HOWL at their adventures in the Foreign Legion. They win the LAURELS for HARDY Laughs.

BELLE—Begins Tomorrow

ENDS TONIGHT — A HIT! — "TWO KINDS OF WOMEN"

Wise and Otherwise—When a man marries a grass widow he is not always in clover.

"SLIM" SUMMERVILLE

COME ON DOWN AND GET A REAL LAUGH! THE TITLE'S ENOUGH!

Begins Wednesday

FOR 2 DAYS ONLY Approved "U"

The UNEXPECTED FEATURE

SALAD FORKS FREE TO LADIES THURSDAY NIGHT

OTHER ATTRACTIONS

CAPITOL

"Where Sound Sounds Best"
2.45 :: 7.15 :: 9.00

"STREET SCENE" ENDS TONIGHT.

ZASU PITTS

Desperate Attempt Made to Surround and Starve Defenders of Kiangwan

Chinese Aerdrome and Planes Destroyed By Rain of Bombs

MORE TROOPS

Major Battle Develops Along Entire Front - Chapei Northward

Shanghai, Feb. 23.—(Tuesday).—Japanese soldiers lunged against Chinese bayonets and bullets, dealing death over the entire Kiangwan-Chapei front today, in a far-flung attempt to compete a surrounding movement, and starve out the handful of defenders still stationed in the blasted ruins of Kiangwan village.

The Chinese Air Force suffered a severe loss when eight Japanese aeroplanes destroyed the aerodrome at Hungjao, five miles west of Shanghai, with a rain of twenty-five bombs. All hangars and planes within were consumed by fire that broke out with the bombs' explosion.

Rebuffed in every onslaught they have made on the centre of the Chinese line at Kiangwan, the Japanese during their full strength at the Chinese positions on both sides of the village. They launched vicious attacks—one to the northwest and another to the south—just as dawn broke.

Soon the battle had developed into a major engagement over the entire line stretching north of Shanghai.

Casualties Admitted.

The Japanese admitted they were suffering severe casualties, after having lost at least twenty killed and forty wounded during the night's fighting.

The hostile forces were at grips in a struggle of death, from the limits of Chapei northward to the outskirts of Kiangwan and northwestward through the village of Kiangwan, two miles beyond Hongkew.

From the Japanese lines a barrage of artillery cut the way for the infantry advance, while warplanes showered explosives on the entrenched defenders. The Chinese soldiers crept forward behind smoke screens, drawn across their route to protect them against the vigilant eyes of the Chinese gunners.

The Japanese were clearly on the offensive, seeking to clear the Chinese away from the positions in front, but made slow headway against the unyielding Chinese fire. They pushed forward foot-by-foot, dodging from grave mound to grave mound in the face of the constant spurt of Chinese bullets.

Chinese Are Cool.

The Chinese defenders held off the onslaught because they relied with a shearing rifle and machine gun fire, backed up by a bombardment from trench mortars and occasional bursts of artillery.

Although the action was general, the heaviest fighting occurred in the northwest sector, where the battle was line, where the Japanese concentrated their blows to break the Chinese defence.

Their efforts, however, met the severest Chinese resistance in front of the fighting was hand to hand. The Japanese attempt to bring up the Chinese trenches were cut down by the defenders' fire.

A look over the area northwest of Kiangwan revealed many Japanese dead who had not been picked up.

Sworn Chapei way things appeared to be quieter after a splash of shelling at daylight, but the threat that sprang up from the exploding shells continued to ravage that old battlefield of 1927, set been picked where there was anything left to burn.

Lieutenant Tells of Defeat.

A Japanese officer who came last night participated in the rush of infantry attempting to storm the Chinese trenches northwest of Kiangwan, related today how the Japanese had charged, but were unable to break through the line of staunch Chinese opposition.

He said his company charged through the darkness, but suffered heavy casualties, as the Chinese waited with the bayonets pointed over the parapets against the on-coming Japanese.

His Captain fell in the charge, the Japanese said, and part of his command fell beside him. They left most of the company dead or dying in front of the Chinese trenches.

Field headquarters of Lieut.-Gen. Kenkichi Uyeda, Japanese Commander, was hurriedly established in a small frame building and a couple of tents. There was an atmosphere of confusion about the headquarters. Officers, tired and unshaven, continued to work through long hours of duty. General Uyeda, seemingly tireless, carried on.

A number of homes were tied to a hitchrack before the General's door, while Red Cross units, field guns and other machine-gun equipment stood unmovered round about.

Four Planes Raid.

The Japanese carried out their raid on the Chinese aerodrome in fear that Chinese fliers were preparing to take to the air for a battle with the Japanese.

The Chinese removed all their planes to safety, however, and apparently had flown back, and the indication of activity brought down the Japanese annihilation.

The airdrome was internationally known owing to numerous foreign fliers having landed there on various hops to the Orient, including those the British aviatrix, Mrs. Victor Bruce, has made since her famous feat Gunther von Hunsfeld of trans-Atlantic flight fame; the Americans, William Brock and Edward P. Schlee, and others landed on visits to Shanghai.

The Japanese used tanks, armored cars, infantry, machine guns and field artillery in their furious offensive today.

SAFE MAJORITY FOR DE VALERA

If Supported By Two Independent Laborites—Results of Election

Dublin, Irish Free State, Feb. 23.—Continuing support from two Independent Laborites, Eamonn de Valera's Fianna Fail (Republican Party) and its allies tonight had the necessary 77 seats to give them a majority in the Dail Eireann (House of Commons) in the 145 ridings which voted in last Tuesday's Free State election came to an end.

The standing of the parties was:

Fianna Fail	66
Labor	13
Independent Labor	2
Independents and Farmers	15
Government	49
Total	145

Without the support of either Labor or Independents, however, de Valera could not form a government.

Premier Cosgrave tonight remained silent on the results, refusing to say he and his party were willing to support any government to the extent of giving it a majority in the interest of the country.

Mr. De Valera, on the other hand, heralded the result as the beginning of his plan for peace and prosperity for Ireland.

JURY ADDS A VERDICT RIDER

Recommend That Pedestrians Have Protection Along Highways

HAMILTON, Ont., Feb. 23.—(By the Canadian Press)—A verdict of death from accidental causes was returned tonight by a jury inquiring into the highway accident in which Mrs. Vera Robertson, and Miss Nellis Stewart, sisters, of Winona, were killed on Saturday. The jury recommended provision be made for pedestrians to travel safely along the highways.

The two were struck by an automobile driven by Loris Wright of Toronto as they walked along the highway, Monday last, Jan. 18.

WATCH REPAIRS

Don't put your watch to sleep—bring it to us until you've had it examined. May be a mere trifle will make it go.

Watch repairing is our specialty.

We do repairs quickly, guarantee results and ask reasonable prices.

J. O. R. McCurdy

Phone 518 224 Front St.

FAITH PUT IN LEAGUE AS TO PEACE IN EAST

Foreign Secretary Replies to Labor's Appeal For Drastic Action

DEPLORES SITUATION

Denies Reports of Secret Pact Between Powers and Japan

London, Feb. 23.—A demand by Right Hon. George Lansbury, leader of the Labor Opposition in the House of Commons, for "some drastic action" to end the fighting between China and Japan drew last night from Sir John Simon, Secretary of State for Foreign Affairs, a declaration that the British policy was to rely on the League of Nations.

The Opposition Leader has suggested economic pressure and the withdrawal of Ambassadors.

"The civilized world cannot stand still and see these things happening and carried through to the bitter end without some protest," he said.

Will Use Utmost Efforts.

The Foreign Secretary replied that the British policy was to use the utmost efforts in conjunction with other powers, whether members of the League or not, and to support the machinery of the League, some of which both China and Japan are members.

Deploring the failure of the League to prevent the outbreak of fighting at Shanghai, he declared a deep conviction of the British Government that the League was the best hope of affirming the principles of the League" and the best means of restoring peace be found.

He gave "most absolute contradiction" to reports that there was some secret pact or understanding among certain powers to encourage and tacitly support Japan.

Speaks of Neutrality.

"The people of China," Mr. Lansbury had said, "are a right—an inalienable right—to say that every part of her territory shall be under her control."

There is a widespread belief in China that some of the powers are in alliance with Japan; that some of the great powers have encouraged Japan to take the action she has done, and have told her that in the end the great powers will interfere with her.

I cannot believe for a moment anything of that kind, and I hope the Right Hon. Gentleman will tell the House about it and categorically deny it," said Mr. Lansbury.

First Time in Decade House Rejects Bill Before Introduction

First Reading Denied to Wadsworth Measure For Amendment

CRY "MUSSOLINI"

Silencing Vote Apparently Sequel to Communist Trials

Ottawa, Feb. 23—Greater excitement even than the warm words and uproar in the Commons must have been anticipated here over the Wadsworth bill with its injection for Parliament Hill last night was guarded by a bevy of Royal Mounties at main gates, an unprecedented precaution. Beyond the early afternoon demonstration and a big parade down Parliament Hill, however, there had been nothing until 12.30 o'clock this (Tuesday) morning to disturb the peaceful weigh of the officers.

Ottawa, Feb. 23—"Mussolini" was called against Premier Bennett in the House of Commons yesterday when the Prime Minister, by an abruptly sharp ruling, denied the Conservative majority against the six-year-old Wadsworth Bill to amend the Criminal Code and defined it as "unconstitutional."

"Mussolini is but a child," tartly interrupted Hon. Ernest Lapointe to cap one of the most exciting controversies of the session.

Out of Order.

The result of the Premier's edict was that the Wadsworth bill will moderate the law's rigors against unlawful assemblies, as it has in the Commons in 1926, 1927, 1928, 1929 and 1930, only to be killed in the Upper Chamber, was beaten in recorded division on the latter day whether it should be given a reading by 72 votes to 49. All the Progressive and Labor members solidly with the Liberals.

It was Mr. Speaker's ruling a decade or more that a measure has been refused at the first reading by the House consideration, and its absolute need for assistance by the Prime Minister was no doubt dictated out of consideration for recent gang activities in the Communist ranks in Toronto.

The recorded vote against the introduction of the Woodsworth bill, however, was only the first of two in a day that started and ended on controversial note. After an evening debate the government accepted the resolution of James S. Woodsworth (Conservative, Maple Creek) calling for the imposition of a protective duty on raw wool, and carried it over the heads of the Liberals and Progressives by 77 to 33 votes. Messrs. Neil, Gershaw and Sanderson of the Liberals, and Irvine, Kennedy and Leadbeater of the Progressives voted with the government on this occasion.

Bennett and King Paired.

Although the vote throwing out the Woodsworth bill was recorded as 72 to 49 against first reading, Premier Bennett intimated afterwards that an adjustment is to be made in respect of his own vote, cast with the 72 against first reading, albeit he was paired with the absent Rt. Hon. Mackenzie King.

After the vote the Prime Minister announced his position—he had been paired with the Opposition leader on certain divisions which but not, he believed, in respect of other members' legislation. Hon. Ernest Lapointe straightway declared his pair with the Minister of Justice to be regarded as significant—and he was. Premier Bennett Marcil said his pair with Sir George Perley was similarly interpreted.

Later in the evening, Premier Bennett, apparently accepting that abruptly and sharp decision, had made so that the Opposition would have control of the vote.

SINGER DIES FROM ACCIDENT

Madame Gadski, Opera Singer, Victim of Motor Crash

Berlin, Feb. 23.—Madame Johanna Gadski, noted opera singer, who was injured in an automobile accident here yesterday, died today.

HENRY REFUSES FURTHER COUNSEL

It's For Commissioner, Not Government to Decide, He Declares

Toronto, February 23.—As far as Premier George S. Henry and his Ontario Government are concerned no further counsel will be appointed to the Royal Commission of Inquiry in to the $50,000 Aird-Madawaska payment and the Dominion Power and Transmission Company purchase. Mr. Henry made this perfectly plain in the Legislature this afternoon when, in answer to an interrogation from Hon. Peter Heenan, Opposition Leader, he stated emphatically:

"Further counsel will not be appointed to the Royal Commission. That is definitely clear some days ago. The Government considers the commissioner to bring out the facts in connection with the purchase by the Hydro of the Madawaska power properties and with the Dominion Power trans action. The Government was authorized to engage what counsel it thought fit. I have nothing further to say."

Mr. Nixon's interrogation was couched in the following language:

"Before the orders of the day are called, will Hon. Premier give notice to your attention an item in this morning's issue under the heading 'Exhibit One,' which reproduces the letter of the Dominion Power and Transmission Company contract, showing that the firm of Tilley, Johnson, Thomson & Parkin were selected for the Hydro in this deal, the commissioner and in view of this disclosure may I ask the Premier if he proposes to maintain his attitude in regard to counsel or will he give direction to the Commission to the effect that counsel appears before him on Thursday he will be heard, and that the interests and rights of full participation in the proceedings, without cost to the Province?"

Four Kegs of Gold Fall Overboard While Being Landed

Cherbourg, France, Feb. 22.—Four kegs of gold valued at $200,000, fell overboard while they were being landed from the liner Berengaria this morning.

They were part of a shipment of one shipcount consigned to the Bank of France. Divers began immediately to try to recover the gold.

JAPANESE BRIGADE MOVES

Shanghai, Monday, February 22.—(AP)—A Japanese brigade under Major General Seiki Mirui left Hiacsing for Kashing, Chekiang reports that a serious situation exists. Chinese bear them, however, a Chinese revolt against the new Manchurian State broke out yesterday.

WILL IMPORT LUMBER

Hull, Eng., Feb. 23.—A new company in process of formation here is announced it would import 450,000 standards of Russian timber from a White Sea timber mill between April 1 and December 31.

"To meet a popular demand"

The NEW Christie Package

Thrifty housewives have remarked "what this country needs is a good 5c package of Soda Biscuits". Christie's saw the point at once, and now the new 5c package of Christie's Soda Wafers is ready for your enjoyment . . . crisp, light, flaky and always fresh. Get yours from your grocer today.

Christie's SODA WAFERS

SUSPECT JAPAN HAS DESIGNS ON ISLANDS

Geneva Observers Ask if Use as Submarine Depot Allowed

RETAIN MANDATE

Only Assembly is Competent to Answer Question

GENEVA, Feb. 23—Inquiry reveals that every book and pamphlet in the League library dealing with Pacific Islands under Japanese mandates has been borrowed during the past few weeks. In the past ten days the Mandates Section of the Secretariat has had more queries concerning those islands than it has had in ten years since the mandate was granted to Japan.

Much of this sudden interest is traced to Americans, including mkembers of the United States diplomatic corps at the League Council, for which the United, States could have had a mandate for these islands, but is allowed to fortify or use them as submarine bases. The answer is no.

Observers believe that the sudden interest in the islands is due to the conclusion of the recent naval conference she needed 32,000 tons of submarines, quite regardless of how many Japan has, she was calculating this "absolute parity" with the strongest naval fleet Hawaii-Philippine communications by operations from the mandated islands.

This is apparently responsible for queries as to whether Japan would be practically declaring war on the League if she sent any submarines now or later, to these islands.

Question for League

Another question asked is: What happens to the mandate if Japan withdraws from the League —would it not then revert automatically to the League?

Only the Assembly or the Council is competent to answer the last two questions. Some experts maintain that the sovereignty of the islands really still resides with allied and associated powers, and that the United States would therefore have a right to say a word if Japan lost the mandate. Power of the loss of this mandate is considered one of the reasons for the Yosuoka statement today that Japan does not intend to withdraw from the League.

DAYLIGHT SAVING

Toronto, Feb. 23—Daylight saving dates for 1932 were fixed as from May 1 to September 30th by the City Council yesterday.

By a vote of 31 to 6, the council added two weeks to the period recommended by the Board of Control, which ended September 11. The board itself had divided three to two on the shortened period.

Dirigible Akron Wrecked Before Start of Test

New Navy Vessel Breaks Fin and Rips Fabric Taking Off

TWO INJURED

Congressmen Are Present to View Akron Riding The Skies

Lakehurst, N.J., Feb. 23—A committee of Congressmen here to watch the United States Navy's dirigible Akron glide gracefully into the skies to prove its airworthiness saw it wreck a fin, strip its fabric and endanger a large crowd of spectators before it could even get poised for a take-off.

A restraining cable snapped. The rear end of the ship shot upward.

Nearly two and a half tons of water ballast was spilled—just too late —a gust of wind squeezed the ship to the ground, wrecked its vertical fin and ripped its fabric.

Cables swung free and injured five of the ground crew, the tail of the big bar, before the wind gust pressed it down, swung toward the crowd of spectators. There were frantic cries and the lookers-on made mad dashes for their automobiles.

Then the great ship down and damaged rolled listlessly to her port side but quickly righted and lay quiet, except for the lifting of the breeze, in a gentle breeze.

Two hours later the ship, handled by enlisted men and civilians, was slid back into the hangar.

Lieutenant Commander said the committee would not pass judgment until after a flight had been made. He declared the accident was unavoidable.

Pirates' Treasure Found by Bahama Fisherman

Nassau, Bahamas, Feb. 23— Five coral bars, valued at $50,000, were found by the police yesterday when they accompanied Gerald Fitzgerald, a poor fisherman to a spot on the shore of New Providence Island, where he had discovered the treasure in October. Fitzgerald had found the gold cache—the first treasure trove in the Bahamas in the memory of the Bri-tish Imperial government.

The story finally leaked out, and the police asked the fisherman to show the spot. He refused, unless Governor Dorsett, his brother-in-law, could go along, and detectives locked him up on Saturday to see that the party went out and found the gold, which is probably an ancient pirate treasure. Fitzgerald will receive a third of the trove, and the remainder will go to the British Imperial government.

New Method and Its Many Complications

Here in Bellerville we like to imagine that we lead the parade in all things good and bad of the woods, and that other places follow in the line of march and fall out. We imagine that when it comes to new ideas we are the first to adopt things that the others just have to sit back and take lessons from. We are sure and cocy all these new and original schemes that are being launched down here for us every day. We like to think that our originality has got us on the top of the heap and that we really have something to crow about, and that all the other towns and cities there are just waiting for us to come along with these new ideas. Not only in the business world are we leaders, but we still lead in almost any other line of endeavor. We are always, every day, little things that might possibly be signaled. There is nothing to be one thing that some one else can show us here in Bellerville. I am admitting as it applies to theatrical entertainment. In this connection I think that we must concede one point to our gentle friends up the line. If they use theirs as much in that town seems to know a little bit of all the important news events even if there may be on the odd occasion some occurrence that may have been entirely overlooked at the moment of the brain flash that preceded it.

A picture which came to Bellerville recently was the one shown in a nearby town. It's one of those pictures that has as its theme a scene it sawitter with excitement, and it needs hardly any advertising at all. Yet the bean brained man thought it would be a good idea to stage a boxing show in town that it was going to be shown in his theatre. He went around and had a lot of circulars printed to be handed out around the town. he had an announcement. Nothing they were a little contact with folks around Bellerville, and he got prompt-ly grabbed the telephone book, sat down at the desk, wrote out a card and went to work. Everything went fine, beyond the fact that he discovered that he was going up in their arms in dough for the next day's batch of bread, and that he called fifteen more away down town upstairs where they were engaged in their round of housework; twenty-five more who were washing dishes, a few of them who were trying to get the baby to sleep, a few more who were tangled up with their afternoon's sewing and mending and so on. Nearly the list grew shorter. The manager's left ear was filled with a buzzing that sounded like a thousand bees; his whole system was charged with his eyes—and a weary voice intoned lustily into a receiver that he now had seemed to leer back at the grimmy voice that was answering it. But there were only a few left and soon the job would be completed. The next day and the day after I know very well but he was a good sport and took the thing on the chin all a break—nothing like a little personal experience to help us all runs, he thought, and what did it matter if he didn't know them. Had he had time to think of anything he would simply have passed that thought by as not worthy of a call them up. Down in that house in maybe a dozen or more other house—there were things going on behind drawn shades so they say—history and romance and love were being manufactured; a product which the world would help to alleviate the thrist of a number of the unconscious. But the world was generally around and stepped out for a moment, leaving his good wife to be the victim of the idea that was being hatched in the fantastic mind. When the man went down—all we know is that he stepped out somewhere. The telephone rang. It continued then intermittently activity again. It was ignored. Bell Dentist was not to get off so easily. She had rooted out lots of them from bed at two or three in the morning, and it wasn't even dark yet so she plugged in again and the phone kept on ringing. It shrilled insistently, until the bath tub worker finally shook off her hands and reached wearily for the receiver. Then she realized that had gone to hundreds of others in that town now came over the wire to her. In all of them she seemed to be dark and mysterious; it was murky and some business; it breathed softly: "That you Mr.—? . . . . . speaking." That was all. The phone was hung up. The woman uttered a snarl. Visions of the bath tub with its other badges fluttered before her—soft footsteps, padded footsteps crept the tub; a stopper was pulled—and fifty gallons of water clear and colored liquid ready to bottle gurgled noisily down a slobbering drain pipe.

This town may be some distance from Bellerville as the crow flies, and a little longer if you use the road, but this town generally manages to keep informed pretty much as to the general run of news . It is said town shortly after it happens. And when a story like that one does happen to filter through, it somehow manages to break into print with the full wording of the thing perhaps may never be known.

Wanted to Buy

WE WANT TO BUY small modern home West Hill. We have $2,000.00 Cash.

WE WANT TO BUY small farm 25 to 50 acres. Near Trenton preferred.

WE WANT TO BUY small home with 5 or 10 acres close to Bellville.

WE WANT TO RENT two farms 100 acres or more. Both good reliable farmers with own equipment.

WE WILL SELL 7 miles out, Eight acres best celery land out doors with 8 room solid brick house, barn, etc., at less than cost of house. NO CASH PAYMENT and only $25.00 per month without interest until fully paid. Somebody will grab this one quick. Investigate now.

WE HAVE HOUSES to rent from $15.00 per month up.

WE HAVE MONEY TO LOAN on first mortgages. It will pay you to see us for any Real Estate service desired.

DEYO & GREEN

HOME HUNTERS' HELPERS

29 Bridge St. E. Phone 2176

Street Floor. No Stairs to Climb.

Hard Cider, Whiskey Cause of Death

Walkerton, Ont., Feb. 22 (CP)—A combination of hard cider and whiskey caused the death of Andrew Klunkel, 40, farmer, who was found in a dying condition on a road near Formosa early last night. The Physician in charge of the case, after a post-mortem examination, decided dilation of the stomach, caused by the mixture of drinks, had shoved the heart out of position and thereby caused death. The finding was based on the report of the autopsy, Dr. H. R. Sinclair of Walkerton and Dr. O'Toole of Milbank.

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER

THE DAILY ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER is published every afternoon (Sunday and holidays excepted) at The Ontario Intelligencer Building, Front Street.

RATES—DAILY EDITION—
Year, delivered in city $7.00
Year, by mail in rural offices $5.00
Year, in U. S. A. $7.00
W. E. MORTON, Publisher.

DRAWING ON THE FUND

Strict examination of all cases coming before the relief authorities has according to Mayor Tice been decided upon to see that no one believed to be in good financial circumstances gets work on civic relief or money out of the city funds.

If it is found that there are people obtaining relief who are not entitled to it, an attempt should be made to recover what relief has been given.

He who unfairly accepts relief at the present time is doing the utmost he can to damage the relief fund, by extracting from it.

Those who are rightly on the relief fund and all who contribute to the fund will be a unit in condemning this type of person.

Something of a similar case has arisen in the Old Country. Pensions and relief pensions have been put on the fund lists whose sons and daughters are financially capable of taking care of them. At last this is to be corrected and a number now receiving pension funds aid will doubtless be lopped off the lists as they rightly should be.

Investigation is, it seems, absolutely necessary, sad to say, but often people are found who are ready to accept out of funds not intended for them.

The case of those needing assistance from the fund should not be hampered by those selfish persons who can live without going on the fund. The latter deserve to be exposed.

20,000 ARGUMENTS

The human side of war or whatever it is, that is going over in front of Shanghai was painted in no doubtful colors in a news despatch on Monday which told of the twenty thousand Chinese refugees driven through no fault of their own clutter the camp of the refugees and face starvation. At hand are only porridges, little warmth and no shelter. Whatever the merits of this Japanese expedition to settle with China over the boycott, these twenty thousand arguments are irrefutable.

No condition of things should persist which will make men and women and children to this state.

COSMETICS, MIND AND BODY

The skin food game, as it is called is the subject of an article appearing in the New Republic. Thyra Samter Winslow, the writer, is sorry to see women spending so much time on creams and lotions that relieve wrinkles and lotions that will not bring back the freshness of youth. New York fashion commentary has decided and states that high prices for cosmetics costing only a few cents are indefensible especially as a substitute for a daily attainable and easily mixed. Women, the writer in The New Republic, states, do not bother to investigate, but buy an expensive jar or bottle and pat it to their faces.

But, goes on the Times, "What most critics of cosmetics and the claims made for them overlook is the psychological effect they have. If a woman goes to a party with her face thickly powdered, she spends a miserable, self-conscious evening. But if she strokes it with cream, rubs it with lotion, lifts it with massage, pats it with powder and applies a ruby flush in a way that pleases her, she will have the consciousness of looking her best. She may have gone to a party to get the permanent wave, the anti-fat remedy may be ruining her digestion, and the total effect of her appearance may be ridiculous rather than beautiful but she is satisfied. To her it is worth all the money and the time spent on it."

The Times tells a fable, at least it seems like a fable of the beautiful young woman who asked the owner of a line of cosmetics to endorse his product. She wrote, "If your skin is broken out, a doctor might be able to help you, and if your face is dirty you should wash it with soap and water, and when you get old it is going to fall down on your chest, no matter what you do." The manufacturer did not use the endorsation but got one he could use from a girl less attractive but not so blunt as the beautiful young lady.

THAT BACK YARD

Will the coming spring see back gardens as in days gone by? Our vegetables so plentiful and cheap that the back gardens are not worth bothering about?

One thing is certain. With the end of the inflation period, people have a little more time to spend at home and a little more disposition to linger in the garden with the rake and the hoe.

The exercise is health-giving, it gives a zest to the plants grow which are home planted, it makes man feel that after all his hours off work are not wasted as he has been assisting nature in producing something.

If any feeling makes a man feel that he is worth while, it is just this emotion.

If a man has a real love for development of new varieties of plants, the way is endless. Here he takes hand with the great spirit of nature which is always willing to lend aid to him who strives to produce new types of life.

The avenue of the garden leads down many streets of opportunity.

HOW STRANGE IS LIFE

By Aline Michaelis

How strange is life that takes our trust
And turns it, sometimes into dust;
That takes the spirit's high desire
And tramples it into the mire;
That keeps us toiling on when all
Long for faith and hope are gone!

How strange is life that leads us still Against our dreams, against our will,
Again the hopes that once were ours,
As bright as springtime's garden bowers
And then reveals in whimsy's mood
The purpose else misunderstood,

How strange is life that brings us cares,
Defiances, regrets, despairs;
But is so sweet that we must cling
Despite the hurt, the loss, the sting.
How strange is life, yet fashioned so
Because the soul has need to grow!

CANADA'S GREATEST ASSET, as well as any up and coming nation, is centred in the children of the land. Realizing this the Belleville Rotary Club has arranged to supply a bottle of milk daily for two hundred children of the schools. Grown up children are always hungry and the expansion of the mind can only keep pace with the expansion of the body, hence it is felt that the City will make brighter scholars and better studies, while the scholars will no doubt glow with a kindly feeling for their City Fathers and the Business World who can pause long enough in their busy workdays to think of the comfort of the future citizens. The younger citizens who are climbing the ladder of life and fitting themselves to be the Big Brothers and the Big Sisters of the world of Tomorrow.

x x x

"I FOUND AN OYSTER," may or may not have been a one-time popular song, but a more popular one would be "I Found a Pearl in An Oyster," if you did find one. Pearls grow and develop in oysters, getting in early, before closing time, in fact, and growing while the oyster after the shell clamps tightly together to remain closed until opened by the pearl diver or the ever new form of industrial life we have in oysters, some of considerable value, some spoiled by cooking, so eaters of raw oysters have always had the edge on the cooked oyster eaters as far as treasure finding is concerned. Recently a Belleville lady purchased some oysters, took them home and the family ate them. The lady's teeth encountered something hard in one of the oysters and examination revealed what looked like a good pearl, in fact of exceptional size for a pearl. She took the pearl for examination to the former jewellery store where it was sent to Toronto for inspection by experts. The report came back that if the pearl had had another year to grow, weeks maturely in the oyster it would have been worth one thousand dollars at the least. As it was it was worth just nothing, which was quite a disappointment to the finder. This paragraph should give impetus to the sale of oysters, but remember if you could see you spoil 'em. Now who'll be the first to find a real live pearl and let us tell the story in this column?

x x x

A business man who had an important telephone message to receive and, interrupted a feminine conversation which seemed liable to continue indefinitely.

"Hello, Mabel," said one of the women indignantly, "what line of you think you're on, anyway?"

"Sorry," replied the business man, "I've come to the conclusion that I must be on the clothesline."

x x x

"Does his wife still play second fiddle to his mother?"

"She's not even in the orchestra."

x x x

"Is she upset about her broken engagement?"—Completely unmanned!"

x x x

MODERN ETIQUETTE

By Roberta Lee

Q. When is the stiff, formal bow sufficient in acknowledging an introduction?

A. When a stranger is presented to several guests.

Q. How are invitations for very informal or impromptu dances issued?

A. They are often issued by telephone.

Q. Who provides the household linen for the new home, the bride or the groom.

A. The bride.

Q. What does "table d'hote" mean?

A. Table d'hote (the table of the host) means a set price for each meal, irrespective of how much or how little one orders.

HANDLING OF THE EPILEPTIC IS IMPORTANT

Better Understanding of Afflicted Person's Problem

By LOUIS E. BISCH, M.D., Ph.D. (Famous Authority on Health and Psychology)

This article is the plea for the better understanding of the epileptic. There are so many cases of this kind and so many additional persons, members of the family, etc., are involved in each single case that as Louis E. Bisch points out sympathetic consideration as possible should be cleared up concerning the malady.

First of all, it should be remembered that there are several varieties of epilepsy. Secondly, that no two cases are in exactly the same. Thirdly, that certain types like hysteo-epilepsy are curable and that even the so-called "essential" cases are subject to improvement.

One thing, however, must be done or is become discouraged with an epileptic patient or parent. The unfortunate that may have been prescribed by a physician for the patient's benefit, for months or years, however, many give up. If it is not possible to visit a psychiatrist or neurologist consultant at his private office the patient should be given every assistance possible at a health centre or clinic.

The reason is, that patient care and continual treatment of some variety at least for the epileptic is necessary in the case of many manifestations of the disease with profound and frequent setbacks. Given the cases tend to get worse if not properly handled, practically nothing can be avoided if possible—at any rate, as long as possible—is impairment in the mental faculties.

Such mental impairment may show itself in the child by what may be mild—and it may be severe. It may be a backwardness which at once may not. It may reveal itself merely as impaired attention and concentration, poor memory, inaccurate thinking — results to be expected from many forms of epilepsy, and more indeed, from merely a case of "over-manifestation and over-activity in the field of interest, monotonous speech, impaired judgment and reasoning, dilatation of perception, marked emotional indifference and, lastly, pronounced irritability. In many such cases of the disorder which have remained always mild there is a tendency to show mental deterioration in the end.

Especially must we show the epileptic patient sympathy and understanding. All of these will help become discouraged easily. With every form of treatment they become buoyant, but only for a time and hopeful. As a drowning person eagerly grasps at straws, so do these individuals enthusiastically welcome any suggestion that promises cure. So we find them, too, taking sagelights and other medicines whose scientific remedies recommended by almost everyone, reckless than aiding to some doctor who knows his job and has had experience with such cases.

Furthermore, we can scarcely expect a person who has experienced convulsions and the ever-present threat of them to be the same as other folks who have not got such a "sword of Damocles" forever hanging over their heads. Thus we find epileptics irritable, moody, given to fits of depression, and naturally generally unstable emotionally. There are those, of course, who have a very sensible and philosophical view of their condition. The majority, however, are not of this class. Realizing that they are handicapped for work, pleasure, in fact for life and, in fact, in all fields, these people often develop a sense of inferiority of self-pity and often even a sympathy-seeking attitude.

It is no exaggeration to say that the proper handling of an epileptic patient is perhaps as much a part of the treatment as the treatment for his convulsions.

Dr. Bisch's Daily Health Hint

Ringing in the ears and other head noises may sometimes come on several causes. Chronic catarrh of the middle ear or nasal passages may be to blame or some other local ear manifestations. Sometimes it is a possibility. Often the complaint is of nervous origin.

(Copyright, 1932, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

YALE CUTS DOWN

New Haven, Conn., Feb. 23 — A proposed 10 per cent reduction in Yale University budget for next year was announced by President James R. Angell in an effort to overcome an estimated deficit of $500,000 this year. President Angell said differential reductions and interest defaults represent $372,000 of the deficit, and that the rest will fall short. "While this is a Draconian cure absolutely," he said, "it represents only about 8½ per cent. of Yale's investment income."

It is pleasant to find real merit appreciated, whatever the particular walk in life may be. — Martin Chuzzlewit.

It's enough for a man to understand his own business, and not to interfere with other people's. —A Draconian Cure.

The incapacity of an underpaid public to repurchase the material it produces is the dominant cause of the depression.—Will Durant.

Other Papers' Opinions

PROSPERITY'S RETURN

For our own part, we've stopped reading all articles by economists and all the speeches of business men. To all of these people, who are trying to appear wise, and who are uttering nothings that may read in text books years ago as though they were startling new discoveries, we simply feel like saying "Oh Yeah!" We have lost all faith and faith in a return of prosperity. But what we're complaining of is that when prosperity does return it won't return for greater things by those so-called authorities, but because of something quite unforseen. It will probably be for no other reason than the people everywhere have decided to put their backs and work a little harder, and keep at it. Hasaki, Japan, Star.

TO TITLES

A resolution before the Quebec Legislature says that His Majesty, the King, be presented with an address praying that no title be granted Quebec bound by the Federal resolution against titles, without consent. The resolution, submitted by Dr. Tremblay, represents a protest that the self-abnegating memorial to the King adopted by the House of Commons during the war, is injurious to the interests of the State and that the title is not now warranted by public feeling. Looking back to the patriotic months, it is recognized that there was no real public feeling in favor of titles against titles, though there was some abuse of the title-giving prerogative. However, there is now no way to certain individuals whom the King might wish to honor because had he been properly advised by those who were advising him he would, however, that those most active against titles were those who were animated by demagogic motives of jealousy. They did not like the title because they disliked those which they could not hope, and they thought to show envy by speaking to the mob. As we have often said, Canada has no particular interest for or against titles but there are general interest today in the early revival or in their continued abeyance. The present attitude of Canada has been and still is that titles confer no real distinction, that the loyalty may be a worthy incentive to public service, but that the proper reward for exceptional public services.—Toronto Mail & Empire.

BACON-TYPE BOAR POLICY

The announcement of the Bacon-type Hog Policy for Canada by the Hon. Robert Weir, Federal Minister of Agriculture, is a fair indication to farmers at this time when the popular trend in farm operation is toward increased production of this stock, particularly hogs. Under this policy the Federal Government undertakes to purchase boars of suitable type for the improvement by farmers' clubs of ten or more members, the boars to be placed on an arrangement with provincial government bonuses are to be paid to clubs on application. On the records, the amount being $20 in the case of a Bacon-type Yorkshire boar being used and $15 where a Bacon-type Tamworth is used. Complete information as to how to secure the benefits of the new policy can be obtained by application to your local agricultural representative, to the provincial live stock inspector for your district, or to the Department at Ottawa.

A TALE OF TWO CITIES

While Vancouver was borrowing on a forty-year basis, Edmonton preferred twenty-year bonds. At the time the sales were made each city was found than we had, but it managed to get by, and it will have the satisfaction, during the next three years of having less debt than Vancouver will not have placed any bonds for twenty years yet. It has, however, in the next ten payments for the service of the bonds under discussion, almost exactly the same total cost of the work it got done in that time. Work done on a forty-year basis it must pay for the privilege of spreading its payments as long. As war pointed out in these columns, the city which pays cash for its permanent improvements, that is, constructs them out of revenue, has the best of it. Edmonton has been doing that to a large extent. Of the cost. The city which borrows on a forty-year basis pays 50 per cent. for the twenty-year bonds pays about 100 per cent. The city which borrows on a forty-year basis pays 150 per cent. The city which borrows on a twenty-year basis pays 200 per cent. The same, she is paying more than two prices. This year, she is paying for the work she has done permanent work because she is still paying for work done at least all the way back to 1922. Next year, and for ten years to come, she will be paying for work done all the way back to 1927, and will be feeling the burden. But next year she will have paid off and released that she can play with the situation. She will be free to current work or to reduce the tax rate. —Vancouver Province.

CABINET SHUFFLE

Brussels, Feb. 23.—Following the resignation of Baron Maurice Houtart, Minister of Finance, Alfred Renkin reorganized the Belgian cabinet today and himself assumed the finance portfolio.

He appointed Baron Houtarix as Minister of State. Count Henri Carton de Wiart, former Minister of Justice, was appointed Minister of the Interior.

WASHINGTON TAKEN DOWN FROM PEDESTAL

Real Washington Revealed By Speaker at Rotary

General George Washington, first president of the United States, leader of the ragged armies of the Revolutionary War, in a so-called "tea-party" in Boston Harbor and idolized as a modern creation of thirteen states, all hating one another, and only asking to be left alone to work out each their own narrow destiny, is a character far more human and interesting, far more for the cherry tree-hatchet story than for anything else, after having been deified by writers for years, must be born again, George Washington is being debunked now by modern writers who reveal him as a real man, heroic if you like, but neither godlike nor puritanical.

This interesting fact that George Washington was born and born British in a British colony, His folks were "quality" in Maryland and sure were "quality folks" in Old Virginia. Washington's Birthday, Monday, February 22, was commemorated by the Rotary Club, by a display of U.S.A. flags and a speech count none other than George C. Fuller, Civil Service Commissioner at Kingston. Major Fuller is a native Canadian, who has served in the high diplomatic and consular positions of the United States, Palestine and other countries. He was introduced to the Rotary Club by Turner Wells, the genial Collegiate Institute, one of the executives of the American Association.

Having provided a fitting Uncle Sam impersonation, with Stars and Stripes on his coat and beans to Valley Forge mush-rooms and a large Star Spangled Banner, Major Fuller, Uncle Sam, Major Fuller had no difficulty presenting Washington in a realistic manner. In very attractive manner although he did not add some touches to the story of the hatchet and cherry tree episode, and the truth of the theory held in some quarters that Mason Locke Washington was the first and only Washington who told the truth.

As an after dinner speaker Major Fuller is a class by himself. His humor is subtle but a quiet dry humor which kept his hearers guessing. He has a pleasing voice, one phase of Washington's life to another. Starting with the beginning of statuesque Washington of early writers and painters and proceeding to the Washington of a real human, possessed of all the virtues and all the faults of the men of his time and generation. Washington was a surveyor by profession and was remarkably keen and statesman-with which he ran the war of the revolution without any help that he served without pay as well as pledging his own personal credit for the pay of soldiers.

Interesting leading up to the dissolution were described by the speaker, the friction in England between King George and the colonies, through the delay of months in sailing ships, communication between them which aggravated discontent, the stamp tax, and the tea tax and the retaliation measures adopted by King George the dictator. Armed resistance was inevitable and as a result a few battles, a lot of waiting, a lot of fighting by individual independent colonies, all hating each other, and a continental government—virtual chaos, which the first president, George Washington had to dissipate and weld together into a new nation one and indivisible.

Washington did not fight to gain his own ends but because he had to retain the freedom the colonies always had. They had to fight for it, and they did, in the forests, in the wilderness, savage tribes and savage beasts, savage winters and savage summers, and Washington, the Mother Country, and when it was over, in the years that followed without representation, then more years when they just couldn't get it in addition from the people of the British government where they had to go for it, and they did go for it, not—their best markings in the West bearing in mind that they were people and they were told they could get only in the English market. Then the East India Company's tea tax fallen upon various times was given as a reason for the war, but the causes were much deeper than that.

Washington's experience for America, and that together with his own ideas of government and vexations caused hard feelings. Then the "colossal blunder" of King George Washington, told by the guest speaker in a very interesting manner, Washington's early stories and sidelights upon current affairs and events of the time and the effect upon Canada and subsequent British history and the results of the war, which Major Fuller handled his subject in a way which met instant favor and he will always be welcome at Belleville Rotary Club, either as a speaker or as a silent guest for he has a personality which attracts and a fund of real humor and interesting anecdotes gathered in his far-flung experiences in many countries as the representative of Uncle Sam's Consular Service.

$1 a week thrown away or invested to bring you $3,000 at 60?

It's very easy to waste $1 a week—without getting much for it. Spend it all from it—Invested in a Continental Provident Life 20-Payment Endowment Policy your $1 a week will be $3,000 at 60 when you are 60 years old. Rates based on present age of 25.

Have some money in your later years. You will never notice the small amount it takes now. Send in the coupon below to the Head Office for full information.

Continental Life
Head Office and Insurance Company
371 Bay Street Toronto

Gentlemen:—Please send me full information about your Combined Life and Endowment Policy.

Name.....
Address.....
Age.....
City.....

ACOUSTICS

"Acoustics can be controlled", states Professor H. E. Retiley, associate professor of physics, McGill University, Montreal, in the February 15 issue of The New Outlook, drawing attention to the fact that very often some speaker is criticised when in reality the acoustics of the auditorium is to blame and not the speaker himself. Comparisons are drawn between Canada and the lands quoted below. They are interesting in view of the discussion on the acoustics of the Collegiate Auditorium at the meeting of the Board of Education. The Outlook article reads:—

Frequently a speaker from the pulpit is criticized for failing, as a remarked today, to "put it across." It is the opinion of the writer that the effectiveness of a speaker's message is often diminished to the vanishing point as a result of the unsatisfactory acoustic conditions of the auditorium in which the speaker is heard. The attendants at church services have as one of their main purposes to help worshippers to adjust their address from one qualified to give a good hearing. Given such a condition, it is impossible to hear without undue nervous strain the message of inspiration and the prayer and the instruction! In very few existing churches can other than audibility be satisfactory. This is not as it should be. It is a well-established fact that it is possible by giving proper thought and attention to the details of design and to the specification of materials to produce a room in which the speaker may deliver his words without effort. What large sums of money we have spent from time to time to remedy the hearing conditions of public amusement halls according to the fact that experts available are engaged by the proprietors of such places to give advice and to supervise the construction so that the thousands of dollars spent may not be wasted but in listening to the "talkies" or to the artists on the stage. How true it comes to the design and the construction of the auditorium of our churches—well, it doesn't seem to matter much whether the audience may hear or not. Many of the auditoriums we find in existing buildings, even those recently erected, given to see that such are well-designed. Quoting a saying by a poor one-quarter of which is being said by the leaders in the song service, "Let us sing unto the Lord a new song," and the congregation responds not—their best markers in the West bearing in mind that they were people and they were told they could get only in the English market. Then the East India Company's tea tax fallen upon various times was given as a reason for the war, but the causes were much deeper than that.

Washington's experience for America, and that together with his own ideas of government and vexations caused hard feelings. Then the "colossal blunder" of King George Washington, told by the guest speaker in a very interesting manner, Washington's early stories and sidelights upon current affairs and events of the time and the effect upon Canada and subsequent British history and the results of the war, which Major Fuller handled his subject in a way which met instant favor and he will always be welcome at Belleville Rotary Club, either as a speaker or as a silent guest for he has a personality which attracts and a fund of real humor and interesting anecdotes gathered in his far-flung experiences in many countries as the representative of Uncle Sam's Consular Service.

Little Benny's Note Book

Ma was up in her room sewing on her machine when I went in and up, saying, Hay ma, Nora needs some eggs.

Eggs, why you just went out and got her half a dozen, and 6 pounds of potatoes, ma said, and I said, I know, thats the funny part of it, ma.

O, there's something funny about it, I guess? ma said, and I said, I mean about the potatoes sometime you funny happened about the potatoe.

Well whats that got to do with the eggs? ma said, and I said, What eggs? O, the eggs. Anyway Nora said she could peel them and youll laugh all rite, I said.

Ha! like to laugh about the eggs. Did you get eggs or dident you? ma said, and I said, Well I tell you, I asked Nora if she wanted me to undump the potatoes in the bag and she said no, and I asked her if she wanted me to undump the potatoes in the bag and she said no, and I asked her if she wanted me to undump the potatoes in the bag and she said no, and I asked her if she wanted me to undump the potatoes in the bag and she said no, and I said, I know, thats the funny part of it, ma.

O, there's something funny about it, I guess? ma said, and I said, I mean about the potatoes sometime you funny happened about the potatoe.

Well whats that got to do with the eggs? ma said, and I said, What eggs? O, the eggs. Anyway Nora said she could peel them and youll laugh all rite, I said.

Ha! like to laugh about the eggs. Did you get eggs or dident you? ma said, and I said, Well I tell you, I asked Nora if she wanted me to undump the potatoes in the bag and she said no, and I asked her

Hockey Loop of Eight Teams Formed, Don Roe President

Burrows' Trophy to Be Given Winner of League

TWO GROUPS

League Divided in Sections Winners to Play Off at End

Belleville and district hockey was assured the fast of a well represented meeting last night. Teams were represented and an additional four teams are assured the league. The four teams present were Napanee, Trenton, B.C.I. and the Belleville Intercals. The other four teams who have signified their intentions of entering the loop are Frankford, Picton, Campbellford and Madoc.

The meeting was quite lengthy and the question of intermediate O.H.A. players was left over for a short time. A lot of controversy on the part of the various delegates was decided to let each team use two intermediate players, goal tenders excepted. After considerable discussion on the part of the delegates Trenton announced that they would have to withdraw if that motion was carried. The meeting then thoroughly discussed the matter and as little or no headway was being made, Napanee delegate came to the rescue of the meeting by moving that the meeting refer matter to the league elected with the organization.

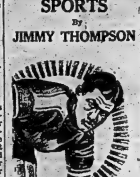
Don Roe was elected president and F. G. Meagher secretary-treasurer. It was also moved and seconded that a short schedule of a schedule and the playing rules be left in the hands of these two men. It was thought advisable to adopt the O.H.A. rules intact, which means they will be competed for. Trenton then assured the meeting that if they were allowed to come into the loop that they would also re-enter. When the meeting was completed it was suggested that the B.A.A.A. might be interested in entering the proposed league.

After a lengthy talk on the subject it is decided to split the teams into two groups "A" and "B". In "A" group will be Belleville, Belleville, Trenton and Madoc while in the "B" group will have R.C.I. "Grads", Napanee, Picton and Frankford. The two group winners are to play off at the end of the proposed simple schedule. The Burrows' trophy will be competed for, the game in each group will consisting of a total of eight proposed double-header.

It was also decided to play all games twenty minute periods straight time.

The opening double header will no doubt be scheduled for next Monday evening at the Belleville arena. In the meantime, however, further names are to be submitted with the teams which were not at last night's meeting. The question of an entrance fee was settled by each club and arrangements have been made with the local arena for distribution of gate receipts. The question of entrance fee will be left to be decided upon and as some of the teams entered with to submit a list of players. This will be left to decide this question over until a later date.

The meeting and the formation of the league have been in the hands of Mr. Roe and Mr. Meagher and they, as the newly elected officers of the loop, will have complete charge of the schedule which will be made opening of the schedule. An executive of two members from each team will guide the destinies of the loop.



Besides the teams not represented

REXALL BIRTHDAY SALE
JONTEEL SPECIAL
50c BOX FACE POWDER AND 50c JAR FACE CREAM
1.00 VALUE BOTH FOR
50c
McKeown's DRUG STORE

ARENA
TUESDAY
2.30—5.00—Ladies' Public Skating
8.00—10.00—Public Skating Night
8.15 P.M.
B.C.I. vs. Tweed
Admission 25c

25% OFF ALL OVERCOATS at
CHAS. J. SYMONS
Men's Store 206 Front St.

SPORTS
By JIMMY THOMPSON

MOTHER OF STARS

Do you know that the city which has turned out such outstanding stars as "Punch" Broda, Bob Gracie, Hec. Kilrea and a score more brilliant stick handlers has yet to have a hockey team? Yes. We said St. Catharines was the only city in Canada without an intermediate team but a loyal correspondent in North Bay writes to correct our error. North Bay rink burned down four years ago, and several enthusiasts there formed for the purpose of rebuilding have fallen through, it looks like hockey out of the picture for a few years. Of the thirteen hockey towns in the country is going to be known as a city of the northern Ontario, or something. Last year an open air rink was maintained but the weather was prohibitive for entire league competition, in fact any competition which is calculated to draw the crowds, and we are told that the likely hockey prospects are drifting away and will not be seen in competitive hockey centres. Hard luck North Bay! Among your sons which we can count up off hand are Reg. Brown, Reg. McCabe, Elmer Marcie, Pete Palangio, "Sparky" Vail, in addition to the above. We with there were more towns coming half as good!

last night the following delegates were present: Napanee, Mayor Kinnerly, H. D. Card and Mr. Daly; Trenton, Dave Terry, J. R. Hicks; Belleville, Neal Norman Johnson; R.C.I., Les Shiels; Belleville Intercals, Victor Farnham, C. Arnott and Geo. W. Gladney. Picton and Frankford telephoned during the meeting that they were definitely in the loop but could not re represented owing to hockey games in both towns. Campbellford is also interested in the subject today. In the meantime the secretary will get in touch with the

'KALEIDOSCOPE' PACKED WITH BIG THRILLS

Toronto Skating Club's 1932 Presentation a Gorgeous Spectacle

"Kaleidoscope," described as "a colorful spectacle of shimmering beauty and skating grace," is the title of the twenty-first annual presentation of the Toronto Skating Club being presented at Maple Leaf Gardens, Toronto, this week. This club is an organization of young people who believe that the interest in Canada's greatest winter sport should be fostered and encouraged both for exercise and sport, consequently their annual public presentations have met with universal approval and patronage only limited by the seating accommodations of the buildings in which they have been staged. This season Toronto's largest and newest ice palace will be used for the Toronto Skating Club's 1932 offering, "Kaleidoscope," February 22 and 23. Belleville folks who witnessed the dazzling spectacle presented here by the Toronto Skating Club in behalf of the Belleville Rotary Club Crippled Children Fund will be pleased to learn that the club has consented to return this season and present their finest and gayest spectacle flittingly termed "Kaleidoscope" under the same auspices. The date fixed is Friday, March 11, and the seat sale will open soon.

It is of interest to the public that the arena will be flittingly decorated for the appearance of the Toronto Skating Club, and the entire interior will present a fairy like scene of color and appearance, the decorating to be done by the Canadian Department Store Limited.

Those who were fortunate enough to enjoy the splendid program of the Toronto skating party last season will not miss this coming presentation and those who missed it last year will not make the same mistake this year, for it has been a prolific topic of conversation ever since in city and country.

"Y" Alleys

Kiwanis Queens came back in form and took three points from Proteens one in the Ladies' Afternoon League at the Y.M.C.A. maintained but the weather was prohibitive for entire league competition, in fact any competition which is calculated to draw the crowds, and we are told that the likely hockey prospects are drifting away and will not be seen in competitive hockey centres. Hard luck North Bay! Among your sons which we can count up off hand are Reg. Brown, Reg. McCabe, Elmer Marcie, Pete Palangio, "Sparky" Vail, in addition to the above. We with there were more towns coming half as good!

Current Sport
By The Observer

Percy (Hesl) Gibson, Belleville's ex-baseball pitcher, appears on over the week end. "Hesl" was high in the Y.M.C.A. baseball league of 1932. He informed us that the "Queens" are to have a mighty high class team of ball tossers entered in the C.O.B.A. The Cobourg team will play their home games at Horse Guard Park we were told by "Hesl." With Kingston's brand new Ag-Stadium and Rasebal Park nearly completed and Peterboro playing the Shew Park this will give the Central Ontario League four excellent ball parks to play in this coming season, as Belleville and Peterboro both have fine diamonds. If Cobourg is not in earlier they also have two fine parks, Exandra Park and the newly erected stadium in the downtown district of the Motor Town.

The league title of the Intermediate Hockey Series will be at stake on Wednesday evening when Trenton Y.M.C.A. School hockey team come to town to battle the local collegiate "puckisters." The team that comes out on top in this scrap will be practically out of the running as both of them have two of their games on their own home ice. The Trenton team will be the lone's a swell lesson in the art of hockey for a lot of the fans. Coach Shiels gave his 'pets' a good go at his players last night and assured us that they will be in "tip top" shape for the game by the limit. The locals should "take" the visitors according to the way's showing to date.

X—X—X

Tomorrow afternoon St. Alban's Hockey team, of Brockville, will stage their annual game with the local boys they battle the junior and senior teams of the Belleville Prep School at the local Arena. Here is a chance for the local hockey fans to see two of the good games of school hockey, g-a-m-e.

X—X—X

A number of local speed skaters are preparing for the Carnival to be held at the Arena next Friday night. There are five speed tests on the program besides the hockey game. The five events. There have been a number of youthful skaters logging in so far as to practice, and during a men's doubles to the list of pairs. Belleville skaters are out in touch with Mr. Ed. Garvin, manager of the Arena, at once. A men's double might be quite an interesting event. The idea is for two skaters to skate together with the inside hand of each partner relay which might attract a lot of attention, and also some considerable entertainment to the patrons would be an obstacle race. This would never fail to bring a laugh to the fans present.

X—X—X

Although it is still considerable line to get the meeting started Belleville is very much in need of a post-season hockey league. We say we'y nearly because there were not enough teams represented, although two other teams entered the meeting under he'ephone that they were ready to start. The Napanee Beavers and squabbled over the eligibility of O.H.A. Intermediate Belleville Intercals. Intermediate quality until, at one time during the meeting it looked as though there was going to be no league at all. But then they got together and after up eventually and it looks like clear sailing now.

X—X—X

Whether the results of two groups is a good one or not on'y results but. Each team playing public will soon tell the tale, but on the other hand it was clearly pointed out that some teams were superior to others so as to make the race the same group? Then others argued that it was a good idea to see why not throw them all in the same loop. We'll be able to get some more information n this new league tomorrow.

X—X—X

The R.C.I. "students" looked anything but a team of champions in their game at Tweed last Friday night. Most of the students were about one-half as good as the regular boys are, they would not be playing in Belleville. We have this information down for the express purpose of letting the R.C.I. players know that there are still fans think of them under their present playing conditions. It would be a different story if they did not have the ability to play the game, but, all local sport fans know that they are, so there is no excuse for their what-so-ever. If they get into the game and at least try the local sporting fans will be right behind them and will stick out to the limit. Everyone loves a player who lets his best.

Hockey Results

O.H.A. Intermediate

Markham.....	5 Beaverton 1
(Markham wins round, 5-3)
Dunnville.....	1 Belleville 1
Markham.....	1 Port Dover 1
Oakville.....	3 Acton 2
Tavistock.....	2 Georgetown 1
Coldwater.....	2 Gravenhurst .. 2
Willowdale.....	3 Orillia 0

O.H.A. Junior

Hamilton.....	5 Bolton 2
(Hamilton wins round, 8-5)

N.O.H.A. Junior

Sudbury.....	14 Chapleau 0
	4 M.A.A.A. 1
Canadiens.....	2 Kitchener 0
Preston.....

Soo League

Canadian Soo.....	2 Algoman Soo .. 0
	American
Kansas City.....	Tuba 1

N.O.H.A. Senior

Falconbridge.....	2 Soo Industrial 1
	Ottawa Junior
Shamrock.....	5 Primrose 2
(Shamrocks win round, 12-3)
Binghams.....	2 Preston 1
(Binghams win round, 4-3)

Still They Come

Following is the twenlieth of a Canadian Press series of National Hockey League all-star team selections by editors in N.H.L. cities. A consensus will be prepared later.

(J. W. Mooney, The Post, Boston)

First team—Dedi, Gardiner, Chicago; defence, Shore, Boston, Johnson, Rangers; centre, Morenz, Canadiens; wing, W. Cook, Rangers, Joliat, Canadiens; coach, Ross, Boston.

Alternate team — Goal, Worters, Americans; defence, Clancy, Toronto, Burke, Canadiens; centre, Primeau, Toronto; wings, Clapper, Boston, Jackson, Toronto; coach, Irvin, Toronto.

BUZZ BOLL NOW IN PRO RANKS

Left For Syracuse to Join Mickey Roach's Club

Toronto, Feb. 23 (CP)—Buzz Boll, speedy young westerner of Weyburn, Sask., who came east early this season to join Toronto Marlboros in the Ontario Hockey Association senior series left for Syracuse last night where he will join the professional ranks of the Syracuse Stars.

Following Marlboro's unexpected elimination in the semi-finals of the "big series" group championship Saturday by National Sea Flaps, Boll accepted terms with the Syracuse entry to finish out the season and left immediately for the New York city where he will join Mickey Roach's club.

ALEX HURD PAID HONOR

Announcement Made as to Constitution of New Olympic Hockey Team

Hamilton, Ont., Feb. 23 (CP)—Members of the Canadian Olympic Committee and Hamilton sports-men joined tonight in paying tribute to Alex Hurd of this city, who wore the Maple Leaf in the 1924 Olympic games at the Chamonix winter games at Lake Placid. On his return from Europe he was accorded a civic reception at the City Hall on his arrival and was guest of honor at a dinner tendered by the Lions Club.

W. A. Hewitt of Toronto, chairman of the Canadian Olympic winter games committee, was guest at the dinner intimated the future Canadian hockey team, which would consist of the Allan Cup winners representing the outstanding players from other clubs.

KI-Y LEAGUE

In one of the first games of the junior section of the Ki-Y League the Queen Victoria School "Grads" defeated the Prince of Wales 23-13, the score of 3 to 1 last night. The "Grads" presented a little faster team and their combination at times were a little too much for the Canadians. Tonight sees two junior Ki-Y league games from 6 to 8 p.m.

Line-ups for last night's game were:

"Grads"—M. Rigby, J. Beare, R. Hockey, G. Ridge, J. Jarrings, T. Nunn, G. Ridge and H. Fullwell.

Flying Canadians — Bud Wilkins, J. Jeffs, Bill Mills, H. Fullwell, J. Hogan, E. Fullwell, J. Hogan, E. Fullwell, J. Mills and H. Burley.

Referee—Jack Trualach.

Recreation Alleys

In the mixed league the Happy Six and Big Six Alleys split even with two points. For the Happy Six Miss Ruby Allen was high with 203-190-207-600. For the Happy Six Lady Bailey was high man with 208-210-185-603 and T. Morrell was high man for the Little Six with 190-221-187-598.

The Lucky Six won four points from the Big Six. For the Lucky Six Miss E. Walker was high with 207-200-223-630 and C. Johns with 185-227-208-620. For the Big Six D. Samuels was high lady with 203-193-200-606. For the Happy Six Lady Bailey was high man with 238-210-185-633 and T. Morrell was high man for the Little Six with 190-221-187-598.

The Lucky Six won four points from the Big Six. For the Lucky Six Miss E. Walker was high with 207-200-223-630 and C. Johns with 185-227-208-620. For the Big Six D. Samuels was high lady with 203-193-200-606. For the Happy Six Lady Bailey was high man with 238-210-185-633 and T. Morrell was high man for the Little Six with 190-221-187-598.

A team from Kingston visited Belleville on Saturday night with the result that the Belleville team winning all four points. For the visitors Mr. Fraser was the high man with 153-256-209-618 and for the locals Barrett was high with 133-279-299-713.

VIC JUNIORS WIN ROUND

Hamilton, Ont., Feb. 23 (CP) — Hamilton Victorias tonight won their first round play-off against Ontario Hockey Association, defeating the visitors, 5-2. The previous contest of the home and home series was 7 to 1 in favor of Hamilton.

Train Hits Cutter Two Meet Death

Macrorie, Sask., Feb. 23—Two are dead and two are seriously injured as the result of a railway crossing accident half a mile north of here Monday, when a Canadian National Railways train struck a cutter containing five persons. The party were on their way to a funeral.

The dead are Paul Nyrich, 13, died instantly; July A. Sodrup, 26, died of internal injuries an hour later. Mr. and Mrs. Osc Finsand were seriously injured and were removed by special train to Saskatoon hospital.

DEFEAT MOTION

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 23.—(By the Canadian Press)—City council last night defeated a motion sponsored by Aldeman Harry Hunt that salaries of council members be reduced 10 per cent. The vote was 12-13. Motion of Alderman R. J. Rogers that wages of civic employees be cut 15 per cent was postponed for consideration at the next regular council meeting.

O. S. D. WINS FROM NAPANEE

West Belleville Team Has Still a Chance For Bunting

Frank Cunningham's pockstors from the O.S.D. defeated the N.C.I. seniors in a clean, hard-fought game by the score of 5 to 4 last night.

Napanee made the first counter, but Magette came right back to even the score. Card put his team one up again when he shot a fast one from the wing.

With three minutes to go in the first period Woods came through with a nice solo rush, ending the period two all.

In the second period the O.S.D boys unleashed a driving attack, Westcick stick handled his way through the entire team to put his team one up. Soon after Molocke rushed in for a rebound on Boatsanu's drive to score in the next net. Just before the bell Molocke notched the fifth counter for the O.S.D. boys and ended the period. The period ended five to two.

In the third period Napanee made four mom attack in an effort to tie the score. Card scored another one when Boatnari was rushed into the nets. The period half over Napanee scored their fourth and final goal.

The game ended with Napanee pressing hard.

Card was Napanee's outstanding player, while for the O.S.D. Molocke and Goalie Bunting were key on the forward line with Westcick and Woods a tower of strength on the defence.

Line-ups:

O.S.D.—goal Ball, defence, Woolsk and Mecstick, centre Meloche, wings, Westcick and Woods.

Subs, Boutnari, Dixon, Burtle and McShane.

Napanee—goal Herns, defence Richardson and Card, Lawn, centre Moore, wings, Murphy and Magette. Subs, Shortis, Embury and Davis.

WAR BOMBING IS DESCRIBED

Passengers on Liner Passing Woosung Forts Given Thrill

Victoria, Feb. 23—Passengers arriving here yesterday on the Empress of Asia told of passing within a few hundred yards of the forts of Woosung as the bombing of that area was in progress on February 7th.

The planes came very low and after dropping their loads of explosives on the forts zoomed up over the mast of the passenger liner. It was a thrilling sight, that river but judging from the passengers' comments then would have missed the experience.

The Empress of Russia, bound from Vancouver and Victoria to Hong Kong, Manila and Shanghai, with Chinese at Shanghai, Asia passengers reported. Both boats of the Japanese refugees were fleeing, the Japanese residents to Hongkew having completely evacuated the district by the time heavy fighting began. Many Japanese residents swarmed aboard passenger steamers lying between Shanghai and Nagasaki and the steamer Dairen Maru was also pressed into service to carry Japanese nationals back to Japan.

NEITHER WILL GO TO EXTREMES

Economic Boycott on Japan Would Mean Loss of Trade

TORONTO, Ont., February 23 — (By the Canadian Press)—Prof. N. A. Mackenzie of the University of Toronto last night told the Board of Trade Club he did not believe Great Britain or the United States would go to any extremes with Japan, because an economic boycott would mean loss of trade. The Sino-Japanese issue was not great enough to cause a world war, he thought.

SANE AND SENTENCED

Sudbury, Feb. 23—Edward Mycrick, who made a spectacular leap to temporary freedom from a window in the police court room last Tuesday, was sentenced to pay $5 without costs, or 20 days on an assault charge, and $10 and costs, or one month on a theft charge, by Magistrate J. S. McKinnon. Mycrick was remanded last week for mental examination. He was pronounced sane.

HELD WOMAN RESPONSIBLE

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 23.—(By the Canadian Press)—A coroner's jury last night held Mrs. Frank Deacon responsible for the death of Amos Rorkwell, 50, on Feb. 14th last. She is held on bail of $4,000 on a charge of manslaughter. Rorkwell was killed when struck by automobile driven by Mrs. Gang.

TIME IS GETTING SHORT
JUST TODAY
and WEDNESDAY
FEB. 23rd and 24th
OPPORTUNITY DAYS FOR YOU TO GET A
LEISHMAN SUIT
AT $35.00
A representative of the Leishman Company will be with us for these days to take care of all orders. Make sure yours is among them.
SEE WINDOWS FOR SPECIAL OFFERING!
Quick & Robertson
CORRECT CLOTHING FOR MEN

AUSTRALIA WANTS PEACE

Former Premier Says Conflict With Japan Would Be Calamity

Canberra, Australia, Feb. 23 (CP Cable)—The progress of the new Japanese dispute is nowhere being watched with greater anxiety than in Australia, whose people have contended for years and with success against the admittances of the Oriental.

Any war against Japan involving Australia would be a calamity; for Australia, a cablegram, declared Rt. Hon. William Morris Hughes, war-time Prime Minister, today. "If Britain made the navy available for an economic boycott of Japan a state of war would exist between Britain and Japan in which Australia and every part of the empire would be involved," he added.

"We have had enough war. Unless we are attacked we are resolved to determine to remain at peace with the world.

"If there is to be any fighting let others whose withers were less wrung than the great war rush into the breach."

Chinese Women Take Up Weapons

Shanghai, Feb. 22 (AP) — Japanese army headquarters said today Chinese women have taken up arms alongside their husbands and brothers in the defence of the village of Kiangwan.

Soldiers returning from the front, headquarters reported, said, declared they had seen women shooting from windows of buildings at the enemy in the besieged village.

The soldiers, they said, had little to say for the Chinese women's marksmanship, however.

Banana Centre in Oaxaca State Burns

Vera Cruz, Mexico, Feb. 23 (AP)—A four-hour fire of undetermined origin destroyed half the important banana centre in Papaloapan in Oaxaca State last night, causing damage estimated at 800,000 pesos (about $300,000), but there were no deaths or injuries as far as could be learned.

Many families were left completely destitute and saw their home go up in flames.

INJURED WHEN SHIP CRASHED

Australian Aviators Slept One Night in Cabin of Plane

Bari, Italy, Feb. 23 (CP)—Two Australian aviators named Hamilton and Coupland, were slightly injured when their ship crashed near Ruvo Di Puglia last Friday on a flight from Australia to England, it was learned here today.

Both were taken to a hospital for treatment. They had run into a fog late in the day on a hill so heavy covered with snow they were unable to get away and had to spend the night in the cabin of the plane.

LEGAL ACTION LOOMS

Oshawa, Feb. 23—The Oshawa City Council was advised by Gladson Grant, K.C., of Toronto, senior legal counsel for the Oshawa Board of Education, that unless they agree to "levy and collect" the sum named in the board's estimates application will be made to the Supreme Court for a writ of mandamus to force them to comply with the board's wishes. Mr. Grant in his communication to the council set forth the position of the board, pointing out that the public school estimates had been compiled by the board and submitted to council as required under the Governing Act.

ROXY
with TORONTO CIGARETTES
20 for 25c
12 for 15c
Also
Flat tins of 50 and 100
I. O. GROTHE LIMITED
Purveyors of finest tobaccos
Leading the Field in Smoking Enjoyment

COMING
THE WORLD'S BEST SKATERS
TORONTO SKATING CLUB
"Kaleidoscope"
A glittering whirling fantasy of beauty and color—marvelous modern lighting—fascinating music—a pageant that will fascinate and delight!
Never before will there such an opportunity to see the world's best figure skaters—in a setting of such pleasing beauty that it will seem like a fairy dream. Get your tickets early!
ONE NIGHT ONLY
Belleville ARENA
FRIDAY
March 11, 1932
TICKETS
50c $1.00 $1.50
THE WORLD'S MOST WONDERFUL SPECTACLE ON ICE

She needs the extra nourishment that FRY'S COCOA gives

What do we mean by that 'extra nourishment'? Well, you know how nourishing milk is. FRYS Cocoa increases that nourishment by nearly one half. The two together provide just the extra support your children need to keep pace with their growing bodies. FRYS is the cocoa with the chocolate flavour — and the most economical food-drink you can buy.

Write for free Recipe Book.

J. S. Fry & Sons (Canada) Limited, Montreal, Que. 328

Made by the oldest Cocoa and Chocolate House in the world

EGG COOKERY NOT SIMPLE

Famous Parisian Chefs Give Practical Advice on Gentle Art

After long negotiations, a number of American women in Paris, persuaded a famous chef there to give them cooking lessons a few months ago, says Art. article in the Montreal Star. Not a few of them had a qualm noticed that after a few weeks they would have mastered all the secrets of making sauces and soufflés, casseroles and crepes. Imagine their surprise, then, when they found that the first ten lessons were devoted to cooking eggs. Some of them were moved to protest. They knew all about that. So the chef, hurried to the kitchen, broke an egg and then proceeded to pour it into a saucepan containing boiling water. When scrambling time came, he took them in a double boiler, and when baking them in the casserole in a pan of water. In making omelets, don't beat the whites and yolks separately (count me always vehement on this point on one side or the other) and add water, nor cream to the eggs for omelet, except as described in the recipe that follows:

Making an Omelet.

Break six eggs, add six tablespoons of water, one teaspoon salt and one-quarter teaspoon white pepper, and beat thoroughly with a big fork. Wooden salad servers forks are excellent for this purpose. Melt enough butter in a heavy skillet to cover the bottom completely and run up on the sides when the skillet is tipped and turned. Pour in beaten eggs, lower heat, and cook until eggs are set. Carefully pour on one-half cup of very heavy cream and spread out even to edges with bowl of large spoon. Continue cooking until bottom is faintly browned, then with a pancake lifter loosen and fold over. Remove to hot platter and serve at once.

If a filled omelet is desired, add chopped mushrooms, jelly, tomato sauce (in which case omit the cream) or cooked diced vegetables, liver, egg-plant, artichoke bottoms, carrots, or peas sauteed and then simmered in beef extract and water provide a delicious filling for the omelet au fines herbes, add chopped fresh parsley and chives to egg while beating.

Before going on to some of the recipes he taught them, let's get the "Don'ts" memorized so that we won't have to go into them with each recipe. Don't ever cook eggs at a high temperature. Don't actually boil them; cook them slowly in water just below the boiling point. When scrambling them, cook them in a double boiler, and when baking them in the casserole in a pan of water. In making omelets, don't beat the whites and yolks separately (count me always vehement on this point on one side or the other) and add water, nor cream to the eggs for omelet, except as described in the recipe that follows:

Don't be Out-of-Sorts

EAT THIS DELICIOUS FOOD

If you are out-of-sorts it is probable that you can benefit greatly from eating Post's Bran Flakes regularly. Lackadaisical folks often are suffering from constipation and Post's Bran Flakes is a bulk food created to guard against constipation caused by the lack of bulk in the daily diet. Make Post's Bran Flakes a daily part of your diet. Eat it with berries or fruits as you please. Use it as a cereal with milk or cream. The flavour of its crisp, golden toasted flakes makes it a perfect breakfast delight for everyone.

EFFECTIVE DELICIOUS

POST'S BRAN FLAKES

Ordinary cases of constipation, associated with too little bulk in the diet, should yield to Post's Bran Flakes. If your case is obstinate, consult a competent physician at once and follow his advice.

B-32

Women's Interests in the Home

ANNUAL BANQUET OF O. E. S. HELD

Condition of Roads Prevent Many From Attending Event

On Thursday afternoon February 11 the officers of Quinte Chapter, No. 62, Order Eastern Star, Ameliasburg, held a rehearsal in their Chapter room, Hobbin's Mills. The officers, last officers and many of the members were present. At seven o'clock about sixty sat down to a sumptuous repast which was thoroughly enjoyed. Owing to the rain and condition of the roads many visitors who usually come to this event were unable to be present which was a great disappointment to the Quinte Chapter members. At eight o'clock the chapter opened for its regular meeting, with the new Worthy Matron, Pearl Anderson, presiding, and the members were loud in their praise for the excellent way in which the new officers performed their duties.

After routine of the chapter business refreshments were served and a social half hour spent.

HINTS SECRET ACTIVITY

Paris, Feb. 22 (AP)—Secret military activity in Germany was hinted today by Deputy Maurice Bourgeois-Maunoury, in the debate on the 1932 budget for the war ministry which proposes for nine months between April and December inclusive, 2,259,000,000 francs ($137,180,000).

Other Egg Dishes

For baked eggs you will want small shallow individual casseroles so that they may be served in the dishes in which they are baked. Butter can be cooked of course, in muffin tins if they are so generously buttered that the eggs will slide out easily, but they will cool unpretably before they can reach the table. The simplest, and one of the most delicious forms of baked eggs are these. Just slide the eggs into well buttered baking dishes in which them melted butter to which vinegar has been added in the proportion of two tablespoons of butter and one table spoon of vinegar for four eggs. Set the pan or hot water and bake in a moderate oven until set. I substitute lemon juice for the vinegar, to the foregoing recipe, and even chefs have given their grudging approval.

For more elaborate baked eggs prepare any sauce in the recipe for the baking dish to the depth of one-half inch before adding the egg in. Cheese sauce, tomato sauce made with one teaspoon of beef extract added to each half cup of tomato puree, curry sauce made of thickened stock seasoned with curry powder, or asparagus tips or cooked celery in cream sauce are all of all sauteed mushrooms to which sherry has been added, may be used.

Beauty..... BY HELEN JAMIESON

Corrective Treatment For Oily Hair

While there still goes on a lot of loud lamenting on the score of dry hair, the investigator of beauty problems is convinced that since the bob has the world in a state of excitement, buttered topcrests aren't so numerous. The why of that? Short hair is dressed more often and the shampoo is likely to be thorough. Nothing makes for a horrid gummy shimmer like deposits of soap. Operators who launder feminine tetes only know too well that the home shampooer—last expert at the job. The much oil on skin and scalp is due to an excessive amount of secretion of fat sent out by the sebaceous glands. An unhealthy condition of the general system may be responsible also. Fat in the diet excites the glands. The girl who spreads too much butter on her bread might ponder on that statement. If she cannot bring herself to forego butter in wholesale lots, she can add green salads to the daily menu.

The balanced diet which furnishes the body with the various materials it needs for its well being and repairs, corrects many beauty ills. Milk and orange juice are said assets for skin, hair and finger nails. So lay 'em up.

Often a change of shampoo menu-rum will bring to the hair that dry gloss which is so easily distinguished from dullness. Put the egg in a pint glass jar, cover with boiling water, let stand for several days before using. Rinse the hair first. Use a bath spray. A bath spray costs very little. Without it, the good lathering of water properly flavs a strong flow of water. There should be three rinsings and as many rinsings. Unless the suds are free and exciting, bank up on the head in piles of foam, it is not likely that the hair will be clean.

For some unknown reason women have a prejudice against alcohol as a hair and scalp tonic. Rubbing alcohol, diluted one half with water and frictioned into the scalp, will discourage over-active glands. Its warmth acts pleasantly upon the circulatory system, and it is a cleansing agent. Try it for freshening the hair when the big date has arrived without warning, and there's no time for the shampoo.

Brushing is not for the larded plutocrat crown. The brush picks up oil on the scalp, strikes it along the length of the hair shaft.

Avoid the dry shampoo. Orris and cornmeal are the usual mediums, but they add to the epidermal debris on the scalp and invite dandruff.

(Copyright, 1932, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Fashion Flashes

In doors or out the open shank sandal is equally smart. Made to be worn with a lounging pyjama or with an evening frock. One such is made of twisted strips of gold kid and black satin. The vamp is black with pipings of the gold kid.

A grand idea for gifts are the new richu scarves. These are done in crepe de chine in richly paisley or Persian prints and are now being worn in the South on simple white frocks. They can be tied then at the back of the waist in a little bow or are casually knotted.

Hold your bag in great favor if it is smart and different since it can almost "make" the costume. Here is a handbag made of brown felt bands sewn together with brown silk and embroidered with brown horsehair. There is a long gold metal frame.

Be wide awake enough to discover some of the very attractive French nightgowns that are now being offered at such reasonable prices. A new importation is a model in tea rose satin, on the empire lines and made with a deep yoke of Alencon lace and a deep hem of the same lace.

A cuff is enough when it is of fur, or so many of the designers of evening wraps think. And so we find wraps with scarf necklines made of the material and only the cuffs with fur trimming. Such a model is done in rose and silver lame with rose-beige fox cuffs and an interesting scarf neckline that can be manipulated in ever so many ways.

Just arrange your small change in the frame of a new vanity and your chicken feed problem is over. For with a finger one can move the frame of a new vanity, to one side and coins will slide out into the hands. Grand for the morning rush hour when we scramble for a coin for fare.

PREJUDICE TO DISCIPLINE

SANTIAGO, Chile, Feb. 22—(AP) A number of aviators at El Bosque Military Aviation School were reported this morning to have been arrested for acts contrary to discipline.

Minister of War Verpara ordered an immediate investigation.

Women Writer Scores Fair's Horse Races

Mrs. Nina Moore Jamieson, noted farmer-writer, speaking at the annual meeting of the Ontario Association of Fairs and Exhibitions held at the King Edward Hotel, Toronto, last week, said that farmers could well give more attention to milk and cheese production and less to speeding: "I sometimes think that the best thing the greatest farmer can do when it comes to the use and advertising of milk."

Speaking of the women's part of the exhibit, the speaker said that objections had been raised to various exhibitors because several women had put exhibits that required imported ingredients. "Their are many things that can be made," said she, "from all-Canadian products. The Fairs should encourage these cakes and cakes."

Creamed Soups!

Canned Celery, Onion, Tomato, Asparagus and Pea Soups are delicious creamed. Send for recipes and new 100 other delightful ways to serve Clover Leaf. Also ask for recipes in our new FREE cook book, "The Good Provider." It contains the kind of recipes you want and describes dishes can be made with—

Borden's

ST. CHARLES MILK

UNSWEETENED EVAPORATED

Borden Farm Products (Canada) Limited
115 George St., Toronto

Send me a free copy of your new cook book.

Name.....

Address.....

Personals

Miss Mary Hagerty spent the week-end in Montreal.

Mr. Fred H. Deacon of the Deacon Shirt Co. is in Ottawa on business.

Miss Mary Hamilton spent the week-end at her home, Cordova Mines.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Armstrong, Coleman street, spent the week-end in Toronto.

Mrs. R. E. Cole and Mrs. H. Ramsay are leaving today to attend the Eastern Star Convention in Toronto.

Mr. Fred Lawrence, 82 Chatham street, formerly of Bath, Ont., has accepted a position on the sales staff of Belleville Locators.

Constable Kelly of the Belleville district office of the Ontario Provincial Police is in Barrie giving evidence in a court case.

Mrs. George Foster has returned to the city after spending the week-end in Oshawa the guest of Mrs. E. F. Farrow and Mrs. A. C. Brunton.

Mrs. J. S. Pratt, 16 Jones Street, has returned home from the Belleville General Hospital, where she underwent an operation for the removal of her tonsils.

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Cole and son, Leslie, who have been guests of Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Bridge for the past week left for St. John, N.B., where they will join the Empress Steamer the S. S. Montcalm on Friday.

Harold Beach who is attending Albert College has returned to the city after spending the week-end with Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Brown, Kingston.

Mr. William Stringer of the Ontario Forestry Branch at Bancroft, and Mrs. Stringer are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Stringer, Dufferin Avenue.

Mr. H. J. Moore of Toronto, Secretary of the International Peace Gardens, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Bonisteel, Highland Avenue.

Mr.- Herb. Fish and Mrs. Fish, Toronto, Mrs. Edna McAllister and Miss Lillian Fish, Rochester, are in the city today attending the funeral of their mother, the late Mrs. A. E. Fish.

Mrs. H. R. Roff of Saint John, N.B., has returned home after spending a week with her sister Mrs. F. C., Van Allen, 172 Foster avenue. Her brother, Mrs. Jas. Faulkner is confined to Belleville General Hospital with a fractured hip.

Several Leap Year parties are being planned in the city by those who can celebrate their birthdays once in four years. In Toronto five debutantes of last season are arranging a real party for the night of the Royal York Golf Club for Thursday evening. Guests are being limited to young men only. Rules for the party written by the young hostess are the back of the cards are: "1. No corsages to be sent by the boys"; 2. Boys will be on their own for programmes filled; 3. Cigarettes supplied; 4. Dancing will be started by the girls."

Mrs. Taylor Morden entertained the Intelligencer Bridge Club at the February meeting on Thursday afternoon. On Tuesday afternoon Mrs. Frank Clarke, Mrs. Ross Wright, Mrs. W. S. Dies, Miss Rhoda Pringle Mrs. Harvey Bleecker and Mrs. W. D. Robertson, all of Shannonville, attended the regular meeting of the W.C.T.U. in Bridge Street United Church Parsonage. They greatly enjoyed the program and hospitality of the Belleville members.

DIES FROM INJURIES

Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 23 (CP)—Harold (Dutch) Ewbank, 25, well known hockey and rugby player, died in the hospital early today. He suffered a fractured skull last Friday, when he was knocked down at Lakeshores Park rink.

"SNAPPY" SNAP SHOTS

SANDY SAYS SNAP IS ECONOMICAL — AND SANDY OUGHT TO KNOW

SNAP

TOUGH on DIRT and GREASE — but good to your hands

The Greatest Bargain in Nourishment!

No other food you can buy will give you so much delicious nourishment for such little cost as CROWN BRAND CORN SYRUP—the food. Every grocer sells it.

Send 10c for "Canada's Prize Recipes"—50 prize-winning cooking recipes.

EDWARDSBURG

EDWARDSBURG CROWN BRAND CORN SYRUP

THE CANADA STARCH CO., LIMITED, MONTREAL

Brand and name "Crown Brand Corn Syrup," "Lily-White Corn Syrup," "Edwardsburg Silver Gloss Starch" and "Benson's Prepared Corn" are registered trade marks.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Robber H as a Shock

By Thornton W. Burgess

Some things you do not need to see;
A guess may just as useful be.

—Robber the Rat.

"Two of them! Two Owls in this barn!" exclaimed Robber the Rat under his breath. "No wonder the members of my tribe have been disappearing. One would be bad enough, but two is just twice as bad. I didn't dream that there were two. I wonder how it happened that two were here."

Robber kept perfectly still in his hiding-place and waited and watched. Presently the moonlight began to steal through the gable window and shone full on the open side of that great box up in the rafters. He could see plainly now the form which had at first been so shadowy on the edge of that box. It leaned forward and for the first time he saw the strange face he ever had seen. He knew that it was the face of an Owl, but what a face! It seemed to be heart-shaped, made up of two great feathered disks in which were set two great staring eyes above a hooked bill partly hidden in feathers. He felt a cold shiver run all over him. It seemed as if those eyes were staring straight at him and must see him. For a moment he actually held his breath.

Then that big form leaned forward and the big head began to bob and sway from side to side in the funniest way. There was a faint noise at the window and in came another great bird with flapping wings and alighted on the edge of that box. In his bill was a field Mouse which he at once passed to the other, who disappeared with it in the great box. It was like a small room. At once there were low sounds from it, there sounds that sent more shivers over Robber the Rat. He crept into that dark box to know what they meant. They could mean but one thing. He was sure of that. What was "Rabbit! A nest of young Owls!" he exclaimed under his breath. Then, indeed it was very much under his breath. Not for the world would he have had them hear the faintest sound. He knew how wonderful are the ears of all Owls and there only a little way from him were two pairs capable of hearing the faintest sound in the world. It is claw on wood or the rustle of a bit of hay caused by a mouse. So it was that Robber saw for the first time the terrible ears of Monkey-face the Barn Owl.

Monkey-face remained only a few minutes. Then left by the gable window and once more Mrs. Mokkey-face came to the edge of the box and waited. It seemed almost to Robber the Rat as Monkey-face returned and this time he carried a Shrew. As before he passed it to Mrs. Mokkey-face and as before she disappeared with it. Robber the Rat trembled with utter fear. Shrews were sent shivers all over Robber again.

Monkey-face once more departed and for the third time Mrs. Monkey-face followed him. Robber knew that this probably meant that there were several hungry babies to be fed, but still he could not see the parents return. This was his chance to get away from there without danger and he took advantage of it. He had seen all he wanted to see. He knew now that those things were for the Rats and Mice in that box and around it than he had ever dreamed.

"A family!" he muttered as he hurried home to spread the bad news." A family of young Owls right in this very barn! Growing children require a lot of food. Those Owls will be hunting all night long and even during the day here in the barn where it never is dark. This is bad news, bad news indeed for the Rats and the Mice. We will have to move. There is no doubt about it we will have to move, though where we will move to I don't know. It is too bad, too bad for it is so easy to steal all we want here. We don't have to work for a living at all, and working for a living is something no Robber ever wants to do."

Copyright, 1932, T. W. Burgess)

The next story: "Robber Leads His Tribe Away."

CHOCOLATE CUP CAKES

¼ cup shortening
1 cup sugar — 2 eggs
½ cup milk
2 cups pastry flour (or 1¾ cups bread flour)
2 teaspoons Magic Baking Powder
¼ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon soda
1 teaspoon vanilla extract
2½ squares unsweetened chocolate

Cream shortening; add sugar slowly; add well-beaten egg yolks. Sift dry ingredients together and add, alternately with milk, to first mixture. Add vanilla and melted chocolate; fold in egg whites beaten stiff; Put into greased muffin tins and bake in moderate oven at 375° F. about 25 minutes. Cover with chocolate icing.

Why Miss Lillian Loughton's

Chocolate Cup Cakes are famous

"I use Magic Baking Powder," says Miss Lillian Loughton, Dietitian and Cookery Expert of the Canadian Magazine. "My successful baking results are due in large part to its lightness, uniformity, and consistent high quality.

"My own recipes are planned for Magic and I tested it for all recipes calling for baking powder."

Miss Loughton's high praise confirms the judgment of other Canadian dietitians and cookery experts. The majority of them use Magic exclusively, because it gives consistently better baking results.

Magic is first choice of Canadian housewives, too. It sounds all other baking powders combined.

FREE COOK BOOK—When you bake at home, the new Magic Cook Book will give you dozens of recipes for delicious baked foods. Write to Standard Brands Ltd., Fraser Ave. & Liberty St., Toronto, Ont.

"CONTAINS NO ALUM." This statement on every can is your guarantee that Magic Baking Powder is free from cream of tartar harmful ingredients.

Made in Canada

FINANCIAL NEWS

TORONTO BD. FIRMER TODAY

Modest Gains in Some Issues Nickel Advances

Toronto, Ont., Feb. 23 — Toronto Stock Exchange market was firmer this morning following a day of irregular reaction; the opening session of the week-end. Strength in commodities, particularly wheat, was a factor contributing to the better tone in Canadian securities.

Gains were modest in nearly all cases. C.P.R. at 13 was up almost ¼ point. Brazilian moved up one; the smallest fraction, as did Dominion Steers.

Nickle showed a gain of a few cents in scattered trading. Ford of Canada rested to point when, it pushed upward 15 and Canada Cement preferred and Simpsons preferred each scored a point.

Walkers at 3¼ was unchanged. Some common issues were slightly higher while the preferred were down ½ point.

Oils did not vary enough to interest any number of public operators towards this class of shares.

B. A. Oil, following yesterday's gain of a few cents in scattered trading, moved up 1 point when, it pushed upward 15 and Canada Cement preferred and Simpsons preferred each scored a point.

Walkers at 3¼ was unchanged. Some common issues were slightly higher while the preferred were down ½ point.

Oils did not vary enough to interest any number of public operators towards this class of shares.

B. A. Oil, following yesterday's gain of a few cents in scattered trading, moved up 1 point when, it pushed upward 15 points. Ford of Canada rested to 5 point when, it pushed upward 15 points. Ford of Canada rested to 5 point when, it pushed upward 15 points. Ford of Canada rested to 5

SUPPORTS NEW OUTLOOK VIEW

Starving Man's Right to Take Food Upheld By Minister

Toronto, Feb. 22.—Unequivocal support of the view recently expressed in the New Outlook that in exceptional circumstances a man is justified in taking food by force, if another way be not given by Rev. Dr. Ernest Thomas, prominent United Church minister and publicist, in an interview with a newspaper recently.

In defining "exceptional circumstances" Dr. Thomas said: "When a man is starving, he has the right to help himself to food which another man controls, but as a community has the right to take from the surplus of its citizens for the support of the poor."

He maintained this was not a revolutionary view, and the same doctrine had been upheld by the Christian church from the very earliest times.

It was not, Dr. Thomas thought, the eighth commandment which should occupy the Christian conception but rather the Christian doctrine of property rights. "Through centuries of Christianity," he said, "the whole system of private property as defined by law and enforced by state coercion was outside the realm of the distinctively Christian life. The Decalogue was never regarded as a statement of distinctively Christian morality at all until after the Reformation, and even then it was treated as an expression of natural law."

Christian Authorities

Dr. Thomas quoted the Epistle of Barnabas, included in the Apocrypha of the New Testament, in which it was said: "Thou shalt share with thy neighbor and shalt not say that anything is thine own; for if you are sharers in that which is incorruptible, how much more ought you to be sharers in that which is corruptible."

He cited authority also from Ignatius, Bishop of Smyrna, who, far away as his residence, 17 Forbes St., wrote:

"It is not my desire whether wealth is a sin; the question raised by Christ is not whether we really do own what we do not need, but acute distress reveals the desperate need of another.

"It is not the duty of ministers," he went on, "to argue whether this or that is consistent with conscience or Christian principle or not, but to apply the principles of Christianity to the actual problems of the day. Many private projects and many drugged consciences. But when those who have assailed the doctrine expressed in the New Outlook as Christian must choose another ground. Perhaps Christianity is not adapted to an age which doctrine has passed away. It is the task of this old gospel to bring a new and ordered life to the individual and to the society in which he lives, a gospel which was never before identified with the mind of Jesus nor with the teaching of the Christian church."

Definition Unchanged

Dr. Thomas pointed out that the Christian definition of property rights had remained unchanged in spite of the rapid changes. In proof of this he cited Clement of Alexandria who had argued that for one man to possess a surplus while was necessary for another's life was to deny the idea of Christian equality. Later St. Basil and early in the fifth century he had declared: "The world is not yours that you give to the poor, it is yours that you keep for yourself. It is not the property of the rich." The same doctrine, he said, was being taught today.

Dr. Thomas commented upon Premier Henry's criticism of the New Outlook articles. Premier Henry had reported to have said that the motive of the membership of the United Church did not resent the teaching. "Yet people do not resent it when the same principle is stated in another form," Dr. Thomas said. "Social and economic reformers in the day story of Jean Valjean. He acted on exactly the same principle which the Prime Minister condemns and yet Les Miserables is never criticized as a dangerous influence."

World Break From Good Road System

Peterboro, Ont., Feb. 23.—(By the Canadian Press)—At a meeting of the County Reeves' Association on Saturday afternoon a resolution was passed asking the county council to break away from the Ontario good roads system.

The meeting was attended by representative farmers from practically section of the county and the motion takes the form of an ultimatum. The resolution will be presented to the County Council at a special session to be held on Friday.

West York Liberals To Name Candidate

Toronto, Ont., Feb. 23.—(By the Canadian Press)—West York Liberals are expected shortly to announce a candidate to contest the West York riding in the Provincial by-election to fill the seat vacated by the death recently of Hon. Dr. Forbes Godfrey, former Ontario Minister of Health. Date of the by-election has not yet been announced.

Two candidates are definitely in the running for the Conservative nomination. Harry I. Fiyne of Weston, are in Sheffield, while Reeve W. R. McDonald of New Toronto, is expected to run as a Labor-Conservative candidate, if he receives the support of the Conservative Convention to be held March 8th.

HOLDER OF UNIQUE OFFICE GETS TWO SALARY CUTS

In the main estimates blue book tabled in the House of Commons there is a small item of $13 wedged between appropriations of millions of dollars, being the sum payable to Ernest Saunders of Ottawa for firing the noon-day gun on Parliament Hill. Every day Saunders, who is employed in the Post Office Department, trudges up to the ancient cannon behind the East Block and shatters the stillness of Parliament Hill, precisely when the sun is at its meridian. Ever since Snowden has fired the gun he has been paid $150 per year. Then came the reduction of $15 to be paid him in the 10 per cent. reduction which is applied to all civil servants' salaries. He is believed to be the only government employee who is paid two distinct salaries from the same source. Mr. Snowden is shown firing the ancient cannon, a job which is regarded by the tender youth of th Capital as one of great distinction.

Nursing Report Does Not Affect Local Hospital

School May Be Closed in Hospitals With 75 or Fewer Beds

NURSING PROBLEM

Belleville Hospital does not stand within the list of hospitals which would suffer by the closing of nurses' training schools as recommended in the "Survey of Nursing Education" just issued from the University of Toronto press. Belleville hospital has a bed capacity of about one hundred beds and in times of emergency has housed as many as one hundred and thirty-five or more patients. The closing of nurses' training schools is recommended in the "survey" where hospitals having less than seventy-five beds and a daily total of at least fifty patients.

The proposal of course would mean that in the future hospitals with the employment of graduate nurses entirely the cost of operation of the hospitals will accordingly go up. It is believed, though, as pointed out in the report, there is much extra cost in the small hospitals through the maintenance of nurses' training schools in connection with them.

Subsidized Schools

It is also contended in the "survey" that the training of nurses should not be left to what is called the haphazard methods of individual hospitals, but that nursing schools should be subsidized, controlled and supervised in the same way as in the case of normal schools. It has been urged that the latter should devote and approve a training school, and that no hospital should be allowed to carry on a training school unless under the organization and supervision of a provincial board of control that the community requires and warrants the establishment of such a school.

Glaring disparity between the best and weakest schools in regard to preliminary education is pointed out. At some nursing schools nothing but an elementary school training is required for admission while in large schools university graduates are enrolled, all looking to the same R.N. examination. Examination differences are marked.

As to the oversupply of nurses, it is said that today there is forty per cent. without work, while about sixty per cent. of the cases that should be tried by graduate nurses are attended by untrained attendants.

Only three out of eight patients of moderate means who need graduate nurses are able to engage them. Hence arises the question of a socialized nursing service as it is felt that the cost of health services is reaching too high. Socialization, it is urged in the report, would breach the gap between the needy patient unable to pay nursing fees and the unemployed graduate unable to market her services in over sixty per cent of the cases of illness.

The report shows that after living expenses are paid over fifty per cent of the families of Canada have nothing left for health services, medical, dental, nursing and so forth. To meet this situation it is felt that compulsory health state insurance should be set up, to be financed by the contributions from the insured, the employer, and the provincial and the Federal government.

Reorganization and control of nursing services is the next step with supervision, control of nursing services recommended for placing in the hands of provincial council of nurses.

This might result in continuous services to the nurses throughout the year.

The report is made possible by the assistance of the Canadian Nurses' Association and the Canadian Medical Council.

Belleville Hospital has always maintained a training school.

Russian Warship Is Laying Mines?

Budapest, Hungary, Feb. 22.—(AP)—The newspaper Leggeli Ujsag today printed a despatch from Constanza saying a Russian warship, returning from the north, reported the Russians were laying mines near the Rumanian Black Sea border.

Officers of the ship were quoted as saying they met four Russian torpedo boats and were blocking entrances to Russian ports with mines.

BUNK ABOUT RAT-HOUSES

Not Thicker and Heavier Than They Have Been For Years

"All this talk about 'musharat buildin' their houses thicker'n they have been for years is all the bunk," asserted a resident of the North country, who was in town Saturday afternoon, winding up some business and who took the time to answer a few questions regarding signs of an early Spring. The 'musharat' did build their houses higher than I've seen 'em afore for years, but that was on account of the flood they knew was comin' this year-there was the rains and so on we've been lucky, but they weren't no thicker'n, they have been I've often seen 'em."

"For nigh onto sixty years I've been hawkin' wood for the comin' Winter out of my back acres, but this is the fust time I had to haul it on a stone boat, like I did this year, except for one or two when there wasn't much snow, but then it was cold enough to freeze water in the swampy parts where it was the worst. This year though the swamps have hardly froze over, and there ain't be to drive a horse team on as far as an early Spring does I dunno. I kinda think mebbe there will be a lot of course this time yet for real cold weather, but some of them days when the sun was up you could see the sides of the pan a steamin'. It'll be a bad year for maple sugar makin', too. The sap's been runnin' nearly all winter."

SAW WAY THRU WINDOW

Reading, Pa., Feb. 22.—Four men were at large today after sawing their way through a barred window of the new Berks County jail. Crawling into the exercise field their scaled a 15-foot wall.

Insure Your Health

Take regularly The Vitamin-rich

SCOTT'S EMULSION

of Norwegian Cod Liver Oil

To Build Resistance Easy to Digest

NEW SQUADRONS TO BE ADDED

Will Be Equipped With Hawker "Hart" Machines

London (By The Canadian Press) —Two new Royal Air Force squadrons equipped with the Hawker "Hart" day bombers which set new standards of speed, rate of climb and general flying performance when they were first tested in the service, will be added to the British air fleet during this first quarter of 1932, it was announced today at Upper Heyford, Oxfordshire, Middlesex and Andover, Hampshire, units, which began to form last month. Each will comprise of ten numbers 18 and 57, revising the identity of squadrons that were engaged in the Great War and disappeared in the drastic reduction of the Royal Air Force after the end of the war.

These two units will bring the total strength of the Royal Air Force up to 34 squadrons, including co-operation squadrons and flying boat units, and 12 Auxiliary Air Force and Special Reserve squadrons that properly cannot be included in the list of first line formations.

Eight squadrons are serving in India, five in Egypt and the Sudan, four in Iraq, one in Transjordan and Palestine, two in Aden and one at Singapore. The strength of Britain's home defence has been in line with the new additions, only 42 squadrons instead of the modern establishment laid down as essential in the reorganization scheme of 1924. In numbers of first line aircraft the British fleet is far below that of France, the other leading power, though much of the numerical deficiency in machines is counterbalanced by the skill of the British fighting pilots and the unrivalled efficiency of his equipment.

MILK REPORT

Below will be found the city milk report for February.

	Sediment	Percent.
DeVault	Clean	3.7
Bell	"	3.5
Belview	"	3.7
Bonter	"	3.4
Farnhap	"	3.9
Chilnes Dairy	"	3.5
Butler	"	3.4
A. A. Breech	"	4.1
Millard	"	3.6
E. Leeming	"	3.3
Harper	"	3.5
Babcock	"	3.8
W. Mossman	Slight	3.6
Montrose "stand-ard"	"	3.4
Montrose "Jersey"	"	3.6

(Signed) C. B. Wallz, M.D., Medical Officer.

SUSPENDED FROM NAIL

Chicago, Feb. 23—The Empire Packing Company plant seethed in flames Monday. Nick Nagoti, assuage maker ran to the window for a mighty leap into the nets of firemen four floors below.

A nail in the window sill hooked the seat of his trousers, stopping his leap and holding him suspended while the flames licked his feet. He was seriously burned before firemen released him. Damage to the plant was estimated at $30,000.

RESIGNATION NO SURPRISE

Friends Expect Dr. Orchard and Will Enter Priesthood

London (By The Canadian Press) —The recent announcement that Rev. Dr. W. E. Orchard, famous Congregational preacher, is resigning the Ministry of the King's Weigh Square Church, hardly caused surprise. Many of his friends expect he will soon enter the Catholic priesthood. Dr. Orchard's wife died some years ago, and it is interesting to remember that Cardinal Manning was a widower when he left the Anglican Church.

The King's Weigh House Church is one of the new remaining so-called "fashionable" Nonconformist chapels of worship in the West End. Dr. Orchard became Minister there in 1914. His adoption of an elaborate ceremonial, including a kind of the older members of its congregation, although his pronounced manners and attractive personality enabled him to avoid a serious opposition for some time. His relations with his flock at the King's Weigh House have remained when it was reported he had accepted ordination into the Anglican Church. Alfred Igure, the Bishop of Mercia, a former Nonconformist Minister of the older ministers of this

The Dime-a-Dance Girl

By Joan Clayton

"That reminds me," remarked Larry with the utmost seriousness, "I'm hungry."

"After all those hot dogs?" marveled Ellen, giggling at his foolishness.

"Only three or maybe four. You're hungry, too. You can't deny it. Your tongue's hanging out at the thought of food."

They lounged on the roof of the Midnight Moon Hotel, despite Ellen's feeble protests at such extravagance. They ate lobster Newburg and strawberry ice, with reckless disregard of their health, while the far below they heard steam-boat whistles and saw the tiny podan circle of the ferris wheel turning over and over.

Then the stars came out.

"Listen, what time is it?" asked Ellen suddenly. "I've got to get to Dreamland and you promised to return the car to your friend."

"That doesn't matter," Larry replied carelessly as he leaned across the table toward her. "The only thing that matters is that you and I are here on this roof and that you have the loveliest eyes. Did you ever take a good look at your eyes —Ellen?"

But Ellen was not to be diverted. "No wonder you're always late," she rebuked. "Don't you ever look at your watch?"

As a matter of fact," he laughed "I haven't a watch. I'm afraid if I carried one I'd have to look at it."

Ellen was taken back by the novelty of this viewpoint. What an idea he was! But she was a little troubled also. Larry had distinctly told her his friend intended to use the car that evening. She had her job to remember. She could not be sorry until she knew the time. She told him that.

Somewhat aggrieved he set off in search of a waiter. When he returned he was smiling broadly, a good natured and cheerful again.

"Everything's fine now," he teased her. "It's too late for me to take the car back and it's too late for you to go to Dreamland. It's 18 minutes of 9".

Ellen uttered a cry of horror. She stood up.

"We'll have to leave this minute!" she cried.

"But no—you don't understand! It's too late to leave. We'll stay here and dance. What a lucky break my not having a watch!"

"It may not make any difference to you," Ellen said, determined to be sober him. "But my job is important to me. I simply must get there."

"But you can't—" he exclaimed. "That's what I'm trying to tell you. We couldn't reach town before 10 any way maybe later."

Ellen was annoyed and hurt. When he had promised she was to be back and that a genuine mood of anger and disappointment was brought her silent, he changed his tone. She thought he seemed disinterested as he asked what she would do.

"I'll telephone that I'll be late. I suppose that's the only thing I can do."

"I've got it!" Larry exclaimed. "We'll stop at Dreamland and I'll buy all your dances for the evening. That'll fix Salomon. You'll see."

Ellen, reluctantly, unwillingly, found herself laughing with him. It was too difficult for her to respond to his cozy, agreeable charm. After all, she though, even if he could seem so understanding the seriousness of her job he was quick enough to resign the situation he had created.

"We'll go dancing in town," he went on. "That'll be more fun any way. The whole town is beginning to be a fireside."

Ellen, reluctantly, unwillingly, at last, consented. Larry was willing enough to remain for an evening away from the dance hall where he was able to dance as much by her absence as by her presence. But Ellen found herself uncomfortable over the arrangement. She knew the other girls thought it odd. Annie, in particular, stared curiously and turned to whisper as Ellen and Larry—like) her. In a thousand ways girls understood he will he had told her so.

They drove home through the night when the star had begun to fade and the east was beginning to lighten and pale. Still, not much before dawn enveloped the city. When they arrived in town the sun was breaking over the house tops. Larry paused to look at the brightening sky before he breathe the delicious coolness before they crept into the house and crept slowly up the stairs.

Larry hesitated at the door a long time, as unwilling to go as Ellen was to have him. It had been such a perfect evening they told each other again and again. Its hushed, surreptitious ending, its foreshadow of what they had seen and done; whispered of a future that held even fun they would have!

Gradually there crept into the air a lonesomes that made their very gayety inappropriate.

Larry's sentence trailed into brooding silence. He was holding Ellen's hands in his own. One of them loosened and then the other. With a feeling of pure ecstasy and a painfully healing heart she felt his hands at her shoulders. She trembling and her eager lips parted.

She was almost in his arms when he muttered huskily that it was time for little girls to be in bed and, without a backward look, ran down the stairway.

CHAPTER XV

Monday was sale day at Barclay's Monday was the day the basement inevitably reached its peak for the whole week. The girls dreaded Mondays. Most of them on Sunday critically examined the store advertisements to determine which counters were to be inundated. That particular Monday Ellen and Jenny Ekins, her counter mate, were the victims. Their counter drew a large and vociferous proportion of the crowd. Nineteen-cent cretonne, hundreds of bolts, apparently were passionately desired by every woman in New York.

Ellen as she mechanically cut lengths of gay colored material and tossed them to the wrapper, as she tried vainly to keep some order among the bolts on the counter, as he again and again assured cross and weary shoppers that any one of the patterns was precisely what was wanted for summer draperies, had not a minute to think of herself or of Larry. She had dreamed of him the night before. No dream had a chance of survival at Barclay's on Monday morning.

Toward 11 Ellen began to notice that Jenny Ekins, a little chalice-box of 19, was strangely silent. Ordinarily nothing could stop Jenny's active tongue. She was always talking and giggling between sales or during them, calmly oblivious of the fury of her customers. Ellen missed her cheerful chatter and her breathless confidences of what "the boy friend" had said or done the night before.

During a temporary lull, she ventured to move to Jenny's end of the counter to ask how she had spent the week end.

The other girl continued making out her sales slip. Since Jenny did not speak, Ellen decided that she had not heard the question. She repeated it. Jenny raised a flushed face.

"Doing nothing much," she answered coolly.

"I haven't done anything to offend you, have I?" Ellen asked in surprise.

"Of course not," Jenny responded airily.

She tore off the sales slip, handed the carbon to her customer and affably urged the perspiring woman to come again to Barclay's. She was so affable that the customer looked a bit startled as she hurried away. She was less startled than Ellen. Ellen knew how Jenny felt about customers.

Unfortunately at that moment her attention was diverted by a request for run on cretonnes. She was compelled to dash back to her own place. Eventually she decided to ask Jenny to lunch with her. She really preferred to lunch alone, but she had no intention of permitting her counter-mate to sulk over an imaginary injury.

At the stroke of 13 and before Ellen had a chance to speak, Jenny disappeared. That was odd, too. Generally there was some social discussion of luncheon plans. Ellen ran toward the employee's stairway and caught up with Jenny who was making her way to the rest room.

"I'll bet you've got to lunch if you don't go over 50 cents," she offered pleasantly, knowing the how broke Jenny invariably was.

"Sorry," answered Jenny.

"Look here," Ellen began suddenly and with spirit, if "you're annoyed with me over something I've done that you tell me what it is." She stairs were full of hurrying girls. All at once Ellen was possessed of the notion that Jenny did not wish to be seen with her. Certainly she was galloping up the stairs in an unseemly manner.

"It's nothing," Jenny responded coldly.

"It is too, or you wouldn't act this way!" Ellen replied. "But we can't in such a hurry as all this. Let's stop a minute."

She walked through the door at the second floor and into the practically deserted furniture department. After a longing glance at the stairs and a hasty, backward glance at Ellen's back, Jenny followed.

"Now, out with it," Ellen said. Jenny was plainly embarrassed. She looked at the floor, occasionally started to speak but instead looked her lips in blubbering silence as she regained her composure Ellen saw that something serious was about to happen which he had never seen before.

"I've always liked you, Ellen," she said at last, "but I never thought of you as trying to think of her reputation."

"What in the world do you mean? Ellen demanded hotly.

"Well, I mean," Jenny continued gathering confidence, "everybody always pretended to be—oh, well, sort of interested in you, but I didn't think you wouldn't have said a word if you hadn't thought I was. But the whole store's talking."

Ellen suddenly remembered abruptly that when she had gone to the locker room Monday morning girls from Barclay's apartment she would have told the truth. But Jenny would not have believed her. Already the other girl had begun to enjoy herself, was doubtless, Ellen thought, storing up the interview to relate to her friends and acquaintances.

"So you see how it is," Jenny concluded. "A girl has to think of herself."

She shrugged ever so slightly and moved away.

(TO BE CONTINUED)

TILLIE THE TOILER

—By George McManus.

BRINGING UP FATHER

SURE-YOU CAN FISH RIGHT OFF THE BACK OF THE BOAT!
THANKS-CAPTAIN-THAT'S FINE-
THIS AIN'T BAD OF COURSE, IT WOULD BE GREAT IF THE GANG WAS HERE.
I LOVE MY LOVE IN THE SPRING TIME I LOVE MY LOVE IN THE FALL
A FISH COULDN'T POSSIBLY PUT UP WITH THAT-SPLASH
SPLASH
SPLASH

TWEED CHOIR HAS ANNUAL MEETING

S H. Connors Elected President of United Church Group

Tweed, Feb. 22.By Mail—The annual meeting of the choir of Tweed United Church was held on Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. R. B. Cook, choir leader.

The business meeting was presided by regular choir practice the president of the choir, Mr. S. H. Connors, in the absence of the regular secretary, Miss M. Carew, the minutes of the last annual meeting were read by Dr. M. G. O. Dales who was appointed secretary protem.

The treasurer's report was read by Mrs. I. Benny, which showed gross receipts amounting to $152.21, made up largely of proceeds of supper held on March 7th, 1931. During the year the choir purchased twenty copies of the new Hymnary, provided music racks in the choir loft, and purchased new music to the value of approximately forty dollars. These items along with other expenditures leave a net balance of $19.56.

The election of officers was proceeded with and the following constitutes the choir executive for the year 1932:

Hon. Pres.—Mr. Chas. Garrett.
President—Mr. S. H. Connors.
Vice Pres.—Mrs. W. A. Beatty.
Secretary—Miss M. Rowe.
Treasurer—Dr. M. G. Dales.
Membership Committee—Mrs. W. McCutcheon, Mrs. A. Davis, Miss L. Richardson, Miss I. Campbell, Miss M. McGhee.

Social Committee — Mrs. M. O. Dales, Mrs. I. Benny, Miss E. Reynolds, Miss G. Reeves, Mr. H. Grier and Mr. W. G. Gordon.

Special Number Committee—Mrs. H. Grier, Mrs. S. H. Connors, Mr. J. Robinson, Mr. G. Brown, Mr. A. Davies.

It was decided to again have a banquet this season on the usual date.

After the transaction of the business of the evening a number of games were provided by Mrs. and Mrs. Cooke, in this manner a delightful hour was spent. A dainty lunch was served by the hostess and the meeting adjourned after expressions of appreciation to Mrs. Cooke, the choir leader, Mrs. J. G. Frost, organist.

Alderness Y.P.

Mr. Gordon Lapp, Field Secretary of the Ontario Boys' Work Board addressed a gathering of young people and their parents at the mid-week meeting in the United Church.

Mr. Lapp spoke on the subject of the place of boy life and boy work in the boys' life today. The boy is naturally equipped in experience to face the struggle of life. Within him are certain latent talents which wise leaders can seek out and develop so that he may fill his place in human affairs.

During the past seven or seven and one half years there has been greater concern for the welfare of the boy, and a new emphasis has been placed on the conservation of the best in boyhood. This renders unnecessary much of the waste which is seen in the adult remains of a wasteful life.

Youth is the experimenting period. It is then that the boy begins to wonder what he has to do with his life. Leaders of boys should be prepared to give wise guidance. Though the way really is but imperfectly they can and do exert a tremendous influence upon young life by their own example and personality.

In other countries, Russia, Japan, Italy, youth movements are in progress—voices of authority are speaking to the people. Can these not enlist the enthusiasm and ardour of youth if voice of authority linked with humility, were to point out the way of service.

Mr. Lapp traced the progress of Trail Rangers and Trails work and showed the value of the activities connected with this work in developing as it does the worship and reverence; of sportsmanship and in the building of character.

Mr. Lapp is a pleasing speaker who speaks with great fluency. He capably fills a useful place in the boys' work of this province.

Dr. Locke favoured the audience with two delightful violin selections.

Passed Examinations

John Locke, four year old son of Dr. and Mrs. Locke, of Tweed, was successful in passing second class honours in a recent elementary violin examination held at the Toronto Conservatory of Music. John is a pupil of his father who is himself a talented violinist.

Is Injured

Mr. George Thompson of Tweed was seriously injured while working near the C.N.R. station on No. 14 highway. His ankle was broken when it was crushed between a heavy load and a fixed object. Dr. M. O Dales attended the injured man who is progressing as favourably as can be expected at his home.

ACCIDENTAL DEATH

Oshawa, Feb. 22.—A verdict of accidental death was returned by a jury under Coroner Dr. D. S. Hogg, in the inquest on George J. Watson of Milton, 21 year old farm man, who was killed here last Tuesday morning. Campbell, engineer of the Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo Railway, and George Chisholm conductor said five flat cars were being switched near Ritson Road when Watson attempted to board one of the cars. He lost his hold and slipped under the wheels.

North of the entrance to Hudson strait, which is only 50 miles wide, there is no other passage to the west for 800 miles.

Embarrassing Moments

The Cat and the Racket

The devil always finds work for idle hands to do. If the hands be long to the small boy then he generally sticks to the job until the task is completed—and a thorough piece of work is almost always accomplished. Witness last evening's for example.

The district bore itself with a quiet dignity in the neighborhood of Pringle's street last evening. A casual observer, were he to stroll through there, would say that everything was in order. Those who were accustomed to that district would say that things were too quiet. Something was likely to happen at Pringle's—and it did.

Two small boys, weary of the things nothing and somethings which their being bothered by in some manner or before, stood and leaned on not a nearly building, getting their breath—and wondering, possibly, what next to do.

Then the alley cat, poked a tentative head around the nearest corner, peered with tail erect, sauntered into the area way. He should have known better. Ordinarily Thomas was the wariest, wiliest and sharpest cat in the neighborhood. What he didn't know about garnering a living from cooks' garbage pails—and all small boys in general—wasn't worth knowing. But this evening Thomas had dined well; he was sleepy and off his guard. Consequently when a large grey coat jacket descended over his squirming person he was surprised. Then he dared to fight the cloth and became quiet, waiting.

Then came "Pride". Here we have the stage for a real drama as the world will provide. Unfortunately newspaper articles must depict in brevity the events which ensued at the sacrifice, sometimes, of the literary charms of the story. But a mere statement that Fritz hated cats must suffice. He could not intensify. An inherited hatred perhaps from his parents back in the Fatherland, or a hatred bred right into the years just as strong as it had been after the first member of the cat tribe had doubled cruelty to Grandfather or other relation. Fritz smelled fight. Forthwith he "downs and promptly lost" ill discretion. Here was a return to the boys.

"Now that we got the ole cat whatta we guh' to do with h'im?" asked No. 1, wonderingly.

"Let's throw h'im in the river," suggested No. 2, brightly.

"Naw, I'll tell ya—let's find some one and sell h'im."

"Alright—where'd we go?"

"Guess there ain't much use lookin' for one now in the dark" admitted No. 2 after some moments' labored thought, "but, say, I got it!... Let's take h'im over to ... 's and throw h'im in the door 'n' he takes cats."

"Good!"

It wasn't far to his house, by it was a noisy one—your bold pirate brigand cat in the jacket, 'n' snarling dog fighting to get it 'n'... and the shouts of the boys tryin to beat the dog off. The house was "Hold that dog," wh'spered No. 1 "Hurry up," echoed the young fellow who struggled with the snarling dog.

An unlatched door was stealthily opened. From the jacket a snarling spitting ball of fur rolled to the floor, bounced once or twice and then set off in a series of aimless hops towards the rear of the house.

"Sic 'em", said No. 2 as he slipped the collar.

Ten seconds later came a crash "That would be that gawky, old china closet" agreed the boys as they stood outside the door and awaited developments. A louder crash . . . followed by a series of dingerty-dings and some pan rattling. "Pots and pans on the wall," remarked No. 1. "Or off the stove" mentally from No. 2. A thump then a succession of thumps...and No. 1 broke the interval during which followed. "That must be some of the furniture...." A wild yell from the interior of the house .... "The cat must've run up old ... 's back" observed No. 2, dryly Then came the crash! A clinkle of glass and a rending of wood from the rear of the house.

"What was that!"

"Must have been a window—let go see...."

"No. Let's scram . . . the cops'll be here any minute . . ."

Two forms ran down the street Two other forms hurried through the back yard and made for the nearest alley. Of the latter two, Thomas was well in the lead—all claws out, bald brittling and tail erect, a grand picture was making another epic fight from the ravishing fangs which closely pursued. The strange pair disappeared by.... all was silent. And peace once more descended over a quiet neighborhood. The neighbors were right again, as usual. Happenings, like buses, are frequent; they yawn, as they remind you.

Nickel has been made in such thin sheets that it has been found possible to coat iron articles with nickel, so as to get the principle of the lawn mower.

More money can usually be made by selling others how to do a thing than by doing it oneself.—Claude M. Pioss.

Good looks aren't always luck

Sparkling eyes and a smooth complexion depend on good health.

The beautiful woman guards against constipation. She knows this condition can cause headaches, sallow skin, dull eyes, pimples, premature aging.

Prudent yourself from constipation by eating a delicious cereal. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and Vitamin B to tone the intestinal tract. In addition, ALL-BRAN furnishes blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is similar to that of lettuce. Within the body, it forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes. How much safer than pills and drugs—which act like violence!

Two tablespoonfuls daily—in serious cases, with every meal—will correct most types of constipation. If your trouble is not relieved in this way, see your doctor.

Serve as a cereal, with milk or cream, or use in cooking. At all grocers. In the red-and-green packages. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

HELPS KEEP YOU FIT

THE CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES LIMITED

Store Hours—Open 9 a.m. Close 6 p.m. Saturday—Open 9 a.m. Close 9.30 p.m.

For the Fashionable Note of Contrast Choose — Mayfair Scarves

2.95

Vivid patches of color to tone up your Winter coats and suits—Mayfair scarfs come to you in double ascots—in real silk hand-painted in batik—or new wool in lined and wool allied to silk. A wide range of colors will very new in their combination color effects. Price each 2.95

What's New!

If you have a problem regarding style, or about things you need for your home, your family or yourself, write to Toronto Correspondent X/, the C.D.S.

Do you remember last year when mesh hose were first worn? Most of us looked askance at them—afraid to boy a pair because, well, they were just too different to be comfortable! Now, the very smartest thing is mesh hose—especially for evenings!

We Feature the New Mesh Hose at 1.75 pr.

Smart and fashionable for this season—and in such a delightful range of shades including the new "pepper" tone we hear so much of. These are a smart compliment to slender ankles with their panel heel. Foggy, Smoketone and Black are among the shades in high favor. Not expensive either at, pair

1.75

Distinctive Adaptations of Distinguished French Originals

Our February Group of Mayfair Dresses

Tell the old, old story of superlative C.D.S. values in the new 1932 way . . . .

$19.50

They have definitely higher waistlines — concentration of detail in the bodice — the militant note — the directoire feeling in the soft, dull crepe so much in the new Fashion picture.

C
After HARTIAL ET ARMAND
everything for youthful appeal—cat's whiskers" bow —short jackets, three-quarter sleeve, gay stripes. Black, navy or brown 19.50

D
After VIONNET
smart interpretation of the bolero-jacket frock for the younger matron. In black, navy or brown with print. 19.50

E
After AGNES
an entirely new slant on the surplice line emphasized by many buttons. In black and white or 19.50 navy and white

CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES LIMITED

CENTRAL ONTARIO

Bancroft—A fire which had gained considerable headway before it being noticed broke out in the upper storey of Maxwell's garage last week. A stiff gale was blowing at the time and fanned the flames the complete length of the building, damaging the roof and causing a heavy loss by repair. A vulcanizing plant, a quantity of tires, an automatic air compressor, a quantity of new and repairs and the battery charging equipment, housed in the upper part of the garage were a total loss. —Bancroft Times.

Bancroft — On returning home from a business trip to this village, John G. Price of Hybla, slipped and fell on the ice, striking his head with such force that he was rendered unconscious for a period of two hours. Dr. Lumb was summoned and proceeded to the victim's home where he found he had suffered a concussion. — Bancroft Times.

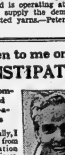
Deseronto—There is one town at least in the province where there will be no ice famine, and that is Deseronto. Fortunately for the town the ice is a solid pond in this town, and for the past few years this pond has been the scene of much activity. The ice is being cut by machinery as well as by the old fashioned method, and not only the people of Deseronto being served but the ice is being shipped to Belleville, Marysville, Kingston, and in all probability if the demand continues, more will have to be taken to Belleville. The ice is of splendid quality and is from nine to twelve inches in thickness. Some of the merchants in town have their store house filled and the cutting is proceeding at a brisk rate.—Deseronto Item.

Bancroft—A few moments after the wedding ceremony had been performed, a young bride and groom Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Ray, and their attendants had a narrow escape from fatal injuries when the automobile they were in turned turtle as it made the turn at Rousse's Corner, and left the road. Considerable damage was done in the ice halted the car on the brink of the steep incline and saved a fall of some hundred and feet below. Several passersby saw the predicament and effected a rescue.—Bancroft Times.

Oshawa—Five Oshawa men had a narrow escape from drowning and serious injury early Sunday morning when the car in which they were riding skidded off the road and plunged into the Oshawa Creek, alongside the bridge, on Simcoe street south. Settling in six feet of water, all five had to kept their heads and smashed the windows with their fists to escape. The five were Harold Dougherty, Church St.; Edward Hobbs, Michigan Drive; Jos. Fair, Brock St. west; C. Hill, Queen St.; and Vesse Pender, Ritson Road.

Kingston—Benedict Cirtwell and Dan Hogan of Kingston narrowly escaped drowning Saturday when their motor boat jammed in ice in the harbor. The boat was partially submerged and the men were forced to remain in the icy water for more than two hours before they were discovered. They were rescued by the steamer Wolfe Islander which made a special trip to get them. In a state of exhaustion they were removed to Kingston General Hospital where they are rapidly recovering.

Cobourg—Cobourg is renewing its application to the provincial government for separation from the county of Northumberland and Durah. In the announcement of the application the town says that the termination of the agreement in 1865, whereby they became subject to the jurisdiction of the counties' council.



Kingston—Excise Officer Thomas McElligott, and Provincial Constable Allan Stirner of Belleville, investigating an alleged breach of the Income Tax Act, in the Township of Sheffield, took into custody on a charges arising out of being found in possession of articles suitable for the manufacture of spirits, Rose Mc Cabe, of the township of Sheffield, McCabe appeared before Police Magistrate Graham at Napanee and was remanded for eight days.—Kingston Whig-Standard.

Oshawa—The Times Publishing Company of Oshawa Limited, publishers of The Oshawa Daily Times has been served with a writ claiming $10,000 damages for libel. The action has been instituted by Charlie Sing and Jack Yuen, they being represented by Joseph F. Mangan. The action is the result of an editorial published in the issue of The Oshawa Daily Times of February 5th which the town was said to refer to a Juvenile Court case. The defendants in the libel suit is the Mayor of C. D. Conant, of Messrs Conant and Annis.—Oshawa Times.

Kingston—The Ferry, Wolfe Islander, is still making regular trips between Kingston and Wolfe Island although the ice has formed ed in a thin sheet on the harbor waters.

Peterboro—Auburn Mill of the Dominion Woollens and Worsteds is again busy after being closed in the past ten years and production has surpassed all previous records. Dominion Woollens are employing 60 hands and is operating at full capacity to supply the demands for fine worsted yarns.—Peterboro Examiner.

"Listen to me on CONSTIPATION

"I recommend Fruit-a-tives

"Personally, I suffered from constipation and dizziness for years. I never knew what a good night's sleep was before I took Fruit-a-tives. They have done me a world of good."—Mr. A. T., Sydney, Ont.

Thousands of people have been completely and permanently relieved not only from constipation, but also from serious illness of long standing by the proper use of Fruit-a-tives, which stimulate FIVE vital organs to work naturally. The great discovery of a brilliant doctor. Try it! You are sure to benefit. 25c. and 50c. a box.

Fruit-a-tives

MAKE AND KEEP YOU WELL

SCREEN ATTRACTIONS

Present and Prospective

Previews and Reviews of Current Offerings at Belleville Theatres

At The Belle

DELICIOUS HUMOR MARKS PLOT OF "THE GUARDSMAN"

Laurel-Hardy in "Beau Hunks"

The greatest team of the current New York stage, Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne, will be seen in the picture debut in "The Guardsman", first time showing, their silver sofuscing romantic comedy-drama to be shown at the Belle Tu-morrow and Wednesday, matinee daily.

Lunt and Fontanne have for years been the reigning box office favorites of the stage. It was only recently that they were induced to by the talkies via a screen adaptation of "The Guardsman", which was one of their greatest Theatre Guild stage successes. Related here are the principal roles in the picture as the critic, who finds great amusement in seeing his friend, the actor play in private a role greater and more difficult than any he ever did on the stage.

Young talented films following his stage in "The Queen's Husband" and "Reunion in Vienna" appear in pictures he has scored in "Maedchen Satan," "The Prodigal", "The Bishop's Murder Case", and "The Guardsman."

Zasu Pitts as Maid

Zasu Pitts needs no introduction to picture audiences. For some time now she has been a star in Hal Roach comedies, and has borrowed from Roach, especially to play a role in this picture.

Laurel-Hardy in "Beau Hunks"

Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy, the fat and lean comedy slim comedy team, who have achieved outstanding popularity in their comedies held during the last couple of years as a result of their delightful characterizations in two reel comedies, will be with us again tomorrow with their latest offering, this time in a story of colorful adventure depicting their experiences as rookies in the 1 oreign Legion. Beau Hunks is the title of the picture, which is the second of their extra length comedies which they have released forth from their regular schedule of two-reel comedies. Fortunately, extra length is no handicap to this pair as "Beau Hunks" is certainly among the finest and funniest of the pair have made.

Short popular Metrotone Newsreel will be exhibited on the same program.

The bright sun brings back, not light alone, but new life, and hope, and freshens to man. — Oliver Twist.

All such things as jobs, seems to fall into their proper ground, they do indeed.—Little Dorrit.

We have our pleasures, and our business too, before us. All in good time.—Martin Chuzzlewit.

To the young this is a world for action; not for moping and drooning in.—David Copperfield.

Evil often stops short at itself and dies with the doer of it but Good, never.—Our Mutual Friend.

At The Capitol

NEW COMEDY TEAM AT THE CAPITOL

Saind Pyrks Thursday

Slim Summerville and Zasu Pitts. That is the star-spangled combination of laugh experts that Universal has placed together for the first time in "The Unexpected Father," the next attraction at the Capitol, commencing Wednesday for two days only.

Thwarted, maiden daughters, who spend the tail, lanky Tjaden of "All Quiet on the Western Front" and the playful Marine whom virtually every theatre-goer promptly recognizes to feature picture stardom, add it, probably, was a happy thought to team him with the girl who has been called the screen's greatest comedienne, winkled into this Pitts.

Slim plays the part of a gawky fellow of the rural districts who suddenly discovers enough oil in his back yard to transform him overnight, from overalls to a house full of servants and riches.

Zasu enters the scene as a nurse from the local dog hospital who comes to the millionaire's house by mistake to care for a sick puppy, but finds that Slim has just been adopted by a little waif of the streets who needs both care and love.

There is a new "kid" sensation in the film, Cora Sue Collins, who boasts of four years of existence and a great deal of natural acting ability and beauty, it is reported.

Dorothy Christy, the blond, willowy "vamp" of many a dramatic stage and screen affair, Claude Allister, the popular English comedian, Alfonso Skipworth, Grace Hampton, and Tyrrell Davis are also prominents among the cast.

Street scenes made this additional run at the Capitol to-night.

Slim Summerville holding the baby in "The Unexpected Father," at the Capitol, Wednesday and Thursday.

Alfred Lunt in a scene from "The Guardsman," featuring Lynn Fontanne, Roland Young and Zasu Pitts, opening at the Belle, To-morrow.

THE WEATHER
Lower Lake region and Georgian Bay—Fair and cold tonight and part of Thursday, then moderating again.

The Ontario Intelligencer

Ten Pages

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1932.

CHANGES IN JAPANESE COMMAND AHEAD

CHANGES IN COMMAND WHILE REINFORCEMENTS HASTEN TO SCENE OF WAR STALEMATE

Chinese General Says China Ready to Give Two Million Lives IS HOPEFUL

Chinese Refrain He Says From Advance For Sake of Peace

By GLENN BABB

Tokyo, Feb. 24 (AP) — for the second time this month official secrecy has closed over important military developments in Japan, and an active censorship has kept out of the newspapers information concerning preparations for increasing the expeditionary force to Shanghai. This was by order of the Cabinet.

A few early editions of yesterday's evening newspapers managed a brief report of the cabinet's decision to send more troops to China, but that was the only information most of the people have had.

Official supervision of despatches by foreign correspondents has taken some odd forms also.

Among the developments which the local papers were permitted to publish was a meeting of the supreme war council to which the high military officials reported on the Shanghai campaign.

Mission Changes

Imminent changes in the scope of military activities there have involved discussion of candidates for commander-in-chief of the China forces and of General Yoshinori Shirakawa, former minister of war, is frequently mentioned.

The great majority of the Japanese people continue to support the government's military decisions and to approve the operations in Manchuria and at Shanghai.

Will Hold Out Long

BY MORRIS J. HARRIS

(Copyright, 1932, by the A. P.)

Shanghai, Feb. 24—General Tsai Ting-Kai, commander of the Chinese route army which is defending Shanghai, told a group of forty newspaper correspondents at his headquarters at Chenju today that the Japanese were sending 60,000 additional troops to reinforce Admiral Dynda's army here.

This would bring the total Japanese force at Shanghai to upwards of 80,000 men. The Chinese army was able to resist the Japanese alone for "a long time to come" and the appearance of the Chinese soldiers in their camouflage bomb proof coats of trenches stretching for miles gave some indication that the estimate might be correct.

China Peaceful

"Tell the world this truth," he said to the correspondents who were invited to his headquarters to be guests at a "tea" conference, "my army could be withdrawn at any of Chinese territory quickly but we are not looking for war but because we want peace and we want to preserve the sanctity of the international settlement."

The correspondents were invited to tea by General Tsai at his headquarters at Chenju, 20 miles beyond the Chinese lines, after the Japanese army had cancelled all passes to within 20 miles during the day.

Sacrifice Two Million

"The Japanese may win after a long fight," he said, "but we will be winners in principle. We will resist to the last ditch and to the last minute."

Chang Ching-Hiang, prominent Kuomintang leader, said today that China is prepared to sacrifice two million lives if necessary in a struggle for national existence against Japan's armed aggression. Japanese militarists, he said, will find that the sacrifice of two million people becomes the more united China will be against Japan.

COUNTY JAIL BEING RENOVATED

The corridors, cells and kitchen of the prison section of the Hastings County jail are being renovated. The kalsomining on the brick and stone walls is being scraped off and the lower part of the walls is being painted a buff color and the upper part and ceiling will be an ivory shade.

The work is being done entirely by prison labor. There at present twenty three male inmates at the jail.

Death of U. S. Aviator in Chinese Airplane

Shanghai, Feb. 24 (AP)—It was learned here today that Japanese authorities planned to lodge a protest with the United States Government over the case of Robert Short, United States airman who was reported shot down and killed yesterday at Soochow while engaged in contact with Japanese aeroplanes.

Tokyo, Feb. 24 (AP)—Japan believes the powers should agree to "a more realistic application" of the international treaties regarding China, a foreign office spokesman said today, commenting on the Japanese reply to the latest note of the League of Nations council on the Sino-Japanese dispute.

Worcester, Mass., Feb. 24. — Harry S. Jue, manager of a Chinese restaurant who identified himself as head of the Worcester Chinese Aid Committee, and member of the Boston General Committee, said in this country have bought and are shipping to the Chinese for use at Shanghai seventy-five military aeroplanes.

"Chinese leaders," he added, "are now also negotiating with German interests for the purchase of another hundred fighting planes to send home."

Harbin, Manchuria, Feb. 24 (AP)—A brigade of Japanese soldiers immediately under General Murai arrives here today and negotiations were immediately begun with Soviet Russia regarding the use of the Chinese Eastern railroad for an expedition against the force of revolting Chinese in the Imienpo vicinity.

Julius Rudzi, manager director of the Russian owned Chinese Eastern said Moscow for instructions. The acquiescence of Moscow was expected in view of the fact that Russia permitted the use of the southern branch of the Chinese Eastern for General Jiro Tamon's Harbin drive early in February.

Shanghai, (Thursday), Feb. 25 (AP)—Mayor Wu Yeh-Chen served warning on the Japanese today that they were not permitted to anchor vessels in the Whangpoo near the Japanese military base, and his warning was interpreted as an indication that Chinese artillery would be warning was interpreted as an indication that Chinese artillery would be trained on the secret waters the Japanese flagship Idzumo is moored.

Tokyo, Feb. 24.—Japanese newspapers today made much of reports from Shanghai telling of three Japanese soldiers who voluntarily scattered their lives to place a heavy explosive charge in a Chinese barbed wire entanglement to blow a gap in the barrier through which the Japanese forces might penetrate.

The newspaper Hochi said in an editorial that persons abroad who have talked of an economic blockade against Japan were guilty of mistaken ideas if they believed such action would end matters there.

"An economic rupture would surely lead to war," the editorial said. "The existence of such hostile measures are absolutely forgetting the Briand-Kellogg Pact and inviting the dangers of war."

Washington, D.C., Feb. 24 (AP)—United States stood firmly today behind the open door policy in China and declined to say whether the Nine Power Treaty should be revised because China was not able to maintain order.

Six Lives Lost in Flood When Rowboat Overturns

Tributary of Mississippi Swollen With Flood Waters

AREA UNDER WATER

Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 24—One of the lower Mississippi's swollen tributaries claimed six victims last night while thousands of refugees throughout the valley lowlands continued their fight against flood waters.

Jerome E. Cornelison, 28 year old white man, and five negroes were drowned when the Wolf River near Memphis when their rowboat was swept unexpectedly into a log jam of trees and overturned. A sixth negro was rescued after clinging to the carry was working to cover cotton barges with tarpaulins when they were caught in the current.

Meanwhile the flood waters in the Mississippi delta below here, reported at approximately 115 feet, were subsiding at points northward of the Yazoo and Sunflower Rivers. Numbers of refugees drifted into Yazoo City where the Red Cross housed them in box cars.

LIVESTOCK

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 24. — (By the Canadian Press)—Cattle receipts 510.

Left-overs totalled 200 head. Early trade was slow on the light supply with prices fairly steady. Butchers unchanged from $4.00 to $5.25 with a few good weighty steers at $5.50. Good butcher cows sold mostly $3.25 to $3.50. Bull trade is slow. Choice fed calves brought $6.75 to $7.25.

Calves 250.

Calves were 50 cents at $7.50 to $8.00 for good and choice veales with commons downward to $4.50.

Hogs 1170.

Hogs were unsettled with Packers bidding $4.25 f.o.b. for bacon $4.50 off truck and $4.75 weighted off car.

Sheep 530. (Western Lambs are included).

Bids are down to $7.00 cwt. For best lambs with no sales up to noon.

1931 Air Service Trophy Awarded Phillips

ICE CUT WILL BE ANALYZED BOARD STATES

Samples Taken From Bay at Scene of Cutting Are Collected

CUTTING ACTIVE

Importations of Ice Will Be Given Rigid Inspection

Samples of ice taken from the bay where men have been cutting for the past few days have been taken by officers of the local Board of Health and sent to the provincial laboratories for analysis, according to Mr. J. W. Doyle, chairman of the Board.

Also all ice which is being brought into the city from outside points will undergo the same rigid inspection as that which is being harvested locally.

Some truck loads of last article have been reported coming from points east and west there ice has been chicken free, but can be found locally, but with the recent cold weather importations will not be necessary, according to those connected with the industry here.

WOMAN ASKS MAN'S ARREST

Mrs. Judd Declares She Does Not Want to Die

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 24.—The December baby printed a letter said to have been written by Mrs. Winnie Ruth Judd to her husband, Dr. William A. Judd, demanding the arrest of a man who, her purported letter declared, headed her dispose of the bodies of Mrs. Agnes Anne Le Rai and Miss Hedwig Samuelson after she had slain them at Phoenix, Ariz., last October.

Mrs. Judd, convicted of the murder of Miss Le Rai, with punishment fixed at death, is to be sentenced today at Phoenix, if Judge Howard C. Speakmen overrules a motion for a new trial.

"The trial wasn't honest or fair," it says, "I don't want to die."

The letter asks he be arrested before Speakmen sentences me. A new trial without new evidence is a joke. motion has been made but hang me early. They are afraid I'll tell everything".

Short Selling Has Saved N. Y. Market

WASHINGTON, D.C., Feb. 24, (AP)—The President of the New York Stock Exchange, told a United States House of Representatives Judiciary Sub-Committee today that "if there was no short selling, I am confident our market would have closed months ago."

Wish to Accord U. S. Aviator Full Honors

Shanghai, Feb. 24 (AP) — T. V. Soong, former Finance Minister of the Chinese National Government, said today he was confident Chinese honor for Robert Short, United States flier reported shot down and killed at Soochow yesterday in an engagement with Japanese planes, asking her a allow her son to be buried in China.

He said the National Government wished to give him a military funeral and to grant him posthumous honors within the aviation service. In spite of the fact that Chinese officials here took ill for granted that Short's death from Nan-Ning today were indefinite about it.

FULLER ROSLIN AND FOXBORO CALL REV. HILL

Congregational Meeting of Presbyterians Fills Vacancy

CALL IS GIVEN

Port Elgin Minister is Graduate of Varsity

At a congregational meeting of the Presbyterian Church in Canada comprising the circuit of Foxboro, Fuller and Roslin, convened yesterday at Foxboro a call was extended to Rev. D. C. Hill, B.A., B.D., late of Port Elgin to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Rev. Harold Reid from that circuit to accept a position in Toronto University.

The call will be presented to the Presbytery of Kingston when they meet in this city on March 8th. Rev. Mr. Hill is an honor graduate in Arts of Toronto University, also a Bachelor of Divinity of Knox College.

Mrs. Hill is also an honor graduate in Arts of Toronto University. Rev. Mr. Hill comes highly recommended and will no doubt accomplish fill the vacancy left by the thriving community. He will also be a welcome addition to the Presbytery of Kingston.

Arson Trial is Nearing Completion

Barrie, Ont., Feb. 24 — With only four witnesses remaining the Crown today will probably bring in the most important evidence in the third day of the hearing of Robert J. Elliott and Gordon K. Gastle in the arson trial arising out of the fire destruction by fire of the Palmer House at Waubaushene late in 1930. Seventeen witnesses for the defendeant when adjournment was reached yesterday

Germans Accept Draft Proposals

GENEVA, Switzerland, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Germany today accepted the draft convention of the preliminary disarmament conference as a general framework for discussions of the work of the disarmament conference thus postponing one of the most stubborn difficulties which confronted the delegates.

REFUSE TO LEAVE

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 24.—(AP)—Striking oil workers and their sympathizers of the American Smelting and Refining Company grouped together and refused to leave the building last night when officials of the company announced the plant would be closed down temporarily for repairs. The company employs 400 people.

RACE COURSE CLOSED

Douglas, Isle of Man, Feb. 24.—(CP cable)—The Douglas Road Course, familiar to thousands of bicycle enthusiasts, is closed as a result of the decision of the Manx Parliament to prohibit betting. Opponents of the decision claim the Isle of Man will lose $100,000 a year from falling off in the number of visitors.

Remembers Seals 60 Years Ago in L. Ontario

"Seals in Lake Ontario are not such a rarity as some of your readers imagine," remarked Mr. J. S. Carr, in an interview with a reporter.

"Sixty years ago—in the fall of 1872—a party of fishermen had gathered on the mainland on the Prince Edward county over on Nicholson's Island, off the south shore of the county near the tip of Athol township for the day. I still remember it well. Well, they had not been fishing long when they saw something swirling around in the water not far from the spot they had cast their lines. At first they thought it might have been a big fish, but when the head of the creature appeared they recognized it for what it was—a seal. They promptly reported the incident when they got back home and were laughed at by some of the yarn. Just as those men in the Sandbanks the other day are being laughed at now.

"Since then, however, seals have been observed at different times in the lake, but many, as was the case last summer, were sure the head belonged to some "serpent" when it was observed. The body was hidden by the water and only the head was seen, which helped the resemblance. It is not impossible for a seal to come up the St. Lawrence river through the Atlantic coast, and this one is probably only one of several which have worked their way by inland waters to the lake.

Children, Victims of War, Theme of Plea at Arms Conference

Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson Hopeful of War's Banishment—Rickets, Tuberculosis, and Other Diseases Follow War's Trail Behind Lines — Task is Heavy One.

Geneva, Feb. 24 (AP)—Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, president of the World Disarmament Conference, today addressed an eloquent appeal to the assembled delegates in behalf of the children of the world who, he said, are always the victims of war.

President Henderson's address marked the closing of general discussions of the conference and ushered a note of hopefulness. Many millions of children were sacrificed behind the lines in the World War, he said, to tuberculosis, rickets and other diseases which have destroyed a rising generation.

"When will mankind always outrage and destroy the children," he said, quoting John Galsworthy, noted British novelist and playwright.

Permission Given

The closing last ended, Mr. Henderson said, revealed both the formidable nature of the task before the conference in the common desire to achieve success which gave rise to some degree of confidence. Many causes for difficulty might be said, disclosed a great variety of views between the various governments but he regarded this as quite natural in view of the varied economic and geographical conditions of the participating countries.

The delegates then went from the Far East," he said, "show us the magnitude of the task we confront and the terrific consequences of the war we are striving to meet.

No Objections

"The debate has shown no fundamental objections to the draft convention, however disliked it may be to some. The principle of limitation of armaments and international supervision has been definitely assembled delegates in behalf of the necessity for restricting the more powerful offensive weapons is virtually agreed upon. It has been unanimously agreed that the community of nations must take steps to give to the armaments problem."

Mr. Henderson referred to the French proposals for international air forces under the league as one of the most important and most difficult schemes the conference must solve.

"It would indeed be a pathetic situation," he said, if after the nations have outlawed war by the Kellogg Pact the conference should settle down merely to elaborate rules for conducting war.

Treaty of Security

"The task of the conference, now that general debate has ended, is very large and very difficult. The problem of security has been set out in many ways and the task of disarmament and we owe much to the efforts of the committee which is a small edition of the conference itself, to meet at 4 p.m. today to outline the procedure.

500 Casualties

Shanghai, Feb. 24 (AP) — Japanese casualties in the fighting here during the last three days were given by Japanese military headquarters today.

The headquarters officials declined to say what proportion of that number were killed.

ST. GODDARD AGAIN WINS

Quebec, Que., Feb. 24—Emil St. Goddard, The Pas, Man., mushed today won the 121-mile Eastern Canada championship dog derby. The race was run in three laps of 40 3-5 miles, the first on Monday, the second yesterday and the third today.

G. Phillips Is Awarded '31 Trophy Air Service

Has Had Record of Long Service and Flights

770 HOURS

Fire Hazard- in His Area Very Hazardous Last Year

Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 24 (By the Canadian Press) — The trans-Canada trophy for 1931, given annually meritorious service for the advancement of aviation in Canada, has been awarded to George H. R. Phillips, superintendent of eastern flying operations with the Provincial Air Service of Ontario.

The award was announced today by Hon. D. M. Sutherland, Minister of National Defence.

The presentation trophy was the gift of the late J. Daizell McKee.

Flights of Danger

Superintendent of Eastern Flying Service with headquarters at Sault Ste. Marie, Phil. Phillips made many hazardous flights carrying official mail and fire patrols, in which he also carried out duties for the Provincial police service, health department, and took a prominent part in training pilots for the provincial air service.

A native of Laural, Ont., Phil Phillips enlisted in October, 1915, in the Canadian Expeditionary Force, serving Overseas until 1918 when he obtained an observer's commission in the Royal Air Force.

Long Service

Returning to Canada, he joined the Provincial forestry service, later joined the air service as an observer, and in 1927, after a course at Camp Borden, qualified as a commercial pilot.

During 1931, Phillips flew 770 hours and 50 minutes. The fire hazard in that section of Ontario under his supervision was unusually high and the work was strenuous and dangerous. He flew for five 126 hours and 15 minutes, in July 203 hours and 25 minutes. During this month he did not miss a single day. In August-he flew 160 hours and 40 minutes.

In announcing the award, the Minister of National Defence expressed his personal gratification that the most excellent record of the provincial air service has been recognized in the award of the trophy to one of its officers. He also extends his congratulations to Miss Phillips and to the directors and staff of the Provincial air service for their long record of good work.

Exchange Rates

New York, N.Y., Feb. 24—Foreign Exchange rates were unchanged (Great Britain in dollars, others in cents) Great Britain 3.93¾; France 3.93⅜; Italy 5.19⅛; Germany 23.79; Canadian dollars at 11⅛ per cent discount.

N. Y. MARKET ADVANCES

Trading, Nevertheless, is Extremely Sluggish and Slow

NEW YORK, N.Y., Feb. 24—The stock market turned slowly upward today. This was a good sign, technically, since about half of the millions of shares sold were down, and a further decline would have carried the price level beyond what could be considered a reasonable setback. Trading, nevertheless, was extremely sluggish.

Several issues nagged a point or so at the start, but the list soon began to show a little more hair hour, and by early afternoon there were numerous advances of a point or more. Among those up a point or more included U.S. Steel, Consolidated Gas, American Can, American Tobacco B., "Iggett and Myers B., Union Carbide, Radio, Union Pacific, Loews, Johns Manville, and others. American Telephone and Allied Chemical rose two points, as did such recent pool favorites as American Woollen preferred, and some of the New York Curb issues. Auburn recovered a little. National Surety dropped four points on postponement of dividend action. Unpleasantness was still manifest in some brokerage quarters over the Congressional investigation of short selling.

Observance of Treaties Would Have Avoided Fight

WASHINGTON, Feb. 24—(CP)—In an open letter to Chairman, Borah, of the United States Senate Foreign Relations Committee, Henry L. Stimson, secretary of State, said observance of treaties would have avoided the present Sino-Japanese situation and that no evidence had come to this government that compliance with them would have interfered with the protection of all legitimate foreign rights in China.

The Secretary of State, in the several thousand word communication, pronounced United States policy filled with details background, in the far east difficulties as one squarely behind the open door policy and the nine power treaty, under which that policy was subscribed to by the principal powers.

The letter was in response to a request by Borah for an opinion whether this government had indicated the inapplicability or ineffectiveness of the nine power treaty, and whether it was in need of modification.

The nine power treaty, Stimson wrote, was entered into by Japan and the other signatories at a time when China was engaged in an attempt to develop free institutions and the powers realized China would require many years to attain that end.

Coming Events

BELLEVILLE LABOUR ASSOCIATION will meet tonight as usual in the City Hall, 7.30. All members urged to be present. Important business, be on hand. 124-16

City and District News

REPRESENTATIVES MEET AT KINGSTON

A staff meeting of Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. representatives was held at Kingston Thursday last for the purpose of meeting Mr. F. Richard Shaw, Montreal, manager of agencies from the Canadian head office at Ottawa. This was the first meeting of the Provincial and Kingston district representatives with Mr. Smith. The meeting was very enjoyable and beneficial to the men in the district.

The following were in attendance from this district: F. M. Bird, E. E. Lucas, F. C. Hall and William Lockyer, of Belleville; P. Holland Mador; E. C. Frisick, Picton; F. Billett, Picton; V. E. Preble, Trenton; Ernest Rowen, Trenton; F. O'Hallighan, Tweed, and E. VanAcker, Napanee.

BELLEVILLE BAND HOLDS PRACTICE

The Belleville Municipal Band held their regular weekly practice at the Y. M. C. A. last evening under the direction of Bandmaster Neg. Hinckey. A number of young boys from the Belleville Collegiate Band were present and took an active part in the practice. Mr. Hinckey was pleased to see the younger musicians of the city taking an interest in Belleville's band and invites all those, who are interested to attend these weekly practices. Only a few absentees were noticed at last night's practice.

PLAN OREN FOR "KALEIDOSCOPE"

The reserved seat plan for "Kaleidoscope" to be presented by the Toronto Gaiety Club at Belleville Arena, Friday evening, March 11, will open on Friday of this week at the store of Chas. J. Symons, 306 Front street.

HYDRO EMPLOYEES ATTEND CONVENTION

R. S. Silver and Everett Smith of the local Hydro Utility Office, are attending the convention of the Kelvinator Company of Canada, now in session at London, Ontario. The two local representatives left for Windsor on Wednesday of last day morning and intend taking in the full three day's convention in London. A number of the finds in their lines of electric refrigeration will be on display for the benefit and approval of the representatives from the various Hydro districts throughout Ontario. This convention is held yearly for the purpose of getting delegates from the many cities in Ontario together. This is the second convention that Oxos local representatives have attended together. The local delegates are much interested in the new modern Kelvinator that is on display at the convention.

HONOR MR. AND MRS. McKEE

Honouring Mr. and Mrs. Bert McKee on the occasion of the twenty-second anniversary of their marriage, the Birthday Club entertained delightfully for them last evening. Sixteen members were present and in the earlier part of the evening bowling was enjoyed, the party going later to the home of Mr. and Mrs. McKee.

Attractive contests were arranged and the winners were Mrs. S. F. Hagerman and Mr. Meredith Asselstine. A supper was served at the close of the evening. The supper table was lovely with its decorations of tones of rose and green. A basket of roses and ferns graced the tea silver sticks were used and the center of attraction was the handsome cake topped by a miniature bride and groom showered with confetti.

During the evening Mr. and Mrs. McKee were presented with silver candlesticks by the club, Mr. Meggs making an appropriate reply, thanking their friends for the pretty gift. Mr. Meggs then read the following address in honour of Mr. and Mrs. McKee:

Dear Mr. and Mrs. McKee:

We, your friends of the Birthday Club meet here this annual to an important an occasion as the twenty-second anniversary of your marriage to pass without extending to you our heartiest congratulations. We are most happy to join with you in the observing of this anniversary.

Throughout the years your friendship tried and true has meant much to us. We trust that you may long be spared to enjoy each other's love and companionship.

Your home has been one of the best things in life and its influence has been felt. It has been a comfortable home, a home where friends delight to gather, a home from which strength and cheer has radiated to make its presence in need and sorrow.

"Your children who are so dear to you, we feel sure, will be as some of the treasures which shall bring joy and a source of satisfaction in the coming days.

"We would like you to accept this gift as a token of the love and the thought of you on this happy occasion:

"We lift our eyes to Heaven and pray

The World is Fair to you and God is good."

Signed by members of the club.

Obituary

HENRY RATHBUN

Henry Rathbun, well known resident of the second concession of Ameliasburg, died suddenly Friday, February 23rd, at his home in his 72nd year. He was for a short time a resident of Belleville but for years had farmed in Ameliasburg. Mr. Rathbun was highly esteemed in this district.

The late Mr. Rathbun was a member of the Ameliasburg Methodist Church and had always taken a very active part in the church's work during the many years of his life.

He had lived in his present neighborhood for the past thirty-five years.

To mourn his loss he leaves his widow, and four children, Mrs. A. C. Bryant and Mrs. Clifford H. Sloan of Rome, N.Y.; Miss Edna, nurse-in-training at the Kingston General Hospital, and one son Earl at home. One brother, J. E. Rathbun, resides at Trenton.

The funeral takes place on Thursday, February 25th, service being held at the house at two o'clock. Interment will be made in Albury Cemetery.

MRS. J. N. FAULKNER

On Tuesday evening there passed away at the General Hospital one of Belleville's oldest citizens in the person of Mary Vandervaart, widow of the late James Kinmartey Faulkner and daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Vandervaart of Sidney. Mrs. Faulkner had reached the advanced age of 78 years. The greater part of her life was spent in Belleville and vicinity except a few years spent in Regina, Sask., with her son, Frank, now deceased. Three weeks ago she met with a serious accident and since then she gradually grew weaker till the end came. She leaves to mourn her loss two daughters, Mrs. Ida VanAlstine of this city and Mrs. H. C. Ross of St. John, N.B., one son-in-law, Charles of Sidney and James of Los Angeles, California, three sisters, Mrs. W. Eddy and Mrs. Thomas Mullin of Shelton, and Mrs. Mac-Tavish of this city, eight grandchildren, Mr. Carl VanAlstt, Pittsburgh; Miss Alberta Alstine, School, Mrs. M. Blanchard and Miss Blanche Faulkner, Toronto, a staff of the O.S.D.; four daughters of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Ross of St. John, N.B., and one granddaughter, Violet Faulkner, in Regina, Mrs. S. F. Hagerman of this city, is a niece and Col. Vandervaart of Sidney, is a nephew. In religion Mrs. Faulkner was a Baptist. The funeral will be held from the funeral parlors of Martin and Son on Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment in the Belleville cemetery.

SALAD FORKS FREE THURSDAY NIGHT

"U"

SUMMERVILLE and ZASU PITTS in "THE UNEXPECTED FATHER"

Telling what happened to a man who is a dog hospital!

FOR LAUGH PURPOSES ONLY!!

ADDED ATTRACTIONS WALL STREET SYNOPSIS

Vaudefilm — Cartoon

Today and Thursday CAPITOL

"Where Movie Stars Reside"

2.45 - 7.15 - 9.00

YOUR EYES

IF A CHILD CANNOT SEE In the distance as he should he MAY complain to his parents or teacher, though in many cases this is not done. But there are other defects of vision that afflict children that CANNOT be known until revealed by an examination. Such examinations in the progress of children at school would result IF ALL children had their eyes examined. Our closest attention is given to children's eyes.

PHONE 128
FOR APPOINTMENT

J. A. McFEE
OPTOMETRIST

REPAIR IT NOW!

Skilled workmen can repair that floor top of yours in the shortest possible time and guarantee a first class job.

ST. CHARLES MOTOR CO.
PHONE 323

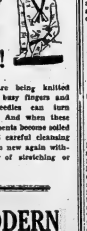
E. V. ILLSEY AT OSHAWA

Speaks at Rotary Luncheon on The Chambers of Commerce

The place of the Chamber of Commerce in the community was the subject of a highly informative and interesting address delivered by E. V. Illsey, president of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce, at Monday's luncheon of the Oshawa Rotary Club. The speaker, who was introduced to the gathering by C. Wright, gave a graphic word picture of the genesis of the Chamber of Commerce movement, and, speaking from experience, told of some of the functions of such organizations in the community. At the close of a very able address, Mr. Illsey at the call of Mr. Wright were expressed by D. F. Johnson, C. D. Lyons, manager of the Oshawa Branch of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, was present as a guest.

Trial is Welfare

"A Chamber of Commerce," said the speaker, "is so vital to the welfare of any community that the question is not one of whether it should have a Chamber of Commerce, but what sort of an organization it ought to be."



Dipping into the pages of history, Mr. Illsey spoke of the tendency of man to organize for mutual benefit and pointed out that human nature had not changed. History was but being made in these days as a greater rate than ever before, and great opportunities and privilege were being provided for those who have the courage to enjoy the developments that are to come.

"If ever there was a need for 'united effort,' said the speaker, "that time is now. The world is struggling against conditions not of its own making for which the total cumulative effect of individuals all over the world, being affected by selfish acquisitiveness. If we are to make anything of today, it is that there is a great need for more unselfishness in recognizing the rights and the requirements of others. We believe that the nation or community that is organized for progress, must make it its business to take stock of its present weaknesses and emerge and go forward in an advance such as has never been seen before."

Menace Disturbing Mankind

Mr. Illsey appealed to his hearers to be ready to meet difficulties in the British way for in the hard times of testing, difficulties had to be met thankfully and with courage and victor. Mr. Illsey said the question before Canada was what type of a Chamber of Commerce the city is going to have, and he urged the Rotarians to realize that they must take a large part in the effort to rejuvenate and revive the Chamber of Commerce".

So New This Year!

Sweaters are being knitted in rustic and fingers and clicking needles can turn them out. And when these daintily garments are soiled MODERN'S careful cleaning makes them new again without danger of stretching or shrinking.

MODERN

CLEANERS AND DYERS
128 Front St. Phone 128
If Modern Cleaned It's Clean

PEACE GARDEN PROJECT ABLY ELUCIDATED

H. J. Moore, of Toronto, Explains in Detail Ideal

COMMEMORATION

One Hundred Years of Peace to Be Living Example to World

"It was a rather discouraging small audience, though an interested one, that gathered in the auditorium of the Collegiate, last evening to listen to Mr. Harry J. Moore, secretary of the International Peace Garden project, tell of the idea's birth and development, although in the afternoon, subsequent to school, Mr. Moore addressed the pupils scholars of the public schools on the same subject in the auditorium. Mr. Moore is no stranger to Belleville, as he has visited the city heretofore, speaking on horticulture, at subjects, and is also known from his talks on radio, broadcasted four times monthly. Had timely notice of the meeting been given the public, and its object pointed out, Mr. Moore would have been greeted by an audience worthy of the distinguished guest.

Mr. Wm. Harvey, president of the Belleville Horticultural Society, acted as chairman and admirably introduced the speaker. Previous to Mr. Moore's address prayer, followed a variety of floral stereopticon slides, the accompanying remarks.

Broached in Toronto

The peace garden idea was first broached in Toronto in 1922. Touring in August, 1929, though privately organized previously, and a committee was formed to take over international sponsoring committee. The first meeting of the committee was an interesting outstanding citizens of both Canada and the United States in the contemplated project, and Mackenzie King, premier, took one of the latter-named committee. Continuing his address, the speaker, touching Mr. Moore pointed out that it was particularly enrolling an evergrowing support from all walks of life, societies and bodies on both sides of the line as well as those of an international character.

Trial Is Welfare

The governments of North Dakota and Manitoba have now established for the purpose of the International Peace Garden 1500 acres each, this in the Turtle Mountain area, all situated about sixty miles south of Brandon, Manitoba, and Dunseith, daily the geographic centre of the North American continent. The gardens will be on the Canada-Canal Highway, which will eventually extend from the western interior of Canada or Churchill on Hudson Bay. The garden is to be financed and its upkeep provided for by an endowment fund of $5,000,000, a portion being Canada's allotment and the remainder to be raised by the United States. So assured of the ultimate success of the undertaking are those in charge that they have planned fifty days as must a day for formal dedication.

To Commemorate Peace

The basic idea of the garden is to commemorate the 100 years and more that Canada and the United States have lived peacefully side by side, and to focus the attention of the world in general, and more particularly those on the nations which are forever at swords' points. The garden is planned for side by side, each with their separate national institutions and traditions, and yet with no thought of war. The garden is to be as the speaker said "a fortress of friendship."

"A memorial to Christianity and international peace," the speaker said embleim of perpetual friendship between the two nations.

To some it may seem a useless and foolish expenditure but as time goes on, and this spot beautifies and becomes more and more known and more, pictures of it are seen, moving pictures shown of it, its history and what it represents understood, not only in the two countries concerned, but throughout the world, who can say what its effect will be toward furthering world-wide international goodwill and understanding and eliminating nations' suspicions one of another, and doing away with war and all its ensuing wastage, pain, sorrow and death.

At the conclusion of the able and lucid presentation of his theme a hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. Moore.

MANY OFFICIALS ATTEND FUNERAL

Obsequies of Late Thomas H. Coppin Held on Tuesday

One of the largest funerals that has taken place in this city for some years, was that held from the family home, 17 Forin St., of the late Mr. Thomas Coppin, Monday afternoon. The large attendance and abundance of floral offerings were testimonious of the esteem and respect in which the deceased was held, not only in Belleville, but in the great railway system, which he so long and faithfully served. Every railroad brotherhood and association was represented and the many officials present from the Canadian National headquarters at both Toronto and Montreal, as well as throughout the Midland division evinced the appreciation and affection that was felt for him in life as a man, a friend and an official and also acted as an outward mark of respect to his memory on his last and final journey.

The Rev. Dr. R. H. Bell, pastor of Bridge Street United Church, of which congregation the late Mr. Coppin was a faithful member and ever ready worker, assisted by the Rev. Dr. J. C. Wilson, conducted the services at the home and at the graveside in the family plot in the Belleville cemetery.

The pall bearers were Messrs Harry Morgan, Arthur Meelie, George Alchorn, Fred H. Deacon, George Osmond and Robert Hamilton.

Among railway officials and railroad brotherhood officials were: Messrs T. C. Hudson, general superintendent; D. McGlaig, superintendent of motive power; J. J. McKenzie, chief engineer; F. R. Porter, general freight agent; W. J. Cowan, divisional freight agent; Gordon Smith, district freight agent; F. C. Dearing, district agent; W. J. Rowan, district superintendent of car service; W. A. Walford, passenger train master; W. A. Thelan, chief investigator and two ex-pensioners, Messrs. James Garrett and Tom Stibbard, all of Toronto. Messrs Montreal, R. C. Johnston, superintendent of terminals; G. V. Savage, district agent and F. J. McAlpine, chief time keeper, and from the Midland division G. A. Cole, general superintendent, and O. Sprackett, agent, Trenton; F. J. Wright, agent, Brighton; C. J. Wormington, agent, Port Hope; W. J. Hamilton, agent, Colborne; A. McNab, agent, Peterboro; and R. Stevens, assistant superintendent, Lindsay.

There were also present Messrs R. Ryan, traveling freight agent; J. E. Adams, general agent, and O. E. Kinsella, agent, all of Montreal; W. McCarthy, freight agent, Montreal; F. M. Green, express agent, Kingston; C. C. Ravin, agent, Picketing; C. A. Joys, and J. E. Brown, agent and operator, respectively, Napanee.

KIWANIS CLUB ENJOY BOOST

Probability That Affair of Some Kind Instituted to Raise Funds

Beginning a campaign to raise funds for the work now contemplated, the Kiwanis Club met in interesting address by B. S. Salmon of C. H. Mallabar Provisions Ltd. at their weekly luncheon on Tuesday last at the Quenta Hotel. H. J. Moore, who is interested with the Province on the "Peace Garden" project and the interest of the Horticultural Society, was a guest at the luncheon and spoke a few words in favor of the dream, which shall soon be turned into a reality, the Kiwanis Club.

Austen Williton, manager of the Canadian Canners Company, was in charge of the boost for the day and the members present agreed that he arranged. Two large and bulky packages were brought into the banquet room and after the dinner was completed, Rev. Earle McCracken and George Gale were the winners. Each were presented with their goods and winners entered into the spirit of the joke opened their parcels. A pair of shoes and a one dozen case were the prizes and the members began to whet their appetites in earnest but they were rolled as the bottles, although empty, were discovered to have something more than water, were filled with a liquid of a certain pale ale. These were passed around as a gift from the winners and the contents was enjoyed.

May Hold Show

The Kiwanis Club met in a few words the reputation of the Maple-Leaf Products Ltd. that there is a possibility that a function, probably a revival ice carnival or music show will be given by the club with local talent to raise funds for the work of the club. Charles E. Hanna in moving the vote of thanks expressed that he considered the matter should hold their carnival fresh peculiar to the attractions, the speaker believing that a greater profit would be realized. These matters will be taken up by the executive and a decision reached in the immediate future.

DANCE To INGLIS' DANCELAND ORCHESTRA

Old Time and Modern Music

Terms Reasonable

Write G. M. Creighton Grafton, or Phone Grafton 800 for terms and engagements

CEREMONY IS ATTENDED BY J.F. NICHOLSON

Pastor of St. Michael's in Quebec For Interesting Ceremony

MANY TO ATTEND

Diocese of Quebec Oldest in Dominion of Canada

Rt. Rev. J. F. Nicholson, V. G., pastor of St. Michael's Church, in Quebec City is slated for the enthronement this evening in Quebec Basilica of Notre Dame de Jacques Cartier, the Archbishop of Quebec in succession to the late Cardinal Roulaud.

Historic possibilities are making elaborate preparations for the event.

Mgr. Cassels Presides

The apostolic Delegate to Canada, His Excellency Mgr. Cassulo will preside at the formal installation in office of the Archbishop. On Thursday morning Mgr. Villeneuve, Archbishop of Villeneuve de Arche Bishop of Quebec in succession to the late Cardinal Roulaud.

Historic possibilities are making elaborate preparations for the event.

Mgr. Cassels Presides

The apostolic Delegate to Canada, His Excellency Mgr. Cassulo will preside at the formal installation in office of the Archbishop. On Thursday morning Mgr. Villeneuve will be followed by a reception in the Bonsecours Market, Mgr. Gauthier, Archbishop of Montreal, will preach a special sermon. This will be followed by a reception in the Provincial Hall of Laval University, when all the visiting clergy will pay their respect to the new Archbishop.

On Thursday evening there will be a reception in the City Hall when His Excellency will be officially welcomed by Quebec's Mayor Lavigueur and Aldermen.

Oldest Diocese in Canada

The Archdiocese is the oldest in the Dominion of Canada history and development is that of Canada-Historically the Seminaries, that of the Recollet Order, who were in Canada 1615 and later the Jesuits founded others in the Holy See in Rome. In 1623 Canada was placed under the jurisdiction of the Archbishop of Rouen, France. In 1674 Bishop Saint Francis de Laval was consecrated Vicar Apostolic of New France, including all Canada. The following year. He established Laval University. Under the reception is being held tomorrow.

The Bishops of Quebec continued to have jurisdiction in the new Province of Upper Canada until the consecration, in 1826, of Bishop Alexander Macdonell, in the Ursuline Chapel, Quebec. Bishop Macdonell, in 1820, as the first Vicar Apostolic of Upper Canada, with residence at St. Raphael, Glengarry County. In 1826 the vicariate became a diocese with Kingston as See, and Bishop Macdonell moved there. Bishop Macdonell selected the site for many of the churches in this locality, and was he who laid the cornerstone of the first church at Belleville. This was over a century and is now a parish hall for that congregation.

CARS SUSTAIN BUCKED FENDERS

Collision Happens on East Bridge St. Hill Early Wednesday

A rear-end collision between two cars at the top of East Bridge St. hill this morning at about seven o'clock had no serious consequences but resulted in bucked fenders on the first car, and a bent bumper on the second which was forced by the shaking up by both lone drivers.

The first car was driven by Lunt trying to turn down Church Street off Bridge did not clear the crossing in time to allow the following car to pass, going east. As there was a heavy truck coming on the hill down the hill no chance was given of being allowed to swing to the left side of the road to clear, and though brakes were applied by the rear car the momentum was sufficient to carry the car forward and strike. An amicable adjustment was made between the two drivers.

SERIOUS FIRE IS AVERTED

Furnace Tightly Dampered Cause of Fire Call

Thick, dense clouds of oily, black smoke rolled from the basement of the McLean billiard hall, on Front Street, shortly before nine o'clock last evening, filling the next door restaurant and other adjoining business places with the choking smoke, driving patrons of the places into the street, and necessitating a hurry-up call to the fire department who were on the scene shortly after.

A tightly dampered furnace was found to be the cause of the smoke, and after the firemen had groped their way into the basement and opened the drafts again the clouds slowly dissipated. Little damage had evidently been shut off by the drafts likewise the fire which had been inside the fire box by the force of the blower, which still ran. The spray had collected and became ignited, causing the trouble.

The comet of the year 1577 is said to have caused the abdication of Charles V., at that time Emperor of Germany and King of Spain.

Merchant ships of one hundred tons or over in the world number 17,300.

AT WALLBRIDGE AND CLARKE'S

Specials For This Week

Marmalade Oranges, fine color, large size, 49c doz.

Fry's Cocoa, ½ lb. tins	32c	Puffed Wheat, 2 for	25c
Teddy 1 lb. tins	49c	Shredded Wheat, 2 for	25c
Heinz Catsup	21c	Rice Krispies	21c
P. P. Sauce	19c	Sultana Bran	20c

British Oranges, sweet, full of juice, large 45c doz.

Fels Naptha, 2 for	19c	Ammonia Powder, 4 for	25c
Princess Flakes	19c	Soap	16c
Chipso	21c	Puffine Wax	16c

Lushus Jelly Powders, new goods, all flavors, 2 for 15c

Arrowroot Biscuits, lb.	35c	Soda Wafers, pkgs.	9c
Shortbread Wafers, lb.	35c	Wanscheuth Wafers	14c
Butter Wafers, tins	41c	Cheese Wafers, tins	39c

Baby Foods, Aylmer, all varieties, 2 tins 21c

Chili Con Carne or Hot Tamales, tin			34c
Mint Sauce, bottles	35c	Curry Powder, bottles	35c
Capers, bottles	25c	Horseradish, bottles	30c

Eatsum Wafers, Peterson's Health, packets 25c

Butter, Creamery, Best Quality, lb. 19c

Cash Prices. Delivery 10c Extra.
Orders of $2.00 delivered Free.
C.O.D. orders, no extra charge.

Phones, 157 , 158

WALLBRIDGE AND CLARKE
23 Bridge St.

Forin St.
Phone 443W

ANNUAL

Used Radio AND Phonograph SALE

The most wonderful bargains ever offered in used Phonographs and Radios. Good machines at $10.00 and up

and sold on our "Time Payment Plan"if desired. Terms as low as $2.00 down and 50c a week. We have never had such values to offer.

Call early as our stock of used goods is not large this year.

Doyle's Drug Store

PHONE 326

Unanimously Awarded ★★★★ by Critics and Public Everywhere as the Most Magnificent Performance, in One of the Year's Finest Pictures!

The Royal Couple of the Stage in a Majestic Screen Debut

Alfred Lunt Lynn Fontanne

THE GUARDSMAN

ROLAND YOUNG — ZASU PITTS
Don't let the title fool you. It's the wittiest, gayest comedy romance of the year. THE PICTURE THAT CANNOT BE PRAISED TOO MUCH!

PLUS
Those Clowning Roosters in their hilarious extra length Comedy Wow!

Stan Laurel Oliver Hardy in BeauHunks

60 minutes of Hilarious Laughter. A Screen Scream with Perky Oliver and Simple Stan. In The Foreign Legion.

BELLE—NOW

Perf. 2.30 — 7.15 — 9.15
Feat. 2.30 — 7.35 — 9.45

BEGINS FRIDAY — BILL BOYD — DOROTHY SEBASTIAN — WARNER OLAND in "THE BIG GAMBLE."

FRIDAY — REVIVAL NIGHT — Following our regular performance your are invited to remain for MAURICE CHEVALIER and CLAUDETTE COLBERT in "THE SMILING LIEUTENANT" — No Extra Charge — Two Shows — One Price.

WISE AND OTHERWISE — After a man wins a woman's hand, he sometimes finds he is under her thumb.

ARE HONORED BY FRIENDS

Mr. and Mrs. David Russell and Irene Presented With Gifts

Foxboro—On Friday evening, Feb. 19th, a number of friends and neighbors called at the home of Mr. and Mrs. David Russell, to bid them farewell, before taking up their residence in Belleville.

A social evening was spent in cards, etc., then Mr. Clem Ketcheson called the gathering to order and read the following address:

Foxboro, Ont.
Feb. 19, 1932.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Russell:—

We, your friends and neighbors, have come to your home this evening for the purpose of bidding you adieu, and expressing to you our regret that you are leaving our midst to take up residence in the city. As you are about to take your departure we desire that you should carry with you the good wishes and affection of those with whom you associated for the past number of years in this community.

You, Mr. Russell, in your own quiet and unassuming way have stood for all that is high and good, and your life has been an exemplification of that which others might emulate.

And, you, Mrs. Russell, by your charming personality and attractive manner, have endeared yourself to us all and have won a high standing place in the hearts and affections of those who have known you these past years.

We want you both to remember us and to carry with you the assurance that friendships made and associations formed while in Foxboro have not been made only for a fleeting moment. Mere words are hopelessly inadequate to convey to you what is in our hearts to night, so we ask you to accept this as but a tangible evidence of our esteem and friendship. May the coming years bring much happiness to you, and may you find congenial friends and neighbors in your new surroundings is the whole-hearted wish of your Foxboro friends.

On behalf of this gathering, we are, cordially and affectionately yours,

Signed Mrs. J. Lake, Tena Walt, Nellie Bell, Verna Peacock, Bessie Spencer.

Mrs. J. Lake presented Mr. and Mrs. Russell with a beautiful floor lamp.

The following address to Miss Irene Russell was read by Nellie Bell:

Foxboro, Ont., Feb. 19,1932

Dear Irene:

We have come to your home tonight to wish you along with your parents Godspeed as one of us here have known you since you were a wee girl and during the years we have watched you grow into womanhood and take your place in the everyday world of activity. In the profession which you have followed during the last few years you have been greatly used in letting the rays of knowledge gain access to young minds. And now it is with a tinge of sadness and regret that we anticipate you making your permanent home away from us. We will miss your cheery smile; we will miss you in the church and in social circles, but we trust you will take time occasionally to visit your friends. And as this year offers quadrennial privileges to ladies, we trust you may have lots of good luck and the issue of happiness forever after.

We do not wish you to leave our midst without letting you know how fervently we cherish your friendship. We would, therefore ask you to accept this token of our esteem accompanied with our good wishes. May you find it useful in your home, and may you always have plenty of flowers to brighten your path.

Cordially and affectionately yours on behalf of your friends.

Signed Nellie Bell, Tena Walt, Verna Peacock.

Miss Walt presented Miss Russell with a handsome silver flower basket.

The recipients, in a few words, thanked their friends for their lovely gifts and kind thoughtfulness. Refreshments were then served by the ladies.

What a Nickel's worth!

...for size, quality and aroma are all yours to a surprising degree in this bigger, better five cent cigar with the long filler and the wrapper.

"Cellophane Wrapped"

STONEWALL JACKSON CIGARS

TOE BROKEN AS ICE FALLS

Simon Langevin is Forced to Seek Medical Assistance

Tweed (Special)—Mr. Simon Langevin, who drives one of the trucks for the Belleville Creameries, Ltd., had the misfortune to fracture the great toe on his right foot while engaged in storing ice in the ice-house of the company's plant at Tweed.

While unloading a cake of ice, it slipped and fell on his foot. Mr. Langevin continued his duties for some time, but was eventually forced to seek medical assistance. Dr. Dales had an X-ray taken of the injured member, and reduced the fracture which was revealed.

Cooking Sale

Tweed Public Library held a successful cooking sale in the Library Rooms on Saturday, A sum in excess of thirty-five dollars was realized to supplement the funds of the Library.

Mr. Harold Way, of the Stirling News-Argus Staff was a visitor in Tweed on Sunday.

Mrs. Geo. McCallum a former resident of Tweed, now residing in Kingston, is visiting at the home of Mrs. W. J. H. Hicks.

LEAVES FOR NOVA SCOTIA

Rev. Mr. Patterson, Foxboro, accepts Call to Sydney Church

Foxboro, Feb. 23 By Mail— Rev. Patterson pastor of Foxboro Presbyterian Church, occupied the pulpit in the United Church on Sunday evening and delivered his farewell address. He and his family are leaving for Nova Scotia and will be greatly missed. Rev. Mr. Patterson has accepted a call to St. Matthew Wesley United Church, Sidney, N. S. A surprise was held for them on Wednesday evening in the S. S. 8 rooms. They were presented with a pretty silver flower basket and a lovely Kenwood blanket. A program of readings, music was very much enjoyed after which a light lunch was served.

Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Yorke, of Gilead, had dinner on Tuesday at Mr. W. Hodgens.

Mrs. M. Wickett and Miss Evelyn Wickett spent Tuesday with Mr. R. Rowe.

Mrs. J. W. Daniels entertained her father Mr. Thomas Stirling on Tuesday.

A goodly number attended the sale at Mr. Russels on Tuesday.

There was a good attendance at League on Tuesday evening and the programme enjoyed.

Mr. Sherwood Scott entertained company from Stirling on Tuesday last.

School was closed on Thursday as Miss Jamieson was ill.

Mrs. Louis Hagerman returned home from Ontario where she was caring for her daughter who has been ill.

Mrs. Robertson of Marsh Hill, was buried in the Foxboro cemetery on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Stewart spent a few days with the latters parents at Hastings.

A concert was held in the Presbyterian church on Thursday evening. The programme given by the Salvation Army talent of Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Hamilton returned after having a very pleasant trip to Lake Placid.

Mrs. George Price called at the hospital, Belleville, on Friday and visited Mrs. Earle Snyder of Consecon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Eggleton received the sad news on Saturday of the death of a dear daughter, Mrs. Eva Rose, of Trenton.

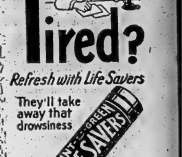
Mr. and Mrs. Ernest and Miss Mary Hodgen of Latta were Tuesday evening visitors at the home of Mr. Wm. Hodgen.

Mrs. J. W. Embury is slowly recovering from her recent illness.

Mr. John Bell, Miss Nellie Bell, Rev. and Mrs. Patterson, and daughters, had dinner on Sunday with Mr. Wm. Bell.

Mrs. Hagarman entertained Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Rose of Salmon Lake to tea on Sunday evening.

Mrs. Van Allen, of Belleville, and Mrs. H. A. Rose of Salmon John, N.B. called at Mr. R. Morton's on Sunday afternoon.



A very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Daniels on Friday when the following were entertained to supper, Mr. and Mrs. A. Walt and Mrs. Mc and Mrs. Cornell and Everett, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Warbanaker, and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hodgen. The evening was pleasantly spent in music, games, etc.

Mrs. Marjorie Ketcheson entertained Miss Clara Youker, one evening last week.

Tired?

Refresh with Life Savers

They'll take away that drowsiness

MADE IN CANADA

PATRONS TAKE KEEN INTEREST

Production of Julius Caesar to Be Given at Tree's Theatre

(By Thos. T. Champion)
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, (By The Canadian Press) —Ardent Shakespearians, and the theatre-going public in general, have always had a keened interest in the production of "Julius Caesar" at His Majesty's. This is an ambitious effort by Oscar Asche to make a return to Shakespeare in Beerbohm Tree's old theatre in the "grand manner" so closely associated with Tree's memory.

For the most part critics speak favorably of the performance as a whole. They are united in agreeing that the outstanding figure of the all-star cast is Godfrey Tearle, in the part of Mark Antony. Until his entrance the production seemed to be settling down into a somewhat conventional reproduction of the Tree style of pageant-show. Godfrey Tearle's coming brought great drama.

The Daily Telegraph critic thinks his best effort was not in the Forum scene but in the scene with the conspirators. It was here that the play came to life and took the audience by the throat in a grip that never afterwards relaxed." As for the Forum scene, many first-class beholders were doubtful whether it was not carrying realism too far to have Mark Antony deliver his speech in little more than a broken series of rubbishy gasping sentences. His words were forced in between the vehement vocality of the crowd. Godfrey Tearle at this point had to be a mob-orator first to last, and at times roared like a football coach.

The part of Caesar is really a thin one in the dramatic sense. Most people, no matter Caesar physically as a spare man, but Lyn Harding's appearance reminded one rather of the traditional John Bull. Oscar Asche, who produced the play, is Cacas, and according to one commentator provides an ironic answer to Caesar's prayer: "Let me have men about me that are fat."

The opening night was certainly a great occasion for Shakespearians. Mr. Asche in his speech at the curtain was frequently applauded when he suggested that "the spirit of our old chief, Sir Herbert Tree, was never far away."

I think the first virtue is to restrain the tongue. He is nearest the gods who knows how to refrain. —Pythagoras in De Caio.

You must act in your friend's interest rather than please him, for not; the object of love is to serve, not to win.—Woodrow Wilson.

How comes a thing is friction becomes perfectly, which is not beyond the reach of the humblest citizen—Sir J. M. Barrie.

BRITAIN'S EMERGENCY CABINET SITS A LL NIGHT ON WAR SITUATION

News from London states that Britain's Emergency Cabinet Committee sat all night keeping in constant touch with the latest developments in Shanghai. The committee will maintain watch while all attention in China and will be prepared to meet one hour's notice. This is the first time since the World War that such a Committee has been formed. Above are five of the seven Emergency Cabinet Members: Right, Hon. Stanley Baldwin, Lord President of the Council.Right, top and bottom: Neville Chamberlain, Chancello rof the Exchequer; and Sir Samuel Hoare, Secretary of State for India.

Japanese Command Defends Actions of Whole Army

Claims Japanese Have Been Forced to Drastic Action

INSTRUCTS MEN

It Has Been Impossible to Avoid Some Unfortunate Incidents

Shanghai, Feb. 24—Charges by the Shanghai Evening Post-Mercury that Japanese soldiers were putting defenceless Chinese civilians to the sword brought from a high Japanese officer today the assertion that they are "much exaggerated and in some portions untrue."

The Japanese have been forced to take drastic measures to curtail activities of plainclothes snipers, said Major M. Hirata, speaking for General Uyeda, the commander-in-chief, and in some cases they have found that women and children are helping the snipers.

"We have read a translation of the Shanghai article," the major said, "and we greatly regret the incorrect impression it has conveyed, since taking command of the Shanghai situation, General Uyeda has instructed his men on several occasions to avoid irresponsible, inhuman acts.

"The Japanese troops came to Shanghai thoroughly imbued with high moral purposes—in a fight for peace. They are incapable of such acts as those described in this newspaper article.

Women Caught Shooting

"Of course it has been impossible to avoid some unfortunate incidents. In some cases the Japanese themselves were caught shooting at us. This morning in a ditch we found the bodies of five of our men who had been ambushed in the night and so horribly mutilated that they were not recognizable. Yesterday four of our red cross men were wounded when snipers fired from a house nearby.

"Chinese snipers are paid so much a head and in order to wipe them out we have had to burn down the buildings which harbor them. One reason for heavy casualties among civilians is that so many suspected snipers run at the appearance of Japanese troops. With this in mind it is not difficult to understand why some civilians in plainclothes have been shot in the back.

While the Major was talking with the Associate Press Correspondent there was a burst of rifle fire outside the headquarters. A messenger reported that a sniper had opened fire from a house in the neighborhood.

Soldiers set fire to the house and killed two Chinese they found inside.

"You see?" said the Major, "this is unfortunate but there is nothing ourselves to fighting the 19th army. The sniping menace is almost as serious. There are snipers on our lines and fire on our men. They are assigned by women and children who smuggle food and ammunition to them."

COMING
THE WORLD'S BEST SKATERS
Tuesday evening, Feb. 29

TORONTO SKATING CLUB

"Kaleidoscope"

A glittering whirling fantasy of beauty and color—marvelous modern lighting—105 musicians—an ensemble that will fascinate and delight!

Never before was there such an opportunity to set the world's best figure skaters in a setting of such shimmering beauty that it will seem like a fairy dream. Get your tickets early—

ONE NIGHT ONLY
Belleville ARENA
FRIDAY
March 11, 1932
TICKETS
50c $1.00 $1.50
THE WORLD'S MOST WONDERFUL SPECTACLE ON ICE

FULL POWERS OF A BISHOP

Mgr. Arsene Turquetil Consecrated at Montreal Cathedral

Montreal, Que., Feb. 24—In the presence of high Ecclesiastical Dignatories, and representatives of Dominion, Provincial and Municipal Governments, Mgr. Arsene Turquetil for 30 years religious guide to 4,000 Eskimos in the far reaches of the Arctic, was today consecrated Apostolic Vicar of Hudson Bay, St. James Cathedral was thronged as the Roman Catholic Church revested Mgr. Turquetil with full powers of a Bishop.

Combining the attainments of a scholar with an extraordinary ingenuity for lasting northern hardships and possessed of unusual physical endurance, the missionary is one of the most picturesque figures in the Roman Catholic church in Canada.

May Rule Erin

Eamonn de Valera, leader of the Fianna Fail or Republican Party of Irish Free State, will be the next President of Eire if his party wins five more seats in the House and, providing of course, that the small but energetic Labor Party give him their support. Without Labor wins De Valera will have a minority.

A survey of the range sheep industry in Western Canada shows that "sheep rasing" are scattered along a thousand miles of territory from Maple Creek, Saskatchewan, to interior British Columbia.

IN ONE DIRECTION FOR SIXTY YEARS

If you follow every turn of a river, you may lose sight of the way it is going. But on a map it is quite plain that the river has only one true direction.

The record of Canada is like a river—interrupted at times by twists and turns of difficulty, but making across the map of the last sixty years a line of progress so strong and sure that its direction is unmistakable.

The Royal Bank of Canada is typical of Canadian progress. Starting as a small local bank in Halifax, it has moved steadily forward through booms and depressions since 1869. With 881 branch offices, over 550 million dollars of deposits and assets of over 750 millions, it is today one of the great banking institutions of the world.

Canada and The Bank are travelling the same sure direction.

THE ROYAL BANK OF CANADA

Capital and Reserves $74,155,106
Total Assets ..... over $750,000,000

NO LICENCE TO OFFICIATE

Priest Fined $50 For Pretending to Marry Couple

Niagara Falls, Ont., Feb. 24—Rev. John Stavrou, Priest of the Apostolic Church, Merritton, today pleaded guilty of illegally performing the ceremony of marriage. He admitted that Thomas Comanck entered, he privtegled to solemnize the marriage of Pete Comanck and Alrona Masri in December of last year. He was released in bail for a week and notified, that he will be fined fifty dollars and costs.

He was in custody for several days since his last appearance in court here. An effort is being made to have the marriage license purchased by Comanck extended so that the two can get married again.

To keep the ministry of the Church of England up to its average strength 630 new ordinations are needed every year. At present there is a shortage of nearly 1,000 priests.

Quick Relief for TROUBLED THROATS

Luden's Menthol Action soothes the throat, clears the head and gives relief from coughing in just 10 seconds.

GIVE 10¢ QUICK RELIEF

LUDEN'S MENTHOL COUGH DROPS

Gift of Silver Is Presented to Mrs. Patterson

Foxboro—Several of the members of Foxboro Presbyterian church met gathered at the home of Mr. John Bell on Friday evening and spent a social evening with his daughter, Mrs. (Rev.) Patterson and family as they are leaving on Monday, Feb. 22 for North Sidney, Nova Scotia where Mr. Patterson has accepted a call to St. Matthew-Wesley United Church.

The following address was read by Irene Russell and Mrs. Patterson was presented with a beautiful silver cake plate.

Dear Margie:

We, your friends of the Presbyterian choir, Foxboro, have met tonight to spend another social evening with you before you take your departure for Nova Scotia. At this particular time we feel two emotions arising within us. One of gladness, because we know you will find gladness in your new home one of loneliness when we know you are going to be absent from our midst for an unknown period of time. Your willingness at all times to help us has always been highly appreciated by everyone, and so we ask you to accept our appreciation in the form of this little gift. May each piece of cake taste sweet with fond memories of times spent together.

The blackest black is a raven's wing

The sun the rarest gold

And while we live, the fairest thing

Friendship true and old.

Signed on behalf of the choir, Mrs. James Lake, Irene Russell, Minby Longwell, Verna Peacock, Tena Walt, Mrs. Richard Townsend.

We can all do some good it we will.—David Copperfield.

Appreciate The Canadian Greetings

London (By The Canadian Press) —Much appreciated greetings from several Canadian centres were read when the Dickens Fellowship celebrated here the 120th anniversary of the birth of Charles Dickens, Rorence Annesley Vachell presided —his "Quinneys" in its way is decerredly as much a classic as is "The Old Curiosity Shop". The speech of the evening was J. B. Priestley. More than one sober critic is already disposed to admit that Priestley's adaptation may eventually be justified in hailing him as a second Dickens.

Vachell remarked upon the rathe curious circumstance that Charles Dickens neter wrote a successful play. On this point it was interesting to hear from Priestley that while it was entirely wrong to say that he had given up the novel entirely for the theatre he proceed to go on steadily for dramatic writing. "The fact is," continued Mr. Priestley, "that these long novels of mine were written out once every two years, and when I have finished a novel I cast about for something to do. Well, last year I dramatized a novel of mine, and so discovered the theatre and a new atmosphere. It is almost like a birthday party. You go and see people who give you cigars and liqueur brandies; you lunch and dine—and sometimes write a few words. It is quite different from writing a novel, and I propose to go in for it steadily."

The time requited by a ship to find its location by the present system of wireless telegraphy is about five minutes.

Mona Pontiac Walker, a 4-year-old Hoskston cow on the Canadian Pacific farm at Strathmore, Alberta, created a new Canadian record with a production of 30,464 pounds of milk last year.

He who says there is no such thing as an honest man you may be sure is himself a knave.—Bishop Berkley.

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER

THE DAILY ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER is published every afternoon (Sunday and holidays excepted) at The Ontario Intelligencer Building, Front Street.

RATES—DAILY EDITION:—
Year, delivered in city $7.00
Year, by mail in rural offices $5.00
Year, in U. S. A. $3.50
W. H. MORTON, Publisher.

GOETHE'S CENTENNIAL

One hundred years ago closed the career of the man who is said to have exercised greater influence upon the modern world than any other man of the past two centuries, Johann Wolfgang Goethe. Brought up in the Storm and Stress period in Germany, Goethe rounded out a career marked by outward calmness and placidity but underneath was the turbulence of a great life. He came in that great age when the world was upset, kingdoms fell, and Napoleon strode roughshod over almost all the western world except England, when the iron hand of the conqueror was felt in Germany, yet over all these unto-ward circumstances Goethe's life was marked by self-development. Now this self-expression of Goethe found its first voice in his poetry, his lyrics being considered by many the most genuine lyric poetry of all time and his dramas among the greatest poetry since the time of Shakespeare. This calm man of mature life led an active public life, but his scientific research very closely. In philosophy he was deeply read and was the heir of all the ages, yet he gave his own individual stamp to his study of the problems of life. Goethe was an idealist, he set himself against the view of "a godless nature with an unnatural God," he loved nature, he believed in the power which was behind nature, and saw all life as one vast cosmos.

He called himself "a pagan" and yet it is said of him that "no one ever acted more faithfully on the resolve to make the best of circumstances, to live with resolute cheerfulness to put behind him the blasphemous speech that all is vanity."

The centennial of this great thinker, poet, dramatist, and story-teller, is being marked in Germany, and already a course of study is being given at McGill University on Goethe.

Women and beauty were dominating factors in the life of Goethe. In his great "Faust," which still lives on the stage and in opera, he speaks of the ever-womanly as drawing mankind upward and on.

PREACHERS' VIEWS

A glimpse over the Monday morning issue of the New York Times containing a survey of church services of Sunday shows what angles preachers in the metropolitan city take in their appeals to their congregations.

Bishop Burleson of the Protestant Episcopal Church describes men and women of today as wabblers from one point of view to another without stopping to form established opinions of their own.

Father John C. Smyth of the Roman Catholic church declares that modern standards of right and wrong are changing for the worse because of little recognized effects of the modern system of education, of the press and of motion pictures, popular education being held responsible.

Rabbi Feldman says that a universal religion, in the sense of a universal single denomination with absolute conformity of view, creed, ritual and outlook, is neither possible nor desirable but uniformity ought not to be confused with universality in religion, and he denounces the man who claims that his religion is the only one that contains the entire truth because truth is largely a matter of individual outlook.

All great souls have accepted God as a fact, states Dr. Robert Norwood, attacking the cheap shallow criticism of God so today which makes him recoil against this age, caused either by ignorance or a deliberate denial of all the facts of religion.

Rev. Dr. Luther A. Weigle, preaching at Columbia University, says he sees the world in the grip of materialism, with only a little pagan ism. "A modern paganism has arisen which knows no reticence, abhors restraint and acknowledges no standards save the fluctuations of fashion. Many otherwise sensible folk have so far succumbed to it as to have lost any sense of abiding values. Change is their god and relatively their watchword . . . . There is more seriousness in young people's college age than in many of their elders."

Dr. Caleb Moor, Baptist, urges that as much of the waning influence of religion may be attributed to the fact that many churches have become sepulchres and refrigerators rather than places of warmth and friendship, religious institutions should adopt theatre methods in attracting crowds.

Very Rev. Milo Gates at the Cathedral of St. John the Divine condemns modern intellectuals who espouse the cause of paganism, "the religion of joy."

Archdeacon F. G. Scott, Canadian padre, preaching on Broadway says disease books which defame public men.

Dr. Memminger, P.E., sees a new spirit of Sodom and asks, "Was not Sodom destroyed by the same internal sources which destroyed old Russia and old France?"

THE ICE CUT

Busy men are those ice-men harvesting ice when the sun does not shine and when the colder breezes blow than those to which the people have been accustomed this winter.

This winter has been a novelty to them, as it has delayed until almost the last moment the cutting of the coming season's supply.

SIDELIGHTS
GRAVE and GAY
Supervised by The Longlighter

EXPENSIVE THRIFT

Miss Mabel Green was grieved to note
Some grease spots on her ermine coat.
Said she: "It costs so much to clean—
I'll try a little gasoline."

While Tim, the cleaner, in the blues,
Stuffed folded paper in his shoes,
And wondered how to make them hold
Till trade would let him have them soled.

When Lawyer Bluff came home at night
He said the times were sure a fright.
He dug the garden, mowed the lawn,
And showed folks how to carry on.

The man who'd done the work for years
Went short on 'baccer and on beers;
His wife went short on shoes and hose
And other useful kinds of clothes.

Young Jake, the butcher's sturdy lad,
Demanded golf-clubs, but his dad
Decided he would use his pull
And get Jake work for after school.

And not a job could Widow Brown
Find for her lad in all the town.
She had six children, mostly small,
And worked herself to keep them all.

At Mrs. Cook's house—Board and Room—
The paper lost its warning tone.
It was no time to squander pelf—
She saved by papering herself.

The paperhanger's wife shed tears —
The grocer's bill was in arrears:
As monthly payments ahh did lack
Her furniture was taken back.

When Banker Jones' car broke down
He did not 'phone for help to town—
For thrift examples must be set,
He'd fix his own car up, you bet.

The service-man, whose wife was ill,
Had not a copper in the till.
He did not know what he would do
Unless he got a job or two.

Young Mrs. Smythe was almost rich,
She seldom had she sewed a stitch.
But knowing these were times of stress
She cut and made herself a dress.

While just two blocks off Mrs. Gray,
Who went out sewing by the day,
Was driven almost to despair
Because her cupboard was so bare.

So sad, the end of poor Miss Green.
But people will use gasoline.

Bluff's garden was a dreadful joke.
It made him swear and gasp and choke
To hear it rumored in the town
He'd put his seeds in upside down.

Young Jake embezzled sundry dimes
And gave his folks some shocking times.

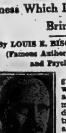
And Mrs. Cook was out of luck—
Her paper all became unstuck.

And Jones' car would not stay fixed
Because it had its in'ards mixed.

Young Mrs. Smythe's dress was too tight
Folks said she looked a perfect sight.

And all the extra dollars they
Had in the Bank put safe away
Had to be drawn out and found,
And once more started going round.

—Isa Grindlay Jackson, Lethbridge.



x x x x

GEORGE WASHINGTON, he of the hatchet, Father of his country, victorious leader of the Revolutionary Army, said to have "never won a battle or lost a campaign," first president of those United States, etc., is pictured as a very austere, reserved and forbidding sort of man. He has been placed on a national pedestal as a godlike hero by historians and pictured by painters as more of a statue than a man, but modern biographers have stripped most of the veneer from the Washington on-a-pedestal stuff and revealed George as a human being having many the same faults and weaknesses as other ordinary humans in that he liked liquor, and even made his own, loved fast horses, and played cards for money—got up dances and danced merrily himself, liked a pretty face and generally admired by the opposite sex, and in general was just a he-man partaking in the follies and frivolities of his time like a gallant gentleman. It is also can be told that his austere appearance as depicted by the portrait painters of his day was caused by the lack of knowledge of the dentists of his day. He lost his own teeth and a Philadelphia dentist made him a set with a silver plate, one of the first to be made. Naturally this didn't fit and he had to keep his mouth shut to keep his teeth in, hence the "austere" expression perpetuated by his painters.

WHAT YOUNG GIRLS OUGHT TO CONSIDER

Suggestions For Happiness Which Life Should Bring

By LOUIS E. BISCH, M.D., Ph.D.
(Famous Authority on Health and Psychology)

LOUIS E. BISCH

As you, a young girl, face the world and life ahead of you many are the doubts, trials and tribulations that assail your peace of mind.

For you graduate of the daily begin to realize that you are no longer dependent upon father and mother for support and guidance as before. Perhaps you have already achieved a measure of financial and social independence. You hear this and you hear that. Much of the gossip with other girls centers on "what is right and what I s wrong? How best to conduct yourself? What concepts of right and successful living should you adopt in order to be happy in the end you may say to yourself that your methods have spelled happiness instead of miserable disappointment, regrets and downright failure?

First, as regards your attitude toward your fellows. Here over-idealization may be as harmful as undervaluation of his influence. But don't be afraid of meeting men. Study what you do, and never be hesitant about showing that your sympathies and modesties. You may not want to discuss with her the boys you like. You may resent this across the given.

Yet remember that, after all, your mother is likely to be your best friend. Always make her your confidante. Copy the good in her as a woman. And if you see she has faults be patient and take care not to develop the same faults yourself. You are both women with a blood relationship. You are apt to be the more alike than unlike. Therefore set a perspective on such resemblance and be generous in your evaluations.

Guard against the tendency to develop the extremes that happen to be the passing fads of the day. Be sanitized always in the main. Have a level head about dressing, making-up, dancing, carousing. Don't be beguiled by the "sensay" side of life. Don't attempt to be "different" in your conduct for the real thing. Never do anything just to be like the rest or to show off.

Be careful about thinking that the first man who makes advances or for whom you feel an attraction is necessarily the one you should marry or accept. Differentiate infatuation from true love—Don't be in a hurry about getting married. Remember Twenty-five is none too late. Learn about the real values of love and sex before you settle down to become a wife and a mother and a builder of a home.

Keep modern in your thoughts and ideals but bear in mind that there is a vast difference between feminine development and female license. Hold fast to your sense of proportion. Don't lose your sense of humor. Preserve your charm.

Lastly, never forget that to grow up properly is one of the hardest jobs there is.

Dr. Bisch's Daily Health Hint

Teeth sometimes appear to be in sound conditions but X-ray pictures reveal infections at the roots. Old fillings as well a bridges may also harbor dangerous germs and poisons in the entire system.

(Copyright, 1932, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Poet's Corner

WORK

Let me but do my work from day
to day,
In field or forest, at the desk or loom,
In roaring market-place or tranquil room;
Let me but find it in my heart to say,
When vagrant wishes beckon me
astray,
This is my work; my blessing, not my doom;
Of all who live, I am the one by whom
This work can best be done in the right way."
Then shall I see it not too great nor small,
To suit my spirit and to prove my powers,
Then shall I cheerful greet the labouring hours,
And cheerful turn, when the long shadows fall
At eventide, to play and love and rest,
Because I know for me my work is best.

— Harry Van Dyke

Other Papers' Opinions

ROYAL ARCH MASONS

This week the Grand Chapter, Royal Arch Masons, holds its convocation in this city. Hamilton has the honor of being the meeting-place of the first chapter, in 1856, and it is eminently fitting that the 74th birthday anniversary should be observed here. Delegates from all parts of the Dominion will be present and the proceedings will be of considerable interest to members of the craft. Neither will the general public remain indifferent to the occasion for Masonry is a strong institution locally and all are aware of the practical value of the work which is done. Canada is a comparatively young country, but Masonry has a history extending back for nearly two centuries in the Dominion. Barton Lodge received its charter in 1847, and today there are many flourishing lodges in Hamilton. The principles of the craft are carefully safeguarded, but it is safe to attribute the progress of Masonry to the preservation of those high moral principles on which the order is founded. Hamilton extends a hearty welcome to the delegates and accompanists the Grand Chapter on the growth of the craft which is manifested in that initial meeting in 1858. When one compares conditions as they are today with those as they were a century ago, one realizes that the foundation stones were indeed well and truly laid.—Hamilton Spectator.

Little Benny's Note Book

Sunday afternoon me and pop was taking a walk, being such a nice day for a walk, when all at down on a bench in the Square, and pop got out a cigar out of his pocket and bit one end off and started to feel in his pockets for a match. Yes gods on a match, here I am perishing for a smoke, and no match.

Why dont you use your lighter, Dad, I said, like I use mine. But the last 50 times I've tried it, it hasnt even made a spark, so I sent it to epil his perfect record.

Meaning he was disgusted with it, and I had to, pop, Ill get you a match.

I had a bet of life through what I thawt was impenetrable darkness, ahead.

Meaning he wished I would, and started to look around the Square looking for somebody to ask for one, only there wasent hardly anybody there at that time, and after a while I saw smoke coming from a big juicy growth over and it was some man smoking, he saying, Excuse me, mister, have you got a match to spare?

You want to smoke a cigarette, dont you? the man said. Being a man with a little derby hat and a big moustache, he said. No sir, I said he said, yes you do, too, you can! And he did. Well Im not going to help any child of your age to smoke, I said, and as for your health, you wunt to lern over a period of time, but cut that sort of thing out before its too late. Now go way from here before I call a policeeman, he said.

Well I quick did, and another man came waving and smoking a pipe, and I said, Have you got a match to spare, mister?

Being a short man taking long steps, and he said, Sure, have, but not for you, you little imp, what do you wunt a match for?

Well, I said, I said and he said, O yah, where is your father? and I said, On the other side of the Square and he said, O yah, I see him he's not smoking a pipe.

And he kept on going and I went back to pop feeling disgusted and here what was he doing but smoking, saying, Well here you are at last, young moolleaser, whatever what did you do, fall asleep under a tree? I had to wait a lot lighter after all, and the darn thing worked and spoiled a perfect record. A lot of help you are, he said.

Im thinking, Aw heck whats a use?

DENVER TOWN IN BAD WAY

Snow Bound and Stores Dwindling at a Fast Rate

Denver, Colo., Feb. 24—The spectre of starvation today faced the 1,750 marooned persons in the avalanche barricaded mining town of Silverton last night.

Day by day the stock of canned food in the stores is dwindling. Supplies of fresh foods—meat, vegetables, eggs, fruit—are entirely exhausted days ago.

A few old dairy cows were slaughtered to provide meat for a day or two.

Denver and Rio Grande Western Railroad officials today announced 24 snow slides blocked the 40 miles of railway track between Durango and Silverton. It was estimated it would take 45 days of intensive work to clear the line.

The famed million-dollar highway between Durango and Silverton is hopelessly blocked.

Tremendous slides of snow which denuded the steep canyon walls of trees and loose rocks buried the railroad and highway many feet deep.

Neither train nor automobile has entered Silverton since two weeks ago last Saturday. Old residents say the blockade is the worst since 1921, when the town was cut off from the world for six weeks.

All Not Quiet on Far Eastern Front

The two photos above are typical of the scenes in and around Shanghai as Chinese and Japanese invaders face each other along a 16-mile front in terrific battle for mastery. Though the Japs have pounded the Woosung forts with everything at their command—even bombs from airplanes—and from warships on the Whangpoo River—the defenses are still being held by C hinese troops such as those shown h ere. The lower picture shows a Chinese artillery battery in action. Most of their guns are obsolete, but they give back shell for shell to the invader and have so f ar prevented any considerable advance.

POPULATION 10,374,196

Final Census Figures Show Increase of 18.04 Per Cent.

Ottawa, Feb. 24—The final figures of the population of Canada by provinces, as shown by the 1931 census, were announced today by the Dominion Statistician. The Dominion population is 10,374,196, compared with 8,-788,483 in 1921; an increase of 1,585,713, or 18.04 per cent.

Prince Edward Island, Nova Scotia and the Northwest Territories decreased in population, and the other provinces increased.

Prince Edward Island dropped from 88,877 to 88,038; Nova Scotia from 523,837 to 512,846, a decline of 2.09 per cent; Northwest Territories from 7,988 to 7,133, a decline of 10.7 per cent.

New Brunswick increased from 387,876 to 408,219, a growth of 5.25 per cent.; Quebec from 2,361,199 to 2,874,255, an increase of 21.72 per cent.; Ontario from 2,933,662 to 3,431,683, an increase of 16.96 per cent.; Manitoba from 610,118 to 700,139, an increase of 14.75 per cent.; Saskatchewan from 757,510 to 921,785, an increase of 21.67 per cent.; Alberta from 588,454 to 731,605, an increase of 24.35 per cent.; British Columbia from 524,582 to 694,263, an increase of 32.34 per cent.; Yukon from 4,157 to 4,230, an increase of 1.76 per cent.

British Columbia during the last decade has increased in population at a greater ra : than any other province. In ten t population it standeth sixth, follow ig Ontario, Quebec, Saskatchewan, Alberta and Manitoba.

GHOUL STEALS DEAD CAT'S BODY

St. Thomas, Feb. 24.—A most unusual theft has been reported to the police. A local resident was bereaved by the death of a pet cat. Recently he made a neat coffin and placed the cat inside. The lid was nailed down and the man started out to perform the last rites himself. On the verandah he suddenly remembered that he had nothing to dig a hole with so he set the box down and went back into the house for a spade. When he came out again the box was missing.

Ten Timely Advertising Tips

A successful retailer who has spent the best part of his advertising appropriation in good newspaper copy gave ten points which had helped him to become successful business man through advertising. The ten points:

1. I advertise regularly. Every issue of the paper takes my story to its readers.

2. I make every ad. look like mine. Years ago I adopted a distinctive style, and I have stuck to it. I use plenty of white space; my ads are never hard to read.

3. I put into newspaper advertising a definite proportion of my gross sales which I fix at the beginning of the year. I aim to make at three per cent. of the previous year's gross, with more if special conditions justify it.

4. I brighten my ads with frequent illustrations, either humorous or practical. This costs me little, as the up-to-date newspapers supply these.

5. I am careful never to over-promise. Then, when I really have an unusual bargain, people believe me when I "whoop 'er up a little."

6. I think advertising all the time. I buy goods that will advertise well. Sometimes I buy goods just for their advertising value.

7. I get good display for my ads by seeing that the copy is in the newspaper office in plenty of time. I do this by having a definite hour to write the copy.

8. Whenever possible, I carry the nationally advertised goods that are advertised in my own home paper. I feature them. Sometimes they give me a smaller margin than fly-by-night concerns, but I find that I sell faster and make more money in the end, besides pleasing more customers.

9. I always plan my window and counter displays to link up with my newspaper advertising. Each helps the other.

10. My salespeople back up my advertising. They often help me with suggestions for it, and see to it that they always read it.

TWEED WINS FROM MADOC

Campbell, Individual Star as Tweed Outscore Opponents 1 to 0

Tweed, Feb. 24 (Special) — An outstanding game of hockey was played in Tweed Arena on Monday night when Madoc and Tweed concluded their regular schedule in the Hastings Valley League. The game ending with a score of 1 to 0 in favour of Tweed.

This was the fourth meeting of these teams, each winning a game and playing two overtime games.

Madoc was without the services of eight of her regulars, only Henderson's face being familiar to the fans.

For Madoc, Nickle in goal, Henderson and Ross played good hockey. Handsome doing a great deal of rushing which usually ended with a shot from the blue line.

Campbell on the defence for Tweed was really the star of the game, scoring the only goal and being instrumental in several other occasions. Rashotte, McGuire and F. Gerald on the forward line could not get going at times and combination play was conspicuously lacking. Although Rashotte was very effective.

The first two periods were scoreless and eight minutes of the third period had elapsed before Campbell scored on a beautiful drive from the wing. After fighting a well timed pass from A. Gerald.

The game was clean and Referee Jack Herbert's decisions, at Madoc, penalties all being the result of minor infractions of the rules.

The line-up:

Madoc — goal Nickle, defence, Henderson and West, centre, Ross, wings, Abey, Armstrong. Sub. Emsbury.

Tweed — goal, McGee, defence, A. Gerald and Campbell, centre, Rashotte, wings F. Gerald and McGuire. Subs. Gerald, Hall, Fontain, Meraw and Terry.

FINEST RINK IN OLD TIMES

Saint John, N.B., Feb. 24—"All the chief cities in Canada boast their skating rinks. Montreal has a model one in the Mount Royal Arena, Toronto, where the rink excels in its size and modern perfection, we find structures as spacious and graceful as a world fair palace, whose crystal floors are as highly polished and renowned by the fleet of feet. Each night the Arena is replanned by a machine and flooded to the depth of an inch; and then, through every opened door and window, the keen air is admitted to harden and glaze the surface for the next day's use. From December until March, through long, dreary winter, the rink affords the safer and constant centre of attractions. Before it all other festivities take their turn.

In addition to skating as a social pastime, Montreal has been the home of speed skaters and many champions have been around the circle in record-making time. It was abandoned several years ago.

REXALL BIRTHDAY SALE
JONTEEL
SPECIAL
50c BOX
FACE POWDER
AND 50c JAR
FACE CREAM
1.00 VALUE
BOTH FOR
50c
McKeown's
DRUG STORE

ARENA
WEDNESDAY
3.00 P.M.
Lakefield-vs.-Brockville
8.15 P.M.
B.C.I. vs. Tweed
Admission 25c

25% OFF
ALL OVERCOATS
AT
CHAS. J. SYMONS
Men's Store 236 Front St.

SPORTS
By JIMMY THOMPSON

SPIKES RUMOR OF RETURN TO HOCKEY

The other day there appeared in the press reports that the famous Dr. Joseph Sullivan was about to make a comeback into Varsity, on the grounds that his post graduate course at that institution made him eligible. However, talking to Joe on the telephone soon spiked that story most emphatically.

Joe left Varsity when Varsity turned out super teams, Dr. Sullivan was the star goalie of the Blues. Playing with the Varsity Grads in 1926 at the Olympics, he astounded the spectators with his magnificent work in the nets. But now his amateur days are over time, and he has little to spare for hockey, although he finds a few moments in the summer to bat that little white ball around a golf course. And don't ever let anyone tell you that Dr. Joe can't play golf. It's a case of "Sure I have no holding" them out to "holing" them in. If Varsity could gather around the banner again a few Sullivans and Plaxtons they would be sitting pretty on the top of the O.H.A. heap today.

(But they're not).

VOLLEYBALL

Kiwanis, Senior "A" and Business Men were the winning teams in last night's volley programme at the Y.M.C.A. Gym. By virtue of their win from Business Men the other representative of the young men's section, known as the Senior "A's," won the winners of the first half of the schedule.

In the opening game played last night, Kiwanis took two straight fittings from the Rotarians, winning the first 15-11 and the last 15-4. Senior "B" got Senior "A" their hardest battle during the series with the third game necessary to decide the issue. The "A's" finally got the first 15-11 lost the second 12-15 then won the deciding game by the same score as the first or the set. R.C.A.F. put up a real battle against their more experienced opponents from the Business Men, losing the latter on several occasions. Business men however came through in the end to win 15-8, 15-9.

The teams:

Kiwanis—Griffin, Officer, F. Rousson, Wolsten, Thompson.

Rotary—Bernstein, Bone, Shortt, Wickware, Bentley.

Senior "A"—Davison, Woodley, McPee, A. Bryant, C. Bryant and Elder.

Senior "B"—Perry, Carman, Wilkerson, White, Allen.

R.C.A.F.—Moslah, Gibb, Reeves, Watts, Roth, Gibb.

Business Men—Mumnings, McEwan, Foote, Bert Houston, Brown, Black.

Scorer—R. Morden.

KI-Y LEAGUE

In a regular scheduled juvenile game, in the Ki-Y league, the O.S.D. juveniles and the Red Wings battled to a one to one tie after sixty minutes, at the Arena, last night. The boys from the Deal School had a number of their interschool-astic players in uniform, but the Red Wings rose to the occasion and held their more experienced opponents within striking distance all during the contest.

The line-up were:

O.S.D.—Eggnton, Harrison, McShane, Beamant, Burtle, Reid, Welsch and Mantry.

Red Wings—Thompson, Pringle, Scrimger, Mattis, Jaryll, Forbes, Hurst and Gardiner.

Referee—Cliff Howie.

Two games will be played at the Arena tonight in the Ki-Y league.

"Y" Alleys

Just Us and Mayflowers divided the points—ten each—in the Ladies' Afternoon League game. High bowlers were Mrs. Robson for Just Us with 311 and 214, and Mrs. Kelly for the Mayflowers with 304 and 195.

Riggs Motors took four points by default from Ourselves who forgot to show up. Riggs rolled their games and took the points. K. Logan was high with 281 and 240.

CURLING

"Davey" Davison made every end a winning one in the spoon competition at the curling rink last night and with his team mates went home richer by one piece of silverware. Which was the victim of the onslaught and so steady was the Davison rink playing the broom and the correct weight that Orr was only able to count one run out of the twelve played. "Bob" Wray also trimmed his adversary, J. O. S. McCurdy by a healthy score but not sufficient to collect the spoons. Dr. Dee and Walter Bailey had a ding-dong struggle both rinks counting on the same number of ends but the genial doctor was able to collect more points in the end scored. At the beginning of the game, the Belair rink could not get the feel of the ice and Dr. Dee thought the doctor had piled up a long lead. The ice was in excellent condition and the boys enjoyed the pastime. Another competition will be held tonight and the members are requested to be out early. The scores:

S. Hinds
W. H. Bottum	C. D. Tice
E. A. Backus	J. G. Anderson
Dr. M. A. Day, W. N. Belair		18
	skip	21
Dr. Seymour	J. Anderson
W. A. Harden	J. A. Cokers
Dr. Dee	G. Bentley
R. J. Wray	J. O. R. McCurdy
		21
C. A. Peck	D. Sinclair
W. H. Gerow	R. Graham
J. A. Herbert	M. J. Vanner
J. W. Davison	R. E. Orr
		29

CHECKER MATCH WELL ATTENDED

A. W. Flindall, Trenton, Acclaimed Winner After Interesting Play

Over fifty enthusiastic checker players gathered at the Y.M.C.A. yesterday to participate in an open checker tournament. Participants came from many centres in Eastern Ontario, when the tournament was finally brought to the final elimination tournament, held in the evening. Mr. A. W. Flindall of Trenton defeated Mr. Ward of Bloomfield after a hard and trying battle. The semi-finals were a bit delayed therefore the finals between these two gentlemen did not start until nearly 11 p.m. Interest ran high throughout the final till, between the two elderly gentlemen, as all the checker players and spectators gathered around to witness the final match for the checker championship of this district. After Mr. Flindall had won the match he was presented with a button from the Canadian Checker Association and modestly, as is a mark of distinction for winning the tournament.

Two Teams Play

When the registration took place, previous to the opening of the afternoon session, Harris of Belleville, sent from Port Hope, Trenton, Bloomfield, Carrying Place, Picton, Brighton and Belleville entries, for the immediate surrounding district. The afternoon session was a team match between a team picked by Mr. Geo. Harris of Belleville, known as team No 1 and a team picked by Mr. A. W. Flindall of Trenton, known as team No 2. Each team drew 15 players besides himself and they battled all afternoon. Mr. W. Sherry, of this city, acted as referee, assisted by J. Shortt was scorer. Team No. 1 won the match by a score of 10 games to 5 games, with 3 games unfinished. The games were played by winning 3 games, losing 21 games and drawing 1 game. Team No 2 won 16 games, lost 37 games and tied 18 games. Time limit of 30 minutes constituted a game in the afternoon battle. The members of team No 1 were—Harris, Geo. Harris, captain, Wooton, Phillips, Trumbell, Hancock, Gerrard, Wan, Barnes, Bell, Davis, Ainsworth, Stewart, Hoskins, Richardson and E. R. Morden, and S. Morden.

Team No 2 consisted of A. W. Flindall captain, Simmons, Oakley, Bellamy, F. Flindall, Adams, Brunisell, Ward, Wilson, Roach, Boyd, Mayhe, Fry, Livingstone and Funderburg.

Elimination Series

The evening session was of the elimination nature. Four tables were placed and players seated at each table. The loser dropped at the end of each game. The winners playing a winner and his table until one winner was declared at each table, then, the four winners met and the two winners of this meeting, Mr. Werder and Mr. Flindall met in the finals. The players at table No 1 were Messrs. Boyd, Stewart, Roach, Roiston, Tice, Gainey, Ainsworth and Bellfew, Mr. Boyd of Belleville was the winner of this table. Table No 2 saw Messrs. Livingstone, Harris, Trumbell, Werder, Aris, Morden, Morton and Shaw, participate, Mr. Werder the winner of this table. At table No 3 were Messrs. Johnston, McClellan, Bateman, Mr. W. Flindall, Sine, Hautman and Daws played with Mr. Flindall the only finalist. The last table to 4 was played by Messrs. Vick, Van Dusen, Floyd, Hinds, Johnson, Broad and F. Flindall, with Mr. Johnson winning. Mr. A. W. Flindall of table of table No. 3 won from Mr. Johnson in the semi-finals while Mr. Werker of table No 2 won from Mr. Boyd in the semi-finals. Mr. Flindall winning the championship in the finals from Mr. Werder.

After the tournament Mr. J. Shortt assured those present, that the Y.M.C.A. was open to them on any occasion, when they wished to participate in their ancient game. A Checker and Chess club will be formed, and the keenest enthusiasm shown at yesterday's meet. The tournament was enjoyed by all players and spectators alike, as many spectators dropped in to witness the games at different intervals. A number of local citizens were present and played a few friendly games of checkers among themselves, but did not participate in the actual tournament itself. Notice for the forming of the new club will be mailed to those present at yesterday's meet in the near future. The next checker tournament for Eastern Ontario will be held in Whitby the latter part of next month.

Current Sport
By The Observer

The present weather conditions have made the local curlers smile. At present the ice is in perfect condition for curling and a goodly number of the "soup 'er up nuss" lads are to be seen nightly at their rink on George Street. On Thursday evening the Belleville junior curlers journey to Kingston where they play the Kingston City curlers in a junior game. The local "skens however enjoy a 15 point margin which they got in the first game that was played in Belleville last week, in this round game count, but in the last game it was a game, then points count on the round. The local juniors are taking their strongest team possible to compete in this C.O.C.L. game. Three rinks are being selected from each city in this junior loop play-off.

At least two rinks from Belleville will go to Kingston for the open bonspiel next Monday. Rinks are being entered from Peterboro, Cobourg, Colborne, Napanee, Picton, Odessa, Kingston and possibly two rinks from Trenton will be there. There will be two classes at the Kingston bonspiel—a primary and secondary, also a knock-out and draw play will be held in the evening. Mr. A. W. Flindall of Trenton defeated Mr. Ward of Bloomfield after a hard and trying battle. The semi-finals were a bit delayed therefore the finals between these two gentlemen did not start until nearly 11 p.m. Interest ran high throughout the final till, between the two elderly gentlemen, as all the checker players and spectators gathered around to witness the final match for the checker championship of this district. After Mr. Flindall had won the match he was presented with a button from the Canadian Checker Association and modestly, as is a mark of distinction for winning the tournament.

Two Teams Play

When the registration took place, previous to the opening of the afternoon session, Harris of Belleville, sent from Port Hope, Trenton, Bloomfield, Carrying Place, Picton, Brighton and Belleville entries, for the immediate surrounding district. The afternoon session was a team match between a team picked by Mr. Geo. Harris of Belleville, known as team No 1 and a team picked by Mr. A. W. Flindall of Trenton, known as team No 2. Each team drew 15 players besides himself and they battled all afternoon. Mr. W. Sherry, of this city, acted as referee, assisted by J. Shortt was scorer. Team No. 1 won the match by a score of 10 games to 5 games, with 3 games unfinished. The games were played by winning 3 games, losing 21 games and drawing 1 game. Team No 2 won 16 games, lost 37 games and tied 18 games. Time limit of 30 minutes constituted a game in the afternoon battle. The members of team No 1 were—Harris, Geo. Harris, captain, Wooton, Phillips, Trumbell, Hancock, Gerrard, Wan, Barnes, Bell, Davis, Ainsworth, Stewart, Hoskins, Richardson and E. R. Morden, and S. Morden.

Team No 2 consisted of A. W. Flindall captain, Simmons, Oakley, Bellamy, F. Flindall, Adams, Brunisell, Ward, Wilson, Roach, Boyd, Mayhe, Fry, Livingstone and Funderburg.

Elimination Series

The evening session was of the elimination nature. Four tables were placed and players seated at each table. The loser dropped at the end of each game. The winners playing a winner and his table until one winner was declared at each table, then, the four winners met and the two winners of this meeting, Mr. Werder and Mr. Flindall met in the finals. The players at table No 1 were Messrs. Boyd, Stewart, Roach, Roiston, Tice, Gainey, Ainsworth and Bellfew, Mr. Boyd of Belleville was the winner of this table. Table No 2 saw Messrs. Livingstone, Harris, Trumbell, Werder, Aris, Morden, Morton and Shaw, participate, Mr. Werder the winner of this table. At table No 3 were Messrs. Johnston, McClellan, Bateman, Mr. W. Flindall, Sine, Hautman and Daws played with Mr. Flindall the only finalist. The last table to 4 was played by Messrs. Vick, Van Dusen, Floyd, Hinds, Johnson, Broad and F. Flindall, with Mr. Johnson winning. Mr. A. W. Flindall of table of table No. 3 won from Mr. Johnson in the semi-finals while Mr. Werker of table No 2 won from Mr. Boyd in the semi-finals. Mr. Flindall winning the championship in the finals from Mr. Werder.

After the tournament Mr. J. Shortt assured those present, that the Y.M.C.A. was open to them on any occasion, when they wished to participate in their ancient game. A Checker and Chess club will be formed, and the keenest enthusiasm shown at yesterday's

District News

NORTH HASTINGS

Roslin

Roslin—Mr. and Mrs. J. Johnson, and Mr. and Mrs. L. Carleton spent Monday evening with Mr. and Mrs. W. Sherry, Thomasburg.

Mrs. Chapaille and Mr. Wilson spent Tuesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. N. Wilson.

Mr. and Mrs. Black of Belleville, spent Tuesday afternoon and evening with Mr. and Mrs. H. Chisholm.

Mr. Glen Ish spent Wednesday evening in Madoc.

Rev. and Mrs. Grant called Thursday afternoon on Mr. and Mrs. C. Sills and Mr. and Mrs. W. Alexander.

A number from here attended the hockey match in Tweed on Thursday evening when Elzo and Tweed played. The score was 2-2.

The regular weekly Leniex service was held in the Anglican Church on Friday evening. Lantern slides were shown.

The Women's Auxiliary held a short meeting after the service.

Misses Phyllis and Helen Sills spent the week end with their cousin in Miss Margaret Sills.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Johnson and family spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Orry and family.

Ivanhoe

Ivanhoe—An excellent play entitled "Art for Heart's Sake" was given by the Centenary Young People at Ivanhoe, United Church, Friday evening. A fairly large assembly were present.

Lovely piano and guitar selections were rendered between acts.

Between the thirty and eleven a dainty lunch was served to the audience which was enjoyed. We came to make the evening a success.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Mets and family accompanied by Mrs. W. Arbuckle and Wayne took tea with Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Frost on Wednesday night.

Mrs. H. Lockhart spent Thursday with her mother at Thomasburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Goldie McInroy spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Mets.

Mr. Milton Shaw spent Tuesday with his grand parents Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hollinger of Moira.

Miss Frances Harris has been holidaying with Misses Bessie and Annie Fleming for the past week.

Quite a number from here attended the hockey game between Eldorado and Ivanhoe on Thursday night. Eldorado won with a score of 5-4.

Mr. and Mrs. Stan Frost and children also Mr. John Wood motored to March Hill where they spent an enjoyable day with Mr. and Mrs. Gardiner Metz.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. French spent Sunday evening at Mr. R. Rollin's.

Sunday visitors at Mr. R. Wallace's were Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bellamy, Eldorado and Mr. and Mrs. Chambers and daughter of Corbyville.

Misses Vera Rocks and Mary Clements took tea with Mr. and Mrs. S. Reid on Sunday evening.

Harold

Harold—Mr. Walter Sine spent Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. Morel Sine.

Mrs. Fred Hagerman spent Sunday evening at the home of Mr. W. J. Thompson.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Mumby, Mr. and Mrs. George Mumby and Miss Emma Barlow were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Mowat Sine on Sunday.

Mr. John Courtney has had his tonsils removed, at Dr. Peddley's office, Stirling. He is progressing nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Earle Cranston of Stirling spent Sunday with Mr. Cranston's father, Mr. Robert Cranston.

Mrs. Carman Sine is ill.

Buy Next Year's Overcoat Now!

YOU WILL NEVER have as good a chance to make money by saving, and getting a high-price stylish garment at much less than its real value.

There will be plenty stormy weather yet — Old Man Winter isn't licked by any means.

Protect yourself against any extremes of weather and buy an Overcoat you will be proud of—Prices will never be as low, in fact the tendency will be for stronger prices all round as the season advances, and certainly will be a great deal higher next season.

Quick & Robertson
CORRECT CLOTHING FOR MEN

HONKERS IN EMBRYO

KINGSTON, Feb. 24.—Two small boys who were playing hockey on barrens gave Sheriff R. F. Vair and Jail Governor Hawley a busy time officials at the opening session of the Assizes. The youngsters were riding around the Court House and blowing the horns on their vehicle to warn actual and imaginary pedestrians. As the windows in the Court room faced the disturbed the court, and the Sheriff and the jailer were despatched by ordinary bicycles.

Chief Justice Ross to quiet the little fellows. The mother of the children on velocipedes equipped with An iron casting weighing 122,000 pounds, stated to be the largest ever made in Canada, was turned recently at Sydney, Nova Scotia.

Weighing only 11 pounds, a single-cylinder motor has been invented in Germany to supply power to ordinary bicycles.

NO OVERTIME ALLOWED!
$15,000
TURRET CIGARETTE HOCKEY CONTEST
ENDS MARCH 5TH

One try for these prizes is not enough—send an entry a day!

1st PRIZE . . $2,500.00
Double the above ($2,000.00) will be awarded under certain conditions. See NOTE below.

2nd PRIZE . . $1,250.00
Double the above ($1,000.00) will be awarded under certain conditions. See NOTE below.

3rd PRIZE . . $750.00
Double the above ($1,000.00) will be awarded under certain conditions. See NOTE below.

4th PRIZE . . $500.00
Double the above ($1,000.00) will be awarded under certain conditions. See NOTE below.

Five of $250.00 Ten of $50.00
Twenty of $25.00 Two Hundred and Fifty of $10.00

NOTE—Duplicate prizes will be awarded under certain conditions which are given in the fine-print panels of empty Turret Cigarette (20's) packages with portion of series stamp from Hamilton.

Someone is going to figure out the exact number of goals scored in this big Turret Cigarette Hockey Contest . . . and pull down that big $5,000.00 First Prize.

You need not be a hockey expert . . . nor even have seen a hockey game this season. Refer to the sporting page of your local paper under the heading "Hockey Standings" and in the columns marked "F" you'll find the total goals scored by each of the eight teams to date. Each team plays 48 games during the season—Under "F" in the column just referred to are the games played to date and a little figuring will help you to arrive at your answer.

Start now—send in an entry each day until the close of the contest. Approximately 5 games each remain on the schedule of the 8 National Hockey League teams. Get in before it's too late.

THE JUDGES—The following committee of sporting authorities have consented to act as judges: E. W. Ferguson, sporting editor of The Herald, Montreal; Albert Laberge, sporting editor of La Presse, Montreal; L. A. Lefaivre, sporting editor l'Illustration, Montreal; James P. Fitzgerald, sporting editor of Toronto Telegram; Charles F. Good, sports writer Toronto Star; Alphonse Fruult, sporting editor of La Soleil, Quebec.

Contest Rules

1. This contest is open to any resident of the Dominion of Canada, except employees of The Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada, Limited, its subsidiary and affiliated companies, the families of these employees, and other advertising agencies.
2. Estimates may be made upon the authentic blank which appears in the panel of each empty Turret package. If a wrong estimate is attached to the front of any package, the estimate will be disqualified and the contestant will be debarred from participating in the contest on the classification.
3. Each contestant may enter as many estimates as he or she desires, but only one prize will be awarded to each contestant.
4. The official figures of the National Hockey League will be used to determine the winners. In the event of a tie for any prize, duplicate prizes will be awarded. In the event of competent judges will review and pass on the estimates and their decision as to the correctness of an estimate each contestant agrees to accept the decision of the judges as final.
5. All entries must be mailed to Turret, P.O. Box 1188, Montreal, P.Q., to reach there not later than midnight, March 5th, 1932, and all entries must bear the post-mark of this or a prior date.
6. In case of a tie for any prize, that prize will be divided between the entries tying for such prize.
7. The Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada, Limited, will not be responsible for lost, delayed or misdirected mail.
8. In case of a tie for any prize, that prize will be divided between the entries tying for such prize.
9. The Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada, Limited, will not be responsible for lost, delayed or misdirected mail.
10. The current National Hockey League Schedule, ending March 5th, 1932, is printed on the back of the panel of each empty Turret package. Duplicate schedules and the official figures are available, and the names of the prize winners will be announced in this paper.

Ask your tobacconist for additional entry blanks or copy the coupon below.

Name and additional estimates must be mailed to Turret Cigarettes Hockey Contest, P.O. Box 1188, Montreal, P.Q.

Team	Total Goals Scored Season of 1931-32	Estimated Total Goals Scored Season of 1931-32 (Exclusive of play-offs)
BOSTON	143
CANADIENS	179
TORONTO	118
CHICAGO	186
RANGERS	196
MAROONS	106
DETROIT	162
AMERICANS	76

Name.....

Address.....

Name and additional estimates must be mailed to Turret Cigarettes Hockey Contest, P.O. Box 1188, Montreal, P.Q.

Team	Total Goals Scored Season of 1931-32	Estimated Total Goals Scored Season of 1931-32 (Exclusive of play-offs)
BOSTON	143
CANADIENS	179
TORONTO	118
CHICAGO	186
RANGERS	196
MAROONS	106
DETROIT	162
AMERICANS	76

Name.....

Address.....

Quality and Mildness Turret
CIGARETTES
Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada, Limited

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Robber Leads His Tribe Away

By Thornton W. Burgess

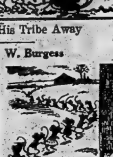
What you must do do not delay:
Thereof nothing is more loyal in that way.

—Robber the Rat.

Robber the Rat is an outcast and all his family are outcasts. They always have been and probably always will be. You see, dreadful as it may seem, there appears to be no good in them. They are hated by man and they are just as much hated by their neighbors in fur and feather. No one has a good word for them. They have no friends. This is their own fault. There is no one to blame but themselves. They live by stealing from others. They are driven into their habits, bold, ugly and savage. So they have no friends, not even one. Their own cousins hate them. And they don't care. No, sir, they don't care.

They are quite sufficient unto themselves. They are loyal to each other and slick together and seem to delight in making other people dislike them as much as possible. So in time of trouble they have only each other to turn to. This has made them very cunning and smart and, with their boldness and willingness to live in places no one else would think fit to live in, has enabled them to do more mischief in the Great World than all other folk together.

So when Robber discovered that Mr. and Mrs. Monkey-face the Barn Owls had a nest and family in Farmer Brown's barn he knew that this was no place for him and his family to longer make their home. It was too dangerous. They must move and move at once. So he called together the family, the children, the grandchildren, the aunts, the uncles, the cousins, the sisters and the cousins and told them just what he had found out and just what the danger was.



"If there were but one Owl here we might stay by being extra careful," said he. "We might even stay with two Owls here. But with two Owls and a big family of growing babies to be fed this is no place for us. We must move and do it without delay. Not only must we leave this barn but we must leave this neighborhood. We must go where these Owls are not likely to follow and find us."

"Where is there such a place?" demanded a half-grown young Rat.

"You will have to follow me to find out," replied Robber. "I hope you don't think I have lived as long as I have without traveling and picking up knowledge in my travels. This isn't the first time I have had to move. A wise Rat will always know of a place to go in case of necessity. He must leave hurriedly the place where he is living. There is another barn almost as good as this, but it is quite a long way from here.

"Won't such a journey be very dangerous?" inquired a timid young Rat.

"Yes, but not so dangerous as remaining here," replied Robber. "Of course if you want to remain here it is your privilege to do so. As for me and Mrs. Robber and the children who are at home, we are going to move."

Robber the gray old Rat led a large party away from the back of Farmer Brown's Barn.

"When do we go?" asked another.

"Today when the sun is brightest," replied Robber.

At this there was a chorus of protests, for the ways of the Rat are ways of darkness and he fears the light last he be seen. Robber grinned. "No Rat goes out in daylight if he can help it unless he knows that no enemy is about," said he. "Therefore enemies are never on the watch for us in the middle of the day. Those Owls will be asleep then. Reddy Fox will not be around. Much as we dislike the light, it will be the safest time for us to move."

So at high noon, when he had first made sure that Flip the Turrier was nowhere about, Robber the gray old Rat led a strange procession out from the back of Farmer Brown's barn. There were gray old Rats like himself, brown young Rats in their prime, big Rats, little Rats and middle-size Rats, all carrying in a panic of flight after Robber, afraid to go and afraid to stay. Keeping under cover of bushes, fences and stone walls as much as he could he led them to a big barn on a neighboring farm, and not one of them was missing when they got there.

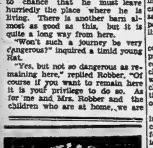
(Copyright, 1932, T. W. Burgess)

The next story: "The Rats Are Missed."

Develop Caution In Your Child

"I try to keep Philip from being afraid of things," said the young mother, "yet I can't let him go out into the world without instilling caution in him, where caution will save him from physical or mental pain. Where can one draw the line?"

I think that to anyone who has conscientiously thought of this problem, it has resolved a compliment one, for fear, has no place in a child's life. Many of the worst tragedies and wrecks of perfectly normal, healthy children; yet some measure of caution against danger must be a part of their training.



The point at which most of us fail in this situation is in preaching caution until it develops into a fear, without giving the child any idea of what to do as cautionary measures.

When you discover John on the garage roof, try saying: "Hold that to the side when you come down," rather than the mother-warning born of solicitude, which makes you want to scream: "Oh, be careful! You'll fall!"

In teaching your child the dangers of crossing busy thoroughfares, substitute: "Wait until the light has turned red and you see that the cars have stopped in each direction, the green light, "in place of your habitual: "Be careful when you cross that street, or you'll get run over." The latter scares a child without giving him anything specific to do about it. There is the fine line between inculcating your child with fear and with caution.

A child who is constantly told by a fidgeting mother to "be careful" when doing this or that or something else, will soon be going to override her warnings with a sheer recklessness, or be frightened to the extent that he will refuse to attempt anything by himself.

We grownups have learned what to do in the interest of our safety. Tell the child what to do. He does not know as yet.

JELL-O thrillers are economical and sure to turn out right. Such shimmering, quivery, tender delights with that million dollar appearance! For quality, make sure it's genuine Jell-O. Ask your grocer.

JELL-O
MADE IN CANADA
Canada's Most Famous Dessert
J3-32

Serve THRILLERS and yet SAVE MONEY

Correct Manners

OBLIGATIONS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1.—Who buys the flowers for the altar at a church wedding which will take place in the morning? Is it the groom or the parents of the bride?

2.—Who gives the first dinner after the engagement has been announced? The parents of the groom-to-be or the parents of the bride-to-be?

H.

1.—All of the expenses of the church are paid by the parents of the bride, who are hosts of the occasion. The church fee, they pay, and the fee to the sexton, and the fee for the music and for the flowers.

2.—There is no rule about this.

Women's Interests in the Home

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. M. Morrison of Campbellford and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Forrester, Trenton, were guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tucker, Trent Road last Sunday.

Last evening a pleasing and profitable time was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Waverly, Ann street, when Group Number Five of the Tabernacle Church held its regular meeting with the convener Mrs. Sanford in the chair. Music and several readings on missionary work were enjoyed following by refreshments and a social time. Mrs. James and Mrs. Caverly serving themselves excellent hostesses.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Hamilton of Foxboro, Ontario, have arrived home from attending the Olympic sports at Lake Placid, New York, and visiting relatives at Edwards, New York.

Mr. Fred Smith and Mr. Charles Hanna have returned to the city from Toronto where the Retail Hardware Merchants' Association held their annual meeting.

Mr. Harry Bateman, Albion street is confined to his home with illness.

Mr. S. E. Haight of Corbyville, who underwent a serious operation at Belleville General Hospital is progressing favourably.

Mr. John Lloyd has been quite ill for the past few days.

Miss Thelma Bird of Consilvton, has entered the Belleville General Hospital, as nurse-in-training.

Miss Myrtle Cummings underwent an operation for the removal of tonsils, at the Belleville General Hospital, this morning, and her condition is favorable.

Mrs. S. Wood of Fort Hope, underwent an operation at Belleville General Hospital on Monday and her condition is satisfactory.

Miss Elizabeth Corbett has returned home after visiting Dr. and Mrs. Russell Lamour, Ottawa.

Mrs. Russell Lamour, Ottawa, is at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Rogers, owing to the illness of Mrs. Arthur Rogers.

The only gesture that must be made is for the parents, at least the mother, of the groom to make the visit-of-welcome to the bride. This visit is made, or should be, within twenty-four hours after the prospective groom has told his parents of his engagement. If they do not live in the same city, they write their welcoming to the bride. After this they may give a party or parties for the couple or they may not; it is necessary to get details on their mode of living, on whether or not they wish to give a party. In other words, it is proper for either family to give a party, for it is not necessary for either to give a party.

MATRON OF HONOR

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My first child is to be married next month and would like to have me as matron of honor. Do you tell me if it is proper for a young married woman to be matron of honor I am married.

M. M.

Yes, this is correct. Nowadays attendants are often married, and the distinction is made between married attendants and unmarried ones. Either one is charming and correct for you to be your sister's matron of honor.

THE BRIDESMAID'S ATTIRE

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1.—I am to be married soon, and my girl friends are trying to tell me that I must pay for their outfits. I think that they are wrong. Please tell who is right.

2.—I live with my aunt and uncle. Is it all right if my uncle gives me the money?

1.—You are right about this. It is not expected that the bride-to-be pay for the outfits of her attendants. Sometimes, however, the bride-to-be is very rich and very generous, she gives the attendants their attire for the wedding, but this is not usual. A girl who is asked to be a bridal attendant should not accept this invitation unless she can afford to supply her own costume.

2.—Yes, if this is what you wish.

WEDDING INVITATIONS

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

A is getting married. She has a stepmother. Which is the correct way to address the invitation?

Mr. and Mrs. John Berkhardt request the honour of your presence or

Mr. John Berkhardt requests the honour of your presence

Q.

The first is the better form. This is the one usually used, in this circumstance:

Mr. and Mrs. John Berkhardt request the honour of your presence at the marriage of their daughter

Martha Goodhue

If this is not preferred, sometimes the third line reads:

at the marriage of Mr. Berkhardt's daughter

But this latter form is to be avoided if possible.

Mrs. Cornelius Beeckman will be glad to answer questions on good manners submitted by readers.)

Write it on your heart that every day is the best day in the year.—R. W. Emerson.

Beauty..... BY HELEN JAMIESON

Girls Look Pretty When They Sew

Whether the gals are taking time by the cowlick and making presents for next Christmas or whether they've become domesticated, we don't know, but fancy work is going on in a big way. There are packed through the department stores where patient instructors show the cash customers how to pick out the wools and how to put wools in, eventually producing chair covers or squares from which they evolve sofa pillows. It's all very romantic. And sample-lers, bless you all! You do a sampler in cross stitch, run it pour in-itials and date, line; maybe a hun-dred years hence some great-great-granddaughter will sell it for a fabulous sum. Very pleasing to the eye to see little Josephine with her a few months back was shouting "See you soon George," as George's taxi backed away and left Josephine at her parents door—to see me repeat, little Josephine sitting demurely at home of an evening making tapestry, or perhaps cheering for George, much, much better for Josephine who needs calm and quiet after her post-graduate course at night clubs.

A woman is attractive when she sews. There's something about the picture of industry that plying the needle which makes John's heart start kicking. The sentimental male is susceptible to pictorial effects. That may, in a way, explain the needlework mania. It's a plot to get unmarried sisters back to normal.

As a display of pulchritude, conditions for the needleworker are perfect. The strong light under which she plies the needle shows up the glory of her hair, accentuating the ripples bringing out the piquant little bean catchers that, apparently have got out from under the sidelocks and settled before her ears. The pose of the head, if properly arranged, can produce that little soft white hollow in the neck that inspires poetry in the hearts of swains.

Mind the hands. How they look, how they move. It can scarcely be heard that they will appear like little white butterflies; that's a comparison that's a bit far-fetched these days, but pretty hands of lovely texture, with finger tips capped with nails of shining coral do put up a compelling show. "For two cents," said John to me himself "I'd crumple them like roseleaves and kiss them." Or maybe he won't, the matter depending somewhat upon how saucy John is originally being.

We trust and hope that the tapestry maker won't forget the warning that has had short sitting in an unpretty manner, that she won't cross her knees, or let her feet wander out into the room far that she will sit well back in the chair, cultivate that pretty, luxuriant at-ease look which makes a man feel so hum and pleasantly languid.

There is the matter of costume. While plying the needle, there can be impropriety in soft chiffons and ruffly duds that sound the true feminine note. You're no idea how impressed a man is with ruffles, that time he often talks and talks the very love of the feat itself, and in the realization that by talking he communicates attention.

But in time the true building by the child's language, experiences are the corner stone. An apparatus on which the child can climb, swing and balance provides experiences which will be revealed in his language.

Building materials, things with which he can fashion objects to be clothed in imaginary colors and animated by his fancy, offer excellent language builders.

Materials which he enjoys touching, hard things, soft things, round or sharp or smooth enable him to classify and select and explain verbally the new ideas they engender.

Books into the country, building what he has seen with blocks, opens up another fascinating field of words and ideas.

The busy child will build his language structure faster than the child who is denied opportunities for experience in exploration, and manipulation of play materials.

BUILDING LANGUAGE

It is strange that a lot of us think that all a child has to do is build a language, to learn to talk. is to discover the use of his vocal organs and manipulate them, when in reality it is an intimately bound up with doing. The child does things, who is given opportunity to manipulate toys and play materials, talks sooner and more fluently than the child whose play activities are circumscribed.

Each new activity brings in its wake a new stream of words. Questions asked about a play project garner in, to the language of the little person just learning to talk, a host of new sounds which express his new thoughts. Because, back of language there must always be ideas and ideas are born and nourished in a proper atmosphere of exploration, handling, using and inquiring.

I am not speaking now of our adult misuse of language, of the torrent of words which sometimes seems to come forth from a mind vacant of all ideas. Children have not learned "small talk." Usually when they talk, it is either in response seriously about an interesting object or to tell something which are of profound import to them, and to which they like to listen and to converse with adults. At

Convalescence is hastened by OVALTINE
TONIC FOOD BEVERAGE

WINS MEMORIAL PRIZE

Halifax, N.S. Feb. 21—Word has been received from Ottawa that Miss Winifred Young, of the Bloomfield High School Company of the Halifax High School Cadet Battalion, has been awarded the Galley Hagarty Memorial Trophy for 1931. Cadet Plocg scored 350 out of the possible 400 in the two competitions and obtained the highest score in Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island.

Since the inception of this prize in 1927, it has been won three times by Bloomfield High School. In 1927 it went to the Glace Bay High School and in 1929 to the Halifax Academy.

CELEBRATE CENTENARY

Sydney, Australia, Feb. 24 (CP)—Looking back on 100 years of fruitful teaching efforts in all parts of Australasia, the Sisters of Mercy are celebrating their centenary as a Roman Catholic religious order in this country. It was in 1831 that Mother Catherine McAuley of Dublin, founded the order in Sydney.

WOMEN'S MEETINGS

SHANNONVILLE W. M. S.

The ladies of the W.M.S. of the United Church, Shannonville gave an old fashioned supper on Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Dies. Long tables set in the dining room and sun parlor were filled twice and the different viands were much enjoyed. One of the guests, Mr. Noble Clark, whose birthday fell on that date was pleasantly surprised when a three story birthday cake, decorated with with candles was placed in front of him.

Mr. Clark expressed his thanks to the ladies for their kindness. After supper the members gathered in the parlor for the business part of their meeting. A program for all was then given, consisting of an instrumental trio by the misses Melborn, recitations by Miss Helen Clark and Ila Robertson and a solo by Miss Thelma Liddle all of which numbers were much enjoyed. An old fashioned spelling match proved very interesting. Mrs. George Latter won the prize for being the best speller, a pretty box of stationery. A charade of 26 centrepiece and fifteen for children was made, the proceeds amounting to twenty six dollars. A most enjoyable evening was spent by all and many thanks are due Mr. and Mrs. Dies for their kind hospitality.

Day of Prayer

A meeting was held at the parsonage on Friday afternoon, Feb. 19th to observe the World's Day of Prayer. The program prepared for the day was used. Mrs. Wm. Miller presided at the piano and each member present willingly took their part in the program.

BETHANY W. M. S.

The W.M.S. of Bethany United Church held their February meeting at the home of Mrs. R. Yateman on Wednesday Feb. 17th with 15 members and 3 visitors present. The President, Mrs. W. Yateman was in the chair. The Minutes of last meeting were read and adopted. The Treasurer's report was given and it was announced that $31 was raised last year.

Mrs. Cole, Leader of Group 1 took charge of the programme, Mrs. R. Martin gave a very interesting talk on the 2nd chapter of the Study Book.

The programme for the World's Day of Prayer was carried out and a very impressive service.

A solo was given by Mrs. Boyle. The offering was then received and amounted to $3.70. The next meeting was closed by the Lord's Prayer, repeated in unison. Mrs. Cooley served candy and a social half hour was enjoyed.

FRANKFORD W. M. S.

The W.M.S. of the United Church Frankford held their first executive meeting for the year on the evening of Feb. 8th. At this gathering the groups for the year were arranged.

The February monthly meeting was held at the home of Mrs. A. Ford.

Mrs. C. Hendricks led in prayer. All joining in the Lord's Prayer. Minutes of last meeting were read by Mrs. Powell. Mrs. J. Johnson gave the treasurer's report.

Corresponding Secretary read the resignation of Mrs. Weese as Secretary-treasurer of the society because of ill health. Mrs. Stewart was appointed as her successor.

Mrs. Ford reported three baskets of fruit sent to three members who were confined to their homes by illness.

After a short discussion on the Study Book it was decided to drop its use was adopted. Mrs. Marshall Smith desired to be relieved of the Secretaryship of Missionary Monthly, Mrs. Dickens volunteered to fill the vacancy.

Mrs. Jas. Johnson gave a very full, interesting and instructive report from the Presbyterial held at Fort Hope. A vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Johnson by a vigorous hand clap.

Mrs. Ford told of and invitation to the society to hold a meeting at her home of a shut-in.

GIFT TO FIGHT CANCER

Montreal, Feb. 24 — Announcement of a gift of $25,000 to McGill University for further study and research on cancer was made today by Principal Sir Arthur Currie, who stated that a part of the money would be used to establish an outdoor cancer clinic at the Royal Victoria Hospital.

BILLIE BURKE. As this recent photograph shows, the years have only increased her charm! She says: "It is important above all to guard complexion beauty. I use Lux Toilet Soap regularly."

"I am 39!" SAYS BILLIE BURKE

Famous stage Beauty declares no woman need look her age

"I REALLY am 39 years old!" says Billie Burke. "And I don't see why any woman should look her age.

"We on the stage, of course, must keep our youthful freshness. Youth wins and holds the public as nothing else can.

"So one must be wise enough to keep this charm right through the years. To do this it is important above everything else to guard complexion beauty—keep one's skin temptingly fresh and smooth.

"For years I have used Lux Toilet Soap regularly. It leaves my skin amazingly clear and soft."

At 39 Billie Burke has just signed up for a series of motion pictures in Hollywood. She will find the actresses there, like the stage stars, are devoted to Lux Toilet Soap. Actually 605 of the 613 important ones use this fragrant white soap to guard complexion beauty—regularly!

Lever Brothers Limited, Toronto
Soapmakers by appointment to their Excellencies the Governor-General and Countess of Bessborough. 24

Lux Toilet Soap—10¢

QUALITY FURS DELANEY QUALITY FURS
STORAGE REPAIRING
CLEANING Exclusive Furrier REMODELLING
17 Campbell St. Belleville Phone 797

FINANCIAL NEWS

FORD LITTLE BETTER TODAY

Bell Telephone is Down a Point From Tuesday's Close

Toronto, Ont., Feb. 24— (Noon Stocks) — Activity was curtailed on Toronto Stock Exchange this morning and the market held fairly steady at a level closely approximating that of the close Tuesday night. The buying, which had been apparent in Ford of Canada and Bell Telephone, both of which continue very attractive propositions, had dried up before the opening this morning and consequently with these latest issues stocks quiet the entire market was somewhat broken. Ford this morning was slightly better than it had closed, 12 3-4 against 15 1-4, but there was very little demand for the stock. Bell Telephone dropped 1 point to 120 without exciting any excitement. Brazilian at 13 was off more than a point but only odd transactions took place in this stock. Walkers, which closed firmly at 2 1-2, came under pressure and was broken down 1-2 to 3-4 in larger dealings. Gold, too, was lower, dropping over 9 this morning. Dominion Bridge dropped 1-4 point to 77.

Against these declines were the increases in Ford of Canada, Brazilian at 13 was off more than a point but only odd transactions took place in this stock. Walkers, which closed firmly at 2 1-2, came under pressure and was broken down 1-2 to 3-4 in larger dealings. Gold, too, was lower, dropping over 9 this morning. Dominion Bridge dropped 1-4 point to 77.

Against these declines were the increases in Ford of Canada, another rise in Steel of Canada to 41 3-4 and a rise of 3-4 in Canada Oil to 11. Ford, which opened at a new high, thought there was greater interest shown on the

MINES SHOWED EASIER TREND

Dome is in Fair Demand Other Golds Are Firm But Inactive

Toronto, Ont., Feb. 24 (Opening Lead) — Price changes on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange market, while confined to a dozen or so issues, showed an easier tendency in the forenoon today.

Eldorado, whose report, expected tomorrow, will show a good cash position, and contain detailed information on results at Great Bear Lake, reacted to $1.07 in the first hour but was standing at $1.46, off a couple cents last night, when taken at midday. Nipissing dipped to 90 and Dominion Explorers added another fraction to its recent losses.

Dome again met fair demand and moved up 5 to $10.30, and Majority of Hollinger was also in demand though inactive. Among cheaper issues possession of a cent or so appeared in Wright Hargreaves, Stoc, Macassa, Kirkland Townsite and Sylvanite, while Kirkland Lake, Nipissing, Sudbury Basin and Base Metals were broken slightly in the base metal section. Oils remained at a standstill.

LARGE LIST AT SPRING ASSIZE

Sixteen Cases For Decision, Three of Which Are Criminal

Sixteen cases have been entered for trial at the Spring Assizes to be held at the city of Belleville in the Court House, commencing on Tuesday, March 1st, 1932, at 1 p.m., before the Honourable Justice Rose, O.J.C.P.

Thomas Leslie, K.C., of Toronto, has been named Crown Prosecutor with Mr. R. C. Donnan, County Crown Attorney, acting as his assistant.

Four criminal cases that have been entered by the Crown are:

Rex. vs. Ira Clark, charge of criminal assault.

Rex vs. Chas. Dipnoe, charge of breach of the Dominion Excise Act.

Rex vs. R. J. Smith, charge of attempted arson.

Rex vs. M. M. Alger, charge of manslaughter.

Five jury cases will be heard, namely:

O'Connor vs. Courneyea, plaintiff's solicitor, Jerry Deacon; defendant's solicitor, J. D. Corcoran.

Brown vs. Ward, Ward's solicitor, Motor Car Company Limited and Ward; Rex vs. R. J. Smith, charges of Ward, Geo. E. Edmonds, Phelan, Richardson and Harvey.

Marsh vs. Moore, Moore Ltd.; B. C. Donnan; Rigs and Sealants.

Merrer vs. Thorne, B. C. Donnan; Rigbes, Agar and Thompson.

Martin vs. McKinnon and Martin (third party); B. C. Donnan; Porter, Parys and Arnold; O'Flynn and Ponton and Graham (for the third party).

Eight cases are entered in the non jury hearing, namely:

Bell Telephone vs. Motor Utilities (interpleader action); Cavell and Turner; Grundy vs. Sherrill; Geo. Arnold; O'Flynn and O'Flynn.

Mosier vs. Cory; H. D. Graham; Wallbridge, Cameron and Co.

This is one of the largest lists ever submitted to the Grand Jury in this county in quite some time and unless some of the cases are settled over until a further court the proceedings will be quite prolonged.

The list of grand jurymen handed out by Sheriff Ketcheson on Monday morning was as follows:

Joe. Armstrong, of Tudor, merchant.

Robert Blackburn, of Wellington, farmer.

S. E. Cheeseman, of Deloro, bookkeeper.

Lincoln Elliott, of Rungerford, farmer.

Albert A. Farrar, of Trenton, merchant.

G. B. Foote, of Madoc, clerk.

Joseph Hogle, of Tweed, farmer.

John McWhirter, of Carlow, farmer.

D. H. Morrison, of Tweed, printer.

A. J. Randell, of Deseronto, grocer.

Geo. Tilley, of Belleville, accountant.

C. P. Walt, Stirling, dentist.

Lewis Miles, of Thurlow, gardener.

UBOES COMMISSION

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 24.—(By the Canadian Press)—Creation of a Provincial Commission with control over Ontario Railways and Roads, was urged yesterday by Dr. H. E. Wodehouse, warden of Carleton County, at a conference of County Wardens and chairmen of County Road Committees here today. The conference was called by Hon. Leopold Macaulay, Minister of Highways.

Stock Markets

Quotations furnished by Biggar and Crawford, P. H. Wills branch manager. Compiled at 2.15.

MINES

Acme	13½
Alexandria	Bid 16
Alta	1.03
Barry Hollinger	6½
Bidgood	2.00
Falconbridge	Bid 76
Base Metals	Bid 10
Brazada	1.06
Hollinger	9.05
Hudson's Bay	2.30
Goyer	7½
Kirkland Lake	44
Lake Shore	Bid 77
Maintyre	17.25
Moneta	61½
Stadacona	24
West Hughes	4.36
Wood	10.75
Ventures	42
Wright Hargreaves	2.70
Dome	10.30
Central Patricia	141
Int. Nickle	8%
Noranda	16.30

NEW YORK

American Can	67
Auburn	10
Am. For. Power	7½
Byrod	8¾
Bethlehem Steel	21
Con. Gas	50
Case	36½
Drug	52
Fox	5¼
General Motors	21¾
Hudson Motors	8¼
Chrysler	12¾
Montgomery Ward	9
North American	26¾
Standard of N.J.	34¾
Radio Keith	5¼
Steels	48
Standard Brands	9
Am. Tel. and T.	127¼
Vanadium	14¼
Int. T. and T.	10¾
U. S. Steel	47

TORONTO

B. Coal	4
Imperial Oil	8¾
McColl Frontenac	24½
International Nickle	10¾
Distill Seagrams	36¾
Hiram Walker	29¾
Bell Telephone	119
B. P.	17½
Cockshutt	15¼
Dominion Steel	3
Ford A	16¾
Gypsum	33
Hollinger	9.05
Loblaw A	40
Massey Harris	5¾
Brazilian	13¾
Steel of Canada	41¼

WHEAT

May	58¼
July	62¾
May Rye	47¾

We will be taking part in all major bond issues as they come along during the next few months. Clients should telephone for information and advice.

Jamieson Bone & Co.
Phone 1260
Belleville, Ont.

THURLOW TOWNSHIP

Point Anne

Point Anne, Feb. 22 By Mail — Robert MacDonald of Kingston, spent the week end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank MacDonald.

Mrs. J. McDermott, Belleville and Mrs. Irving King of New York, N.Y., were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. Bangs on Sunday evening.

Mr. Treas Demerick of Stirling is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Herbert MacDonald.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Mosier and Mr. and Mrs. Louis Mosier of Cherry Valley, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. John Mosier.

Miss Dorothy Darlington, entertained a number of her friends at her home on the 19th, the occasion being her birthday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Mack, Mr. Bruce Demerick and Mr. and Mrs. Murry Darlington motored to Redmerville on Sunday evening where they attended the Orange Lodge dance.

Mr. Alex Darlington is ill.

Mr. H. A. Scollan spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds, Sly concession of Thurlow.

Brother Ambrose from his brother, Mr. F. H. Bennett, left for St. John, New Brunswick on Friday. Before he will resume his studies at the college.

Mrs. John Sullaway celebrated her 85th birthday on Sunday, Feb. 14th.

Plainfield

Plainfield—Miss M. Marshall and pupils entertained the ladies at the school on Thursday afternoon. An excellent program was put on by the pupils after which they served sandwiches, cake and tea.

Mrs. Parks has returned, having spent some time with her sister, Mrs. Lyndhurst.

The W.M.S., observed the day of prayer at the home of Mrs. Gould on Mrs. G. Collin's on Friday.

Mrs. J. Bowen has returned from visiting friends in Belleville.

Rev. E. Cook took charge of the service here on Sunday morning.

The school has been closed for a few days on account of the sickness of the teacher and pupils.

FRONT OF THURLOW

Front of Thurlow—The scholars of S.S. No. 1 spent a very pleasant afternoon on Friday last when after only a very short session of regular school work, the rest of the afternoon was given over to a concert rendered by the pupils, at which a number of visitors were present. There was also a Valentine post office where each child received numerous valentines, and as the close is said, no husbands as yet.

The Thurlow Assessors' Messrs Henderson and Gough made their annual trip through the district on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Cleaver and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Clasie unloaded two carloads of building material at the C.P.R. station last week and Monday of the week-end with lumber from Preston ready to start work on the new barn.

Rev. Mr. Keough took tea with Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Sandy Sunday evening and dinner with Mrs. W. C. MacDonald on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Brown attended the combined church board and members' social at the Methodist church held at Point Anne on Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. Fred MacDonald.

Miss Mary Donaldson of the 2nd concession is visiting at the home of her uncle Mr. Arthur Clasie.

Latta

Latta—Miss Marion Hall, nurse-in-training spent Monday afternoon with her parents.

Because of the illness of Miss Mary Macgillivray, the Latta school is closed.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Garrison and Franklin are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. J. Coffen.

Mrs. M. J. Latta is confined to her bed through illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Coulter and family spent Sunday with Mr. Coulter's parents.

The Misses Arkies visited their sister Mrs. R. Harrison, over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Emerson and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Van Allen.

Mr. Fred Reid held in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Colden on Monday night.

Mrs. Tummon is slowly improving. Miss Mabel Hodgins, telephone operator is confined to her home through illness.

Mrs. Arthur Hoard who has been away nursing, has again returned home.

Mrs. Bill Gray's sister has been visiting her for the past week.

Gilead

Gilead—The open winter continued until the end of up, their cut and everyone seems to be having a very enjoyable time on the toboggan of Mr. W. Clare.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hall spent Wednesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Swan.

Mr. Arthur McLachlan, Tamworth, is spending a few days with Kenneth Lawrence.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Selcanquet and Mr. Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Frank Carrion.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Balcanquet, also Miss Grace Balcanquet took dinner Sunday evening with Mrs. N. Maither, St.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Snider of Melrose and Mr. John Snider, Wintered spent Wednesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Balcanquet.

A number of farmers are hauling in from colds on this line.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Swan spent an evening recently with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Long.

A number from this line attended the funeral of the late Arthur McGillivray, Thurlow, which sympathy is extended to the bereaved relatives.

Miss Libby Anderson spent Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Leavoid.

3rd Thurlow

3rd Thurlow—A surprise party was given Mr. and Mrs. Percy Badgley on Monday evening last, prior to their leaving for their new home.

Bobby McPherson is progressing favorably at Belleville General Hospital.

The schools closed at present, owing to the illness of the teacher, Miss Florence Gould.

Mrs. Harry Tweedy is home from the hospital.

Mrs. Sam Dinan has about recovered from her accident of last Friday.

Mrs. W. W. Brown entertained a number of her friends last week. Among those present were Mr. and Mrs. Orson Hoskin and Mrs. Mervin Valentan and Mrs. Bowers, 4th line, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Clarke and Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Clarke.

Mrs. Vernon spent last week with her mother, Mrs. Sills who is very ill.

Miss Jean Brown gave a Sweet Pea Valentine party to several of her young friends one evening last week.

A number from this line attended the Anniversary last week of the late Arthur McGinley, Melrose.

Miss Ann Brown attended a party last week at Queen's College, Kingston.

Thomasburg

Thomasburg—Mrs. C. Barnett of Tweed called on friends in the village one day last week.

Mrs. L. Pearson is spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Pearson.

The W.M.S. held their regular monthly meeting on Thursday, Feb. 16 in the vestry. There was an attendance of 19 members. The Day of Prayer Programme was followed. A dainty lunch was served at the close of the programme and a short social half hour was enjoyed by all present.

Mr. Morton Elliott has been confined to his home with a severe cold but is at present much better.

Miss Ruby Holland, R. N., of Kingston is spending a few days at home here.

A very enjoyable evening was spent at the home of Mr. E. Carter on Friday, Feb. 19 when the people of the vicinity gathered to meet Mrs. Clara Carter, formerly Miss Clara Wilson, with a kitchen shower. Mr. and Miss Carter were taken completely by surprise but had thoughtful gift.

Thanked the people for their kind gifts. Mr. Carter had ten misfortune to fall on the ice one day last week fracturing his leg and will be confined to her home for some time, but is progressing favourably under the care of Dr. Gerald Roelin.

Mrs. W. L.Ketcheson of Tweed spent Friday afternoon with Mrs. W. Hoey.

Mrs. J. H. Blakely who has been ill for some time is progressing slowly.

CHARGED WITH SLAYING

WINDSOR, Ont., Feb. 24.—A warrant charging him with the murder of Sampling at O. J. B. White, former warden of the U.S. Federal Penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kan., has been served on Harold Penlaine in the Essex County jail.

Penlaine arrested nearly two months ago on an assault charge in Windsor, is wanted by United States authorities on charges of smuggling into Leavenworth a file formerly used by seven convicts in a break from the prison last December.

George Washington was the first geographer of the United States and the foremost traveller of his time.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. G. Arthur McKinney and children wish to thank friends and friends for kindness and sympathy shown them in their recent sad bereavement. 7x-11

NOTICE

Members of L.O.L. 774 with their wives and immediate families are cordially invited to attend a social evening on Friday, Feb. 26th, 8 p.m. C. N. Reid, C. E. Sherry, W. P. Rec. Sec. 7x-11

DEATHS

McCORMICK—In Belleville, Tuesday, February 23rd, 1932, Lillian M. Dale, beloved wife of Daniel McCormick, in her 46th year.

The funeral will take place from her late residence, 23 Dufferin Street on Thursday, February 25th, 1932, at 2.30 o'clock to St. Michael's Church. Mass at 9 a.m. Interment St. James' Cemetery. 23-11.

FAULKNER—At Belleville General Hospital on Monday, Feb. 22nd, Mary Vanderwater, widow of the late James K. Faulkner.

The funeral will be held on Thursday, February 25th, from the Martin & Son Funeral Home, Belleville, Service at 2 p.m. Interment at Belleville Cemetery. 7x-11

THOMPSON FUNERAL SERVICE
Unexcelled Service
Moderate Prices
Thos. C. Thompson
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
Nights and Sundays 1312

TICKELL & BROWNE
Funeral Home
168 Church St.
Cor. Victoria Ave.
Phone 2250
Limousine Ambulance Service

BELLEVILLE BURIAL COMPANY
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
14 Campbell St.
Phone 774—Day and Night
J. W. IMLAH,
Proprietor
Manufacturer Cypric Fur Sale

F. C. Martin and Son
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
FUNERAL HOME
218-212 CHURCH ST.
PRIVATE AMBULANCE
IN CONNECTION
PHONE 2008

RADIO REPAIRS
Capable Service
Prices that are right
On any radio
EUGENE HUTCHON
134 Bridge St. W.
Phone 1564

To Let

Furnished house, modium size, all conveniences, desirable locality, for the months of March 1st. Phone 78 or 226. March 1st. Phone 78 or 226. 713-tf

Store To Let

Best location in Belleville. New and modern, copper and marble show window front, steam heated. Immediate possession.
Apply
W. H. MORTON
Ontario Intelligencer
Belleville.

N. Hardwick

Electrical Contractor
Stoves, Bells, Speplacle Repairs
75 BURTON ST., BELLEVILLE

Painting, Paperhanging and Decorating
Give Us a Trial
E. A. McPhee
Decorator to People Who Care
Phone 500
Bellevue, Apt. 6

Belleville Madoc Bus Daily
And Parcel Express
City Delivery
E. STAPLEY,
Phone 1340

WANTED

WANTED — AT ONCE, COOK, general. References required. — Phone 223 anytime after 6 o'clock. 724-tf.

WANTED — ADOPTION FOR a two and a half months old baby boy. Apply Box "Y" Ontario Intelligencer. 724-tf

WANTED—POSITION AS HOUSEkeeper. Apply Miss Eva Eyford, General Delivery, Trenton. 724-3t

COMING EVENTS—Be per insertion for $1.00 per month. Not to exceed 25 per word.

PROFESSIONAL, SOCIAL AND BUSINESS CARDS—(Yearly Contract) $10.00 per month. Not to exceed 25 per word.

OFFICIAL, MUNICIPAL AND GOVERNMENT NOTICES (Including those concerning Legal Sales) 10 cts. per agate line (14 lines to inch) for first insertion; 10c per line for subsequent insertions.

AUCTION SALE—Per word, including not to exceed 25 per word. Minimum 25 words for consecutive days insertion 25 per word.

An initial or figure counts as one word.

The advancing allow five words to the line.

Telephone your Want Ads when it is most convenient. Phone 968. The Ontario Intelligencer will not be responsible for more than one insertion of an incorrect ad. Phone 968 Belleville.

Replies to ads. addressed to Box Number care of the Ontario Intelligencer.

CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAYS

Change of Time effective January 10, 1932

TRAINS GOING EAST

No. 18 1340 A.M.—Mail and Express daily.

No. 16 2.50 A.M.—The Maple Leaf; daily.

No. 8 2.22 A.M.—Express, Daily to Ottawa.

No. 14 11.30 A.M.—The International, Limited, Daily.

No. 36 3.47 P.M.—The Capitol, daily except Sunday, to Ottawa.

No. 6 6.05 P.M.—The Inter - City Limited, 4.15, fast train to Montreal.

TRAINS GOING WEST

No. 19 2.45 A.M.—Mail and Express, daily.

No. 7 2.20 A.M.—Express, daily.

No. 17 4.43 A.M.—The Inter - City Limited, daily.

No. 5 2.20 P.M.—The Maple Leaf, daily.

No. 35 4.57 P.M.—The Capitol daily except Sunday, to Toronto.

No. 29 8.00 P.M.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.

No. 15 8.00 P.M.—The International Limited, daily, fast train to Toronto.

BELLEVILLE TO PETERBORO

No. 11 5.30 A.M.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.

BELLEVILLE TO MADOC

No. 33 2.55 P.M.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.

FOR SALE

A CARRIAGE AND IMPERIAL Oxford range. Apply 21 Sloan St. or Phone 2154-w. 724-3t

BEDROOM SUITE WITH SATIN brass bed. Hollywood dresser. Condition. Price $17. Write Box "G" Ontario Intelligencer. 723-3t

3 SPRINGER COWS, DUE TO freshen soon. John McMullen, 2nd Concession Sidney. Phone 1246|2 722-3t.

TO-LET

APARTMENT IN MARSHALL Apts. 2 rooms and bath. Apply 114 Bridge St. E. Phone 1835. 724-1t

MODERN SIX ROOMED HOUSE with all conveniences on Charles St. Possession April 1st. Apply 8 Benjamin St. 724-3t.

HOUSE, 243 COLEMAN. Furnace, hardwood floors, panelled lewing city. Blinds, range at reduction. Apply 19 Campbell St. 722-3t

SED SITTING ROOM FOR BUSIness man, with garage. Use of phone. Write Box "C" Ontario Intelligencer. 722-3t

2 PARTLY FURNISHED HEATED rooms, second floor, private entrance. All conveniences. Phone 1056J. 722-3t

AVAILABLE APRIL 1ST. MODern house, 17 Dunbar St. Six rooms, bath, electric light, hot water heater, garage, and wired for stove. Phone 2472M, or apply 17 Dunbar St. 722-3t.

6 ROOM HOUSE. ALL CONVENiences, garage. Furnace. Garage. 9 Everett St. Possession March 17. Apply 48 Octavia. 722-1w.

FURNISHED HEATED LARGE front room. All conveniences. Garage. Close to business section 13 Pinnacle St. 722-3t

FOUR ROOM APARTMENT, heated. All conveniences. Geo. Deline, 190 Front St. 722-3t

ATTRACTIVE ROOM, PRIVATE entrance; also two other rooms. Board optional. 74 W. Bridge. Phone 1915W. 722-3t

HEATED APARTMENT, CENTRAL —All conveniences. Apply refrigerator. Possession April first. Apply 23 Turnbull St. Phone 2141. 720-tf

HOUSE, ON PINNACLE STREET, second door north Pentecostal Church. Phone 1897. Apply 218 George St. 711-tf.

APARTMENTS TO RENT. Apply S. J. Fisher, Bridge Street. 720-tf

COTTAGE NO. 32 GROVE ST., 7 rooms, furnace, laundry tubs, hot water heater oak floors, wired for stove. Apply 36 Grove St. 615-tf.

FOR SALE OR TO LET

UP TO DATE HOME. NO. 27 Highland Ave. Can be had on easy payments, at a bargain. Apply Dan Doyle, 325 Front St. Phone 869. Hours 2 to 3 p.m. 628-t.

He who knows most grieves most for wasted time.—Dante.

Classified Ad. Rates

PHONE 99

SOCIAL NOTICES—Births 50c; marriages and engagements, minimum $1.00; Deaths and Funeral Notices, minimum $1.00; Resolutions of Condolence and Cards of Thanks, minimum charges, $1.00 for 10 lines, over 10 lines 5c per line. Memorial Notices Receiving Acknowledgements, minimum charge $1.00.

CLASSIFIED — (For Sale, Wanted, etc.)—10c per word, minimum 25c first 25WD insertions, subsequent insertions 5c per word. Minimum charge 25c.

COMING EVENTS—10c per insertion for $1.00 per month. Not to exceed 25 per word.

PROFESSIONAL, SOCIAL AND BUSINESS CARDS—(Yearly Contract) $10.00 per month. Not to exceed 25 per word.

OFFICIAL, MUNICIPAL AND GOVERNMENT NOTICES (Including those concerning Legal Sales) 10 cts. per agate line (14 lines to inch) for first insertion; 10c per line for subsequent insertions.

AUCTION SALE—Per word, including not to exceed 25 per word. Minimum 25 words for consecutive days insertion 25 per word.

An initial or figure counts as one word.

The advancing allow five words to the line.

Telephone your Want Ads when it is most convenient. Phone 968. The Ontario Intelligencer will not be responsible for more than one insertion of an incorrect ad. Phone 968 Belleville.

Replies to ads. addressed to Box Number care of the Ontario Intelligencer.

Business Directory

LEGAL

T. Y. WILLS, BARRISTER, SOLICitor, Notary Public, etc., 18 Campbell St., Belleville. Telephone 74. 4-tf

FOSTER, PAYNE & ARNOTT, Barristers, Solicitors, and Notaries Public. Solicitors for Royal Bank. Chas. A. Payne, K.C., D. Arnott, Offices: 219 Front St., Belleville.

MALCOLM WRIGHT, BARRISter, Solicitor, Notary Public, etc. Office 214 Front St., Belleville.

PONTON, PONTON & GRAHAM, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Commissioners, Offices 38 Bridge Street east. Solicitors, Bank of Montreal. Money to loan on mortgages. W. N. Ponton, K.C., R. D. Ponton, K.C., R. J. S. Graham. Office: Belleville.

WALLBRIDGE, CAMERON AND Oh. (Successors to the late P. S. Wallbridge), Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries. Money to loan. Dominion Bank Chambers, Belleville, Ontario.

BUTLER & BUTLER, BARRISters, Solicitors, Notaries, etc. Office 28 Bridge Street E. J. Butler, K.C., Arthur Butler.

B. C. DONNAN, COUNTY CROWN Attorney, Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, etc. Office: Court House Building, Belleville, Ontario.

COLLINS AND CUSHING, A. B. Collins, K.C., F. G. Cushing, Barristers and Solicitors. Office: Above Royal Bank, Belleville. Front and Campbell streets. Phone 182. Commercial and private funds to loan on first mortgages.

INSURANCE

BONE & MARTIN
LIMITED
GENERAL INSURANCE
Belleville, Ont.
Chamber of Commerce Bldg.
Phone 1346

The Tell is Always Great Loss Insurance Suffered Is Only Covered by Insurance
ASK US
BURROWS—FROST
251 Front St.

HALL & EARLE

General Insurance Fire, Automobile, Accident, Plate Glass. 178 Front Street. Phone 1600.

BELLEVILLE TO HADDO

No. 33 2.55 P.M.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.

INSURANCE

Fire, Automobile, Accident, and all other classes written.

Wide range of excellent Companies to choose from at reasonable rates.

FARM BUSINESS

a specialty, with yearly, or three year policies.

Your inquiry will be appreciated.

R. J. FISHER & SON, Insurance, Successors to B. F. Ketcheson Co.

39 Bridge St. E. Belleville
Phone 168.

DENTAL

DR. R. H. EMPSON, DENTIST (Successor to Dr. Morton), X-Ray Work. Phone 462, Belleville. 130-3m

DR. O. A. MARSHALL
DR. H. E. MARSHALL
Gas Anaesthesia
Belleville
Evenings by Appointment
119 Bridge St. East Phone 146
(Between John and George)

MEDICAL

Dr. S. S. McCrary, B.Sc.
Physician & Surgeon
X-Ray & Radium Therapy
Radium Treatment
138 Bridge St. East Phone 1930
(Between George and William)

CHIROPRACTOR

S. A. WYATT, Ph.C., SPECIAL Sanitorium Treatments and adjustments given by the hands for all chronic diseases. Foot disorders corrected. Consultation and advice NO charge. 288 Coleman Street, Belleville. Picton, Tuesdays and Fridays.

H. R. and Vera R. Pitcher
CHIROPRACTORS
(Honour Graduates)
Palmer-Nauenmacher Service
431½ Bridge St. E.
Phone 1274 Belleville, Ont.

STOCKS AND BONDS
SUGHAR & CRAWFORD, MEMbers Toronto Stock Exchange, Phone 1738. P. H. Wills, Branch Manager. 85-tf

H. S. Parry
BUILDING CONTRACTOR
Repair Work of All Kinds
Phone 1857

LOST

LARGE BROWN AND WHITE spotted hound, back of Foxboro. Finder kindly phone 1243M. 724-3t

The reverberating nature of thunder is due to repeated reflections of sound by clouds.

The condition of life in most of China today are essentially the same as they were in Marco Polo's time.

FURIOUS JAPANESE AIR BOMB ATTACK FAILS

Chinese Stand Firm In Trenches Ruined by Air Bomb Raids

Full General Being Sent to Replace Uyeda as Army Doubled

BUILDINGS SHAKEN

Nippon Forces Now Expected to Wait For Reinforcements

By MORRIS J. HARRIS

Shanghai, Tuesday, Feb. 24—Japanese airmen bombed the Chinese stronghold at Kiangwan in a furious attack that shook the countryside today, but again failed to blast out the Chinese, who stayed to meet the enemy with an ever-constant rifle and machine-gun fire.

Two Chinese airplanes in turn bombed Japanese headquarters near Kiangwan, missing their target by only 100 feet.

The air attack was followed up by frenzied fighting. The Japanese had launched a desperate attempt to take Kiangwan golf course opened fire on the Chinese positions, where the artillery attack brought them nothing.

New General Coming.

Then they shifted the style of their attack, in view of the almost five days they had sought to capture Kiangwan, and sent midday reinforcements from the Shanghai battle line in Chapei to Woosung, and took to the air in a spectacular offensive.

Headquarters of Lieut.-General Kenkichi Uyeda, Japanese commander, behind the Kiangwan lines, said more Japanese soldiers were expected to come to the aid of his forces. How many would arrive and when was not kept a secret.

Japanese officials said two additional army divisions—about 22,000 men—would sail from Japan in the near future to deal with their powerful rival Lieut.-General Uyeda would be superseded by a full general.

Giant Bombing Fleet.

A fleet of eight giant bombing planes thundered the skies over Kiangwan's northwest sector and set loose the rain of blows that made the ground fairly tremble.

Used 250-pound missiles in their attempt to obliterate the Chinese defences and open a way for the Japanese to enter into the beleaguered village.

The raid lasted less than a half hour, causing tremendous damage to the Chinese positions. Although immediately afterward little happened in the way of a Japanese advance.

How many Chinese survived the terrific blasts remained a mystery. But when the smoke and dust had been air partially cleared, the Chinese still were there, continuing to pour rifle and machine-gun fire into the Japanese positions.

Batteries Again Open.

After the planes had flown up and down the Chinese lines, systematically bombing them, the Japanese batteries again opened fire and a general advance of armored cars, tanks and infantry was ordered.

The Japanese then apparently sought to cause the greatest possible damage from their huge bombs.

The earlier Japanese push, aimed at the Chinese machine-gun positions to the north of the city, already had broken up by the Chinese defenders, who quickly launched a counter-attack of their own.

Chinese Dead Stavis.

Then the big Japanese guns roared forth from their positions in the race course in the east of Kiangwan, deluging the Chinese assault lines with drenching shell-fire.

Meanwhile the Chapei front several miles to the south had been quiet to action. Five minutes after four o'clock a machine-gun burst out and for after Chapei had enjoyed an unusually quiet night.

The weather is drizzly and nasty but no complaints came from the Chinese. They said the invaders were having great difficulty moving their artillery pieces in the quagmire.

Per miles in the back areas of the Kiangwan district Japanese engineer units labored at top speed to construct new roads—a task of tremendous difficulty as the section is criss-crossed with numberless canals and irrigation ditches.

Renewal of Action a Surprise.

The renewal of action by the Japanese at Kiangwan was a surprise, for the army command had admitted earlier in the day that they had failed to budge the Chinese machine gunners barricaded behind the village's shell-torn walls and foreign military observers had expressed the opinion that the Japanese offensive was spent.

"Our men are tired and they want some rest," said a spokesman at Japanese headquarters.

Expectations that the Japanese would try to take things easy for a few days had been based also on news from Tokyo that two additional army divisions were being dispatched to assist the two divisions already here.

During Tuesday the Japanese tried time and time again to smash the Chinese line north of Kiangwan in order that their armies could break through and seize Tsaung, to the rear of the village, and thus cut off the infantry garrison that had effectively blocked their big push. But the Chinese defenders stuck to their posts despite blasting bombardments.

Early this morning the Chinese issued a communique declaring that during the Tuesday action their troops had fought the Japanese to a standstill despite the superior equipment of the enemy. The bombardment of Tsaung from the air was so complete that only a few houses were left standing, this communique added.

Migration Plans Will Be to Fore at Conference

KASHMIR'S RULER MAY ABDICATE AND BRITISH REGENCY SET UP

As a result of the unrest and rebellion seething in the Kashmir State, where a population predominantly Moslem is ruled by a Hindu Maharajah, Great Britain may call upon the present ruler Maharajah Shri Harisinghji Bahadur, to resign in favor of his infant son, or would order a regency to carry on during his minority. The picture above is the palace in Jammu Kashmir State, where the present Maharajah of India Round Table Conference in London. Below is a view of the wonderful palace of the Rajah.

HON. P. VENOIT LAYS CHARGE

Alleges Flagrant Grafting With Money Voted For Relief Work

OTTAWA, Feb. 24.—"I state from my place in this House and on my honor as a member that in the County of Gloucester the unemployment relief money made the greatest campaign fund which possibly could be used in any county during the progress of a by-election," last night declared Hon. Peter Venoit, former Postmaster-General, to a House of Commons resolution condemning the international charges of graft and mishandling of unemployment relief funds in New Brunswick.

"I am reluctantly advised-ly," he said. "I am prepared to stand by it, and if the Government chooses to appoint a Royal Commission I am prepared to bring forward evidence sufficient to substantiate every word I have said.' Political Graft Charged.

Mr. Venoit charged that "the gentleman appointed to replace the unemployed in the municipality of Gloucester was a man living in the village of Whitehall, who took part in an incorporated town which had been created by me to send in a employment relief. No man could be employed without registration without having to take part in a discussion of the political situation. As to whether or not the registration was received work depended greatly upon his connection with political lines."

R. B. Hanson (Conservative, York-Sunbury)—Does the honorable member know that of his own knowledge?

Mr. Venoit—Yes of his own knowledge.

Tested to Robertson

The former Postmaster-General then read a telegram sent by him to Hon. Gideon Robertson, then Minister of Labor, protesting that Dr. Gerald Dreyer, Provincial Government candidate in the Gloucester by-election, publish a list of persons "in which he makes the pretence that the registration for unemployment relief comes through him as Government candidate. Speakers on the Government side do not hesitate to tell our people that the registration of people who do not need it, and many who do need it badly are left in the cold. Relief money is a very utilitarian getter, and not as relief, and there is no relief in any party so strong protest. A dirty canvass is used that Dr. Dreyer is defeated the relief work will be stopped.

Three-Hour Debate Ends in Stalemate

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Feb. 24 (CP)—A three-hour judicial inquiry to determine whether co-operation of provincial police had been offered Chief Constable John Borthwick in solving the robbery of a local brewery December 24th last ended without decision reached. The chief constable had charged provincial police made no offer of co-operation in connection with the robbery, while provincial police officials said an offer of co-operation had been made by them and accepted by Borthwick.

English Unemployed Riots Subdued by Police Charges

Mounted Men Scatter Crowds in Whitehall, London and Bristol

GRANTS INTERVIEW

Shop Windows Smashed in West End of City

London, Feb. 24.—Police subdued in demonstration of unemployed in England yesterday, heading off Pellham Cook Taylor, Labor Member in London and on the City Hall at Bristol.

A small group of Mounted Police, riding at full tilt down each side of Whitehall, scattered the 1,000 crowds before them. The unemployed were on the way to send in a deputation to the Minister of Labor shouting, "We Want Work, not Charity."

More than 2,000 of them had just finished a mass meeting in Hyde Park, where the police had prevented their gathering in any great numbers at one point, and had made their way in scattered groups toward Parliament. There were several scuffles with the police.

The square in front of Parliament was packed with police, who kept the demonstrators continually on the move, and prevented them from approaching near the House of Commons, all doors of which were closely guarded.

Several leaders of the unemployed later were allowed to enter the House of Commons, where they had an interview with Right Hon. George Lansbury, Leader of the Labor Party.

The marchers at Bristol, announcing they intended to present a list of grievances to the city officials, started to the City Hall with clubs and heavy instruments. They came upon a police line, and in the crowd and fverai police were injured.

The crowds reassembled late tonight and dashed through the main business streets, smashing shop windows and bolding up motor cars, but police again hastened to disperse them and nobody was injured.

DE VALERA TO FORM CABINET

President Cosgrave Concedes Defeat of His Party

Dublin, Irish Free State, Feb. 24.—Eamonn de Valera, leader of the forces in the Free State still incomplete general election, last night was pressed, to attempt formation of a ministry, after President William T. Cosgrave, who headed the government for nine years, had conceded his defeat at the polls.

Cosgrave, who headed the government for nine years, had conceded his defeat at the polls. Mr. De Valera's Fianna Fail (Republican Party) obtained what was seen as a conditional majority in the Dail, as a result of completed returns from last Tuesday's voting, which gave Republicans, Labor and Independent Labor, or a combined strength of 77 seats in the Dail.

Massed Production Dooms The Craftsman

Saint John, N.B., Feb. 24— Mass production has doomed the master craftsman, in the opinion of Archibald Bauer, 30, jeweler and diamond setter for nearly sixty years.

As a young apprentice in Nova Scotia, he crushed ore, treated the crude gold and fashioned it into jewelry. He went to Boston to perfect his craftsmanship and came to Saint John in 1877 to take charge of jewelry manufacturing and diamond setting in a local firm. Holding that position for 43 years, he retired seven years ago.

One piece of his workmanship is in the possession of King George. When the Majesty and Queen Mary, then the Duke and Duchess of York, visited Saint John, they were presented with an illuminated address framed in finely chiselled leather. The clasps holding the binding were made by Mr. Bauer, whose medal was a small, perfectly formed leaf big picked from a maple tree on King Square here.

Mr. Bauer was born in Halifax, a son of the late Col. J. A. Bauer and a nephew of the late Judge Archibald of Halifax.

BURNS CAUSE DEATH

Brantford, Ont., Feb. 24 (CP) — Clarence Avey, formerly of Norwich, is dead at Ketchikan, Alaska, of burns caused by a gasoline explosion, according to word reaching here. He was in his 56th year. Avey had spent many years in Alaska and the Yukon.

VACCINATION FOR SMALLPOX

Crusade Starts in Settlement to Prevent Epidemic

Shanghai, Feb. 4—Authorities of the International settlement today began an anti-smallpox vaccination crusade to prevent a possible epidemic of the disease resulting from the influx into the settlement of many thousands of Chinese refugees from Hongkew, Chapei and other zones of hostilities.

Municipal physicians, armed with needles and vaccine, were sent through the areas inhabited by the refugees, "shooting" everyone available. The settlement also enlisted the co-operation of Chinese authorities, at the same time supplying free vaccine to any organization capable of assisting in the campaign.

Although the official drive started today, it was estimated that 20,000 refugees already had been vaccinated by municipal and private doctors.

BICYCLE REPORTED AS BEING STOLEN

William Ironside, 164 James St., left his bicycle along the curb on Front street a short distance north of Bridge street, Tuesday afternoon shortly before six o'clock and when he returned it was gone. The city police department is endeavoring to find the wheel.

HAMILTON MERCHANT DIES

Hamilton, Feb. 24—William H. Finch, well known merchant and president of Finch Brothers, Limited, the oldest retail dry goods store in Hamilton, died last night at his home, 162 Queen St. South.

Mr. Finch, with his brother, founded the business in 1880 and it grew steadily.

He was born in this city and was a member of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church.

P. E. I. PREMIER MINISTER DIES

Summerside, P.E.I., Feb. 24—Hon. Leonard MacNeil, Prince Edward Island's Minister of Public Works, died at his home here late last night.

Time is an estate that will produce nothing without culture, but will always abundantly repay the labors of industry.—Johnson.

CORN ADDED TO FREE LIST IN BR. HOUSE

British House Approves Inclusion of Several New Articles

MEAT FREE

Amendment to Make it Dutiable to Aid British Industry

LONDON, Feb. 24—(CP Cable)—The House of Commons last night approved the Government's plan to add corn, raw copper, potash, fine coke and briquettes to the free list of the bill creating a general 10 per cent tariff, but turned back an amendment put forward by a Liberal Nationalist to make meat subject to duty.

Amendments of the Government's intention of adding to the free list was made by Sir Hon. Neville Chamberlain, Chancellor of the Exchequer.

The chancellor said the exemption of corn would cost the Government a revenue of £1,000,000 (£4,440,000) in import duties from Argentina alone.

Earlier in the day the Government's wheat bill was formally presented in the House of Commons by Sir John Gilmour, Minister of Agriculture. Its provisions were not made public, but it was described officially as "a bill to secure to the growers of home-grown millable wheats a stabilized price in the market." It was given first reading.

Will Maintain Attitude

The impression held that the Government would probably maintain its attitude regarding meat was in Canada's conference.

Removal of this commodity from the free list was sought by Rt. Hon. C. G. M. Attlee, former Secretary of State for the Dominions, and Sir H.-Page Croft, former president of the Federated British Industries, on the ground that British stock-raisers had been hard hit by the fall in prices.

Mr. Chamberlain said imposition of a tariff was not the only way of assisting the industry, and repeated that the Government, Agriculture was now working on a scheme designed to give certain quantative regulation of pork imports. He was ready to say what the ministry's views were concerning a quota for beef or mutton.

No action of any conservative insisted on a division on an amendment to omit imported meat from the free list, but the amendment was defeated by votes of 345 to 64.

Explains Exemptions

Imposition and consumption of coal and coke from payment of duties, the Chancellor of the Exchequer declared, would be more than offset by the increase in the duty on petrol, and that where these articles were subject to the general duty of 10 per cent, there would be a countervailing duty on that country's exports to the United Kingdom.

As Great Britain exported a certain amount of coal to the United States, the Government thought it reasonable that coal and coke on the free list.

With regard to the exemption on corn, the Conservative Parliamentary agricultural committee during the last Parliament, he said, had urged the Government to place corn on the free list until such time as a policy affecting production of meat and corn; freight rates could be worked out. At the same time it asked that such a policy should be developed as soon as possible.

Mr. Chamberlain said the Government, however, was definitely becoming to the decision about corn, and that the Empire Economic Conference would be the proper time to discuss the matter.

"Argentina is now one of those countries with whom we hope to make a trade agreement. The Argentine to the country are wheat, meat and maize (corn), it is obvious that if we are going to allow all these articles to come in free we are trusting ourselves largely to the goodwill of the country with whom we are going to carry on conversations."

He also explained, how the needs of the British farmer, particularly in Northern Ireland, and the fact that much corn was produced with in the Empire had influenced the Government to put it down on the free list.

BRITAIN AND FRANCE FOR NO BOYCOTT

Will Discourage Attempts to Force Action By League

IN AGREEMENT

Protection of Industry First Thought of Political Leaders

London, Feb. 24.—Sir John Simon, Foreign Secretary, left for Geneva yesterday afternoon to be present at the first meeting of the Geneva Disarmament Conference Disarmament Conference today. Sir John expects to remain in Geneva until after the meeting of the League Assembly on March 3 to consider the Far Eastern crisis.

Meantime it is certain there will be no discussion of further development in the British policy concerning the Canal war, as it was outlined last night by Sir John in the House of Commons that under no circumstances will this country participate in an economic blockade against Japan as provided by Article XVI. of the League Covenant. Sir John said the London may be depended upon to avert all their powers and influence to prevent any such blockade as a result of the League Assembly deliberations.

"The Government does not allow a lot of small nations, who have no stake whatever in the commerce of China, to stampede the Great Powers into hasty decisions," he declared, sanctions which might cause hostilities.

The British exports to Japan for the five years ending 1930 were valued at £20,000,000 and exports to China for the same period were worth £22,111,000. The value of imports into Great Britain for these two years were: From Japan, £206,400,000; from China, £8,000,000.

Those figures have more practical interest to the government's office four months ago for the specific purpose of restoring trade, peace and industry, than the pleas of an idealistic minority that Japan should be punished for violating the League Covenant and the Briand-Kellogg Pact.

"If we had a coalition government of Socialists and Conservatives, the parties in a strong majority in Commons," said a prominent leader today, "and if the United States would join in a boycott against Japan, this country would be committed to it overnight. But those two 'ifs' save the situation.

"America is not going to pull our chestnuts out of the fire by fighting Japan and letting us manufacturers munitions for the United States army and navy, and the ship is gone by when the British policy was that the world should be leaders, not underdogs. Just because we had plenty of warships to spare for such jobs wherever and whenever they happened."

DOG KEEPS LONG VIGIL FOR MASTER

Hemford, Sask., Feb. 24.—Three years ago, a little dog, "Boomer," accompanied his master, William Seila, to the station here. Seila was going west for an operation. He never returned.

But "Boomer" believes Seila will come back. He meets every passenger train that stops at Hemford and eagerly runs between the travelers as they alight. Failing to find his owner, he disappears, but returns when the next train is due.

Speeding up Migration to Canada is Indicated in Ministerial Speeches

Has to Pay Own Hospital Bill After Capturing Two

Gordon at Ottawa and Thomas at London Indicate Change

AN AGENDA

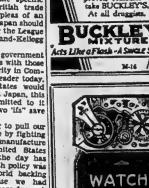
British Minister Gives Notice He Will Bring Matter up at Ottawa

Ottawa, Feb. 24—The subject of immigration may provide important discussion, before the Imperial Economic Conference here this summer. Significant remarks were made both in the British House of Commons and in the House of Commons in this connection.

At Westminster Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Secretary of State for the Dominions, said: "If my opinion immigration is definitely associated with the scarcity of the Dominions. If we can evolve a scheme which restores, their prosperity then the question of migration obviously becomes relevant and must be considered in that light."

The minister told the House he intended to bring the question up at the Conference.

In Canada since the depression the tendency has been to restrict immigration to the utmost minimum. However, today W. A. Gordon, acting Minister of Immigration announced a note which seemed to interpret as indicating that this policy was by no means finally determined. "By reason of our projection of immigration policy we have wholly, or we like it or not we must so refer to the positive side of immigration," he said, "because we must have more people if we are to stave off a debt with which 10,000,000 people are loaded at present by reason of the value of land in our hands."



The provinces have a much greater say as to the immigration policy of this country now since natural resources have been returned to them. The tendency of late has been for the Dominion Government only to admit such immigrants as the various provinces may desire No doubt before the economic conference opens the Dominion and the provinces will hold conversations to decide on Canada's attitude when the subject is discussed at the conference.

SALES TAX SUBMITTED

Washington, Feb. 24—A two per cent sales tax to help finance relief, add $600,000,000 a year to the governments revenue, was submitted, but not recommended, to the House ways and means committee by Secretary of Treasury Ogden L. Mills. The tax would be paid by the manufacturer.

Mills submitted the schedule to the special subcommittee which is considering the general sales tax. It is expected that the sub-committee will recommend its inclusion in the new tax bill in a few days.

Don't put your watch in one side as useless until you've had it examined. May be a mere trifle will make it go.

Watch repairing is our specialty.

We do repairs quickly, guarantee results and our reasonable prices always.

J. O. R. McCurdy
Phone 813 — 284 Front

The Dime-a-Dance Girl

By Joan Clayton

Ellen reclaimed standing near the door until Jenny had slipped out of sight and the door had swung to her. Presently she turned and started slowly down the stairs. She would not go into the common room where others were seated in conversation as she entered. She would not risk that staring, inferential glances. Not yet.

There was only one thing to do. After a lunch hour spent walking madly up and down Fifth avenue she decided on that course. She thought Steven Barclay no more than a pleasant pal—him any grosser, except the real one. She could not let him think that she was ungrateful, that she was a false friend. Let him think what he would. His would never, she knew, hit upon the truth. Surely she could be bold enough to carry false to him.

She would say nothing, offer no explanations to the curious. She would have to share them down. There was nothing else to do.

Throughout the afternoon she heated Barclay Kitts with the same assurance that Jenny herself had shown in the morning. She decided to be the extent of giving that young woman a sprinkling and comfortable afternoon.

It was nearly 4 and Ellen had given up all hope of her lunch hour call Molly Rooster telephoned. Her usual disregard of the fact Ellen was supposed to receive only business calls during business hours. Jenny answered the telephone and very formally told Ellen that she was wanted.

At that moment Ellen knew she could have brought Jenny Lind to her chiefly because it was sobby her little margin of self-control that little margin of self-control was long period. Instead Ellen, with just as much formality, accepted the telephone.

For once Molly was not in trouble. For once Ellen was glad she had broken the store rules. Her mother's voice was very dear to her then.

"Don't you suppose, honey, you could get away from Dreamland tonight?" Molly began. "We're having a party."

"I can easily. I was going to anyway," Ellen replied, somewhat to Jenny Ingersol in earshot. She added curiously, "Party?" in a tone so low that Jenny missed it.

"Sure—" her mother hesitated then bubbled with delight. "I knew there's comin'."

"I'll be there," Ellen promised.

As she moved back to the end of the counter she wondered why her mother called Myra's place "Dreamland." For years Bert had moved out of the apartment much as if he lived there. But Ellen was too much troubled and worried by her own problem to ponder long over so small a mystery.

CHAPTER XVI

That evening as Ellen entered the shabby Brooklyn apartment once she felt a great peace stealing over her. The lobby was dingy and the tiled floor was by no means clean, the treads of the stairs had been worn by many feet. As about Mrs. Clancy popped open her door to see who had come in. Surely there was nothing visible here to invite happiness but in the girl felt in odd fit of spirit. This was home. She had stepped out of the safe and complicated life she had there to return to a life of her own.

She was tired and she was coming home. She was glad even that she was not that night to see Larry Barrymore. Tonight she wanted to be with Bert and her mother and Molly Rooster and Ingelina Rooster. Ellen's heart leaped at the threshold, gasped. What had happened to the living room? Since morning it had changed amazingly. Almost miraculously everything about it had been changed. The worn carpet was gone. The floor had been polished and was covered now with summer scatter rugs. The lighter colored wood of the furniture was lost beneath smart slip covers in gray and orange. Even some of the same gray and orange material figured in the windows. New pewter ash trays twinkled from the mantel cleared for once of Bert's accustomed litter. A bright lamp bloomed beside the easy chair everywhere was flowers.

What happened? As she ran into the kitchen Ellen thought confusedly that perhaps her Anglian godmother had come to Brooklyn and served them in his will. Perhaps the dreams that colored her childhood had at last come true.

In the dining room a colored maid polished away after finger bowls. The table, decked in new linen, flaunted a centerpiece made of five

Try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

She's all worn out again

Poor girl . . . she has the same old backaches . . . backaches . . . and blues. She needs so try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in tablet form.

on Barclay's roses, tall and splendid in a silver vase. Pew rugs and curtains here, too. The maid glanced at Ellen, exposed white teeth.

"What are you doing here?" the girl demanded in astonishment.

"I walk here . . ."

Ellen dashed into the kitchen. The kitchen was not changed. Molly turned around from the stove and smiled at her.

"Were you surprised, honey?" she asked in a gale of merriment and high spirits.

"What in the world has happened anyhow?"

"We're giving you your chance, that's what's happened," Molly crowed. "I'd never have known how to manage but Mrs. Clancy told me how to borrow money on the insurance. I've had the most exhausting day. It took a long time to get the money and since then I've spun like a top."

"Have we both gone crazy? What are you talking about?"

"You'll see." Molly was convulsed with mysterious laughter.

From downstairs the doorbell rang imperatively. Ellen in a confused daze answered its summons.

"Go and see who it is," Molly commanded mysteriously.

As she ran back through the dining room Ellen noticed that the painting of her grandfather, which had long stared alone her father's death, was in place on the wall. She reached the outer door and jerked it open.

Coming up the stairs was Steven Barclay.

"I'm afraid I'm early," were Barclay's first words. "Your mother said seven."

Ellen as she stood, shabby and beautiful, in the doorway suddenly understood everything. By "her chance". Molly had meant Steven Barclay. It was not the time—though her mother, to do her justice, could not have known that—to invite Steven Barclay as a guest. It was indeed not the place into which to introduce a millionaire. The makeshift, so delightful to Molly, did not improve the down-at-heel apartment; they succeeded only in emphasizing the essential poverty of its occupants. But hospitality, deep rooted and instinctive triumphed over lesser considerations in Ellen's mind.

Ellen stepped into the hall to greet her unwelcome visitor so warmly that he should never guess that he was not a welcome one. He was leaning against the balustrade exhausted by the long climb. His face was as white that for moment Ellen feared he would faint. She had enough understanding not to mention his palpable weariness; enough understanding to keep silent until he made a gallant recovery.

"It's good of you to come," she said at last, extending her slender sooty hands.

Seeing him rally his forces for a reply, she had a sudden flashing memory of Larry leaping up the stairs and shouting breathless and foolish nonsense.

"I'm glad you think so," Barclay said.

Ellen noticed then, hesitating on the landing, a uniformed chauffeur laden with bottle boxes, three of them. As he caught his employer's eye he came forward.

"Oh, you shouldn't have," Ellen exclaimed helplessly. "We're so many roses now—"

She stopped suddenly.

"Yes, I know I shouldn't have," Barclay agreed. "But you're no idea how I enjoy myself. There's a box for each of you—for your sister and your mother and the maid. Roses are for you."

And then they entered the living room and Molly fluttered in from the kitchen and began exclaiming over the boxes. Ellen, watching them open until the room was a carnival of color, was conscious of a smudge of flour on her pretty, tilted nose but she was not at all too excited to be conscious of her appearance.

"I feel as though I don't need an introduction to you at all," Molly rattled shaking hands with the guest. "Ellen has told us so much about you."

Molly's eyes and her daughter's flashing together. Ellen did not know what to do! she felt helpless, helpless. What could she say? There was no denying that Barclay seemed pleased.

"Well," he was saying, "I hope they were all nice things."

"Of course they were," Ellen replied lamely.

"Darling, could you get vases for the flowers?" Molly interposed, tone of subtle layers of flour paper and filling her arms with sweet, purple asters.

Ellen concealed her reluctance at leaving Barclay and her employer together and left the room. When she returned she found Molly out, relieved, "But there's a key! it must be my older daughter, Myra and her husband. They'll keep you entertained."

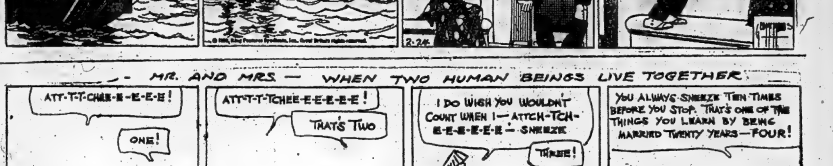
Myra and Ben, sulky and hot, came through the dining room and into the living room. Both were painfully flabbergasted at Barclay's presence. There were more introductions. There were more exclamations over the flowers. There was more of Molly's Anglian fashion. There was more laughter.

Ellen maintained herself until she reached the kitchen but when the kitchen door swung to after her and Molly she was in a state of towering rage, so angry she was incoherent. Never in her life had Ellen been so angry.

"I don't know what you're talking about," Molly said in a tone which she hoped would be bold but which was instead anxious and frightened.

(TO BE CONTINUED)

TILLIE THE TOILER



By Russ Westover.

BRINGING UP FATHER

—By George McManus.

MR. AND MRS— WHEN TWO HUMAN BEINGS LIVE TOGETHER

THE BEASTS OF TARZAN, No. 43.

(Metropolitan Newspaper Service)

By Edgar Rice Burroughs.

At length they reached the spot where Rokoff had pitched his camp. Here they found all in turmoil.

While he was absent many of his men had deserted, taking away the bulk of his food and ammunition. When he had come venting his rage on those who remained, he returned to where Jane stood, guarded by two white sailors. She struggled and fought to free herself as the men laughed at her efforts.

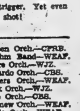
Rokoff grasped her roughly and started to drag her toward his tent. Then he struck her and carried her, half conscious, within. His boy had lighted the lamp and at a word from his master he disappeared. Jane had sunk to the floor in the middle of the enclosure. But slowly her numbed senses were returning to her and she was commencing to think very fast indeed.

Now Rokoff was lifting her to her feet and attempting to drag her with him. At his belt hung a heavy revolver. Jane's eyes rivated themselves upon it. She made believe she had fainted, but through her half closed lids she watched her opportunity. Just as Rokoff was raising her, A noise at the tent door caused him to turn his head an instant.

That instant was his undoing. The butt of the gun was not an inch from Jane's hand. With a single, lightning-like stroke she clubbed the weapon down its holster. At the same time Rokoff realized his peril. But it was too late. Jane held the gun firmly in her hand, its muzzle pointed at the Russian's heart, her finger upon the trigger. Yet even in her peril she dared not fire the shot!

Radio Features

WEDNESDAY FEATURES



4.00—The Pilgrims chorus—WHEN NBC.
4.00—U. S. Navy Band—CFRB CBS.
4.30—Eastman Symphony Orch.—WJZ.
5.00—Kathryn Parsons—CFRB.
5.15—Newscast—CFRB.
5.30—Waldorf Orch.—CKGW-NBC
6.00—Geneva Mid Week— CFRB-WJZ.
6.30—The Royal Vagabond, WHAM-NBC.
6.45—The Stebbins Boys—WEAF.
7.00—Bellman Orch.—CFCA.
7.30—Amos 'n' Andy—CKGW NBC.
7.30—Wolf Van Lonn Orchestra—WEAF.
7.45—Royal York Orch.—CFRY.
8.00—Big Time—Stetch—WHEN NBC.
8.00—Willard Robison Orchestra—WGR.
8.15—The Mello-Clarions—WJZ.
8.30—Unity of Toronto, Science CFRB.
8.30—John Philip Sousa Band —
8.30—Josef Pasternack Orchestra —WJZ.
8.45—The Colonel and Budd — WGR-CBS.
9.00—Gold Medal Fast Freight CBS.
9.00—Sherlock Holmes Adventure, WJZ.
9.00—Halsey Stuart—CKGW-NBC
9.00—Ernest Belle-Kile Spivak WEAF.
9.30—Gladys Rice, soprano WEAF.
9.30—Story of Women's Names WJZ.
9.45—Marcella Shields, sketch — WJZ.
10.00—Rochester Civic Orchestra — WHAM.
10.00—Nino Columbo Orchestra — CKGW-NBC.
10.00—Jimmie Lanigher and Jade WOR.
10.30—Chateau Laurier Orchestra— CFRB.
10.30—Old Country Orchestra — CKNC.
10.30—NBC Artists' Service; WEAF
10.45—The Street Singer —CFRB-CBS
11.00—Chamber Music, Ensemble — WJZ.
11.00—Newscast—CFRB.
11.15—Howard Barlow; Orch —CFRB-CBS.
11.15—Organ, Jesse Crawford — WEAF.
11.30—Vincent Lopez Orch. WEAF
11.30—Geo. Shackley, Moonbeams— WOR.
11.30—Hal White Orch.—CKAC.
11.45—Don Redman Orch.—CFRB-CBS.
11.45—Lew White, Organ Recital — WJZ.
11.45—Johnny Hamp Orch.—WJR.
12.00—Shilkret Orch.—CFRB.
12.00—Coon-Sanders Orchestra — WJZ.
12.15—Larry Funk Orch.—WJZ.
12.30—Jimmy Joy Orch.—WTAM.
12.30—Charles Agnew Orchestra — WEAF.
12.30—Benny Kyte Orch.—WJZ.
1.10—Claude Hopkins Orchestra— WABC.
1.30—Buddy Wagner Orchestra— WABC.

THURSDAY FEATURES

6.55—Tower Exercises—CKGW.
8.00—Breakfast Program—CKNC.
8.15—Morning Devotions—WEAF.
8.30—Cheerio—CKGW-NBC.
9.00—Morning Listn.—CFRB.
9.15—Ed. Trautman Orch.—WHEN.
9.15—Morning Ministers—CFRB.
10.15—Cheerio Health Talk—WJZ.
10.15—Breen and de Rose—WHEN.
10.45—Dream Singer—CFRB-CBS.
11.15—U.S. Navy Band—CBS.
11.45—Ben Alley Orch.—CFRB.
12.00—C. H. Home Circle—WHEN.
12.15—Weather Bulletin—CFRB.
12.15—Chas. Boulanger Orch.—CBS.
12.30—Columbia Revue—CFRB-CBS.
12.30—Farm and Home Hour—WJZ.
12.45—Bishop Manning—CFRB-CBS.
1.00—Hotel Taft Orch—CFRB-CBS.
1.00—Royal York Orch.—CFRY.
1.00—Blue Singers—WHEN-NBC.
1.15—Howard Barlow Orch—CBS
1.30—Le Porge Reymen—CFRB.
1.30—Concert Opera Class—WJZ.
1.30—Three Musketeers—WHEN.
3.30—Women's Review—WEAF.
4.00—U.S. Army Band—CFRB-CBS.
4.00—Musical Comedy Hits—WEAF.
4.00—U. S. Navy Band—CFRB.
5.10—Newscast—CFRB.
5.45—Russ Columbo Orch.—CKGW.
5.45—Movie Star Revue—WKBW.
6.00—Geri Rooter Orch.—CKGW.
6.00—Carl Gulaar, Tenor—CFRB.
6.15—Reis and Dunn—CFRB-CBS.
6.30—Old Songs of Church—WJZ.
6.30—"Britain-Far East"—CKGW.
6.45—The Stebbins Boys—WEAF.
7.00—Amos 'n' Andy—CKGW.
7.15—Lud Gluskin Orch.—CKGW.
7.30—Paul Van Loan Orch.—WEAF
7.45—Simeon Joyce pianist—CKCO.
7.45—Robertson Orchestra—CKCO.
7.45—Chateau Laurier Orch—CFRB
8.15—Morning Watchers—WHEN.
8.30—Pleischmann Hour—CKGW.
8.30—University of Chicago—CFRB.
8.15—Abe Lyman Orch.—WGR-CBS
8.30—Jack Denny Orch.—CFRB.
8.30—Sisters of the Skillet—WJZ.
9.00—Detroit v Maple Leafs—CFCA
9.00—The Nelsons—CKNC.
9.00—Big Six of the Air—WHEN.
9.00—Phantasies Plantation—WJZ.
9.00—The Mills Brothers—WKBW.
9.30—Sherlock Holmes—CKGW.
10.00—A & P Gypsies—WJZ.
10.00—Royal York Orch.—CFRY.
10.00—King Edward Orch.—CKGW.
10.30—Sweeney Group—CKNC.
11.00—Newscast—CFRB.
11.00—Jesse Crawford—WEAF.
11.15—Lew Conrad Orch.—WHAM.
11.15—Howard Barlow Orch—CBS
11.30—George Shackley—WOR.
11.30—Concert Opera Class—WJZ.
11.30—Jack Denny Orch.—CKOC.
11.45—George Olsen Orch.—CFRB.
11.45—Blue Rhythm Band—WEAF.
12.00—Eddie Moore Orch.—WJZ.
12.00—Guy Lombardo Orch.—CBS.
12.05—Coon-Sanders Orch.—WEAF.
12.15—Larry Funk Orch.—WJZ.
12.30—Dan Russo Orch.—CBS.
12.30—Charlie Agnew Orch.—WEAF.
1.00—Noble Sissle Orch.—WHAP.
1.30—Buddy Wagner Orch.—WABC

Rel-fisheries is the most important of the inland fisheries of Quebec.

BAD KIDNEYS?
. . . BACK LAME?

"Toronto, Ont.—"For many years I have been a sufferer from bad kidneys; they were always so weak I could not endure the exercise my back would be lame and give me a lot of distress. I doctored and took medicine but the only medicine that gave me any help was Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets," said Mrs. Chas Brown of 7 Shumach Place. "This medicine strengthened my kidneys and put them in better condition than they had been in for many years. 'Anuric' is the best medicine of the kind." All druggists sell

DR. PIERCE'S ANURIC

SCREEN ATTRACTIONS
Present and Prospective

Previews and Reviews of Current Offerings at Belleville Theatres

At The Belle
"THE GUARDSMAN" COMEDY DRAMA OF A MAN WHO TRIES TO TRAP HIS WIFE

The talkie version of a play which convulsed New York for two seasons, namely Ferenc Molnar's sparkling comedy "The Guardsman" is now at the Belle, for two days, matinee daily.

"The Guardsman" is a diverting tale of an actor who is insanely jealous of his wife. Therupon he disguises himself as a dashing Russian gunbearer and makes love to her hoping that she will repulse his overtures and thus prove herself faithful. He is only too successful in his flirtation, but when he upbraids his wife for her inconstancy, even threatening to kill her, she manages to turn the tables on him very neatly.

Renland Stars

The stars of the picture are the New York stage celebrities who made a great success of this tale on the so-called 'Legitimate Boards' in Film fans everywhere will undoubtedly welcome with open arms the skill of acting and the finesse which Alfred Lunt and Lynn Fontanne have brought to the screen, in this, their first localized cinema presentation.

Lunt gets the edge of acting honors with his finished delineation of two different lovers—the actor and the amorous and direct Russian. Close to him, however, comes Miss Fontanne with a delightfully elicited presentation.

Needless to say the lines by Molnar, the distinguished playwright with additions by Claudine West are brilliant.

The stars are supported by an excellent cast, including Roland Young and Zasu Pitts.

In "Beau Hunks" the four-reel comedy special exhibited on the same program with the above feature offering, we first meet Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy as a couple of very ordinary citizens and Hardy in the throes of a beautiful love affair which is suddenly ended by the sudden change of heart of the lady in the case. Broken-hearted Hardy decides to join the Foreign Legion and, of course, insists that Laurel share his self-imposed fate.

The highlights of the picture is the attack of the Riffian tribe upon the Legion stronghold during which Laurel and Hardy in their own inimit-way prove themselves to be the most redoubtable of defenders. Their capture of the "Riffraff" chieftain, as Stan so aptly phrases it, is a perfect gem of comedy construction.

The popular Metrotone News-reel will be exhibited on the same program.

By keeping silence when we ought to speak, men may be lost. By speaking when we ought to keep silence, we waste our words. The wise man is careful to do neither.—Confucius.

COUGHS
USE DR. THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL

Stan Laurel and Oliver Hardy in "Beau Hunks", their second feature comedy, now at the Belle.

CORA SUE COLLINS
Now appearing in "The Unexpected Father", at the Capitol Theatre.

ZASU PITTS

At The Capitol
"THE UNEXPECTED FATHER" NOW AT THE CAPITAL

When two staunch favorites like Slim Summerville and Zasu Pitts get together in one picture, that picture is bound to be a sensation of good, old-fashioned hilarious laughs—no matter what else it might be.

The sparkling comedy, "The Unexpected Father," which opened a two-day run at the Capitol Theatre this afternoon, is all of that and infinitely more, however, and the ticket-buyers who viewed its initial local presentation were constantly alternating between smiles and mock cries as the truly excellent film unfurled itself before them.

The story, concerning a young waif of the streets and a bachelor of ace-high wealth who is frightened into adopting her on the eve of his own wedding, is unique. When wry-faced Slim, the bachelor in question, is born between the arms of the baby, her wistful nurse and his gold-digging bride of the morrow you feel that it truly is a shame and you wish you could do something, yourself, to help the pathetic situation.

Slim, the memorable Tjaden of "All Quiet on the Western Front" is the sort who always seems to arouse a ruble of pleased anticipation in his audiences as soon as he shows his face to them.

His co-starring partner in fun, Miss Pitts, is every bit as pleasing, and unless you see her in "The Unexpected Father" just have not seen Zasu Pitts.

And as for tiny Cora Sue Collins, the newest of Hollywood's child stars who plays the baby of the film—she is one of the most amazing combinations of talent, natural acting ability, and beauty that the folks who discover these children have presented, to date.

Thornton Freeland did a fine job with the Unexpected Father." Dorothy Christy, Allan Skipworth, Claude Allister, Tyrell Davis and Grace Hampton are all ideally cast and the writers, Dale Van Every, Robert Keith and Max Ide' did splendidly with the screen story.

"The Unexpected Father" is emphatically recommended.

Salad Forks will be presented to each lady patron at Thursday evening's performances.

MIGRATION TO BE BROACHED

London, Feb. 24 (Canadian Press Cable)—Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Secretary of State for Dominions, indicated in the House of Commons this afternoon that he intended to raise the question of migration when the Imperial Economic Conference assembled at Ottawa in July.

"In my opinion migration is definitely associated with the prosperity of the Dominions," Mr. Thomas said. "If we can evolve a scheme which restores their prosperity then the question of migration obviously becomes relevant, and must be considered in that light."

THE CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES LIMITED
Store Hours—Open 9 a.m. Close 6 p.m. Saturday—Open 9 a.m. Close 9.30 p.m.

BROADCAST SALE—FURNITURE AND BEDDING

No need to tell you what a Broadcast Sale is—you all must know by now of the extraordinary savings offered in these famous events. Read every word of the good news for Thursday and come prepared to share in the unusual values!

Your Choice of these Suites for—

$99

Here's a Buy!
3 pc. Chesterfield Suite
99.00
Upholstered in Dog Cloth
Chesterfield, arm and lounge chair with reversible Marshall spring cushions. Dog cloth covering in attractive shades. A remarkable Broadcast Sale Value. 3 pieces .....
Deferred Payments may be arranged if necessary.

Solid Walnut Pier Cabinet with Hammond Electric Clock, Sale Price
14.95
Handy for the corner. About 72" high. Shelves will hold books or ornaments, while the electric clock will always keep your family on time. Cabinet is of good design—solid walnut, well made and finished. Be early.

Another Triumph!
9 pc. Dining Room Suite
99.00
Rarely do you meet with such a value as this! The good-looking suite in the sketch with a buffet that holds cutlery, linens and dishes, a glass-fronted china cabinet, twin-pedestal extension table and 6 leather-seated chairs of walnut veneer—is only $99.00. Broadcast Sale, 9 pieces .....
Deferred payments may be arranged if desired.

Simmon's 3-piece Bed Outfits

Sale Price 15.95
An unusual opportunity for big savings—Walnut finished bed with massive posts, solid steel slats, panel ends. Link fabric spring. Soft cotton-filled mattress is covered with attractive pattern of ticking. Broadcast Sale, 3 pieces .....
15.95

Solid Walnut Ferneries
As sketched. Of good design and well finished. Complete with pan
5.95

Extra! Simmon's Studio Couch
Sale Price 21.50
Good-looking, comfortable couch, suitable for apartment or small living room use. Heavy kapok cushions have boxed edges. Couch has deep box spring seat, filled with highly tempered coil springs and overlaid with thick layers of white cotton. The mattress is filled with soft white cotton and the whole is covered in a choice of floral or figured cretonne of good quality.
21.50

Simmon's Bed Couch Mattress at 3.95
Here's a good buy! Mattress (only) filled with soft cotton, neatly bordered, closely and evenly tufted. Covered with color-ful, durable cloths. Will fit double couch bed.
Broadcast Sale, each .....
3.95

Simmon's White Layer Felt Mattress 7.85
Filled with all new cotton linters, built up into resilient and buoyant layers, which makes for perfect sleeping comfort. Edges are rolled. Covered in damask patterned ticking. All standard sizes. Broadcast Sale, each .....
7.85

CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES LIMITED

COAL, POLITICS INTERMINGLE

Two Classes Associated Together in N. S. For More Than Century

(By George C. Murray)
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Halifax, Feb.—With the presentation of the report of the royal commission on mining, "coal" will be the biggest bone of contention at the annual session of the Nova Scotia Legislative Assembly, which formally opened on Feb. 23. Rates on the industry have been foremost on the legislative order papers for many years, and it was necessary to do a little research work to learn just when coal first entered politics in this province.

The records show that it is to be candidates the last day's polling was at East River, Pictou County, where the vote closed Dec. 13. The three "country" candidates, Edward Mortimer, James Fulton and W. Coltman Tooze, were elected, and the result of the election was considered "a systematic attack on the old irrespon'—e regime."

At the close of the poll, Dr. Macgregor entertained the candidates and a number of strangers at dinner and made for them a fitting of Pictou County coal. The politicians considered the unusual fire an interesting novelty. They sat around it and saw visions of a great industry in its curling, friendly flames; they carried their visions into the legislature, where their descendants are still talking about "coal."

Well-arranged time is the sure mark of a well-arranged mind. —Pitman.

EXECUTIONS IN FAR EAST

Canadian Instructor i n Chinese Army Tells of Murders

Victoria, B.C., February 23.—Stories of executions of Chinese by Japanese in the fighting around Shanghai were vouchsafed for the day by Charles Doyle, who has been a flying instructor for the Chinese army, on his return from the far East.

The account of Doyle, who lives at Vancouver, was one of several descriptions of the warfare given by passengers who arrived here yesterday on the Empress of Asia. The feeling was expressed sentiment was running high against the Japanese among occupants of the International settlement at Shanghai.

"Wherever this is any sniping," Doyle said, "the Japanese arrest everyone in the building from which the shots were fired and execute them instantly.

Baltimore, Md., is an independent city not in any county.

FLU WRECKS BOTH CREWS

Cambridge Cancels The Workout Scheduled For Tuesday

London, Feb. 24 (CP cable) —Influenza today crippled both the Oxford and Cambridge University boat crews which have been in training for two months for the annual classic, the Varsity Boat Race, to be rowed on March 19 over the historic Putney-to-Mortlake stretch of the Thames.

Stroke J. M. Hanning of Cambridge and Stroke C. A. Chadwick-Healey of Oxford, were alike ill today. The Cambridge afternoon workout was cancelled, although the light blues rowed a hard mile in three minutes, three seconds, earlier in the day. Oxford covered the regatta course at Henley, a mile and 550 yards, in seven minutes and 35 seconds—only two seconds slower than London Rowing Club's time in winning the Grand Challenge Cup over the same stretch last year on the Royal Henley Regatta.

Wise men mingle mirth with their cares, as a help either to forget or overcome them; but to resort to intoxication for the ease of care would be to cure melancholy by madness.—Charron.

Warriors of Il Duce for Shanghai

With huge concentrations of Japanese and Chinese troops in the vicinity of the International Settlement at Shanghai increasing the danger to neutral nationals, the great powers are taking steps to protect the lives and property of their respective nationals by augmenting the armed forces that now guard the settlement. The photograph above shows Italian marines preparing to embark for Shanghai on the 10,000-ton cruiser Trento, at Gotta, Italy, a fortified seaport about forty miles northwest of Naples. These men will co-operate with the British and United States forces who are now protecting the foreign section of Shanghai.

NO COUGHING!
Don't spread disease germs . . don't irritate family and friends by constant coughing.
Take Ovbridge's, and get rid of that hoastly cough, cough, cough.
Ask your druggist
The British Remedy Est. 1874
Ovbridge's
Stops Coughing
Breaks up Colds

THE WEATHER
Lower Lake Region and Georgian Bay—Moderate to fresh south and southwest winds; fair today and Friday, and becoming quite frost.

The Ontario Intelligencer

14 Pages

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 25, 1932.

CHINESE ADVANCE NULLIFIES JAP GAINS

WHEELING MOVEMENT MADE BY JAPANESE SU CCESSFUL VILLAGE NOW SURROUNDED

Full Brunt of Japanese Attack Felt at Kiangwan

AERIAL ACTIVITY

Battle Starts With Dawn As Guns Boom Bombardment

(Copyright, 1932, by the Associated Press)

Shanghai, Feb. 25 (AP)—Held all day under a heavy Japanese bombardment the Chinese troops in the Kiangwan sector of the Chapei-Woosung front swarmed out of their trenches this evening launched a swift counter-attack and gained back nearly all the ground lost in the Japanese drive during the day.

In the afternoon the Japanese had pitted all the troops in the area against the Chinese defenders of Kiangwan, beating back the Chinese first line. The Japanese eventually surrounded the Kiangwan Chinese garrison, aided by heavy artillery which pounded the rear of the Chinese line and a fleet of 40 aeroplanes using 250 pound bombs.

Shanghai, February 25.—The Japanese Army flung the full force of its power in the Chinese defensive northwest of Kiangwan this afternoon and late in the day claimed they had crushed the Chinese first line and forced it into a disorderly retreat.

Swept Forward

The Japanese swept forward in an encircling movement around Kiangwan, tore from the fleeing Chinese line and pressed forward toward Nanshiang, the last fortified Chinese defending Kiangwan village continued to cling to their posts, and were virtually surrounded as the Japanese drive pressed on west of them.

The Japanese artillery moved forward to two new positions during the afternoon and their infantry had long since left the beaten it occupied when the battle began this morning.

The Japanese took Miaochungcheh, northwest of Kiangwan and continued their wheeling drive from there. The entire area was covered with a pall of smoke which is almost impossible to determine the details of what was going on.

First Line Falls

As the afternoon wore on the Japanese claimed they had occupied the Chinese first line defenses northwest of Kiangwan and that their artillery was then pounding upon the second line at the same times a fleet of bombing planes flying high to avoid hitting the Japanese infantry, loosed 250-pound bombs in a continuous bombardment at the Chinese.

While the battle was raging a Japanese transport arrived at Woosung wharves with more international settlement, loaded with ammunition which was transferred to trucks which dashed off in the direction of Kiangwan.

Attack on Station

All of the International settlement, and especially the French concession, showed considerable nervousness as a result of attack by the Japanese planes on the Lunghua railway station, two miles south of the French concession. The inhabitants were fearful that the Japanese would bomb the Lunghua arsenal which was reported to contain enough explosives to wash every window in the International Settlement if a bomb were to hit it.

From the Chinese front line positions rifle and machine gun fire

(Continued on Page 7)

Soviet Russian Troops Move Toward Border

Shanghai, Friday, Feb. 26 (AP) — Japanese advances during their drive on Chinese northwest of Kiangwan on Thursday were nullified when the Chinese, apparently reinforced by fresh men from Chiang Kai-Shek's 19th Division, launched a counter-attack during the night which resulted in the Chinese regaining nearly all the ground they had lost.

Early this morning the Chinese were steadily bombarding the Japanese bases in Kiangwan Park.

* * * *

The Chinese held the village of Kiangwah even at the peak of the Japanese gain of yesterday.

* * * *

Shanghai, Feb. 25 (AP)—Japanese troops crushed the Chinese offensive late this afternoon northwest of Kiangwan and were sweeping forward in an encircling movement toward Tachang in the fiercest battle of twenty days of fighting.

They claimed they had broken the Chinese first line defenses completely and that the Chinese troops were forced into a disorderly retreat marked by confusion and panic. The village of Kiangwan was still held by the Chinese but it was virtually surrounded. The Japanese artillery moved forward to two new positions during the afternoon and the infantry had long since left the locations it occupied in the morning.

* * * *

Nanking, Feb. 25 (AP)—It was understood here today the National Government would soon appoint Chiang Kai-Shek, former President of China, as commander of the Chinese forces assigned to the task of recovering lost territories in Manchuria while the puppet Wu-Ting-Fang was "resisting Japanese aggression at Shanghai."

* * * *

Shanghai, Feb. 25 (AP)—German consular officials and representatives on several other governments including the United States went today to General Tsai Ting-Kai, Chinese army commander, saying they appreciated his eagerness to "shock up" the Japanese commander and the Japanese people by emphasizing that such tactics are full of dangerous possibilities for other international property.

The German consul went next door to the Japanese consulate to make the same representations.

* * * *

Shanghai, Feb. 25 (AP)—Japanese General Mural sent a note to United States Consul Ralph S. Cunningham today, calling the latter's attention to the death of Robert Short, a United States flyer, at Soochow yesterday when Chinese military airplane against Japanese flyers.

The Japanese Consul General requested Mr. Cunningham to prevent similar occurrences in the future.

* * * *

Shanghai, Feb. 25 (AP)—Chinese reports from Harbin today said General Ma Chan-Shan, once called the hero of Taitsihar, had been assassinated there.

For his defense of Taitsihar against the Japanese advance last autumn, General Ma won the gratitude of his countrymen. Subsequently he joined with other Generals in the Harbin area in declaring the three provinced independent Manchurian state under Japanese protection. Only a few days ago he was formally inaugurated as the Governor of Heilungkiang Province.

* * * *

Mukden, Manchuria, Feb. 25 (AP)—The Rengo (Japanese) News Agency correspondent at Harbin said today that unconfirmed reports had come there of a movement of several thousand Soviet-Russian soldiers across the Siberian frontier, presumably because of the situation in connection with Japanese troop movements in north-eastern Manchuria.

At the same time it was learned from reliable sources that a Japanese expedition against Chinese rebels in the vicinity of Imienpo had been delayed because of difficulties in obtaining transportation on the Chinese Eastern Railway.

* * * *

This railway is jointly owned and operated by Russia and China. The line officials said they were unable to fulfill the terms requested by the Japanese because instructions to do so had not arrived from Moscow.

The Japanese, however, said these Soviet railway officials were trying to prevent any Japanese advance along the railway in the direction of Vladivostok.

* * * *

Shanghai, Feb. 25 (AP)—Germany's diplomatic representatives here evaded today questions as to the existence of the possibility that the Chinese army would shell the Hongkew sector.

They were the first foreign diplomats to withdraw following a warning by Mayor Wu Tek-Chen that the Hongkew sector was dangerous for foreigners as long as it continued to be used as a Japanese military base.

Newspapermen Called to Witness in Gordon Charges

OTTAWA, Ont., Feb. 25.—(Can. Press)—The special House of Commons committee investigating charges alleged to have been made by C. G. Gordon, Peterboro, Ont., and certain reporters of that newspaper, "the necessity of formally proving the accuracy of the extracts from a report in the Globe of a meeting at Hamilton, Ont., where Gordon, was said to have made the last charges," was told by the committee chair, Col. G. R. Geary, (Conservative—Toronto).

The question of calling Mr. Benjamin S. Hertzler, former Canadian minister to Washington and also Mr. Gordon was mentioned. Whether other witnesses would be summoned depended, Geary indicated, upon the evidence investigators would give.

"We want to know the basis on which the statements were made," commented Alfred Duranleau (U.F.A., Red Deer). "After that it might be necessary to enquire regarding the necessity of formally proving the accuracy of the extracts from a report in the Globe of a meeting at Hamilton, Ont., where Gordon, was said to have made the last charges," added the committee chair, Col. G. R. Geary, (Conservative—Toronto).

"The question of calling Mr. Benjamin S. Hertzler, former Canadian minister to Washington and also Mr. Gordon was mentioned. Whether other witnesses would be summoned depended, Geary indicated, upon the evidence investigators would give.

"We want to know the basis on which the statements were made," commented Alfred Duranleau (U.F.A., Red Deer). "After that it might be necessary to enquire regarding the necessity of formally proving the accuracy of the extracts from a report in the Globe of a meeting at Hamilton, Ont., where Gordon, was said to have made the last charges," added the committee chair, Col. G. R. Geary, (Conservative—Toronto).

"We must take it for granted that Mr. Gordon is innocent until he is proved guilty," declared William Duff, (Lib.-Nova Scotia). "I suggest that during our discussion no lady's name be mentioned."

In reference was to a feature of Gordon's alleged charges that the Prime Minister had frequently used the honeymoon trip of his sister, Mrs. W. D. Herridge, to Europe from the public treasury.

"I don't think we should bring ourselves until something definite comes up in the discussion," J. L. Bowman, (Conservative—Manitoba), said.

Teachers Against Sliding Scale

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont., Feb. 25.—The executive committee of the City Teachers' Association, meeting here decided to oppose a salary cut of more than 10 per cent. It is understood the Board of Education recently informed the teachers cuts similar to those of municipal employees were being considered. These were based on a sliding scale.

HYDRO PROBE OPENS, J. AIRD JR. ON STAND

Witness Tells of Part in Purchase of Power Interests

CORRESPONDENCE

Original Letters Tabled in Communications With Hydro

Toronto, Feb. 25 — In opening the Hydro inquiry today, Mr. Justice Middleton made a statement outlining the scope of the commission. Had a charge been made his lordship said, it was destroyed because he would have called upon the party making the charge to substantiate it. But no charge had been made and therefore he would not consider it possible all the information bearing on the two transactions mentioned in the reference, and he hoped, without the introduction of political matter.

John Aird, Jr., was the first witness called. Answering questions by Mr. Tilley, he said he had had a part in the purchase of the M. J. O'Brien Limited Power Interests and the Montreal Power Company Interests by the Hydro Electric Power Commission.

In Partnership.

At that time he was in partnership with R. W. Millard in a promoting and engineering business. The partnership was dissolved before the $50,000 was received from the Hydro-Electric power commission, understanding that this fee would be divided.

Dealing with the division of the $50,000, witness said he received $25,000 after certain debt adjustments between them and this he deposited in the Bank of Commerce. Asked to produce his bank book, Mr. Aird said he had not his bank book. Mr. Tilley said he would get the information from the bank.

Mr. Tilley questioned the witness about correspondence he had car-

(Continued on Page 7)

Hitler Becomes a Citizen of Germany

Berlin, Feb. 25 (AP) —Adolf Hitler, technically a man without a country, became a citizen of Germany, eligible for the presidency, today when the State of Brunswick appointed him counsellor to its Berlin legation.

The National Socialist leader is an Austrian by birth, but he lost his citizenship in that country by serving in the Germany army during the World War.

THOS. McGILL FACES CHARGE

Secretary-Treasurer is Arrested By Provincial Police

Wednesday afternoon District Inspector Dougherty of the Belleville District Office of the Ontario Provincial Police and Provincial Constable Ramsay of Picton arrested Thomas E. McGill in the village of Carrying-in Lennox and Addington County, on the charge of having stolen $626.44 from the township of Camden.

McGill was secretary-treasurer of the township, with office in Centreville, and it is alleged, is said to have been stolen by him at various times during the past two years.

McGill was arraigned Thursday afternoon before Police Magistrate Graham in Napanee and without being asked to plead, the Crown asked for an enlargement for one week, which the magistrate granted.

Bail was set at $10,000.00 and McGill was placed in custody in the county jail at Napanee, pending, if possible, the arrangement of bail bail demanded.

McGill is a married man, aged fifty-five and has a family of six children, most of whom are grown up. He was a merchant in Centreville for some years and sold his business recently.

Ecuador's petroleum output is off 14 per cent., compared with 1930.

Bucharest's population increase in the last 10 years was nearly 10 times that of all Rumania.

Disarmament Proposal of Russia Turned Down

Holds 13 Diamonds Perfect Bridge Hand

It began as an ordinary little friendly game to fill in the time.

Mr. and Mrs. Gowan Shoniker, Queen Street, Trenton, had invited Mr. and Mrs. Charles Yorke over on Tuesday evening for a few rubbers of bridge. They had played several hands. No one was having any particular luck and the score wasn't anything wonderful.

Then it was Mr. Shoniker's deal. He looked over his hand carefully and laid two cards down. Mr. Yorke, on his right, immediately murmured "seven diamonds". Mrs. Shoniker who was her husband's partner, passed with all possible speed.

Mrs. Yorke who had gasped at her husband's bid, after a swift survey of her own cards, protested a bit.

"Now, Charlie don't fool. Are you playing bridge or not?"

Mr. Yorke maintained an irritating silence.

Mr. Shoniker and Mrs. Yorke proceeded to lay down her cards, she noticed that her husband was doing the same thing. She stared at such a four pas. As her husband continued to put down card after card, everybody stared, and stared.

Mr. Yorke held thirteen diamonds. A perfect bridge hand!

Henry Pu-Yi First Head Manchurian Republic

Nothing in Constitution to Prevent Manchuria Becoming Monarchy—Pu-Yi Asks For Symbols of Splendor of His Ancestors

Mukden, Manchuria, Feb. 25 (AP) —The new Manchurian federated state with Pu-Yi, formerly boy emperor of China, will be the "provisional chief executive," the executive power and the title of its head announced today.

The young Mr. Pu-Yi had previously insisted that the state be set up as a monarchy and that he be given at least some vestige of the splendor of his ancestors, the former Manchu dynasty of China.

The executive committee added, however, in its outline of the new state constitution, that the name of emperor and the title of his head would be carefully chosen to leave the way open for the establishment of a monarchy in the future if that seemed best.

Following the model of the Nanking Chinese constitution the Manchurian document provides three councils, known as a legislative Yuan, a Judicial affairs Yuan and an inspection Yuan. The cabinet, consisting of a premier and seven ministers is placed under the National Affairs Yuan.

There was provision in the constitution for participation by the people in the Government except a provision that the Chief executive should be nominated by and be responsible to the citizens.

The choice of Changchun to be the capital of the new state brought gloom to business circles in Mukden and corresponding enthusiasm at Changchun.

The new state is to be called "Manchukuo" which translated is "Land of Manchurians" and might be applied either to a republic or a monarchy. The flag will have a field of yellow with red, white, blue and black parallel stripes on the upper quarter nearest the staff.

BRAVE WORDS BY BRUENING

Prestige No Object, He Says, Defying German Opposition

Berlin, Feb. 25 (AP)—Chancellor Heinrich Bruening struck back at the opposition in the Reichstag today with an impassioned speech delivered in one of the most tumultuous sessions of a German Chancellor ever confronted.

Throwing aside his habitual reserve, gesticulating, pounding his fist, Bruening shouted in a voice vibrant with emotion, charging his opponents with creating dissension at a time when Germany is in the middle of the most critical foreign negotiations.

"Prestige, prestige on a foreign policy of pure prestige," he shouted above the din, "means to satisfy the demands of political agitators at home, thereby endangering the foreign policy of the nation.

"This policy of ours would command a different kind of attention abroad if the German people could show that this critical time is being a political recriminations at home."

SAY ALFONSO CEDES THRONE

Two Documents Circulated Among Monarchists in Spain

MADRID, Feb. 25.—(AP)—It was learned today from reliable sources in high Monarchist circles that two documents have been circulated among Monarchists secretly, in one of which former King Alfonso XIII cedes his right to the Spanish throne to the traditionalist pretender Alfonso Carlos.

In the other document, these sources said, Alfonso Carlos names former King Alfonso Prince of Asturia and his rightful heir to the thrones of Spain, France and Portugal. The throne of the latter two kingdoms already has been claimed by the pretender.

SICKNESS OF PUPILS LESS BACK AT WORK

At the Time About 25% One School's Attendance At Home Ill

MUCH PENUMONIA

Many People Sick With Colds and Pneumonia But No Epidemic

There is a considerable amount of sickness in the city at present, the cases in the form of bad colds and influenza.

Dr. G. S. Cronk, Medical Health Officer for the city, says that the influenza is not a severe type, but that there is a great deal of it and that as pneumonia is following in many of the cases, people should exercise precaution and take proper care of themselves when they feel a cold developing. Fully as many adults as children are ill.

"Every winter," says Dr. Cronk, there is a lot of sickness, similar to that which is prevalent now, but this year there is considerably more of it. There is no cause for alarm if people take proper care of themselves and go to bed when a cold takes hold of them."

School Attendance up

During the past two weeks a large number of pupils have been absent from the public schools owing to illness; this week, however, some improvement is shown in attendance.

At Queen Victoria School the absentees numbered around seventy in the Kindergarten and eight to ten in each of the Senior classes. There are about forty pupils absent.

Close to one quarter of the number of children attending Queen Alexandra School were absent one week; the number of absentees reaching about one hundred and eight. Today seventy-six pupils were absent.

A few of the teachers in the various schools were absent for a few days with the exception of two or three they were all in their class rooms.

About twenty per cent. of the pupils at the Collegiate and Vocational School, where the attendance runs around 1,000, have been absent during the past two weeks owing to illness. Today, however, the situation is greatly improved, there being only about 5 per cent absent.

At St. Michael's Academy the attendance has been affected to a large extent, proportionally as at the other city schools.

Goat raising is becoming a favorite vocation for girls in Orea, Brazil.

Woman Roams Nude Through Thicket, Later Found Dead

Suffering From a Mental Lapse is Belief of Authorities

COMPLETELY NAKED

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 25.—The exposure of roaming nude through thickets of bushes on a cold winter's night during a mental lapse was tentatively assigned by authorities as the cause of Miss Elsie Fischmeier's death.

The body of the 21-year-old college student, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Frederick Fischmeier, was found in a clump of brush in the northeast section of the city here yesterday by some boys who were among those looking for her. She had been missing since she left her father to take a walk in a park 24 hours previously.

Her body was naked except for a girdle and a shoe, and her legs and face were scratched as if by briars. Her clothes lay in a pile about 70 feet all Russian.

FACE BULLETS CROSS BORDER

Nine Bullet-Wounded Men Rest in Hospitals

Bucharest, Rumania, Feb. 25. —(AP)—Nine bullet-wounded survivors of a group of 61 which crossed the Dniester from Russia on the night following Soviet Border guards were in a serious condition at Olanesti where they were taken to hospitals, it was learned today.

Surrounding survivors of the group which ran the border line, were reported to have been affected by deportation to Siberia by Soviet authorities because of complaints they made on living conditions which they described as "insupportable".

New 32 Cylinder Car Planned By Oldfield to Beat Sir Malcolm

Daytona Beach, Fla., Feb. 26. —Barney Oldfield, dean of American race drivers, today divulged plans of building a super-speedible supposedly capable of returning the world speed record to America. Although he has been retired from racing for 15 years, Oldfield, now 54 years old, said he hoped to be at the wheel of the machine. Oldfield hopes to have the car ready for the 1933 trials. He has drawn up plans for a powerful machine having two 16-cylinder engines of 1,400 horse-power each, the chassis probably would resemble an inverted canoe and would be streamlined to a degree far beyond any present-day car.

Russia Will Favor Plan Advocated By Britain

Livitnikoff Merely Wanted Russian Plan Considered

LONG ADDRESSES

Conference Then Yields And Considers Russian Proposal

By F. I. LIPSEY, Jr.
Associated Press Staff Correspondent

Geneva, Feb. 25 — The world disarmament conference today voted down Russia's proposal for immediate total and universal disarmament throughout the world.

The proposal was presented by Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet Commissar for Foreign Affairs, at the opening of today's session. When the vote was taken, only Turkey and Russia supported the proposal.

The special interests of the mutilion makers," Litvinoff said, "are stronger than the pacific group. Civilization would not suffer much if all the fighting in the Far East were done with bare fists.

Russian Proposal

With his proposal, Litvinoff presented the following resolution:

"Animated by a firm desire for effective and solidly organized peace, and actuated by a determination to create genuine security for all states and all peoples by preventing the possibility of future wars, and

"Convinced that the very existence of armaments and the tendency they show constantly to increase will inevitably lead to armed international conflicts which tear workers from their peaceful occupations and bring immeasurable calamities in their train:

Basis of Armaments

"Considering that military expenditure, which imposes an intolerable burden on the masses of the people, fetters and enhances the economic crisis, with all its consequences; and

"Noting that the states which represent the world war as an instrument of national policy; and

"Believing that the only effective means of contributing to the organization of peace and the establishment of confidence between all is a general, complete and rapid abolition of all armaments, entailing as from the principle of equality for all; and

(Continued on Page 7)

WEATHER

Meteorological Office, Toronto, Ont., Feb. 25 — Pressure continues high and the Atlantic coast and over the Rocky Mountain states, and remains low over the region from Hudson's Bay westward to the Pacific. The weather has been fair and cold from Ontario to the Maritime provinces and quite mild in the western provinces.

Northern Ontario — Southerly winds, mostly fair today and Friday and becoming milder.

Ottawa and Lower St. Lawrence Valleys—East to southeast winds; moderate to fresh today and Friday, and becoming milder; possibly scattered showers.

Lake Superior—Fresh south and southwest winds, mostly fair today and Friday and becoming milder.

Western provinces—Fresh winds; fair and mild today and Friday.

Coming Events

REMEMBER LEAP YEAR DANCE, Monday, Feb. 29, Johnstone Academy Hall, Corby's Corner; everybody invite your friends; come and enjoy yourself. Novelties. Door prize $1.00 couple. 125-11

WELL BABY CLINIC WILL BE held in the City Hall tomorrow afternoon from two-thirty to four-thirty. 126-10

TWO BOYS' BASKET BALL games to-night at the Collegiate: Trenton vs. Belleville, Jr. game starts 7.30; Sr. game after. Admission, Adults 25c; Students 10c. 125-11

REGULAR WEEKLY EUCHRE and dance at Memorial Hall, Friday, Feb. 26th, 8 o'clock sharp. Euchre commences 8.30. Refreshments. Admission 25c. 124-11

Lemonade Will Replace Beer if Dispensers Strike

Berlin, Feb. 25.—Germany's nation wide "beer strike" is scheduled to begin tomorrow with indications pleasure replacing the traditional stein of Berlin beer.

The council of Berlin beer dispensers, representing 90 per cent. of the capital's 12,000 bars, voted tonight to join the strike, which was called by restaurant and hotel owners in protest against a government decree lowering the retail price of beer.

The strike begins at 3 a.m. at which time the bar owners agreed to start offering wine, coffee and lemonade as substitutes for the national beverage.

Meanwhile, the large brewers were rushing extraordinary preparations to provide their own beer halls, thus preventing a complete stoppage of the sale of beer. They also expected that the Hamburg railway stations which are a Reichsbahn concession, will continue to sell beer—probably to an overflow crowd of patrons.

City and District News

LITTLE TRADING ON LOCAL MARKET

Thursday's mid-week market was very slimly attended by both buyers and dairy and poultry farmers alike. Only a few noodles and chickens changed hands and they did little or no business to warrant their appearance on the market-place. Mid-week markets, in Belleville, seem to be a relic of the past and the poor trading is in evidence at these market days as it is on Tuesday and Thursday.

TEMPERATURE IS SLIGHTLY HIGHER

Very little change was noted in the temperature here during the past twenty-four hours. The mercury has remained below freezing for the past few days with the result that considerable ice has been made in this district. Yesterday's temperatures 32 high and eight above zero were slightly higher today, when the mercury registered 11 at an early hour this morning and had reached 28 at noon today. A variation of exactly three points in both the high and the low between yesterday and today was noted.

NOW WORKING AT PUMP HOUSE LANE

Excavation on the spare water main has now been completed as far as water works lane, and operations of the digging has been shifted to the bottom of the lane, near the pump house, where the trench had been opened, going north. When the lane is excavated, at the end of the pipe, that has now been laid the two ends will then be connected up. The change over the water mains, on account of the water, that has been experienced in the trench above the lane, will commence at the lane, where the trench is now being dug, is mainly down hill this water is expected to be eliminated, working from the bottom towards the top.

Thirty-seven men were called off by the clerk this morning for the 11th second relief shift of the week.

EARL KNIGHT GETS TWO YEAR TERM

Earl Knight of Hallowell township near Bloomfield has been sentenced, by Police Magistrate A. E. Hubbard, to two years in jail on a charge of theft of $30 from Mrs. Pelkey, Picton, Knight appeared before Magistrate Cotton in police court at Picton, on two charges of forgery, one for $2.50 and one for $6.00, and was also charged with arson in having burned his car.

To these three charges Knight pleaded guilty and the Magistrate reserved passing sentence, which he has now pronounced as above.

POLICE BELIEVE MEN WANTED

Late Wednesday night District Inspector Lougheed of the Belleville District Office of the Ontario Provincial Police received a telephone message from Provincial Officer Crowe of Welland, advising that he was holding on the charge of vagrancy three men who answered the description of the men, who held up and shot Mr. Bowmanville and his wife at Bowmanville on February 21st instant.

Acting upon instruction from District Inspector Lougheed, Provincial Officer Crowe left for Belleville and Mr. Stacey have gone to Welland, where the three men, the said who are being held there.

13TH BIRTHDAY IS CELEBRATED

Phyllis "Mickey" Aselstine entertained a number of her friends at her home, 41 Bonisteel street, last night, it being the occasion of her thirteenth birthday. The children gathered in the early evening, each bearing a gift for the honored one, and a jolly time was spent in games. Mrs. Aselstine served a delightful luncheon, the birthday cake with thirteen candles being the principal attraction. Miss Aselstine thanked her many friends for the beautiful gifts.

YOUR EYES

MANY IMAGINE THAT

Glasses are not according to them for which reason they deliberately neglect their eyes. Properly selected glasses are now considered a NECESSITY and not detract from appearance. Don't let THAT prevent your securing aid for your eyes. Be a patient of ours.

PHONE 128
FOR APPOINTMENT
J. A. McFEE
OPTOMETRIST

REPAIR IT NOW!

Skilled workmen can repair that car top of yours in the shortest possible time and guarantee a first class job.
CHARLES MOTOR CO.
PHONE 232

Pen / Taper GIVEN

for a limited time only, with every Parker Duofold Pen or Parker Duofold Pencil purchased here. Enables you to convert your Pocket Pen to a slender Desk Pen on arriving at home or office. Either a Parker Base gives you complete Desk Set—without buying special desk pen. Come and see this amazing Parker Pen improvement.

See the New Parker Duette Pen and Pencil Set—$7.50 and $.00.

T. M. PALMER
Jeweller
216 Front St.

SALAD FORKS FREE TO-NIGHT

The SHERRIEVILLE ZASH PITS
"2 UNEXPECTED FATHER TODAY Only"
CAPITOL
"Where "real Sounds Best"

TEACHER SHOT MAN IS HELD

Miss Olga Wasley is Shot While Lying in Her Bed

Saskatoon, Feb. 25.—(CP)—Another school activity in the Blaine Lake district of northern Saskatchewan, settled for the most part by Doukhobors, took a new turn yesterday when an early-morning prowler shot and seriously wounded Miss Olga Wasley, 21-year-old school teacher, as she lay asleep in her bed in a little school house two miles from the village.

Seriously wounded by gunshot in the side and legs, Miss Wasley was rushed here late yesterday afternoon by airplane. Hospital attendants say she will be given a blood transfusion tonight.

Provincial police at Blaine Lake arrested Pete Dovdchenko, 25, son of a Doukhobor farmer, a short time after school pupils found the young teacher lying on the floor unconscious, and re-called that Dovdchenko had would be formally charged with attempted murder in court to-morrow.

Less than two weeks ago, Chief Justice J. T. Brown ordered two young Blains Lake Doukhobors to prison terms following their conviction on charges of setting fire to a school at River Hill. The two are Joe Podorhorkoff and Peter Burgin-koff.

When Miss Wasley recovered consciousness during the forenoon, she told of waking up when the shot was fired. The muzzle of the gun had been poked through the glass of the window and the trigger was pulled immediately. She heard the noise and felt pain in her side and legs at the same time. She rolled herself out of bed and dragged from herself to the kitchen. Hardly had she left the bed before a second shot was fired through the spot where her head had been on the pillow, the attacker, apparently satisfied that Miss Wasley had been killed, left.

"GOLD BRICK" ARTISTS HELD

Motorcycle Constable Makes Arrest After Examining Car

Toronto, Feb. 25. (CP)—Provincial Police Constables George Casey and P. Samsonoff, 35, both of Toronto, and charged them with swindling Peter Michaluk out of $4,000 last Christmas with a "gold brick" confidence trick.

The two men were picked up just outside the city when Motorcycle Constable Arthur Bosworth stopped their automobile because it had only one light burning. The behavior of the men prompted the constable to search the car in the forenoon of which he said he found a fake "gold brick."

TENNYSON CLUB ELECT OFFICERS

L. B. Calnan Honored With Position of President

PICTON, February 23.—(Special)—The Tennyson Club was entertained on Tuesday evening at the United Church Parsonage, with the hostess, Mrs. F. M. Wootton, being assisted by Mrs. G. R. Boulter, Mrs. A. Calnan, Mrs. C. Mc-Slothers.

The being the last meeting of the season, officers were elected. These are:—

President—L. B. Calnan.
1st Vice President—Rev. F. M. Wootton.
2nd Vice President — Stanley V. Hamly.
Secretary—A. E. Calnan.
Treasurer—Miss M. Moore.
Assistant Treasurer—Miss Eleanor Holmes.
Literary Committee—H. B. Breton L. B. Calnan, Dr. M. Currie, Mrs. D. W. Crawford, Mrs. A. E. Calnan, Mrs. S. V. Hamly.
Musical Committee—Mrs. (Dr.) Currie and Mrs. H. U. Tobey.
Membership Committee—Mrs. A. E. Calnan and Mrs. G. E. Boulter.
Rev. F. M. Wootton was the speaker of the evening and gave a thoughtful address on present day social and economic problems and suggested remedies. As several questions had been sent in connection with some of the speakers' views, it was suggested that in future, meetings with the Tennyson Club open discussion period when members could express their views.

Mrs. S. M. Scott gave a delightful piano solo, Miss E. Holmes presented the treasurer's report, showing a good balance on hand. Ten dollars was voted to the Belleville Chef Committee. A social time was spent.

Present Jewel

Mrs. (Dr.) O.L. No. 488 entertained a number of local lodges to a social evening. The County Master Bro. Jinks, the Past County Master Bro. Culmer, and Past Master of Victoria Lodge, Bro. Ray Scott were present and delivered interesting addresses.

The retiring master, Bro. Fred Goodman, was presented with a Past Master's Jewel. Chesney Goodman her was initiated. The evening was brought to a close by serving refreshments.

HON. KENNEDY TO BE SPEAKER

Cheese Factory Patrons Will Complete Organization, Fri., Mar. 4th

To complete the organization of the Quinte Cheese Patrons' Association, adopt a constitution and by-laws, also to elect a permanent slate of officers, a meeting will be held in the city hall at Belleville on Friday, March 4th, at 2 p.m. Belleville, who is president pro-tem of the association, has arranged with Hon. T. L. Kennedy, Provincial Minister of Agriculture to be present and give the principal address. While the district incorporated in this new association, there are between 7,000 and 8,000 cheese factory patrons and if some are properly called there is no doubt the cheese industry in this district can be made one of the biggest organizations in the province of Ontario. The meeting on Friday next will open at 10 o'clock and every cheese factory patron is earnestly requested to be present.

SINGER DIES IN ACCIDENT

Brother of Former Foxboro Man is Victim of Street Accident

The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. MacFarlane, of Montreal West (formerly of Foxboro) will be sorry to learn of the very sudden death of the former's brother, Mr. George MacFarlane, in Los Angeles, California. He was crossing the street when he was hit by an auto causing almost instant death.

Mr. George MacFarlane was a very well-known actor and had been in Hollywood for some time taking part in some of the pictures and directing others.

He, was a native of Montreal. He grew up and went to school in Montreal when a boy, and in later years it is said he returned to Montreal to return to his home town and to stay. He early developed stage ambitions as a soloist and his natural bent being for the stage, he found no difficulty in securing a small part when he went to New York and sought entrance.

His rise was rapid, and he developed a splendid stage presence and he employed with notable effect. His fine tenor voice was also used in comedy and light opera. He was a Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Ainsworth entertained Mr. Frank Smith, Mr. Albert Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Abbott, Ralph and Billy, Mrs. A. Rogers, Mrs. Ward Sexsmith and Rodney on Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. R. McMath and McMillivray spent Monday evening at Mr. R. Tucker's.

Mrs. Jones, of Ottawa, is spending a few days with her brother, Mr. Byron Demorest.

Owner's Speed Saves Dog in Throes of Strychnine Poison

Veterinarian Arrives Just in Time to Save Animal

"POISON ALL RIGHT"

One dog owner in Belleville thanks to his common sense and his expedition may put himself on the back and also pat his dog. But for his presence of mind Walter H. Patterson, the well known undertaker would have been minus his pet which is a well-bred animal and is highly treasured by the members of the Patterson family.

What nearly happened the animal was that he was at dealer's door from strychnine poisoning. Somebody had "put" him in, some one had dropped a piece of food containing poison and they dog ate it, came home and went into convulsions. Dr. Ackrill sees no other explanation.

In a minute Mr. Patterson was on his car and in the Ackrill's office, and in a few minutes Dr. Ackrill was at his work of saving the dog at the owner's home.

"The dog had ... dose of poison," said Dr. Ackrill to an Ontario Intelligencer reporter today. "I injected ... immediately ... and he ... and ... three times ... hour ... The dog was put ... at ... and in three minutes later and it would have ... The dog is now out ... three ... "The trouble is" said the veterinary, "to get the dog before it is poisoned. If you secured the veterinary and the dog loses his only chance of recovery.

"Do you think, Doctor, that the dogs might be getting some spoiled garbage and bad food thrown out by the ... of the year?" asked the reporter.

Not Bad Food

"No danger of that" pooh-poohed the veterinary. He would rather give the dog a chance to get a dog," he told the newspaperman. His dog cans in frothing and was dead in a few minutes with convulsions.

Others to lose their dogs are Mr. L. C. Patrick and Mr. Roy Clarke, Belleville.

Police are carrying on an investigation into the matter. Scotty Kline is having the animal he lost analyzed for traces of poison, and is trying to find out who, if anyone, bought poison recently.

Meanwhile the owners of every kind of dog prize winner, ordinary dog, and mixed breed are on the watchdogs fearful that their dog may be the victim of the notorious lethal drug.

As a rule cases are front one area, the owners are more and more coming to the conclusion that a dog and cat are a well fed and well cared for are at work, venting spleen on the innocent dog population.

DISMISSES APPEAL

Ottawa, Feb. 25 (CP).—The Supreme Court of Canada dismissed today the appeal of Mrs. Mary Rogers, Windsor, Ont., from the Ontario Court of Appeals which refused to disturb the lower court judgment dismissing an action to upset the will of Franklin David Davis also of Windsor.

Steps on Dog's Foot and Leaps Between Motorcars

Coincidence of Events Almost Causes Accident Near Market

YELL SAVES MAN

A queer association of incidents almost led to a serious injury this morning in the city on the lower Front Street, yesterday afternoon shortly after five o'clock.

Mr. George Adelboro, attempting to cross Front Street near the city hall, had time, and word from between two parked cars and started back. However, by a car which was approaching from the east, which he did not up quickly, and stepped on the dog directly behind him. Startled by the resultant yelp from the animal, of which he had been unaware, Mr. Adelboro leaped directly in front of the rear of a truck which was also just then in motion, and thus crushed if he had not let a startled whoop to the truck driver to warn him of the danger he was in. The passenger car driver had applied brakes on noticing the predicament, but momentum of the car was sufficient to carry it forward far enough to an inevitable collision if the truck had not pulled ahead. Johnston would have been the buffer—but, fortunately, wasn't.

Obituary

FRANK McCOLL

Cobourg, Feb. 25.—The death took place at Trenton of Frank McColl, a brother of J. R. McColl, of Toronto, Mrs. Morgan Hamilton and Rev. Monsignor McColl of Peterboro, and Mrs. Charles Read and Miss Teresa McColl of Trenton, by his two brothers before mentioned and by three sisters, Mrs. Regan and Miss Agnes McColl, Peterboro, Mrs. Lownsbrough, and Mrs. Galvin, Peterboro.

LATE MRS. L. McCORMICK

The funeral of the late Mrs. Lillie Viola McCormick of Foxboro took place yesterday morning, from the family home, to the burial plot in St. Michael's church, where mass was celebrated by Rev. Father Madden at 9 a.m. The Rev. Father Madden also conducted the service at the home at 8 o'clock yesterday afternoon.

The floral and spiritual offerings for the deceased were numerous, denoting in what esteem, respect and love she was held, friends and friends had ever held her.

The bearers were Messrs. I. Silk, A. McLaughlin, W. Clark, Percy Jary, J. Shaw and John Wilson.

LATE EDGAR STAFLEY

A touching tribute to a large assembly of friends and neighbors gathered at the home of the late Edgar Stafley, Foxboro, on Thursday, to pay their last respects to a well esteemed fellow citizen. The floral offering testified, in part, to the admiration and esteem in which he was held. The Rev. J. S. McMillan conducted the services at the home and at the grave side in the Belleville Cemetery.

The bearers were Messrs. W. H. Lucas, C. Smith, D. Murray, A. Longhurst, W. Lucas and P. Longhurst.

UNEMPLOYMENT RELIEF FUND

Groups

Previously acknowledged	$5293.32
Agnew Surpass Shoe Store	16.00
Alemite Stewart Warner	56.25
Belleville Hydro Electric Staff	48.14
Total	$5413.71

Personal Subscriptions

Previously acknowledged	$4067.57
Mrs. E. Knudsen	5.00
Mrs. Jones	1.00
Bessie Allen	2.00
Belleville Rotary Club	50.00
Dr. E. N. Baker	5.00
Employees C.N.R. shops	31.75
	$4196.32

EXAMINATIONS HELD

The examinations for Stationary and Locomotive Engineers were held Wednesday at Corby Public Library. Mr. Scott is presiding at the examinations.

REV. DR. CLINE INJURED

Grimsby, Ont., Feb. 25 (CP).—Rev. Dr. W. H. Cline, prominent 78-year-old retired Baptist minister was injured yesterday when his automobile skidded off the road into a deep ditch near here. He suffered a broken jaw, head lacerations and crushed ribs.

80 Years Old Will Mark 20th Birthday

Philadelphia, Pa., Feb. 25.—A woman born in 1852 who now has four children, grandchildren and great grandchildren will celebrate her 20th birthday next month. Mrs. Mary Adelboro Blessing whose leap year birthdays fall only once every four years.

69 Articles Have Reduced Duties

Canberra, Australia, Feb. 25. (AP) —A new Australian tariff schedule announced today reduces the rate of duction in duties on 69 articles, an increase on 11 and the repeal of 13 special duties.

Most of the iron and steel duties will revert to their pre-war rate before the previous Scullin tariff revision. The duty on galvanized iron was not reduced. Duties on leaf tobacco used for manufacture, were reduced.

$25,000 FIRE LOSS

Vineland, N. J., Feb. 25. — Fire today destroyed a three-storey brick building and an estimated loss of $25,000 and menaced the heart of the business section.

Tyendinaga W. I.

The Tyendinaga East W.I. met at the home of Mrs. J. Henderson on Thursday evening with a good attendance. A good program was presented and the comforter tick-et was drawn and Mrs. W. Ward, of Toronto, was the lucky winner with the number 247. The proceeds on the comforter ticket were over $37.

Miss Mabel Vankoughnett spent Tuesday evening with Miss Elsie Henderson.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Winter, Harold, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Winter, Mrs. Dellor, Miss Pauline Denison, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. J. Winter and Carl spent Wednesday evening at Mr. Andrew Fenny's.

The Bed and Spare Society met in the Sunday School rooms on Tuesday evening. The officers were elected for the coming term, and are: Honorary President Rev. Mr. Foley; president, Miss Doris Kimmerseiy; secretary, Miss Gladys Bartlett; treasurer, Miss Helen Lemmon; organist, Mrs. Fred Henderson; Devotional convener, Mr. Harold Winter; Social Convener, Miss Delma Kimmerly; Missionary convener, Mr. Sanford Russell.

A crokinole tournament then took place and Mrs. O. E. Ashley and Mr. Douglas Henderson were the champions with Miss Helen Lemmon and Mr. Lloyd Ashley second.

Mr. and Mrs. Ward Sexsmith, Lloyd and Ruby spent the week end with her sister, Mrs. O. Ashley.

The Sharpe Hill Dramatic Club presented their play at Bellrose. A Friday night to a large and appreciative audience and were entertained to a banquet afterwards.

Mr. and Mrs. Orrin Ashley entertained Mr. Frank Smith, Mr. Albert Abbott, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Abbott, Ralph and Billy, Mrs. A. Rogers, Mrs. Ward Sexsmith and Rodney on Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. R. McMath and McMillivray spent Monday evening at Mr. R. Tucker's.

Mrs. Jones, of Ottawa, is spending a few days with her brother, Mr. Byron Demorest.

IMPORTANT Public NOTICE

All citizens who may have houses available to rent at from $30 to $40 or less than $30 a month with all conveniences, apartments or rooms with or without board with prices for same communicate with City Clerk, phone 195W, or Chamber of Commerce, phone 621, AT ONCE.

This information must be received not later than 4 o'clock tomorrow, Friday, Feb. 26th, 1932.

GEO. O. TICE, Mayor

CLARK & MILES Week End Specials

Finest Peameal Bacon (by piece), lb.	17c
Sliced, lb	19c
Choice Breakfast Bacon (by piece), lb.	14c
Sliced, lb.	15c
Pork Shoulders (pickled or fresh), lb.	9c
Pickled Side Pork, lb.	10c
Loin Roast of Pork, lb.	12c
Back Veal Chops, lb.	25c
Home Made Sausage, 4 lbs.	25c
Pure Lard, 2 lbs.	19c
Pure Cheese, 2 lbs.	25c
Tasty Old Cheese, lb.	24c
Creamery Butter, 2 lbs.	39c

180 FRONT ST. PHONE 10

AT WALLBRIDGE'S

Special Values in High Class Groceries It Will Pay You to Visit Our Store

SAFETY MATCHES 12 pkts.	Sockeye Salmon, ½ tins	19c
	Pineapple Juice, large tins	25c
	Good Morning Marmalade, 1 lb.	24c
	Strawberry Marmalade, jars	24c
	Shelled Peas, tins, fine quality	15c
	Basmet Cheese, for Salads	15c

"Toasterettes," wholewheat biscuits, pkgs, 40c

Wholewheat Flour, 5 lbs.	23c
Cornmeal, Bright Yellow	4 lbs. 12c	WHEAT MEAL Breakfast Food, 1 lb. bag 9c Very Dainty
Fine Oatmeal	5 lbs. 19c
Coarse Oatmeal, for Porridge	3 lbs. 19c
Boston Brown Bread, tins	25c
Puffles, for Salads, 2 kinds	25c

Vegetarian Baked Beans, (no meat)	Figs, Cooking, good quality	2 lbs. 21c
	Dates, Fresh, Sukkri	2 lbs. 25c
	Muscatel Raisins, lb.	13c
	Soy Bean Flour, packages	45c
So lbs.	Bonisteel Rolled Oats	11 lbs. 39c
	Jiroh Flour, bags	5 lbs. 21c

CANDLES, Fine Wax Candles, many colours, different shapes, at low prices.

Cash Prices. Delivery 10c Extra.

Orders of $2.00 delivered free.

C.O.D. orders carefully filled.

Phones, 157 158. WALLBRIDGE AND CLARKE Corner St. 23 Bridge St. and 56 Forin St. Phone 443W Belleville

How Would YOU Solve this Man's Great Problem?

BELLE—Begins Tomorrow 2.30 7.15 9.15

FRIDAY — REVIVAL NIGHT — Following our regular performance you are invited to remain for MAURICE CHEVALIER and CLAUDETTE COLBERT in "THE SMILING LIEUTENANT" — No Extra Charge — Two Shows — One Price.

Tonight — "The Guardsman" LAUREL — HARDY in "Beau Hunks"

MON. TUES. WED. Four Great Stars Together in Romantic Triumph of 1932

Greta Garbo
RAMON NOVARRO
LIONEL BARRYMORE
in 'Mata Hari'

BOY TERRIBLY DOG MAULED

Rushed to Winnipeg But Little Hope For Recovery

Winnipeg, Feb. 24—A frantic race by dog-team across the frozen shores of Lake Winnipeg, which took three days and a half instead of three night, and a hurried train journey which ended here yesterday, dramatized the first heat in a dramatic race to save the life of a year-old James Boulanger. The little lad, his face horribly mutilated when attacked by huskies, was rushed into hospital by his father, in condition critical, but with a chance for life.

Last Thursday little "Jimmy", who lives at Berens River, on the east shore of Lake Winnipeg, arrived home suffering intense pain as the result of bites inflicted by a team of huskies. His head and neck were badly chewed. Realizing that hospital attention was imperative, his father, R. Boulanger, immediately harnessed his dogs and set out on medical assistance.

For three days and the better part of three nights the trail led over a 100-mile stretch of wind-swept Lake Winnipeg. The wind howled mercilessly from the north, but the dogs kept to the trail. Last night the little party reached Hodgson, where a waiting train rushed them to Winnipeg. Upon arrival here an ambulance sped the little fellow to hospital, where doctors say he has a chance.

The boy had been playing with the huskies when attacked. Suddenly the play turned to reality. Snarling and snapping, the beast, half wolf and hungry, crushed at the boy. Only the sudden appearance of his uncle, who rushed in with a club, saved the boy's life.

15,000 See And Enjoy Great Skating Spectacle

TORONTO, Feb. 24.—Skill that reached the highest flight of imagination, breathtaking beauty of costume and scene, a whirling mass of spectacles, pinnacled by amazing individual effort, made the opening of the Toronto Skating Club carnival "Kaleidoscope" in the Maple Leaf Gardens last night the finest entertainment upon ice ever seen in this city.

Carried through with unusual rapidity, each scene immediately unfolding upon the previous with but a momentary darkening of the lee between, the carnival's program grand finale caught the audience of 15,000 still anxiously awaiting more. The absence of an intermission was not even noticed in the beauty of the carnival, and perhaps aided in bringing it to a conclusion at only 10.45.

Although the club has never had as fine a background for its program as that afforded by the Garden, it has never had such fine talent to do the setting justice. And it has never had such an enormous crowd as that which jammed the gardens to the roof last night to see this, the most beautiful effort yet.

While the contributions of international artists aided immeasurably to the skill displayed, as for instance the marvellous performance of Karl Schafer of Austria, the perfection of the club's own carefully trained and conjured ballets such as had not been seen before. Silvers Lake.

Gleaming silver fairies flaxtipped in whirling fantasy upon unbelievably green ice, girls as dainty as flowers dancing with the ballet for a sun and long boat lines of golden-clad figures weaving patterns with the perfect swing of their skates; such were pictures painted by the players last night.

Before the carnival, opened, the setting of the gardens was arranged to hold a promise of what the program had to offer. Long before the first skater appeared, every seat was taken and standing room at a premium. The sea of faces flowed down to the centre of softly colored green ice over which the glow of the floodlights touched to a sea of silver sheen.

It was an opening worthy of the brilliance of the hundreds of figures who slid out while flickered to take their places upon the borders of the rink for the program.

First to bring prolonged applause was a quartette of green clad skaters who moved through intricate formation. Their performance was worthy of the title, Toronto Skating Club Canadian Championship Pour d'Argent.

Week on Parade

Then came the flashing black clad Montgomery Wilson twirling and spinning with remarkable ease to fast, called back again to receive the audience's acclaim, and followed by a Jazz ballet, Youth on Parade, which also received its share with a Louis Blues.

Ernest Baier of Germany, whirling in intricate turns, and welcomed later also by a round of applause that insisted upon his return, was followed up by one of the prettiest numbers upon the program, Velvet.

With a thin sheet of blue silk, the five girls in this seeming number played havoc with a rag balloon sun, with a skill that was almost unbelievable upon the treacherous ice. Miss Cecil Eustace Smith, premiere danseuse in this, made a beautiful picture as she floated down the ice holding high overhead the fluttering silk.

Telephone communication was established recently between Halifax and Mermuda.

A double chin's no fun if it's your chin . . .

By Julia Foster

WHEN massaging your skin don't rub the skin reducing hard and forth in a vain effort to remove unsightly fat. Instead, use a gentle, rotating motion. And PAT in order that any fat may be effective the pores must be receptive. That is why you should start on a thorough Palmolive Soap steaming first.

Added beauty also showing superb skin of all that goes into the making of Palmolive.

OLIVE OIL for the complexion! Always known to keep skin soft, supple, youthful. In thousands of years nothing has ever been found to surpass this beauty secret of the ancients. But can you get enough olive oil in soap? Well, actually, it is used in Palmolive? There is the exact amount—in that test tube at the right. The exact amount used in every cake of Palmolive. To this precious olive oil content we add the directly traced the great benefits of Palmolive Soap to the complexion.

Palmolive is the only large-selling soap made of vegetable oils exclusively—the only one using olive oil as a base. Other Palmolive ingredients are simply palm oil (a necessary to produce a richer, creamier, more workable lather than possible with olive oil alone.

Over 20,000 leading beauty experts say Palmolive Soap is the finest possible safeguard for lovely skin.

"Julia Foster visits hundreds of beauty shops, watches what women do and sees women in restaurants, clubs, theatres. Watch for her next beauty news.

PALMOLIVE

KEEP THAT SCHOOLGIRL COMPLEXION

S133

A JOYFUL JILT

By ELLSWORTH DAVIS

Patricia should have been warned by her growing interest in David. A letter from John Deming, her fiance—the first message in three months—lay unopened on the hall table. David had arrived on the heels of the postman and Patricia had gone into the rose garden with David, having decided that the letter could wait until later.

All signs pointed to caution, yet Patricia was sitting with David on a bench in the white-trellised summerhouse. A silvery June moon dropped its white radiance through the tangle of crimson roses and branches over their heads and traced bizarre patterns on the floor. Patricia was aware of a dreamy languor, her eyes were softly luminous and she was hypnotically moved closer to David until her shoulder pressed against his right arm which had been carelessly draped across the back of the seat. It seemed natural and inevitable that the man should encircle her—and that she should respond to David's kisses.

"No— no — you mustn't" she protested weakly; then in answer to her growing sense of disloyalty she pushed David away.

"Sorry, Patty—dearest," was the husky response.

Patricia looked through a mist of tears straight ahead of her, rebellously aware that it was David and not John whom she loved. During John's absence he had grown into a shadow figure—an indistinct memory of a lover. It had taken David's kisses to awaken a flaming response in her and a realization of a love that was more than a dream that must be denied.

David broke the silence.

"I'm sorry that I violated my trust Patty. The big fourflusher forgot decency at the start—but I can't be contemptible. I love you and I've learned to love."

"It wasn't your fault, David. We shouldn't have seen so much of each other."

"I suppose not. It all goes to show that Nature abhors a platonic friendship and that a charming woman is a potential danger," countered David bitterly. "But Patty you can't marry John if you don't love him."

"I must, David. When John went away I promised I'd marry him when he returned. You wouldn't want me to be a slacker?"

"Darling—that is the worry"

"David, please don't be bitter," pleaded the girl. "Of course you weren't a slacker. Everyone knows that it took more courage to stay at home and take care of your mother. You did not have to enlist to be reasonable. Think of John lying wounded in the hospital—expecting to marry me when he returns. I couldn't violate his faith, and after all I do like John."

"But you don't love him, Patty. Honestly I don't intend to make it harder for you. . . . It isn't fair for me to take advantage of John's absence."

They arose from the bench and David looked down at the slender, sunny-haired girl who had grown dear to him.

"We hadn't better see each other again, Patty," he said unsteadily. "But remember that I'll always love you."

He turned quickly and strode quickly down the garden path, leaving Patricia conscious of an aching void where her heart should have been. She watched his tall figure pass into the shadows at the end of the path, heard the ornamental iron gate open and close, and he was gone.

The girl walked slowly into the house and went to bed. Hours later she was still lying sleepless, staring dully at a patch of moonlight which made a silver splash on the floor from the window. The perfume-laden breeze from the garden was a poignant reminder of her loss —and of that afternoon moment when she had answered David's kisses. She felt as if she with David would have been a wonderfully sweet adventure, but what would it be like with a man whom she didn't love?

She wondered what she meant to John. That day at the station they had seemed so attractive, romantic figure. The uniform had transformed him from a humdrum salesman of automobiles into a conquering hero The station was draped with flags and bunting and bands had been playing. In that hysterical, glamorous moment of parting, John had asked her to wait for him—and she had promised.

The day the regiment had left for training camp Patricia had pitied David. There had been such a wistful look in his eyes when the train pulled out. David's mother was frail and needed the salary which he earned as assistant cashier in a bank. Patricia had known David since childhood and hadn't disloyal to John while in David's company.

The girl tossed restlessly and tried to dismiss the entire matter from her mind in an attempt to woo the sleep which eluded her. She counted black sheep jumping the fence, but in vain. Then "I must cross a bridge until you come to it" she thought irritably. She recognized the maxim changed into an admonition by certain well-meaning "bridges to cross", which beal in her thoughts with a new significance since that she finally did drift off to sleep.

Morning brought a fresh realization of her problem and a dreary sense of defeat. Patricia had crossed her Rubicon and although her conscience told John would forever be a barrier to happiness it would be final. She was so moody and preoccupied at the breakfast table that her mother exclaimed:

"What is the matter, child? You look like a ghost. Why you haven't even read John's letter that arrived yesterday."

Patricia started guiltily, arose and went into the hall for the letter. She had entirely forgotten! She looked at the envelope much in the way that a prisoner would survey his death warrant and reluctantly tore it open.

It was a hasty, somewhat apologetic note scrawled in lead pencil. Unbelievingly, the girl re-read the last paragraph:

As for me, I've fallen in love with a nurse here in the hospital. She is a good scout, Patty—let me go and explain things back home.

"Affectionately,

"JOHN"

Patricia chuckled happily, dropped the letter and ran to the telphone.

NEED BETTER RELIEF PLAN

Social Work and Relief Are at Different Stages of Development

Toronto, Ont. (By The Canadian Press)—The need for a better relief plan and "treatment" than existed at the present time is stressed in summary of unemployment relief measures in leading Canadian cities, issued by the Canadian council on child and family welfare.

Social work and relief are at very different stages of development in different parts of Canada, the report points out. And the pity of the whole situation is described as "the greater in that the whole great misery should be fundamentally unnecessary—idleness, poverty and suffering in our city streets and many communities, with wheat elevators overflowing and warehouses filled with unsalable goods—the weight of plenty oppressing us into want because we have not learned the secret of effective control and adequate distribution of our own genius of production. . . .

"But just as money and interest alone 'poured into distributive undertakings would have been of but partial effect, so the mere generous outpouring of relief and assistance will not relieve, out of existence, the ills of unemployment." Here, too, relief it is pointed out, cannot sustain the character and morale in these times of need.

Unemployment insurance — a question which has been argued and studied by governments as a means of curbing the whole situation—is but one part of a comprehensive programme, the report suggests. This programme must supplement existing facilities, be coordinated and dependent, and the social needs of the insured, as the situation becomes more apparent "so does the fact that a large measure of the problem is not emergency in its nature, but wears a permanent aspect that traditional has been met by provincial or municipal effort, public or private. This imposed upon us the obligation of developing a truly national attitude towards the whole question of social welfare to the end that the programme of social assistance may be conceived as a whole and carried out in recognized rather than haphazard parts, as the respective responsibilities of the different parties thereto.

"The high hearts of courageous spirit with which the unemployed themselves have faced a two year struggle with the heartbreaking devotion, with which the organized social agencies, public and private, have endeavored to minister to them, have held the trenches of law, order and peaceful government in this land as truly as ever those greater than these have bravely for democracy throughout the four war years," the report concluded.

Ideal Conditions For Assault on Record

Daytona Beach, Fla., Feb. 24.—Ideal weather conditions here today for the proposed assault by Sir Malcolm Campbell, British speed king, on his own world's automobile speed record of 345 miles an hour.

The sky was cloudless and a brisk northeast wind, which had blown at an intensity of 40 miles an hour the mile beach course for two days, diminished today to add to the ideal conditions.

Sir Malcolm was prevented from making an inspection of the beach until shortly after noon by a high tide. But he said he would have his 12-cylinder racing car on the course at two o'clock. Zero hour arrived at 3:25 p.m., but he planned to be ready to race shortly after the two o'clock if he found the beach in good condition.

WEATHER NORMAL FOR THIS SEASON

The mercury registered exactly one point lower than normal in Brantford yesterday. Yesterday's temperatures were 39 high and 20 low. The temperatures today were slightly lowered when the mercury dropped to 38 at 8 o'clock this morning but registered 21 at noon. There is little prospect of drop in temperature considerable so has been made in this district in the next few days, the present weather conditions are about normal for this time of year.

COLDS

Cold infection begins within the system, multiplies and later produces the symptoms which show up in head, nose, throat, chest and in feverish condition.

This infection must be destroyed and eliminated from system.

There is nothing so effective for colds as the germ-destroying and tonic properties of Quinine combined with a gentle laxative, as in

LAXATIVE

BROMO QUININE

CODE FOR THE SIGNATURE of E. W. Grove

Price 30c

Paris Medicine Co., Toronto

Alleged Converted Funds to Own Use

London, Ont., Feb. 24 (By The Canadian Press) — Frederick G. Raymond, assignee, was charged in police court today with converting $12,240 of trust funds to his own use. It is alleged that eight estates placed in the hands of the 72-year-old assignee were involved in the alleged conversion of funds.

He was released on the sum of $12,000 for hearing in eight days.

COAT AND MITTS FOUND AT FALLS

Niagara Falls, Ont., Feb. 24—Police today are investigating the disappearance of Andrew Mancuso, 34, whose coat and mitts were found on the brink of the Horseshoe Falls. He has been missing since Monday night.

Mrs. Mancuso has been seriously ill and collapsed on learning the coal had been found.

GERMANY SOON TO BE WHEAT BUYER

Ottawa, Ont., Feb. 24 (Can. Press) Cables from Italy, Germany and Russia today brought encouraging news from a Canadian standpoint in regard to the wheat situation. Italy is allowing its millers to use 15 per cent. of foreign wheat beginning March 1. Germany is soon to be a buyer of wheat again. Meanwhile from Russia comes word of contentment for seeding purposes in the Volga, Siberia and Kayakstan areas.

BUFFALO MARKET

East Buffalo, N.Y., Feb. 24.—Hogs 2,800; market slow; weak to 10 under Tuesday's average; 160-210 lbs. 4.65; 220-340 lbs. 4.40-4.60 lbs. 4.35; weights below 150 lbs. 3.75 to 4.35.

Cattle 150; cows predominating; steady; cutter grades, 1.50 to 2.75; few medium steers 5.50 to 6.25.

Calves 175; vealers, dragpy; weak to 50 lower; mostly 6.00 down; atemable lots firmly held at 6.50; common and medium, 5.50 to 7.00.

Sheep 1,000; active; strong to 15 higher; bulk good to choice woolskins, 7.00; some held 7.25; few 100 lbs. 6.50; common and medium were scarce; 5.00 to 6.50.

Capital to the extent of at least $110,000,000 was expended in the development, transmission and distribution of water power actually brought into use in Canada during 1931.

Individual Animal Moulds Free

The newest, gayest novelties for making party sweets. Four packages and a mould in carton. Price 25 cents. YOU pay no more for the jelly. We give you the mould. 2C

McLAREN'S INVINCIBLE JELLY POWDERS

DOMINION STORES LIMITED

THE STORES THAT SAVE YOU MONEY

THE modern household demands wholesome, nourishing foods, and the housewife who, unless circumstances demand it, tries to satisfy her family with foods of lower quality or who uses less food in an endeavor to save money is merely "robbing Peter to pay Paul."

Thousands of Canadian women have learned to shop the "Dominion" way, happy in the knowledge that they are purchasing only the best—the most wholesome and the most tasty foods at prices as reasonable as is consistent with the quality.

We invite you to join this army of satisfied customers this week-end. Your table and your purse will appreciate the change.

BULK

Macaroni AND Spaghetti

4 lbs. 25¢

P & G SOAP 10 BARS 33¢

WESTON'S BISCUITS 27¢

A Delightful Assortment of 12 Varieties in Sealed Wax-tite Sanitary Packages. 1-LB PKG.

PARISIEN PACKAGE

DELICIOUS

CHICKEN HADDIE

2 tins 25¢

SWEET, MEATY, MED. SIZE

Prunes

YOUR DOCTOR RECOMMENDS THEM

3 lbs. 25¢

Brunswick Sardines ..... Tin 5c
Red River Cereal ..... Pkg. 19c
Red Coboe Salmon ..... 1-lb. Tin 25c
White Beans ..... 2 lbs. 5c
Corn Syrup ..... Crown or Beehive 34c
Pancake Flour Aunt Jemima Pkg. 17c
Hawes Lemon Oil ..... Bot. 23c
S. O. S. 4-Pad Pkg. 14c 6-Pad Pkg. 23c

CRISCO IT'S PURE 1-LB. TIN 25c

GOOD QUALITY

48-OZ. JAM

JAM

RASPBERRY STRAWBERRY BLACK CURRANT

29¢

DOMINO BRAND Baking Powder 15¢ LB.

SOAP CHIPS 4 LGE. PKGS. 25¢

Fine Flakes of Pure Soap. Dissolve Easily and Quickly.

DOMINION

TEAS

A Price for Every Purse and a Tea for Every Taste.

RED PACKAGE ..... lb. 39c
DOMINO ..... lb. 49c
RICHMELLO ..... lb. 63c
GOLDEN TIP ..... lb. 75c

DOMINION

COFFEES

Taste Good and Are Good

DOMINO ..... 1-lb. Pkg. 29c
RICHMELLO ..... 1-lb. Tin 45c

Ginger Cakes 2 FOR 25¢

Meat Department Week-End Specials

Where Your Money Goes Farthest

Short Ribs Roasts Beef lb. 14c

Blade Roast Beef lb. 12c

Rib Stew Choice 3 lbs. for 25c

Chuck or Shoulder Roasts lb. 9c

H. A. Weiners 2 lbs. for 25c

Fresh Pork Hams 13c
Fresh Loin Pork 12c
Shldr. Pork or Side Pork 9c
Loins Veal Roast or Rolled Veal Rst. 17c
Rump Rst. Veal or Leg Rst. 20c

New Season's Fresh Vegetables

Green Onions, 2 bchs. 5c
Texas Carrots, bch. 10c
Texas Beets, 2 bchs. 25c
Celery Hearts, bundle 23c
Choice Heads Celery, 2 for 25c
Fresh Crisp Spinach, 2 lbs. 17c
Choice Mushrooms, lb. 39c
Strawberry Rhubarb, 2 bchs. 15c
Large Head Lettuce, 2 for 15c
Medium Head Lettuce, 2 for 15c
Choice Tomatoes, lb. 19c
Green Peppers, Cucumbers, Etc.

Finnan Haddies or Silver Bright Salmon 2 lbs. 25¢

Phone 2210 170 Front St.

Free Delivery on All Meat Orders

Phone 288 215 Front St.

Our Beef Government Inspected for Your Protection

HIGHEST PRICES PAID FOR EGGS AT ALL DOMINION STORES

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER

THE DAILY ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER is published every afternoon (Sunday and holidays excepted) at The Ontario Intelligencer Building.

RATES—DAILY EDITION—
Single, delivered to city $7.20
Year, by mail to rural offices $5.00
Year, to U. S. A. $5.00
W. S. MORTON, Publisher.

WALKS ALONG HIGHWAYS

A minister at the funeral of two sisters who lost their lives while walking on the Niagara highway referred to the absence of pedestrian paths alongside the highways. The cost question has always been given as the obstacle to this undertaking.

But the old roads where there were not walks were useful as paths well as highways. The new highways are not walking grounds for they are really too dangerous, though many persons are compelled to use them for short distances. Many old paths were taken out by the Department of Highways to make way for the highway and to use the roads as far as they are the Front of Sidney to see how the old pedestrian walks were gouged out to make a ditch for draining or to provide material with which to build up the highway. There used to be a walk as far west as the Belleville Cemetery and in other places but today part of the way the highway has to be used. That should not be.

These are recovery days, convalescent days and it is a fit time for people to recover the use of their legs, which so many have lost because of the motorcar. Anything which will stimulate walking even if it means the expenditure of money to build walks is worth while. The walks should be provided which will take a man and where there were no walks the highway department should add them because highway appropriations do rise.

It will be done some day. If not now while it will do the present generation some good not when it will be needed, but be costly, a path level enough to walk on will suffice if nothing more expensive can be provided.

THOMAS H. COPPIN

Thomas H. Coppin, whose death occurred rather suddenly at his home on Saturday, was a fine official who had been brought into closest touch with the trade of Belleville as agent of the Grand Trunk Railway and Canadian National Railways. His duties in connection with his office brought him into intimate relationship with the Belleville manufacturers, jobbers, and retailers and in this manner he was enabled to offer real service to Belleville.

His loss is particularly felt among railway men who have known him for over a generation. His knowledge of railway work was complete and he was able to render invaluable service to the railway and in employment of responsibility he stood for the advancement of his associates with the system he never spared himself.

His influence was not confined to his railway interests only but touched practically every phase of life in the city in which he lived. He was a prominent member of the church and he was one who followed his high principles of life. He not of the sterling type of character which is so marked a characteristic of those who come from the land where he was born, England.

As a business man who filled a difficult position with extreme success and as a citizen he stood out as active life and is deeply mourned.

IS THERE A DOG POISONER?

If a dog poisoner is at work in east Belleville, the sooner he is caught or frightened out of his dastardly mood, the better for the peace of mind of people and particularly of the owners of dogs.

To lay out poison where it may be eaten by dogs or cats, and even animals is also to place it possibly within reach of children and others and for that reason, is regarded by many as the act as a very serious infraction of the code.

If the sufferings of innocent dogs which there is no harm if poisoned at the year, if the fear of detection and branding as the perpetrator of a dastardly act, if the scorn of his fellow citizens do not make such a man wilt in his nefarious practice, then the possibility that poison might get into the hands of children or otherwise lead to disastrous consequences ought to make him call a halt in the deadly work.

Those who have lost dogs believe these are poison victims, though some people think there might be a possibility of the animal having eaten of poisoned food, though such is believed to be extremely unlikely at this season of the year.

Again, if a poisoner is at work, he knows that only darkness and secrecy shield him, for he would not dare to come boldly and let himself be known as one who wantonly and indiscriminately puts out poison for any dog that happens to come along. He is a coward and can be called a coward but that is the name which fits anyone who would vent his spleen against the dog creation in this way. In addition he is an offender under the law.

Rastus's lawyer was informing him on the legal status of his matrimonial relationship and his chances for a divorce:

"Mistuh Johnson, I has discovered I can get you yo' divorce on the grounds that yo' marriage ain't legal on account of her father, he had no licence to carry a gun."

SIDELIGHTS
GRAVE and GAY
Supervised by The Lamplighter

WAGES

By Aline Michaelis

One man may ask a wage
Of wealth or fame
Or honors to assuage
Life's idle game.
While one may hope to find
His days will be
Always serene and kind,
From troubles free.

But this the wage I ask:
When I am through
With weary toil and task,
To come to you.
To find you waiting here
By my hearth fire.
This is my wage most dear,
My heart's desire.

This is the wage I ask:
No gold, no praise,
But, after toil and task,
Your love always.

x x x x

MEET LOUIS E. BISCH, M.D., Ph.D., right in the next column south, in good company, are we not? Mentioned his daily setting in the other column, the readers of this corner could get acquainted with him. He is an authority on health and psychology and has a whole lot of whole some philosophy with which he seasons his articles, besides giving a valuable health hint every day. Say Dr. Bisch in a recent article: "Make a double-column list of your achievements. On one side mark down all those which came easily and without effort, through a lucky circumstance. On the other side enumerate those achievements which took time, effort, courage, or all three—and which column of performance has given you the greatest joy? The real zest, the unbelievable gratification is not only come from something well done . . . the less effort put forth in any accomplishment, the less the joy value to be derived therefrom." Hence he urges joy lies in effort. Being neighbors I thought we should know each other better, and that includes the whole Sidelight family. In fact, I am just beginning to know Dr. Bisch and to appreciate him, because he just came and stacked up against this column without any brass band or fire works to announce his coming, so that needs a bit of cheering. One can't be with all one's people, and

B. C. I. Practically Cinch Group Title by 5-2 Win

Defeat Tweed in One of Best School League Games in Years

STRONG OPPOSITION

Bill Sherry's Return to Lineup Gives Students Added Confidence

Staging a belated rally the Belleville Collegiate hockey team came to life and defeated the Tweed "Collegians" by the score of 5 to 2 on the local Arena last night. The locals were strengthened by the acquisition of Bill Sherry, who came out of retirement, to add considerable moral strength to the "Student" cause. Pete Goyer came into his own last night, when he turned in the best game of his career and Doug. Pollard and Ebbie played their usual steady game but did not figure in the scoring column as often as they should have done. Ross Shaw and Ellis have had a world of experience in the junior O.H.A. ranks, but Ellis Strech and Ted Pollard all gave a good account of themselves but owing to the greater experience of the visitors were used quite sparingly.

Sherry in Nets Starred

For the visitors Sherry in the nets, turned in a magnificent exhibition of the game twine, behind him. This boy, time and again rose to heights to stave off certain defeat for the rivals of the locals. La Fontaine, the bad man of the Tweed forward line, Morgan Arber presented a fair defence and had the locals constantly "outlocked" during the first stanza. C. Rashotte at centre and Tweed Terry were the stand-outs for Tweed with Ryan and Merwa a close second. McCuller, C. Rashotte and Sherry all turned in a creditable game but could not stand the fast pace set by the other players.

McGee is Lead

Last night's win puts the local Collegiate team one game ahead of the Tweed aggregation and if they win their remaining game vs. the O.D.D. Rockets on Friday, they will have annexed the group honors once more.

The Play

Play opened fast with both teams trying to burge their way through the opposing defence. "Bill Collet" had a little better of the play, as the acquisition of Bill Sherry added a perfect mesh circle for the better. Shortly after play opened Pete Goyer and Ross Merwa were ruled off, but even when the visitors were shorn of the rest the locals could not seem to beat Sherry, who was in top form time and time again. Pete Goyer sailed in only to be beaten by the good work of Sherry, who with goalie clame out and both players piled up in the corner of the net. About mid-way through the period C. Rashotle lifted one from outside of Belleville's defence and the "rubber" rolled into the corner past Hinton's stick. Scoring victory, the visitors came to life and literally out-played the locals for the remainder minutes. C. Morgan and Sherry exhibited some fine work as Tweed once only to be beaten by Sherry. Tweed were on the defensive during the final minutes of the frame and had Sherry to thank for the fact the visitors as it gave "Shud" Ebbie and Hinton another chance to make their way through the entire Tweed team to beat Sherry for the tying counter. This was the fourth goal straight goal that Ebbie had scored against the Tweed aggregation as he bagged all three goals against the "Northernors" in Tweed. The period ended a tie, one all.

2nd Period

Both teams were a bit cautious in the opening of the second frame and the hockey dished up for the first five minutes was nothing "to write home about." Ebbie carried the puck through to the goal-mouth but could not get into position to shoot and did not attempt to pass with the result, that Sherry grabbed the loose disc and saved the situation. After considerable play on the part of both forward lines Bill Sherry carried the puck the length of the ice, passed to Pete Goyer, who put the locals into the lead, when he beat Sherry from close in. Shortly afterwards Carl Morgan and Jimmie McGuire combined the length of the ice to beat Sherry making the score 3 to 1 for Belleville. The period ended with Tweed trying even time and time, but when the bell rang the score stood 3 to 1.

3rd Period

Tweed opened the third period by forcing the play but Hinton was equal to the occasion when his teammates came to his rescue. Then Ebbie Sherry and Ebbie made a sensational end to end rushes to beat Sherry but make the score 4 to 1 for the home team. Tweed realized that, time was slowly slipping from out of their grasp used every effort on the offensive to try and even-the count. With four men up Carl Morgan and Bill Sherry worked their way and having only one defenceman and the goal tender to beat, made the score 5 to 1 for Belleville, when Morgan picked the upper right hand corner of the net to beat Sherry. Play became a little disorganized when the Tweed team moved intact, on the offensive but were unable to get the puck and even-the count. With four men up Carl Morgan and Bill Sherry worked their way and having only one defenceman and the goal tender to beat, made the score 5 to 1 for Belleville, when Morgan picked the upper right hand corner of the net to beat Sherry. Play became a little disorganized when the Tweed team moved intact, on the offensive but were unable to get the puck and even-the count. With four men up Carl Morgan and Bill Sherry worked their way through the entire Tweed team to beat Sherry for the tying counter. This was the fourth goal straight goal that Ebbie had scored against the Tweed aggregation as he bagged all three goals against the "Northernors" in Tweed. The period ended a tie, one all.

Final Period

Both teams were a bit cautious in the opening of the second frame and the hockey dished up for the first five minutes was nothing "to write home about." Ebbie carried the puck through to the goal-mouth but could not get into position to shoot and did not attempt to pass with the result, that Sherry grabbed the loose disc and saved the situation. After considerable play on the part of both forward lines Bill Sherry carried the puck the length of the ice, passed to Pete Goyer, who put the locals into the lead, when he beat Sherry from close in. Shortly afterwards Carl Morgan and Jimmie McGuire combined the length of the ice to beat Sherry making the score 3 to 1 for Belleville. The period ended with Tweed trying even time and time, but when the bell rang the score stood 3 to 1.

3rd Period

Tweed opened the third period by forcing the play but Hinton was equal to the occasion when his teammates came to his rescue. Then Ebbie Sherry and Ebbie made a sensational end to end rushes to beat Sherry but make the score 4 to 1 for the home team. Tweed realized that, time was slowly slipping from out of their grasp used every effort on the offensive to try and even-the count. With four men up Carl Morgan and Bill Sherry worked their way and having only one defenceman and the goal tender to beat, made the score 5 to 1 for Belleville, when Morgan picked the upper right hand corner of the net to beat Sherry. Play became a little disorganized when the Tweed team moved intact, on the offensive but were unable to get the puck and even-the count. With four men up Carl Morgan and Bill Sherry worked their way through the entire Tweed team to beat Sherry for the tying counter. This was the fourth goal straight goal that Ebbie had scored against the Tweed aggregation as he bagged all three goals against the "Northernors" in Tweed. The period ended a tie, one all.

Second Period

Both teams were a bit cautious in the opening of the second frame and the hockey dished up for the first five minutes was nothing "to write home about." Ebbie carried the puck through to the goal-mouth but could not get into position to shoot and did not attempt to pass with the result, that Sherry grabbed the loose disc and saved the situation. After considerable play on the part of both forward lines Bill Sherry carried the puck the

ARENA

THURSDAY

2.30—5.00—Public Skating

8.00—11.00—Public Skating

FRIDAY—Supper Night

CARNIVAL

Prizes for Jacing and Fancy Dressing

Admission 35c and 25c

Band in Attendance

25% OFF ALL OVERCOATS at

CHAS. J. SYMONS

Men's Store 396 Front St.

GROVE SCHOOL OF LAKEFIELD ARE WINNERS

Juniors Defeat St. Albans of Brockville By Score of 11-0

GAMES GOOD

Senior Tussel Won By Lakefield Team 1-0 in Snappy Game

Making their annual pilgrimage to Belleville the junior and senior hockey team from St. Alban's School in Brockville battled the teams from The Grove School in Lakefield at the local arena, yesterday afternoon. These two schools battle for the "prey" school championship of this section each year here in Belleville and yesterday afternoon the Lakefield boys showed their superior ability by winning both the junior and the senior fixtures from their rivals of "down east". The Grove seniors won a well earned game from St. Alban's by the score of 1 to 0 after sixty minutes of gruelling hockey The junior game was rather one sided, when The Grove juniors romped home with the long end of the score of 7 to 0 over the Brockville "student".

Opening Game Fast.

In the opening game, the senior tilt, both teams appeared on the ice with nice white uniforms, The Grove in red and white trimmed with green and red, while St. Alban's boys were attired in white with red trimmings were so scant that it was quite difficult to distinguish one player from another. Until the spectators became acquainted with the various members of the white background. In the senior game only two players from last year's team went to McRae of The Grove team, when they journeyed to Lakefield to send rushes over seen locally when he beat the entire St. Alban's team late in the second period. The veterans, Lakefield, presented a well-coached team of veteran players and although they were much smaller than their opponents but did not seem to be bothered with nearly as much interest as their rivals until late in the final period, when it was too late to undo the damage. McRae at centre and Hall art on left wing were the stars for The Grove school boys, while Grant was the best player on the fighting for the St. Alban's lads. Had not Grant turned in such a fine performance of goal tending for his team, the score would have mounted into the double column of figures in favor of The Grove boys. The first period was a little better than good. Thom and Hutchison also played well for the Brockville aggregation and starred for The Grove lads. The line-ups for the senior game:

St. Alban's—Goal, Grant; defence, Hutchison and Thom; centre, Thom; wings, Hugman and Cooper; sub'ys.

The Grove, Lakefield—Goal, Disney; defence, Wright and Anderson; centre, McRae; wings, Hall and Stuart; subs, Sagg and Gunn.

Referee—Jack Trunlech, Belleville.

Second Game.

The second junior game started as though it was going to be a repetition of its predecessor, but shortly after the first period started Disney broke away and scored goal number one for Lakefield. Wood, Dench and McGill all scored in quick succession and the score was five to for The Grove before the spectators realized it. In the second frame McGill, Alward and Hepburn all bagged a goal making the score 7 to 0 at the end of the second frame. There was no scoring in the final stanza and the game ended by The Grove taking home both ends of the double header. To pick a star in the second game would be out of the question as The Grove boys presented a well coached team and played the almost perfect combination. In this game, as in the former, The Grove boys were out-weighed considerably, but their speed and hockey ability completely out-shone their rivals from Brockville.

The line-ups for the junior game were:

Lakefield—Goal, Harris; defence, Wood and Disney; centre, Dench; wings, McGill and Alwood; subs, Fletcher, Hepburn and Findlay.

St. Alban's — Goal, Johnson; defence, Gurd and Sheppard; centre, Foy; wings, Wilmont and Jay; subs, Price, McKenzie and McClenahan.

Referee—Jack Trunlech, Belleville.

Summary of junior game:

—First Period—

Grove (Disney)	4.00
Grove (Wood)	30
Grove (Dench)	5.00
Grove (McGill)	5.00
Penalties—Gurd.

—Second Period—

Grove (McGill)	4.00
Grove (Alwood)	2.40
Grove (Hepburn)	1.30
Penalties—Sheppard.

—Third Period—

No score.

Penalties—Sheppard and Jay.

ASTOUNDED FOLLOWERS

Toronto, Feb. 25 (CP)—The crippled Cleveland Indians astounded International Hockey League followers last night when they stepped into Windsor and banged Herbie Mitchell's highly touted Bulldogs 4 to 1 lacing. The victory boosted the Indians out of the league cellar and left them in undisputed possession of fifth place, two and a half games in the rear of Detroit Olympics.

Current Sport

By The Observer

Virtually speaking the R.C.I. "wonder" romped into winner's position of the local intermediate hockey group by scoring over the Tweed High school "rookies" on Wednesday evening by the score of 3 to 1 score indicates the play, as the locals had it over the visitors like the proverbial tent. With the world of experience that the local "wonders" have behind them they should have beaten the "northerners" twice as bad as they did. Young Hinton is the note for the "students" is the find of the season. If this lad keeps his head he will surely make a name for himself in hockey circles this season.

* * *

Pete Goyer came into his own last night when he out-shone his team mates in every respect. The veteran forward from the high school ranks showed that he still has the old time ability of how to play the board position that has won for him Belleville this year. The locals seem to be strong on defence and added help of Bill Sherry on the defence. Bill can play the game with the best of them. He is no desires, and demonstrated this fact last night on the ice three nice solo efforts. All the "students" have to do is to learn from the lowly O.S.D. aggregation to annex the league honors. They will meet on Friday afternoon, we understand.

* * *

A goodly crowd turned out to see the Lakefield-St. Alban's double-header at the arena yesterday afternoon. The students from The Grove School Lakefield, presented two well balanced teams, but it is said that a few of Belleville's star hockey players had journeyed to the rink to see the excellent exhibition of combination hockey the Grove youngsters. Although they were tender in years they more than make up for it in knowledge with their speed and hockey ability.

* * *

There is considerable controversy about town as to the advisability of entering three teams from Belleville into the newly formed Intermediate District Hockey League. There are five teams in the league already from Belleville, but if the "Bears" don't have a team to take the place on the ice they should be allowed to play as the way they were admitted at the inaugural of the loop on Monday night.

* * *

The management of the R.A. A. hockey team announced last night that they would enter a team like "A" section of the newly formed Belleville and District League. The locals should be able to give the new league organization of "pucksters" to represent Belleville in the junior season loop. Group "B" is already to fast for the senior while group "A" has but three entries to date. The league will start operations next Monday night at the arena. The four teams to open the league have not been announced as yet, but will be as soon as the entry club is secured for group "A".

* * *

Nothing has been heard from the camp of the newly formed softball executive of late. They had better soon get going on a spring ball league or the season will be next summer, "Dame Rumour" has another baseball team in town. We don't know just who is going to play but it is understand that it is a certainty. I begins to look as though Belleville will have a city and district baseball league but no place to play.

* * *

All final arrangements have been completed for the big ice carnival on Friday night. Entries are coming in fast and every lay for the ice races and it is expected that a big number of skaters in costume will be on hand to compete for the various prizes.

* * *

The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association will be asked to decide whether the Soviet Canada is to be represented at the next Olympic hockey games, by an all-star Canadian hockey team, or by the champion of the Allan Cup in 1935. All sports' editors in Canada seem to be in favor of the all-star team. With the ever-increasing competition by the other countries interested in hockey it is about time that some thing was done to strengthen Canada's hold on the amateur hockey championship of the world. Bill Hewitt, secretary of the O.H.A., is in favor of the Allan Cup championship and has signed up a bit and sent to the next Olympic hockey games. Of course there is much to be said in favor of both plans.

* * *

John McGraw is all smiles now after signing Bill Terry the other day. "Old Muggy" says thinks that Terry is one swell ball player. He is not far off at that. Even Tyrus Raymond (Ty) Cobb is thinking of staging a comeback into the major leagues. Not not as a player, merely as a magnate. He is endeavoring to purchase controlling interest of the Cincinnati "Reds."

BLACK HAWKS TIGHTEN GRIP

Defeat Up-and-Coming Maroons 3-1 in Dashing Display

Toronto, Ont., Feb. 25 (CP) Chicago Black Hawks tightened their grip on second place in the American group of the National Hockey League last night with a sensational 3- triumph over the up-and-coming Montreal Maroons. By virtue of their victory, the Hawks advanced to within eight points of the pace-setting New York Rangers and today hold a margin of three and four points respectively over the pursuing Detroit and Boston Clubs.

Gaining a two-goal margin in the first ten minutes of play, Chicago managed to hold the Montreal snipers to a single counter mid-way through the middle period while they added their third goal in the closing minutes of the battle while the Maroons were pressing hard for the tying goal.

24th Selection

Following is the 24th of a Canadian Press series of Canadian all-star team selections by editors in N.H.L. cities. A consensus will be printed later.

By Jim Hurley, Daily Mirror, N.Y. Americans—Hainsworth, Montreal, defence, S. Maritha, Canadiens; defence, Clancy, Toronto; centre, Morenz, Canadiens; right wing, W. Cook, Rangers; left wing, Seibert, Maroons; coach, Patrick, Rangers.

Coal—Chabot, Montreal; defence, Dutton, Americans; defence, Clancy, Toronto; centre, Primeau, Toronto; right wing, Conacher, Toronto; left wing, F. Cook, Rangers; coach, Hart, Canadiens.

Hockey Results

National League

Chicago 3; Maroons 1.

American League

Cleveland 5; Windsor 1.

Canadian-American League

Philadelphia 2; Providence 2.

overtime.

American League

Kansas City 3; Tulsa 2.

O.H.A. Intermediate

Gravenhurst 3; Coldwater 1.

Gravenhurst won total 4-3.

Port Colborne 2; Dunnville 1.

O.H.A. Senior Flyers

Newmarket 7; North Toronto 0.

Stratford 4; Kitchener 2.

Hamilton Vics 8; Preston 1.

O.H.A. Flyers

Falconbridge 4; Soo Greyhounds 1

Falconbridge wins round 6-2.

KI-Y League

Belleville KI-Y Juveniles, winners over the Kingston Juveniles, journey to Napanee tonight, where they will play the first game of a home and home series, with goal to count. Napanee Juveniles. The Napanee team are under the management of Cecil Wells and Ted Watts and have been practising together for the past month. The locals are confident that they will be able to annex the Napanee team as they have defeated the Kingston team by an aggregate score of 7 to 3 in two games. The Napanee game will be played in Napanee, Belleville on Tuesday evening.

CURLING

"Bob" Wray with an almost hand picked team, is expected to be entering the spoon competition at the Belleville curling club, when the draw for prizes and the players were loathe to leave at 6 o'clock last night. Last, if one had the weight, it was glorious sport. The boys are practising hard for the prizes, but more curling and it was not uncommon to see the curlers on the ice at 11 o'clock.

"Davey" Davison and Dr. Day had a battle royal, Davison winning by two shots after handicap deducted.

Walter Belair and "Jack" McPeake tied in the regular game but Belair added a few points for handicap.

Dr. Hugh Ponton curlers of three rinks journey to Kingston to play the return game for the trophy. The Belleville Club has a 15 point margin and hope that is sufficient to bring home the bacon. The scores last night were:

W. Wright	G. Wright
C. D. Tice	J. Cunningham
W. H. Gerrie	J. Gerrie
J. W. Davison	Dr. Day
(Skip) 19	(Skip) 9
J. O. R. McCurdy	Dr. Seymour
C. A. Ackaw	Glen Elliott
J. G. Calloway	H. Williams
R. J. Wray	C. J. Symons
(Skip) 10	(Skip) 8
R. Little	M. Hirgingbotham
G. Houston	R. J. S. Bowie
C. J. Burley	W. H. Bottum
W. N. Reid	J. A. McFge.
(Skip) 14	(Skip) 10

DENIED NEW TRIAL

Phoenix, Ariz., Feb. 25 (AP).—Winnie Ruth Judd, convicted slayer of Agnes Anne Leroi, was denied a new trial yesterday in Superior Court, and Judge Howard C. Speakman sentenced her to be hanged.

May 11 was fixed as the date for execution.

DEBATE HELD AT WALLBRIDGE

Affirmative Side is Successful Before Judges

A very pleasant evening was spent in the hall by Wallbridge United Church organization on Friday, February 19th. The entertaining feature of the program was a debate: "Resolved that the tidy high tempered wife is preferred to the untidy good-natured wife." The affirmative debaters were Mr. Geo. Pollard and Mr. J. V. Redmond while Mr. E. Hinchcliffe and Mr. F. Sherratt did justice to the negative side. The affirmative argued that neatness, thrift, attractiveness in home and personal appearance, discipline of children, etc., are virtues as de-picted: "Resolved that the tidy high-tempered wife, while the negative side brought out fine characteristics in favor of the untidy good-natured wife, such as happy disposition, a good-natured wife brings out the best in her husband and "not bothering about homemaking.

The Judges were Mrs. Sexsmith, Mrs. C. Holmes and Mr. J. Wiley who decided that the affirmative had won the debate.

A social time was spent in playing games by young and old and all were treated to apples, popcorn and candy.

C. HENTSCHEL IS GREAT Z.

Will Preside as First Member of Royal Arch Masonry

Hamilton, Ont., Feb. 25—(CP) — Dr. C. W. Hentschel of Hailebury, D.D.G.M. Senior Flyers and Grand "Z" of the Grand Chapter Royal Arch Masons of Canada, when the nominations were announced today that only one name had been suggested for the highest office within the gift of the members. Edwin Smith, of Toronto, K.C., was also chosen by acclamation and will be Grand Scribe E. for the ensuing year. Other offices will be filled today.

More than 400 Royal Arch Masons from all parts of the Dominion and many from other parts of United States are attending the two day convocations which opened this morning. It was in Hamilton that the Grand Chapter was formed in the 75th birthday of the R. A. M. being celebrated in connection with the present convention.

Freddy Robertson Signs Pro Contract

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 25.—(By the Canadian Press)—Toronto Maple Leafs of the National Hockey League will be the only team to have a player on the roll when they take the ice here tonight against Detroit Falcons. Freddy Robertson, clever junior forward from Sudbury Marlboros of the Senior Ontario Hockey Association, last night signed to terms with Leafs, becoming first brike into hockey with the Toronto team since Joe Primeau, and has been more or less in the limelight ever since.

Buy Next Year's Overcoat Now!

YOU WILL NEVER have as good a chance to make money by saving, and getting a high-price stylish garment at much less than its real value.

There will be plenty stormy weather yet — Old Man Winter isn't licked by any means.

Protect yourself against any extremes of weather and buy an Overcoat you will be proud of—Prices will never be as low, in fact the tendency will be for stronger prices all round as the season advances, and certainly will be a great deal higher next season.

Quick & Robertson

CORRECT CLOTHING FOR MEN

AGGERSUND IS IN DISTRESS

Lifeboats Gone and List-ing at a Perilous Angle

London, Feb. 25 (AP)—The London-wired wireless station received a radio message today from the tug "Lumber" saying it had left the Azores Islands at 5:48 this morning to go to the assistance of the Danish steamer "Aggersund" which reported itself in distress in the Atlantic off the Irish coast.

Distress message from the steamer at last night said all her lifeboats were gone and she was badly damaged, listing at an angle of 45 degrees.

The position the steamer gave—32 degrees and 20 minutes north latitude, and 31 degrees west longitude is about 500 miles west of Ireland.

The vessel sailed from Orange-mouth, Scotland, February 10, for Boston.

LEAVE FOR HALIFAX

Ottawa, Feb. 25.—The Earl of Bessborough, Governor-General of Canada, and Lady Bessborough left Ottawa yesterday afternoon for Halifax, from where Her Excellency is to sail for England, on Saturday, February 27.

Their Excellencies are to be guests at the Citadel in Halifax, and will visit several institutions during their two-day stay there.

REXALL BIRTHDAY SALE JONTEEL SPECIAL 50c BOX FACE POWDER AND 50c JAR FACE CREAM 1.00 VALUE BOTH FOR 50c

McKeown's DRUG STORE

BANDITS THREATEN

Pelping, China, Feb. 25.—Six American Lutheran missionaries at Kwangchow, in Southeast Honan Province, are seriously threatened by bandit armies they advised the United States consulate at Hankow yesterday. The consulate requested provincial authorities to send troops to aid the missionaries. Communist armies recently have been active in the district.

REDUCE BANK NOTE

Bombay, India, Feb. 25 (AP)—The Imperial Bank of India reduced its rate from 7½ to 6 per cent today.

Pracs river was so named by the Indians, and its existence first made known to Alexander Henry, an early trader, at Ile a la Crosse, north of Prince Albert in 1776.

Forty-four pipefuls for 20c

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

The Rats Are Missed

By Thornton W. Burgess

When folks are missed alas how sad!
If missing them makes neighbors glad.
—Old Mother Nature.

There is nothing more sad than to see think of than to be so lack-ing in friends that folks are tempted by some chance rather than seek presence. It is rather dread-ful to be wanted even as a neighbor. But Robber the Rat doesn't appear to mind that at all. He has no friends and apparently he wants no friends. He and his family are quite sufficient unto themselves.

"I haven't seen a Rat about here for more than a week. I wonder what has become of them?" said Farmer Brown as he was out in the barn one morning.

"I haven't seen one either," replied Farmer Brown's Boy, "but I think I can guess what has happened."

"What?" asked Farmer Brown.

"Mr. and Mrs. Monkey-face have moved too much for them," replied Farmer Brown's Boy.

"You don't mean to tell me that you think they have moved of their own accord?" exclaimed Farmer Brown.

"Nonsense!" Farmer Brown Boy grinned. "No," said he, "I don't think that. But I'm right in what I say. I'm not just to catch all would be too much to expect of even such good hunt-ers as they are.

"Then where are the rest of them?" demanded Farmer Brown.

"They have moved out. Yes, sir, they have moved out," replied Farmer Brown's Boy.

"Why do you think that?" asked Farmer Brown.

"Because I know just how smart Robber the Rat is," replied Farmer Brown's Boy. "He is an outcast and hasn't a friend in the world, outside his own family, so he is smart. I have no use for Robber the Rat but I sometimes have to admire his smartness. Just think how hard we have tried to get rid of those Rats and all the time they just kept increasing in num-bers. I suspect that old Mother Rat laughed at us. He was smart-er than we were. He and the rest of them did just about they pleas-ed, and they stole every trick to feed a horse. If those Owls hadn't come here to live in the barn they would still be stealing. Now we are rid of them, and I say a good riddance."

Farmer Brown laughed. "No one will disagree with you there, Son," said he. "But you haven't told me why you think that they haven't all been caught. That's the wonder-ful part of it. Why do you think that?"

"Because Robber is smart enough to know he was no longer safe in this barn," replied Farmer Brown's Boy. "Robber is an greedy fel-low. He knows that there are going to be more traps set for him before long than there were last autumn. He knows that he was going to hear from some of our neighbors before long that they were going to get rid of him. And those Rats will be the same Rats that were in this barn. Rob-ber decided that his new neighbors were too dangerous and that if they were going to stay he and his tribe must move. And that is what he did do, for not one of them is left. You know it is said that Rats will leave a sinking ship, and they are smart enough to look ahead and know that what is best for may be wise.

"So you think we have those Owls to thank for ridding us of those Rats," said Farmer Brown's Boy.

"Yes," said Farmer Brown.

"Then I hope they will stay un-less they develop a liking for young chickens," replied Farmer Brown.

"They will stay," was the quick response. "They have a family of young to look up to that is built for them. I peeked at them this morning, for the first time, and we will see what we will see when

Mr. and Mrs. Monkey-face have moved too much for them," replied Farmer Brown's Boy.

the time comes. Meanwhile we are rid of the Rats."

(Copyright, 1932, T. W. Burgess)

The next story: "Raphena Is in Hard Work."

Weddings

ITTEL—MAHNENSCHEN

ALBANY, Feb. 22.—Miss Gladys S. Maisenbacher, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. P. Maisenbacher of Hampden Road, Rochester, New York, and Frederick R. Ittel son of Mrs. M. Ittel of Tyrrep street, were married Saturday Feb. 6th 1932 at 4 o'clock at Asbury Methodist Church, Rev. Ralph Cushman offici-ating.

The attendants were Miss Vera Ittel, sister of the groom and Mr. Harold Hall. The bride was beauti-fully attired in sapphire blue transparent velvet with hat to match, and a corsage of sweetheart roses. The bridesmaid was also prettily attired in sapphire blue transparent velvet. After the ceremony a reception and dinner was held at the bride's home. The bride's mother wore a gown of Persian green crepe and the groom's mother wore black velvet with transparent velvet.

Mr. and Mrs. Ittel will reside in Rochester. The bride is the granddaughter of Mrs. D. Calvan, Amelisburg and has many friends in Prince Edward County.

SAVED IMPORTED DRESS

"After a little weeping, a lovely green voile—an imported dress in last color—is completely that it was not wearable. A friend who had admired it asked me why I wasn't wearing it much. On hearing the reason, she advised dyeing it the prevailing shade of Diamond Dye. To make a long story short, it turned out beautifully. I have a lovely new dress that really cost just 15c—the price of one package of Diamond Dyes.

"I have since used Diamond Dyes for both lining and dyeing. They do either equally well. I am not an expert dyer but I have had no failure with Diamond Dyes. They seem to be made so they always go on smooth and even. They never spot, streak or run; and they positively know the things I dye with Diamond Dyes are ruined at all!"

Mrs. R. F., Quebec.

Fashion Flashes

Poinsettias bloom still as this shade is one of the favorite reds of the season. A lovely dance frock is done in poinsettia satin with ver-tical rows of big-sag bands of the material and slanting blue frills falling from the waist to the hem.

Plenty of work always for a long sleeved frock that is a cross between dinner gown and formal evening frock. A new model is made of cy-clamen georgette with a top of matching satin with a vest or false set pattern in pale mauve. The tight lower sleeves, the skirt and the bell are of the cyclamen georgette.

Ideal on dock on a chilly night is a coat with a tight waist and full cupped sleeves. It is of brown fallie, lined with geranium red chiffon and is entirely bordered with beige bor.

There's a military air about many of the new coats for utility or travel wear. A smart model is fashioned of grass green cloth and has a regi-mental collar, double-breasted fas-tening and tight waist band effect. The top part has a pointed panel that just hides the waist and there is a semi-belt.

Nice and new nightties tempt us all to kind slumber o' night. A cream satin nightie with a mush-ton of a bustle back, has a bertha-edge neckline and is trimmed and encrusted with cream and gold lace.

Something new in the little hat with many brims. A smart version is of brown straw with four brims, in red, blue, black and plaid, so-arranged with just the colored edges peeping forth. It is a one-sided model and the side off the hair is decorated with a red galalith quill.

Ready to do anything for the good cause, and the right—Barbara by Hoops.

Women's Interests in the Home

Beauty.....

BY HELEN JAMIESON

How to Preste T wo Chins Into One

There's nothing modest or retiring about a double chin. So far nobody has found any way of hiding or disguising it. It follows a policy of expansion and its plans are nobody's business.

It becomes ambitious to create a duplicate of itself, its adipose flights should be slipped in the bud. When that first suspicious line is noticed with a little budge be-neath it, start a world war against it.

What you're fighting is a collec-tion of fat cells that have settled down for a long stay. Fat cells can be smashed by manipulation of the finger tips, by a firm rolling be-tween thumb and first finger, in order to keep the surface of the skin from being bruised it must be gone at with the mistake of rolling, but make not the mistake of using a thin cream. That won't do. Fingers alone, can't get a firm hold. Ask the smiling person at the cos-metic counter for a heavy cream, one in which lanolin is an ingredi-lent. Lanolin is in the first rank of the cosmetic parade. It is heal-ing absorbent and the skin likes it.

Put the cream on with a patter. Spank the chin briskly. When it feels warm, start the rolling process. Take small nips. Don't move the flesh about much. Work in a small space, nip here pinch there.

Three minutes by the clock for the chin. Three minutes of pat-ting sharply with the finger tips. Then the right hand fingers entice-ed crosswise and, as the patting process, move the hand from side to side.

The treatment is a demolishing one. Stop here and flabbiness will take the place of fat. Sagging tissues are three steps ahead of a double chin as beauty defects. Therefore take time to complete the performance. Get out your ice cubes and give your face a good rubbing. No harm in making a man's sized job of it, so from the neck to forehead, beginning at the collar bone and sweeping upward, starting along the entire line of the jaw bone from one ear to the other with a few extra skids over the chin lip.

If the pores of the skin are coarse, don't fall on the nose look-ing in wail at the sides of the nostrils. Should a frown line be planning its debut, apply ice be-tween the eyes. Cold water is sim-ilating. It hardens tissues, hard tissues carry the youthful contour.

About the best way to get quick bit of good out of an astringent to pour it over cold gauze, slap the moistened compress on the chin and cover with a strap design-ed for the purpose. Stay bound up all night. In the morning remove the strap and turn the cold spray on the face. The effect is better if the hands aren't chilled, the pur-pose being to bring the blood rush-ing to those soft tissue tissues that are a bit sick and refuse to put up a good front.

A simple exercise that offers a helping hand to the good work is accomplished by throwing the head back with a quick upbringing of the lower jaw that pulls hard on neck muscles.

A warble-fly powder used as a wash in early spring is recommend-ed as the best means of combat-ting this fly, which causes so much damage to the skins and flesh of cattle.

London is to become World Fashion Centre

First British Model House Holds a Mannequin Parade

(From a Woman Correspondent) LONDON, February 20.

Imagine a frock that is "stilled" by a fog! A frock treater than a flower which has to be made on the same day that it is to be worn, lest a single night's a cupboard should make its flounces droop! It sounds fantastic, but yesterday . . . it was a bridesmaid's dress, (more like a set of foam than a concoction of silk and ne(d) which was made a few hours before it was shown because there had been a fog the day before, and the weight of the fog would have spoiled the delicate, slightly, lid crisp, milk-white cascades of net.

This creation made its debut at a historic occasion: the first trade show of all-British models—British design, British materials and British workmanship—ever held in London. This marks the opening of a big drive to make London the fashion centre of the Empire. London is going to rival Paris. It is making a co-operative effort to enable Lon-don houses to offer their models overseas—to buy their models from the British model-houses, in-stead of being forced to go to foreign houses where they exchange is against them.

First British Model House

Hence the first display of all-British, exclusive models, shown in the first British Model. The big room set aside was picked out, and the walls hung with the work of the country overflowed into the next room, together with the overflow quins parading in every sort of frock, from wedding dresses to tea pyjamas.

Several of the best known cutters in the West End have a hand in the new movement. Hilherto they have kept their good models to themselves, but now Jans Munns, Victor Stiebel, Hartnell, Digby Hartnell's and other leading dress designers are organizing shows for the trade alone. Each of these Lon-don designers have already achiev-ed a world-wide reputation. Take a young man, Mr. Norman Hartnell as an example. Fifty firms, chosen four years ago. His bold, original designs are the talk of London. An-other young designer, Captain Molyneux, is head of one of the greatest Paris houses. He is coming back and opening a London branch.

The London Fashions Group

Then, at the same time as this move-ment, British dress manufacturers and wholesalers have banded them-selves together in a co-operative organization called the London Fashions Group. Fifty firms, whose turnover runs into millions of pounds a year, have joined forces. They all agreed to hold up their spring shows until a given date (at the end of February) so that they can simultaneously throw open their doors to the trade from all over the world. While each firm will choose its own time for showing its particu-lis own dresses, all fifty will co-operate in attracting buyers from Paris, New York, Rio, Tokyo, and otherwise have gone abroad.

The second step in the launch-ing of these dress-shows has been chosen for exhibition at the Model Industries Fair. Then buyers from the Dominions and Colonies and from all over the world will be able to judge for themselves the success of London's bid to get the last word in women's fashion, as she has al-ways done in the past.

The Newest Frocks

The first British Model House exhibition will center on exactly the same line as the famous Paris Houses) has already been held, with instantaneous success. Certainly enterprise and imagination have com-bined many of the models paraded at the Mayfair gallery. Designers, as a woman who cross a ultra-smart dress shop in Davies Street, has in-terited privately, will be quick to be copied by the Paris dressmakers, as they have by designers all over the world.

One is a model of contrasting coat-and-skirt, in bridge colours, to be worn over a bathing suit. Another is a set which consists of a skirt and jacket in green, it has a lining of white silk with green spots. The jacket is fitted and flaring out into a skirt of dress having a white and green spotted collar, or with a small white woolly cardigan suit having a white and green spotted silk blouse. There are two hats, one in white felt for the cardigan suit and one in white straw for the green dress. The finishing touch is a green bag with green spots, and a white lining. I have never seen a more dainty and neat ensemble for the all-in-one-piste week-end suit, because it pro-vides both for a hot, sunny day on the river or the courts, or for a chilly day when a thin frock looks out of place.

The piece de resistance of the show was a dress of white satin. It was like a snowdrop. It was white satin, from top to the knees, and flaring out into a long train. Below the knees it was embroider-ed with madonna lilies whose green stalks ran straight up the skirt in lines parallel to the green piping on the empire bodice.

A Silver Wig

Another novelty was a silver wig. It made made of metal "hairs" ar-ranged in a perfectly co-jured wave, and worn with a negligee. This new idea for clothers or cock-tail parties aroused a great deal of interest. Some of the evening frocks had a slimming and a beauty of line which nothing in Paris could beat. The materials (all British made) were lovely. There were some little cardigan suits in a light, loose tweed made specially in Scotland which were chic-ness itself. Frocks for day wear were definitely shorter. The fashionable material for morn-ing clothes was a sort of rough-cast marocain which is going to be the rage.

The colours too, were "not the usual straight-forward range. There were some extraordinary del-icate tints. One which struck me particularly was a new shade of very dark Peacock, a sort of shim-mering deep-sea green used for a tailor-made suit worn with a rose and peacock check blouse.

You Will Be More Attractive

Prevents Large Pores—Stays on Longer

For a youthful complexion, use new wonderful MELLO-GLO Face Pow-der. Hides large pores, wrinkles and pores, New French process makes it spread more smoothly—stays on longer. No more shiny nose. Gives skin velvety softness. Pre-vents large pores. Ask today for new, wonderful face powder, MELLO-GLO. Has sufficient com-plexion. Sold through all druggists and by the dealer in this locality, Colan The Druggist, Phone 136, 246 Front Street, Belleville, Out.

Personals

Mrs. Jack Cummings has re-turned to Belleville from Toronto yesterday.

Mr. Ted Henn, George street, who has been confined to Belleville Gen-eral Hospital for the past few weeks with typhoid fever is making satis-factory progress to recovery.

Mrs. W. D. Elliott, 34 Bridge street, left on Monday where she attended the Hairdressers' Con-vention in the King Edward Hotel.

Mrs. E. Cummings, Front street, left on Monday where she attended the Hairdressers' Convention in Toronto yesterday.

Miss Violet Lewis has returned to the city, having attended the Hairdressers' Convention, held in the King Edward Hotel, Toronto.

Members of John Street Church Help Society cordially welcomed the many who enjoyed their hospitality on Wednesday from 2.30 to 5 p.m. Mes-dames Thompson, West Bridge street; Thompson, Bridge street, A pretty room with ilk glowing grate fire was the scene of the reception, and in which Mrs. Thompson and the President, Mrs. Buchanan, grac-iously received their guests. In the sun-room the table of delectable viands was laid out to be done dis-posed of. The bright dining room with its garlands of spring flowers and its attractive table decoration of lovely blooms.

A group of ladies belonging to the Women's Institute Guild, Mrs. George Tilley is a member, met at the home of Mrs. Wallace Wilson, 24 Pinnacle street, Tuesday and spent a plea-sant and profitable afternoon. A story, containing good ideas and suggestions, regarding the reclama-tion of neglected lives, having a kindly interest taken in them. Mrs. Norton in such a vivid manner that it was listened to with much pleasure and interest. Miss Bernice Arbuckle also held the attention of the gathering when she read a beautiful poem by Henry Van Dyke entitled "The Toll-ing of Bells".

Clothing Donations Are Urgently Needed

Clothing for men, boys and young women is urgent-ly required by the Supplies Department of the Belleville Unemployment Relief Com-mittee. Chairman E. V. Illsley states that the need is great and he would appreciate prompt response to this ap-peal from those who have clothing of any kind super-fied to donate. Phone 69w, City Hall, Relief Head-quarters and the clothing donation will be called for.

"There's nothing to worry about now, darling, because lightning never strikes more than once in the same place."
—The Humorist, London.

Girls Taller and Healthier But Feet Are Also Larger

Tests Made at Barnard College Show Trend

HEALTH REPORTS

It may be that the recent slack period has put them back on their feet, literally speaking, by diverting them from luxuries considered so indispensable not very long ago, and which seem to live better and healthier lives, but recent tes's con-ducted by the medical and physical education departments at Barnard College show that the mythical freshman at least, by comparisons of measurements and statistics have grown taller, healthier and larger in size of feet.

Those measurements which have just been concluded there show that the girls will graduate in 1933 will be more than half an inch tall-er than the graduate of 1928. She will weigh more, has a stronger grip, a larger lung capacity, greater chest expansion and more vital-ity, and, as we have just told you than her fellow student of a dozen or so years ago.

No Ground For Blush

It seems there is no cause for blushing if the modern miss does happen to require a size six shoe. That, according to them, is just an indication that you are in good-ing health. Leading shoe dealers in this city back them up, what's more, with the statements that nearly all girls who come in their stores asking for the larger sizes in shoes are girls who are, almost with-out exception girls who possess a clear skin, bright eyes and an ath-letic figure. So these girls the shoe men mount the little ladder, push themselves away back in the rear of the store and somewhat shyly ask for shoes ranging from five and a half to six and a half, or 6 or 7, three times more of those sizes are sold now, they claim, than were sold ten years ago. So that's one for the note-book and your peace of mind.

You have big feet the chances ren that you're bursting with health and energy and fit for anything.

Brighter Days

Signs point the way to a few and brighter day for the woman; along with the cramped foot is a tiny shoe two sizes too small. Along with the wasp-waist with its tight lacing corsets, the reclamation of woman has begun and no longer is it necessary to suffer in silent but painful tor-ture, hence the folks can look and like it. If the feet appear too large for the size of the woman who is carrying them around then it is the fault of her slavery of years past who perpetually distorted themselves into unnatural knots every time they dressed up a bit. If you don't believe it look at grandma's picture in the family album.

But for fear that this large 'feet will seem a calamity we point to isolated cases, and may be caused by the fact that strenuous exercises are included in the curriculum of the college where the tests were taken, there are a number of indi-cated of girls who have never even heard about that college, and yet are blessed with as large feet as any of them. There's Greta Garbo, for ex-ample. She wears an extra inch! An-other one for your facts and figures booklet. The incomparable Dietrich wears the equivalent to a men's shoe and a big man at that. But her feet are beautifully proportioned, so they say, and so they do tall they pass no-noticed. Yet has it ever been brought to the attention of you who are reading this that Greta always wears carpet slippers at every opportunity when between "shots" at the pic-tures she is working in she alwaj has her slippers to jump into with she rests for the few moments until the next one.

Larger Shoes

Screen actresses are notorious

So New This Year!

Sweaters are being knitted as fast as busy fingers and clicking needles can turn them out. And when these dainty garments become sadly MODERN'S careful cleaning makes them new again with-out danger of shrinking or stretching.

MODERN

CLEANERS AND DYERS
193 Front St. Phone 72
If Modern Cleaned It's Clean

GOLDFISH FREE

Friday & Saturday at

DOYLE'S Drug Store

With each purchase of 25c of any goods in our store on Friday and Saturday, we will give ONE beautiful Gold Fish FREE. No more than SIX FREE fish to any one customer.

As we are under considerable expense in our free fish offer, we are unable to also supply free con-tainers, we therefore ask you to bring along a glass sealer or other suitable container to carry them home, unless you contemplate purchasing a Gold Fish Globe.

AT VERY SPECIAL VALUES
GOLD FISH GLOBES
SEA WEED
FISH FOOD
ORNAMENTS

If you cannot get down town, Phone your orders in. Prompt Delivery by motor and bicycle.

PHONE 326

Chest Colds
Rub well over throat
VICKS
VAPORUB
OVER 21 MILLION JARS USED YEARLY

QUALITY FURS
STORAGE
CLEANING
DELANEY
Exclusive Furrier
17 Campbell St. Belleville
QUALITY FURS
REPAIRING
REMODELLING
Phone 797

FINANCIAL NEWS

EASIER TONE ON STANDARD

Eldorado Under Pressure After Annual Meeting

Toronto, Ont., Feb. 25 — Prices of many of the few stocks traded on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange Market in the forenoon today showed an easier tendency, largely attributed to a downward movement on industrial boards.

Eldorado whose annual report was published today, was under heavy pressure from the outset and when taken around midday showed a net decline from last night of 19 cents at $1.88. Hudson Bay, Nickel and Noranda displayed small recessions. Most of the Kirkland Lake issues were off 25 at $17 and McIntyre dipped to a new of $4.80 for a 5-cent decline. Ventures was off 4 cents and Sherritt and Barry-Hollinger made minor gains. Oils remained at a standstill.

RECESSION ON TORONTO BD.

Slow Turnover Marks Tradine at Toronto

Toronto, Feb. 25.—Slight recessions throughout the list marked today's slow turnover characterized dealings on the Toronto Stock Exchange this morning. The losses were mostly from less than a point and were offset occasionally by pressure against stocks.

Pool of Canada, a feature this week when it sold at a new high for months at 61, reacted to 15¾ the first hour after having opened at 16¼. Trading in the morning was: Beatty Bros. at 16, C. N. R., Nickel, Bell Telephone were unchanged to ½ point. Steel of Canada declined to 13½, off almost ½ point.

Page Hersey Tubes reacted one to 62. Foods were unchanged in light trading and the gold issues were without volume in this section save Macassa.

Walkers sold at 3¼ and 3¾ compared with a close last night of 3¼. The new issue of Bell Telephone was firmer, the common up ¼ at 156 and the preferred up ½ at 114.

N.Y. MARKET DRIFTS IDLY

Slow Undercurrent of Selling With Occasional Buying Ripple

New York, Feb. 25.—The stock market drifted idly today, with a slow under-current of selling apparent, despite occasional ripples of buying.

Another wide break in Auburn at the opening unsettled the general list so that the morning rally which was encouraged for a time, but selling cropped out in some volume after midday.

After opening up 1 to ½ at 100, Auburn sold down to 88 and to 83 in 1933 at 87, then recovered moderately. Among the morning gainers some of the minor issues showed gains of a point or so, said some of the leaders sold up fractionally, but by early afternoon, American Telephone was off one point, and most issues down a point or more included U. S. Steel, General Motors, American Can, New York Central, Union Pacific, Du Pont, Radio, Westinghouse Electric, Alaska Juneau and others. General Motors and Radio sagged to new lower under fairly active selling. Kreuger and Holland International, Curtiss Wright were also under notable pressure. Public utilities held on moderate volume on the dividend to $2.00 announced by Insull (2).

In the main, the market continued to reflect tardiness of business pickup.

We will be taking part in all major bond issues as they come along during the next few months. Clients should telephone us for information and advice.

James on Bole & Co.

Phone 1144
Belleville, Ont.

Stock Markets

Quotations by Biggar and Crawford, P. E. Wills, branch manager.

Mines.
Amulet	17
Ajax	106
Barry Hollinger	4
Falconbridge	bid 78
Granada	2
Hollinger	485
Hudson Bay	30
Kirkland Lake	bid 43
Lake Shore	240
McIntyre	17.25
Mining Corporation	1.05
Siscoe	61
Sylvanite	44½
Teck Hughes	4.25
Vipond	43½
Ventures	4
Wright Hargreaves	2.69
Dome	8.75
Moffat Hall	4½
Int. Nickel	8.75
Noranda	16.10
NEW YORK
American Can	86¾
Auburn	88½
Beth. Steel	20¾
Byers	17¾
Bethlehem Steel	21¾
Con. Gas	51¾
Case	59¾
Canada Dry	21¾
Drug	31
General Motors	21
Hudson Motors	12
Chrysler	13
Montgomery Ward	8
North American	36¾
Standard Oil of N. J.	36¾
Radio	5
Standard Brands	11¾
Am. T. & T.	107¾
Vanadium	15¾
Int. T. and T.	21¾
U. S. Steel	46¾
Col. Gas	13¾
TORONTO
B. A. Oil	10½
Can. Bud.	1.00
McColl Frontenac	9¼
Imperial Oil	10¾
Hiram Walker	3¾
Bell Telephone	156
C. P. R.	17¾
Consumers Gas	51
Dominion Stores	7
Ford A	3½
Gypsum	5¾
Smelters	68
Loblaw A	36
Massey Harris	3¾
Steelton	20
Steel of Canada	21
WHEAT
May	68⅝
July	70
May Rye	48¾

LIVESTOCK

Toronto, Feb. 25 (CP). — Cattle receipts 68. The small cattle supply was cleared early in moderate sales. One load of choice heavy steers brought $6.50 and a few good butcher cows brought $4.50 to $5.00.

Calf receipts 17. Calves were weak at Wednesday's decline with tops at $8.00 out.

No hogs. Packers' bids for hogs were $4.25 f.o.b. for bacon or $4.75 weighed off car.

No sheep or lambs.

FOUND STERLING

Toronto, Ont., Feb. 25 (CP)—Exchange rates at noon were as follows:

Pound sterling in Montreal $3.92
Pound sterling in New York ... $3.91
Canadian dollars in N. Y. - .99⅜

HYDRO PROBE

(Continued from Page 1)

ried on with other parties regarding the Madawaska proposition and Mr. Aird gave the name of Mr. Wilson, of H. Cundy, J. H. Mark and others.

Power Plan to Develop.

At one period Mr. Aird said he and his partner Millard had worked on a plan to develop the power themselves. But even in the early stages they had found it necessary for them to sell to the Hydro Commission. In fact, they were in touch with the Hydro Commission in the stages of the Madawaska proposition. He had been approached by C. A. Magrath, chairman of the Commission at that time and also Mr. Gaby, chief engineer of the Commission. He had also seen Premier Ferguson. He had never had merely told him he had better see Mr. Magrath. This was after Mr. Cundy had tried to sell the power rights to the Hydro. Mr. Aird said he had a verbal understanding with O'Brien.

Made Deal with Pool

R. W. Millard next took the stand. He said he still had possession of the papers relating to the firm of Aird-Millard excepting those relating to the Madawaska power deal.

These were not in the fyles when he moved them to another office early in 1930. He had tried to find the Madawaska papers in July, 1931. He had his own day book however and other might contain reference to the Madawaska proposition. He had secured a bill of the $50,000 received from the Hydro and had deposited the cheque after making debt adjustments in the Bank of Nova Scotia.

Regarding correspondence with other parties Mr. Millard said they had correspondence with Peter White, who had, he believed, been in communication with C. A. Magrath, a member of the Hydro Commission. That would be prior to November 1928.

Original Letters.

Richard J. Jeffery, chairman of the engineering committee of the Hydro Commission, at this stage produced the original letters and documents relating to the Madawaska purchase.

Mr. Tilley read letters from the Hydro files. One document was from C. A. Gaby, chief engineer, saying that two conferences had been had with Peter White and John Aird, re regarding the Madawaska power rights. Another was a memo relating to a meeting of engineering committee held on October, 1928. At this meeting according to the memo, the commissioners decided and so recommended that the commission should not enter into any power contracts on the Madawaska River but should take steps to get possession of all the power rights.

The fyle included a note from C. A. Magrath, chairman of the commission, referring to consultations with Mr. Aird who at this time according to the documents had held out for a power contract at 50 cents per h.p. for the first 10,000 period of 40 years.

Another letter wrote that he had suggested a payment to Mr. Aird of $50,000 and that he was quite sure to cover his actual expenses not to exceed in total, $100,000. To this Mr. Aird demurred, and the memo indicated Mr. Magrath.

WHEELING DRIVE

(Continued from Page 1)

continued and indications were that the drive would still be working although their bombardment was weak.

Guns Embarked Rear

Late in the afternoon the Japanese artillery pounded the Chinese against the Chinese rear positions and Nanking. The Chinese command hoped to occupy as soon as the demolition of the Chinese fire line was completed.

The southern front lines leading toward Chapei were quiet. The Japanese had moved all artillery, machine guns and infantry from the area east of Kiangyan to support the fight on the north.

United States officials in the International Settlement said they would maintain a plan by which all United States citizens in the whole settlement area could be concentrated quickly for evacuation in case of emergency.

Japanese Consular officials said Chinese sniping activities continued with the battle areas to take an additional Japanese military toll. Eight Japanese marines have been killed, they said and 33 wounded in the Shanghai area since the settlement since the outbreak of hostilities last Saturday.

Today's drive followed a threat of a Chinese offensive to smash the Japanese line about Kiangwan after of additional troops from Japan. In the face of the week's landing their reinforcements cut off, the Japanese gathered their forces together for the most powerful attack of which they were capable. The air armada of planes which they sent out today was the largest used thus far.

The first movements were made with the break of day. Japanese big guns were moved forward and twelve Whippet tanks took up positions. As the sun rose, the Japanese line in the morning, cleared sufficiently for visibility, the guns opened up and the tanks plowed forward, in a short time the first squadron of warplanes appeared overhead, followed soon by the rest of the air fleet.

SCREEN STARS SEEK DIVORCE

Mary Mulhern and Ethel Clayton Soon to Be Freed

Hollywood, Cal., Feb. 25. — Two well-known couples of stage and screen, victims of incompatibility of tastes, have decided on divorce.

Accusing her husband of constant nagging, Mary Mulhern, well known theatrical career, Mary Mulhern, actress, yesterday filed suit against Jack Pickford, brother of Mary Pickford, movie star. Separation has been effected. They were married August 12, 1930, and separated December 15, 1931.

Ethel Clayton, screen actress, yesterday authorized her attorneys to proceed against Ian Keith, actor, revealing that a similar effort to reconcile had failed. The suit was filed in November, 1930, but hearing had been postponed several times when reconciliation was thought possible.

HEARS ROBIN AND SEES HIM

Spring's Harbinger Found on East Bridge Street

A cheery, welcome little robin sat on the limb of a large shade tree on East Bridge Street, near Church street, early this morning and sang in jaunty repellent to a dying Winter. Spring is at last in the air, and soon green grass and budding trees will be in full sway, the robin's early calling heralded its welcome approach.

But, according to close observers who have kept track of the vagaries of the weather, the robin's early song herald is applied only to average conditions. Should the mercury and temperatures from now on. And no hard frosts sentiments, the early season has been average. If the weather continues to behave in an original a fashion as it has up to the present, chances are evenly divided between bad. Summer weather for March and mid-winter temperatures to make up for what we have missed during the past few months.

So far this locality has been very favorable, excepting for the usual amount of cold weather generally prevalent each winter and the whole season has been characterized by a complete absence of one day of zero weather. While the tabernacles may have hovered very close to that point, at times, official recordings have failed to mark the line anywhere below the freezing point. And vagaries of all kinds have been freely made on the vagaries of the weather. Some have insisted that there would be lots of cold weather—but it's coming in the rear. Lesser numbers have given their guess that there will be a big snow—a few weeks of zero weather this way—but on the whole the weather prognosticator, under the mild days and nights laid in from the beginning of the winter that there would be no more than nine days of zero weather, has predicted that the season would be devoid of snow —that there would be showers and rain . . . and the critics look on with the statement that it was a vicarious manner. "Idle murmurings," they say.

What has happened is history. It will remain history. Nothing can be done. But somewhere near this office we seem to hear a chuckle as each day succeeds the other, still no sign of anyone walking across the river. Perhaps it is that the oracle is laughing up his sleeve?

Letters to The Editor

Construction Camp 4,
Kalador P.O., Ont.
Editor Ontario Intelligencer:

Again I am writing to you thanking you very much for printing my letter in the paper. Every man in the camp is glad at the adoption of Mr. Thomas Peters who would be Belleville on Friday to see a dentist. Mr. Nick Graham and Mr. Patrick Murphy have left here to work having spent two days home. I might say that they both saw a dentist and they also went to thank that certain dentist for relieving them of pain. I am pleased to obtain from for the boys to get some smokes.

Mr. George Smith left today for Belleville to get his teeth fixed up a good time. I will say that when the boys return they will have plenty to tell us the questions that are asked.

I mentioned in my last letter that happy days were here again. Well, they have for the men here have been looking for for six weeks and now we went out in the afternoon with a smile. I have just received news that twenty-five men have been laid off as they are caught up as far as they go. Once again I must bring my letter to a close.

Yours truly
W. J. HAMER.

CASE GOES TO JURY

Barrie, Ont., Feb. 25.—Despite a strong plea by C. W. Bell, K.C., M.P., counsel for Alfonso Gimmel, Mr. Justice Charles Garrow yesterday declined to take the case of Rocco Mastro, Tony Mastrodicasa and Gordon K. Gaults of Carlyle from the jury. Both are charged with arson in connection with the burning of the Palmer House at Waubaushene in December 1930.

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. C. E. Lindsay and family wish to express their appreciation of the many acts of kindness and expression of sympathy extended them in their recent sad bereavement, the loss of a loving daughter and sister, Iva Ada Ethel Lindsay, also for the many lovely floral tributes. 725-11

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. Edgar Stapley and family wish to thank their many relatives, neighbors and friends for their kindness and sympathy shown them in their recent sad bereavement. 725-11

CITY OF BELLEVILLE

LOCAL IMPROVEMENT NOTICE TAKE NOTICE THAT:

(1) The Council of the Corporation of the City of Belleville intends to carry out as a Local Improvement the construction of a Sanitary Sewer together with the necessary private drain connections on Dufferin Avenue from Pine Street 200 feet southerly.

(2) The estimated cost of the said work, including the Corporation's share, the private frontage share, the estimated cost per foot frontage and the estimated cost of private drain connections are as follows:—

Estimated Cost.	City's Share	Private Cost.
$2,681.50	$416.34	$2,265.16
Est. Cost Per Ft. Front.		Estd. Cost of Private Drain Connections
$2.57

(3) The estimated lifetime of the work is thirty-one years and the special assessment is to be levied in thirty equal annual instalments.

(4) A petition against the work will not avail to prevent its construction, but a petition against the work or the manner in which it has been undertaken is to be presented to Section 8 of the Local Improvement Act to the Ontario Railway and Municipal Board, by a majority of the owners representing at least one-half in value of the lots which are to be specially assessed therefor.

(5) A by-law for undertaking the work will be considered by the Council at a meeting thereof to be held on the 15th day of March, 1932, or at a regular or special meeting thereof to be held thereafter.

Dated at Belleville this 19th day of February, A.D. 1932.

J. Wilfred Holmes,
City Clerk.
725 22 mch

IN MEMORIAM

SIDE—In loving memory of my dear husband and father, John Wesley, who passed away, Feb. 26th, 1925.

As we greet you so we missed you
In our memory you are near,
Loved, remembered, longed for always
Bringing many a silent tear.
No morning dawns no night returns
But that I think of you.
Those left behind are very sad
Now, lone replaces you.
—Sadly missed by Wife and Family, Mrs. J. W. Side and family. 725-11

F. C. Martin and Son
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
FUNERAL HOME
210-212 CHURCH ST.
PRIVATE AMBULANCE
IN CONNECTION
PHONE 3666
16-tf

THOMPSON
FUNERAL SERVICE
Unexcelled Service
Moderate Prices
Thos. C. Thompson
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
Phone 68
Nights and Sundays 1313
16-tf

TICKELL & BROWNE
Funeral Home
248 Church St.
Cor. Victoria Ave.
Phone 3-1-1
Limousine Ambulance Service
616-tf

BELLEVILLE
BURIAL COMPANY
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
18 Campbell St.
Phone 774-W Day and Night
J. W. INLAID,
Proprietor
Mausoleum Crypts For Sale.
tf

To Let

Furnished house, medium size, all conveniences, desirable locality. Two months of Mar. April, May. Possession March 1st. Phone 78 or 228.
713-tf

Store To Let

Best location in Belleville. New and modern, copper and marble show window front, steam heat. Immediate possession. Apply
W. B. MORTON
Ontario Intelligencer
Belleville.
711-tf

N. Hardwick
Electrical Contractor
Fixtures, Bulbs, Receptacles
Repairs
All Work Guaranteed
75 BURTON ST., BELLEVILLE

FOR SALE

BABY CHICKS, LEGHORNS 10c. Barred rocks 12½c. Also custom hatching $4 tray of 180 eggs. 2 trays $7.50. H. Brenton, Corbyville, phone 3702r16. 725-3

A CARRIAGE AND IMPERIAL Oxford range. Apply 21 Bacon St. or Phone 1219W. 724-3t

BEDROOM SUITE WITH SATIN brass bed. Hollywood dresser, good condition. Apply 417 Wide Box "O" Ontario Intelligencer.

HAY AND STRAW FOR SALE. MacKenzie Co., 45 S. Front St. Phone 3189W. 724-1-2

3 SPRINGER COWS, DUE TO freshen soon. John McMullen, 2nd Concession, Sidney. Phone 4942r12 722-3t.

BUSINESS LINERS

TUBEROUS REGONIA BULBS Plant yours now. Large Bulbs 3 for 25c, at Bishop's Seed Store. 725-3t

HOME GROWN ALFALFA SEED $2.00 per Bushel, at Bishop's Seed Store. 725-3t

POULTRY FEEDERS
We carry a full line of Poultry Feeds. Laying Mash, Meat Meal, Fish Meal, Oyster Shell, Shell-maker, Oat Litter Meal, etc. New fresh stock in large or small quantities, at Bishop's Seed Store. 725-1t

WANTED

WANTED—GIRL TO HELP WITH housework. Must be fond of children. Apply 186 Albert St. 725-2t

WANTED MARRIED MAN TO work on farm by year. O. A. Keitcheon. Phone 81r6. 723-3t

WANTED TO RENT FEW ACRES good garden soil, with small house, near Belleville. Box "N" Ontario Intelligencer. 725-1t

WANTED — RELIABLE WOMAN or girl to housework in small modern home, for lady in business. Good home for right party. Apply Box 407 Ontario Intelligencer, stating age and wages expected. 725-3t

HELP WANTED

EARN UPWARDS OF $25 WEEKly growing mushrooms for us this spring in cellars and sheds. Begin now Illustrated booklet free. Canadian Mushroom Company, Toronto. 725-3t.

WANTED — AT ONCE. COOK, general. Reference required, — Phone 222 anytime after six o'clock. 724-tf

WANTED — ADOPTION BOY'S two and a half months old baby boy. Apply Box "T" Ontario Intelligencer. 725-1t

WANTED—POSITION AS HOUSEkeeper. Apply Miss Eva Byford, General Delivery, Trenton. 724-3t

WANTED—ROOM WITH BOARD for young business man. Apply Resonable terms. Box "H" Ontario Intelligencer. 724-3t

WANTED—EXPERIENCED WAITresses; none other need apply. Rita Cafe. 723-3t

WANTED — GIRL OR WOMAN for housework, plain cooking. Might be capable girl to look after children. Write Box "T" Ontario Intelligencer. 722-3t

WANTED—DESIRABLE HOMES for boy and girls up to seven years of age; also girl 16. Apply Miss E. Dunn, Provincial Constable, Children's Aid Society, 28 Cedar Street. 718-tf

WANTED—EGGS WANTED UNgraded, extras 28c, firsts 24c, seconds 20c. Also wanted, one or two dozen egg cases loaded. Lewis and Reilly, Registered, 1936 Notre Dame, Wm. Montreal. 717-tf

TO-LET

ROOM WITH BOARD IN EXchange for light housework in small private home. All conveniences. Reference required. Apply middle aged lady. Write Box "U" Ontario Intelligencer for particulars. 725-2t

SEVEN ROOM HOUSE ON CANnifton Road. Possession now. Apply Mrs. J. V. Connell, Phone 6189. 725-2t

APARTMENT, NO. 1, GROUND floor; also separate apartment in the Bellevue Apartments. Apply Janitor on the premises. 725-2t

MODERN SIX ROOMED HOUSE with all conveniences on Charles St. Possession April 1st. Apply Benjamin St. 724-tf.

HOUSE, 243 COLEMAN, FURnace, hardwood floors, garage, leaving city. Blinds, range at reduction. Apply 19 Campbell St. 723-3t

BED SITTING ROOM FOR BUSIness man, with board. Use of phone. Write Box "S" Ontario Intelligencer. 722-3t

WANTED FURNISHED HEATED rooms, ground floor, private entrance. All conveniences. Phone 1092.

AVAILABLE APRIL 1ST. MODern house, 17 Dundas St. Six rooms, sun room, bath, oil furnace, garage, and wired for stove. Phone 3472 or apply 29 Dunbar St. 723-2t

FURNISHED HEATED LARGE front room. Use of bathroom. Garage. Close to business section 32 North Front St. 722-3t

FOUR ROOM APARTMENT, heated. All conveniences. Geo. Delzio, 190 Front St. 722-1w.

FURNISHED APARTMENT — all conveniences, electric refrigerator, Possession April first, Apply 23 Trinmill St. Phone 2-1-1 720-1w

HOUSE, ON PINNACLE STREET, second door north Baptist Church. Phone 7867. Apply 318 George St. 711-tf

APARTMENTS TO RENT. APply 6, J. Fisher, Bridge Street 628-tf

COTTAGE NO 39 GROVE ST., 7 rooms, furnace, laundry tubs gas and electric lights, street car, store Apply 36 Grove St. 615-tf

FOR SALE OR TO LET
UP TO DATE HOUSE NO. 21 Highland Ave. Can be had on easy payments or a bargain Apply Dan Doyle 126 Front St. Phone 869 Hours 2 to 3 p.m. 628-4t

BIRTHS

CAMPBELL—To Mr. and Mrs. Arnold C. Campbell (nee Nellie Hoffer) 153 Coleman St. on Feb. 24th, a son — (William Arnold, "Billie").

DEATHS

FOREIGN EXCHANGE
New York, Feb. 25.—Foreign Exchange irregular, demand rates. Great Britain in dollars, closed in cents—Great Britain 4.47 7-8; France 3.86 13-16; Italy 5.19 3-8; Germany 22.80.

WANTED

Classified Ad. Rates
PHONE 99

SOCIAL NOTICES—Births, 50c each; Engagements, Marriages, Deaths, 75c each. In Memoriam notices, $2.00. In Memoriam, $1.00; Memoriam notices, additional charge, $1.00 for 10 lines, over that 1c per count line. Lodge Resolving Announcements, minimum charge $2.00.

CLASSIFIED — (Per Side, Weekend)—Lines, 1 time, 10c; 3 times, 25c; 6 times, 50c; 1 week, 75c; 2 weeks, $1.25; 1 month, $2.50.

COMING EVENTS—No per insertion for 25 words or less, over that amount 1c per word.

PROFESSIONAL, BUSINESS, A AND B BUSINESS CARDS—(Yearly Contract) $24.00 per count line.

OFFICIAL MUNICIPAL AND GOVERNMENT NOTICES (Including those concerning Legal Sales) 15c per agate line (14 lines to inch) for first insertion; 10c per line for each subsequent insertion.

AUCTION SALE—3c per word, minimum charge $1.00. Cash must be delivered to Box Number care of the Ontario Intelligencer.

CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAYS

Change of Time effective
January 10, 1932

TRAINS GOING EAST

No 12 12.40 A.M.—Mail and Express daily.

No. 16 2.50 A.M.—The Maple Leaf Daily.

No. 8 2.32 A.M.—Express. Daily to Sat. Sun. Mon.

No. 14 11.30 A.M.—The International Limited, Daily.

No. 38 3.47 P.M.—The Capitol, daily except Sunday, to Ottawa.

No. 6 6.05 P.M.—The Inter - City Limited, 4.17 p.m. fast train to Montreal.

TRAINS GOING WEST

No. 19 2.45 A.M.—Mail and Express, daily.

No. 7 9.50 A.M.—Express, daily
No. 17 4.43 A.M.—The Inter - City Limited, daily.

No. 5 2.20 P.M.—The Maple Leaf, daily.

No. 25 4.37 P.M.—The Capitol daily except Sunday.

No. 29 5.00 P.M.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.

No. 15 8.00 P.M.—The International Limited, daily, fast train to Toronto.

BELLEVILLE TO PETERBORO.

No. 31 8.30 A.M.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.

BELLEVILLE TO MADOC

No. 33 2.55 P.M.—Local Passenger daily except Sunday.

INSURANCE

Fire, Automobile, Accident, and all other insurance.

Wide range of excellent Companies to choose from at reasonable rates.

FARM BUSINESS

a specialty with yearly, or three year policies

Your inquiry will be appreciated.

S. J. FISHER & SON, Insurance.

Successors to H. F. Kelcoscoe Co.,

39 Bridge St. E. Belleville

Phone 168.

ALTERATIONS CLOSED VER ANDAIRS HARDWOOD FLOOR GENERAL REPAIRS.

PAINTING.

Special Low Prices Now
By Day or Contract
Foster—1895-7
628-tf

FRASER AYLESWORTH

Ontario Land Surveyor and Registered Conveyancer. Licensed Land Surveyor Plans and Descriptions, Town and Country Property. Office 3 Bridge St. East Phone 1276 Belleville Ont.

H. R. and Vera E. Pitcher
CHIROPRACTORS
(Honour Graduates)
Palmo-Hydrotherapic Service
43½ Bridge St. E.
Phone 1276 Belleville Ont.

STOCKS AND BONDS
AUGHAN & CRAWFORD MEMbers of Toronto Stock Exchange. Phone 1788 F. B. Wills, Branch Manager.

LOST

LARGE BROWN AND WHITE pointed hound, back of Bowmanville. Finder kindly phone 1342M. 724-3t

600 THROWN OUT OF WORK
Three Rivers, Que., Feb. 25. — The six hundred employees of the Belgo Mill of the Canada Power and Paper Company of Shawinigan Falls, have been notified that the plant will cease operations on Feb. 26.

Business Directory

LEGAL

T. Y. WILLS BARRISTER, SOLICitor Notary Public, etc. 18 Campbell St., Belleville. Telephone 94.

FORTIER, PAYNE & ARNOTT, Barristers, Solicitors, and Notaries Public. Solicitors for Royal Bank Chas. A. Payne, K.C., R. D. Arnott. Offices: 210 Front St., Belleville.

MALCOLM WRIGHT, BARRISter, Solicitor, Notary Public, etc. Office: Campbellford, Ontario.

FONTON, FONTON & GRAHAM, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Conveyancers Offices: 28 Bridge Street east. Solicitors, Bank of Montreal. Money to loan on mortgages. W. N. Fonton, K.C., B. D. Fonton, K.C., B. J. Graham, K.C. Belleville.

WALLBRIDGE, CAMERON AND Co. (Successors to the late P. B. Wallbridge) Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries. Money to loan. Dominion Bank Building, corner Front and Bridge streets, Belleville, Ontario.

BUTLER, BUTLER, BARRISters, Solicitors, Notaries, etc. Office 28 Bridge Street E. W. J. Butler K.C., Belleville.

B. O. DONNAN, COUNTY CROWN Attorney, Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, etc. Crown House Building, Belleville, Ontario.

GOLDIE AND CUDDIHY A. B. Collins, K.C., F. O. Cuddihy, Barristers and Solicitors. Offices: Above Royal Bank, Corner Front and Campbell streets. Phone 152. Money to loan on first mortgage funds in loan on first mortgages.

INSURANCE

BONE & MARTIN
LIMITED
GENERAL
INSURANCE
Belleville, Ont.
Chamber of Commerce Bldg.
Phone 1364

The Toll is Always Great
Are you adequately insuffo-lently covered by
ASK US
BURROWS—FROST
231 Front St.

HALL & EARLE

General Insurance Fire, Automobile Accident, Plate Glass, 178 Front Street. Phone 1187W

DENTAL

DR. R. H. EMPSON, DENTIST (Successor to Dr Morton) Excelsior Block Front St. Phone 66, Belleville 192-Jan

DR. G. A. MARSHALL
DR. R. J. MARSHALL
Gas Anaesthesia
X-Ray
Evenings by Appointment
119 Bridge St. East Phone 148
(Between John and George)

MEDICAL

Dr. G. B. McCreary, B.Sc. Physician & Surgeon X-Rays & Physiotherapy Radium Treatment
139 Bridge St. East Phone 1200
(Between George and William)

Successors to H. F. Kelcoscoe Co.,
39 Bridge St. E Belleville
Phone 168.

DR. J. S. BIGHAM SPECIALIST, EYE EAR NOSE AND THROAT Post Graduate, New York. Nose, Throat and Lung Hospital and New York Eye and Ear Infirmary Glasses fitted and supplied. Office 60 Campbell St. Phone 3130 Hours 10-12, 2-4, and 7-9. 328-tf.

CHIROPRACTOR

S A SWART PH C. SPECIAL Sanitorium Treatments and adjustments given by the month for all ailments. Phone 3-0-2 for appointments. Office 3 Bridge St. East Belleville. Phone 1242 and Private 1242.

H. S. Parry
Authorized Agent for all Kinds
Phone 1812
15-tf

Not Pleased with New Mark Sir Malcolm Campbell Plans Try to Beat Record Today

British Racer Held Back By Head Winds in His Run

253.968 M.P.H.

Racer Works Wonderful And Conditions Ideal For Trial

Daytona Beach, Fla., Feb. 25.—(AP)—Sir Malcolm Campbell, British speed king, yesterday wrote another thrilling chapter to his years of racing history by hanging up a new world's automobile speed record of 253.968 miles an hour over a mile route.

The 47-year-old driver who has been blasting new speed marks down the "roaring road" for a quarter of a century, drove his 12-cylinder Napier-Bluebird car twice over the ocean course to surpass by 3.235 miles an hour his former record of 245.736 established in the same car here last year.

On his first run, made southward over the beach, Sir Malcolm attained the speed of 267.459 miles an hour. Upon reaching the south end of the course, he immediately turned the big bullet-like machine around and shot back northward over the beach at a speed of 241.775.

His covered the mile on his first run in 13.46 seconds and flashed across that distance on his second trial in 14.89 seconds for an average time of 14.17 seconds for both runs.

In establishing a new record over the mile, Sir Malcolm slipped .47 of a second off his old mark.

Not Yet Satisfied

Sir Malcolm said he was not satisfied with his new record, and that if beach conditions are suitable, he probably will make an attempt today to boost it even higher. He hopes to be able to make a speed of 260 or 265 miles an hour.

"I am not at all satisfied with my record," he said, as he climbed out of the car to receive congratulations from thousands of spectators.

"I should have driven much faster, but the wind on my run north slowed me up considerably. It felt as though it was blowing at least 30 miles an hour and my car was held back by such a headwind.

"I am going to check over my car and if I find it is in good condition, and the beach still is good, I shall try for a faster record then.

"During both of my runs, I had to steer the car with all my might because of the wind. Toward the south end of the course, I had to run through water left by the incoming tide, and it looked like a lake as I approached and dashed through it."

On his runs yesterday, Sir Malcolm also established new world speed records over one and five kilometre routes, but the announcement was not made public by officials until last night after they had checked their calculations.

Sir Malcolm's new record for the kilometre, which is approximately 2,200 feet less than a mile, was 261.340 miles an hour, compared with his former record for that distance of 246.086. His new record for five kilometres was 241.566 miles an hour as compared with his old record of 216.945.

On his first run, Sir Malcolm crossed the kilometre in 8.43 seconds for a speed of 262.943 miles an hour, and on the second run was clocked at 27 seconds over the mile at 241.308 over that distance for an average time of 14.90 seconds and an average speed of 231.340.

He crossed the five kilometres on his first run in 44.33 seconds for a speed of 253.304 miles an hour, and on his return trip was clocked over that distance at 43.27 seconds for a speed of 259.519 miles an hour. His average two way time for the distance was 46.30 seconds for an average speed of 241.307 miles an hour.

On his first run, Sir Malcolm found his oil tank had been filled too full, and when the car attained a high speed, the oil splashed over his windshield.

"It was not serious," he said. "And so I decided to make my second run immediately."

Except for splotches of oil on the car, the machine showed no evidence of having been damaged. The two rear tires were slightly cut in several places, apparently from tiny shells buried in the sand, but the fresh tires, did not appear to be worn.

Sir Malcolm was exceedingly calm after his record achievement, and stretched out his arm on the hood to show newspapermen his nerves were quite steady.

KINGSTON IMPORTS ICE

KINGSTON, Feb. 25. — For the first time in many years, ice was shipped here from an outside point. Two carloads of ice arrived over the C.P.R. from Sharbot Lake for a local dairy. The ice is of fine quality and 14 inches thick. No ice has been cut in the local harbor for ideal companies as yet, and an ice famine faces Kingston unless the cold weather holds out for a few days and forms thick enough ice for cutting.

Maintain Your Health TAKE REGULARLY
Scott's Emulsion

India Round Table Committee Affirms Equality of Sexes

New Delhi, India, Feb. 25.—(CP Cable)—The working committee of the Round-Table Conference, considering the composition of a statement of rights of Hindus, Europeans and Sikhs in a proposed new constitution for India, yesterday decided to affirm the equality of sexes, in the face of a minority disagreement on the part of Moslem members.

The dissenting view of the Moslems was recorded, although all other members agreed in the majority decision.

The committee also decided all citizens, without regard to race or creed, should have the right to carry arms, subject to certain regulations.

BANKS CHOOSE DIRECTORS OF BEAUHARNOIS

But Ottawa And Quebec Each to Approve Two Members

RETAIN MANAGER

New Order-in-Council to Be Tabled in Commons

Ottawa, Feb. 25—Final approval by the Federal Cabinet of the plan of reorganization of the Beauharnois Power Corporation will be given in a few days. Two or three minor changes in the lengthy Order-in-Council, it is understood, have been made. It is believed there are no essential differences between the Federal Government and the Quebec government as to the terms and conditions of reorganization. The order will be tabled in the House.

On the changed personnel of the Board of Directors the three banks chiefly interested in the completion of the development—the Bank of Montreal, the Royal Bank of Canada, and the Canadian Bank of Commerce—will name practically all the members, but it is understood that the list of the new board will be subject to the approval of the Dominion and two by the Province of Quebec.

It is expected that when the plans are finally approved it will have been decided to retain R. A. C. Henry as general manager on a salary basis, in view of his intimate knowledge of the project as an engineer.

It is believed that any move on the part of the Dominion Government to assume the right to determine the rates to be charged by the power developed incidentally to the Lachine canal will be subject to a decision later to be sought by Ontario municipalities in Canada as to Federal jurisdiction. Whatever reference is made to the courts will be based on a "friendly" case, as distinguished from the famous reference by the previous government on a purely hypothetical case, which resulted in an indecisive judgment by the Supreme Court.

Representatives of the three banks met in Ottawa today and conferred with the government in regard to future financing of the project. It is understood an agreement has been reached which will ensure the early completion of the work.

It is now confidently expected that the Beauharnois concern will be able to fulfil its contract with the Ontario Hydro Electric Power Commission and deliver the first unit of power to that body next fall.

DREAM FINDS MISSING RING

Jewelry Lost Two Years Ago Discovered By Dream

St. Thomas, Feb. 25—A St. Thomas woman who lost a valuable gold ring, prized as a keepsake two years ago while playing with her children on a farm lot which she was making, recovered the ring Wednesday morning as a result of a dream, it is claimed, that she imagined herself sleeping on the missing jewelry.

The story is vouched for by Dr. H. E. Lumley, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. For two years the woman had searched in vain for the ring only to be directed by her dream to the precise point where it lay hidden in the mattress.

An exhibition of modern British painting with a special section for Canadian art was opened at Tokyo recently.

Drives Bluebird 253.968 M. P. H.

Daytona Beach, packed with cheering thousands, saw Sir Malcolm C ampbell, famous English race driver, pilot his machine over the perfect course in faster time than human e ver made over ground. He will most likely make another attempt to lower his own mark. Hail Sir Malcolm.

FINLAYSON IS SURE PLANES ARE RELIABLE

Air Board Enquiry Does Not Blame Pilot, He Claims

MAKES REPLY

Planes Used Perfectly Suitable For Forestry Work

Toronto, Feb. 25.—Legislature allegations of Earl Hutchinson (Labor, Kenora), that the Hamilton aeronautical board which enquired four members of the Ontario Forestry Service into their deaths in a Rainy Lake crash late last summer was an "eyewash" and a farce, totally unsuited to forestry work, and built by a United States concern no longer doing business, totally unsuited to forestry work, and built by a United States concern no longer doing business, totally unsuited to forestry work, and built by a United States concern no longer doing business

District News

SIDNEY TOWNSHIP

Sterling

The W.M.S. of St. Andrew's Church met at the home of Mrs. Nolan on Tuesday afternoon. The President, Mrs. W. L. Anderson, in the chair. After the opening hymn "Come let us all unite to sing" Mrs. Bissonnette led in the invocation and prayer. The Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. James Montgomery, the minutes and business were followed by reports of the various sections. Each member had to give them about a Home Missionary as a response to the Roll Call. Mrs. Bissonnette told of the part the Western Indians took in the Great War. Miss Irene Spry explained part of the first chapter of the Study Book "The Ills of Agriculture". Mrs. C. Bailey gave a touching little story of Johnny and his sixpence.

The meeting closed with Mispah Benediction after, which a very dainty lunch was served by the hostess and a social half hour spent.

Mr. E. T. Williams was taken by surprise on Tuesday night, when Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Reid, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Thompson, Mr. Jonathan Chard, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Mulln called upon him. The evening was spent in social intercourse and before leaving a dainty lunch was served by the visitors.

The members of the Ladies Aid will Bible Class of St. Paul's church tendered a Birthday Card shower to Miss Knox, on the occasion of her 80th birthday on Feb. 18th. Miss Knox is in wonderfully good health for her age and her many friends wish her many more birthdays.

Miss Wootten and her brother, Ernest of Aurora spent the luncheon hour with Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Draper of Sine on Wednesday, Feb. 17th.

3rd Sidney

3rd Line Sidney, Feb. 20 By Mail —A very impressive service was given at Allen's church on Sunday afternoon by Rev. Mayberry Hall of Bethesda Church, Belleville. The congregation is always glad to have Rev. Mr. Hall as he specially pleased with his timely subject on the distressing situation in the Orient.

Allen's W.M.S. meeting was held on Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Bellhouse, with a good attendance and a splendid meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Bonisteel and family of Belleville spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Adams.

Mr. and Mrs. Eggleston had tea on Monday evening with Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Richards.

Miss Annabel Adams entertained the cast of characters for "Hearts Safe" at her home on Tuesday evening.

Mrs. Henry Kells is spending a few days with Mrs. Harley Hubbs and family.

8th Sidney

8th Sidney—Mr. and Mrs. Sheldon McIntosh and family visited Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bush one evening last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Urman and children spent Thursday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Chard.

The assessors have made their calls in the neighborhood for this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Bush and daughters spent Sunday at the home of Mrs. Ernest Burkitt.

Zion

Zion, Feb. 20 By Mail—Mrs. Mary Sills is very ill in her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Lloyd attended the funeral of the late Joseph Tanner of Stirling on Saturday.

Several from this place attended the dairyman's meeting at Belleville on Thursday.

Miss Monica McEvoy of St. Catherines, spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Owen McEvoy.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Snider visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Brandon on Sunday.

The hum of the wood saw is heard again on this line.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen McEvoy and family visited friends at Stoco on Sunday.

A few of the young folks attended the hockey match at Stirling between Zion and Cannifton on Tuesday night.

Wooler

Wooler, Feb. 20 By Mail—Edith Austin is ill and will need to rest from school for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Dorland, Mr. and Mrs. Lester Richards, Raymond and Lena were guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Rowe, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Scott entertained Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Rowe, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Putman, Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Wessels, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Terrill and Mr. and Mrs. Herb Wessels to dinner on Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Richards entertained on Wednesday evening Rev. A. Poulter, Mrs. Poulter, Patricia Theodore, Mr. and Mrs. William Montgomery, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Terrill.

Mr. O'Callaghan of Ottawa spent Tuesday and Wednesday at Floral Hill farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Mabee, Mrs. Hugh Gainsforth and Mrs. R. Putman spent Tuesday in Kingston.

Mr. Br—Putman had the misfortune to break a bone in his right hand.

The young people enjoyed a skate on the flats, Tuesday evening.

Ladies' Aid met on Thursday — lunch served at noon by six hostesses. The president, Mrs. A. G. Austin presiding over the meeting in the afternoon.

Madoc

Madoc—The Young People's Society of Trinity United Church held a very interesting and pleasing Valen's Party on Tuesday evening, Feb 16th, in the Sunday School Rooms Miss Mildred Brooks worth had charge of the program and after the devotional exercises a sacred song, "Jesus is my sweetheart" was sung by Margaret Moore, Harlan Smith and Phyllis Pickford. A reading, "When I have time" was given by Miss Stewart, and a piano solo by Miss Sallsbury. The Valentine entertainment was followed by social hour spent in Valentine games and contests. A beautiful box of candies was presented by the young men.

A very successful Valentine tea was held at the home of Mrs. Vanches back on Monday afternoon under the auspices of Trinity Young People's Society for their Mission fund.

Mrs. R. Binford was the delightful hostess at a very pleasant tea under the auspices of St. Peter's W.M.S. A creditable sum was added to the worthy fund.

The Women's Missionary Society of St. Peter's Presbyterian Church held their February meeting at the home of Mrs. Pickford. Devotions were presented of the Presbyterial held at Trenton, by Mrs. J. West, Mrs. Ross Ireland and Miss Mackintosh, which were very interesting. Mrs. Curry and Mrs. O. Wright had charges of the Study period, after which the meeting was closed and a social half-hour was spent.

Lenten mid-week services were begun on Monday last in the Presbyterian of St. John's Anglican Church, Madoc, Rev. F. Galley Reynolds, proposes to give a series of addresses on "The Temptations of Jesus". There was an excellent attendance at this first service.

The Anglican young people are preparing a play to be presented on Easter Monday. Under the secret tuition of Rev. and Mrs. Reynolds, the practices are already under way, and all are interested in the work of preparation.

Miss Bernice Hall was the week-end guest of her friend, Miss Helen Hurlbut in Toronto over last week.

Mrs. Jas. Aylesworth and children, Mrs. Ernest Aylesworth and sisters, Misses Vera and Florence Ballance in Deseronto. Miss Eleanor Aylesworth very ably assisted as Organist at St. John's Anglican Church, Madoc, in the absence of Mrs. Aylesworth the organist.

Mr. Ernest Pine of the Pine Settlefest had the misfortune to fall on the ice while putting his motor in the drive house last Wednesday, sustaining severe cuts on his face and injuries to his leg.

Master Harry White received a bad cut requiring several stitches to eye when a car jack flew up striking him in the face. Dr. F. J. Nickle of Eldorado attended him.

A united meeting for the World's Day of Prayer and the Evening Women's Missionary Society was held at the home of Mrs. Albert Empey by the Eldorado ladies. Special Scripture readings and prayers were offered by the members present and at the close a social half-hour was spent.

Mr. Geo. Mawbee was the lucky winner of the Hercules clock offered by Dafoe's Hardware Store for the holder of the lucky ticket on Saturday last. Talk about luck to Newcastle!!

Mr. Robert Fox, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. S. Fox of Madoc, of the White's Hardware Staff of Belleville, suffered an acute attack of appendicitis on Saturday, Feb. 9th, later undergoing an operation in the Belleville General Hospital. He is making a very satisfactory recovery.

The World's Day of Prayer, Feb 12th was observed by the women of Madoc in Trinity United Church.

The W.A.U.D. held its monthly meeting at the close, praying specially for the Disarmament of Nations and for the success of the Geneva Conference of the League of Nations.

The members of the Eastern Star held a pleasant social evening on Wednesday, 10th, in the Orange Hall. Thirteen tables of bridge and 8 ght of euchre were played during the evening, and the prizes for bridge were won by Miss Ratney and Mr. Dr. Nickle. The winners for euchre were Mrs. Wilfred Phillips and Mr. Ambrose Smith. Mrs. Ambrose Smith won the door prize. After dainty refreshments were served, the balance of the evening was spent in dancing.

Stirling

Stirling—Mr. Lindsay Meikle-John is still in Toronto under the Doctor's care.

Miss Wescotte is slightly improved, although still confined to bed.

Miss Florence Fairs is home again, suffering from pneumonia in a serious form.

Mr. W. L. Fox is able to be out again after an attack of influenza.

Miss Della Caldwell is still confined to her home through an attack of La Grippe.

River Valley Junior story group met their second meeting on Feb. 11th with a large attendance: Rev. and Mrs. Rowland were in attendance and a fine program was put on.

St. Paul's W. A. realized $20.00 at their Home-Cooking Sale in Bullen's Rooms on Saturday.

Misses Lillian McGuire and Alice Calder, B. A. spent the week-end at the latter's home in Trenton.

The "Hands across the seas" Mission Band of St. Paul's Church held a successful Tea and Sale of Home-made Cooking on Friday afternoon. Approximately $25.00 was realized.

St Andrew's Ladies Aid met on Thursday as usual and quilted a quilt and served a 10c lunch.

St. Paul's W.M.S members met in the home of Mrs. Parkes on Tuesday, and quilted three quilts, one was donated to the Mission Band to put up for sale if they wished.

Birthday Greetings

A Birthday Card Shower was tendered Miss Knox on the occasion of her 80th birthday, Feb. 18, by her many friends in Stirling and elsewhere, which very ably supplied us. Thos Matthews, a relative, where she was treated most royally even to the birthday cake in her honor. Throughout the day and evening, callers came and went all conveying good wishes. Miss Knox is hale and hearty and still does lovely knitting, patching quilts, doing fancy work etc, and is a most efficient and conscientious.

Mrs. Ernest Ward was operated on in Belleville General Hospital on Feb. 20th.

Mrs. Joe Whitehead entertained a few of her many friends on Thursday evening.

Col. D. Bowerman of Bayside was a Stirling visitor on Wednesday.

St. John's A.Y.P.A. held their regular meeting this week in the Vestry, after the devotional period the Roll Call was responded to by a verse from St. Matthew's Gospel. Mr. Craven gave the "Rules of the Road" and also an account of the "Creation of a Woman." Contests were put on by Margaret Bateson and Mrs.Dan'ord. The meeting was closed by the National Anthem.

Mr. Fidon Lawrence has purchased the service station formerly belonging to Mr. Roy Eggleton and is already in possession.

Mrs. M. W. Ash is in possession of what might be termed a "Freak Geranium, on one of the stalks of the blossom a leaf appeared in the centre of the bloom, then another stalk grew up in the centre of the previous stalk and more leaves mixed in the second installment of bloom, and now the bunch of leaves grew around the blooms of the first bloom. It is certainly a unique occurrence.

Halloway

Halloway—Miss Marjorie Bache of Huff's Island is spending a few days with her friend, Miss Vera Rose.

Miss Mildred Elliott spent the week with her aunt Mrs. R. Townsend.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Prest took tea with Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Reid on Sunday last.

Mrs. Herb Townsend entertained the W.M.S. to dinner at the church on Wednesday.

Mr. Earl Lidster called on some friends here on Sunday afternoon and evening.

Mrs. Geo. Ostrom received word hear that her sister Mrs. Herbertson died at Belleville Hospital on Wednesday night.

4th Sidney

4th Sidney, Feb. 24 By Mail — Rev. Knox of Belleville, occupied his pulpit here on Sunday evening.

Mrs. C. Holmes with her Sunday School class of seven young men entertained the drama players in the dining hall on Wednesday evening to a very enjoyable social evening. Games and music were enjoyed by all present.

The congregational meeting of the Stone Church was held in the dining hall on Monday night last with a good attendance. The Ladies' Aid gave a very appetizing supper to which about fifty sat down. After supper Mr. and Mrs. J. Reid who are moving away from our midst were presented with an address and a very beautiful rocking chair to which Mr. and Mrs. Reid made a very suitable reply.

Quite a number from this line attended the sale at Mr. Bunnell's Foxboro, on Tuesday last.

A number on this list are confined to their home with severe colds.

Skating has been the order of the day during the past week with the young people rushing bookish.

Miss Pegy Jury nurse-in-training at the Belleville Hospital spent Saturday afternoon under the parental roof.

SidneyCrossing

Sidney Crossing, Feb. 24 By Mail —Mr. and Mrs. C. Ketchneon entertained a number of friends on Friday evening.

The monthly meeting of the Aikins Ladies Aid was held at the home of Mrs. A. Pape on Wednesday last. The Reds gave a dinner and entertained the Blues. A large number were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Stickle of Frankford, were guests on Monday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Stickle.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank White accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Hogle took tea on Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Earl Emy, Belleville.

Miss Phyllis May of Centenary, is spending a few days with Mrs. Wilburn Westover.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Jeffrey and family also Mr. and Mrs. Ritchie Ketchem and family took tea on Friday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Jones, Front Road.

Bayside

Bayside—Rev. Mr. Butler preached to a large congregation Sunday evening.

Although authorities have from time to time been appealed to get a path from Belleville to Trenton, where the motor traffic is heavist, nothing has been done, a very little would put cinders on the old Kingston road, but that summer is coming, where there is more traffic than ever. It is a shame to let little children's lives be endangered twice a day, going and coming from school.

The Ladies Association of White's Church met on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Green in Bayside, for an All Days meeting with a good attendance.

The All Days Supper meeting was held this year at the home of Mrs. Rowe Hunt.

This neighborhood was greatly shocked to hear of the death by heart trouble, at her home in Trenton of Miss Edith Rose, daughter of Mr. Fred Rose. She was a great help to the S. S. and Church here.

Auto traffic is said to move more steadily at a speed of 34.5 miles an

YOU may say much more, but the strongest claim we make is

REDROSE TEA "is good tea"

2 CHOICE QUALITIES — Red Label & Orange Pekoe

AT THE ART EXHIBITION
"Well, my good man, warming your heart at the fine feast of Art?"
"No, warming my feet on the bloomin radiators."
—The Passing Show, London.

Always FRESH at Loblaw's

MONARCHS in COFFEE VALUES

In these days when "freshness" is being so strongly urged as a foremost necessity in foodstuffs it is a pleasure for us to look back on the development of this idea from the very beginning of the LOBLAW SELF-SERVE SYSTEM.

"Always fresh at Loblaw's" was as true ten years ago as it is today. Keeping abreast of the times as new methods of packing are discovered, we are always in a position to offer our customers the very latest and best in coffee values.

"Coffee Perfection"

Full flavored—packed in vacuum tins to doubly ensure its freshness. "Coffee Perfection." lb. 49c

"So Good You'll want More"

A pleasing mellow blend —packed in air-tight tins to preserve the freshness. Preferred by the great majority. lb. 41c

BIFTI Oxtail Soup Tin of 4 Tablets 14c

SPECIAL—
For Mirror-like floors at less cost.
Old English WAX 26c
PASTE 43c
1 lb. Tin

Liquid ½ Pint Bottle

"A Triumph in Quality & Price"

A popular fragrant blend in parchment lined bags for economy. Exceptional Value. lb. 34c

"Beckoning Call to Breakfast"

In the modern moisture-proof cellophane package—a good coffee, carefully blended at a very reasonable price. lb. 26c

ROSE Brand SWEET MIXED Pickles 12 oz. Jar 24c

SPECIAL—Serve Hot or Cold—
TODDY ½ lb. Tin 26c 1 lb. Tin 43c

SPECIAL—LOBLAW'S TRUMPET BLACK
TEA 29c lb.
Blended to meet a definite demand for a good black tea at a reasonable price.
Reg. Price 35c

SPECIAL!
Treat the Family!
Loblaw's Hostess
Golden PEANUT BRITTLE
2
One Pound Packages
27c

SPECIAL—Fancy Quality—Delicious
LOBSTER Quarters 3 oz. Tin 17c

SPECIAL—IT SCOURS; IT CLEANS!
DIAMOND CLEANSER Tin 4½c

SPECIAL—Cleans Everything!
OXYDOL Large Package 19c

SPECIAL BURFORD BRAND PEAS No. 2 Size Tin 5c

LOBLAW GROCETERIAS CO., Limited

PRINCE EDWARD

Massassaga

Massassaga, Feb. 20. By Mail—Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Osborne, of Alma, were dinner guests of their son Charles and family on Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. John Walker were callers at the home of Mrs. T. Hurt on Friday. Mrs. Hurt's father, Mr. Post, is quite ill.

Mrs. D. Davidson was a caller at Mrs. McNeil's on Friday.

Mrs. Harry Joss spent the last week with Mrs. Asa Broad.

The Trails Inn held a fisher and fox banquet on Friday evening. The Ladies' Aid provided the meal.

Mrs. H. Broad entertained the Circle girls at a social evening on Thursday last.

Most every home in this section has members down with colds or the flu, in some whole families are ill.

Massassaga—Mrs. Ray Alyea left on Saturday for Toronto where she will spend some time.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. H. Joslyn, the stork has left a baby boy.

On Friday last Mr. J. McNeil killed a garter snake over 3 feet in length and reported he saw a grass hopper earlier in the week. A number of lambs and a crane have been seen lately.

Mr. H. Broad is much better after being sick and under Dr. Cronk's care for the past two weeks.

The ladies' aid and banquet was a decided success. The meal was delicious and the proceeds were gratifying.

Mr. and Mrs. J. McNeil spent Tuesday in Frankford.

More and more people are going down with flu.

Rednersville

Rednersville—Mr. and Mrs. A. Thompson of Belleville spent Thursday with Mrs. W. M. Caldwell.

Mrs. Frederick and Eva of Kingston were Thursday visitors of Mrs. W. Farley.

Much sympathy is extended to Mr. J. F. Dempsey and family in the loss of a loving wife and mother.

Mrs. Wm. Caldwell is ill.

Miss Eva Wannamaker entertained company on Sunday.

Mr. W. Russell underwent a critical operation in Belleville Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Earle Gilbert and son of Carrollton were Sunday visitors at Mr. W. M. Caldwell's.

Victoria

Victoria—Mr. and Mrs. Ross Burgett Tuesday with Mr. Will Fox.

Mrs. Herb Fuller entertained her Sunday School class at her home on Monday evening.

Miss Hilda Bush spent Thursday with Mrs. J. E. Glenn, Roblin's Mills.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Fox spent Thursday at Mr. Harold Adams', Consecon.

Mr. and Will Fox and Karl and Mrs. D. B. Fox spent Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. Geo. McCurdy, West Huntingdon.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb Purver and sons spent Wednesday with her parents Mrs. Geo. Pyper, Mrs. Keith Pryner returned home with her sister for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Brickman called Sunday evening at Mr. Ray Fox's.

Mrs. Calvin Bonter and Irma and Mr. Joe Foley of Wellington spent Sunday with Mr. Lorne Brickman.

Mrs. Henry Lamb spent a few days with her sister and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Crouter, who have pneumonia.

Mr. Tom Wilson is in the Belleville Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Redner motored to Kingston Saturday afternoon to visit Mrs. Redner's uncle, Mr. Willet Noxon in the Kingston General Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Bateman, Miss Alice Hubbs spent Sunday evening at Mr. Will Fox's.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bedell and Mr. and Mrs. Everett Brickman took tea on Friday evening at Mr. Everett Brickman's.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Fox and Mrs. S. W. Bush spent Sunday at Wellington, Mrs. Fox remained to her home after spending several weeks with her daughter.

Centre

Centre—Mr. and Mrs. Burton Redner motored to Kingston on Saturday afternoon and visited the latter's uncle, Mr. Willet Noxon, who is in the General Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Giles and family visited at Picton on Sunday.

Congratulations are tendered to Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Redner on the arrival of a fine baby girl Saturday morning.

Mrs. Frank Branagh is spending some time with Mrs. D. K. Redner.

Miss Ina Pyrner of Monarch View is visiting her sister Mrs. Herbert Pulver and family for a few days.

Mrs. Stanton Fox is somewhat improved in health after a severe attack of the shingles.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Fox and Earl also Mrs. Julia Fox visited at Geo. McCurdy's of West Huntingdon on Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Marquis Moy were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Fox on Monday evening.

Several from this neighborhood attended the funeral service of Miss Spurgeon Dempsey at Rednersville Church on Thursday afternoon and also attended Mr. Randal Weese's funeral at Albury, Friday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Pulver visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Wemmer, of Mountain View, on Wednesday.

Mr. John Calrns has been ill.

The Valentine social evening of the Young People's S.S. Class of Mrs. Hubert Pulver's on Monday evening was much enjoyed.

Cherry Valley

Cherry Valley—Mr. and Mrs. Tom Bowerman and daughter took tea, Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Moore.

Mrs. Mary Whattam and daughter entertained company to dinner on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Goodwin spent Wednesday evening at the Kennagh home.

Mr. J. H. Francis with his family took dinner Sunday with his daughter Mrs. C. Tripp, Point Petre.

Mr. Howard Lowery has purchased the late Mrs. Hineman's home in the village.

Mrs. Rev. Smith is entertaining a friend from Brockville.

Mr. Stanley McGibbon is in very poor health.

The many friends of Miss Ruth Bowerman will be pleased to know she is able to be out again after being shut in for three months with a broken arm. She soon will be able to be back in the school again.

Mrs. Clarence Tripp spent Friday with Mrs. Harold Mrs. Harvey Carbrader, who has been confined to bed with the flu but her many friends are glad to learn she soon will be up again.

Mrs. Mrs. Orland Walker, Milford spent the tea hour with the ladies' aid meeting, and Mrs. W. Striker recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Manly Flake entertained the Cherry Valley choir at their home Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Allen entertained company to dinner on Sunday last.

Misses Olgie, Susie, Bessie and Clara Wagner, Isla Tuesday last with Miss F. Francis.

Mr. and Mrs. Morley Emory, Rossmore, spent Sunday with the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Emory.

Mr. and Mrs. Leighton Pinemore and Donald spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Williams.

Mrs. Emma Spafford spent Thursday with her daughter, Mrs. Geo. Tuttle.

Mrs. G. Lowery is ill with La Grippe.

Mr. Wilfred Taylor, formerly of Toronto, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Stanley McKibbon and his brother Horace of Wampoos are ill with the misfortune to hurt his hand last Tuesday when the motor cycle he was riding turned over. He is under the care of Dr. Allison.

Mr. Roger Blakely has accepted a position at the British American Service Station in Picton.

Allisonville

Allisonville—The dance in the Orange Hall, Friday evening was well attended. All report having a jolly time.

Mrs. Charlie McPaul returned to her home, after spending a few days with her daughter, Mrs. Earl Boyd, Belleville.

Mrs. A. E. Weese and son Barry returned to Toronto Thursday after a pleasant visit to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. McHenry.

Miss Ida Peterson was the guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Istead, Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Telford entertained a number of their friends, Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. C. L. McHenry motored to Belleville, Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jinks, North Lakeside, Consecon were recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Istead.

Ameliasburg 3

3rd Ameliasburg—Miss Margurerite Hamilton of Little Lake, visited her aunt, Mrs. George Aleya on Saturday and on Sunday with her cousin, Miss Helen Adams.

Mr. Howard Adams left for Toronto on Sunday afternoon. He has a lucrative position in view.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. DeLong were Sunday guests of Mrs. Dempsey Tyler and her brother Mr. David Isabella.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Alyea, Mr. C. N. Adams and Mr. and Mrs. Orlo Ceburn Adams spent Wednesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Morley Carrington.

Mr. and Mrs. Earle Humphrey spent Saturday in Belleville.

Mr. Gordon Adams of Albert College spent the week-end with the parental roof.

Mr. and Mrs. Karl Williamson and children of Albury spent the noon hour on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Orlo Ceburn Adams.

Mr. and Mrs. Smith Brown, Harvey and Eva were supper guests on Sunday with Mr. C. N. Adams and Mr. and Mrs. Orlo Ceburn Adams.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sager and baby of Albury visited her parents Mr. and Mrs. Orlo Ceburn Adams, Sunday.

Mrs. Gordon Boyle and Helen attended institute meeting at Mrs. Ralph Thompson's, Consecon on Friday evening.

3rd Ameliasburg—Mr. and Mrs. N. Carrington visited Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Aythart on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Adams and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. Pope.

Miss Flosie Humphrey is visiting Mrs. Wm. Brickman.

As Gandhi Followers Rioted

Above are two of the scenes that marked the celebration of "Frontier Day" in Bombay, India. The photograph shows Gurka policemen charging through that gathered to protest the slaying of fourteen persons in Peshawar during a meeting of Gandhi supporters. Many were injured in the riots that followed the police attempts to disperse the Hindu demonstrators. The lower picture shows some of the rioters who clashed with the police and who had to be given assistance for transportation to hospital.

Crofton

Crofton—Mr. and Mrs. Leon Caughey and Mr. and Mrs. Loren Caughey spent the tea hour on Monday with Mr. and Mrs. Simon Caughey and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Bongard, Betty and Jerrold, spent the tea hour on Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Munroe and Donald.

Mrs. Harold Baker visited at Mrs. Eugene Roraback's on Monday afternoon.

Rev. R. J. and Mrs. MacCormack spent the tea hour on Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. R. Bongard and family.

Mrs. Burt has returned after spending a few days with her mother Mrs. Al. Way.

Mr. Harold Baker visited his grandmother Mrs. McGinnis at Picton, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Blake Jones took tea with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Crook on Monday.

Mr. Jack Gibson spent the tea hour on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Gray and family.

Mrs. Ray Broadbridge and baby Winnifred visited her grandmother Mrs. Angus Rychman one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Clarke were guests on Saturday.

Among those to attend the social evening at Miller's Hall on Friday night were Mr. and Mrs. Victor Bongard and Mr. and Mrs. Loren Munroe, Mr. and Mrs. Murney Parks and the Misses Vera and Marguerite Pine.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Jones and Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Roraback visited Belleville on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Baker and children and Mr. Norman and Miss Irene of Burr's visited at Mr. S. Munroe's on Saturday evening.

Mr. James Clement of Big Island spent some time with his daughter, Mrs. Blake Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Covert were at Picton on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Crook and Kenneth tea on Wednesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Gray and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Bongard spent Thursday evening the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Steven Noxon.

Rossmore

Rossmore, Feb 24 By Mail — Mrs. Grant Maiden, Belleville, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Brickman.

Mr. A. C. Alyea and son Jack spent the week end in Toronto.

Mrs. and Mrs. Hiltz Betty Reddick are ill.

Mrs. G. Burke entertaining company on Sunday.

Mrs. Claude Thompson spent Friday afternoon with Mrs. Caldwell, Rednersville.

Mr. Lowe spent the week end with his mother, Mrs. Irwin, Napanee.

Mrs. S. Young entertained company on Sunday.

Mrs. Cook of Consecon, spent Sunday with Mr. C. Cook.

Mr. Sam Hart spent Sunday afternoon in Belleville.

Mrs. Stanley Belnap, Laura and Fern spent Sunday evening with Mrs. L. Grove.

Mrs. A. Thompson is ill with laGrippe, also Master Bert Alyea.

Mr. Charles Thompson and Mr. John Belnap spent Saturday in Picton on business.

Miss Dot Humphry, of Belleville, is visiting Mrs. Wm. Brickman.

WEST LAKE

West Lake, Feb. 23 By Mail—Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Brown attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Wesley Gerson near Napanee on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson were residents of this place some years ago and while here lost their only son Alfred, a bright young lad. Much sympathy is felt for Mr. Anderson in his great loss.

Mrs. J. P. Blakely visited in Picton on Tuesday.

The pancake social at the church on Shrove Tuesday was very well attended and everyone enjoyed the delicious eats and the delightful programme.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Greatrix have returned from Niagara where they visited relatives.

Mrs. Leslie Aid met at the home of Mrs. Frank Huff for their February meeting on Thursday afternoon last week. A large number of ladies availed themselves of the privilege and spent a delightful afternoon. Many new members were added to the roll.

Mr. E. Dickson has been confined to the house with a bad cold.

Miss Mary Rutter spent Sunday at her home here.

Miss Luella Rose is spending some time in Toronto.

Mrs. Frank Huff has been visiting friends in Picton.

Mrs. P. Weeks spent last week with Mrs. Cunningham.

AMELIASBURG

Ameliasburg Fourth, Feb. 25 By Mail—Mr. and Mrs. Norris Gibson spent Wednesday evening with Mr. Will Gibson.

Miss Lillian Craighead of Ameliasburg, and Miss Dorothy Coleman were guests of Miss Muriel Howe of Consecon, on Thursday.

Mrs. Chas. Sager and Mrs. Thos. Price spent Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. James Hamilton, Ameliasburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Brooks of Melville, spent Tuesday with the latter's father, Mr. Wesley Pryde and Leone.

Mr. and Frank Cannon and Bert spent Sunday evening with their uncle, Mr. Robert Cannon.

Mr. Will Reddick has secured the milk route for the summer to Mr. Robert Cannon and Burdett factory and Mr. Robert Cannon has the same route he had last summer.

Mrs. Chas Sager and Mrs. and Mrs. Thos. Price were guests on Sunday evening of Lindsay Irwin of North Lakeside on Sunday.

Miss Lenora Arthur of Consecon spent the week end the guest of Misses Eva and Nina Carnrike.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Spencer and family spent Wednesday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Spencer, Ameliasburg.

Misses. Will Reddick and Chas. Kemp were at Picton on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Vancott of Ameliasburg were guests of Mr. William Way and Leone on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. N. Gooding and Madge and Mr. and Mrs. Ira Perguson attended the "At Home" at Allisonville on Friday evening.

Mr. Lorne Yeo of Ameliasburg is helping Mr E. Wyeott and Cerald in the woods.

Mrs. Chas. Sager, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Price, Mr. William Way and Leone, spent Saturday evening at Mr. Harry Simmonds'.

Rev. A. E. Tavener of Consecon, spent the tea hour on Sunday evening with Mr. Robert Cannon.

There are approximately 2,000 daily newspapers in the United States.

Stops the Headache

Thousands of people, who once suffered from headache, do not suffer now. They take one ZUTOO TABLET, as harmless as soda, and are relieved in 20 minutes.

Zutoo

MOUNTAIN VIEW

Mountain View, Feb. 25 By Mail—Mr. and Mrs. Morley Wood and Earle of Centre, spent the dinner hour on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Wood and family.

A number of people from this vicinity attended the cheese meeting held in Roblin's Mills on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarke Sprung spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tripp of Picton.

Mrs. Hugh Fymer has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Herb Pulver of Centre for the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Sprague also Misses Elizabeth Jordan, Lillian Sprague and Audrey Weare entertained on Wednesday evening at a party in honor of Mrs. Clayton Sprung.

Miss Ila Wood who has been ill with grippe for the past week is feeling some better now.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Sprague and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Sprague, also Mr. and Mrs. Clarke Sprung were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Loral Wannamaker, Moira street, Belleville.

Mr. J. E. Sprague and Mr. Wesley Milligan, of Big Island, are labelling canned goods in Belleville to be shipped out in the near future.

Rev. W. Fletcher spent the tea hour on Sunday night with Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Tripp.

Miss Hazel Minaker spent the week end with her mother, Mrs. Walter Minaker.

Miss Audrey Way of Bowerman's is visiting her sister, Mrs. Jay Sprague.

Miss Lillian Sprague and Miss Annie Blair took tea on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Anderson.

Mrs. Eddy Hall spent Wednesday afternoon with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Sprung.

Miss Margaret Minaker spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Minaker.

Miss Audrey Way of Bowerman's is visiting her sister, Mrs. Jay Sprague.

Miss Lillian Sprague and Miss Annie Blair took tea on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Anderson.

Mrs. Eddy Hall spent Wednesday afternoon with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Sprung.

Miss Margaret Minaker spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Minaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Bilkey spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence and family.

Mr. and Mrs. K. J. Vanwart spent Sunday with their daughter Mrs. Percy Motley, Mr. Fraping Motley has returned to his home after spending the past three weeks in Eastern Ontario, where many friends are pleased to hear that he is gaining nicely now.

Headed For Chaos Says George Moore

London, Feb. 24 (AP) — George Moore, outstanding figure among Irish literary men of the past generation, celebrated his 80th birthday today.

In spite of his stormy days, the author of "Esther Waters," "Evelyn Innes" and other epics is still productive and mentally vigorous. Only yesterday he attended the opening of an art exhibition here and had an extended chat with the Prince of Wales.

He expressed himself characteristically as disgusted with the "trend of this mechanized age."

"We are heading for chaos," he said, "but since Providence has decreed few men shall live more than 80 years, I hope to be removed in good time."

STOLE COFFIN

St. Thomas, Ont., Feb. 24 (CP) — A thief who stole a coffin was being sought yesterday in St. Thomas. A local resident, whose pet cat died, placed the animal coffin on the verandah of his house and presented it to Percy Lee. Being asked for a spade, someone apparently left with the remains. He reported the theft of the coffin to the police.

Piles All Gone

Without Salves or Cutting

Itching, bleeding protruding piles vanish like magic when it come back. If you remove the cause. Bad blood circulation is the reason because veins causes piles by making the tissues weak. Many people almost dead. Salves and cutting fail because only an internal medicine can actually correct these conditions. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt discovered a real internal Pile remedy. After prescribing it for 1,000 patients, finally success. 1960 made he named it HEM-ROID. J. S. Leonhardt, Buffalo, now says one bottle of HEM-ROID Tablets must cure your Pile misery or money back.

Don't put your watch to one side as useless until you've had it examined. May be a mere trifle will make it go.

Watch repairing is our specialty.

We do repairs quickly, guarantee results and ask reasonable prices always.

J. O. R. McCurdy
Phone 318 234 Front St.

BECOMES LABOR MINISTER

M. Pierre Laval, who just over a week ago was Prime Minister of France, has been given the post of Minister of Labor in the Cabinet drawn up by M. Tardieu after M. Laval had been "dethroned."

Wolves Grew in Numbers in 1931

Toronto, Feb. 24. — Wolves were more plentiful in 1931 than at any time in the three preceding years, according to a report submitted at the organization meeting of the House Committee on game and fish at the Ontario Legislature today.

During the year, applications were made for 2731 bounties and a total of $53,571 paid, compared with $38,974 in 1930 and $53,495 in 1929.

In the period covered by the report, 8,771 applications were received from Essex peppers, 8,566 from Thunder Bay and 4,561 from Rainy River, out of the total of 26,131 received.

STRENGTH UP YOUR SLEEVE

Everyone knows that stamina—strength in reserve—is as important as muscular strength.

Bovril not only develops the muscle and the frame; it develops stamina by storing up a fund of energy in reserve.

Build Strength with BOVRIL

Undersecretary Gives Up Salary

London, Feb. 24 (AP)—Malcolm MacDonald, second son of the Prime Minister, announced today that he was returning to the treasury his entire salary as Undersecretary of State for Dominions and that he would be content with his salary as a member of parliament.

The latter's salary is approximately £2,000. As Undersecretary his stipend is about £5,000.

He is 30 years old and a bachelor.

Mrs. E. McConnell entertained to dinner on Sunday Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McColl, Helen and Mrs. Fox, Mr. and Mrs. Bert VanSickle, Marie and Mr. and Mrs. Percy Whaley and Harold.

Mr. and Mrs. John Nelson have moved into the house recently occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Sharpe.

Hugh Gainsforth returned from the Kingston Hospital on Friday.

Arthur Nelson spent Friday evening in Peterboro.

Little Vandals. They spread decay—not protection. Spray directly on clothes—long, etc., regularly—don't pay unnecessary "moth tax." Every bottle guaranteed.

FLY-TOX KILLS MOTHS. Made in Canada. Prepared and Tandem Laboratories, Toronto.

THE RED & WHITE STORES

BUY HERE and Bank the Balance

You can buy without skimping at Red and White Stores and still buy quality goods at a REAL SAVING.

REDICUT
Macaroni 2 lbs. 11c

BLUE ROSE
Choice Rice 2 lbs. 13c

FINEST RED AND WHITE
Pastry Flour 24 lb. Sack 59c

FINEST QUALITY
Pure Lard 1 lb. print 9c

MORNING GLORY
Creamery Butter lb. 21c

SPECIAL FALCON SWEET MIXED
Pickles Large 38 oz. Jar 27c

SOAP P and G White Naptha 10 bars 37c

Princess Flakes For Laundry Purposes 19c

LUX SOAP The most popular Toilet Soap 3 cakes 23c

RED AND WHITE
Toilet Paper 4 rolls 25c

GOLD MEDAL PURE
Orange Marmalade 40 oz. jar 21c

DOCTORS RECOMMEND IT
Shredded Wheat 2 for 25c

VI-TONE Tonic Food Beverage 29c

SPECIAL CHOICE
Peas, Corn Tomatoes 3 tins 25c
Red and White

WEEK END CANDY SPECIAL
ROWNTREE'S
Chocolate Buds lb. 19c

DOCTORS RECOMMEND IT
Shredded Wheat 2 for 25c

VI-TONE Tonic Food Beverage 29c

RED AND WHITE QUALITY
Tomato Catsup Extra Special 12 oz. bottle 11c

Eagle Milk — Try it in your Tea or Coffee — 2 cans 39c

RED AND WHITE TOMATO SOUP — 3 tins 25c

HAWES Floor Wax 1 lb. can 43c

MAGIC Baking Powder — For Sure Results — 16 oz. tin 36c

SIGNAL HONOR CONFERRED ON E. T. CHERRY

Elected Superintendent of Royal Arch Masonry in P. E. District

NATIVE BORN

Deeply Interested in Many Fraternal Societies

Signal honor was conferred upon one of the members of Moira Chapter No. 7, R.A.M. when at the session of the Grand Chapter of Royal Arch Masons, being held at the Royal Connaught Hotel in Hamilton, on Tuesday afternoon of this city, was elected to the distinguished office of District Superintendent of Prince Edward District No. 15.

Mr. Cherry has been a member of Moira Chapter for forty years and it was with gratification that he received this high office. To those who knew Alderman Cherry this honor will but come as no surprise for his unstinting efforts, his genial personality and hearty co-operation on all his subordinate officers for the time being merit such a reward.

Mr. Cherry joined the Masonic order in 1891, when he was initiated into the Belleville Lodge No. 12 and into the Ionic Chapter, No. 8, Moira Chapter, R.A.M., on May 1st, 1894. He was installed into Belleville Preceptory No. 6, Knight Templars in 1905. He is the present Master of the early members of Ramses Temple, Mystic Shriners of Toronto, which he joined in 1907. Mr. Cherry takes a very active interest in Masonic affairs. The Masonic undertakings from the Shrine right down, to the Blue Lodge work. He is also connected with sports in the good old days when baseball was played bare-handed and at one time pitched for one of Belleville's leading city league teams. He is and always was interested in sports and all things which go to bring people out into the great "open spaces." He is also a lover of flowers, and has some of the finest specimens of floral displays in the city at his home on Highland Ave.

AGED FRANKFORD RESIDENT DIES

Late John G. Rose Was Member of Community 50 Years

Frankford—Again it is recorded with regret the passing of one of the older residents, who for the last 50 years has been a highly respected resident of Frankford, in the person of the late John G. Rose, who passed away this life on Monday, February, 8th, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. F. M. Bell, at the age of 81 years.

The late deceased had spent his whole life in the village and the very near vicinity, having been born on the front road at Sidney, of British parentage, both of whom were also born in Sidney, being Aaron Rose and Mary Jane Smith, to whom were given the following children: five sons, George, Charles, John, (the late deceased), Henry, and Frank, and four daughters, Margaret Evans of Murray Ann, (now deceased), Emma Brooks of Brighton, and Mrs. Emma Patrick of Brockville, and Mrs. Percy N. Bell, also of Frankford, of whom only one survives, Mrs. Bell, their loss of a parent. His early married life was spent on the farm, north road of Murray, where both children were born, and on the death of the deceased he came to Frankford as an employee of the Gilds Paper Mills, and remained until the final closing of the mills in 1898, at which time he removed to Belleville and after a few months as an employee of the paper mills there, built upon the property and began the building of the mills in Frankford, he returning and made one of the most permanent residences until the time of his decease.

A member of one of the largest related families of the district, the funeral, held from the residence of his daughter, was very largely attended, Services being held in the Methodist Church, Rev. A. S. Doggett officiating, and interment in Frankford cemetery. A number of distinct reflettives were present, among whom were Mrs. Court Jones, Mrs. Chas. Merrills, Mrs. Ross Smith and Lloyd Smith, Frankford; Mrs. Ed. Powell, Belleville, Mrs. Reuben Pierce and Mrs. Bruce Wheeler, Stirling; Mrs. Ernest Wheeler and Mrs. John MacDonald of Shannonville, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Smith of Wooler. The pall bearers were Messrs. Jas. Ford, Arthur Ford, O. Smith, Frankford; Chas. Allen Smith and George E. Sine.

Trinity Church C.E.

The regular weekly meeting of Trinity Church Y.P.A. was held in the Parish Hall on Tuesday, Feb. 19. The meeting opened with the singing of a hymn and the repeating of the Lord's Prayer.

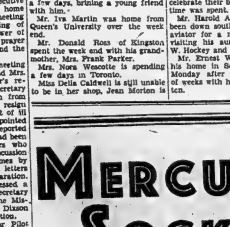
The roll was then called and the minutes read and adopted. The business of the evening being disposed of, the program was in order.

Mr. Wm. Corfield rendered a vocal solo in his usual pleasing style which all present enjoyed.

There was a close with a burlesque entitled "The Sinning School" with the following cast of characters:

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Macklin spent Sunday at the home of relatives here in Cobourg.

Mrs. and Mrs. McKee is indisposed and confined to the house.



Mr. Morgan Rowland is home for a few days from Queen's University for the week end.

Mr. Ivis Martin was home from Queen's University over the week end.

Mr. Donald Ross of Kingston spent the week end with his grandparents here, Mr. and Mrs. Ross.

Mrs. Nora Wescottle is spending a few days in Toronto.

Miss Della Caldwell is still unable to be in her shop, Jean Morton is

PANAMA LIFE IS DESCRIBED

H. Alcombrack, With Aviation Corps in Panama, is Speaker

Stirling—St. Paul's League met on Monday evening with some eighty members present. Devotions were presided over the devotional part. Pearl Stapley reading the Church lesson, John 14th chapter. Mrs. G. W. Jones led in prayer. Master Earl Wright took the chair and after another hymn Mrs. Rowland sang "Jesus Calls Us." Mrs. Stapley recited "When the Minister comes to tea" which caused considerable laughter. Recitations from applause (applause is combined in the meetings), Mrs. Harold Alcombrack of an aviation corps in Panama Canal Zone. Mrs. Alcombrack spellbound for nearly three quarters of an hour or more, relating many of the experiences describing the country etc.

He spoke of the rich fruits growing there. Oranges, pineapples by the dozen, bananas, mangos, cocoanuts and other articles are made from the cocoanut husks, snakes abounded, these in a drink called the "twenty minute" snake because if bitten by one you have twenty minutes to live, die within twenty minutes. In the Panama Canal Zone native villages the police station is the most important building, living large and fine, but with much drunkness prevails. He told of the terrible ravages of insects, chars; crocodiles and wild animals of the country.

Mr. Purslow gave a very pleasing trombone solo, a "turkey" contest was put on by Mr. Alcombrack. Mispah Benediction ,brought this interesting meeting to a close.

St. Andrew's Guild met on Monday evening with a good attendance.

James Ward presided over the meeting. Mrs. Nolan read the Scripture lesson, Mrs. M. Ward led in prayer. Mrs. Nolan read a paper on Deaconess Priela Matthews of Corea. Miss St. John's School was run by Miss Smith for the evening, and a shower of handkerchiefs to the Sick Room. Mrs. Nolan closed with Stirling. A vocal duet "Jesus loves me" was sweetly sung by Helen and Amy McTaggert. A recitation "Bishop's Candlesticks" was given by Mrs. Eggleton. Mr. Two Purslow rendered a pleasing trombone solo accompanied by Mrs. Purslow. Mrs. A. Hammond gave a most interesting paper on British Columbia and Playlet by five girls Trenida Eggleton, Helen Ward, Margerie Roebuck, Iva Chambers and Helen McGregor following, was enjoyed; then a trio "Fairy Bells" by Mrs. Chas. Merrills, Mrs. Ross Smith and Lloyd Smith, Frankford; Mrs. Ed. Powell, Belleville, Mrs. Reuben Pierce and Mrs. Bruce Wheeler, Stirling; Mrs. Ernest Wheeler and Mrs. John MacDonald of Shannonville, and Mr. and Mrs. J. Smith of Wooler. The pall bearers were Messrs. Jas. Ford, Arthur Ford, O. Smith, Frankford; Chas. Allen Smith and George E. Sine.

Trinity Church C.E.

The regular weekly meeting of Trinity Church Y.P.A. was held in the Parish Hall on Tuesday, Feb. 19. The meeting opened with the singing of a hymn and the repeating of the Lord's Prayer.

The roll was then called and the minutes read and adopted. The business of the evening being disposed of, the program was in order.

Mr. Wm. Corfield rendered a vocal solo which all present enjoyed.

There was a close with a burlesque entitled "The Sinning School" with the following cast of characters:

A social hour was then enjoyed and the evening's entertainment was closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

The W.M.S. of the United Church Parish Guild held their executive meeting for the year at the home of Mrs. Arthur Lloyd. The meeting was opened with the singing of the hymn "O God our help in ages past," followed by prayer by Mrs. C. M. Hendricks, and the business was proceeded with.

The minutes of the last meeting were read by Mrs. Powell and Mrs. Johnson gave the treasurer's report. The correspondence secretary read a letter of resignation from Mrs. Wesse, which was wished to be accepted with regret on account of ill health. Mrs. Stewart was appointed successor. Mrs. Ford reported that three baskets of fruit had been sent to the Sick Room during the sickness. After a short discussion were confined to their homes with small letters in group programme preparation. Mrs. Marshall gave an interesting talk on the subject of the Sunday school work in connection with the missionary Monthly, and Mrs. Dixon volunteered to fill the position. The Hymn "Jesus Savior Pilot Me" was sung following which Mrs. Jas. Johnson gave the interesting address, in which she gave a very instructive and helpful report on the Presbyterial held at Port Hope for which she was accorded a vote of thanks and a vigorous hand clap.

Mrs. Consaul asked that removal slips be used in the Strangers Secretary work. Mrs. Ford gave the information that the society had been invited to hold their next meeting at the home of one of those who were confined to their homes.

The Roll was called showing 11

District News

THURLOW TOWNSHIP

4th Thurlow

4th Thurlow—The Y. P. S. held their League meeting Tuesday evening under the direction of Miss Morley Phillips, third line.

A number from this line attended the dance given at the County Home for the Aged on Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Treverton entertained Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Carpenter, Third line and Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Miller to tea on Thursday evening last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Walker and family spent Friday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Copeland, Canniliton.

Rev. and Mrs. Merrick called on Mrs. W. J. Way on Wednesday afternoon last week.

Several from this line attended the funeral of the late Arthur McKinney, at Melrose on Sunday. Much sympathy is extended to the bereaved relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Radgley, Third line, took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. A. Miller on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Treverton attended a number of friends from Madoc on Friday evening.

FRONT OF THURLOW

Front of Thurlow—Mrs. Morley Williams and three children spent several days at Toms Sunday after spending the week with the former's parents Mr. and Mrs. Willard Reid.

Mrs. W. Trophart who has spent the past three weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Jas. Garbutt has far recovered from the effects of her recent fall and broken wrist as to be able to return to her home at Belleville on Friday.

Mrs. Harold Reid, Beside and Gladys Bradshaw were the guests of Mrs. Lorne McKenzie of the 2nd on Wednesday last.

The stork paid a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Earl Brown on Thursday last, and left, a fine young son.

Mrs. Wilbur Wilson of Herchimer Avenue spent the week end with his friend Mr. Jas. Maidment.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Reid of the 2nd line and Mr. and Mrs. Cooper Hills Jr. of Belleville spent Wednesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Reid.

Mr. Henry Muir of Toronto has been spending a few days with Mrs. J. Bradshaw.

Mrs. Carmen Grills and son Gordon of Sidney were guests on Mrs. and Mrs. Geddes Bradshaw one day last week.

Messrs Lehman Bradshaw, Jack Hall, Clare Reid and Dick Kelly attended the box social at Tweed Anne, held under the auspices of the Orange Lodge there on Friday evening.

Mrs. Wm. C. H. Grass spent Sunday with the latter's cousin, Mrs. Nix of Rawdon.

Mrs. Ed. Fox who has been a patient at the Belleville General Hospital for the past three weeks returned home on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey and little Miss Orma of Hamburg Road, near Bath spent Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. W. Bowen and family.

Mrs. J. Jones is visiting Mr. and Mrs. G. Bradshaw.

Mrs. Fred Wright, Purdy, Ted and Gwen spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. Rigdon and family at Carlton.

Miss Spencer of Kingston spent a few days last week with her friend Miss Aleha Reid.

Miss Leola Bell who has been looking after the shop.

Misses Dorothy Morton and Rose Spry attended a Carnival in Trenford, Feb. 22.

Miss Lawrence Scott of Bethel spent the week end with her friend Miss Grace Pitman, it being the occasion of Miss Grace Pitman's birthday and that of Mrs. Lawrence Monroe on Saturday, the ladies' born were invited into Mrs. Pitman's home on Friday evening to celebrate their birthdays and a jolly time was spent.

Mr. Harold Alcombrack who has been down south in Panama as an aviator for a number of years is visiting his aunt's, Mercdames C. W. Hockey and A. Hulin.

Mr. Ernest Wootton returned to his home in Scarboro Bluffs on Monday after spending a couple of weeks with his sister Miss Wootton.

Salem

Salem—Mr. Sam Way, Bethany, is busy sawing wood on this line.

Mrs. Clarence Hagerman and daughter, Geraldine, spent Thursday with Miss Helen Leslie.

Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Sparrow visited at Mr. Clarence Long's on Sunday evening.

Mrs. Mrs. James Cole, Mr. John Cole, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Latta and Marjory, Mr. and Mrs. Owen Roblin, Julia and Miss Mildred Roblin spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Dennison also Mr. and Mrs. James Stills.

Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Sherman, Canniliton, took tea on Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hagerman.

Mrs. Mrs. Leslie has returned home after spending the past week with her sister, Mrs. Walter Carr, Northport.

Mr. and Mrs. Robb. Sparrow entertained Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hagerman, Gilead, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Long and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dennison also Mr. and Mrs. James Stills to tea on Wednesday evening.

A number on this line attended the party at Mr. Walter Sherfield, Corbyville, on Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sills and family, Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Sills, Bethany, were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Hagerman on Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gibson, Latta, spent Sunday with the former's sister Mrs. Owen Roblin.

Mr. Stillman Hagerman is much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. James Sills, and Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Sparrow took tea with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Cole, Bethany on Sunday evening.

Nearly everyone from this neighborhood attended the funeral of the late Arthur McKinney, Melrose on Sunday afternoon. Much sympathy is extended to the bereaved family.

Plainfield

Plainfield—Rev. Mr. Caffey is progressing favorably in Belleville General Hospital after a critical illness.

Mr. Turner, a student of Belleville Seminary, spoke at the services on the circuit Sunday, Mrs. Caffey presided at Mission Band on Sunday morning.

The students of Belleville are kindly helping this circuit while the minister is ill.

Mrs. Caffey and Plainfield this past week, and nearly every house in Plainfield. Many lovely boxes of homes were visited by the Doctor, Mrs. Caffey will not leave for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Hall and family spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Hall.

Mrs. Thos. Leslie has returned home after spending the past week with her daughter, Mrs. Walter Carr, Northport.

Mr. and Mrs. Robb. Sparrow entertained Mr. and Mrs. Harry Hagerman, Gilead, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Long and Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Dennison also Mr. and Mrs. James Stills to tea on Wednesday evening.

A number on this line attended the party at Mr. Walter Sherfield, Corbyville, on Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. John Sills and family, Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Sills, Bethany, were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Hagerman on Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Gibson, Latta, spent Sunday with the former's sister Mrs. Owen Roblin.

Mr. Stillman Hagerman is much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. James Sills, and Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Sparrow took tea with Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Cole, Bethany on Sunday evening.

Nearly everyone from this neighborhood attended the funeral of the late Arthur McKinney, Melrose on Sunday afternoon. Much sympathy is extended to the bereaved family.

NORTH HASTINGS

Rawdon

Mount Pleasant Rawdon W. M. S. held a tea at the home on Wednesday, Feb. 17th with an attendance of 40. The president Mrs. Ross presided in the absence of the president, Mrs. Frank Smith and Mrs. Ross Wilson. The devotional prayer. The Supply Secretary read a letter from Mrs. Ed. Wilson, Mrs. Wilson of Mount Pleasant came second in the Literary contest. Current events and items of business were laid over till March. Miss Frances McKeown gave a piano selection. Solo—Mrs. Berry. Mercy MacMullen recited "Behold me standing at the door." Mrs. Connell sang "Behold me standing at the door."

Mrs. Thomas McKeown read a paper on "Christian Stewardship." Mrs. Ross Wilson read a paper on the Second Chapter of the Study Book on "The Great Physician." "The Great Light", she was assisted by Mrs. Frank Phillips, Mrs. Stanley McKeown and Mrs. Frank Smith. Mrs. John Holmes read a beautiful article on "Prayer." Mrs. Frank Smith and Jacob said "I will lead on slowly." Offering was taken after which Mrs. Ross Wilson closed with the Lord's Prayer in unison.

Mr. George Weaver attended a banquet held at Belleville on Thursday.

Mrs. Pleasant Y.P.S. was opened Friday evening by the President and Mr. A. W. Garrison officiating. The meeting was dedicate as unusual to the Bay of Quinte Conference. Mrs. Garrison gave a reading entitled "Apples of Gold". The third Vice President Miss Mary MacMullen then took charge and the Bible Study was given by Miss Margaret Ile While. Mrs. John Reid gave a paper and Mrs. Arthur Ross gave a reading entitled the topic on "Rural Improvements", the stronghold of the church. Mrs. Ross Wilson sang "What Means All These". Mrs. Garrison read the Devotional paper entitled "Apples of Gold". The third Vice President Miss Mary MacMullen then took charge and the Bible Study was given by Miss Margaret Ile While. Mrs. John Reid gave a paper and Mrs. Arthur Ross gave a reading entitled the topic on "Rural Improvements", the stronghold of the church. Mrs. Ross Wilson sang "What Means All These". Mrs. Garrison read the Devotional paper entitled "Apples of Gold". The third Vice President Miss Mary MacMullen then took charge and the Bible Study was given by Miss Margaret Ile While. Mrs. John Reid gave a paper and Mrs. Arthur Ross gave a reading entitled the topic on "Rural Improvements", the stronghold of the church. Mrs. Ross Wilson sang "What Means All These".

Mrs. Percy MacKullen gave a monologue "An old sweetheart of mine."

A debate of keen interest and enjoyment "Resolved that Organization of the platform is more influential on the world than the Press."

Affirmative — Clifford Holmes, Prredge Johnin.

Negative—Mrs. Elwood Johnson, Miss Edna Thrasher.

Chairman—Mrs. Stella Johnson, Mrs. Frank Smith, Mr. A. W. Garrison, Critic—Mrs. Ross Wilson.

Both sides clearly stated their points backed up by illustrations and interesting replies also a gay strain of humor prevailed. Miss Edna Thrasher gave a very pretty solo and this closed a splendid interesting entertainment.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Wheeler are moving to Mr. Wm. Sine's home in Rho.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Melville and family and Mrs. Ed. Melville spent Sunday Feb. 14th with Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Melville.

A few intimate friends spent a social time last Tuesday evening with Mrs. Jas. Melville, before their departure for their new home in Stirling.

Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Summers and Gladys spent Sunday with Belleville and the doctor thought Gladys recovering nicely from his recent illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith entertained several of their friends to tea on Monday evening.

Mr. Ernest Ross visited Mr. Lorne White on Sunday.

Mrs. Sarah McKeown entertained Mr. and Mrs. Roy Thrasher and Edna, Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Summers and family to tea on Feb. 15th.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Montgomery, Mr. Willie Montgomery, Mrs. Percy MacMullin, Miss Alice McKelvie attended a shower in Murray on Monday evening Feb. 22nd in honor of Mr. Claude Rose and his bride of Saltzburg (nee Miss Martha Ireland). Mr. and Mrs. Rose the young couple received a large assortment of handsome gifts.

Mr. Ham Donnan and baby of Toronto are spending a few days with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Wheeler and Mr. Donnan is in the Y.P.S. Friday.

Mr. John Coggins visited his friend Mr. Herbert Higgs at the home of Mr. Ernest Hutton in Keown on Sunday.

Misses Edna Thrasher of Mount Pleasant and Stella Johnson of Stirling spent a week recently with Mr. and Mrs. Ham Donnan, Bridge Road.

Miss Marjory Hagerman spent the week end with her parents Mr. and Frances McKeown.

Miss Vera McAdam visited Miss Ina Bell on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elwood Johnson spent Feb. 19th. in Campbellcroft visiting her mother.

Mrs. Allen Sharp is on the sick list.

A number of young people from here enjoyed a social time party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Brown, Carmel on Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Paul Sharp and Jack of Wallmans visited Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Summers one day last week.

Mrs. Ross Wilson and Hoard entertained a few young men friends of Mr. Bill Day on Monday night in honor of Bill's birthday.

Mrs. Ernest Ross visited Mr. and Mrs. Frank Williams Mr. and Mrs. Will Potts, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Ross entertained supper guests of Mrs. Y. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney McKeown entertained a number of friends at their home on Carry on Tuesday evening, Feb. 16th.

MINTO

Minto, Feb. 23 By Mail—Mr. and Mrs. Ethel Brown spent the week ending Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Brown.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. McMaster spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hagerman on Sunday.

Misses Edna McMaster, Bernice Hogle and Evelyn Leslie spent Saturday evening with Miss Ethel Hagerman.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Colden spent a few days last week with Mr. and Mrs. Geo. McMaster.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Sine, Muriel and Doris spent an evening last week with Mr. and Mrs. E. Sarles.

Moira

Moira—Miss Beasie Aikenbrack spent the week end visiting friends at Stirling.

Miss Aigile Aikenbrack is visiting at Stirling for a week.

Mrs. Bailey of Belleville is visiting for a few days with Trenty's for a while.

Mr. A. Henry is not progressing very rapidly.

Mr. Horace Flynn and friend of Toronto are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. and with Mr. and Mrs. D. Thompson.

Misses Joe Williams and Burton Foster sang a vocal duet at church on Sunday morning last which was much appreciated.

Mrs. Arthur Ross is visiting at Mr. and Mrs. Sayers at Tweed.

Mr. and Mrs. Monroe celebrated their wedding anniversary last week and were the recipients of many congratulations and best wishes from a large number of friends.

Among the ranks gathered around the festive board was Mrs. Rev. Simmons an aunt just returned from missionary work in China also Mr. and Mrs. Chrisite of Stirling.

The Tailor was entertained to dinner by Mr. and Mrs. G. Hollinger on Sunday last.

Mr. Clarence Mullett who made a return visit to the General Hospital at Toronto a week ago was informed that he needed further treatment but was satisfactorily

RELIABILITY
Interlake
PURE — SOFT — ABSORBENT
3 Rolls—2100 Sheets—35c.
MADE IN CANADA
Do not use substitutes
Interlake
Toilet Tissue

PRINCE EDWARD

Picton

Picton, Feb. 25 (Special)—The Ministerial Session of the Central Relief Committee will be presented on the Parish House on Thursday and Friday evenings, a final practise being held last night. There are several end men with humorous dialogue, a chorus of girls as well as darkies who give several numbers, and many specialty numbers. Leading musicians are assisting in putting on the programme.

Mayor Welsh states that the activities of the Central Relief Committee will not cease with the return ratepayers from one-quarter to one-half mill, although next year that organization had meant that it has been financed by donations of local people, rather than through the expenditure of town money by municipal officials.

The proceeds of the Minstrel show this week will further assist the work and help to keep the rate down.

Checker Club

Members of the Picton Checker Club are enjoying a series of contests at times these days. Games are played twice each week, on Tuesday in the Y.P.S. Friday, in the Hotel.

At present there is a tournament on for the championship of the Club, Mr. James Rolston is the holder of the title, Mr. James Livingston, champion last year, second and Mr. Ed. Hubbs, champion.

The Masons of Toronto, continuation inspector, visited the school on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. John McLean and Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Arthur spent Saturday in Toronto.

Mrs. J. T. Graves spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Fleury in Belleville.

Miss Gertrude Trosher of Toronto is a guest of her sisters, the Misses Trosher.

Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Simpson of Brighton were guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. James Centre Street.

Mrs. (Dr.) Currie lent her home to-night for a tea in aid of the Women's Association of the United Church. Many ladies dropped in for the tea and enjoyed meeting a number of friends. A goodly sum was realized for the worthy object. Sweetman has been through here every day for a number of years on the Madoc train and has many friends here who travel back and forth.

Mrs. Ed. Hubbs entertained a number of ladies on Thursday afternoon at a tea at her home. After the work was finished the hostess served a delicious lunch of, sandwiches, cakes, tea and coffee, cake and tea and all enjoyed a social hour. Among those who took tea cups and voted Mrs. Eggleton an excellent hostess with an ideal home.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Pitchett spent Saturday evening in Stirling with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Pitchett.

Mrs. Geo. Clarke received word that her grand daughter Miss Tena Clarke of Aurora had won a prize in a literary address in a contest at Aurors recently.

The Mission Band report an interesting meeting held in Carlaan on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Stapley spent Saturday evening in Stirling with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Pitchett.

Mrs. Nina Wilson and the Misses Livingstone spent Sunday afternoon with Mrs. Geo. Wright.

Miss Lenora and Keitha Stapley spent Sunday afternoon with Miss Helen and Dorothy McMullen.

Mrs. Harry Clarke visited friends in Belleville last Thursday.

Consecon

Consecon — Word was received of the death of Mr. Hogue Edith of Tavon, Kentucky, husband of Bill Hogue, daughter of the late Robert Foster. Mr. and Mrs. Edlin spent Sunday at the latter's home.

The Badminton Club held a social and dance on Friday night in honor of Dr. VanLuven's birthday. All had a good time.

No. 1 group of the Women's Association of the United Church held an Old English Tea in the school room on Thursday night. A good program was given by foreign and local talent. Proceeds were $35.

Congratulations to Miss Helen Miller, of Kingston General Hospital on successfully passing her registered nurse's examination.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Symonds and Mrs. Thos. Alexander spent Wednesday in Belleville.

The Boy Scouts under Rev. A. E. Tanner held their regular meeting in the Parish Hall on Thursday night and on February 25th, Mr. Lloyd of the R.M.C. presented slides, illustrating travel in Ontario and Quebec.

Dr. VanLuven motored to Kingston on Monday.

Miss Lanor Arthur spent the week end with Mrs. Chas. Carnrite and family.

The ladies' Institute met at the home of Mrs. Ed. Symonds on Friday night.

Mr. Ward Puffer and Miss Eunice Cuddy attended the funeral of Mr. Puffer's father in Belleville on Monday.

The boys of Toronto, continuation inspector, visited the school on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. John McLean and Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Arthur spent Saturday in Toronto.

Mrs. J. T. Graves spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Fleury in Belleville.

Miss Gertrude Trosher of Toronto is a guest of her sisters, the Misses Trosher.

Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Simpson of Brighton were guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. James Centre Street.

Mrs. (Dr.) Currie lent her home to-night for a tea in aid of the Women's Association of the United Church. Many ladies dropped in for the tea and enjoyed meeting a number of friends. A goodly sum was realized for the worthy object. Sweetman has been through here every day for a number of years on the Madoc train and has many friends here who travel back and forth.

Mrs. Ed. Hubbs entertained a number of ladies on Thursday afternoon at a tea at her home. After the work was finished the hostess served a delicious lunch of, sandwiches, cakes, tea and coffee, cake and tea and all enjoyed a social hour. Among those who took tea cups and voted Mrs. Eggleton an excellent hostess with an ideal home.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Pitchett spent Saturday evening in Stirling with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Pitchett.

Mrs. Geo. Clarke received word that her grand daughter Miss Tena Clarke of Aurora had won a prize in a literary address in a contest at Aurors recently.

The Mission Band report an interesting meeting held in Carlaan on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Stapley spent Saturday evening in Stirling with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Pitchett.

Mrs. Nina Wilson and the Misses Livingstone spent Sunday afternoon with Mrs. Geo. Wright.

Miss Lenora and Keitha Stapley spent Sunday afternoon with Miss Helen and Dorothy McMullen.

Mrs. Harry Clarke visited friends in Belleville last Thursday.

Christian Street

Christian Street—Mrs. Harold Noxon spent Monday afternoon with her aunt, Mrs. M. B. Noxon.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Bowen and Georgie spent the dinner hour Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Caisan and family of Picton.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Warden and children, Earl Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cross and children attended the spelling match held in Consecon Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Bowen entertained fourteen of their friends at a party on Thursday evening when a delicious supper, progressive euchre was enjoyed. Mrs. Harvard Noxon and Mrs. Victor Bowen won the favours.

The Literary Club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Werden on Friday evening. Mrs. Harold Cross held the highest score for the evening. Delicious refreshments were served after the game.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Allison and family of Big Island spent Sunday with Harold Cross.

Mr. Elmer Postitte of Picton spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Noxon and Mrs. M. B. Noxon.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bowen and Georgia called on Mr. and Mrs. Harold Noxon on Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Caisan spent Saturday in Belleville.

Mr. M. B. Delong of Picton spent Friday with her daughter, Mrs. Arthur Bowen.

Mrs. Oral Calnan and baby Doris of Picton spent Monday with Mrs. M. B. Noxon.

Colds and flu are quite prevalent in the neighborhood at present.

Box-packing of apples is making headway in Quebec Province and it is reported that 30,000 boxes of McIntosh and Fameuse were put up by the growers last fall.

progressing to complete recovery.

A community social evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Holden last week end.

PRINCE EDWARD

Picton

Picton, Feb. 25 (Special)—The Ministerial Session of the Central Relief Committee will be presented on the Parish House on Thursday and Friday evenings, a final practise being held last night. There are several end men with humorous dialogue, a chorus of girls as well as darkies who give several numbers, and many specialty numbers. Leading musicians are assisting in putting on the programme.

Mayor Welsh states that the activities of the Central Relief Committee will not cease with the return ratepayers from one-quarter to one-half mill, although next year that organization had meant that it has been financed by donations of local people, rather than through the expenditure of town money by municipal officials.

The proceeds of the Minstrel show this week will further assist the work and help to keep the rate down.

Checker Club

Members of the Picton Checker Club are enjoying a series of contests at times these days. Games are played twice each week, on Tuesday in the Y.P.S. Friday, in the Hotel.

At present there is a tournament on for the championship of the Club, Mr. James Rolston is the holder of the title, Mr. James Livingston, champion last year, second and Mr. Ed. Hubbs, champion.

The Masons of Toronto, continuation inspector, visited the school on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. John McLean and Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Arthur spent Saturday in Toronto.

Mrs. J. T. Graves spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Fleury in Belleville.

Miss Gertrude Trosher of Toronto is a guest of her sisters, the Misses Trosher.

Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Simpson of Brighton were guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. James Centre Street.

Mrs. (Dr.) Currie lent her home to-night for a tea in aid of the Women's Association of the United Church. Many ladies dropped in for the tea and enjoyed meeting a number of friends. A goodly sum was realized for the worthy object. Sweetman has been through here every day for a number of years on the Madoc train and has many friends here who travel back and forth.

Mrs. Ed. Hubbs entertained a number of ladies on Thursday afternoon at a tea at her home. After the work was finished the hostess served a delicious lunch of, sandwiches, cakes, tea and coffee, cake and tea and all enjoyed a social hour. Among those who took tea cups and voted Mrs. Eggleton an excellent hostess with an ideal home.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Pitchett spent Saturday evening in Stirling with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Pitchett.

Mrs. Geo. Clarke received word that her grand daughter Miss Tena Clarke of Aurora had won a prize in a literary address in a contest at Aurors recently.

The Mission Band report an interesting meeting held in Carlaan on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Stapley spent Saturday evening in Stirling with Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Pitchett.

Mrs. Nina Wilson and the Misses Livingstone spent Sunday afternoon with Mrs. Geo. Wright.

Miss Lenora and Keitha Stapley spent Sunday afternoon with Miss Helen and Dorothy McMullen.

Mrs. Harry Clarke visited friends in Belleville last Thursday.

Work to As Many Possible is Program

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 25.—(By the Canadian Press)—Hope that the counties and the Ontario Government would be able to agree upon some sane programme which would give work to as many men as possible was expressed to-day by R. M. Smith, Deputy Minister of Highways, at a conference of county and township road superintendents and engineers here today.

Counties had requested the highways department to outline road expenditures this year, he said. "If we limit the volume of every county, our expenditures, instead of being about $11,000,000 as last year, will be down this year to about $2,000,000," he declared.

Weather permitting the air mail makes one round trip a week during the winter season from Montreal, N.B., to the Magdalen Islands.

A new system of rail annealing developed at Sydney, Nova Scotia, lessens the occurrence of interior flaws and cracks.

The Dime-a-Dance Girl

By Joan Clayton

"Can't you see how unfair you're been to me?" cried Ellen, trying to be patient. "You've borrowed money on our insurance which is the only thing that stands between us and complete ruin. You've put me in a false position with the mail I work for. What sort of impression do you think you've given Mr. Barclay of all of us?"

"He likes us. I know he does! If only your leader stood there like a stick and left everything to me. Ellen Rossiter, I'm ashamed of you! I thought my own daughters knew better what was due a guest."

That was Molly's way. Ellen felt again that mood of intense helpless ness. She saw Molly was concentrated just although she herself might have been slightly at fault, Ellen's Tears were gathering. In the black thick-fringed eyes, Molly would forget that she had been even slightly at fault. She would quite sobbingly remember that she had given her whole life to her daughters and unappreciative ones, cruel and unappreciative daughters who never remembered what she had done for them.

"All right, mother," the girl said with a heavy sigh. "You were right and I was wrong. Let's get busy at the dinner now."

CHAPTER XVII

The Rossiter pie-bird was stuffed almost to the bursting point. Certainly Molly had stinted on nothing. There was pâte, there was lobster; there were two plump yellow ducks —and ducks at $1.75 a pound. There were artichokes and avocados.

These were all the things that should never have been included in a simple home dinner. But Ellen squared her jaw and said not about the heated kitchen, growing hotter and crosser each minute.

Perched at the kitchen table daintily shelling peas, Molly looked cool and comfortable and maddeningly satisfied with herself. From time to time she would hum a little tune. Then, glimpsing her daughter's black face, she would halt and virtuously continue shelling the peas. Molly was convinced everything would work out for the best.

Except for decorative purposes the colored maid was entirely useless. She did set the table with a great flourish. She considered that with serving and washing the dishes she would have more than earned her $5 and said so. When Ellen, ignoring this disinclination toward real labor, suggested that she baste the ducks, the maid looked aggrieved and "allowed" she did only plain cooking.

"This is plain enough," said Ellen in exasperation. "You'll simply have to do it while my mother and I dress. Just open the oven every 10 minutes and baste dripping up with a spoon."

"All right, Miss, I'll do it. But you can't blame me if them ducks don't taste just right."

"We won't," snapped Ellen.

She grew colder and more comfortable in the bedroom as she flung aside her business dress, went into the bathroom and fastidiously bathed with due consideration for the fact that splashable water was available in the living room. She returned to thebedroom and slipped into a clean, fresh, blue linen frock. She brushed her curling hair, powdered her flushed face and found the string of amber beads that went so well with her skin. She looked all right. The sleeveless dress, cheap as it was, was very kind to her slender young body.

"Ellen, honey," said her mother, entering, "you fix any soap, or are you still mad at me?"

Ellen's heart failed her. What was the use of anger, of threats, of reproaches? As she had known she would be often before, that there would be no apology. Instead, that she looked unusually sobered. By telling her of the money she had borrowed Ellen had succeeded in frightening her harum-scarum, little Irish woman.

"They're just jealous," she declared. "If I were you I'd just tell Mrs. Bondy that he was here for dinner tonight. That'll stop their mouths. I've half a notion to go down there myself."

"The best thing I can do," Ellen interrupted warningly, "is what I am doing now."

"Well—maybe you're right, but I'd like to give a piece of their two girls a good shaking just the same!"

Together they went into the living room. Bert was engaged in a long and technical discussion of the comparative merits of the Yankees and the Giants. If Barclay were bored or uncomfortable he did not concealed the fact. He stood up quickly as Ellen and Molly appeared.

"Well, dinner is almost ready—at last," Molly announced. "I hope you're not all starved. Where in the the world is that supposed to be?"

"I'll go find him," offered Myra.

The room was filled with smoke and everyone was politely disembling interest in the sharp, distinctive odor of roasting duck.

"You know I'm the pride of the family," Ellen remarked smilingly to Barclay.

"Oh, yes! I have. I met him in the hall," Barclay affirmed.

Ellen did not know what made her think that he looked guilty in a small-boy way, but she did think that. Could Mike have said something to him?

Myra had started for the door when Ellen suddenly determined to learn what had occurred in the hall. She spoke hurriedly and feverishly.

"You go wash up, Myra. I'll gather Mike in."

She was out the door and running down the stairs. When she reached the street she saw that excitement of all the youngsters in the neighborhood—and they were numerous—had gathered before the apartment door. Almost blocking it, Mike stood with wistful longing at the lure, black limousine from which the elderly right chauffeur beamed them. But the majority, screaming and vociferous, were upon the other lamp-lighted street.

"Sure any of you seen Mike Rossiter?" she inquired, wondering just what new game they were playing.

"Sure," half a dozen voices chorused, but it was Peter Rafferty who came forward with the resultant confusion the information that Mike was giving Peter Rafferty a ride on his new bicycle.

Just then she saw Mike. He was strutting along proudly beside a shining wheel, calling out caution and advice to the toe-headed young elder who was pedalling. Ellen knew all at once why Barclay had looked so guilty. This was impossible!

"Mike Rossiter, come here this minute!" she called.

The youngsters made way for him Peter Rafferty slid from the seat and scuttled down the street like a small, active crab. Mike, unconscious of the calamity about to fall, carefully wheeled his new possession over the curb and up on the sidewalk. Ellen had never seen such glory as was on his transfigured face.

"Mr. Barclay gave it to me," he explained in a hushed voice, caressing with his grubby hand the shining mud-guards.

"But, darling, we can't let you keep it," Ellen said faintly.

The blow struck. Mike's face turned red; his blue eyes looked scared, bewildered, outraged, hurt and angry, in rapid succession. For a moment he gazed at her in appalled silence; then burst into loud and frantic wails. So overwhelming was his grief and rage that Ellen was afraid it would result in his usual spoiled stomach. She gathered in his shaking body, conscious that the entire juvenile population of the block was watching.

"I can't do anything," Mike sobbed. "I can't have anything. I promised all the other boys a ride. Mother'd let—me have it. It's—so good Ellen; I'll do everything you tell me."

"But Mike—"

"My bike, my bike!"

Ellen knew she was weak and that she should be firm; she knew that once she let Mike get the upper hand her discipline would be gone. But she could not stand out against this overwhelming grief. She relented.

When Ellen and Mike, the latter's face pale and tear-stained, got the bicycle up the stairs and into the living room, the girl saw that the news had preceded them. As they made their first awkward entrance, she and Myra exchanged an expressive glance. Myra, too, was involved by Barclay's munificence. But Molly, her small face set in stubborn lines, carefully avoided Ellen's eye. That was not surprising. Ellen had decided on help from that quarter.

There was an embarrassing silence.

Mike, childishly conscious that something was wrong, conscious that he had somehow failed his sister and by no means certain of his ultimate victory, deserted Ellen to rush to his mother. Molly stroked his hot little head buried in her lap and bent to whisper words of comfort.

Bert, twiddling with the radio dials, considered the whole affair unworthy of a man's attention. He could never understand what he termed these "scenes" in the household of Myra and her sister.

Barclay, uncomfortable in the pin the room was the real culprit, looking from eyes to eyes and longing to speak but when she did not he said anxiously: "Have I been thoughtless?"

Ellen, without comment, wheeled the bicycle into the corner and shut the door with a rather sharp bang.

She did not know what to say. How could she tell Barclay that, if was one thing at present to spoil the child of a millionaire and quite another to spoil a child who was not the child whose parents could not afford to give it to him? How could she tell him of the fierce and passionate love of Molly and Myra for the man in a thousand would know exactly what a boy of Mike's age, Mike's been dying, simply dying, for a bicycle?

Mike shyly raised his head.

"I'm to keep it then?" he demanded earnestly. "Ellen said so I'd be good."

In all his moment the maid made a blessed interruption, an interruption that brought Ellen face to face with the $5 she was to receive. She clumped into the room to announce dinner was ready.

CHAPTER XVIII

The dinner, off to such a bad start, was soon a jolly, friendly affair. Ellen's cooking was excellent, not, as Ellen had feared in the beginning, tasteless. She had omitted the pate and had firmly vetoed Molly's suggestion that the lobster be served in the shell. They began the meal with lobster cocktail, cool and delicious and served with one of Ellen's famous sauces. Then there was the roast duck, cunningly and accurately seasoned. The vegetables, green corn with peppers and peas and broccoli, were tasty and spun tales of adventurers, princesses, statesmen and scoundrels he had known.

Ellen forgot her resentment of the man under the spell of the pleasures he drew. Oh, it would be fun to travel, to see the gray spires of Paris and to wander in the cool depths of the Black Forest.

The little group ignored the passage of time as they proceeded further and further into the fascinating exploration of one another's minds. Finally there came an interruption.

It was the colored maid again. She "walked and walked," she announced mournfully. "I want my $5, I got to go home."

They all laughed and straggled from the table. Ellen bee ause aware that the room was stiflingly hot. Troubles witch had been put away returned to harass her. What was to happen to them? The insurance money so painfully scraped together had been spent for an interesting pleasure. The coast of Normandy was all very well but when was the rent to come from?

(TO BE CONTINUED)

Nevada's state debt is only $842,-0.0. Only $5000, or this amount is held by persons outside the state.

In addition to lightning flashing from the clouds to earth and from cloud to cloud, it sometimes flashes from the earth up to a cloud.

Mink and muskrat farming are new types of fur-farming enterprises making extraordinary growth in Canada.

TILLIE THE TOILER

By Russ Westover.

BRINGING UP FATHER

—By George McManus.

— MR. AND MRS. — WITH AND WITHOUT A WITNESS

THE BEASTS OF TARZAN, No. 44.

(Metropolitan Newspaper Service)

By Edgar Rice Burroughs.

Jane knew that even if she were compelled to kill Rokoff, she would be no better off. The shot would bring his men and her fate would be even worse. The memory of the two brutes who stood and laughed as Rokoff struck her was still vivid. Evidently the Russian lunged toward her, but she was quicker. Swinging the heavy revolver high above his evil face, she dealt him a terrific blow between the eyes.

Without a sound he sank, limp and unconscious to the floor A moment later the girl stood beside him—for that moment at least—free from the menace of his attack. She extinguished the sudgy lamp, and in the darkness paused to collect her wits and plan the next step in her venture for freedom. Outside she heard again the noise that had distracted Rokoff's attention.

With stealthy step and every sense alert Jane groped her way to the back of the tent, determined upon the first stage of her adventure. Bending over the form of the unconscious Russian, her fingers came upon the hilt of his long hunting knife. With this she cut an opening in the tent wall. Silently she stepped without, straining her ears to listen. The camp was apparently asleep.

The midnight jungle was alive with countless, nameless noises She hesitated, trembling. The jungle terrors appalled her. But behind her lay a fate worse than death, at the hands of human beings. Before her lay an uncertain fate—but it was only death—sudden, merciful, and honorable death. Without a tremor and without regret she darted from the camp, and the mysterious jungle closed about her.

Radio Features

THURSDAY FEATURES

4.00—U.S. Army Band—CFRB-CBL
4.00—Musical Comedy Hits—WEAF.
4.15—U.S. Navy Band—WHAM.
5.15—Newscast—CFRB.
5.45—Russ Columbo Orch.—CKGW.
6.45—Lowell Thomas—WEAF.
6.00—Sert Room Orch.—CKGW.
6.00—Tio Guano, Tenor—CFRB.
6.15—Reis and Dunn—CFRB-CBL
6.30—Old Songs of Church—WJZ.
6.30—Lucky Strike Orch.—WEAF.
6.45—The Stebbins Boys—WEAF.
7.00—Amos 'n' Andy—CKGW.
7.15—Howard Lanin Orch.—CKGW.
7.30—Paul Van Loan Orch.—WEAF
7.45—Simeon Joyce pianist—CKGW
7.45—Al Robertson, comic—CKCL.
8.00—Chateau Lairon Orch—CFRB
8.00—Dixie Spiritual Singers—WJZ.
8.00—Gus Arnheim Orch.—WABC.
8.15—University of Toronto—CFRB.
8.15—Abe Lyman Orch—WGR-CBS
8.30—Jack Denny Orch—CFRB.
8.45—Sisters of the Skillet—WJZ.
9.00—Detroit v Maple Leafs—CFCA
9.00—The Nelson Hour—CKNC.
9.00—Big Six of the Air—WBEN.
9.00—Blackstone Plantation—WJZ.
9.00—The Mills Brothers—WEBW.
9.30—Sherlock Holmes—CKGW.
10.00—A. & P. Gypsies—WJZ.
10.00—Royal York Orch.—CPRY.
10.30—King Edward Orch—CKGW.
10.30—Eversady Group—CKNC.
11.00—Newscast—CFRB.
11.00—Jesse Crawford—WEAF.
11.15—Lew Conrad Orch.—WEAF.
11.15—Howard Barlow Orch.—CBS.
11.30—George Shackley—WOR.
11.30—Tempo Dance Opera Glass—WJZ.
11.30—Jack Denny Orch.—CKOC.
11.45—George Olsen Orch.—CFRB.
11.45—Blue Rhythm Band—WEAF.
12.00—Eddie Moore Orch.—WJZ.
12.00—Guy Lombardo Orch.—CKOC.
12.05—Coon-Sanders Orch.—WEAF.
12.30—Larry Funk Orch.—CFRB.
12.30—Dan Russo Orch.—CBS.
12.30—Charlie Agnew Orch.—WEAF.
1.15—Vincent Lopez Orch.—WEAF.
1.30—Buddy Wagner Orch.—WABC
1.30—Ted Fiorito Orch.—WJZ.
1.45—Andy Sannella Orch.—WEAF.
2.30—Paul van Loan—CNRC.
7.45—Chateau Laurier Orch.—CFRB.
8.00—Cities Service Orch.—CKGW.
8.00—Leonard Joy Orch.—WJZ.
8.15—University of Toronto—CFRB.
8.30—March of Time—WGR-CBS.
8.30—Morning Devotions—CFRB.
8.30—Cherio—CKGW-NBC.
9.00—Little Jack Little—CFRB.
9.30—Tony's Scrap Book—CFRB.
10.15—Clara, Lu and Em—WJZ.
10.30—Breen and de Rose—WEAF.
10.30—Dennison Music—CKGW.
11.30—The Capitrators—CFRB.
12.00—G. E. Home Circle—WBEN.
12.15—Weather Bulletin—CFRB.
12.15—Boulanger Orch.—CFRB.
12.20—Farm and Home Hour—WJZ.
1.00—Royal York Orch.—CPRY.
1.00—Golden Dusk City Band—CFRB.
2.00—The Funnybones—CFRB.
2.15—U. S. Army Band—WBEN.
2.30—Echoes of Erin—CKGW.
3.00—Big Sister—CFRB.
3.00—Hunchback of Notre Dame' —WEAF.
3.00—The Rheingold"—CKGW.
4.15—The Adio Guild—CKGW.
4.45—The Curtis Institute—CFRB.
5.00—Twilight Voices—WTAM.
5.10—Newscast—CFRB.
5.45—Russ Columbo Orch—CKGW.
6.00—Waldorf Orch—CKGW.
6.30—Larry Funk Orch.—CFRB.
6.30—The Royal Vagabonds—WJZ.
6.30—Wm. Hoad, Tenor—CKGW.
6.45—Vaughn de Leath—CFRB.
6.45—Lucky Strike Boys—WBEN.
7.00—Amos 'n' Andy—CKGW.
7.15—Andy Sannella Orch.—WEAF.
7.30—Paul van Loan—CNRC.
7.45—Chateau Laurier Orch.—CFRB.
8.00—Cities Service Orch.—CKGW.
8.00—Leonard Joy Orch.—WJZ.
8.15—University of Toronto—CFRB.
8.30—March of Time—WGR-CBS.
8.30—Morning Devotions—CFRB.
8.30—Cherio—CKGW-NBC.
9.00—Little Jack Little—CFRB.
9.30—Tony's Scrap Book—CFRB.
10.15—Clara, Lu and Em—WJZ.
10.30—Breen and de Rose—WEAF.
10.30—Dennison Music—CKGW.
11.30—The Capitrators—CFRB.
12.00—G. E. Home Circle—WBEN.
12.15—Weather Bulletin

LACK OF SNOW IS REAL PROBLEM

Farmers Experience Great Difficulty in Drawing Supply of Fuel

West Huntingdon—A real problem faces the farmer in this and other communities over snow drifts. Wood for cut and standing in the woods, in all over the piles in the woods, all over the county has to be gotten out by sleighs because of no snow and by wheels because of swamps, the weather conditions allow. It will produce a fuel famine on the farms and a lumber shortage in the other.

Our mills are waiting to do business but the logs cannot be brought for the causes here outlined.

Miss Laura Kingston is spending the week end visiting Mrs. Bond.

Mr. and Mrs. Carr were called to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton of Madoc who were bereaved by the untimely death of their oldest son on Saturday last.

Miss George Pitman arrived home on Saturday after a two weeks visit at Campbellford.

Mrs. Bird and family paid their last visit to Church on Sunday last and many regret that they are removed to a farm, north of Madoc.

The annual Week Huntingdon for a farm, north of Madoc.

An interesting and attractive Mission Band program was presented after Sunday School on Sunday last when the following were the star artists:

Trio by Annie Cook, Helen Wright and Marian Truman, entitled "Can a little child like us".

A dialogue by Delbert Wright, Ruth Thompson, Kenneth McCoon, George Ashley, Alvin Carr and Cecil Carr, entitled "Father Valen tine Visit."

Mrs. J. J. Wilson, the leader gave a paper on Flowers.

The Watch Tower by Irene and Marguerite Bird, Ina Cook and Muriel Bird.

Marjory Cook was pianist.

Mr. and Mrs F. Ashley were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Palmer on Sunday last.

Geoffrey Morrin of Tulley visited at the Parsonage on Sunday and remained over for supper and church.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Reader spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Elliott of Holloway.

The attendance at Sunday School was 78 last Sunday.

Mrs. Arthur Bird of Madoc spent with J. J. Wilson received word Sunday with Mrs. Bird and family that her only brother is seriously ill in Toronto.

Mrs. George Post while away visiting over the week end, had an accident of falling resulting in a sprained arm.

Miss Sarah Wilson has gone to Belleville visiting friends for a few days.

Mrs. W. Bray was taken to Toronto on Sunday last, in charge of her nurse, Miss Marjory Bray, R.N. where she will be a patient at the General Hospital under the care of Dr. Richards of the Department of Radiology.

Mrs. Russell Stapley of Eggleton has chartered Lorne Wilson and his truck to bring her wood to the parsonage.

Miss Vera Wilson gave a farewell tea to her friend, Miss Helen Fargey who goes to Quinte to train for a nurse, which assisted by the following young lady friends of the community: Miss G. Truman, Miss Bernice McCurdy, Miss Marjory Cook, Miss Helen Wright, Miss Earl Snyder and Miss E. Mc-Ilroy.

A very enjoyable afternoon was spent in dities Fargey was well loaded down with the best wishes from her many old friends which she appreciated very much.

A number of people from West Huntingdon attended the funeral of Ralph Sheridan at Madoc on Tuesday last. He was buried from the Presbyterian Church where the family had always worshipped. There was a large and sympathetic attendance with many floral tributes.

Mrs. Albert Ashley is much indisposed just now suffering from throat troubles.

Mr. Clifford Elliott's team fell through the ice at Rose's pond while getting out ice on Tuesday. After a supreme effort the horses were gotten out and were taken to the stables of George Searles where they were well blanketed and attended to and finally overcame the discomfort of this accident.

Mrs. Bird spent the day on Tuesday, visiting at Mrs. Murray's.

Mrs. Truman of advanced age suffered a slight stroke on Tuesday last. Other neighbors report to hear.

Mrs. Aaron Ashley is suffering an attack of sore throat which we trust will soon pass away.

Walter Booker who resides at Mrs. J. J. Wilson's is also suffering from an attack of sore throat.

Mr. Lorne Wilson had the misfortune of having a good spare tire and all from his truck.

The special meetings still continue at the United Church with good results and attendance.

On Tuesday night a band of the young men of the church bonded themselves into a league of Mission workers for the purpose of cottage visitation. They were F. Barry, J. L. Wilson, A. Wilson E. Elliott, F. Wilson, H. Johnston. They plan to start off at once.

A philosopher once said that he could be virtuous for his own sake, but nobody were to know it; as he would be clean for his own sake, though nobody were to see him.

As Il Duce Awaited Papal Audience

Surrounded by a distinguished group of Italian dignitaries, Premier Benito Mussolini of Italy is shown in the ante-room of the Papal Chambers, just before his historic audience with Pope Pius XI in Rome. This was the first time that Pope Pius and Mussolini had met, though they had often conducted negotiations through intermediaries. The Italian Premier professed himself well pleased with the conference at which he is said to have reached an agreement with the Pope on church state affairs.

DISCUSS PACKING PLANT AT WOOLER

Special Meeting Held to Consider Advisability of Such a Plant

Wooler—On Saturday night in the Town Hall a special meeting was held to discuss a co-operative packing plant. It has been suggested there should be a fund of $10,000 invoice. At present there are two, Toronto and Barrie, Jr. Reynolds of Port Hope and Mr. Kay gave information as to a shareholder and the advantages for a farmer.

Rev. and Mrs. Poulter were in Belleville on Monday.

The Young People's meeting on Tuesday night was in charge of Miss Helen Tackabury and Beatrice Bragg.

Roy Sharpe has recovered from the effects of a bad fall in his barn a week ago.

Mr. Warren Scott is to poor health and has not been out for a few days.

Rev. A. Poulter, Mrs. Poulter, Patricia, Theodore, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Tyrrill and Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Montgomery spent Wednesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Lester Ards.

Ross McMaster has recovered from his illness.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyal Leavitt entertained Mr. and Mrs. Aylmer Dorland on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Kilbanks of Oshawa, spent Sunday with Mr. Geo. Kilbanks.

Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Tyrrill, Jas and Lorne, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Durland and son and Miss Constance Hinnigan on Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Clarke, in honor of Mr. Clarke's 72nd birthday anniversary. Mr. Clarke has been in poor health for a year or more but was able to enjoy the company of his daughter, granddaughter and great grandson.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Stacey entertained on Friday evening Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Tyrrill and sons and Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Dorland and children.

Edith Austin is quite ill again.

Mr. and Mrs. Aylmer Dorland entertained a number of guests on Tuesday night.

The Sunday School in the United Church on Sunday morning was largely attended and Mr. Browne of Albert College, Belleville, gave an interesting message.

Richards.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McMaster entertained Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Dorland and Mr. and Mrs. Ross Wessels to dinner on Sunday.

Miss Anna Bell spent the week end at Baltimore with a school friend.

Royal Candidate

"Hohenzollern vs. Hindenburg" is the sensational slogan that has been injected into the German presidential campaign with the announcement that Prince Oscar of Prussia, fifth son of the ex-Kaiser, had consented to run on the Nationalist ticket in opposition to the 85-year-old soldier statesman, President Paul Hindenburg.

BENEFACTORS ARE THANKED

Grateful Westerners Send Note of Thanks to Thurlow Ladies

Bird Thurlow—An all day's meeting of the Neighbor's Aid was held at the home of Mrs. Stuley Grills on Wednesday, Feb. 17, with a large attendance, several men being present for noon dinner. Two quilts were quilted. The meeting was called to order by the President, Mrs. J. Donaldson, by singing the Ode, followed by prayer. The minutes of the last meeting were read by the secretary treasurer, Mrs. A. Mitchell and approved. It was decided to send a quilt and other articles to an unemployed family, the father being sick and the mother trying to provide by doing odd jobs. Mrs. A. Mitchell and Mrs. D. Atkins received letters from families in the West in answer to notes sent in some clothing for western relief at Christmas time. The clothing was greatly needed and much appreciated. They thanked the ladies greatly for their help. Several musical selections were given by Mr. A. Gallivar on the mouth organ and Mrs. Stanley Grills chorded on the Hawaiian guitar, which we enjoyed by all. Some business was attended too and the meeting closed by singing the National Anthem.

Mr. and Mrs. M. York and Mr. and Mrs. F. Yorks visited at Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Grills on Sunday.

Mrs. A. Mitchell entertained Mr. and Mrs. J. Donaldson, Mr. and Mrs. R. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. H. Grills and Mr. and Mrs. D. Latta to tea on Friday evening.

Mrs. Hutchinson, Gilead, visited her daughter, Mrs. S. Grills for a couple of days last week.

Mr. R. Jones, Mr. G. Jones, Mr. F. McDale visited the latter's mother, Mrs. A. Keene on Sunday.

Mrs. Wm. Bennett had been staying with her son, Mr. W. Bennett, Belleville who was ill with La Grippe last week.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Latta visited at Mr. H. Grills' to tea on Wednesday evening.

Several from this line attended the funeral of the late Mr. A. McKinney on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Grills visited Mr. and Mrs. F. Mitchell, at the tea hour on Sunday.

The farmers are busy piling stone to be crushed for the roads in the spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Gray entertained Mr. and Mrs. A. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. D. Latta, Mr. and Mrs. S. Grills, Mr. and Mrs. F. Mitchell and Mr. and Mrs. D. Atkins on Thursday night.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Gray and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Kierl attended a party at Mr. and Mrs. Sanderson's on Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. O. Silos have returned home after spending a week with their son and daughter in Detroit, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Moorman visited Mr. W. Gray's over night last week.

Quite a number from this line have been confined to their bed with a severe attack of La Grippe.

Miss Roberta Melbourne spent a very delightful party to her young friends last night.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Donaldson, Mr. and Mrs. Stuley Grills and Mrs. Wickett visited at Mr. Harry Grills on Monday.

Mrs. V. Lynch of Toronto was visiting at Mr. A. Milne's and Mr. Wm. Milne's last week.

Miss Mary Donaldson visited her uncle, Mr. A. Clary for a few days last week.

SUIT INSTITUTED

Toronto, Ont., Feb. 24—(By the Canadian Press).—P. McLaughlin Toronto, yesterday entered legal action to recover from Solloway, Mills and Company, Limited, the sum of $161,162, alleged amount of profits and paid on margin declassified. He also sought $100,000 damages for alleged conspiracy to defraud.

DECIDE Y. P. L. MORE BENEFICIAL

Springbrook League Presents Interesting Debate in Orange Hall

Springbrook—Springbrook Y. P. L. held a social evening in the Orange Hall on Monday night. After a short program of singing and readings a debate was the topic of interest.

Resolved "that a Young People's League is of more benefit to a community than a Ladies' Aid" was the title. Miss Helen Bateman, Miss Hazel Bateman and Clarence Bailey brought out some fine points for the Y. P. S., Mrs. A. F. Williams, Mrs. A. Haslett and Mrs. C. Thompson strussed the Ladies Aid side of the debate, after some time the decision was given to the Y. P. L. Rev. H. A. Hunt, Maurice Heath and Miss H. Clute were the judges. Games and contests were enjoyed for a time, followed by a dainty lunch in the basement.

Mrs. John Scott of Stirling visited Miss Ruby Forsythe last week.

The sawing machine is being heard in the village.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Burkitt of Frankford visited relatives here this week.

Mrs. D. Young of Belleville is visiting friends and relatives here.

Rev. Hunt has installed a new electric radio.

Canada's development of water power resources reached a total of 3,606,000 horse power in its stalled water wheels or turbines at the close of 1931.

THE HAPPY WAY TO THRIFT

SHREDDED WHEAT

TWO BISCUITS WITH MILK MAKE A COMPLETE SATISFYING MEAL

Made in Canada with Canadian Wheat

THE CANADIAN SHREDDED WHEAT COMPANY, LTD.

50,000 Aluminum Cooking Spoons free

OXO PIE

4 large potatoes
2 Oxo Cubes
1 onion
Pepper and Salt to taste

Slice the potatoes and onions and put them in the pie dish in layers. Mix the Oxo Cubes in a cupful of hot water, and pour over, putting small pieces of butter on the top. Bake in a hot oven until nicely browned and serve.

Save 50 Oxo Cube Red Wrappers for SOUP STEWS GRAVIES ETC.

Every kitchen should keep a supply of Oxo Cubes constantly on hand to add flavour and nourishment to soups, stews and "left-overs". They put in that extra nourishment which your family needs. Save the Oxo Cube Red Wrappers and send them, with your name and address to Oxo Limited, 1910 St. Antoine St., Montreal, Que.

This offer applies to residents of Canada only and expires on April 30, 1932.

OXO CUBES

13 inch Aluminum Spoon (BRITISH MADE)

Why be a Stoker?

CONVERT YOUR STOVE INTO A SILENT GLOW

Shovelling fuel, shaking grates, and carrying ashes are now unnecessary labor. Women are tired of dirt and toil in the kitchen. Make sure of clean, perfectly trouble-free heat in your present range, heater or furnace by installing a Silent Glow Oil Burner now.

Burns clean—without noise, soot, odor or smoke—gives all the fire you want for cooking or heating. Self-operating and absolutely safe. Burns cheap fuel oil. Backed by a written guarantee for 5 years.

LIGHTS QUICKER—GIVES MORE HEAT—BURNS LESS OIL AND MORE AIR PER UNIT OF HEAT GENERATED.

Silent Glow Burners are already installed in 100,000 homes—more than all other burners combined. Come and see it demonstrated. $50.00 up.

SILENT GLOW OIL BURNER

Makers of Silent Glow Pilgrim Heaters for homes, camps, etc., and Silent Glow Power Burners for heating large homes, apartments and other large buildings.

"MADE IN CANADA"
JOHN LEWIS AND CO.
Belleville, Ont.

Just the thing for the kitchen range or heater, in your Summer Cottage or Camp.

To some, history is a host of minute events without connection; to others, a thousand battles in sequence, a thousand battles which settled nothing.

Specials on Sale Feb. 25 Mar. 2

Big SALE of Special Blend TEA

Imported direct—blended by our own experts to produce a tea for those who appreciate the finest in tea. Buy at a special this week it is doubly economical. We urge you to stock up. Every pound sold within this price is effective.

4 lbs. 99c

lb. 27c

Buy a pound. Try it. We feel sure you will like it. Then buy 4 pounds at this price it will pay you. Every pound means the four pounds.

Shop at EATON'S

SPECIAL White BEANS ONTARIO HAND-PICKED

A tempting dish of golden brown beans, delicately flavored with pieces of pork flavored with molasses, seasonings and tomato sauce. Try it for variety as a meat substitute.

7 lbs. 15c

CHRISTIE'S Soda Wafers FLAKY—DELICIOUS—CRUNCHY 4-oz. Pkg. 5c

Quality Coffee at a Lower Cost EMPIRE BLEND COFFEE

Roasted—ground—ruched FRESH to you in flavor-sealed tins—this superior blend of fine coffees will delight even the most exacting.

lb. Tin 35c

Introducing.... VICTORIAN PACKAGE CHOCOLATES ASSORTED Hard and Soft Centres

Bite into a Victorian Package Chocolate—and you'll find a delicious centre flavor—the luscious fruits, nuts, creams, etc., that you like best. Victorian Package Chocolates are made in our own sanitary candy kitchen. The best in the land, and the lowest price in the price.

We invite you to try a box at this introductory price.

Introductory Price 1-lb. Box 29c

SPECIAL—WESTON'S "DELECTO" ASSORTED BISCUITS

An exceptionally fine assortment of quality Biscuits at a special low price this week. See them in the store.

lb. 24c

MEAT SPECIALS For Friday and Saturday Only

CHOICE SMOKED Pet. Kippered Herring 10c

CHOICE LOIN lb. ROAST PORK 14c

Choice Chuck and Shoulder Roast Beef lb. 10c

Picnic Shoulders lb. 12c Choice Shoulder

Special—Boneless Pot Roasts lb. 12c

SPECIAL—"Jolly Good Brand" PEANUT BUTTER

34-oz. Jar 29c

QUALITY AND VALUE

EATON GROCETERIA

QUALITY AND VALUE

OPERATED BY T. EATON CO.

SCREEN ATTRACTIONS
Present and Prospective

Previews and Reviews of Current Offerings at Belleville Theatres

At The Belle

BILL BOYD'S NEW PICTURE THRILLING AND MODERN

Friday - Revival Night.

Manager Furhan of the Belle Theatre promises his patrons a full blooded dramatic entertainment that satisfies to the last fade-out in "The Big Gamble," Bill Boyd's new RKO Pathe starring vehicle which opens tomorrow for two days, matinee daily.

"The Big Gamble" tells a thrilling modern story with fast, absorbing action and strong, meaty dialogue. The play has a striking plot and a perfect cast. It is directed by Fred Niblo.

A young fellow who has had things easy all his life finds himself at the end of his rope, broke and beaten. To get out of his debts and exit from the world with every thing even, he starts in to do the man into whose power he has fallen. To make sure of collecting the forfeit money, the sinister one marries his victim to a girl who has put herself into his hands to save her brother. The play is for the wife to collect the husband's insurance when he is gone and hand it over.

Then, the chap who thinks he is tired of the world finds he has a lot to live for but the trap is closed and can only be opened by more money than he is able to raise. There is one desperate chance to square the count. He takes it and just when success is in sight, he has to abandon the effort to save another. Then comes the blood-tingling climax.

Bill Boyd gives one of the best performances of his career, proving himself a powerful dramatic actor. Dorothy Sebastian plays the feminine lead opposite her husband and makes a beautiful and sympathetic heroine. Warner Oland, James Gleason, Sam Pitts, William Collier Jr., Ralph Ince, June MacCloy and Geneva Mitchell compose a supporting cast that leaves nothing to be desired. Their work is excellent.

Eddie Cantor, the favorite of ten million radio fans, appears on the same program in "Midnight Frolic" which shows the famous quick-quack comedian to introduce a joyful song festival by his own inimitable style. The popular Screen Snapshots, showing your favorite screen stars at work and play, the Belle Sound News, and the closing chapter of the "The Vanishing Legion" serial are announced for exhibition on the same program.

Following the regular performance all the Belle Friday evening patrons are invited to remain and witness a screening of one of the outstanding screen successes of the past season. Maurice Chevalier and Claudette Colbert appear in the musical gem "The Smiling Lieutenant," tomorrow night, making two shows for one price.

Dorothy Sebastian and Bill Boyd in "The Big Gamble," at the Belle Tomorrow (Revival Night) and Saturday.

A scene from "Branded Men," starring Ken Maynard at the Capitol, Friday and Saturday.

At The Capitol

"UNEXPECTED FATHER" TONIGHT

Saint Forbs Fyne.

Tonight each lady patron of the Capitol Theatre will be presented with a sa'ad fork with the compliments of the management.

The featured attraction, "The Unexpected Father," brings Kate Pitt and Slim Summerville together for the first time and the result is Fun with a capital F.

A supporting program of comedy and mystery makes the entertainment complete.

TRICK RIDING

Ken Maynard exhibits some of the trick riding that made him a headline attraction with Ringling Bros. Circus in his new Tiffany Productions' drama, "Branded Men," which will be on the bill at the Capitol Theatre Friday and Saturday.

From cowboy trials in Hollywood, Ken is recognized as one of the best trick riders in the flink. Riding his chief sport and hobby and he owns a stable of horses, among them a string of polo ponies which he personally trained.

Maynard has always been a rider. Raised on a ranch in Texas, he could do the ordinary cowboy tricks as a boy. He ran away from home when he was fourteen to join a circus but was brought back to the parental roof after three glorious weeks with his heroes, the trick riders.

When he was old enough, he gained his father's consent, and joined a circus. By this time he was proficient enough to be recognized as a good performer, for his father, realizing that the boy was determined on a career as a circus performer, encouraged him. Ken soon became a headline attraction with Ringling Brothers, leaving the organization to join the Hollywood movies.

He is always experimenting with new tricks or perfecting old ones. Although he has taken several hard falls, he has never been seriously injured. He maintains a small ranch and stables in the San Fernando valley near Los Angeles, where he practices his sensational tricks in the saddle.

SENATED GOEBBELS

BERLIN, March. 24.—(AP)—Wilhelm Groener, German defense minister, in a short, sharp address at the opening of the session of the Reichstag, berated Joseph Goebbels, Adolf Hitler's right hand man for identifying President Paul von Hindenburg in yesterday's session with a party of "deserters".

Part of the sockeye catch of the Fraser river, British Columbia, is now being skinned before canning, and salted in cans for sale as stated to command a price premium.

THE CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES LIMITED

Store Hours — Open 9 a.m. Close 6 p.m. Saturday — Open 9 a.m. Close 9.30 p.m.

A D.A. Account makes shopping even more convenient.

FRIDAY BARGAINS

Telephone orders given prompt attention.

Friday Bargains at this particular time are more interesting than ever. The new season brings a multitude of needs, and who doesn't appreciate a real bargain in the very things you want now! That's why Bargain Day is looked forward to by so many thrifty shoppers. Come early if you can.

Bargain Purchase of Smart Rayon Scarves (seconds) for Women, Rousing Value, ea.

39c

Made of all rayon yarns—fine, lustrous scarves that will add color and smartness to your costumes and at little cost. Though seconds their wearing qualities you'll find are not affected to any extent. Popular ascot styles with fringed ends—in a wealth of pretty shades. Rousing Value, Friday, each .....
—main floor centre

Women's Neckwear
Novelty styles, collar and cuff sets, and jabots in the assortment of: lace, plush, georgette, satin and rayon. Tailored and more feminine styles—in ecru, white, red or sand. Reg. 1.00. Friday Bargain, each 69c
—main floor centre

Candy
Bargains!
Assorted Creams, Reg. 25c lb. Friday Bargain 15c
Tango Puffs, Reg. 25c lb. for 15c
—main floor right

Rayon Pl-ted on Wool Hose
A fine medium weight hose —rayon plated on wool yarn—in circular knit—with specially reinforced toes and heels. In gunmetal, beige fawn and French nude. Size in the lot 8½ to 10. Friday Bargain, ... 45c pair
—main floor left

Irish Linen
Lunch Cloths
Made of strong, all linen yarns—hemmed ready for use, serviceable weight — in white with green, or gold borders. Size 52" x 52". Friday Bargain, each 69c
—main floor right rear

35" Printed Cotton
Broadcloth
Made of strong cotton yarns and printed in a host of pretty washable shades, arranged in flowers and odd shaped figures. Even and firm—36 inches wide. Blue, green, red, sand and mauve. Friday Bargain, ... 23c yard
—main floor right rear

Men's Horsehide Windbreakers
Men's real horsehide windbreakers — heavily plush lined for added protection —Clearance of odd lines from the past season and regularly priced 8.95. Friday Bargain, each 5.95
—men's store

Boys' Leather Coats
Here's unusual value—a clearance of boys' serviceable leather windbreakers — softly plush lined, with an all round belt. In tan or black. Sizes in the lot 28 to 36. Reg. 5.95. Friday Bargain, each 4.45
—men's store

3 Piece Tapestry Upholstered
Chesterfield Suite
A smart, well built suite, consisting of chesterfield, arm chair and wing chair. Comfortable Marshall spring filling in each piece. Cushions are reversible. Regularly priced at 90.00. Friday Bargain, cash price 69.00
D.P. Terms — 12.00 down, ten monthly payments of 7.21. Total D.P. Price 72.00.

Extra! First Quality Flannelette Blankets
Woven from all cotton yarns—with a soft, fleecy nap. Ends are whipped—patterns are pleasing plaid effects in rose, blue, gold, green or mauve on white grounds. Size 60 x 84 inches. Friday Bargain, each 95c
—main floor right rear

Brother and Sister Suits
Rayon and Wool Mixture
Cute little brother and sister suits—knit from fine rayon and wool yarns—in one and two piece styles—in choice of nile, sand, blue or red. Smart for 2, 4, 6 year olds. Friday Bargain, each 98c
—second floor

Ecru
Swiss Panels
Handsome ecru Swiss panels with appliqued designs. Suitable for living rooms, dining rooms, or the hall. Size of 2½ by 40". Reg. priced 98c. Friday Bargain, each 79c
—main floor rear

Indoor
Clothes Line
Cotrich clothes line completely enclosed in a colored metal case. Can be put up very quickly. Reg. 45c. Friday Bargain, each 29c
—basement

Fruit and Vegetable
Slicer
Handy fruit and vegetable slicer with wood frame and metal sliding part. Reg. priced 65c each. Friday Bargain, each 39c
—basement

Metal Junior
Lamps
A smart style of junior lamp with metal stem — in colonial finish in three candle socket style. Complete with a pretty parchment paper shade. Friday Bargain, complete 8.55
—main floor rear

Birch
Dressers
3 only at this low price — strongly made birch dressers —in rich walnut finish—with three spacious drawers. Fitted with good quality plate mirror. About 34" high. Friday Bargain, ... 10.95 each
—main floor rear

SPECIAL FEATURE BROADCAST SALE!
SMOCKS AND HOME FROCKS

In well finished cotfast printed cotton and natural linene materials. Smart patterns in shades of blue, green, mauve, rose. Sizes 34 to 52 in the lot. Also 11 additional styles .....
Unusually smart smocks with fitted lines, single or double-breasted styles. Cotfast cotton broadcloth in plain and two-tone effects, in blue, green, sand or mauve. Sizes 34 to 42 .....
79c

Regular and extra sizes—cotton foglards and an exceptionally fine quality of print—short and long sleeves—an abundance of good looking styles. Light shades, blue, pink, yellow, green, mauve, tan. Sizes 34 to 46 .....
1.49

Men! Great Special Offer!!
MADE-TO-MEASURE SUITS

Choice of a Good Selection of Smart Shades and Patterns Tailored to Your Individual Measurements — at this Special Price for a Limited Period Only — Act Promptly

Our Usual High-Grade Tailoring In These Suits

Men—Easter is earlier this year—it's time to think about your new spring suit now —and here's the opportunity to have it tailor-made to your individual measurements at a splendid saving if you act promptly and take advantage of this attractive special offer.

This special price applies on plain blue and grey serges as well as new tweeds and worsteds in smart patterns and shades. The same rigid tailoring standards that are a feature of our "Made-to-measure" service will be used in tailoring these suits. Come in Friday and see the excellent range of samples on display. Order NOW!

$19.95

With Extra Trousers $2.25

THE CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES LIMITED

THE WEATHER
Lower Lake Region and Georgian Bay—Moderate westerly winds; fair mild today and Saturday.

The Ontario Intelligencer

Twelve Pages

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 26, 1932.

15,000 JAP RESIDENTS LEAVE SHANGHAI

JAPAN PASSES HUGE SUM FOR TWO EXPEDITIONS AT MANCHURIA AND SHANGHAI

Battle Renewed With Flanking Movement at Kiangwan

STUBBORN FIGHT

Heavy Levies Upon Public Funds in Tokyo Are Made

Shanghai, Feb. 26 (AP)—Japanese troops, advancing against machine gun fire, surrounded the town of Kiangwan again a few minutes before midnight tonight.

"If we can't bomb them out we'll starve them out," said a spokesman at Japanese headquarters.

The Chinese resistance was so stubborn that starvation appeared to be the only way which could succeed against them.

The spokesman said the Japanese losses in the past 24 hours of heavy fighting were 120 killed and wounded.

Japanese Vote

BY GLENN BABB

(A. P. Staff Correspondent)

Tokyo, Feb. 26—An extraordinary appropriation of 32,000,000 yen as the present rate, was approved by the Japanese cabinet today to meet additional military expenses in connection with the expedition to Shanghai.

The army received 30,000,000 yen and the navy 2,000,000 yen.

This was the second special appropriation made for the Shanghai expedition. A total of 34,000,000 yen was authorized by the cabinet today bringing the authorization to date to 56,000,000 yen or nearly $19,000,000 at the present rate of exchange.

Domestic Issue

The money is expected to be raised by domestic bond issue.

The appropriation authorized today required consent of the privy council but this was believed to have been assured.

Besides today an appropriation of 42,000,000 yen was voted for the Manchurian campaign some time ago which, in addition to the appropriations this month brings the total to approximately $31,000,000 at the current exchange rate, or $48,000,000 at par. The estimated cost of maintaining the Manchurian and Shanghai expeditions indefinitely was at least 10,000,000 yen about $5,000,000.

Opinion in Japan, as expressed thus far, has generally been favorable in tone in a cable letter of Henry L. Stimson, United States Secretary of War, of a few days ago.

SNOWSLIDES TAX EFFORTS

One Killed and Traffic Disrupted in Mountain Area

Calgary, Alta., Feb. 26 (CP). — One death, a tangle of disrupted communication lines and delayed train schedules today followed in the train of a series of snowslides that taxed the efforts of emergency gangs throughout the Rocky Mountain area. Joe Richish, one of a gang clearing a slide at Rossiter, B. C., was killed when a huge snowslide swept to death by a slide. James Robertson, section foreman at Grand Forks, was seriously injured when caught by a slide near Pulson, B. C. west of Grand Forks.

Ocean Air Service is Mooted by U.S. Company

St. John's Nfld., Feb. 26 (CP).—Rumors of a proposal for a regular trans-Atlantic air mail service were heard here as Bernt Balchen, noted Atlantic and Antarctic flier, booked over Harbor Grace landing field. Harbor Grace has been the starting point and first western landing place of several Atlantic air crossings.

Balchen is said to be scouting for an American company . Interviewed today he declined to discuss his purpose in visiting Newfoundland. He answered questions by stating he had seen Newfoundland from the air during his search last year for survivors of the Viking disaster and desired an inspection from the ground.

Before coming to Newfoundland Balchen inspected the airport at Halifax. He will leave St. John's tomorrow on the Lner Sylvia.

Chinese Eject Japs In Kiangwan Sector

Shanghai, Feb. 27, Saturday (AP)—The Chinese forces drove the Japanese out of the Miaochungchen sector this afternoon and held on to the ground gained in the face of Japanese gun fire.

Shanghai, Feb. 26 (AP)—More than 15,000 Japanese have left Shanghai for Japan since the outbreak of hostilities January 28, Japanese Consular authorities said today, and others are continuing to go.

London, Feb. 26 (AP)—The Manchester Guardian, commenting on the Eastern crisis, said today that "nothing has been accomplished in the Far East. Eastern Crisis, America has from the beginning had a consistent policy."

The editorial said this policy was outlined with great lucidity in the United States note to the United States fought to Stimson letter and that the attitude of the United States and the League of Nations "is fully cooperation between the United States and the League of Nations."

Unhappily," it added, "as far as can be seen, the League Council is taking virtually no advantage of this almost unique opportunity."

Pussy-Cat, Pussy-Cat Why Did You Sit on That Pole?

Neighbors and Firemen Even Worried About Her Lofty Perch

SAVED BY LADDER

Sitting on an electric light pole for two days and a night, a pretty pussy cat was rescued by the firemen of the town of Lewis Street.

The wind had blown cold but pussy's warm coat did not mind the chill of night and the passing hours.

For some reason pussy would not descend. Neighbors worried about her but could not get near enough for petting up among the juice-laden wires. Some said she was a cat of cross-arm and not all the pleas of the women of the street—it was the west end of Lewis Street—could coax her down to the earth. Not the sight of saucers of milk, offers of pieces of meat, would stir the little Miss from her perch but made up her mind for good.

At last human endurance could endure, last, and suffer no longer. So the animal in the nine lives could stick it out forever.

"Shu'd starve to death."

"She may freeze."

"She must be cold and stiff and tired."

But the cat did not bet an eye at all these sympathies of her human friends. Kitty was on the pole and she stayed there.

"Get the firemen"! Bright idea. Germany Refuses To Annul Tribute

Berlin, Feb. 26 (AP)—By a vote of 268 to 181 the German reichstag today defeated a Communist motion to "stop all payment of tribute based on the Versailles' Treaty and annul all treaties made to capitalistic countries."

No answer suggested than a message was sent downtown and soon from downtown came up the hook and ladder truck. Neighbors who did not know of the decision to call out the firemen thought the whole street was afire when they saw the firemen arrive, but could see no traces of conflagration, blazes and fire.

Ah! That's it: The firemen were putting a ladder up against Pussy Cat's pole. It reached to the top. Pussy drew more close to the pole and then, nothing daunted, sprang her physical entity with the wooden arm.

Up scaled the fireman. Pussy shrunk still more. Soon a husky fireman was where Pussy was. She was saved and nestled in his arms and he carried her down the steep ascent of the ladder. Soon she was in a home beside the kitchen stove.

Will not put the cat up the pole? Neighbors think a dog frightened her.

Returns From Work Finds Husband Dead

Kitchener, Ont., Feb. 26.—(By the Canadian Press)—John Sava, 40 was found dead by his wife last night when she returned home after working all day in a local factory.

It is believed the man died a few hours after his wife left the house. Autopsy will determine cause of death as coronary thrombosis, a form of heart disease. The man appeared in perfect health and had never complained of illness.

27,000 Volts Pass Through Workman

Chatham, Ont., Feb. 26.—Sydney Marshall of Blenheim is believed to be dying in a local hospital as a result of a heavy charge of electricity passing through his body, while working on the rural Hydro line near Thamesville today. Eye witnesses said Marshall was working on the top of a pole when he missed his footing and touched a 27,000 volt cable. Seized with the shock, either fell to his assistance he fell to the ground.

Ocean Air Service is Mooted by U.S. Company

FARMER UNION FREE-TRADERS BATTLE GOV'T

Wheat Quota Bill Stirs Up Excitement in London

TWO AMENDMENTS

Charge Made Tariff Will Mean Bread Tax

London, Feb. 26 (Can. Press)—The National Government today faced opposition from Free-Trade members of the House of Commons and the National Union of Farmers over details of its wheat quota bill.

In the meantime the bill moved to establish a general ten percent ad valorem tariff had gone before House of Lords where it was given third reading in the House of Commons last night.

To Have No Effect

There seemed little chance it would meet serious opposition in the Upper House and observers were hopeful it would receive Royal assent, making it law, before next Tuesday when the Government plans to put it into operation.

In the last stages of debate the House accepted two amendments placing soft fibre hemp and hemp tow on the free list and bringing to eight the number of items added to the free list within two days. Six articles, raw copper, potash, corn, coal, coke and briquettes were placed on the free list Wednesday. A move on the part of Sari Winkler, Conservative, to have lead and zinc also added to the list of exempted articles was defeated when he withdrew an amendment after being assured the advisory committee on tariffs would examine the claim that foreign producers had cancelled contracts with British importers and raised prices on their shipments.

Means Bread Tax?

Rt. Hon. L. S. Amery, Secretary of State for the Dominions, in the former Labor government, told a radio audience Wednesday night precisely that the passage of the wheat quota bill would mean a tax on bread. He developed an argument supporting the enforcement of the quota scheme would cost consumers 6,000,000 pounds annually and would bring a rise of a half penny in the price of a four pound loaf of bread.

The National Farmers Union passed a resolution protesting that the proposed adjustment of prices paid for wheat, amounting to 45 shillings a quarter (eight bushels) in amounts up to 27,000,000 hundredths, of the total of 40 million pounds. The resolution suggested the amount should be raised to 30,000,000 hundredweights.

The farmers also urged that costs of the establishment of a proposed

(Continued on Page 2)

THREE BURNED IN HOUSE FIRE

Practically Whole Family Wiped Out at Campbellton, N.B.

Campbellton, N.B., Feb. 26—Three persons were burned to death and a fourth seriously injured in house flames destroyed the home of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick Loubert, in the eastern section of Campbellton early this morning.

The dead: Mrs. Patrick Loubert, 78; Alma Allan, 32, a dressmaker, and Joyce Doucette, aged 4. Fred Doucette, father of the little girl, was cut and bruised when he jumped from a second story window with the intention of getting a ladder and going back after the baby. He is now in Hotel Dieu Hospital.

The Loubert home burned to the ground. Mrs. Loubert left the house after her husband left the house. Mrs. Allan left the house after her husband left the house. Mrs. Allan left the house after her husband left the house. Mrs. Allan

City and District News

SKATERS ARE KEEN ON BELLEVILLE VISIT

Mr. E. Newby and Mr. T. M. Webster were present at the Toronto Skating Club's Karnival "Kaleidoscope" in Thornhill on Tuesday night and were delighted with the program and clever specialty. They report great enthusiasm amongst the skaters for the forthcoming presentation in Belleville, which justly earned a high reputation for its hospitality and effective arrangements last year.

RESERVED SEAT PLAN NOW OPEN

The reserved seat plan for "Kaleidoscope" to be presented by the Toronto Skating Club at the Belleville Arena on March 11, is now open at the store of Chas. J. Symons.

MOTOR CRUSHES OLD STRAW HAT

Signs of Spring are not lacking. A warm sun shone out on Monday morning and bathed the city and district with a flood of warmth. Birds sang and hopped through the branches already budding—and up near the old Front Street school on the Upper bridge, a somewhat worn and decrepit, but once fashionable straw hat lay almost in the centre of the street.

A passing motorist, with eyes before him sped carelessly on and passed over it, unobserved. A following car driven by a man more observant slowed to a standstill before it while the driver eased out of the line of traffic, undismayed, then started the car and drove over it. What was left of the ragged straw was placed by the motorist by the curb to school and tossed in the river. But another car, of a bygone season had shown itself.

AUTO MARKERS FOR THIS DISTRICT

The following are the letters which appear on the auto licenses in this district:

MA 1 to MH 200 Napanee.
MA 201 to MD 200—Tamworth.
MD 201 to MD 700—Picton.
MD 701 to MO 600—Belleville.
MO 601 to MP 700—Trenton.
MP 701 to MR 700—Bancroft.
MR 701 to MT 600—Campbellford
MT 601 to MU 200—Hastings.
MU 601 to MX 300—Cobourg.
MX 301 to MY 300—Havelock.
MY 300 to MZ 999—Peterborough.

RISE OF 31 POINTS IS RECORDED

A maximum rise of 31 points was noticed in the registration of the real temperatures in the past twenty-four hours. Yesterday's temperatures were 11 low while the mercury never rose above the freezing point of 32 at anytime yesterday. Thursday however, it started out rarefaied, by the mercury, was up at an early hour this morning by which time already risen had reached as high as 42 at noon today. This registration is somewhat more above the average or mean temperature.

COL. W. N. PONTON MUCH IMPROVED

Major R. D. Ponton, K.C., was the recipient of very good news this morning when a friend informed that his father, Col. W. N. Ponton, K.C., is fast on the road to recovery from his recent operation and illness in Hamilton. This news will be welcomed by the many friends of Col. Ponton in this community who have been hoping for his successful recovery ever since learning of his illness.

CLUB RAIDED BY POLICE

Forty-Two Men Found in And Will Be Charged Later

Toronto, Feb. 26.—Thundering blows on a sledge hammer wielded by Provincial Police battered in two outer doors of the Canadian Aviation Club on Queen street, west of the Humber, early this morning, as Inspector A. S. Elliott headed in a squad in a surprise raid.

Forty-two men were found in and will be summoned as alleged frequenters of a gambling house. A large quantity of money, chips and gambling devices were seized.

When the police descended on the place, the lookout man switched off all the lights, police say. The officers retaliated quickly and were able to switch the lights back on before they made entry.

In a hideaway beneath the stairs leading to the cellar, officers found about $300 in cash. The money was in $5 and $10 bills.

DOME MOVES UPWARD TODAY

General Trend of Stand- ard Mining Board is Downward

Toronto, Feb. 26.—Dome Mines featured trading on the Standard Mining Exchange today, spiriting against a generally downward trend to establish a good gain over last night's final. Other changes, confined to a comparatively small portion of the list, displayed a definitely easier tendency, with interlisted stocks providing no leadership.

Dome, which has been showing signs of strength for several sessions, came ahead from the opening on strong New York buying and at midday was up 30c at $10.70. Lake Shore and Teck Hughes were firm but McIntyre turned over at $16.65, off 10c, and Granada lost 4c to $1.

Eldorado rallied at the outset but weakened later, with another loss of 3c to $1.32 when taken. Among the silvers, Beaver Hovey and Big Missouri lost 1 cent apiece while Sicoe and Aino made minor gains.

Majority of Base Metals were inactive but fairly steady. Noranda slipped below $18 for a 10-cent decline in a few sales. In Nipissing Home Oil and Gordon displayed an easier tendency.

FARMER UNION

(Continued from Page 1)

wheat commission should be paid by an additional tax on flour, already taxed under provisions of the bill to provide the difference between the proposed standard price of wheat and the market price.

Rejection Will be Moved

London, Feb. 26 (CP)—Rejection of the government's wheat quota bill will be moved by the Labor Opposition on Tuesday or next week when the bill comes up for second reading in the House of Commons.

The bills introduced on Tuesday with the aim of providing the domestic wheat grower with a secure market at a fixed price, has already encountered some criticism from farmers and from some free trade members of the House.

REPAIR IT NOW!

Skilled workmen can repair that car top of yours in the shortest possible time and guarantee a first class job.

ST. CHARLES MOTOR CO.
PHONE 222

STOP!

This Way To The Homemade CANDY
SPECIALS
10c, 15c, 20c
and 25c lb.
They're a treat to your taste. Wholesome and Delicious.
MOORES
Anglo American Block

ROCHESTER TO OUST LOAFERS

Ruling Applies to All Physically Able; Grocery Order List

Rochester, N. Y., Feb. 26.—Recipients of city welfare bureau cash allowances, who are physically fit, are to be put to work.

This was announced by Commissioner Leo A. MacSweeney following a conference with Vincent B. Bennett, director of city emergency jobs.

It was Bennett's recommendation that all physically fit heads of families receiving cash allowance be turned over to the emergency job squad to work for their allowance.

Must Work For Relief

"This plan not only will eliminate the loafers but give the city something tangible for its relief fare expenditures. The men will be put on public works jobs in connection with the emergency relief work squads at no additional expense," he said.

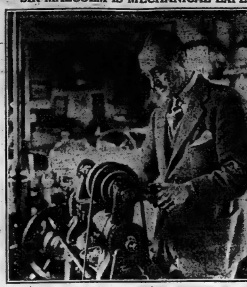
He explained that if an unemployed head of a family was now drawing $10 a week from the welfare fund, he will be put to work at least three days for his allowance.

According to MacSweeney, there are more than 2,000 male heads of families getting $10 or $15 a week because of dependents and that they do nothing to compensate the city.

Grocery List Announced

MacSweeney also announced that the grocery list of staple articles which alone may be supplied by grocers on welfare orders, was being distributed today. Only the articles supplied which are not on the list will be approved by the city, he said.

The independent grocers agreed on the prices which approximate the lowest prices of chain stores, he said. "There is but one chain store on the list to serve the welfare workers, and that is a local combination, he said. He said:



"If there is any profit in this business, it will be reserved for home merchants; that's why the local grocery stores are scratch from the competition."

BURROW TO SAVE MEN

Mount Vernon, Wash., Feb. 26.—One hundred men resumed their burrowing and tunneling at dawn today into the snowy bed left by an avalanche which buried the workmen yesterday in the narrow Skagit River canyon.

YOUR EYES
IF GLASSES ARE NECESSARY
to enable you to see as you should what could be of more importance than protecting them? You are being deprived of much of the pleasures of life if you do not see all there is to see. Or if you see well enough but do so at the cost of eye strain. Let us prescribe how a modern eye service will benefit you.
PHONE 128
FOR APPOINTMENT
J. A. McFEE
OPTOMETRIST

SIR MALCOLM IS MECHANICAL EXPERT

So often one finds experts in one particular subject are also very clever in other directions. Sir Malcolm Campbell runs true to form. He is satisfied with being the fastest automobile driver in the world, he is expert in the hobby of mechanics, particularly pertaining to automobile engines. Here he is shown working in his machine shop at his home in England.

May Re-light City Hall by Electricity in Near Future

Many Recommendations Passed By City Council in Committee

CHARGES REFUNDED

A number of recommendations were passed by the city council last night at their regular committee meeting in preparation for the 8 o'clock council meeting on Monday evening. There was no business of real importance, the majority of the recommendations being routine matter.

Ald. Thomas Marshall, chairman of Market and City Property, brought three recommendations before the committee which were accepted. The store in the city weigh scales will be rented to Mr. George, the occupant to repair same at his own expense and satisfactory to a committee composed of Alderman T. Marshall and W. A. Woodley.

Plans will be prepared and sealed tenders called for suitable fixtures to relight the city hall with electricity and also the installing of a time clock for lighting the City Hall clock. A list of clothes will be purchased by Jesse Harris, caretaker of the city hall. This has been a city annual expense but the last one purchased was three years ago.

The council recommended "that abutting frontage along the following streets be exempted from street oiling charges for the year 1931 and if any of the property owners have paid their assessment for the year 1931 be refunded that the payment be refunded by the city treasurer. Streets named are Grier St. from Evans to Strachan St; Grove St. James Street from the Canadian National Railways siding of the Coca Cola plant to Pinnacle St. from the east side of Pinnacle St. from Dundas Street to South Front St. The total cost of these exemptions amounts to $321.27.

A committee composed of Aldermen Donahue, Bennett, MacMillan, Marshall and Woodley was appointed to deal with the placing of the new water mains on the lower ridge and report back to the council. In order to clean up the gas plant transaction the city solicitor is asked to collect all outstanding accounts. These accounts were carried placed in the hands of the city solicitor for collection at the sale of Pinnacle St. from Dundas Street to South Front St. The total cost of these exemptions amounts to $321.27.

A committee composed of Aldermen Donahue, Bennett, MacMillan, Marshall and Woodley was appointed to deal with the placing of the new water mains on the lower ridge and report back to the council. In order to clean up the gas plant transaction the city solicitor is asked to collect all outstanding accounts. These accounts were carried placed in the hands of the city solicitor for collection at the sale of Pinnacle St. from Dundas Street to South Front St. The total cost of these exemptions amounts to $321.27.

A committee composed of Alderman Donahue, Bennett, MacMillan, Marshall and Woodley was appointed to deal with the placing of the new water mains on the lower ridge and report back to the council. In order to clean up the gas plant transaction the city solicitor is asked to collect all outstanding accounts. These accounts were carried placed in the hands of the city solicitor for collection at the sale of Pinnacle St. from Dundas Street to South Front St. The total cost of these exemptions amounts to $321.27.

KIDS TOAST THE POTATOES

Fire Built to Heat Earth is Put to Good Use

There are other uses for fire besides warming the earth on which they are built.

Yesterday the waterworks department built a fire of coke on the banked up earth near the trench which had been dug near the Belleville hotel in order to repair a frozen pipe running into that building. The fire was intended to keep the earth, that had been thrown out loose and free from freezing, so that it could be filled in the excavation without resorting to sledge hammer tactics by breaking up the large chunks.

Last evening a group of small boys were huddled around the glowing fire. They were absorbed in deep consultation on the point of long sticks, which they held very close to the coals. On the end of the stick could be seen large potatoes, roasting. Under the ashes were more, being baked to a turn, and near one end, almost invisible lay a tin can, with another little shaver with one in each hand, eating alternate bites from each potato with a gusto only observed among the very young.

Obituary

LATE MRS. J. E. FAULKNER

The funeral took place yesterday afternoon from the Martin and Son Funeral Home, of the late Mrs. James E. Faulkner. Services there, during which Mrs. (Dr.) A. Moore accompanied by Mrs. R. Hill, sang a sympathetic solo, were conducted by De Lyle Roberts, Hall, pastor of John Street United Church, assisted by the Rev. Dr. MacTavish, a brother-in-law of the deceased. These two gentlemen also officiating at the graveside in the Belleville cemetery.

The bearers were Colonel Roscoe Vandervoort, Harry Hill, S. F. Hageman, M. S. Sandwell, F. C. Moffatt and E. C. Vanallen.

Floral tributes were sent Mrs. Thomas Muntz, Mrs. W. F. Biddy, Mr. and Mrs. H. Blanchard, Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Vanallen, Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Hagerman, Mrs. W. Verrilyea, Mrs. W. B. and Miss MacTavish, Miss Corbeil, Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Rose, Mrs. F. C. Van Allen and Rosamond.

RICHARD WADDELL

Yesterday morning a resident illness, there passed away at his late residence, 153½ Church Street a well known and highly respected and live-born citizen of Belleville, in the person of Richard William Waddell, in this city seventy-four years ago, and where he has lived most of his life. He was a member of St. Andrew's Church, for many years a foreman in the yards of the F. B. Robinson Company, retiring with failing health, some years ago.

His immediate family surviving to whom is extended the sympathy of a host of friends and neighbors in this city, are the widow, three sons and three daughters, James of Syracuse, N.Y.; Henry, Detroit, Mich.; and Stanley of the Belleville Fire Department; Mrs. James O'Hara of St. Catharines; Mrs. John Crotio and Mrs. Roy Clarke, both of Belleville. Also surviving are two sisters, Mrs. Edward Crook, Toronto, and Miss Annie Waddell of this city.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Sarah Elizabeth Herbertson took place this afternoon, Feb. 26, 1932 at her home, Queen Hill at two o'clock to Marsh Hill Church for services at 2.30, Rev. Mr. Marson conducting the service at the church and grave, assisted by Rev. Walter Merrick, former pastor. The bearers were Frank Pinkle, Fred Campbell, Percy Lough, J. Frederick, Hall of Belleville and interment was made in Foxboro Cemetery.

PETER A. PARLIAMENT

Peter A. Parliament of Consecon dropped dead near the telephone in his home at Hillier, on Thursday night, about eight o'clock, it is said. Though he would have been eighty years of age on March 20th, he did not complained of illness.

He was a son of the late Jacob Parliament and formerly farmed along Consecon Lake, where he was well known in that district for years.

Mr. Parliament was a member of the United Church. He is well known throughout the township and the county where he spent his active life. There survive one brother William of Oshawa, and one daughter, Mrs. Ross Hillier, at home.

The funeral takes place on Saturday afternoon from a late residence to the home of his brother-in-law, Mr. Chase. The service will be conducted by the Rev. E. M. Cook, and interment will be made in Consecon cemetery.

LATE MISS ETHEL LINDSAY

Mrs. Clarence Lindsay and her daughter, Ethel Lindsay, of Bloomfield, Mrs. C. M. Fulton of Charles Street, Belleville, received word yesterday from their Journey east to Great Village, near Londonderry, N.S. where they have completed the body of the late Ethel M. Lindsay. The deceased young lady died at the age and had passed away in Halifax, where she died after a brief illness of pneumonia. The Rev. Mr. Jones, pastor of the village conducted the interment services, assisted by the members of the Independent Order of Good Templars in a body. As the deceased was well known throughout that part of Nova Scotia, the funeral was largely attended by many friends and relations. Miss Lindsay was a member of the Happy Thought Lodge of Londonderry, N.S., which lodge the deceased her exactly one year ago.

Miss Lindsay had been employed in the special commercial department of the B.C.I. and V.S. where in her quiet and winsome way she had endeared herself to her many associates. These, after attending many tokens of esteem to her home here, also attended, in a body, the funeral service which was conducted at her late home last Tuesday evening by the Rev. Robert Hall of John Street United Church, Mr. F. T. Dreaver, her form teacher, extended sympathy to the family on behalf of her class. Mr. Hector Laurin, principal; Mr. Archibald, and Mr. Van Luven also present, representing the staff. Mr. MacLaurin also made a kindly reference to the deceased in a brief memorial held in the Collegiate and Vocational Institute this morning.

Besides the widowed mother the loss of her youngest daughter, there are four sisters living, namely, Mrs. C. M. Fulton, Mrs. J. Brown, Miss Clara and Miss Grace, all of Belleville. To the bereaved family the sympathy of the many friends and associates is extended.

The pall bearers, at Great Village, N.S., were selected from the lodge members of the deceased. Interment took place in Great Village, N.S. The list of floral tributes were:

Pillow—Mother and Family.

Wreaths—Mrs. Irving Pullar, Olive and Reginald; S. J. Fisher and Son and Staff; Mrs. Don Mattthews and family and Kenneth; Form Class Mates Commercial Course, B.C.I. and V.S.; Hazel Hewson; Happy Thought Lodge I. O.O.T., Lord of Verry; Mrs. Morris, Hilda, Jack and Andrew MacDonald, Londonderry.

Sheath—Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Olliberi.

Sprays—Mr. and Mrs. Stewart McLean and family, Londonderry; Mrs. W. J. Mason and family; Aylesbe and Jim McLuside; also a number of sprays from school mates at Londonderry Station.

HON. GRIESBACH DISCUSSES WAR

None of The Better Class of Chinese Are in Battle

Ottawa, Feb. 26 (CP)—Major-General the Hon. W. A. Griesbach, veteran of the South African War and commander of the first Canadian infantry brigade in the Great War, today discussed with newspapermen his views on the conflict between Japanese and Chinese troops in and about Shanghai.

"In the first place," he said, "I draw your attention to the fact that in the dispatches published in the newspapers there is complete absence of any information as to technical and tactical details, and one can only guess at what is happening."

General Griesbach continued with an analysis of Chinese character in which he said particularly as it exists in this country is absent in Chinese society, which is built around the family. None of the better class of Chinese would engage in military activities, he declared, and Chinese forces were consequently without proper leadership, and unable to undertake manned maneuvres without losing touch with their bases and sources of supply.

Chinese generals he described as super-thugs and Chinese soldiers as bandits. With plenty of food and supplies, however, they were fairly good defensive fighters.

LARGE REDUCTION IN CAPITAL COST

Minister of Highways Addresses Good Roads Association

Toronto, Feb. 26 (CP)—Restricted conditions of the present depression period are no basis on which to lay plans for the future, asserted Hon. Leopold Macauley, Ontario Minister of Highways, addressing delegates to the Ontario Good Roads Association convention here this morning.

"A man would be a fool to say there is no future for the railways of Canada because they are losing a million dollars a week at present, and the same is true as to many other aspect of our economic life," he said.

He said there would be a large reduction this year in capital construction costs of the Department of Highways, owing to the drop in prices.

THE PICTURE NO AD CAN DESCRIBE!!!

BILL BOYD DOROTHY SEBASTIAN in
The Big Gamble
WARNER OLAND — JAMES GLEASON
The favorite of 10 million radio fans.
Eddie Cantor
in "Midnight Frolic"
The quack, quack comedian in a joy-shots—Final chapter "The one song festival! Vanishing Legion."
BELLE NEWS SPECIAL!
Shanghai Pictures
First authentic pictures of actual fighting.
Comedy — Screen Snap-
BELLE— TODAY & SAT.

25c
FULL COURSE MEAL
ROAST PRIME RIBS OF BEEF 30c
ROAST PORK AND APPLESAUCE 30c
FULL COURSE MEALS 25c and 30c
BELLEVILLE LUNCH
Private Dining Room For Ladies
227 Front St.
126-2t

T. M. PALMER
ANNOUNCES Drastic Reductions
IN PRICES OF 1847 ROGERS
AND COMMUNITY SILVERWARE
T. M. PALMER
JEWELLER
214 FRONT ST.

TODAY and SATURDAY
THREE PALS MAKE IT EASY FOR THE CENSUS TAKER!

KEN MAYNARD in BRANDED MEN
2.45 :: 7.00
9.00 Other Attractions
CAPITOL
"Where Sound Sounds Best"
Begins Monday for Three days "MEN IN HER LIFE." Lois Moran Charles Bickford

Kruschen Salts, with trial size 89c
Modess 39c
Vitales 98c
Mus-kee-kee 1.00
Cod Liver Oil "finest grade" 49c and 69c
Russian Oil Heavy 49c and 69c
Geen's Drug Store
Phone 131 and You Will Get Prompt Service for All Your Drug Store Wants

Geen's Laxative Cold Tablets Will Check a Cold in a Few Hours — 25c Box
Holden's Expectorant will give quick relief to that troublesome cough.
35c and 60c bottles

MON., TUES., WED.
EACH KISS A LIE—
EACH EMBRACE A FRAUD
GRETA GARBO
As The World's Most Notorious Spy
MATA HARI
RAMON NOVARRO
LIONEL BARRYMORE
LEWIS STONE

Wise and Otherwise—A Pessimist is a man who wears both a belt and suspenders.

WARM WELCOME FOR THE NAVY IN SOUTH SEAS

Lieut. Cross of H.M.C.S. Saguenay Writes of Reception

GOOD TIME

Call at Bermuda and Jamaica Where Canadians Are Popular

Lieutenant H.M.C.S. Saguenay—(By Lieut. Paul B. Cross)—Everyone on board the Saguenay and Champlain as they steamed out of Hamilton harbor, Bermuda, on Sunday, Jan. 31, was extremely sorry to put ashore from those delightful islands, so hearty was the welcome and so happy was the visit. The Bermudian's feelings toward Canada were very clearly expressed and are not, as in almost uninterrupted succession. The governor, the mayor of Hamilton, the naval authorities, the military people, and dozens of citizens of all ranks and classes did their utmost to make the visit of our two ships a pleasant one for both officers and men. Their efforts were unquestionably crowned with complete success.

The sight of Hamilton on the fourth day, a real tropical looking spot of island with its shores skirted with cocoanut palms, its high green hills, all a mass of vegetation, was a welcomed sight. Coaling up into Montego Bay swarms of small boats, mostly of the dug-out type, chattered around the ships, their colored crews eagerly soliciting the trade of the sailors in fruits, vegetables, eggs and so forth. If appearance is salesmanship, what super-salesmen these people are.

As soon as we had come to anchor, a small dug-out with a crew of one and one very official looking passenger, gilded up alongside the starboard gangway. Our guest was dressed in blue with two red stripes and a curl on his cuffs put on in proper naval fashion, he wore a helmet and naval shoes. Altogether we assumed that the Jamaica navy was making its official call. The broad wholesome smile on his black face as he came over the side and was received by the officer of the day, showed a distinctly friendly attitude. As his smile broadened further and as he opened his colossal mouth to speak, sharing almost it seemed, hundreds of gleaming white teeth, my first thought was, what warfare this man could carry on with no other weapon but those huge powerful protruding jaws full of great bicuspids and molars and tushes. Imagine the surprise and amusement when our friend, the Jamaican, found out that he was the telegraphy boy with a message for the ship's crew. The official guest did arrive soon, however in the persons of the governor-in-chief of Jamaica, our lieutenant-governor, the local harbor-master, the British fleet air arm unit well known by name at least to all of us, R.N.A.S. Base, Jamaica, Montego Bay living in Jamaica.

The next morning an armed landing party of bluejackets, marines and a band, a total of over one hundred officers and men, were embarked for a route march. This effort pleased the people inhabitants beyond words. Hundreds of them marched with the party away out into the country and back again. One old girl of rather great proportions, accompanied us for the 20 odd km major of the band. The Jamaican women as she swung her arms in the air, reeling around in a series of combinations of dancing and a Hawaiian, shimmy, in perfect time to the band played a full day's amusement.

These Jamaicans are surely lovers and proud to be British. Everyone is a uniform, whether he be a police constable, fireman, salvation Army boy, a member of the service or even our friend the boy scout, who took up a strict position of attention such as no imperial sergeant-major could pick a flaw in. This may be a small outward expression of loyalty, but one very quickly discovers that this is backed up by a permanency of the feeling of "British" feeling. Among the fruit and sugar cane farms, a keen appreciation of the increased trade with Canada is freely expressed.

Extend Provisions Under Relief Act

Ottawa, Ont. Feb. 25—(CP)—Legislation is being introduced in Parliament by Prime Minister R. B. Bennett extending the provisions of the Unemployment and Farm Relief Act until May 1 next. The act, which was passed at the last session of parliament, was due to expire on March 1 next, but Premier Bennett said every effort would be made for consideration of a resolution preliminary of a permanent measure for extension of the provisions of the 1931 legislation.

Headache? AS 66—NATURE'S REMEDY—Tasteless laxative. Thousands promptly start the trouble! Invigorating, refreshing. Acts and relieves from your system, and before wakening. Next morn. The mild, gentle, effective laxative. Try it—Tr. 25c. TONIGHT ALRIGHT
The All-Vegetable Laxative

District News

PRINCE EDWARD

Carrying Place

Carrying Place, Feb. 26 By Mail.—Rather cold nor warm weather ever seem to bother the stork. He goes about his business as usual. Early on Saturday morning he arrived in the community and left Mr. and Mrs. Morton Mitchell an eleven and a half pound baby girl. Congratulations!

Miss Gertrude Kemp of O.B.C. spent the week end at home.

Mr. W. E. Weese and Mr. Arnold Weese are employed at present in Brighton by Mr. S. Nesbitt.

The colder weather of the last few days has provided the young people with more skating. Carpman's pond, the gravel pit, and the bay are all in fair skating condition. On Sunday afternoon a number of boys skated down the bay for several miles, and one gentleman instead of skating went car riding across the bay a few times. The school children held a hockey game on Wednesday on Corrigan's pond.

Mrs. A. Urquhart of Front St., Belleville, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Harry Lelone, for a few days.

A month ago Mrs. Urquhart had the misfortune to slip on the icy pavement, fall, and severely fracture her arm.

It is mending nicely now and gives her little trouble.

Members of the local community league went to Consecon on Friday night to be the guests of the Consecon Y.P.S. An interesting programme was arranged and included lantern slides showing scenes in Japan.

Mrs. Ernie Marker is spending a few days at her home on the canal. She intends shortly to return to Trenton.

The death occurred in St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto, on Sunday of Ross Chase. Mr. Chase had been suffering for years from wounds he received overseas and had been in the hospital for some time. The late Mr. Chase was a brother of Mrs. S. Terrill of Gardenville.

Mr. Dave Sulpit of Trenton, spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. Hennessey.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Lelone and Bobby spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Miller of Trenton.

Mrs. John Buchanan who has been quite seriously ill for the past few weeks is now much better. Her many friends will be delighted to know that she is feeling quite well once more.

The Hennessey boys and Norment Bailey spent evening with Mr. and Mrs. J. Hawthorne and family.

Mr. Ben Batchelor was summoned hurriedly to Kingston on Monday night to see little Thelma who has been receiving eye treatment there from Dr. O'Connor. Following the operation of last December which her one eye was put out, Thelma's sight in the other grew weaker and it was feared that her sight would leave it. But after several treatments it was a matter better that hopes were strong for her. Dr. O'Connor feels that she will not the sight of the eye can be saved.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hardy and family of Consecon, spent the week end at their place here.

A number of young people met on Saturday evening at the residence of Miss Helen MacDougall to practice for a forthcoming concert, which they intend to present soon.

Hillier

Hillier—Miss Eileen Mainps is visiting her grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Mainps, Bloomfield Street.

The social in the Town Hall put on by the League on Tuesday evening was a great success in every way. There were plenty of "Hot Dogs". A good program was arranged and was much appreciated. A large crowd attended.

Mrs. R. H. Palmer and her sister Mrs. Richardson of West Lake called on Mrs. Palmer and Miss Richardson on Wednesday afternoon.

The Ladies Aid of the United Church met last week at the home of Mrs. Ben Palmer.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Bamford spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Charles Grant.

Mrs. Sherman was in Wellington on Monday and called on some of her friends.

Mr. C. N. Palmer was in Consecon on Monday and Mr. and Mrs. Palmer and daughter Miss Helen of Belleville spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Ben Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hains, South Lakeside.

The Ladies Aid held a very successful Pie Social last Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Hicks. There were games and a good programme. The children held a drill. These social evenings are becoming very popular.

Mrs. S. B. Palmer has returned home from a visit at Picton and West Lake, to visit with Mrs. Richardson of West Lake accompanied her home for a visit.

Burr's

Burr's, Feb. 26 By Mail — Mrs. Geoffrey Terrill and daughters, Bertha and Annie were guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Hobbs.

Mrs. Bride Hough spent Sunday afternoon with Mrs. Isaac Clarke.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Parks and Donald spent over the week end with his mother, Mrs. Tom Ayrhart of Lake View, and with Mrs. Richardson of West Lake accompanied her home for a visit.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Howard and son Barry, Toronto, were guests for a couple of days last week of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. McHenry.

Mr. Clifford McPaul and Elmer, 3rd Concession Hillier, Mr. Charles McPaul, and Arnott were helping Mr. G. Hobbs with his wood on Tuesday.

Mrs. G. L. McPaul also visited her sister, Mrs. J. Moon.

There was no school on Monday or Tuesday as the teacher Miss F. Wallbridge was ill.

Mr. J. G. Spnith, Wellington, was in this vicinity on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Haines, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. McHenry, Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Adams were at Belleville on Saturday.

Mrs. Lewis M'Pringle, Belleville, spent a couple of days last week with Mr. and Mrs. George Fox.

Miss Pearl Spoon served days last week with her sister, Mrs. W. T. Blakely, Mountain View.

Sidney Fox, Victoria, was helping his brother Mr. Sam Clarke with his wood on Monday and Tuesday.

Quite a number from here attended the social evening at the L.O.L. Hall Allisonville, on Friday night.

Mrs. Isaac Clarke spent Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. Malcolm Melville.

Mrs. George Fox visited Mrs. D. Doolittle on Tuesday afternoon.

Niles Corners

Niles Corners— Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lelone and children spent Thursday night as guests at the home of Ernest Parson, Pleasant Bay.

The season of ice harvesting is now on at Cloverdale factory.

Mrs. Chas. MacDonald, her daughter Marjory, little grandson Donny Kane, Mrs. Elsie Clarke and Mr. John Sopher of Belleville were guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Dafoe on Thursday last. Mr. Sopher is staying for a time with Mr. and Mrs. Dafoe.

Mr. Geo. Channell has returned from Rochester where he has been visiting his aunt for several weeks.

Mr. F. Mallory of Rossmill visited her niece, Mrs. Linn one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Newson, Sr. and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Newson, Jr. of Rossmill visited Mr. and Mrs. Ben Ellis on Sunday.

Mr. J. McPaul and children spent the week end with friends in Picton.

Mr. F. Pittingham of Rossmill visited Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Dafoe on Friday last.

PLACER GOLD LIKE "RICE AND BEANS"

Vancouver, B.C., Feb. 25. — A placer mining strike on McConnell Creek, north of Burns Lake, where gold was described as being found "like rice and beans," today drew prospectors to the area, with numerous plates being pressed into use.

Word of the strike came from Prince George.

20 YEARS OF ILL HEALTH

Then Mrs. Duke Discovered Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Of her own accord, Mrs. Duke sat down and wrote us a glowing tribute to Kellogg's ALL-BRAN:

"I have been constipated all my life, which has been about 20 years, up until last year when I started eating your ALL-BRAN. Since I have been eating it, people tell me I am looking better, and I am sure I feel a great deal better"—Mrs. L. W. Duke (address upon request).

Constipation is usually caused by lack of two things in the diet: "Bulk" to exercise the intestines; Vitamin B to help give them tone. Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides both of these dietary necessities, as well as iron for the blood.

Written proof says the "bulk" in ALL-BRAN forms a soft mass, which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

How much more natural it is to enjoy this delicious cereal than to risk taking pills and drugs — so often harmful.

Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily — serious cases with every meal — for most types of constipation. ALL-BRAN is not habit-forming. If your intestinal trouble is not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Sold in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in London, Ontario.

Letters to the Editor

Belleville, Feb. 25, 1932.

To the Editor of the Ontario Intelligencer.

Re The Argyll Light Infantry Band Dear Sir,—

A statement regarding the Band appeared in your paper of February 2nd signed by H. W. Greenleaf, manager and Garn E. Dobbs, president.

I would like to call the Public's attention in connection with the band.

It is not necessary to go into the history of the band nor do I know the history of the band, except for the time I was in the Orderly Room either Alderman or Mayor. The reason I am replying to the statement is the paper states "that the Mayor saw fit, however, to request from the Band Committee that a report be made as to just how the grant in the previous year had been spent." The report was furnished and signed by the Secretary and Treasurer of the Band Committee and is now on file in the office of the city clerk.

Yes, I did request that and also the majority of the Council requested it. The Council consists of thirteen men and each one has his own private opinion and expressed what he thought of it.

A grant of $2,000.00 was made to the Argyll Light Infantry Band and it was distinctly understood that uniforms were to be bought for the Bandsmen in keeping with the Argyll Light Infantry but you will notice that these uniforms have never been purchased and now, according to statement, the Band has disbanded from the Argyll Light Infantry. I am not sure whether this has been legally done or not as neither the Mayor nor the City Council were ever consulted in connection with leaving the Infantry and I think they should have been as the city was contributing the largest amount to their upkeep.

Also, when the grant was asked for, they stressed very strongly the salary of Mr. Zealley but if you will look over the Expenditure list, you will find that Mr. Zealley received direct $700.00 for salaries.

Regarding Mr. Zealley's salary, Mr. Zealley was appointed, never appointed, completed of members of the Council, the Band and the Officers of the city clerk. I did not agree Mr. Zealley three months' notice to quit. The Council is not nothing whatever to do with the leaving of Mr. Zealley.

Argyll Light Infantry Band Finance Committee

Statement of funds received and disbursed by the Committee, having to do with the grant made in 1930 by the Council of the City of Belleville to the Brass Band.

Receipts

1930
May 2 Cheque from City Treasurer ..... $ 250.00
June 4 Cheque from City Treasurer 250.00
July 31 Cheque from City Treasurer 100.00
Sept. 30 Cheque from City Treasurer 50.30
Oct. 10 Cheque from City Treasurer returned by the A. L. J. from grant to Kilt Fund 60.00
Subtotal ..... $ 1010.50
Received from Chas. E. Hanna, balance of band funds as at April 17, 1930 as per statement 33.48
Pay and Allowances, band 1930 training 292.30
Bank interest May 31, 1930 ..... .06
Bank interest Nov. 30, 1930 ..... 1.48
$1344.84

Expenditures

Cheques
May 3/30 A. E. Zealley, Salary (April) 100.00
June 4/30 A. E. Zealley, Salary (May) 100.00
June 30/30 A. E. Zealley, Salary (June) 100.00
July 31/30 A. E. Zealley, Salary (July) 100.00
Aug. 30/30 A. E. Zealley, Salary (Aug.) 100.00
Sept. 30/30 A. E. Zealley, Salary (Sept.) 100.00
Oct. 31/30 A. E. Zealley Salary (Oct.) 100.00
Sept. 29/30 Chas. E. Hanna, (P. and allow Band) 240.00
Dec. 1/30 Chas. E. Hanna balance of salary 40.00
Dec. 17/30 Chas. E. Hanna repairs to band..... 100.00
Dec. 31/30 Chas. E. Hanna Mar. 31/31 Chas. E. Hanna, repairs to instruments 50.00
Apr. 26/31 Chas. E. Hanna balance of funds in account 3.00
$ 1964.80 46.30
157.56

Before the Finance Committee was formed in connection with the Band, the city paid Charles E. Hanna $700.00 and also the amount of $480.50 was paid direct to the Argyll Light Infantry Band for uniforms. These items do not appear in this statement.

May I just say there are no vouchers for these expenditures as the city Hall or were not on the 31st of December, 1931, just the statement without any vouchers.

I notice that the Band in their request, spoke of room rent, light and heat, etc. There is a room at the Armouries, especially built for the use of all rent, heated and lighted; without a cent of expense to the City or Band also a grant of $180.00 from the Dominion Government and their allowance for Military training, whatever that may be, if not known.

I am not clear but what the Band bet belongs to the Argyll Light Infantry. There has been no public meeting called to disconnect the Band from the Infantry or to know if it is the Citizens' Band or Belleville Band and that is the reason that your Mayor and Council for 1931 refused to grant any more assistance until the Band was in standing with the Band Manager, Mr. C. E. Hanna and the Officers of the Band. We thought we were helping them in giving them a grant of $2,000.00 and that the public should know where the Band has disconnected themselves from the Argyll Light Infantry before consulting the Council, who represents the public more than the grant.

If I am solely responsible I will accept the blame but I feel I was acting along with majority of the Council in the best interests of the citizens of Belleville.

Frankly let me tell you that I was not satisfied with the statement furnished the Council of 1931 and I think the Band, under the present conditions of finance, should not consider asking the city for grants for rent, light, heat, etc., as they can get it free.

I also feel that if the Band is to be changed from the Argyll Light Infantry Band and is to be a Citizens' Band, a public meeting should be called to discuss the matter.

Thank you, Mr. Editor, for the space.

Yours truly,
GEO. A. REID.

Convicts Shocked Football is Stolen

Joliet, Ill., Feb. 25—Warden Hill of the State Penitentiary, lined up all the inmates and said: "One of you is a thief." This came as a bombshell to the murderers, hijackers, gangsters and crooks.

The Warden said somebody had stolen the prison's football and two football suits. If the ever person who did it fails to return the articles, there will be no more football.

Get wise to Good Chocolate

Moirs Ltd. Moirs

DIFFERENT from any milk chocolate you have ever tasted. Smoother and creamier in texture. More subtle in flavor. Specially blended in Moirs candy kitchens from the famous XXX Chocolate and rich, creamy milk. Try a bar today. It's different.

Now WITH MILK

Banished by Anti-Cleric Decree

Carrying their few possessions in wicker baskets, these Jesuit priests of Spain are shown as they crossed the border into France at Irun, Spain, following the government edict which decreed the banishment of their historic order from the country. A ten-day period of grace was given the priests to leave the country, after which property of the order valued at $1,000,000 was confiscated.

UNEMPLOYED GIVE ACCOUNT

Financial Statement of Association Submitted to Members

To show the citizens of Belleville exactly how their finances have been expended the Belleville Unemployment Association have issued a financial statement which covers every receipt and expense since the association's formation.

These figures were released by President Charles E. Hanna after a regular weekly meeting of Wednesday night. Many interesting questions arose in giving them and Wednesday night's meeting chiefly pertained to the finances of the unemployed. Two new members were added to the association's executive in the persons of Mr. E. Baldree and Mr. Ellis.

The following is the financial report of the executive committee to date:

Reported previously re Christmas Fund ..... $ 39.49
From dance 46.33
Donations 17.25
103.07
Received from city 62.50
165.57

Expenses
Printing and distribution... 31.00
Clothing 53.30
Apples and oranges 26.00
Candies and nuts 52.27
Light and Heat, etc. 21.00
Sundries 6.40
165.67
165.57

Balance ..... .10

Expense forwarded ..... .10
Advertising meetings, etc. ... 19.27
Charity 346.02
365.39

Receipts
For dance, E. Baldree 31.03
Deficit 333.76
Received from a friend 333.76
000.00
Accounts owing ..... None

This statement has been compiled by the executive committee.

Chas. Hanna, president; A. Aylesworth, secretary-treasurer; James Shepherd: J. B. Oster; G. Matthews; E. H. Goddard.

Education Not Hopeless at System Absurd

Toronto, Ont. Feb. 25 (CP)—Dr. W. Hamilton Fyfe, principal of Queen's University, Kingston, last night told undergraduates of the University of Toronto's Conservative Club in Canada is not hopeless, but the system has developed into a condition of a ridiculous system, a terrible waste of everybody's time and perfectly absurd."

The undergraduates then voted 117 to 64 that "university education in Canada is in a mess."

Question Validity Of Stimson's View

Tokyo, Feb. 23 (AP)—A high foreign office official after reading the Protocol of Henry L. Stimson, United States secretary of state, to Senator Borah on the Sino-Japanese situation today questioned the validity of Mr Stimson's assumption that United States naval concessions in the Washington treaty were predicated upon agreements embodied in the nine-power pact.

Important banking interests in Wall street remained moderately optimistic over the outlook for the latter part of the year, pointing to strengthening of the banking structure through the Reconstruction Corporation and the Glass-Steagal Bill and the gradual overcoming of currency hoarding, as providing a solid basis for eventual recovery.

Zion

Zion—Mr. and Mrs. Fred Searles and Olive spent Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. Bert Searles of Oak Hill.

Mrs. J. F. Ketcheson has returned home after having spent the past few weeks with her sister, Miss Hayes of Belleville.

Several from this community attended the Valentine Social at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Ketcheson on Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Owen McEvoy, Geraldine and Gerrard spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Herman Lloyd.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Ketcheson and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Ketcheson attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Herbert Ketcheson on Saturday.

The service at Zion Church was taken by Mr. Turner of Albert College in the absence of Rev. Mr. Hall who has been seriously ill at Belleville General Hospital.

Mrs. Vera Sheffield spent the week end in Peterboro visiting friends.

Mrs. M. Park of Stirling has returned to her home after spending a few weeks with her daughter, Mrs. Harry Ketcheson.

Algonquin Park, in the Parry Sound district of Ontario, besides being a sanctuary for deer, beaver and other game, is a network of interlocking waterways that form excellent canoe routes.

Rub with OF THOMAS' ECLECTRIC OIL Rheumatism

a good habit
Always carry a Package of Life Savers
Fits pocket or purse
They Sweeten the breath
PEPPERMINT LIFE SAVERS
PEP-O-MINT WINT-O-GREEN CLO-VE LIQUORICE CINNAMON VIO-LET
MADE IN CANADA

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER

THE DAILY ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER is published every afternoon (Sunday and holidays excepted) at The Ontario Intelligencer Building, Front Street.

RATES—DAILY EDITION:
Year, delivered in city $7.00
Year, by mail to rural offices $5.00
Two, in U. S. A. $3.50

W. H. ROBSON, Publisher.

THE DOCTOR'S CASE

Harper's magazine in its current issue gives the story of a doctor's wife who rises to the defence of doctors who have been misinterpreted on the score of the cost of medical care. She says that the doctor has only one commodity to sell, his time, which is valuable because of his brains, training and experience. Unlike the manufacturer he cannot go into mass production of his goods.

New York Times sums up as follows—

"Training in college, medical school and hospital, and the slow process of building up a practice fill the years until he is 38 or 40. In the next fifteen or twenty years—for the average life of a doctor is 60 years—he must provide for old age and his family if he is ever to do it. His endless duties besides seeing patients. He must sit on various committees, be active in medical social service, go to distant cities to make speeches, attend medical meetings and keep up with modern medical literature, be present at luncheon or dinner engagements. He is often teaching fifteen or twenty hours a week. He must make his living in the few hours a day that are free from outside activities.

"The very fact that the public expects full knowledge and successful treatment from any doctor who is called in is a high compliment to the profession. The patient who complains that three or four doctors were needed before one was found to give a correct diagnosis ignores the time element. Perhaps the first doctor at the latest date would have been quite as accurate in interpreting symptoms. The scope of medicine and surgery has so greatly increased in recent years that a diagnosis is the matter of looking at a tongue and taking a pulse. Much unwarranted criticism of physicians may be laid to the fact that a patient's health is to himself 'so emotional and personal an affair' that he can scarcely judge his doctor except by interested intelligence. A throbbing earache will warp the soundest judgment."

THREE WEEKS TO SPRING

With less than three weeks to St. Patrick's Day there has been no weakening in the attention given to the old style of winter. And a robin has been heard and seen.

We hasten happens from now on, we have had a record winter and there remains but to pack up the winter longings which have never been unpacked since the winter of 1930-31.

Officially spring is supposed to open on March 21, but St. Patrick gets ahead and his birthday anniversary is the unofficial opening of spring.

Perhaps the most unfortunate kiddies this year have been those who got their heart's content on Christmas Eve from Santa Claus and have had no chance to use the sled. It would not take many winters of this kind to obliterate the knowledge of bobsleighing from the minds of the actual accomplishments of the people of these parts, though farther north there has been plenty of snow, ice, and the usual winter weather. Soon past winter sports would be a memory only. The records of the "Good Old" "Thirty Years Ago" and "Fifty Years Ago" or at least in "Bygone Years." But that is not to be feared for there is always a return to the old system which made skaters and winter sports folk out of Canadian boys and girls.

Indeed die-hards contend that the worst of this winter is yet to be seen in all its fury. They want to see the style snowstorm which will make the shovel sick. Indeed nature demands some protection for the crops and the die-hards really ought to have a storm to satisfy the needs of agriculture also to make them win their bet.

The New York State many birds have not gone south. But in Belleville district no flocks of summer birds have been seen although there may have been the odd one. It is a safe venture to state that the robin seen on Thursday morning was one back from his New York trip.

CHINAMEN AND OTHERS

Chinese everywhere except in Japan are among the most popular racial attractions in the world today. Chinese is a friend of everybody and everybody meets him with a smile while his brothers and his cousins and his nephews in the trenches about Shanghai and Kingwan are showing the Japanese fighting machine that human prowess is something to be considered. Guns may crush the flesh but they cannot crush the spirit of a determined foe.

The strange thing about the situation is the worldwide appeal the Chinese are making at the present moment. Even in diplomacy in which the flowery-voiced Japanese are supposed to excel the Chinaman goes him one better and tells of his ability to drive the Japanese forces into the sea and would do so but for the fact that he does not want to hazard the aim of peace which China has set up as her ideal means of growth and development. Japanese appeals have been met with derision even in the disarmament congress at Geneva whenever her subjects rose to speak of self-defence, while the Chinamen have everywhere met with ordinary courtesy.

SIDELIGHTS
GRAVE and GAY
Supervised by The Laughlizer

HIS COURAGE
By Aline Michaelis

Not his the heart untouched by fear,
The soul that goes serene in strength and pride
Assured of triumphs waxing year on year
And with no thought of goals to be denied.
No flags unfurled to lead him to the fray,
No pulsing drums to lift his spirit high,
No plaudits echoing along his way,
No bright star beckoning from a kindly sky.

For him, the valor of some secret force—
Impelling him to do the thing he dreads;
To follow on a dark and destined course,
To enter where the stealthy shadow spreads.

The deep, insistent urge that never fails,
However much his coward spirit quails.

x x x

PICTON REPORTS A SEAL playing about the Sandbanks, and takes considerable trouble to dig up evidence of eye witness that this is really a seal, an Arctic seal, not a Hudson Seal or an Essex. Prince Edward County seems to be using a publicity stunt to attract tourists or somefin, but just the same seals do make some long journeys. For several years a seal used to sort in the St. Lawrence river opposite Brockville, and there was very little to do about it for there was plenty of fish and plenty of room for all kinds of fish, mammals, and humans. How the seal ascended the rapids is a mystery but perhaps his or she came via the Erie canal, picking the locks with its teeth.

x x x

DISARMAMENT IS A JOKE when played to the accompaniment of shot and shell falling upon a helpless China, whose men are defending their own homes from the unexpected attacks of their neighbor and colleague on the great board of preservation on earth and good will to man, the League of Nations.

x x x

WHOEVER COINED that expression "You haven't got a Chinaman's chance," certainly knew his Japanese.

x x x

SILVER LINING in cloud of bank failures in United States is found by Duluth Herald which remarks: "Informed observers of every bank has sufficient assets to pay the receiver and lawyers who liquidate it."

x x x

THE JAPANESE recognize only two kinds of Chinamen, says the San Diego Union, "those they run they're Chinese soldiers. If they fight they're bandits."

x x x

AMERICAN TOURIST TRADE in Canada has taken a drop, according to a Philadelphia paper, but as long as they don't take a drop too much, we should worry.

x x x

WHEN KINGSTON WAS FORT FRONTENAC, the French, George Washington, as orderly for General Braddock was on his way to take it. While in place of Kingston and Washington never had a chance to try his Woolworth hatchet on any of the historic sites there. General Braddock, however, met up with an accident which included some Indian hatchets and left for his family would have left a fine scalp lock behind to decorate some Indian wigwam on Lake Ontario.

x x x

POLITICAL PIE is made up of boloney, apple-sauce, plums and dough, remarks the Louisville Times, which teaches that the party newspaper gets the bologney, the electors the apple-sauce, a few good old statesman the plums, and the dough goes where it will do the most good to the least number.

x x x

TWO DOLLAR BILLS used to be regarded as unlucky in some quarters. Now most people consider themselves lucky to have one two, and consider it unlucky if their cash reserve falls below a two-dollar bill.

x x x

BELLEVILLE INCOME TAX OFFICE has moved into larger quarters anticipating the spring rush.

x x x

MODERN ETIQUETTE
By Roberta Lee

Q. Is it proper to have a fruit centrepiece for the table?

A. Yes; the silver plate heaped with grapes, apples, or oranges is very effective.

Q. Do men have "at home" printed on their cards?

A. No.

Q. May a man ever leave a woman standing alone on the dance floor?

A. Never; this is very rude.

Q. How many guests should be invited for a formal dinner?

A. The best number is exactly how many the hostess can set comfortably at the table.

Q. What are the appropriate colors and fabrics for bridal attendants?

A. Pale colors and delicate fabrics are preferred.

SIMPLE AND PRIMITIVE IS WAY OF CROWD

Occurrence Must Be More Than Ordinary to Arouse Crowd

By LOUIS E. BISCH, M.D., Ph.D.
(Famous Authority on Health and Psychology)

When one contemplates the responses of large groups of people in a nation, for instance, to a given circumstance, or even simple to a hero, one is struck by certain psychological facts which help to explain why so many of us, in other words, are not as contradictory or as uncertain as one might suppose.

Indeed, crowd responses are always very direct, simple and primitive. Crowds are not concerned with ethics, culture, aesthetics or philosophies. The masses appeal to that which they understand it. Crowds, in fact, are rather naive in their responses. Often they are actually savage.

What stands out as specially noteworthy is the fact that a crowd will not enthuse over any circumstance unless it is out of the ordinary. Even then, they do not get excited over the Lindbergh hop, the Atlantic flight there was again a great response.

The death of an inoffensive motion star seemed to stir people up to shouts as more than the death of Insull, while the interest in this murder itself seemed to take an unexpected turn when stunted to the point regarding the moral of "warning the dangers of the Atlantic ocean."

What this shows, of course, is that crowd interest can very readily be misdirected. When Mme. Caillaux killed Calmette the French were deeply stirred. Presently, the row broke out, however, and the incident was almost forgotten. After the signing of her homicide a "bluebeard" named Landrau was arrested, charged with murdering many women and children. Immediately this fellow became a headline character and Mme. Caillaux was relegated to second place and printed in smaller type than his doings.

It is personality that people are interested in, never first, last and always. We don't care so much for Einstein's theories as we do Einstein because we don't understand them, and his discoveries are not in our daily lives. We can become worked up over a man, on the other hand, because he is capable of working out mathematical formulae that only a dozen or so scientists can understand as everybody could grasp Einstein's ideas by the time they used to be interesting a figure.

When Blériot crossed the English channel in an airplane for the first time millions not the feat of the aviator but the fact that he was in a plane that caught the crowd's fancy. Kingston and Washington never had a chance to try his Woolworth hatchet on any of the historic sites there. General Braddock, however, met up with an accident which included some Indian hatchets and left for his family would have left a fine scalp lock behind to decorate some Indian wigwam on Lake Ontario.

x x x

POLITICAL PIE is made up of boloney, apple-sauce, plums and dough, remarks the Louisville Times, which teaches that the party newspaper gets the bologney, the electors the apple-sauce, a few good old statesman the plums, and the dough goes where it will do the most good to the least number.

x x x

TWO DOLLAR BILLS used to be regarded as unlucky in some quarters. Now most people consider themselves lucky to have one two, and consider it unlucky if their cash reserve falls below a two-dollar bill.

x x x

BELLEVILLE INCOME TAX OFFICE has moved into larger quarters anticipating the spring rush.

x x x

MODERN ETIQUETTE
By Roberta Lee

Q. Is it proper to have a fruit centrepiece for the table?

A. Yes; the silver plate heaped with grapes, apples, or oranges is very effective.

Q. Do men have "at home" printed on their cards?

A. No.

Q. May a man ever leave a woman standing alone on the dance floor?

A. Never; this is very rude.

Q. How many guests should be invited for a formal dinner?

A. The best number is exactly how many the hostess can set comfortably at the table.

Q. What are the appropriate colors and fabrics for bridal attendants?

A. Pale colors and delicate fabrics are preferred.

30 YEARS AGO

Clippings From Our Old Newspaper Files

February 26, 1902

"It is nice to meet a person you can talk with," our Rosemore correspondent, "but over my way they prefer the one who says cash."

She was talking this is the time of year a fellow feels glad he is living. The snow is going away in a desperate bad condition. The ruts and pitch holes need attention. The front of the Garland "Castle" on North Front Street, there is a pitch hole that a prairie schooner sled could easily be hidden in. Last night a salesman, who had two ladies in his rig, plunged into the hole in the dark with disastrous consequences. The chairman of public works will, we are sure, soon find other energy in regard to these matters, when he comes to hear of it.

An immense strike was made in the Hamblin Cameron gold was found assaying $23.00 per pen.

The company of the 49th Y. M. C. A. was defeated last night by the 15th battalion of Picton Colleges in a basket ball game in the college gymnasium. The score was 27 to 17.

Peterboro enters the finals of the International O. H. A. with Galt or Collingwood. Newmarket was defeated by the Peterboro team last night by 6 goals to 3, leaving Peterboro winner of the round by 11 goals.

Todays Temperatures: 8 A. M.—40 degrees; 12 A.M.—46 degrees; 2 P.M.—45 degrees; 3 P.M.—46 degrees.

50 YEARS AGO

Clippings From Our Old Newspaper Files

February 26, 1882

A lady fainted in the M. E. Tabernacle during the meeting last night and had to be taken out.

We are informed that the Ontario Steel Association have secured the old Rolling Mill establishment of their plant. It is not, however, to be made public at present.

A little scrimmage took place on Front Street, this morning between a city horse dealer and the disappointment of a bank pirate about a horse. The farmer got rather the worst of it.

The city council meets this evening. The meeting promises to be lively.

Carpenters are now paid $1.50 per day and Labor commands $1.25 per day.

Lumbermen gladly hail the late snow fall in the northern part of the county.

A six per centurian match was begun in New York last night.

Two specimens of the regalia of Rose Cross Chapter of new Masonic order of the Rite of Memphis, are on exhibition in the show window of Jay & Jeffery's store on Front Street. They are unusually gorgeous and tasteful.

Mr. Dafoe is very much pleased with the Kingston Opera House which he inspected and has a letter of praise for. Only the new opera house here after which he modeled his late W. C. will make it a little wider.

A city physician a day or two ago sat down suddenly on a bottle of carbolic acid, which he carried in his pocket and broke it. The liquid coming in contact with the skin inflicted a very serious burn, from which he is suffering greatly.

The repairs to the Bridge engine have been completed and its new work is as well as it ever did. The street surveyor will immediately have a shed erected for its accommodation. There is some talk of organizing a company for the purpose of running it.

The fire committee of the city council met and considered the matter of the additional annual grant of $100.00 to each of the companies consequent on the increased size of the city. It was decided to recommend that $200.00 a year be granted to each of the companies; but it was also decided to make a recommendation in favor of the disbanding and rebuilding of one of the companies.

Eight blocks of Manitoba pine containing 50 lots in the flourishing town of Mountain City are now being offered for sale in the city. The advertising regarding them says: "No prairie fuel".

Eggs are selling at 15 cents to 20 cents a dozen; butter per roll 25 cents to 28 cents; potatoes per bag 90 cents to $1 bag; chickens 40 cents to 75 cents per pair; geese 60 cents to 75 cents per each; ducks 50 cents to 60 cents per pair.

Dr. Bisch's Daily Health Hint

Lumbago can be a most painful affection and come on recurrently, but all of it can be relieved by weight and removed. Hot applications may relieve the symptoms. Electrical or lamp treatments often are helpful.

(Copyright, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Salesman Restrained From Canvassing

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 26.—(By the Canadian Press)—Charles S. Stewart, salesman, was restrained from canvassing customers and representing himself to be employed by the Singer Company, in an injunction continued yesterday by Justice W. A. Logie in Osgoode Hall. The injunction was renewed for two weeks at the request of the Singer Company, appearing for the hardware firm. James Williams McMillan, secretary of the firm, said in an affidavit Stewart was discharged in 1930, but since then had "persisted in calling on customers and sending in orders which the firm did not fill."

Little can be done without determination; and certainly no great achievement can be made without patient and steady application.

Other Papers' Opinions

PLACING THE UNEMPLOYED

We have heard so much about the heavy burden of unemployment in the Old Country that the actual achievement of the Government in finding work for large numbers of unemployed men has been largely overlooked. Figures just issued, however, show that in the direction of the Employment Exchanges found jobs for 1,852,000 people during 1931. Thus the Government's efforts to relieve the unemployment are shown to embrace more effective measures than the mere distribution of unemployment benefits and transitional payments.

The original idea behind the establishment of these exchanges was the place men out of work in Great touch with employment in need of labour. But they gradually took on the distribution of relief funds. In less than ten years the number of persons seeking work who have been placed by the exchanges has risen from 97,000 to well nigh two millions. The figures for last year are all the more significant because unemployment touched its peak then, and the exchanges in consequence had much more work to do in the distribution of the dole.—Montreal Star

SPEED

It is a great triumph for human nerve, courage, stamina and resolutieness, and likewise for man's mechanical skill, that a journey can be driven 'on the ground at such a speed that all the practical lessons to be learned from Sir Malcolm Campbell's exploits may be safely and usefully learned will not be lost. The experience gained by each new adventurist will to win and, in winning, to make the peak of human skill yet greater, is a higher triumph. But for this spirit in man, the world would not progress.—Ottawa Citizen.

SCARS ON LANDSCAPE

The calendar says that spring is in the offing, but the observant somebody will be reporting the arrival of the first robin....Colder still brings the call with the snow. It is to that open road we would direct attention particularly at this time, for instance, agree with Mr. J. Karl Birks, president of the Toronto Automobile and Tourist association, that "over-zealous commercialism—hot dog stands, shacks or so-called tourists camps, is marring Canada's landscape."

Should there be a law—

To prevent discarded piano crates being set up beside our highways and designated as Ye Olde Wiendo Shoppe?

To restrain those who would sally forth with a can of paint, a pot-o-goo, a hammer and some nails and contribute another "scar" to the face of progress and advancement?

To make it compulsory for rural property owners who desire to operate roadside stands to erect and maintain them as well as a commercial eye?

To forbid the brushes out of the hands of those amateur sign-painters who have not mastered the spelling of "Accommodation"?

The Ontario Motor League is doing a splendid start in this year, ridding the appealing scenic spots of unsightly signs and is now developing a system of regulation of the refreshment stands and the erection of ribbons of concrete.—Hamilton Spectator.

THE END OF AN ERA

Thus the Indians passed from Washington to the effect that 100,000 United States Indians have been made the passports to Russia—all eager to try life anew under the Soviet flag. Somehow it does not take that number although that number is small, to make a dwelling shortage, it cannot take more than ten times that number to fill a hotel, but more may halve the "quota" to twenty-five thousand.

Though we live in a world which almost daily learns of some epochal change in the traditional concepts of life, surely this new movement heralded by the Soviet is the most epochal. It marks the end of an era in mankind's story, and we are over, for the first time in three hundred years and out of which flowed many changes which were among the most far-reaching in the history of mankind. That era was the one marking the beginning and rise of the flow of emigration from Europe to the New World, and which led to the founding of new and powerful world states.

The subject is too vast in its implications to be dealt with more than briefly. Think of the phenomenon of a hundred thousand workers of the new world seeking eagerly for permission to migrate to the Old to begin life anew there. Such a reversal in the accepted order of human events is significant. It may not mean that the palmy days of the Spirit Anastasia are about to be over, for that theme has its new promised land. Nevertheless it may mean these things, and, in any event, it means that we are to prepare for new and unexpected alignments in the economic-social-political world.—Ottawa Citizen.

Seed Fair Planned For March 2, 3, 4

The sixth annual Quinte District Seed Fair is to be held at Bowmanville next fall, March 3 and 4. Five cash prizes are given for all kinds of seeds as well as potatoes.

There is to be a judging competition for Junior Farmers on March 3 at 9 a.m. and on March 4 at 2 p.m. there will be an auction sale of seed.

A man has confidence in untried friends.—Pickwick Papers.

OLD LADY: "I see that Lips are forbidden here."
WAITER: "Lor' bless yer, mum, so was the apples in the Garden of Eden."
—Smith's Weekly, Sydney, Australia.

HEARD ON THE STREET
(By Jay, Dee.)

CASEY AT THE BAT

In Cambridge, (Mass.) on the 26th of April, 1888, and infinite, a lonely old man still struggles to prove his claim to the authorship of baseball's stirring epic "Casey at the Bat." For forty years he has steadfastly maintained Thayer was but the poet K. Lavender composed that poem which has made the round of all newspapers in the world, and has been translated in as many languages.

"Here's how it came about", remarked Mr. D'Vys who is not 72, but who still writes lots of poems to all who will buy them, commenting on the Thayer claim. narrative of Casey's famous batting jamp at Mudville:

"It was away back in August, 1888, when I saw the great Nat Hall help start with Chicago against the Boston club. Kelly, the Babe Ruth of his day, had a chance to win the game with the bases full in the ninth, but he struck out before a huge and spell bound crowd. The Boston fans were more grieved to see Kelly fan than they were happy to see their team win, and I felt something of the same too.

"The next day, a Sunday, I was lying on the grass in Frankie Park, in Boston, thinking about the game and Kelly and the disappointment of the fans and into my mind came the opening stanza:

"That night I finished the poem. I sent it to the Times in New York, anonymously because my father did not approve of "poets". The poem caught the fancy of the people all over and it was printed and reprinted in all the other countries. I was never credited with it because I didn't sign my name. But I still like to be known as the author. It's an empty honor, perhaps, but such as it is it belongs to me."

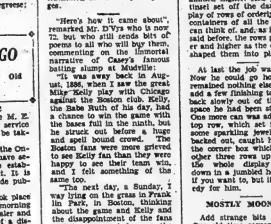
A LOCAL TRAGEDY

Grocery clerks in this city count their hours as being harried if worked of any other class in the city and sometimes we are almost minded to agree with them. Consider the case of Mr. ....who worked for hours one evening, in his spare time, arranging the next days window display. On that job they generally try to excel themselves with each new effort. For hours and hours they work with concentration, absorbed attention —and this young man was no exception.

Slowly the glittering cans, jam jars and other articles pyramided into place, and when the tinsel set off the dazzling display of rows of orderly and even containers of all the foods you can think of, and, as it has been said before, the more they layer and higher as the deft hands shaped them into place.

At last the job was finished. Now he could go home; there remained nothing else to do but add a few finishing touches and back slowly out of the narrow space he had been standing in. One more can was added to the top row, which set it one the some sparkling jewel. Then he backed out, caught his foot on the corner box which held the other three rows up...and sent the whole display tumbling down in a jumbled heap. Laugh if you want to, but it was tragedy for him.

MOSTLY MOONSHINE



Add strange bits of news: One old time carpenter in this city claims there is a certain time of the month to shingle the roof. When the moon is full that's the time to get to work and single the house or the barn, solemnly declares the old timer. He said he could point out a lot of jobs he had done at that time which were still carried up at the edges, and go in the middle, but because the house was shingled at the wrong time of the month, whereas other houses that have been shingled when the moon was in the right kilt and strong the evenings of the day, have lasted for years. Believe it or not.

A.B. declares there is no scientific explanation of the theory he quires for any orchestra. Which reminds me, B. Himmes is an elastic band".

This Pair is open to counties of Prince Edward, Kennon and Addington, Hastings, Northumberland and Durham and Peterboro.

Directors for Prince Edward County of the Association are, H. Hudgins, Woodburn, H. Hurf of Bloomfield, H. Montgomery of Carrying Place and A. J. Alexander of Hillier.

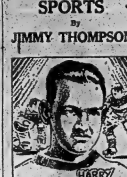
Prize lists from H. W. Pearson, Belleville or F. J. Webster, Picton.

DISAPPOINTED BOY.—"Boo Hoo! I didn't see Daddy knock the side off the garage down!"
MOTHER.—"Never mind, dear. Perhaps you will next time I you're good."
—The Humorist, London.

KINGSTON WINS CURLING CUP

Overcome 15 Point Lead to Win By One Shot

Scoring a big seven on the last two rinks finishing, Kingston butter curlers, wiped out the fifteen point lead that Belleville enjoyed in the first game and retained the coveted trophy for junior curlers in Central Ontario in a game played at Kingston last night.



The Kingston rinks won by one shot and at a banquet later in the evening, the trophy was presented by William H. Gerrie, of the Belleville club to the winners. Nature of the ice was in excellent condition, Kingston enjoying an artificial ice plant, which gives them good ice all the time.

Harsten had finished his game before Orr and Backus and much depended on these two rinks to pull the game out of the fire. "Bill" Marston suffered a severe chill in the early part of the game and was unable to do justice to himself as the whole rink was not curling to form, a sixteen point deficit was chalked up. Belleville was leading by six points on the ends when Orr and Backus started the last end which ended in locked sufferings for a win. Misses and overdrawn allowed McClelland to pile four in the house and close to the button. Orr had a chance to cut the opposition down with his last stone but was overweight on the draw and went through the house. Backus on the other rink was also having a hard fight. With his last stone he missed drawing to the second shot to cut the count down and Simmons laid three, after a count was taken. The boys had an enjoyable time and as the game is the thing, the locals take their hats off to the winners. The scores:

Belleville	Kingston
Sinclair	M. G. Patton
W. E. Bottum	C. F. Copeland
G. Elliott	T. Bowling
R. E. Orr	McClelland
Skip 20	Skip 16
J. F. Houston	C. C. Nash
C. A. Peck	F. K. Mahood
C. D. Tice	W. Simmons
W. Harden	M. N. Maxahan
Skip 6	Skip 5
R. Salisbury	J. Hy. Neville
H. Williams	J. V. Lawrence
H. M. Gerrie	E. J. Hartrick
R. A. Backus	A. O. Simmons
Total 40	Total 43

SPORTS

By JIMMY THOMPSON

WESTERN ACE

One of the most outstanding defence players in the Intermediate hockey league this season, and in past years, is Harvey Dodge Regina Ace defenceman, who has come to Regina several seasons ago to play junior hockey and has been playing for the Aces of the Senior league for the past three years.

With a style different from any other defence players in the league, one that thrills the fans on the offensive and makes them hold their breath on the defensive, Dodge continues to be one of the pick of the league. Watch his goaltender the utmost in protection and he is at all times a real scoring threat.

TRENTON LOSES IN FAST GAME

Campbellford Wins an Exhibition Fixture 8 to 4

Trenton, Feb. 26 (Special)—An exhibition game was played here on Wednesday evening, Campbellford trimming Trenton to the tune of 8 to 4. The visitors outclassed the locals at every stage of the game. Davis was the best on the ice scoring 4 of the goals. Doc Orchard, while only Jimmy Bush played his usual nice game of hockey.

It is impossible to pick anyone from the Trenton team that was good because Gould who landed goal put up a nice game. The locals didn't seem to try to play. If they play hockey why not play the game right, rather than go out and pay to get the bad night.

Davis scored 5 of the goals, Bunbelford, while Jimmy Bush had 3 while for the locals York, Culverson, Bush and Bush each tallied one.

Trenton plays again tonight in Campbellford and it would behoove them to wake up and play hockey.

Line-ups:

Campbellford — goal Merriott, defence, McCarthy and Whitlock, centre Davis, wings McCabe and Bunbelford, spares Bowyer.

Trenton — goal Gould, defence, York and Culverson, centre Bush, wings Johnson, Pillon, Soba, Bowen, Miller and Begin.

BISONS FOUR POINTS AHEAD

Olympics Given a Severe Jolt, Taking 5-0 Reverse

Toronto, Ont., Feb. 26 (CP) After a fast, rugged game with the pack, Buffalo Bisons are today four points in front of the International Hockey League. A wild burst of scoring in the third period saw Buffalo subdue the Yellow and Black pucksters to above five goals under Detroit's wing as the two walk off with a 5-0 victory over the Detroit Border City rivals.

The Bison victory was not the only one shaking up the league standing, however, as Pittsburgh Yellow Jackets came back to their old form to edge out a 3-1 triumph over Syracuse stars and march to the second berth of fourth place.

Ronnie Martin, midget Bison winger, netted the first of the two goal setters victory and established some sort of an International league scoring record by bagging four goals in less than the Detroit cage within ten minutes.

Piling up a three goal advantage in the second frame, the Bisons held their opponents to a single score in the concluding session. Martin was touched to an undisputed triumph over Syracuse. Tiny Gregg and Gene Reames accounted for the two Jackets tallies in the mid-ice affair while Eddie Rodden notched the local Pittsburgh tally midway through the middle session.

Bun Boll, an amateur star late of Toronto Marlboros of the senior Ontario Hockey Association made his initial appearance in the professional ranks for the Stars but his presence failed to aid the lacking scoring punch needed by the Syracuse entry.

Current Sport

By The Observer

Wotta time the hockey moguls are having over their gawky forms of Belleville and district hockey league. If you've read the "original league"—you remember "in again, out again, shake again, out again, and don't see what has happened of late —the B.C.I. "Crows" have jumped out of group "F" and have been replaced by the local Civic Service team. Yesterday the Belleville "Tecumseh" feeling that they were not wanted in the loop, decided to withdraw. Now let's see what remains—in group "F" we now have Picton, Wooler, Campbellford and the new Civic Service team. In Group "A" there are but three teams now, namely, B. A.A.A., Frankford and Campbellford. Whether President Rose and Secretary Hagerman can get another team for Group "A" or not is the burning question. Perhaps the best will be glad to have the local "Generals" in yet Tweed will not be satisfied with the actual league but have agreed to play for the right to the winner of one of the two groups a sudden death game here later.

No matter how many teams are entered in Group "A" the opening games will get under way on Monday night, but if the teams do start on Monday as have not been announced as yet. Applications for referees for the games, in this new post-season league should be mailed to either President Don Rose or to Secretary Jack Hagerman. All applicants' names will be placed before the teams at the league meeting which is to be held right after Monday night's game, and voted on. Here is a chance to break into the refereeing racket for some ambitious young officials.

Lester Shiels of the B.C.I. staff, will coach the Civic Service team in the loop. Bill Sherry informs us that the local Service team will wear the uniforms of the Cities' Service men in Toronto. Bill is all excited over the acquisition of the franchise for the Cities' Service men and informed us that the uniforms used by the "Gasoline Boys" are a duplicate of the Chicago Black Hawks. The fans will have the privilege of seeing a set of the league uniforms at least. We imagine there will be a big demand for players before this league gets under way and sit back and watch the fun.

Just try and beat Kingston at sport's in Belleville and you have to get up bright and early in the morning. As you read this or perhaps you did not know, it does not matter much anyhow as B.M.C.I. tallies in the role of the winners of the E. C. Basketball league but a 40-40 tie. How? Well, here is the story in a few words: B. M. C. I. were leading the loop with Belleville one game behind them and in the last game of the season Belleville, they came the best Kingston city team. When it came time for Queen's to play R. M. C. they simply defaulted and let them have the title to R.M.C., very simple, eh? But to make matters more Queen's played the scheduled game and used a couple of seniors so as to make doubly sure that they would be disqualified and the Cadets assured of the group title. Well that is the way of keeping the league honors in Kingston.

A challenge for the city volleyball title has been issued by six energetic young men in Belleville, Al. Wickerson, Norm Clarke, Farley Faulkner, Vic White, Mac Ivy Bannon and Angus McVee have challenged any volleyball team in the city for a series of games for the city volleyball championship. The series is to be the best three games out of five, with the umpires as the referees. We understand that there are plenty of old-timers who remember the days at these young "upstarts" Anyway Mr. Ivy Bannon has certainly started something and maybe they have better material than more than they can chew. Bob' Brown, of the local Hydro office, is also organizing a team to try and "take" the challengers. Now watch the fun.

We are glad to hear that the Belleville Ki-Y Juveniles are about to enter the Eastern Ontario juvenile championship. If the local kids win the two game series from Napanee they will be presented with the Spalding trophy. Then the kids have a much credit as they ever pay their own way. Let's wish when they have a practice. They have certainly developed out into a smart little hockey team, thanks to Joe Sherrity's help.

The sport writers of Eastern Canada are going to bat against the so-called amateur teams in this country, especially hockey and baseball seems to be the main sports which they are raping. Well, to tell the truth in the matter, somebody should be sent to save amateurism in this country. It is getting a little too much like the American idea of playing the game. It is our guess that before the sport writers of the east get thru' there will be an investigation at least.

SCHOOL CAGERS WIN AND LOSE FROM TRENTON

Belleville Juniors Cinch Group Honors And Ready For Playoffs

MOUNT SCORE

Seniors Have to Take It On Chin From Trenton "Loopers"

Presenting a far superior line of offence and defence Belleville Collegiate Junior basketball team defeated the Trenton High School Cadets by the overwhelming score of 62 to 11 on the gymnasium floor of the local Collegiate last night. The local juniors had it over their rivals in the offensive department and had they felt inclined to do so they could have mounted the score to a much larger degree.

The second game between the B.C.I. and the Trenton seniors was a battle royal when after forty minutes of play a bitter Durham, of Belleville, was ordered off the floor for the rest of the game. The visitors defeated them by the score of 17 to 15. The lowness of the score was due to the close checking game, which was witnessed by over 100 rooting fans, mostly school basketball fans.

In the opening game when the local juniors stepped on the floor they were not long in the game in the score and they are today virtually Intercollegiate champions of Eastern Ontario as they must lose both remaining games in the schedule to forfeit the title with their group. The juniors have yet to play Trenton on Tuesday night and last night's game practically put the locals in the championship for the group honors. Providing they defeat Picton, and it is a foregone conclusion that they will, they have the opportunity to meet the St. Catharines collegiate, champions of the Ontario semi-finals and the locals will be the representatives to represent Belleville in the provincial play-downs.

B.C.I. Juniors Good

The kids present a quick passing game and their defence is a credit to any team. Their ability to shoot accurately is par excellence, so with these two qualities to their credit, they utterly shut out the visitors on the tout last night. If the local juniors continue to improve, as they have in the past few weeks, they will give any junior intermediate team in Ontario a run for their money. Gillespie, Cole, Wilson and Fulwell were the big score artists for the locals. Hooper was Tote, Rankin Jr. and the other substitutes did not weaken the team any when they had to go in. Coach Jack Smithson were the big threats for the Belleville quint and has developed also playing good ball.

Although the local seniors went down to defeat at the hands of the Trenton "Loopers" in the second game it was a hair-raising contest. Plenty of action was seen throughout the game and with with neither team having a decided edge until the final whistle blew. Belleville seniors should have tied the score at the last few minutes but the boys were so over-anxious that they missed opportunity after opportunity to score the winning basket. For the winners Chambers, Lannon and Wilson starred, while the entire B.C.I. team turned in an excellent exhibition of themselves even in the face of defeat.

The line-ups and points scored for the junior team were,

Trenton (11)—Forwards Wallace 2, Langdon 6, centre Taylor 0, guards Hall 0, Bolton 0, Soba, Bailey 3 subs, Cornell 0, Chambers 7, And Gibson 0.—Total 11.

Belleville (C.I. (25) — forwards, Morgan 2, Gillespie 6, Wilson 6, Cole 4, guards Burley 2 and Scott 1, subs, Reynolds 2, Grills 0, Adams 0, and Duffin 0.—Total 25.

Referee—Earl Evoy of Belleville.

LEAGUE LEADERS

Canadian Section

Team—Montreal Canadiens, won 18; lost 14; tied 6; 42 points.

Points (goals and assists)—Jackson, Toronto, 22 goals, 27 assists—50 points.

Goals—G. Conacher, Toronto, 27.

Assists—Primeau, Toronto, 31.

Penalties—Dutton, Americans, 82 minutes.

Shutouts—Hainsworth, Canadiens and Worters, Americans, 8 each.

American Section

Team—New York Rangers, won 20; lost 13; tied 7; 47 points.

Points (goals and assists)—W. Cook, Rangers, 20 goals, 23 assists—43 points.

Goals—W. Cook, Rangers, 26.

Assists—Boucher, Rangers, 30.

Penalties—Boucher, Rangers, 54 minutes.

Penalties—Johnson, Rangers, 94 minutes.

Shutouts—Roach, Rangers, 9.

DEER IN ELLICE

Stratford, Feb. 26.—A deer was sighted on the fifth concession of Ellice Township yesterday by Henry Fink, lot 14, concession nine. When last seen by Mr. Fink, the deer was clearing the fences on the farm of William Lennon, concession five, lot five.

KI-Y LEAGUE

Two games were played in the juvenile section of the Ki-Y league at the Arena last evening when the Flyers defeated the Spartans by the score of 2 to 1, while the Flying Canadians beat the Holy Name Society juveniles by the tune of 7 to 0. Both games were keenly contested especially the battle between the Flyers and the Spartans, when the Flyers had to extend themselves to defeat the Spartans and jump up into second place, one game behind the league leading Bulldogs, who have yet to lose their first game. The Spartans were minus two of their star players and they felt their absence keenly when the final score was reckoned up. Two more games in the Ki-Y league are scheduled for the evening from 6 until 8 pm. On Saturday afternoon the Belleville juveniles go to Napanee to play in the finals for the juvenile championship of Eastern Ontario.

The line-ups for last night's games were:

Holy Name Society — (0)—Fred Lee, Frank Lee 4, Meagher, T. Boyle, J. Barrett, B. Wilson, N. Langdon, J. O'Neil, Keets and T. Hughes.

Flying Canadians—(3)— Elmion, Szmark, Perrave, Langman, Pepper, Hammond, Bowen, Harris Lapalm, Doran, and Flindall.

Flyers—(2)—Points N. Knott, Robinson, A. Knott, Bawden, Smith and Reid.

Spartans—(1)—Keller, Mooch, Kozash, Scriven, Watson, Hay and White.

Referee—Bennie Miles.

MADOC PLAYERS FRACTURE BONES

Woods Has Broken Wrist And Henderson a Fractured Ankle

Madoc, Feb. 26 (Special)—Madoc hockey players are having many accidents lately. Rupert has sustained a broken arm in a recent Tweed game last week. Woods, speedy centre, has a badly lacerated face and a fractured wrist, sustained when he smashed into the boards at Bancroft last Friday night in an exhibition game. Goalie Henderson also broke a fracture ankle from the Tweed game on Monday night.

Madoc boys won a 6-5 victory in an exhibition game in Bancroft last Friday night.

Tweed won over the local boys on Monday evening, the score being 1-0; the first win of Tweed over Madoc in the past season.

Hematite hockey team met the Madoc hockey team on the Madoc skating rink on Friday, with Hematite coming out the victorious team. A good scrappy game was played, each team trying to outpass the other. The final score of 3-1in favor of the Hematite players. The scoring was done for Hematite by Ashley on passes from West, and West broke through for a goal alone, making three, while Bayliss for Ivanhoe scored on a long shot.

The line-up:

Hematite—Goal, C. Kellar; right defence, McQuigge; left defence, F. McQuigge; centre, R. West; right wing, W. Latondresse; left wing, D. Ashley; subs, J. Bland, B. Mason.

Ivanhoe — Goal; T. Haggerty; right defence, H. Henderson; left defence, D. Whytock; centre, J. Gibson; right wing, Gibson; left wing D. Reid; subs, F. Bayliss, R. Haggerty, K. Broadworth.

Referee, Caverly, of Madoc, was the referee.

FALCONS CATCH LEAFS OFF FORM

Jack Adams' Crew Winners 5 to 3 and Maintain Third Place

Toronto, Ont., Feb. 26 (CP) — Detroit Falcons were the only club successful in gaining a full quota of points in a pair of rugged National Hockey League fixtures last night, downing Toronto Maple Leafs on their home ice to the tune of 5-3 the Falcons are closer to reaching a play-off berth in the American group and are today seated in third place a single game in the van of Boston Bruins who were held to a 3-3 tie by the Rangers in New York.

Below Form

Catching the Toronto aggregation below their usual form, the Falcons jumped into an early lead and continued their offensive rush during the first and second periods to earn a 4-1 lead before the final session commenced. Toronto continually bombarded the Detroit net during the last twenty minutes but their efforts only produced two goals when Conacher and Hay's 26 Leaf shots, allowing but two of the count to enter the cage.

Harvey Jackson, smooth skating Leaf winger, figured to the front of the N.H.L. scorers with a goal in the opening frame while his teammate Joe Primeau, continued his dazzling play-making to ring up his 31st assist. Rhode Vandefiine and Larry Aurie proved the main cogs in the Detroit machine, the former with two goals while the latter was credited with one marker and two assists.

Harold Cotton, tireless skating wingman of Toronto, and Doug Young, burly defence man of the Falcons, each drew a major penalty during the second period and at each have previously incurred two majors they will both be automatically suspended for their clubs' week-end games.

BRITAIN'S RACING DAREDEVIL AGAIN CON FOUNDS THE CRITICS

Five years ago Sir Malcom Campbell, then "Captain Campbell", piloted his 328 h.p. Bambeam at Pendine Sands, Wales, at 136 mile an hour. The picture at top left shows him crossing the finishing line in his "wonderful" car. Two years later he had his Bluebird reconstructed (top, right), in order to break the world record of 174 miles an hour. Then came a long run of failures, until he did break Sir Henry Segrave's record of 231 miles an hour, but at almost the same time Seagrave, at Daytona Beach, in the course in the desert at 226 miles an hour. Not to be discouraged, Campbell had his Bluebird rebuilt (bottom), and it made it 231 miles an hour. Not to be travelled at less than an hour last year. His world's record again was in this marvellous racer that he nearly lost his life when it threatened, this time by an Australian, Campbell brings the Bluebird back to Daytona Beach and this forty-seven year-old Britisher will attempt to break his own record—if he has too many surprises up it's sleeve. He has certainly won his place in the vanguard of the Motherland's adventurous, cool-headed, speed experts. More power to him.

Buy Next Year's Overcoat Now!

YOU WILL NEVER have as good a chance to make money by saving, and getting a high-price stylish garment at much less than its real value.

There will be plenty stormy weather yet — Old Man Winter isn't licked by any means.

Protect yourself against any extremes of weather and buy an Overcoat you will be proud of—Prices will never be as low, in fact the tendency will be for steadily increasing prices all round as the season advances, and certainly will be a great deal higher next season.

Quick & Robertson

CORRECT CLOTHING FOR MEN

COMING

Glamorous Spectacle

TORONTO SKATING CLUB

"Kaleidoscope"

A colorful spectacle of shimmering beauty and dazzling grace — wonderful lighting effects on colored ice — marvelous array of beautifully costumed skaters — symphony orchestra.

SEE

THE WORLD'S CHAMPION FIGURE SKATERS

at the height of their form

Your one opportunity to see the greatest collection of figure skaters ever assembled in Canada in a glittering whirling fantasy of beauty and color.

GET YOUR TICKETS EARLY

One Night Only Belleville ARENA FRIDAY March 11

1932

TICKETS

50c $1.00 $1.50

Reserved Seats at CHAS. SYMONS' STORE 286 FRONT ST.

THE WORLD'S MOST PONDERFUL SPECTACLE ON ICE

ARENA

FRIDAY

2.30—5.00—Public Skating 8 P.M. CARNIVAL Band in Attendance Prizes for Racing and Fancy Dress Admission 25c and 35c

25% OFF ALL OVERCOATS at CHAS. J. SYMONS Men's Store 286 Front St.

Hockey Results

N. H. L.

Detroit 5; Toronto 3.
At Rangers 3; Boston 3.
xOvertime.

International League

Pittsburgh 3; Syracuse 1.
Buffalo 5; Detroit 0.

Eastern Canada

Boston 2; New Haven 0.
O. H. A. Intermediate
xOrimsby 2; Dunnville 2.
x10 minutes overtime.
xOshawa 10; Bowmanville 0.
xOshawa Win round 15-3.
xHarriston 2; Durham 0.
xHamilton tied 3-3.
xOakville 4; Acton 1.
xOakville wins round 7-2

Allan Cup Playdown

Le Maitgne 3; St. Gregoire 0.
Saskatchewan Senior
xWeyburn 2; Melville 0.
xWeyburn wins round 5-2.

Ottawa City Senior
xShamrocks win round 4-0.
xShamrocks 3; New Edinburgh 0.

REXALL FEBRUARY BIRTHDAY SALE

35c Rexall Shaving Cream and 35c bottle Rexall Shaving Lotion Both For

50c

McKeown's DRUG STORE

VOLLEYBALL SCHEDULE

After the Y.M.C.A. "Seniors" romped away with the first half of the local volleyball league standings the second half of the schedule was released yesterday, as follows:

Rotary vs. R.C.A.F., Tuesday, March 1st, 8.15 p.m.

Kiwanis vs. Y's Men, Tuesday, March 1st, 8.45 p.m.

Business Men vs Seniors, Tuesday, March 1st, 9.15 p.m.

Y's Men vs. Rotary, Tuesday, March 8th, 8.15 p.m.

Seniors vs. R.C.A.F., Tuesday March 8th, 8.45 p.m.

Business Men vs. Kiwanis, Tuesday, March 8th, 9.15 p.m.

Rotary vs. Business Men, Tuesday, March 15th, 8.45 p.m.

R.C.A.F. vs. Kiwanis, Tuesday, March 15th, 9.15 p.m.

Business Men vs. Y's Men, Tuesday, March 22nd, 8.15 p.m.

R.C.A.F. vs. Kiwanis, Tuesday, March 22nd, 8.45 p.m.

Seniors vs. Rotary, Tuesday, March 22nd, 9.15 p.m.

R.C.A.F. vs. Business Men, Tuesday, March 29th, 8.15 p.m.

Y's Men vs. Seniors, Tuesday, March 29th, 8.45 p.m.

Rotary vs. Kiwanis, Tuesday, March 29th, 9.15 p.m.

"Y" Alleys

Queen Victoria took all four points from Queen Alexandra in a postponed Teacher's League game. Mr. Bateman was high man with 267 and 242 and Miss Potter high lady with 415 and 154.

In the Ladies' Afternoon League Aviators took three points and Stile and Try 1. High Bowlers were Mrs. Wray for Aviators 464 and 177 and Mrs. Stolway for S and T. with 411 and 164.

In the Wall Street League Quality Grocers defeated by Kings 3 and Delaney's Bear Cats 2. High bowlers were Ed. Wallace for Quality Grocers 834 and 312; Gord Delaney for Bear Cats 817 and 323 and G. Cater for T. Kings with 563 and 246.

AIR MAIL FORCED DOWN

Brantford, Feb. 26.—The air mail plane from Montreal to Windsor this way Wednesday night near Woodstock, owing to snowstorm conditions, was forced to landing at the local airport, the mail being taken over by the plane's crew. He left the airport this morning.

Rexall Drug Store

Phone 123

Prescription Specialists

Cor. Front and Bridge Sts.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Happiness is in hard Work

By Thornton W. Burgess

No work is'er too hard to do
For those you love and who love you.
—Monkey-face.

"Phew, how tired I am!" exclaimed Monkey-face the Rascal, as he passed a Shrew to Mrs. Monkey-face, who in turn gave it to the clamoring half-grown Cwlets in the top of Farmer Brown's barn. "I'm ready to drop if they would drop off."

"Don't let them just yet," retorted Mrs. Monkey-face. "There are still a few hours to be fed and nothing to give them. We have just time if we hurry to get something before it is daylight. I guess you are no more tired than I am, but I don't let that disturb so hungry. Come on!"

She led the way out of the gable window and with a sigh Monkey-face followed. His wings ached, but you wouldn't have known it could you have watched him quartering this way and that way over the Green Meadows. Big as they were they made no sound, and in the dim light just at the beginning of dawn he was like a ghost. But he could see and he missed no smallest movement in the grass below, and his wonderful ears caught every faintest sound. When there had been a time but himself to think of he always had enjoyed hunting, but now it was hard, hard work.

From the moment the dusk had been deep enough the night before he had been constantly on the wing and at the same time hunting. Eight growing children required a lot of food and the very smallest of that food had to be hunted for there was no time to rest. When he got back to the nest Mrs. Monkey-face was already there and snatched the Shrew he brought to give to the last of the Cwlets. Then there was a few minutes when I was little as those youngsters do," grumbled Monkey-face. "By the time we get the last one fed the first one is begging for more. It seems as if they must be hollow all the way through. Big families are all right to talk about, but when it comes to feeding such a lot of always hungry youngsters it is a different matter. I'm tired, I think our family is too big."

"I don't replied Mrs. Monkey-face promptly. "What is more you don't either and you know it. You wouldn't have one less if you could. Just look at them. Aren't you proud of them?"

"I-e-e, I suppose I am," conceded Monkey-face. "But I wish they didn't have such appetites."

"What can you expect when they are growing so fast?" demanded their mother, fondly gazing at them. "It does take a lot of food to feed them, but you know perfectly well that you don't begrudge feeding your file. There isn't any greater happiness than in working for those we love. Now, is there?"

Monkey-face yawned sleepily. "No, my dear, there isn't," he confessed. "Just the same I with their appetites were just a little smaller. The trouble is they grow too fast. Yes, sir, they grow too fast. I'm going to get a rest if they wouldn't have to work so hard."

"And if they didn't you wouldn't be so fat you would be worrying and thinking something was wrong with them," declared Mrs. Monkey-face. "The first thing we know they will be out learning their own food and then you will be sitting around wishing you had something to do.

"I would like to try, sitting around for awhile just to see how it feels," retorted Monkey-face. Then he yawned again settled himself on the perch and in a minute was fast asleep.

Mrs. Monkey-face had a last look at the children all of whom were now asleep and with a sigh of contentment and happiness settled herself for the rest she so much needed.

Copyright, 132, T. W. Burgess)

The next story: "Chatterer Has a Shock."

"I wonder if I ate as much when I was little as these youngsters do," grumbled Monkey-face.

Fashion Fancies

Cut away from the ordinary type of suit jacket and go in for the new cut-away silhouette that marks the newest suits. A smart model in navy blue crepey woolen with a collarless jacket marks the cut-away line with a partial border of blue fox.

Higher and higher goes the waistline on even coats of the casual, sportswear type. A model in bright navy blue spongy woolen with a nickle buckle and clips has a very high waistline. The collar may be worn up, closed or opened.

It is only fitting that green should take its place in the spring color parade. A new coat is of moss green ribbed woolen and has a collar of red fox. It is worn with a beret in stitched felt in matching green with a swirl of green coque feathers arranged on top.

Just now simple jacket ensembles are seen everywhere down South. Typical of the mode is a frock in white flat crepe with a square neckline, short sleeves and patch pockets. The dress is trimmed with pale yellow plaid taffeta ribbon and this is the collar of the matching jacket which is of a single thickness.

Even at night one needs a bag and so there is a great demand for an evening bag that will "go" with the black frock. This is done in black velvet embroidered with rhinestones and tiny mirrors and is in a triangular shape.

Nice for Spring is a jacket suit of heavy gray flannel and crepe with accordeé pleating on the jacket and three-quarter sleeves. The waistline of the frock has lines of self stitching worked around the waistline. The jacket has a self scarf.

OUT GOES THE OLD WASHBOARD! I'VE FOUND AN EASY WAY TO GET BRIGHT CLOTHES

Throws away washboard—gets whiter clothes than ever

"THANK goodness I'm not choked to this instrument of torture any more! Why should I break my back over a washboard, when I can get whiter, brighter clothes by soaking? My washings are so easy since I changed to Rinso. And the best of it, the gentle way Rinso saves the clothes."

Great in tub or washer

Don't fool yourself. No soap gives rich, lively, lasting suds that Rinso gives. Tests prove, cup for cup, as light-weight, fluffy a soap. And no soft inner needed, even in hardest water.

These rich suds get clothes so white, even boiling isn't necessary. Marvellous in washers, the makers of 40 famous washers recommend it. And nothing like it for dishes, too. Get the BIG economy package.

MILLIONS USE RINSO
in tub, washer and dishpan

So New This Year!

Sweaters are being knitted as fast as busy fingers and clicking needles can turn them out. And when these dainty garments are washed the MODERN'S careful cleansing makes them new again without danger of stretching or shrinking.

MODERN
CLEANERS AND DYERS
182 Front St. Phone 79
If Modern Cleaned It's Clean

Women's Interests in the Home

Beauty..... BY HELEN JAMIESON

A Necessity For Good Complexions

Here we are again, harping on health as beauty's capital. Members of the class who believe that getbeauty-quick is the right line, that you scoop it out of jars, and that health talks are the limit of boredom, can go on powdering their noses and skipping round on their high heels. And that's all right since they are the ones who need to cram hygiene sense into their heads.

We acknowledge that the beauty shops and the drug stores have offerings that are worth considering. The calcimine and the rouge pots serve as helpers, whence the skin itself is healthy, of good texture, of smooth unblemished surface. If it is grey or sallow, spotted with eruptions, unsightly with blackheads, one may as well chuck the whole business till, if one has the means, find out what makes the skin act that way and correct it.

Constipation can set up a state of body poisoning that throws the skin into a condition of blackness. Laziness all the avenues of elimination are active, working properly, the complexion is likely to be out of form. A sluggish intestinal tract is a common trouble and one that discounts for all manner of by-ills like pimples and inactive skin as well as beauty grievances.

There are harmless measures to be taken for the purposes of overcoming constipation. Mineral oil is the favorite one. Keep a bottle on the bedside table. No need to skimp, another organ of elimination.

Before you begin to worry about the quantity of oil to take, consult a physician. Then, if he approves, begin with a tablespoonful daily, and if that doesn't work after a week or so, increase to two tablespoonfuls. Some people require more than that, but it is best to find out by the doctor route.

Another remedy, absolutely with no bad effects, is psyllium seeds, which provide bulk and which set up a mucilage-like oil that acts soothingly on the lower intestinal branes. Place four teaspoonfuls of the seeds in a teacup, cover with boiling water, let stand for half an hour.

Then eat it and drink it; it will be pare solid and part fluid. Take morning and night. If the constipation is chronic and stubborn use both mineral oil and psyllium seeds.

Water drinking is a beautifying habit. Every cell of the body needs water. Without enough fluids the skin suffers, becomes dry and flaky. No doubt some of the girls who don't drink enough water suffer the penalty of a rough body surface, dry scalp and brittle hair.

Inner cleanliness calls for abundant water. Breathing exercises aren't necessary in the summer time but they are essential during cold weather when there's not much outdoor fun. Twice a day stand at an open window and take deep, slow breathing bellows. Inhale through the nostrils, exhale through the mouth. Hands on hips, chest lifted, head high. Have a perfectly snorting time; your complexion will love it.

The daily bath invigorates the skin, promotes circulation.

Cake Making Challenges Finest Cook's Talents

"You can't make a silk purse out of a sow's ear", runs an old proverb, but here is an axiom for the modern housewife. "You can't make a good cake with unsuitable ingredients." That is probably the primary cause of cake failures, although all the art of sifting, beating, stirring, and baking comes into the picture.

Sponge and butter cakes are the two outstanding classes. The first are those of light, fluffy texture, made without shortening, and the second are easier to digest than the richer butter cakes. Both types, however, demand the highest of ingredients, the finest quality and strictly fresh. Then comes accurate measurement as the next essential in turning out a food of tender texture and fine flavor. A perfect cake is always of uniform thickness and attractive in appearance. It should be evenly browned, tender, thin, and daintily crisp, with no soggy layers. Perfect cake is light, tender and agreeably moist but not sticky. It has an even, fine grained texture and delicate flavor.

Flour is the bulk of any cake mixture and thus its quality is of most important. Too many cooks "judge" flour, the quantity and quality of flour used in cake making. They seem to expect a fluffy white sponge cake or even texture butter cake from using the same flour as they would for bread or pastry. Cake, however, require exceedingly fine flour so that as many surfaces as possible may be exposed to heat and moisture. Fine flour, too, has much smaller gluten content than heavy bread or pastry flour that must stand kneading or rolling. The lesser percentage of gluten prevents the gaining of solid action from baking powder and beaten eggs.

Most dietitians will agree that too much flour is used in most cake recipes. This is because flour other than cake flour is used and it is too coarse and will not produce a texture as a finely milled cake flour.

One of the finest sponge cakes is made from the following recipe:

1 cup sifted cake flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, 3 eggs, 1 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon lemon juice, 4 tablespoons hot milk.

Sift the flour, measure, add baking powder and sift together three times. Beat eggs until very thick and light, add sugar gradually, beating constantly. Add lemon juice. Fold in flour alternately with hot milk, stirring quickly until batter is smooth. Bake at once in an ungreased pan, like pie, in 350 degree oven, 325 F. for 45 minutes. Remove from oven and invert pan for one hour to cool.

Lightning Layer Cake is one of the most easily made and delicious foods if cake flour is used.

1 1-4 cups sifted cake flour, 2 teaspoons baking powder, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 eggs unbeaten, soft shortening as needed, 1 cup milk, 1 cup sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt, and sift together three times. Break eggs in cup and add enough shortening to fill cup. Put all ingredients into mixing bowl and beat vigorously for two minutes. Bake in 3 greased 9-inch layer pans in moderate oven 375 degrees F. 25 minutes.

Between layers and on top put frosting made of 2 unbeaten egg whites, 1 1-2 cups sugar, 5 tablespoons cold water and 1 1-2 teaspoons light corn syrup. Place ingredients in upper part of double boiler. Beat with rotary egg beater until thoroughly mixed. Place over rapidly boiling water, beat constantly with beater and cook seven minutes or until frosting will stand in peaks. Remove from fire, add 1 teaspoon vanilla, and beat until thick enough to spread. After cutting and icing, sprinkle generously with long, moist shreds of coconut.

"SNAPPY" SNAP SHOTS

MARY HAD A LITTLE HAM
WHICH MADE THE DISHES SHINE
"USE SNAP" SAID I, "MY LITTLE LAMB."
AND YOU'LL SEE THE WASHING'S EASY.

SNAP
TOUGH on DIRT and GREASE
—but good to your hands

LIKES CANADA FOR ITS SALADS

"Overseas" Representative Misses Canadian Vegetables

London — Writing from this city in that bright and quotable little magazine, Overseas, Miss Winifrede Wrenche continues her description of the summer spent in Canada, and especially is she hoping to get Scottish people interested in a Nova Scotia holiday next summer. She longs to share her joys of the Scotsiest skies of that lovely province. Surely, if people knew what was awaiting them in New Scotland they would make the venture.

"These lines are being written in the Empress train which runs between Stirling and London. It is the first time I have taken a long journey in a train in Great Britain since my return. I feel as if I were in a baby train, though it is running marvellously well and smoothly. I dined a meal in a train the other day, but will not repeat the experiment if I can help it. I was given sodden fish and cauliflower that might have been anything, so tasteless was it. The pudding was stodgy." The other day I asked for a salad to go with the meat grague I was having at one of the best hotels in London and was brought a few bits of lettuce, not even clean, steeped in vinegar and two little slices of tomato. Thinking of the salads we had every day joying in Canada all the summer, I looked at that apology for a salad with scorn and disgust. I am not telling better to bring me. He was quite young and evidently accustomed to the vagaries of his clients, so he just brought me another helping, this time with clean lettuce leaves. The tomatoes and peas will appear from these lines that one of the things I miss here is the plentiful supply of fresh vegetables to be had for the asking. On the other hand, I have had a few days of real English weather, and many quite substantial towns are still lit by gas. There has been a touch of sun from time to time of year, but it is wan and feeble. Almost one longs for anything, after the floods of radiant sunshine we have been privileged accustomed to.

"And there is another thing" miles sorely, especially now that the days are short and cold. While in Canada more than once I was in the sorrowful of my friends who complained of sun too much. I said sententiously to several of them that I wished that sun would shine on we are. I have been repenting of my hasty words ever since my return I have felt as if I were living in a cupboard, and I have never been inside at all! And yet, the compensations are manifold.

LEARNING TO STUDY

By CONSTANCE CAMERON

There has been much criticism about the kinds of subjects children answers Mrs. Cole and Mrs. Parker present some startling things in connection with the liquor traffic and cited instances where the law is being openly violated without any apparent means of redress

The meeting was closed with the Mizpah benediction.

Salt is considerable quantity was shipped 100 years ago from salt springs around Lake Winnipegosis to distant fur posts.

Personals

Mr. George Stringer, gang overseer at Madoc and Charles Moffatt, cable wrecker at Sarcroft, were in town yesterday.

Mr. Robert Leonard, 126 Victoria avenue, is ill at his home.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wilson, clerk, land, have arrived in the city to take up their residence here.

Mrs. Jessie Taylor, Myers street, is a patient at Belleville General Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Patterson are spending a few days in Toronto.

Mrs. R. H. Martin, Bridge street west, entertained a number of friends at a bridge and tea at her home this afternoon.

The condition of Mrs. John Sargent who underwent an operation at the Belleville General Hospital, Saturday continues to improve steadily.

Mr. Ingram Lean, formerly of the C.N.R. staff in Belleville, and now of the Canadian National Railways civic service has been ill for a few days at his home in Toronto. His many friends in this community wish him a speedy recovery.

Mrs. A. A. Affleck of London Road, Sidney, was surprised recently by her election to the presidency of the Women's Auxiliary to Victoria Hospital. Mrs. Affleck will be remembered by many friends in this city where Mr. Affleck was head of the classics department of Belleville High School for a number of years.

The Leap Year Dance held in Toronto last evening at the Royal York Hotel, was a brilliant affair, debutantes of the past few years taking the ladies assuming the duties of waiting upon their gentlemen friends. The guests looked very smart in black evening clothes with touches of white, jewelled studs and cuff links. At the conclusion of the dance they were driven safely to their homes.

The choir of Holloway Street United Church met last night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Cordes for rehearsal. Twenty-seven members attended and after rehearsal a most enjoyable evening followed. A delicious supper was served and at the conclusion of the interesting evening Mrs. Hagan moved a vote of thanks, which was seconded by Mrs. Bird and carried by acclamation. Mr. and Mrs. Cordes, genial hosts and hostess. The party broke up with all joining in singing "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows."

Tabernacle W.M.S. Holds Meeting

Group No. 1 held their February meeting at the home of Mrs. Laughlin with eleven members and visitors present. Mrs. Laughlin, convener, took charge of the program. The meeting opened with hymn 440, "Take Time to be Holy", followed by prayer by Mrs. Irvin. Mrs. Donaldson read the 34th Psalm. Devotional leaflet entitled "The Way of Holiness" was given by Mrs. Horton, Hymn 217 "What a Friend we have in Jesus" was sung. Mrs. Laughlin, the convener, asked all to bring a birthday cake in February to stand. They included five ladies, Mrs. H. Dey, Mrs. G. Horton, Mrs. R. Hogle, Mrs. J. Donaldson and Mrs. Wm. Dey. A games were given a special birthday greeting by Mrs. Irvin. The ladies appreciated their thanks to the group for the kindness. A reading followed entitled "Making Friends of Our Memories" by Mrs. A. Martin with a solo by Mrs. Donaldson. The meeting was closed with prayer by Mrs. Horton. Mrs. Laughlin served refreshments and a social half hour was enjoyed.

W. C. T. U. HOLDS MONTHLY MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of the W.C.T.U. was held in the Y.W.C.A. building.

Mrs. Farnsworth presided and opened the meeting in the usual way. After Mrs. Parker had read the minutes of the January meeting and Mrs. Farnsworth had given the treasurer's report, Mrs. Hoyle gave Scripture passage affirming Jesus to be the Light of the World. Delegates were appointed to attend the annual convention of the Ontario Prohibition Union which will be held in the Royal York Hotel, Toronto, on March 1st and 2nd.

By a series of questions and Women said—

YOU CAN'T USE THE SAME HOUSEHOLD SOAP FOR EVERYTHING... BUT the New Oxydol changed that

OXYDOL
THE COMPLETE HOUSEHOLD SOAP
MADE IN CANADA

Embarrassing Moments

It's easy on hands, it's easy on clothes, it's fine for dishes! Does more work because it makes 50% more suds—richer, quicker, longer lasting suds. Never balls up; rinses clean, softens water.

Procter & Gamble, Toronto, Ont.

QUALITY FURS
STORAGE
CLEANING
DELANEY
Exclusive Furrier
17 Campbell St. Belleville
QUALITY FURS
REPAIRING
REMODELLING
Phone 797

Tasty for pancakes with bread, and as a general table syrup!

BENSON'S GOLDEN SYRUP

A nourishing and delicious food that builds healthy bodies. Particularly recommended for growing children by expert dietitians. An economy food that the whole family will enjoy.

Send 1ic for "Canada's Prize Recipes" 50 practical, economical recipes.

The CANADA STARCH CO., Limited, MONTREAL

Poet's Corner

FOR TWENTY

Take to the roads; be friendly with the sun;
Throw back the seas, whose paths are always yours;
Gather both plums and nettles — and you've won
A fool-proof heart, a body that endures.

Trek to the compass ends and fill your eyes
With color, beauty, passion, faith and pride;
Let these rare years be broken in surprise,
In need unrested, thirst unsatisfied.

Match pennies with that gambler men call life,
And hide the winnings in your jacket seams;
Woo second-hand and silence for a wife
To sew the buttons on your shirt of dreams.

And in the end your hearth and chair will be
Earth's refuge, the kettle's song its symphony!
Bert Cooksley in New York Times.

SENTENCED FOR ATTACK

Brantford, Feb. 25.—Given a free room at the Y.M.C.A. here, Alfred Arsenault attacked the caretakr, W. O. Johnasson, so violently that he spent ten days in the hospital. The attacker was given six to twelve months in the reformatory.

FINANCIAL NEWS

WALKERS ONLY ACTIVE STOCK

Remainder of Market is Dead With Occasional Transactions

Toronto, Oct. Feb. 26— Walkers was the only near active issue trading on Toronto Stock Exchange this morning. The remainder of the market was dead, with only occasional transactions made. Price changes were too small and on too restricted a turnover to indicate any trend.

Walkers was firm at 3 3-8 and 3 1-2. There appeared to be plenty of support whenever the stock dipped and on the other hand a supply of shares at 3 1-2. The new commission did better again, rising to 3 1-4. The preferred was slow, down slightly at 11.

Most of the generally accepted pivotal shares were firm, including Brazilian, Bell Telephone, C.P.R., Bank of Montreal, Bank of Nova Scotia and Hollinger were both International Nickel

Oils were unusually quiet, only 175 shares in all. The new group until well into the second hour. There was no change in the price level.

Stock Markets

Quotations furnished by Riggar and Crawford, P. H. Wills, branch manager. Quotations at 2.15 p.m.:

Mines.
Acme	bid 13
Amulet	17
Ajax	105
Bidgood	8¼
Bralorne	bid 75
Granada	103
Hollinger	485
Hudson's Bay	23
Howey	20½
Kirkland Lake	45
Lake Shore	27.50
McIntyre	48.75
Mining Corporation	1.05
Sherritt	60½
Sylvanite	52
Teck Hughes	43
Ventures	43½
Wright Hargreaves	2.40
Gold	10.75
Moffatt Hall	4
International Nickel	18½
Noranda	15.50
Oils.
American Can	67½
Auburn	90½
American For. Power	7½
Byers	17½
Bethlehem Steel	24
Consolidated Gas	63½
Case	84½
Drug	52
General Motors	31½
Hudson Motors	7½
Chrysler	13¼
Montgomery Ward	8½
North American	37½
Standard Oil of N. J.	34
Radio	9¼
Standard Brands	13
Stewart Warner	5¼
American T. and T.	137
Vanadium	17½
American T. and T.	137
U. S. Steel	48½
Col. Gas	24½
Toronto.
B. A. Oil	10¼
Imperial Oil	10¾
McColl Frontenac	20½
International Petroleum	11¼
Distil. Seagrams	30½
Hiram Walker	31½
Bell Telephone	126½
C.P.R.	17½
Canada Bredge	bid 11
Cockshutt	15½
Dominion Stores	17
Ford "A"	19½
Smelters	69
Massey Harris	3½
Brazilian	13½
Steel of Canada	21½
Wheat.
May	69¾
July	69¾
May Rye	49¾

125 SLEEP IN NEW HOSTELRY

Rochester Handles its Night Guests at Hotel

ROCHESTER, N.Y., Feb. 26.— One hundred and twenty-five men turned over on army cots at dawn today and beheld the rising sun peeking through the frosted window panes of the municipally operated Hotel MacSweeney, Lail and Dewey Avenues.

They were the first night guests of the lodging house. They had clean, comfortable quarters on the fifth floor of the building.

This number was cleared through the health and sanitary branch of the lodging house yesterday as an organization to be trained to care for the bunk rooms and generally aid in the administration of the place the rest of the Winter. They were selected carefully as permanent boarders.

No fine tooth combing of a school boy surgeon's "fine combing" the members of this group received yesterday. In turn they are to begin putting more applicants through the same thorough routine.

Only the fifth floor is ready for bunks. The third and fourth are expected to be ready Thursday, when accommodations will be ready for 500, William Hassett, manager, said.

The number of meals served daily at the municipal hotel is holding to an average of 2,000, Welfare Commissioner Leo Mc-Sweeney said. This is feeding but 1,000 men, however.

Incidentally, a new story of the homeless men's resourcefulness comes from the institution. Tired of the success of pahhandlers in getting quarters, four of them went to the police in search of a bit of the Hotel MacSweeney.

They were refused after grubbing the dimes put together and the five of them rode to the place in a taxi for 25 cents.

FROM $500 TO FORTUNE

How Dominion-Wide Industry Began in a Store —President of Biscuit Company Tells Success Story — What Consistent Advertising Will Do.

A romance of modern business that should be an inspiration to every small store-keeper was told by bespectacled, grey-haired Irving Feltzer Dilworth to the Rotary Club of Montreal on Monday.

Mr. Dilworth is President of the Brown and Company, Limited, who this year celebrates the fiftieth year of service with the company.

Mr. Edmonds, who can recall personally the days when the city of Christie, Brown organization, told the story of the business. The company was started in a small store on Yonge Street, Toronto, by a man with a working capital of probably not more than $500. Today the business has grown into a corporation of millions of dollars and is the largest industry of its type in Canada. It has two manufacturing plants in Toronto, one in Montreal and one in Winnipeg plant opened last week—in the West and thirteen distributing branches from Sydney, N.S. to Vancouver.

The simple history of Christie, Brown and Company as told by the active vice-president of this, the business began in 1840 when two young men, James Maitlers and Alexander Brown, formed a partnership in a small store in Toronto, to handle biscuits. Starting with them as assistant salesman, William Christie, who was destined to become a partner and eventually play an important part in Canada's biscuit making industry.

The biscuits sold from this small bakery became popular with a limited clientele and the business began to progress. Four years later Brown and Maitler retired and Christie, who had been handling the business, took in his brother-in-law William Christie. Mr. Brown, however, re-entered the company in 1861 and the firm of Christie, Brown and Company Limited was adopted.

Undeterred by fire and flood, they found the business firmly established as one of the leading biscuit concerns. In 1871 and again in 1874 larger premises were necessary and in the former year the first Canada Biscuit factory was opened. Other units in Toronto has been replaced by three factories—one containing nearly a whole downtown block in Toronto, one in Montreal and one manufacturing many thousands of square feet of floor space and the latest word from Winnipeg plant—is acknowledged the finest biscuit factory on the continent.

The original plant turned out a very small variety of biscuits. Today over 800 lines are marketed.

And here, according to Mr. Edmonds, is the real key to success in Christie, Brown organization. It has consistently maintained a high standard of quality in its products and has advertised consistently for all times and bad, using newspapers from coast to coast, year in and year out.

TIGHTWADS

BY BEATRICE FAIRFAX (An Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage)

A young man writes me his girl has refused him. She says she is keen on her engagement with him. She didn't return his engagement ring —because he never gave her one. And right there is the key to the fracture's source.

It seems the young man is a rich orphan. His parents left him valuable property from which he derives from $5 in collecting rents and keeping the tenants right up to the second in paying the rent or out on the street. The girl was never sympathetic with his policy. In one case, indeed, she should have known the people and insisted they would be made to pay or leave. But she became quite indignant and "they had words."

Still that wasn't the end of things for she forgave him and they went to see a most impressible apartment for their future home; it was the husband to be who remembered that that did for the romance. I've only the young man's account of the affair, the girl not having favored me with her side of the story.

In spite of his wealth, the young man didn't think much of the time honored custom of giving engagement rings. He writes that he is willing to conform to this extravagance—but he kept putting off the purchase of the ring from month to month because he was making payments on other real estate purchases, and of the girl had only been patient, and waited till they were married, I'm sure she would have plenty of jewelry. Doubtless she remembered the old adage of: "Many a slip, 'twixt the cup and the lip" and thought she'd take no chances.

The engagement had lasted eight months, Christmas came and no doubt the girl thought the ring would give the long delayed ring then. Thereby killing two birds with one stone, or getting the credit of two gifts, for the cost of one. But Christmas came and the only offering from the rich orphan to his fiancee was a box of candies. Then the girl broke things off flat. And the young man writes and asks me if I think he's been cheaply and grasping?

My answer is that I think she was neither. And breaking the engagement was the only thing she could have happened to both of them. His ruling passion was saving, he should try and find a girl whose interest in thrift is as great as his own.

Banana plants provide not only fruit, but silk, wine, vinegar, flour, rope, fuming materials and other products.

REMOVAL NOTICE
NEW ERA STUDIOS
(Marsh and Wardle)
Have transferred their office and show room to 82 MOIRA ST. W.
Thor Washers and Ironers
Spartan Radio
PHONE 154

NOTICE TO CREDITORS AND OTHERS

IN THE MATTER OF THE ESTATE OF THE LATE GRAHAM HENRY VINCENT, Late of the City of Belleville in the County of Hastings, Heating Engineer, deceased. NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN pursuant to the Revised Statutes of Ontario, 1927, Chapter 150, Section 51, that all creditors and others having claims against the estate of William Henry Vincent, late of the City of Belleville in the County of Hastings, who died on or about the 30th day of January, 1932, are requested to forward particulars of their claims to the undersigned, on or before the 19th day of March, 1932.

AND NOTICE IS FURTHER GIVEN that after the last mentioned date the executors will proceed to distribute the estate among the parties entitled thereto having regard only to such claims of which he shall then have notice.

DATED at Belleville this 15th day of February, 1932.

Wallbridge, Cameron & Company, Barristers, etc., Belleville, Ontario, Solicitors for the executor.

19 26 m6.

TREASURER'S SALE OF LAND FOR TAXES

City of Belleville,

Province of Ontario.

To Wit:

By virtue of a warrant issued by the Mayor of the City of Belleville bearing date, the fifth day of February 1932, and to me directed for taxes in the City of Belleville will be held in the Council Chamber, City Hall, Belleville, Ontario, at the hour of Two O'clock A.M. on Thursday the ninth day of June 1932, unless the taxes and costs are previously paid.

Notice is hereby given that the list of lands for sale for arrears is being published in the Ontario Gazette on February 20th, 27th, and March 5th, 1932, and that copies of the said list may be had at my office.

Treasurer's office this 26th day of February 1932.

H. B. Stock.

26 mar4 11 18 26 a1 8 15 22 29 and 13 30.

For Sale
Belleville Locators

$2200. Buys 30 Acres, all work land, west of Frar Ave. Good, desirable, plenty of fruit, Ideal location for market, electric light can be obtained, house in best of condition, newly shingled, good barn. Worth more than $2500 not over two years ago. Reasons for selling. $700 cash will handle. Sixty days.

$4500. Buys brick dwelling, in the pink of condition, all conveniences, excellent basement. Garage. Not a cent to be spent on this for years. Situated between Dundas and George Sts., on Victoria.

$4000. Buys 278 and 280 Coleman St., this is a Double Brick, both sides real comfortable, and fully rented, just the buy for some one desiring to live in one side and have revenue from the other.

List your Farm or City property with us.

Phone 581.

BIRTHS

BERNSTEIN—At Belleville General Hospital, February 26th, 1932, to Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Bernstein, a daughter.

DEATHS

WADDELL—In Belleville, Thursday, February 25th, 1932, Richard Waddell, in his 74th year.

The funeral will take place from his late residence, 181½ Church St., on Saturday, February 27th, 1932, at 2.30 o'clock, to St. Michael's Church, Mass at 9 a.m. Interment St. James' Cemetery. 26-1t

BELLEVILLE BURIAL COMPANY
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
14 Campbell St.
Phone 175 Day and Night
J. W. IMLAH,
Proprietor
Mausoleum Crypts For Sale
26-1t.

F. C. Martin and Son
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
FUNERAL HOME
213-215 Front St.
PRIVATE AMBULANCE
In connection
PHONE 2905
16-tf.

THOMPSON
FUNERAL SERVICE
Bisseville Sisters
Moderate Prices
Thos. C. Thompson
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
Phone 62
Nights and Sundays 1213
16-tf

TICKELL & BROWNE
Funeral Home
268 Church St.
Cor. Victoria Ave.
Phone 97
Limousine Ambulance Service
218-tf

Wanted to Rent

Let us fill that vacant house for you. We have desirable tenants waiting. Our charges very moderate.

DEYO & GREEN

Home Hunters' Helpers
29 Bridge St. E. Phone 3176
Street floor. No stairs to climb

To Let

Furnished house, medium size, all conveniences, desirable locality, for months of Mar. April, May. Possession March 1st. Phone 79 or 226.
113-tf.

Store To Let

East location in Belleville. New and modern, copper and marble show window front, steam heated. Immediate possession. Apply
W. R. HORTON
Ontario Intelligencer
Belleville.
111-tf

N. Hardwick

Electrical Contractor
Fixtures, Bulbs, Receptacles
Repairs
All Work Guaranteed
75 BURTON ST., BELLEVILLE

BUSINESS LINERS

TUBEROUS BEGONIA BULBS Plant now. Large Bulbs for 25c, at Bishop's Seed Store.

HOME GROWN ALFALFA SEED, $6.00 per Bushel, at Bishop's Seed Store. 26-3t

CARD OF THANKS

Mrs. P. C. VanAllen and Mrs. Ira H. Ross, wish to thank their friends for their kindness during the sickness and death of their mother, Mrs. Mary Faulkner. 26-1t

FOREIGN BATES

New York, N.Y., Feb 26—Foreign exchange irregular, demand rates quoted: Great Britain 3.48 1-4; France 3.91 11-16; Italy 5.19 1-4; Germany 23.80; Canadian dollars 13 percent discount.

WANTED

WANTED — TWO SALESMEN one with car to take charge Smith's Food Products. Manufacturers of Miller's Delish. Phone 2163M. 26-1t

WANTED—A GASOLINE POWER washing machine in good condition. Write Box "U" Ontario Intelligencer. 26-1t

WANTED — EXPERIENCED Radio and Refrigerator Salesman for Belleville and district. Apply Box "J" Ontario Intelligencer. 26-2t

WANTED—A SMALL FAMILY TO share a home in a good location in Belleville. Furnished or unfurnished. Rent reasonable. Immediate possession. Apply Box "J" Ontario Intelligencer. 26-1t

WANTED—AGENT TO REPRESent British Insurance Company, for Fire, Auto, and Accident Insurance. Apply Box "P" Ontario Intelligencer.

WANTED — FURNISHED ROOM wanted by business man. Apply Box "Q" Ontario Intelligencer. 26-1t

WANTED—GIRL TO HELP WITH housework and look after children. Apply 196 Albert St. 25-2t

WANTED — RELIABLE WOMAN to do housework in small modern home, for two adults. Permanent home for right party. Apply to Box "N" Ontario Intelligencer. References and state wages expected. 26-1t.

HELP WANTED
EARN UP-TO-DATE $25 WEEKly growing mushrooms for us this spring. Cellar or shed. Spare time. Begin now Illustrated booklet free. Canadian Mushroom Company, Toronto.

WANTED — ADOPTION FOR A two and a half months old baby boy. Box "C" Ontario Intelligencer. 24-4t

WANTED—POSITION AS HOUSEkeeper. Phone Byford, or write General Delivery, Trenton. 24-3t

WANTED—ROOM WITH BOARD for young business man (single). Reasonable. Box "H" Ontario Intelligencer. 24-3t

WANTED—DESIRABLE HOMES for boys and girls up to eleven years of age; also girl 16. Apply Miss D. Ruston, Superintendent, Children's Aid Society, 38 Bridge Street, Belleville. 19-6t

WANTED—RUGS WANTED Unmade; extra 36, floral 54, seconds 20c, Poultry crates and thirds 15c. Write for price list. Lewis and Reilly, Registered, 1980 Notre Dame, West, Montreal. 17-tf.

TO-LET

TWO SIX ROOM HOUSES. Conveniences. Rent $17, Hanna St. Apply Mrs. Winn. Phone 1357W. 26-2t

ROOM WITH BOARD IN EXchange for light housework in small private home. All conveniences. Apply Intelligencer. 26-1t

SEVEN ROOM HOUSE ON CANnifton Road. Phone Byford. Apply Mrs. J. V. Connell. Phone 2911. 26-1t

MODERN SIX ROOMED HOUSE with all conveniences, 168 Charles St. Possession April 1st. Apply 8 Benjamin St. 24-3t

FOUR ROOM APARTMENT, heated. All conveniences. Geo. Deline, 150 Front St. 24-tf

HEATED APARTMENT, CENTRAL —All conveniences, electric refrigerator. Reasonable. April 1st. Apply 22 Turnbull St. Phone 2141.

HOUSE, ON PINNACLE STREET, second door north Baptist Church. Phone 786F. Apply 242 George St. 711-tf.

APARTMENTS TO RENT. Apply S. J. Fisher, Bridge Street 439-tf

COTTAGE NO 39 GROVE ST. 7 rooms, furnace, laundry tubs gas water heater oak floors, wired for, store Apply 30 Grove St. 615-tf.

FOR SALE OR TO LET
UP TO DATE HOUSE NO. 27 Highland Ave. Can be had on easy payments. Apply to Agent Apply Dan Doyne 265 Front St Phone 869 Hours 2 to 8 p.m. 625-t.

FOR SALE

SHEEP AND LAMBS. CHEAP. — Apply Mrs B. Doctor, Bridge St. East, at Belleville Golf Links. 26-3t

THE LATE T. H. GOTHARD Coal Business in Trenton, property and equipment. Brick house with all conveniences and Mansmorn St. Hundred acre farm at Glen Miller. Four acres of land and brick house at Colborne. Situated on Highway No. 2. Excellent for tourists. Apply to F. J. Pierce, Box 533 Trenton. Real Estate and Commission Agent. 26-3t

BABY CHICKS, LEGHORNS 10c. Barred rocks 12½c; also custom hatching 4½ cay or 150 eggs. 3 miles S. Brenton, Coreville 'Phone 230r16. 25-3t

Classified Ad. Rates
PHONE 99

SOCIAL NOTICES—Births, 50c; marriages and engagements, 75c; deaths, $1.50; Deaths and Funeral Notices, $2.00; In Memoriam, $2.00; Memoriam or Poetry, minimum charge 50c and 1½ cents per word for each line over 10; Lodge and Church Notices, minimum charge 50c.

CLASSIFIED — (For Sale, Wanted, To Let, Lost and Found) 1 cent per word for first insertion, subsequent insertions 1 cent per word. Minimum 20 words.

COMING EVENTS—Tic per insertion for 25 words or under, over that amount 1c per word.

PROFESSIONAL BUSINESS CARDS—Sixty cents ($.60) per month per inch.

OFFICIAL, MUNICIPAL AND GOVERNMENT NOTICES (including those concerning Local Boards) 1½c per word first insertion, subsequent insertions 1c per word.

AUCTION SALES—30 per word, limited to 40 words or 75 words minimum $2 words for 75c) consecutive insertions, 3c per word.

An initial or figure counts as one word.

No reasoning allow five words to the line.

Remember your Want Ads when in use if it is necessary to call Phone 99. Ontario Intelligencer will not be responsible for more than one insertion of an incorrect ad. Phone 99 and no mistake.

Advertisers may have their replies addressed to Box Number care of the Ontario Intelligencer.

CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAYS

Change of Time effective January 10, 1932

TRAINS GOING EAST

No 19 12.40 A.M.—Mail and Express Daily.

No 16 2.50 A.M.—The Maple Leaf, Daily.

No. 8 2.22 A.M.—Express, Daily to Ottawa.

No. 14 11.30 A.M.—The Continental Limited, Daily.

No. 26 3.47 P.M.—The Capitol, daily except Sunday, to Ottawa.

No. 6 6.05 P.M.—The Inter - City Limited, daily, last train to Montreal.

TRAINS GOING WEST

No 19 2.45 A.M.—Mail and Express, daily.

No. 7 3.50 A.M.—Express, daily

No 17 4.43 A.M.—The Inter - City, daily except Sunday.

No. 5 2.20 P.M.—The Maple Leaf, daily.

No. 25 4.57 P.M.—The Capitol daily except Sunday.

No. 29 8.00 P.M.—Local Passenger, week days except Saturday.

No. 15 8.00 P.M.—The International Limited, daily, fast train to Toronto.

BELLEVILLE TO PETERBORO

No. 11 5.30 A.M.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.

BELLEVILLE TO MADOC

No. 35 5.36 P.M.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.

For tickets and information apply to

H. SIMPSON, Agent.

Business Directory

LEGAL

T. Y. WILLS, BARRISTER, SOLICitor. Notary Public, etc. 15 Campbell St., Belleville. Telephone 74. 264-tf

FORSTER, PAYNE & ARNOTT, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public Solicitors for Royal Bank Chas. Payne, K.C., R. D. Arnott. Offices: 219 Front St., Belleville. Cnt.

MALCOLM WRIGHT, BARRISter, Solicitor, Notary Public, etc. Office Campbell Street, Belleville.

PONTON, PONTON & GRAHAM, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Commissioners Office: 28 Bridge Street, corner Bridge and Front. Money to loan on mortgages. W. N. Ponton, K.C., R. J. Ponton, K.C., and E. R. Graham Office: Belleville.

WALLBRIDGE, CAMERON AND Co. Offices next to the late F. B. Wallbridge) Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries. Money to loan. Union Bank Building, corner Front and Bridge streets, Belleville, Ontario.

BUTLER & BUTLER BARRISters, Solicitors, Notaries, etc. F. J. Butler K.C., Ormonde Butler.

B. C. DONNAN, COUNTY CROWN Attorney. Money to loan. Notary Public, etc. Offices: Court House Building, Belleville, Ontario.

COLLINS AND COLLINS, A. R. Collins, K. C., M. P., and J. P. Barristers and Solicitors. Office: Above Royal Bank corner Front and Bridge streets. Phone 178. Money to loan on first mortgages.

INSURANCE

BONE & MARTIN
LIMITED
GENERAL INSURANCE
Belleville, Ont.
Chamber of Commerce Bldg.
Phone 1344

FIRE
The Toll is Always Great
Are your possessions sufficiently insured?
BURROWS—FROST
231 Front St.

HALL & EARLE

General Insurance Agts. Automobile and Fire Insurance
278 Front Street. Phone 1184W

DENTAL

DR. R. E. SIMPSON, DENTIST (Successor to Dr Morton) X-Ray 249½ Front St. Phone 462, Belleville.

DR. O. A. MARSHALL
DR. J. A. MARSHALL
ARE MOVING
X-Ray
Evenings by Appointment
118 Bridge St. East Phone 146
(Between John and George)

MEDICAL

Dr. S. B. McCrady, B.Sc. Physician & Surgeon
X-Rays a Specialty
Residence and Office
139 Bridge St. East Phone 1309
(Between George and William)

DR. J. S. SIGRAM SPECIALIST, EYE, EAR NOSE & THROAT. Hours Belleville, Tues. & Thurs. Throat and Lung Hospital and Ear Eye & Nose Ear Infirmary Glasses fitted and supplied. Office 41 Campbell St. Phone 1130 Hours 10-12, 2-4, and 7-8. 218-tf.

CHIROPRACTOR

R. A. SYLVAIT, D.C., SPECIAL Sanitorium Treatments and adjustments given by the month for all chronic and nervous disorders corrected for particulars phone 99 write 139 Coleman Street Belleville. Practice Days and Fridays.

H. F. and Vera E. Pitcher
CHIROPRACTORS
(Honour Graduates)
Palmer-Neurocentric System of Adjustments
Phone 1274 Belleville Ont.

STOCKS AND BONDS
GIGGAR & COMPANY MEMbers of Toronto Stock Exchange. Phone 1738 P. B. Wills, Branch Manager.

H. S. Parry

BUILDING CONTRACTOR
Repair Work at All Kinds
Phone 1257

Tice's Auction Sales

Jersey Cattle, Horses, Grain and Implements, property of H. E. Putman, 1st Con. of Thurlow, Tuesday, 400 years north Cemetery gate, on Thursday, March 3rd, 1932, at One O'Clock sharp. Farm has been sold. No Reserve. This is a sale, and will start on time. Terms nine months. See large bills.

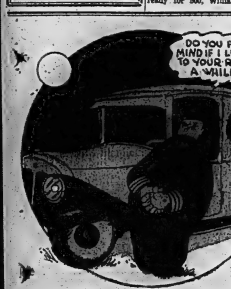
GEO. O. TICE, Auctioneer.
Phone 433 or 168.
26-3t

ALTERATIONS CLOSED VERANDAH HARDWOOD FLOOR LAYING REPAIRS GARAGES.
Special Low Prices Now By Skilled Mechanics
Fuller—1325-F

FRANCE ATLESWORTH

Ontario Land Surveyor and Registered Professional Civil Engineer Land Surveys Plans and Descriptions etc. Engineering Attended to
PHONE 6—F O. BOX 89
MADOC, ONT.

LOST



LARGE BROWN AND WHITE spotted hound, back of Foxboro. Finder kindly phone 1242M.
24-3t

FOUND STERLING

Toronto, Ont., Feb. 26 (CP) — Exchange rates at noon today were as follows:

Pound sterling in Montreal 3.49 15-16. Pound sterling in New York 3.48 1-4. Canadian dollar in New York, 88.

Bonds
We will be taking part in all major bond issues and their expense along during the next few months. Clients should telephone us for information and advice.
Jamieson
Bone & Co.
Phone 1344
Belleville, Ont.

SURPRISE JAPS IN NEW ATTACK TABLE TURNED

Ammunition is Running Low, Gunners Forced to Conserve Fire

LULL IN FIGHTING

Nippon Airmen Reported to Have Bombed Hang Chow Camp

(By Morris J. Harris)

SHANGHAI, Feb. 26.—Artillery punished first one side, then the other as the battle went on today in the Klangwan sector and around Chapei between the Chinese army and the fighters of Japan.

Steadied by their success in reversing from a rout and gaining back much of the ground that had been lost when the Japanese assault broke in the early days, the Chinese turned an artillery bombardment on the Japanese strongholds in Hongkew Park.

Japanese guns answered shell for shell. At dawn they were doing most of the firing, for Chinese ammunition was running low and gunners had orders to use it sparingly.

Reports Conflict

Each side said its fire was inflicting heavy casualties upon the enemy, while it was suffering slightly. The Japanese said they had suffered less than 100 casualties, but "inflict thousands upon the Chinese". The Chinese said their losses were negligible and the Japanese were "trying to hide their casualties," estimated by the Chinese at 700 dead and wounded.

After several hours of fighting a startling quiet came over the Klang wan front at 8.50 a.m. to-day. The Japanese heavy artillery ceased to function while the machine gunners on both sides also ceased fire.

As the hostilities slackened, the Japanese appeared to have achieved an advance northwest of Klangwan, but they had failed to oust the Chinese.

That Japanese reinforcements were likely to land at any moment was denied with force at the flagship Idzumo in mid-morning. A spokesman said no additional troops were coming today. What would happen to-morrow he declined to say. Hangchow Camp Bombed

Meanwhile reports were received from Chinese sources that Japanese airmen bombed Chinese aviation airdrome at Hangchow, 100 miles southwest of Shanghai, this morning. The Chinese were believed to have concentrated a sizable air force there.

The ammunition problem was beginning to worry General Tsai Ting Kai, commander of the nineteenth Chinese route army, who told friends that he had less than a fortnight's supply on hand.

The general urged that pressure be exerted on the Nanking Government to rush men and munitions in view of the impending arrival of Japanese reinforcements.

The Chinese were depending chiefly on machine guns. They announced that early this morning they had succeeded in routing the last Japanese out of Miaochungchen, which was captured when the Japanese broke the line yesterday.

Still Hold Klangwan

The Chinese still held Klangwan this morning, although it almost fell from their grasp in yesterday's fighting.

Late Thursday afternoon the Japanese succeeded in seizing the Chinese first line to the northwest of the village. They also made while their artillery was pounding the Chinese second line and while 40 Japanese planes were dropping bombs on support units, swept well to the west and passed the village of Miaochungchen.

At this juncture of the battle the small Chinese garrison at Klangwan was in imminent danger of falling. The salient in the otherwise straight Shanghai-Woosung line already two miles deep when the action started, bulged an additional mile at six hundred yards to the west when the Japanese assault reached its high point.

The Japanese announced that they had completely broken down the Chinese primary defences and that the Chinese troops were in a disorderly and panicky retreat.

Secure in their belief of victory, they pushed forward their artillery to new positions, thereby putting the guns within easier range of the Chinese supports.

But that was prepared to make another assault, which they believed would weaken the Chinese rear and make it impossible for the Klangwan garrison to hold out any longer, the Chinese turned out of their trenches for a surprise counter attack.

Reinforcements Arrive

Apparently reinforcements somehow or other had been brought up despite every effort by the Japanese artillery and the bombers to drop a barrage sufficiently destructive to prevent any troop movements.

It was reported that these reinforcements were from men of the 88th Division of Chiang Kai-Shek, whose National Guard units are looked upon as the best troops in China.

The counter-attack swept over shell-torn ground and at many places along the front the Chinese reached the very trenches from which they had been driven only a few hour earlier.

Despite the fact that they had lost most of the ground taken in their criminal assault, the Japanese described the Klangwan action as a "substantial victory". At Chinese headquarters there was jubilation over the way the troops had performed.

A Japanese communique said that the Thursday casualties totalled 80 killed and wounded and that the Chinese losses were from 300 to 400. The Japanese took 15 prisoners.

Reports circulated that two or three Japanese army divisions would arrive today or to-morrow and that the high command planned to open the biggest drive yet early next week.

Tokio despatches telling that the Emperor had granted an audience to General Yoshinori Shirakawa were taken to mean that he would supersede General Kenkichi Ueda in command of the army here.

The Chinese warning that it would be dangerous for foreign ships to anchor in the Whangpoo close to the flagship Idzumo was followed yesterday by fury of the bombardment of the flagship or the Japanese consulate alongside.

But apparently the warning was not considered wholly meaningless as the nearly German consulate was evacuated to-night and sailors aboard the Idzumo donned steel helmets and set-up new armour plate protection. Similar action was taken by the crew of the Italian warship Libia which had previously been struck but not damaged by a Chinese shell.

'Bloody Corner' Again Turns Into Shambles

Cleveland, O., Feb. 26 (AP)—The east side's so-called "bloody corner" was turned into a shambles again late yesterday, as a gangland execution squad mowed down four men in a renewal of the Porello-Lonardo corn sugar feud.

Raymond and Rossario Porello, members of the fast vanishing Porello clan, which wrested its vanishing Porello Sarpy from Big John and Sly Joe Lonardo in 1927 in exactly the same manner, were killed outright, riddled with bullets.

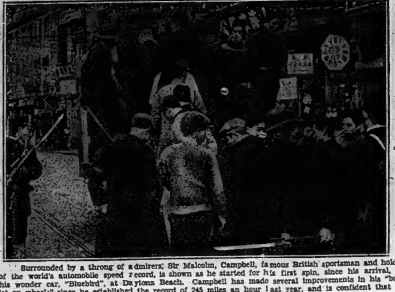
Dominic Mangino died a few minutes after he was struck by the wild fusilade. The fourth victim, Joseph Darmonti, a fruit merchant who was not a member of the gang fell with bullet wounds in the head and is not expected to recover.

NEW HIGHWAY SIGNS TO TELL NEXT TOWN DISTANCE AND ROUTE

London, Ont., Feb. 26.—Accepting the suggestion of the Ontario Motorists Highway Association, the Department of Highways will erect signs at the exits from towns and cities bearing the name of the next town on the route and the distance to it, Hon. Leopold Macaulay advised W. H. Wood, secretary of London Chamber of Commerce, to this effect yesterday.

"FOR GLOWING HEALTH"

Build up robust health, with this palatable and nutritious food. Contains "Allenbury's" Perfected" Cod Liver Oil, particularly rich in the Sunshine Vitamin D which is almost entirely absent in most modern foods and "Allenburys" Malt Extract which supplies Vitamin B assisting digestion and increasing the food effectiveness of starchy foods like bread and potatoes. For your health's sake, buy a bottle today.



Prepared by Allen & Hanburys (Canada) Ltd., Lindsay, Ont.

TORCH BRAND EXTRACT of MALT with COD LIVER OIL

T102

DOYLE'S DRUG STORE, 221 FRONT ST.

At the Mercy of Their Conquerors

Surrounded by a throng of admirers, Sir Malcolm, Campbell, famous British sportsman and holder of the world's automobile speed records, is shown as he started for his first spin, since his arrival, in his wonder car, "Bluebird", at Daytona Beach. Campbell has made several improvements in his "Bluebird" since he established the record of 245 miles an hour last year, and is confident that he will better that mark in an attempt he will make soon on the Daytona speedway.

Liberals Would Force Province to Pay Cost of Seaway, He Claims

Minister of Mines Points Finger at Sifton Drafted Power Plank

REGRETS INNUENDU

Opposition Attack Seen As Shift to Flee From Beauharnois

Toronto, Feb. 26.—Harry Sifton and S. C. Drury arm in arm, Mitchell F. Hepburn and Harry C. Nixon arm in arm, W. E. N. Sinclair and others standing together on a platform bearing a plank in the Liberal platform . . . How sacrificial Ontario Hydro will be in the hands of a group of buccaneers who would make Hydro power users of Ontario pay for the whole power development and canalization of the St. Lawrence!"

This pungent question, addressed to the Ontario Legislature yesterday, constituted one of the highlights of a comprehensive address on the Hydro agitation, delivered with the skill and force of a master-debater, by Hon. Charles McCrea, Minister of Mines.

Mr. McCrea, twenty years a member, long an intimate of the late Sir Adam Beck, spoke for nearly three hours, building up a powerful case for Hydro, to the frequent accompaniment of thunderous applause from the Government benches. His speech unfolded at six o'clock and part of it carried over to next Tuesday, Mr. McCrea was the recipient of a long-continued ovation when he moved the adjournment of the debate.

Covers Wide Range

He covered the whole range of Hydro historically—from the private power grabs preceding the days of Sir James Whitney, right down to the Beauharnois probe, the $123,000 obtained by John Aird, jr., from R. O. Sweezy, and the "Valley of Humiliation." A telling phase of his speech was a ringing denunciation of the Liberal innuendo against the judiciary, implied in the criticisms of the royal commission consisting of Mr. Justice Middleton.

Prior to 1927, Ontario had been prevented from developing the power in the Ottawa River because it already held under a charter granted 33 years before to the Georgian Bay Canal Company. This charter was held by the Armsdale Corporation, which controlled the Sillcoxs, headed by Harry Sifton. In 1927 this charter came up for renewal under Bill 78 in the Federal House.

Urged by Ontario Hydro and Hon. G. Howard Ferguson, Hydro municipalities and the Government moved to prevent the renewal of this charter. A resolution calling upon the King Government to reject Bill 78 was passed unanimously by the Ontario Legislature. Hon. Hugh Guthrie was Conservative House leader in the Commons, had threatened upon moved an amendment to kill Bill 78.

Voted Down by Libera's

The amendment, general expressing the unanimous view of the Ontario Legislature, had been voted down by the Liberals on Mr. King's personal party—and Mitchell F. Hepburn had recorded his vote in favor of the bill to protect Ontario Hydro.

When moved to send Bill 78 to a committee, where Mr. Sifton could express his views and seek to urge his measure through, Mr. Sifton had appeared, and had stated his views—namely, that the rights to all the water-flow in navigable rivers belonged to the federal and not to the provincial authority.

Then Mr. Sifton, his bill ultimately not passed because of the rising temper of the Province of Ontario, had appeared at the Liberal convention in Toronto in 1930, had there assisted in electing Mitchell F. Hepburn leader and had actually drafted the power plank in the Liberal platform, upon which the Ontario Liberal party now stands. It had been moved by Mr. Sifton and seconded by E. C. Drury, former prime minister of Ontario.

The plank pledged the Liberal party to the principle that Ontario should pay to the Federal Government a rent-rental for all the water used in power production on the St. Lawrence, thus making Ontario power users pay for the canalization of the river for navigation purposes as well as paying for the power development.

This was directly in line with Mr. Sifton's attitude before the Commission owns the water—as expressed by him while contending at Ottawa for the—Beauharnois Georgian Bay franchise. And in making that franchise effective, while denouncing Premier Ferguson as an associate of "power barons" at Quebec, Mr. Sifton had written a letter to Samuel Insull, one of America's great power barons, in Chicago, asking for his help and aid in developing the Georgian Bay canal and power scheme, out of which "a great deal of money can be made."

LONG SIEGE IS ENDED

Styal Homesteader is Released on Bail After Surrender

Edmonton, Feb. 26 — Harvey Thompson, Styal homesteader, who exchanged shots with Provincial Police officers a week ago, surrendered to the police yesterday. He paid a fine of $1, imposed on an assault count some months ago, and was released on bail.

He will appear before Magistrate Lynch-Staunton on charges of having stolen several small articles from W. McCormick, Styal, lumberman, and resisting arrest. Trial on these counts will take place in the Holy Springs School, near Thompson home, Tuesday, March 8.

Superintendent W. H. W. Hancock announced that the police force which had been guarding the Thompson home since last Tuesday will be withdrawn immediately.

BLAZE AT BUFFALO.

Buffalo, Feb. 26.—Fire in the heart of Buffalo Harbor mill and granary district today threatened the entire waterfront before it was brought under control and confined to a rambling one-storey structure of the Cleveland and Buffalo Transit Company warehouses. The blaze originated in the warehouse, where the flames were fed by large bundles of waste paper stored there by the Great Lakes Paper Company.

TWO CHILDREN ARE BURNED

Paper Near Stove Catches Fire — Spreads Quickly

Valleyfield, Feb. 26.—Tissue paper lying too close to a stove resulted in a fire which claimed the lives of two children and caused damage of $10,000 here last night. It was shown at a coroner's inquest today.

Adrien Roy, aged 7, and Lucien Roy, 5, were overcome by smoke and flames when the home of Alfred Roy was destroyed. The father and his eldest daughter succeeded in rescuing two children sleeping in the home, but were unable to, reach Adrien and Lucien, whose dead bodies were finally taken from the house by a fireman.

ALL FLIERS ARE REPORTED SAFE

W. Graham and Mrs Christofferson Found By Search Pilot

Vancouver, Feb. 26.—William Graham and Mrs. Edna Christofferson, missing in the country south of Atlin, northern British Columbia, for ten days while flying from Hamilton, B. C., to Atlin, are safe at Atlin, according to a message received here last night by Major D. R. Maclaren, assistant general manager of Canadian Airways, Limited, from S. E. McMillan, pilot for the company at Atlin.

McMillan, who set out today to hunt for the lost fliers, telegraphed Major Maclaren as follows:

"Found Graham O.K. Both planes returned to Atlin at 6 p.m."

Major Maclaren is of the opinion that Graham's plane ran out of gas and that he had landed safely, and that with a supply given him by McMillan he was able to reach Atlin.

No mention was made in the message of Mrs. Christofferson, but it is presumed that she was in the Graham plane.

The art of glam making is at least 3,000 years old.

The extra quality . . . makes it the favourite! Long filler—Sumatra wrapper.

Cellophane wrapped

STONEWALL JACKSON CIGARS 5¢

SWINGS WIDE HITS A CAR

Thursday afternoon shortly after three o'clock Miss Nellie Cresser, Madoc Road, Belleville, when driving east in her motor car on East Bridge Street, swung out to pass a car which was stalled on the road-way and in doing so her car struck a car coming west in charge of Mr. A. B. Heaslop, of Campbellford.

The front fenders and bumper of the Heaslop car were damaged and a fender on Miss Cresser's car was badly smashed.

It is understood that the matter of damages was settled between the persons involved.

Constable Gow, of the city police, investigated the accident.

Gilding schools have been established in Moscow, Crimea, and Siberia.

Enniskillen farmers want the Irish Government to help relieve the potato shortage.

To Stamp Out National Evil

Thousands No Longer Fear Constipation

IN view of the menace to health, constipation, there is special significance in the discovery of Dr. Morse, scientific expert of the Royal College of Physicians, Edinburgh, and post graduate of famous European hospitals.

This doctor's personal research, lasting 18 years, resulted in the formula of Fruit-a-tives, which has had astonishing success in correcting constipation, indigestion, sick headaches and skin troubles, who are acid diseases such as Rheumatism. Try Fruit-a-tives yourself. 25c and 50c. At all druggists.

You can't go on for ever, you'll find.—Dr. Marigold's Prescriptions.

Award $843 Against Gray Coach Lines

Sarnia, Feb. 26 (CP)—Mrs. Dora McEwan yesterday was awarded $843 by an assize court jury in her $10,000 damage action against Gray Coach Lines, Ltd., William Irwin and Cuma Holland, of Sarnia. Mrs. McEwan was injured when the Gray Coach bous in which she was riding collided with the Nelson car, driven by Irwin, on the Toronto-Hamilton highway near Oakville in May, 131. Irwin's father and mother were both killed in the accident.

London now has 66 theatres, 19 music halls and more than 150 movie houses.

Some Russians Believe in God

Although the Soviet Government frowns upon religion and religious institutions these Russians in Manchuria continue the observance of their church festivals. This photograph, made in Harbin, Manchuria, shows a typical Russian parade, carrying religious emblems to commemorate the escape of a Russian colony from the slaughter of 1918, when Reds annihilated out their opponents. The ceremony is called the "Blessing of the Waters."

"Now, don't worry about me . . . I'm alright — I'll look after myself . . . If Molly would like you to stay another week, do so . . . Good-night, dear . . . Good-night."

Thirty years married and never parted for more than a day. Then came the time when Molly, who moved to Blankville last year, telephoned to ask her Mother to come and see the new grandson.

Of course, Mother went . . . but not without some misgiving about leaving Dad behind to look after himself . . . Finally Dad settled the matter by promising to telephone twice a week.

And so these semi-weekly Long Distance calls were more than ever like lover's calls . . . and both Dad and Mother looked forward to them with keen anticipation.

The cost . . . after 8.30 when night rates are in force . . . was less than Dad's weekly tobacco bill.

Low evening rates on "Anyone" (station-to-station) calls begin at 7 p.m. Night rates — lower still — begin at 8.30 p.m. Just give "Long Distance" the number you want . . . it speeds up the service.

THE BELL TELEPHONE COMPANY OF CANADA

JAS. A. COKERS
Manager

SIR ANDREW DUNCAN WEILDS PROBING KNIFE

Interesting Sidelights on Methods Employed to Gain End

WINS CONFIDENCE

Brings Both Sides Together to Amicable Talk Over Subject

Halifax, N. S. (By The Canadian Press)—Back in 1925, when dissension between operators and miners made fair personality to impair the usefulness of Nova Scotia's coal fields, a new provincial government looked about for a man to head a Royal Commission to investigate the industry's troubles. The choice fell on one of that considerable number of Scots who leave their native heath to take a hand in Empire development. He was Sir Andrew Rae Duncan had been brought, from London, by the Federal Law during the war; he had done invaluable service in the Department of Shipping.

He came out to Nova Scotia as outsider, quantity, as far as the province's own experience was concerned. But as the 1925 Coal Commission progressed, it was soon apparent that the man with the "Scots who stood for" no dissembling. It was in the following year, after the coal commission's report had been brought down that the Federal government, differing in political stripe from the provincial, brought him out again to head the Royal Commission on Maritime Claims. In 1929, when the Canadian Manufacturers' Association held its annual meeting in Halifax, he happened to be spending his health, and was made the guest of honor at the closing session. There he was considered myself a citizen of the Maritimes, he said, "but the warmth of your welcome makes me realize I am in fact a visitor."

When coal-mining troubles failed to agree on a wage contract last fall, it was to Sir Andrew that the provincial government called on again, to come over and look into the matter. The choice was hailed with satisfaction by company officials and members of the United Mine Workers. Not a dissenting voice was raised.

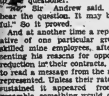
That investigation has just been completed, and again this province has had an example of the Duncan touch—unorthodox, perhaps, from the point of view of usual commission practice, but effective to the last degree.

Swears No Witnesses

Sir Andrew swears no witnesses. He relies on his own ability to get at the roots of a matter. He was trained as a barrister, but there is little of the formal legal manner about him. His observations are spotted with humor. Witnesses appearing before him tell their story, and, as likely as not, he concludes to the point they are driving at before they have made an end. He does not do not address him; the story must come from the men affected themselves.

He cannot be intimidated. At Sydney, on one occasion, a company official was going into the aspects which made a certain type of mining more expensive than another. A miner interrupted.

"Wait a minute," said the official, addressing himself directly to the questioner.



"Sir Andrew said, 'Let's hear the question. It may be useful.' So it proved.

And at another time a representative of one particular group of skilled mine employees, after presenting his reasons for opposing a reduction in their contracts, started to read a message from the men he represented. Unless their rates were maintained in accord, he said, a preamble, something would happen.

"That's a threat," said Sir Andrew. "I won't listen to it. Take that message back to them." And the witness promised he would.

So it is that "Sir Andrea" as they know him in Cape Breton, has become almost a legendary figure in the coal-fields.

Arbroath, Scotland, will raise 352 workers' houses to make room for new ones.

Don't put your watch to one side at twelve until you're had it examined. Maybe a mere little will make it go.

Watch repairing is our specialty.

We do repairs quickly, Guarantee results and ask reasonable prices always.

J. O. R. McCurdy
Phone 518 324 Front St.

NINE-YEAR-OLD OTTAWA BOY WINS CHATEAU LAURIER TROPHY

Teddy Turgeon, nine-year-old Ottawa dog driver, with his almost pure-bred police dog, Don, won the Chateau Laurier Cup awarded to the champion bcr or girl dog musher at Ottawa's Junior dog derby. Seventy-five youngsters with 150 dogs raced for the cup and prizes, the races being run on a half-mile track in full view of the spectators. The two pictures above show the winner with his canine friend, and a view of the finish of the race.

CENTRAL ONTARIO

Happenings in Various Centres of This Part of Province

Oshawa—Some form of birth control to prevent the increasing birth rate among unemployed parents was declared necessary by Charles Hunter, vice-president of the Ontario Safety League Association, speaking at the meeting last night. Children were being born to parents who were unable to afford them, he declared, and the costs were falling on the taxpayers who had saved up a little money. Some form of birth control is necessary," said the speaker.

Oshawa—William Wong, Chinese restaurant owner, narrowly escaped death last night when his car left the road and crashed into the cement work of the railway subway. Wong's car turned on its left side, which it was traveling and careened across the two guard rails separating the sidewalk from the road. One of the pipes of the twisted iron work shattered the windshield, passed through the spokes of the steering wheel and speared the back cushions of the front seat. Wong, who was alone, drew the driver sideways and prevented him from being impaled by the pipe.

Cobourg—Taxing of buses operating through the town and transporting passengers from Cobourg to other points in the corporation, also salary cuts for civic officials, were discussed at a meeting of the town council last evening and referred for further consideration until a later date.

Deputy-Reeve W. J. Corbett, in discussing the by-law to reduce the town license rates on taxis declared that the wholesale confectionery line operating through the town was hurting the local taxi men. He felt that the bus company should pay a fair to the town.

Reeve J. Delany proposed a cut in the salaries of town officials. The ringing of the town bell at 9 o'clock each morning was brought to office by a by-law.

WHITBY—An unusual thing happened for this time of the year on Saturday when the Fire Department was called to extinguish some grass fires. At 11.40 on Saturday morning a call was sent to the chief to get a tree near the creek on Nassau street field and the Deputy-Chief was called to put this blaze under control.

LONDON—Lieut. Thomas G. Gibson, Toronto, attached to Wortley barracks, was given a further adjournment with reversal of bail until March 18, when he appeared before Magistrate T. W. Scrandett in city police court today. Gibson is charged with criminal negligence following an automobile accident on the Wharncliffe road a few weeks ago when Miss Vera Webb, nurse was critically injured.

ORILLIA—Fear that Orillia's affairs may be plunged into chaos by an injunction declaring the town council illegal, and forbidding it to transact further business, has been aroused by the announcement that a petition demanding changes in the council had been filed this afternoon with the town clerk, Miss C. M. Johnston.

Permission to view the document was refused, but it was admitted that an injunction against the town was threatened unless the changes were made at once. "If will be dealt with at the next meeting of council," the clerk said.

CAMPBELLFORD—The Campbellford Flying Club go into new quarters this week, having rented the hall over J. A. Anderson's store on Tice street, formerly occupied by the local L.O.L. A meeting will be held some time this week to make arrangements for the club's future activities, but it has been decided to hold a dance in the hall on March 3.—Campbellford Herald

NAPANEE—William Young and Albert Thompson, the two youths from Bath who were remanded by Police Magistrate Graham a few days ago, came up for sentence on Monday morning. On a charge of theft of articles from a car Young was sentenced to nine months and terminate and eighteen months indeterminate in the Ontario Reformatory.

On a charge of breaking into a car, the property of Hugh McDonald, of Kingston, the accused was given one month, the sentence to run concurrently with the above sentence).

WHITBY—The Town of Whitby's share of the Provincial grants during this spring are none too helpful owing to the Dominion Government's unemployment policy which has meant a cut in all large expenditures for this year. It would appear from the estimates brought down last week that the Provincial Government's share will be considerably less than last year. Councillor Bell, who has been a member of the Board of Works for many years, stated that the Provincial Government's share will be considerably less than last year. Councillor Bell, who has been a member of the Board of Works for many years, stated that the Provincial Government's share will be considerably less than last year.

Deseronto — Changes in the weather recently, says the Deseronto Post, have helped create a mild epidemic of influenza in Deseronto and surrounding districts.

Napanee—Camps at Sac Sound were broken into a short time ago and several valuable effects were taken.

Cobourg—Following the spell of cold weather, ice dealers are now busy cutting ice and storing stocks for the coming season. The ice this year is reported to be of excellent quality.

Havelock—Indignation is expressed by one rate payer over the fact that fire equipment is in an allegedly marked state of disrepair. In a letter to the Havelock Standard, the rate payer claims fire engine room doors were frozen in, that the engines were frozen and that the siren could not be operated on account of a missing fuse out of the fuse box. The fire which occurred at the time was a small one.

Campbellford—The peddling of meat in small quantities has met with opposition by meat merchants of the town of Campbellford and at a special meeting of the council a by-law was passed which will make it impractice. It is felt by local butchers that the competition is unfair, as the regular meat markets have taxes to pay and the overhead expenses of an established business to meet. Although it is legal to sell meat in quantities of a quarter carcass and up, it is felt that the selling of meat from door to door is cutting into the established meat merchants' trade.

Bowmanville—M. A. James, veteran editor of the Canadian Statesman, was last night presented with his 50-year jewel by the local Sons of England Lodge when charter night was held. Mr. James, was represented by his son, Mayor Geo. W. James who received the jewel for him. Mr. James Sr. was a charter member of the lodge.

At a recent meeting the Cobourg town council passed a bylaw reducing license fees for taxi-cabs from $15 to $10 for the first car and from $10 for the second car to $5, and $5 for each additional car and, passed by-law amending bylaw governing duties of the caretaker of the Town Hall. Under the new by-law the town bell will be rung three times a day; 6 a.m., noon and 6 p.m.

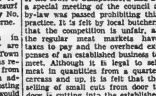
Cobourg—George T. Sweetlove, of Belleville and Victor J. Payne miraculously escaped injury when the truck in which they were riding was struck by another car this side of Grafton and turned over in the ditch last week.—Sentinel Star.

Lindsay barbers was also concluded by an armistice. Prices will remain at 35 cents for hair cut and 15 cents for shave.—Lindsay Post.

Havelock—Indignation is expressed by one rate payer over the fact that fire equipment is in an allegedly marked state of disrepair. In a letter to the Havelock Standard, the rate payer claims fire engine room doors were frozen in, that the engines were frozen and that the siren could not be operated on account of a missing fuse out of the fuse box. The fire which occurred at the time was a small one.

Cutting of ice on the ponds north of the town started yesterday with the ice only seven and eight inches thick. The board of health has warned users of ice against employing it for cooling beverages on account of the bacteria content of the ponds from which the ice is taken.

Bowmanville—M. A. James, veteran editor of the Canadian Statesman, was last night presented with his 50-year jewel by the local Sons of England Lodge when charter night was held. Mr. James, was represented by his son, Mayor Geo. W. James who received the jewel for him. Mr. James Sr. was a charter member of the lodge.



Napanee—Camps at Sac Sound were broken into a short time ago and several valuable effects were taken.

Cobourg—Following the spell of cold weather, ice dealers are now busy cutting ice and storing stocks for the coming season. The ice this year is reported to be of excellent quality.

Havelock—Indignation is expressed by one rate payer over the fact that fire equipment is in an allegedly marked state of disrepair. In a letter to the Havelock Standard, the rate payer claims fire engine room doors were frozen in, that the engines were frozen and that the siren could not be operated on account of a missing fuse out of the fuse box. The fire which occurred at the time was a small one.

Campbellford—The peddling of meat in small quantities has met with opposition by meat merchants of the town of Campbellford and at a special meeting of the council a by-law was passed which will make it impractice. It is felt by local butchers that the competition is unfair, as the regular meat markets have taxes to pay and the overhead expenses of an established business to meet. Although it is legal to sell meat in quantities of a quarter carcass and up, it is felt that the selling of meat from door to door is cutting into the established meat merchants' trade.

for COLDS
BUCKLEY'S MIXTURE
Is Canada's standard remedy. It counts all other cough and cold mixtures BETTER—that's why—and DIFFERENT. M-10
Acts Like a Flash
A SHILOH SUP PROPRIETOR

Ken Maynard appearing at the Capitol in "Branded Men", today and Saturday.

FALLS WHEN PRUNING TREE

T. H. Hinchcliffe, Sidney, Suffers Painful Injuries to Back

3rd Sidney—Several of the ladies from this line attended Aiken's Ladies Aid at the home of Mrs. Dagg, on Wednesday last. There was a large attendance as the ones in last year's contest put up a chicken dinner for the winners.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Westover called on Mrs. Jack McPherson Sunday afternoon.

Mr. T. A. Hinchcliffe had the misfortune to fall a short distance while pruning an apple tree on Saturday. He is confined to his bed with a bruised back. Dr. Crook was called but stated no bones were broken.

Mr. David Sutherland returned to his home on Saturday after spending a few days with relatives at Odessa.

Miss Phyllis May is spending a week with her aunt, Mrs. Selburne Wood.

Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Hermon entertained several of their friends on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Aikens spent an evening visiting with Mr. Frank Aikens and family.

Mr. John R. Pound and son Roy called on friends on this line on Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Everett Rubbie had been confined to her home for the last two weeks with the grippe in her fingers.

Mr. Everett Stubbie is able to be out again after his recent serious illness.

Toronto Thrilled By Beauty and Grace of Big Ice Spectacle

Toronto Globe

Floodlights trained on it from a battery of cross fires, rilled it by vast tiers of thrilled spectators; with myriad colors streaming in a fairy princess, mickey mouse, a mechanical doll, silver Indian girls, Chinese lanterns, polar bears, clowns and brave echoing in the vastnesses of the Arena Gardens, Toronto, such was the opening night of the Toronto Skating Club's silver anniversary carnival. "Kaleidoscope" it was called, and kaleidoscope it was in the word, and the capacity audience delighted in every beautiful ballet, every lovely lady-like, inevitable dexterous solo and every thrilling attempt at a feat of captivating little fairies.

Green fir, mistletoe, shining and inviting, soon boasted strange fantastic patterns as silver skates wined their magical way over it. In the various brilliant events of the program, which inevitably followed the colored lights were arranged about the fir trees. Around the centre of the Gardens, the Toronto Skating Club's orchestra, led with C. Wilson Hamblin as conductor, and the band of the Irish Regiment, under Bandmaster Capt. E. H. Chapman, were arranged in mass formation and produced a magnificent volume of a high order.

European Stars Acclaimed.

Rousing welcomes were accorded the Canadian-born well-known European skaters who have been active at the Olympic Games in Lake Placid and who were performing in Toronto. Montreal. As they appeared on the ice, the audience followed, joined in the cheers and applause, and their last reception was the most wildly critical but admiring interest. England's representative, Miss Magdalene Colledge, was first presented, did in a white frock, gave a magnificent solo exhibition of graceful skating with her natural grace and simplicity. Pulka, Austria's champion for Austria lifted and laughed through the most exacting figures and won tremendous applause, and the Swedish representative, Virt-Anne Hulin, in a black velvet costume with cheers and applause, and their last reception was the most wildly critical but admiring interest. England's representative, Miss Magdalene Colledge, was first presented, did in a white frock, gave a magnificent solo exhibition of graceful skating with her natural grace and simplicity. Pulka, Austria's champion for Austria lifted and laughed through the most exacting figures and won tremendous applause, and the Swedish representative, Virt-Anne Hulin, in a black velvet costume with cheers and applause, and their last reception was the most wildly critical but admiring interest.

Spectacular pairs were given by visitors from Hungary, Laszlo Szollo and Miss Rotter, and Reuben Munns a great ovation for their concluding number. Ernest Baier of Germany and Karl Schafer of Austria also contributed brilliant solos.

Kingston—Crying babies are the basis of a case to come before Police Magistrate Agnew here today. Claim for an injunction to restrain the Kingston Infants' Home from erecting an extension will be up for decision. The injunction is sought by a number of citizens residents near the home, who claim the crying of the babies constitutes a nuisance and is injurious to health.

Top Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Son Made her Nervous

Mother . . . you owe it to the children to relieve those excruciating pains that make you nervous. Take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Tablets.

SCREEN ATTRACTIONS

Present and Prospective

Previews and Reviews of Current Offerings at Belleville Theatres

At The Belle

"THE BIG GAMBLE"

EXCITING ROMANTIC DRAMA

Chevalier Revival Offering

Those who would escape from the routine and commonplace for an hour and a half amidst scenes sometimes weird adventure in the shadow of death can do so by seeing Bill Boyd and Dorothy Sebastian in "The Big Gamble" which is the feature offering at the Belle today and Saturday, matinee daily, too.

The story deals with a young fellow who sells his life for an insurance policy which will square his debts when he is gone and leave a big profit from the deal protects his interests by marrying what is supposed to be a dead corpse to another of his victims —— a girl who has put herself into his hands to save her brother.

Then a man who is supposed to be dead finds that he is human and before he realizes it, he is in love with his beautiful young wife. With something to live for, he revolts against the grafter combine and his efforts to escape the trap provide a dramatic conflict as exciting as any ever brought to the screen.

The supporting cast of exemplary merit includes Warner Oland, Natalie Moorhead, Rita June, James Gleason, Zasu Pitts, June MacCoy and William Collier Junior.

Radio's Ace comedian Eddie Cantor, appears on the same program in a clever harmony and mooloose vehicle titled "Whoopee Frolic", Screen Snapshots, with its interesting and entertaining peeps into the private and professional lives of favorite screen stars, the popular Belle Sound News, and the closing chapter of the thrilling adventure story, "The Vanishing Legion", will also be exhibited.

Chevalier Revival Offering

The revival offering at the Belle tonight, which will be exhibited immediately after the final performance, and which patrons are invited to remain, at no extra charge, will introduce the popular musical comedy star, Maurice Chevalier, with Maurice Chevalier, Claudette Colbert and Miriam Hopkins in the leading roles.

At The Capitol

"BRANDED MEN" IS THRILLING WESTERN

In a western story that presents him as the shortest of a tough cowtown in the days of the open range Ken Maynard, Tiffany Productions' star, delivers a fast and thrilling picture in "Branded Men" now on the bill at the Capitol Theatre, (last Saturday).

Spectators make no secret of the extent to which they enjoy these western dramas. Sophisticated parlor plays dealing in problems of behaviorism, dress clothes, million dollar mansions and champagne orgies are less in favor it seems and these westerns are coming into their own in popular favor.

Ken is seen as one of a trio of pals who, after their horses are stolen, volunteer to fill the temporarily vacated office of sheriff in a town unofficially ruled by a gambler and his clique of henchmen who have in their clutches the brother of a girl Ken is interested in and whom they are trying to use in their rustling activities.

Ken outwits, outsmarts and outshoots the rustlers rescuing the boy and winning the girl, all before an hour's thrilling action entertainment has been unreeled on the screen.

June Clyde is the leading lady, with the roles of Ken's two pals filled by Billy Bletcher and Irving Bacon, comedians who add numbers of laughs to the picture.

"MEN IN HER LIFE" NEXT AT CAPITOL

Charles Bickford has no superficial desire to play a refined character on the screen.

Bickford, who will be seen with Lois Moran in "Men in Her Life", which commences at the Capitol on Monday for three days, admits that he prefers to continue playing the hard boiled characters he has made famous.

"I've been a thug on both stage and screen for a number of years" said Bickford, "and I know my racket! I couldn't start playing a soft voiced, mild mannered hero at this stage in the game, No, Bickford will continue being the "diamond in the rough" for some time to come!"

In "Men In Her Life," the redhaired actor has a typical Bickford role. He plays an underworld chief who goes to Europe to get a continental background and learn to be a gent." In France he meets lovely Lois Moran, who agrees to give him the desired polish.

Victor Varconi, Dorothy Sillaway, Oscar Apfel and Barbara Weeks have other leading roles in "Men In Her Life," which was directed by William Beaudine for Warner Fabian novel of modern life and morals.

A Tonic For Women

Toronto, Ont.—"Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription was so helpful to me that I can recommend it to any woman or girl as a tonic to relieve distress," says Mrs. Minnie Dwyer, 182 George St. "I had gotten into a very bad state of health, was very weak and nervous, would have to be in bed several days each month and suffered all kinds of distress, but Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription corrected all this trouble, built me up and I have never suffered in that way since. There is no doubt about its medicine strengthening the organs of Motherhood." All druggists. Write to Dr. Pierce's Clinic in Buffalo, N. Y. for free confidential medical advice.

Keep vision keen
with EDISON MAZDA LAMPS

Listen to General Electric Radio every Tuesday evening, 8 p.m. E.S.T. coast to coast network.

DON'T handicap your eyes with inadequate lighting. Wherever you work or read — light up with plenty of Edison Mazda Lamps. They give the soft well-diffused light that keeps vision keen.

MADE IN CANADA

CANADIAN GENERAL ELECTRIC CO. LIMITED

L-5f

WALKER HARDWARE COMPANY, LIMITED
BELLEVILLE
248 FRONT ST. PHONE 163

ST. CHARLES MOTOR Company
BELLEVILLE
343 FRONT ST. PHONE 232

JOHN LEWIS COMPANY
BELLEVILLE
265 FRONT ST. PHONE 2280

OLIPHANT ELECTRIC & HARDWARE
BELLEVILLE
189A FRONT ST. PHONE 1209J

Commissioner Forsees Early Closing of Inquiry into $50,000 Aird Deal

Rules Out Slaght Probe of Price Paid For Madawaska

REGRETS INNUENDOS

Ferguson Promises Aid to Project, Probe Evidence Indicates

Toronto, Feb. 26—After a day devoted largely to introduction of documents and correspondence from the Hydro Commission files reviewing the salient features of the transaction, and diligently adhering to the whereabouts of missing papers once in the files of Mr. Aird, Jr., the opening session of the royal commission enquiry into the Ontario Hydro Commission's payment of $50,000 to Mr. Aird, early this afternoon with a verbal skirmish between the commissioner, Mr. Justice Middleton, and Colonel J. Slaght, K.C.

It was provoked when Mr. Slaght appearing for "interested parties" sought to question F. A. Gaby, chief engineer for the Hydro Electric Commission of Ontario, as to the possibility that the Hydro had paid as "consultants" the or "bonuses" to Mr. Aird or to Mr. J. O'Brien properties on the Madawaska and Mississippi Rivers. If this could be shown, Mr. Slaght argued, he would have a bearing on the propriety or otherwise of paying Mr. Aird for his preparatory investigations and negotiations and for stepping aside to permit the commission to negotiate directly with the O'Briens.

Despite earnest argument from Mr. Slaght, His Lordship ruled that the question of a good or bad bargain was not before the court, and that in any event there was nothing to show that the commission had relied upon Mr. Aird's alleged representations in arriving at a satisfactory figure. Mr. Aird's services were largely to the O'Briens, he suggested, and the O'Briens indicated at the outset that Aird be recompensed in the event of the negotiations proving successful.

Missing Documents

Considerable mystification and not a little furore was caused when it developed that yesterday's sessions that all of the correspondence, memoranda and other documents accumulated by Mr. Aird during the two and a half years he was negotiating in regard to the Madawaska properties had disappeared possibly into the waste baket of the McKinnon building. Mr. Aird said he could not find the papers in his own files and offered to let them search if they might have been left in the McKinnon building, when Mr. Aird moved out at the conclusion of his negotiations in May, and thrown out together with a quantity of other left-behind papers.

A small file was produced, however, from the office of Peter White, K.C., covering certain letters written at one stage of the negotiations by Mr. Aird to Mr. White. The letters were featured by an optimistic tone, and a statement that J. H. Black, a relative by marriage of Mr. Aird had been assured by ex-Premier Ferguson, while he was still in office, that he would "do all in his power" to assist consummation of the negotiations then being promoted by Mr. Aird.

For the present, it was intimated, the enquiry will refer exclusively to the payment to Mr. Aird, in the expectation of concluding this phase of the investigation that Hydro matters before the legislative session ends. The inquiry as to the purchase of the Dennison Power and Transmission Company assets and facilities, also requested of Commissioner Middleton, will not be undertaken until a report on the Aird matter has been completed.

Later in the day, His Lordship let it be known that Premier Henry had requested him to deal first with the Madawaska phase of the inquiry, and if possible to complete his report on this matter in time for its submission to the Legislature before the session closed. He believed that this could be done, adding that he felt the inquiry would be less complicated and lengthy than was generally believed.

Negotiations in 1926

The first witness to be called, Mr. Aird told Mr. Tilley that he had "first come into the matter" of the negotiations for the Hydro Commission's purchase of the Madawaska properties, or power therefrom, in the latter part of 1926 or early 1927. Associated with him in the project, he said, were R. W. Millard, his partner in the "engineering, promotion and accounting" firm of Millard, Aird, and a Mr. Kerry (J. G. G. Kerry) of the engineering firm of Kerry-Chase. There was no written agreement with Kerry, he said, but he and Millard regarded him as an associate in a joint effort.

WEATHER HALTS PLAN

Daytona Beach, Fla., Feb. 26.—Rain fell yesterday, and forced Sir Malcolm Campbell to postpone attempts to break his own newly established world's automobile speed record over distances of one kilometre, one mile and five kilometres. If weather and beach conditions are suitable today he will consider further trials. If not, he plans to ship his huge Blueibird racing car back to England and make no further attempts this year.

BISHOP LYONS

Here is a reproduction from a recent portrait of Bishop Lyons of Ontario, who was elected recently to the seat vacated by Bishop Seager, who went to the Diocese of Huron.

PLANS RAID ON PROVINCE

Said to Have Ordered White Russians to Conduct Attack

MOSCOW, Feb. 26—A Tass (Russian) news agency despatch from Pekin, dated Feb. 23 and published here yesterday, reported information from sources describing "implicit confidence" that General Kremin, a White Guard leader at Harbin, had been ordered by the Japanese to form a White Guard regiment to invade the Soviet Russian Province of Primor, on the Pacific, of which Vladivostok is the chief city.

The despatch charged that the Japanese troops planned a simultaneous attack on Trans-Baikal territory, bordering on Manchuria, which is the eastern terminus of the Chinese Eastern Railway.

The Japanese have determined, the despatch added, to develop the White Guard regiment into a full army corps if the movement against Primor is successful.

Organization of the White Guard force was said to be under way at the area of Mukden. The despatch said the work was being carried on with utmost secrecy, under a pretext of a lumbering enterprise through a Harbin newspaper.

"OLD FRED" PASSES ON

High Commissioner's 39-Year-Old Steed Found Dead in Stall

Kempville, Feb. 26.—Old Fred is dead.

Kempville's oldest horse—for 39 years a fixture in the fortunes of the Ferguson family—is sleeping his last long sleep.

Yesterday morning they found him on the floor of his stall, homely old head turned toward the big square window, his favorite perch, and among whose MacIlroah rows they buried him this afternoon.

Tonight his age-worn halter hangs in its accustomed spot and his oat box is empty, and no spattering lantern gleams from the stable entrance as song has been the custom.

Grenville's curving roads are to know him no more. Kempville town can no longer anticipate the old boy's jingling appearance between the red cutter shafts on the first snowfall of winter. And no frantic stable board pounding; born of a mischievous make-up, will ever again drag Aid Moore out of bed and send him scuttling down the driveway to teach "the darn old fool" a thing or two.

Already a cablegram has flashed forth to Old London where the Canadian High Commissioner sits as buyr. Fred's finger on the pulse of the Empire is dead.

"Old Fred is dead."

Plans are being made to have four small speedy land planes stored in the United States navy airship Akron.

Bad Constipation And Sick Headaches Ended By Vegetable Pills

Sick Headaches and Indigestion. Mr. H. writes: "It was a red-letter day for me when a friend recommended Carter's Little Liver Pills. Results have been marvelous."

Because they are PURELY VEGETABLE, a gentle, effective tonic is both liver and bowels. Dr. Carter's Little Liver Pills are without equal for correcting Acidity, Biliousness, Poor Complexion and Indigestion. 25c. & 75c. at pkg. Ask for Carter's by NAME.

ELLIOTT AND GASTLE GIVEN PRISON TERMS

Former Seed Merchant Sentenced to Serve Five Years

OUT TWO HOURS

Guilty of Arson is Verdict Returned in Fire Hearing.

Barrie, Feb. 26.—Found guilty of setting fire to the Palmer House at Washaabmene in December, 1930, Robert J. Elliott, former local feed merchant, was sentenced to five years in Portsmouth Penitentiary, and his cousin, Gordon K. Gastle, Carlyle chauffeur, to three years in the same institution, by Mr. Justice Garrow in Assize Court last evening, after a four-days' hearing.

Several dozen of spectators were present as the jury filed in at 5.53 p.m., two hours and thirteen minutes after they had been instructed to bring in a verdict. The verdict of guilty came as a surprise to many spectators.

Both Elliott and Gastle were acquitted of the murder of Mrs. Elizabeth Hiney, Medonte business woman, when Mr. Justice Jeffrey took the case away from the jury at the Fall Assizes last November. Their sentences on the arson charge will start from the time of their arrest on March 13 last year, since they remained in the county jail here until they were granted bail recently.

The Crown had completed its evidence Wednesday an dnone was offered by the defense. W. Bell, K.C., began his address to the jury Thursday morning, after Sir Alfred Morine had waived the right to speak first, in view of the fact that the defense did not call any witnesses.

Defense counsel argued that the case rested upon the evidence given by Charles Stewart, who was reprimanded for evading questions and "joking", on the stand. Mr. Bell charged that Stewart had spread tales regarding the fire that resulted in police securing a signed statement from him implicating Elliott, "Yet when called upon to verify his statement," said Mr. Bell, "the witness admitted he had probably stretched the truth."

Sir Alfred Morine said Elliott, Gastle and Mrs. Hiney the owner of the hotel, had planned to burn it to obtain the insurance. While Elliott was not on the scene at the time of the fire, he was, nevertheless, equally guilty, it was contended, since Gastle was only "his tool" in carrying out of the plans.

"If you are to believe the Crown's evidence, these two men wilfully set fire, or caused to be set, fire that destroyed the Palmer House," said the Judge, in his charge to the jury of almost two hours. "They are both charged with this offence. There is little evidence that Elliott was on the scene, and certainly none that he was seen there during the fire. There is no evidence that the fire was set by Gastle or by Mrs. Hiney, in pursuance with a scheme by which Elliott was a party. If you find there was any arrangement whereby the building was destroyed, it does not necessarily follow that because Elliott was not on the spot he did not have anything to do with the fire. If you find the building was fired by Gastle, then you might as well find Elliott guilty also.

Evidence Carefully Weighed

"The Crown undertakes to establish what it alleges to be true," continued the Judge, "that the fire took place by an act and deed of Gastle at the instigation of Elliott. You are trying them on the single charge of arson, and are not concerned with the relationship between Elliott and Mrs. Hiney, except where it points to his dominating power over her.

"You are not trying Elliott, and certainly not Gastle, on the extraordinary burning carried on in Barrie, as related by the witness Stewart. You are not trying them only on whether or not the building was burned by a deliberate act. The statement of Stewart did not implicate Gastle, and cannot be held against him.

"Of importance, in my view, is the fact that Stewart did at one time make a statement, in writing to Napoleon Bringer, to the effect that Elliott had suggested to him such plans as the Crown suggests existed between Elliott and Mrs. Hiney. The importance of it is whether or not you feel justified in accepting the statement he made on a former occasion as evidence upon which you can safely act."

Pathway For Little Children is Urge

Toronto, Feb. 26 (CP)—Rev. W. A. Cameron, minister of Yorkminster Baptist Church, Toronto, who officiated some years ago in St. Thomas at the wedding of Leopold Macaulay, tonight attended the dinner of the Ontario Good Roads Association convention here beside Hon. Leopold Macaulay, Provincial Minister of Highways.

Mr. Cameron expressed hope that pathways would eventually be built along the highways. He suggested construction of "a way for little children and old men and pedestrians, when Mr. Macaulay has more money at his disposal."

Greta Garbo and Ramon Novarro, featured with Lionel Barrymore and Lewis Stone in "Mata Hari," a peing at the Belle, Monday.

Restore the Merit to Merit System Bennett Objective

Hidden Hand Controlling Civil Service Appointments

MUST BE STOPPED

Ottawa, Feb. 26—Fifteen members of the Commons participated last night in a free-for-all debate on the Dagnone motion which would effect a partial return to political patronage and the House finally sent the bill to the Special Committee previously named. The reference was made on motion of Hon. Hugh Guthrie Minister of Justice.

The evening's debate was productive of announcement from the Prime Minister that the Government proposes revision of the Civil Service Act and perhaps a reorganization of the Civil Service Commission as it at present exists. Mr. Bennett also cited cases where he thought the so-called merit system had resulted in injustice.

"Matters such as that have brought suspicion and distrust to the minds of the people concerning the Commission and have necessitated action being taken," said the Prime Minister.

"The Government has concluded it owes a duty to the merit system to see that the factors which determine merit are factors not under the control of a hidden hand which operates through an official drawing an insignificant compensation and with power to determine the life or death officially of applicants for positions. I do not think reason the government asks the bill be referred to a committee so that matters may be considered.

Supporting the bill Dr. Peter McGibbon (Conservative Muskoka) who was instrumental in the removal for cutlment of the Civil Service Commission's powers declared that the situation in the Civil Service was worse in respect of the impending 10 per cent. salary cut "disgusted" him. What man he asked was making the money today he made a few years back? And he protested at the "impudence" of some of the communications he said sent to him by civil servants.

Mr. Earle Spafford

IMPERIAL TOBACCO DIRECTOR ADVANCED TO VICE-PRESIDENCY

Earle Spafford, who has been a director of the Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada, Limited, since January 1st, 1931, has been elected vice-president of the company.

Prior to his association with the Imperial Tobacco Company, he was vice-president and director of the Puckett Tobacco Company, Limited, Hamilton, Ont.

Mr. Spafford was born at Lennoxville, P.Q., and educated at Bishop's College School and McGill University. From 1919 to 1921, he was associated with the Tobacco Products Corporation of Canada, Limited, vice-president and, later, becoming its president. In 1922, when the Tobacco Products Corporation amalgamated with the Tuckett Tobacco Company, Limited, Mr. Spafford was made vice-president and director in charge of sales, and in January 1931, the Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada, Limited, announced his appointment as a director of that company and he moved to Montreal.

During the course of his career, Mr. Spafford has made boats of friends, not only in Montreal and Ontario, but in all sections of the Dominion and, today, these friends are heartily congratulating him upon his advancement and are wishing him continued success in this new and enlarged sphere of activity.

FORM CANADIAN COMPANY

Toronto, Feb. 26 (CP).—Formation of a Canadian subsidiary of the Nestle-Lemur Company of New York and commencement of manufacturing in Toronto of the company's products for Canadian and exports markets was announced last night by the Toronto Industrial Commission.

PROSPERITY AND NORMAL TIMES

Most of us are old enough to remember when it was hard times all the time. Hard times are normal. Our fathers before us never lived in easy times. Life is a battle, not a picnic. We get a fleeting taste of prosperity now in a while, but permanent prosperity is simply baloney, that you get on the radio during political campaigns. We must face things as they are and go to work. There are people who reach for the paper in the morning to see if good times are coming back. They want to see what the government is going to do for them. They think the later is Santa Clause. Let us all get down to real business and real work—Strathroy Age-Dispatch.

MRS. EVA McLEAN DIES AT TRENTON

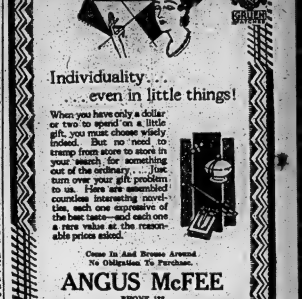
Mrs. Emily Barager, Aged Resident, Also Passes

Trenton, Feb. 26 (Special) —Mrs. Eva McLean, aged 57 years, passed away yesterday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Napoleon Chesnland, of Hawley Street, Trenton. She had been ill for some time and moved from her home in Oshawa to Trenton recently. Mrs. McLean was prominent in social work in Oshawa, belonging to the Ladies' League of that city. Her husband, the late James McLean, was a former business man of this town, moving to Oshawa some years ago. She is survived by three children, Josephine, Anna, Leo; three brothers, Henry, Napoleon and William Chesnard, all of Trenton; two sisters, Miss Emma Chesnard, and Mrs. Napoleon St. Onge.

Funeral services will be held on Saturday morning at St. Peter-in-Chains church, interment to take place at the Catholic cemetery in Trenton.

Mrs. Emily Barrager, aged 84 years, passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George Rosebush at Henry Street, Trenton, on Wednesday. She was born and lived in Port Hope, then moved to Brighton, where she lived until last Fall when she came to Trenton to live with her daughter. She is survived by a son, Germain of Cobourg; two daughters, Mrs. Ida Green, all of St. Ola, and Mrs. Rosebush, of Trenton.

The funeral services were held at the home of her daughter in Trenton, then proceeded to St. Ola for interment.



HALLOWAY W.M.S.

Halloway, Feb. 26.—The W.M.S. meeting at the church was held on Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 17th, Dinner was served to twenty-one visitors and members. Mrs. Bowerman opened opened the meeting with hymn 240 "Jesus Shall Reign" and the Apostles' Creed was repeated. The scripture lesson was read and hymn 346 was sung, followed by prayer by Mrs. Bowerman. Vera Rose gave a reading "Trailing Arbutus" and Mrs. Ed. Wilson gave a reading by Mrs. F. Eggleton "The Early Days of Methodism."

Mrs. Mutton closed the meeting with prayer.

Alberta's production of creamery butter last year totalled approximately 22,650,000 pounds and of cheese about 1,000,000 pounds.

The silk of spiders webs is used in most scientific instruments where infinitesimal but accurate measurements are required.

Individuality . . .
. . . even in little things!

When you have only a dollar or two to spend on a little gift, you must choose wisely indeed. But no need to tramp from store to store in your search for something out of the ordinary . . . just turn over your gift problem to us. Here are assembled countless interesting novelties, each one expressive of the best taste—and each one a rare value at the reasonable prices asked.

Come In And Browse Around
No Obligation To Purchase.

ANGUS McFEE
PHONE 188

THE SHOPPING TOUR OF Rambhai Barni

Her name is Rambhai Barni, and her husband is the only absolute monarch left in the world. She has more jewels than the sky has stars, and nothing is unattainable to her if money will buy it.

But even Rambhai Barni can't find in Siam all the luxuries that her feminine heart delights in. And when she came to this Country last spring she had the pleasure of a real Canadian shopping trip. . . from which she returned with seventy-eight pairs of Canadian silk stockings and fifty-five pairs of Canadian kid gloves.

How much more fortunate the Canadian woman is! She doesn't have to buy a year's supply of stockings. . . or of anything else. . . all at once. She buys only as she needs or wishes, confident that the best the entire world can produce is offered for her choice today, tomorrow, or next month.

And advertising is her buying guide. Through advertising she learns what is new, smart, fashionable. Through advertising she discovers where her money can be spent most advantageously. Advertising is a real and useful influence in her life. THERE'S SOMETHING IN THE ADVERTISEMENTS TODAY TO INTEREST YOU. READ THEM.

The Dime-a-Dance Girl

By Joan Clayton

When they wandered from the debris in the dining room to the merry living room, she turned to the window and stared down at the noisy street. Children were playing and screaming there while mothers and fathers sat wearily on the stoops, fanning themselves with newspapers they would later toss into the gutter. Ellen could not distinguish Mike from the distance but she could hear his boastful voice. She felt an inward pang, what was to become of him, a child who had no playground but the street.

"Gosh, it's simply scorching!" breathed Molly's voice in her ear. "I was hoping we'd have a storm. But you look cool enough."

Ellen turned from the window, "I don't believe it will ever rain again. There's not even heat lightning."

"Why don't we all go driving?" suggested Steven, laying aside his cigar.

"You and Ellen go." Molly said with naive haste, "I'd love it but I've promised to drop in on a neighbor for a few minutes. Mrs. Clancy downstairs."

Her, stretched at full length on the couch, had lapsed into somnolence but when Steven spoke he roused.

"Myra and I'll go along," he announced, yawning. "I've never ridden in a limousine and I don't want to miss the chance."

Greenhall to his own surprise said he did not accompany Ellen and Steven on the drive. He did not understand entirely how it happened that instead he took Myra to a neighborhood movie theatre. Ellen could have told him. As usual, Molly had managed.

The girl's cheeks were burning with the heavy air unstirred up Pine street and turned toward the Heights. Steven had fallen silent and she wondered with a fever of nervousness what he was thinking of all this. Certainly he must have seen that the ride had been deliberately arranged by Molly.

There was a curious light in the world, more elusive than moonlight and yet like moonlight. Gray buildings seemed to come alive with the soft light. It lay along the street in pools. Not a breath of wind stirred and the dusty trees stood motionless as painted trees.

They drove on to Brooklyn Heights. The limousine was parked and the chauffeur wandered away. Reflected in the star-sown waterfront, lower Manhattan with its tall buildings and lighted windows became unreal as a dream. A beautiful, fanciful panorama massed like the towering cities in the clouds so that at any moment one might expect the whole to float away.

The odors though were close and real. The good sharp smell of water and grass; the friendly smell of Steven's cigar; the indefinable, mysterious smell of the night itself. There were the mournful sounds of steamboat whistles and the gentle lapping of water. There were the low voices of lovers whispering on hidden benches.

Gradually there stole over Ellen a sense of luxury and well being. She had been unhappy, almost hysterically reluctant to go out alone with Steven, apprehensive lest he should say or her what she so ardently desired should go unsaid. Now those vague troubling fears and apprehensions were lost as were her fears of the ultimate destination of her family. It was enough to sit back among soft cushions and to drink in the magic beauty of the evening.

"It's not true, is it?" she asked herself dreamily as she stared out across the water, "that anything could be so lovely and still be true."

"That's rather a silly philosophy don't you think?"

"Oh, I don't know." Her laugh in the darkness was uncertain. She had been entirely at ease. Now she wondered if she had been silly and childish and immature. She was never quite sure of herself when she was with him.

It was hard to forget that he was Steven Barclay, owner of Barclay's Department Store, hard to forget that he was a far richer and wiser than she—a great deal older. How presumptuous Molly must have been to imagine that he was sentimentally interested in her. He was Steven Barclay!

But if she could have read Barclay's thoughts she would have known that she was wrong. He, too, was self-conscious. It was only that age had taught him to hide his feelings. He had always taken what he wanted from the world. Indeed what he wanted had come to him so easily that he was a little contemptuous of the world and the ease of conquering it. Now as his mood of self-consciousness increased he grew vaguer and vaguer that the desire which had obsessed him when he first saw Ellen, was the young girl at his side would, in the end, fail of fulfillment.

They were silent again. Ellen was entirely unprepared when Steven leaned forward and took her hands.

"Look at me, Ellen," he bade her in a strange, breathless voice.

As she obeyed she knew what was coming. She checked a wild impulse to leap from the car, to run away and hide in the night, an impulse of pure panic. Instead she sat quietly, her cold slim hands in his.

"I suppose you've guessed what I mean to say," Barclay began, plunging desperately because his carefully rehearsed phrases had failed.

"Why should I have guessed?" she asked in a trembling voice.

"I intended to wait," he went on. "Perhaps it would have been better to wait but I cannot—I cannot! Let me give you the lovely things of life, my dear. Let me prove to you that some of them may be true?"

It occurred to him, even as he was speaking, that she might misunderstand him. So he said slumberly, "I want you to marry me."

Ellen tried to speak but he stopped her.

"Don't answer. I don't want your answer until you hear many things you should hear. You must first see the drawbacks and they are many. For one thing I'm years older than you. I've done all the things you have never done and probably long to do, and I've found many of them tiresome and boring. For another—there's that unfortunate divorce of mine—"

"Don't go on please," she begged.

"You mean there is no use going on? You mean that there is someone else?"

He attempted to make his tone light, but anguish gripped him and he turned away. He had not known until then how she could make him suffer, a young girl of whose very existence he had been unaware two weeks before.

"No. I don't mean that exactly," Ellen said feebly. "I'm not engaged to anyone if that's what you're asking.

At the moment she was too confused to know exactly what she was saying.

How easy everything would be if only she could say the one word—Yes. Then Ellen and Mike and Myra—what things she could do for them as Mrs. Steven Barclay.

Had she the right to fail them all to pursue a will-o'-the-wisp?

CHAPTER XIX

Ellen blushed under his coquetry and pretense as she told Steven how proud he had made her. She tried to make him understand how much she liked him, at the same time explaining that she did not love him. She was more successful than she had hoped to be. She should, of course, have explained that she was already hopelessly in love with Larry Harrowgate.

Pride, backed by a desire to hurt him as little as possible, forbade that.

Because she had not told him Steven felt he had yet a chance to win her. He fancied that he had frightened her by being premature, by ruining his suit. Ellen was to blame for that. All unconsciously, she had hardened his determination to make her his wife.

The girl was pleased and grateful that he had made her refusal so easy.

"Will you do me one favour?" he asked.

"I'll be glad to."

"Then call me Steven."

"Steven," she said obediently, flushing, "Steven, Steven—it sounds odd for me to be saying that."

"It sounds rather nice to me," he answered heartily.

They parted as friends. Ellen would have preferred that they should see each other no more, but such a suggestion was impossible just as it was equally impossible to speak to him of the gossip at the store. The inferences would be too plain. The one step to protect her from idle gossip would be obvious.

As she said good night Ellen determined that in the morning she would resign her position at the store and seek another. In this manner she would obviate the possibility of encountering him each day. Another job would carry her out of the reach of vengeful tongues. Another job was the solution. She must find another job.

She was not surprised to find Molly up and about. At the sound of her key in the door Molly appeared, a cold duck sandwich in each hand and a pitcher of water, an offer which was refused, then accepted hastily when Ellen saw the chair to demand an account of the drive.

Ellen flung off her hat. "I'm too tired to talk," she said, moving toward the bathroom. Molly had suspend except that Mr. Barclay asked me to marry him."

"Oh, Ellen! You call that nothing!"

"And I refused him," Ellen stated with serene finality.

Molly's face was almost comic in its abrupt transition from delight to complete dismay.

"Ellen, you didn't!"

"I did," she very tired. To have refused Steven had been hard enough in that first moment of self-recapitulation of that refusal? How could she bear to go back to the hysterical reproaches? But Molly remained unexpectedly calm.

"Ellen, you don't love him, and you love him," she said quietly, "you did the right thing."

The desperate move on which Molly had risked everything was successful. Ellen's surprise mastered her fatigue.

"Molly dear! Then you do think I'm right?"

"Of course, my darling," said Molly, as she relinquished her sandwich and came toward her daughter.

She drew Ellen into her arms, murmuring that now she was no longer a little girl and must decide her own problems. She was so calm and reasonable that Ellen felt reassured. Strangely enough, she felt her own attitude veering darkly. She added, "I shouldn't have said that. I really think he rushed matters because he thought we got desperately needed a lift. Myra, he was wonderful, wonderful! But I don't want to marry him."

"You won't be seeing him any more then?"

"Oh, I'll be seeing him.'

There was a silence in the dim bedroom where only one light burned. Pale moonlight filtered through an open window. In it, patches on the scarred floor and stone on the big old-fashioned bed with one grave-eyed girl against its pillows and the other at her feet.

"I know."

"It would have been so much easier for all of us," Molly added.

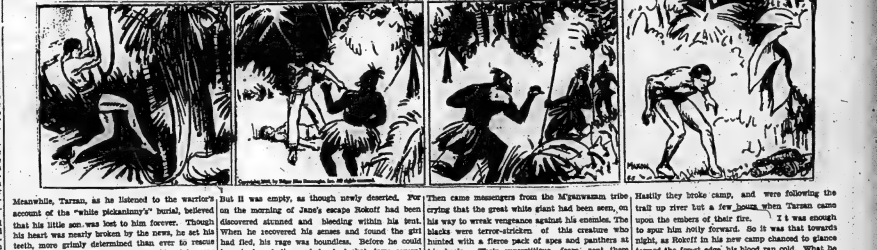
Ellen began to feel selfish. She could not know, as Molly herself scarcely knew, that her object in laying a deep and subtle trap when Ellen went into the bedroom, that was unsure of herself and her wisdom.

Myra was in bed with a book on her knees. She looked up and smiled a welcome but she had determined to let Ellen alone and not ask questions.

Ellen, however, wanted a confidante. She came over to the bed, removed the book from Myra's hands and sat down.

"Steven Barclay asked me to marry him," she said abruptly. "So soon, Ellen!"

"Too soon,"



Ellen answered

(TO BE CONTINUED).

Radio Features

FRIDAY FEATURES

4.15—The adio Guild—CKGW.
4.45—The Curtis Institute—CFRB.
5.00—Twilight Voices—WTAM.
5.10—Newscast—CFRB.
5.45—Russ Columbo Orch.—CKGW.
6.00—Waldorf Orch.—CKGW.
6.00—John Kelvin, tenor—CFRB.
6.30—Musical Vagabonds—WTAM.
6.30—Wm. Head, Genera—CKGW.
6.45—Vaughn de Leath—CFRB.
6.45—The Stebbins Boys—WBEN.
7.00—Amos 'n' Andy—CKGW.
7.15—Andy Sannella Orch.—CFRB.
7.30—Paul von Loan Orch.—NBC.
7.45—Chateau Laurier Orch. —CFRB.
8.00—Chiso Service Orch.—CKGW
8.00—Leonard Joy Orch.—WJZ.
8.15—University of Toronto—CFRB.
8.30—Music of Time—WGR.
8.45—Horticulture, H. J. Moore —CFRB.
8.45—Sisters of the Skillet—WJZ.
9.00—Alexander Laird, violinist —CFRB.
9.00—Fatima Night Club—WBEN.
9.00—Pasternack's Orch.—WGR.
9.30—Irvin S. Cobb—WJZ.
9.30—Leo Reisman's Orch.—WEAF.
9.30—Simeon Joyce, piano—CKGW.
10.00—Cafe Budapest—CFRB-CBL.
10.00—Fred Rufsmith, tenor—WEAF.
10.00—Canadian Pacific Hour—CKGW.
10.00—Can. Pacific Hour—CKGW.
10.00—The Pontiac Chieftans—WJZ.
10.30—Cruising Trail, Glen Gray Orch. —CFRB.
10.30—R.K.O. Air Theatre—WBEN.
11.00—King Edward Orch.—CKGW.
11.00—Newscast—CFRB.
11.00—Vincent Lopez Orch.—WEAF.
11.00—Howard Barlow Orch.—WJZ.
11.30—Moonbeams—WGR.
11.35—Hal White Orch.—CKAC.
11.35—Jack Denny Orch.—WJZ.
11.35—George Olsen Orch.—CFRB.
12.00—Bernie's Orch.—CFRB.
12.00—News to the North—CKAC.
12.00—Cruso, Roland Todd—CFCA
12.00—Blue Rhythm Band—WJZ.
12.00—Ashokan Uulimited—WGR.
12.05—Coon-Sanders Orch.—WEAF.
12.30—Waldorf-Astoria Orch. —WEAF.
12.30—Ben Ames Orch.—CBS.
12.30—Gus Arnheim Orch.—WABC.
2.00—"The Worms"—DX Club —CKCL.

SATURDAY FEATURES

6.45—Tower Exercises—CKGW.
7.30—French Australia—WEAF.
8.00—Breakfast Program—CKNC.
8.15—Morning Devotions—WEAF.
8.30—Cheerio—CKGW.
8.50—Little Jack Little—CFRB.
9.45—Arielle Dickson—CFRB.
10.00—U. S. Army Band—CFRB.
10.15—Breen and de Rose—WEAF.
10.30—Helen and Mary—CFRB.
10.45—Canadian Trail—WJZ.
10.45—Golden Gems—CKGW
11.00—Dan Hoolihan Orch.—CFRB.
11.00—Symphonic Hour, Stock Exchange Orch.—WEAF.
11.00—Hollywood Dance Orchestra —CKCL.
11.00—Jesse Crawford — WEAF.
11.15—Messages to Explorers — KDKA.
11.30—National Barn Dance, WLS.
11.30—Julian Woodworth Orch — WGR.
11.30—Vincent Lopez Orch—WEAF.
11.30—Hal White Orch—CKAC.
11.30—Jan Pearson Orch.—WJZ.
11.45—Madriguera Orch.—CFRB.
11.45—Fingers of Harmony —WJZ.
12.00—Guy Lombardo Orch.—CBS.
12.05—Coon-Sanders Orch.—WEAF
12.30—Schreiber Orchestra —WJZ.
12.30—St. Mirels Orch.—CFRB.
1.00—Grayston's Orch.—WJR.
1.00—Noble Blade Orch.—WABC.
1.00—Chas Boulanger Orch, WABC
2.30—Congress Hotel Orch.—KYW

Only rarely is bauxite or native iron found in Nature, all of the sources or mineral ores from which the metal is obtained being compounds of iron with other elements.

Among bans, early molders are usually poor producers and vice versa.

Canada imported 30,549 cases of oranges, 1,700 cases of lemons, and 190 cases of grapefruit from Australia last year.

Phone Orders Promptly Attended To.

THE CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES LIMITED

Store Hours — Open 9 a.m. Close 6 p.m. Saturday — Open 9 a.m. Close 9.30 p.m.

Phone Orders Promptly Attended To.

COME SATURDAY FOR THE BIG BROADCAST SALES!!

A Specially Good Broadcast Sale in Girls' Wear

Sale of Pullovers

Remarkable fine quality, All wool, knitted in plain colors of Copen, navy, beige, scarlet, green or yellow, with contrast. 6 to 14 years 89c

Girls' Smart Skirts, ea.

All wool crepes, wool serges, wool flannels with detachable flannel collar and cuffs and cotton top. Five smart shades. 6 to 14 Included 79c

Sale of Blouses, ea.

Three stunning styles in celanese crepe, featuring short sleeves, pretty tuckings, smart ties. Pastel shades of green, yellow, pink, blue or white. Sizes 8 to 14 years 1.69

Jean Cloth Middies

Sturdy white jean cloth middies with detachable flannel collar and cuffs and black cotton tie. Sizes 6 to 14 years. Broadcast Sale, each 1.00

Broadcast Sale of Children's Footwear

BOYS' BOOTS

"Boys' sturdy school boots of black box kip, majority with ankle soles. Sizes 11 to 13½, 1 to 5½ — 13½ and 5½ only half sizes 1.69

Patent Ties and Straps

Children's and Misses' patent ties and straps oxfords in black calf and patent leather. All with built-in cushion insoles — quality welted leather soles and rubber heels. E width—sizes 5 to 7½, 8 to 10½, 11 to 2 ..... 1.69

Week End

Candles

For Xmas and Old Milk Chocolate Cakes, each ..... 5c—6 for 29c

Chocolate Coated Almonds, lb. 39c

Hand Dipped Chocolates in assorted flavors, lb. 29c

Peanuts, special, lb. 12c

Turkish Delight, lb. 15c

Georgian Room Pastry

Another shipment of fine Georgian Room Pastries, fresh from the ovens for Saturday!

—main floor right

Children's

Wool Mitts

A varied assortment of children's wool mitts—a variety of different shades and styles to fit the lot. Clearing on Saturday at half price. Pair

12c to 29c

—main floor left

Pretty Rayon

Crepe Blouses

Of fine lustrous rayon crepe—in sleeveless styles, some tailored, others with ruffled jabots. Choice of white, eggshell, nile, flesh. Sizes in the lot 34 to 40. Excellent value, each 1.95

—main floor centre

Crisp 36 Inch

Prints

Pretty, crisply woven prints—a yard wide—and in a host of washable shades to select from. Figured and floral effects. Special, yard 17c

—main floor right rear

Remnant Sale!

Again this popular event is staged Saturday—dozens of yards of lovely materials useful for many different purposes — in lengths from ½ to 5 yards at special low prices. Silks, woollens, cottons, linens, etc. Clearing, yard, piece

10c to 5.95

—main floor centre

36 Inch

Factory Cotton

A strong, even weave, 36 inch factory cotton that is free from fillings and excellent wearing. Has a dozen and one good uses. Yard 13c

—main floor right rear

Boys' Outfits

Wool lined navy serge shorts with self belt and buckle. 3 to 6 years. Each 1.29

Knitted Suits

Two pieces. In pink, sky, jade, maize, sand, copen or white with sky, all wool, bunny border with rayon, 1 and 2 years, each .. 1.49

V-Pullovers

All wool with gay embroidered ship-smart as smart in navy with red and white or vice versa. 2 to 6 years. Sale price, each 1.59

Wool Jackets

Knitted with tiny yoke, ribbon ties, dainty hand touches. Pink or blue with white. Infants' to 6 months' sizes. Each 79c

Broadcast Sale of INFANTS' WEAR

Qualities at these prices prices have not been surpassed for years! A pre-eminent sale that's a fashion event at the outset of the Spring season; Phone 2900 and SHOP EARLY!

Middy Suits

Regulation style in all wool serge, navy, white, black tie. With 1 pair lined 2.89

With 3 pair lined 3.39

long .....

Children's

Sleepers

This style is without feet — made from fine crepes, broadcloth and flannelette for tots 2 to 6 years. Broadcast Sale, suit 69c

Infants'

Kimonas

Made from a soft, well fleeced material—in pink or blue. Infants' sizes only.

Broadcast Sale, each 69c

Infant's Flannelette

Gowns

Made of softly napped flannelette material, trimmed with pink or blue, or in all white. Infants' sizes. Broadcast Sale price, each 35c

Girls' Print Pantie Dresses

Girls' pretty print frocks—with panties to match. In a choice of styles—for tots 2 to 6 years. Each 59c

—second floor

Boys'

String Ties

Boys' string ties — of corded rayon — in green, red or copen. Broadcast Sale price, each 29c

Boys'

Shirt Waists

Of fine quality cotton broadcloth in a good assortment of shades—with collar attached. Good wearing and fitting. 2 to 6 year sizes. Broadcast Sale, each 73c

—second floor

Infants' Vests

Infants' vests made from wool cotton and rayon yarns. In white, sizes 6 months, 1 and 2 years. Each 33c

—second floor

Baby Blankets

Baby blankets made from softly napped flannelette with picture patterns. In pink or blue. Sizes 32x40 and 36x52 inches. Special, each ..... 49c and 69c

—second floor

Navy Reefers

Plain back, tailored in wool and cotton chevlot serge. Brass-colored buttons 2.39

Khaki Suits

Substantial savings on boys' sport style with short sleeves, self belt, two pockets. 2 to 6 years. Each 69c

Wash Frocks

Charming pantie styles in pretty dots or prints. Red, green, blue or pink. Sizes 2, 3, 4 and 6. Each 1.19

Pigy Overalls

In sturdy red, blue or green printed cotton broadcloth with knee protective legs and neat shoulder straps. Sizes 2 to 6. Each 39c

Navy Reefers

Plain back, tailored in wool and cotton chevlot serge. Brass-colored buttons 2.39

Khaki Suits

Substantial savings on boys' sport style with short sleeves, self belt, two pockets. 2 to 6 years. Each 69c

Wash Frocks

Charming pantie styles in pretty dots or prints. Red, green, blue or pink. Sizes 2, 3, 4 and 6. Each 1.19

Pigy Overalls

In sturdy red, blue or green printed cotton broadcloth with knee protective legs and neat shoulder straps. Sizes 2 to 6. Each 39c

Lustrous Rayon

Flat Crepe

A heavy, washable flat crepe woven from all rayon yarns — and in an excellent wearing quality. Such shades as navy, grey, black, white, rose, pink and mauve are in the selection. 36 inches wide. Special, per yard 79c

—main floor right rear

Special!

Fringed

Jute Rugs

In oriental patterns—jute rugs with fringed ends — in crimson, green and blue—a scatter rug size 27 x 54 inches. Special, each purchase, each 2.65

main floor rear

Ruffled Clip

Dot Curtains

In a soft ivory tint—beautiful clip dot curtains, with a soft, ruffled edge. Excellent for the breakfast room, bedroom or the bathroom. Size of 37" x 3½ yards. Pair 89c

—main floor rear

Framed Scenic

Pictures

Beautiful subjects in this lot of framed pictures, mostly scenic and about 12½ x 13½ inches. Subjects for the hall, dining room or the bedroom. Each 50c

—main floor rear

Drapery Chintz

Pretty 36 inch drapery chintz —in soft modernistic type of design—a quality that makes excellent curtains, box covers, or cushions. Yard 21c

—main floor rear

Flash King

Batteries

Specially Low Priced!

A peppy battery guaranteed for one year. With durable hard rubber case — and sturdy cable that is bold a good charge.

11 plate style, each 5.89

13 plate style, each 6.89

basement

Pennsylvania

Motor Oil

Still a quantity of this high grade Pennsylvania motor oil left but we expect it to go very rapidly. Just a last minute reminder of the value that you'll miss if you don't shop Saturday. Medium grade

2 gallons 1.49

Men! See This Value!

Brant 2-pant Suits

Well tailored two trouser suits of a quality usually expected only at a much higher price! Single and double breasted models. Plain greys, all wool navy blue botany serges. Worsteds and tweeds in fashionable shades and smart patterns. Good quality trimmings. See these suits and be convinced of their value!

19.75

Saturday!

Clearance of Men's Ties,

The patterns are high class and the kind that men themselves select—they look like ties more than double this price. The materials are high class and the kind that hold their shape as well as any tie material ever does.

Buy for gift-giving, buy for the new spring outfit, for Easter Wear, buy whether you're young, middle-aged or old—there's plenty of selection for all! In fancy patterns, stripes and checks. Special clearance price Saturday

2 for 70c

Best Seller

Men's New Season

Fur Felt Hats

In new styles and shades for the spring season—smart stylish fur felt hats—in snap and welt brims, with good quality trimmings. Best Seller, each 3.50

—men's store

Men's Fine Yarns Cloth

Pyjamas

Fine yarns cloth pyjamas for men—in kite front style—in a host of smart mannish stripes that wash well. Five trim with a size range from 36 to 42. Special, suit 1.59

—men's store

Men's English

Wool Hose

Of fine all wool yarns—specially reinforced at toes and heels. English manufacture—in a smart array of assorted patterns—all smart looking. Sizes 10 to 11½, pair 49c

Best Seller

Boys'

Sherwood Shirts

All new patterns and colors in this lot—boys' Sherwood shirts that have a reputation for good wear and good laundering qualities. Roomy, full cut and in sizes 12 to 14. Best Seller, each 75c

—men's store

Best Seller

Men's

Sherwood Shirts

89c

Cut from smart looking prints and broadcloths—in a fine array of new patterns in washable shades. Stripes or plain shades and white are in the selection. A shirt that is full cut and roomy with a neck band that is pre-shrunk. Collar attached or separate, as you wish. Sizes 14 to 17. Best Seller, each 89c

—men's store

New Spring Frocks for Misses and Women, Saturday, Only 4.95

Of fine celanese material—clever frocks for both misses and women—all new styles for spring. In the smart two tone color combinations that will be worn quite extensively this season—with new and interesting sleeve treatments. If you are in the store Saturday don't fail to see these smart arrivals. The size range in the lot is from 14 to 44. Their low price is one inducement for you to shop early. Special, each ..... second floor

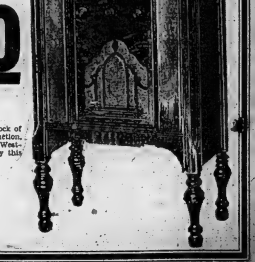
Three Piece Tapestry Covered Chesterfield Suite. Special! 69.00

Comfortable Marshall spring filled cushions on every piece of this smart suite—web bottom construction with upholstering in a taupe ground with rust and blue patterns. Good looking and substantially built. Special, the three pieces at .....

D. P. terms arranged on this suite if desired.

3 pce. Bedroom Suite in Walnut Veneer and Gum Wood 55.00

A smart style of bedroom suite with very graceful lines to the dresser, and bed—the chest of drawers in standard design with matching overlays. Of beautifully grained walnut veneer and gum wood. Special the suite .....



—main floor rear

Special Offer — Saturday!

Westinghouse Superheterodyne Radios

119.50 Value

Sale Price Complete 79.50

The C.D.S. Stores were fortunate to be able to buy the entire available stock of this remarkable new 8 tube radio, and offer it at so sensational a price reduction. Standing in the radio world among the leaders, it is made by the renowned Westinghouse Electric Company. Seldom are new models offered at such prices by this company. Take special note of the features and be on hand to buy one early.

Features

8 tubes including two multi mu and two 245 power tubes.
Shielded chassi
Electro dynamic speaker
A truly sensitive, selective and powerful radio
Deferred payments may be arranged if desired.

THE CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES LIMITED

Little Benny's Note Book

Ma went to the automobeel show with Mrs. Hews this afternoon, and tonite at supper she said to pop, Willyum, it seems the 1932 Sparrow has some of the most wonderful improvements.

Have you heard anything about improvements in the 1932 depression? pop said, and ma said, For instants there's a big change in the tires, the man was explaining all about it, it seems they are much bigger and naturely hold much more air.

The more air they hold the more expensive they sound when they blow out, pop said. Anyway there's been a big change in the old Sparrow tires, bleeve me, I just beet 2 new replacements, and whats more to the point, I just payed for them, he said.

And then take the windshield ma said. The new windshield slopes at the most attractive angle, you cant deny thats an improvement, she said.

I've been gradually having the old windshield improved, in fact I must of given 10 or 15 dollers in tips to garage attendants for wiping of that windshield, I dont bleeve the most expensive car in the country has a more complecely wiped off windshield than ours, pop said, and ma said, And then the cylinders the new models has 2 more cylinders, or is it 2 less? Which is the more desirable to have, more or less? she said.

O, more or less pop said she's said. But it seems the greatest improvement o fall is in the gear shift. I wood remember the fine points about the details, but it seems when you want to shift now you scarcely have to do anything more than just think about it and the car shifts itself, she said.

That must have something to do with all this auto suggestion I've heard so much about, pop said, and ma said, Buh anyway, Willyum, I wish you'd think it over.

I have, pop said.

Proberly meaning no.

The fifth, a new domesticized fur bearer in Canada, is becoming firmly established on fur farms in several localities and the first fitch show on the continent was held in Winnipeg recently.

Deaf and mute children had all the roles in the play, The Three Kings, given recently in Dublin, Irish Free State.

Ontario's 18 grain elevators can store approximately 164,500,000 bushels.

There are 194 golf clubs in Ontario, of which 33 are in the Toronto area.

THE WEATHER
Mostly cloudy tonight and Sunday some light local rain or snow flurries stationary or a little lower temperature.

The Ontario Intelligencer

Ten Pages

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1932.

WEST END OF KIANGWAN TAKEN BY JAPS

INVESTMENT OF VILLAGE ALMOST COMPLETE, STATE ADVICES OUT OF SHANGHAI

Narrow Lane Remains Through Which Wounded Are Carried

BLOW IN NORTH

Swing of Activity to Manchurian Field of Interest

Copyright 1932 by Associated Press

Shanghai, Feb. 27 (AP) —Japanese Military and hostilities late this afternoon claimed the western extremity of the village of Kiangwan, midway along the Chapei-Woosung "front," had finally fallen into their hands.

The claim came at the end of a day of comparatively quiet punctured by a few spurts of gunfire and marked by the landing of a small force of Japanese reinforcements at the wharves in the Whangpoo River. The reinforcements came on a supply ship which carried ammunition and other equipment.

The Japanese claimed the fall of Kiangwan was achieved after a brief but heavy bombardment by an infantry attack which, they said, drove the little band of Chinese defenders entirely out of the village.

Shelling Japanese

Early today the Chinese batteries in Chapei started shelling Japanese positions in Hongkew Park across from Kiangwan. The bombardment was brief and drew little response from Japanese guns which later the whole front was quiet.

Military observers, however, received the claim of Kiangwan's capture with reservations. As they had received the Japanese claim late yesterday that Chapei had been rounded Kiangwan.

The capture of Japanese reinforcements arriving this afternoon was estimated at 1,000 and Japanese sources said they were delayed until of the 9th Division. A few others came in on the 11th Division and proceeded to the Kiangwan sector by motor truck.

Reserves Move Onward

Chinese Red Cross workers who came in to Shanghai tonight from behind the Chinese lines said Chinese reserves were moving forward throughout the day and that Chinese quarters at Chenju had moved forward nearer the battle line. They said the attack was enthusiastic over the outcome.

The physicians brought in 170 soldiers wounded during the day and remarked everything was quiet when they left.

* * *

Line Thrown Around Kiangwan by Japs

Shanghai, Feb. 27 (AP)—Japanese military authorities had their troops completely occupied Kiangwan late this afternoon after a short sharp engagement.

Shanghai, Feb. 27 (AP) A contingent of Japanese reinforcement troops arrived this afternoon on a transport which also carried large amounts of ammunition and other supplies.

Carry Out Wounded

Although the Japanese claimed they had driven the entire western section of Kiangwan and had thrown a line completely around it, a narrow trail remained between the town and the Chinese lines along which stretcher bearers were carrying wounded.

Supplies for the Kiangwan Chinese garrison were coming in from Machonghsien under machine gun fire from the Japanese, on both sides of the road.

Observers established that the opposing lines curved from Woosung in the north to the western end of Miaochungchen, thence south to Kiangwan and then in a curve around the village to its southern limits, then running south again to Chapei, lower end of the front.

Artillery Fire

The area between Kiangwan and Tachang four miles westward was honeycombed with artillery pits and machine gun posts established by the Chinese. Tachang, the scene of several Japanese air raids in the last few days, was evacuated by civilians and had become a Chinese clearing station.

Machonghsien after a week's bombardment from the Japanese was still in Chinese hands. The Japanese were three quarters of a mile away although they have claimed for several days they controlled this strategic point. A garrison of 2,000 Chinese were in the village.

Planes in Full Force to Go in at Shanghai

(By MORRIS J. HARRIS, Associated Press Staff Correspondent)

Shanghai, Feb. 27.—Despite Japanese claims that they had captured the western end of Kiangwan village, the Chinese garrison in that beleaguered town was still holding on at eleven o'clock tonight.

* * *

Tokyo, Feb. 27 (AP)—The Japanese high command, it was learned on good authority today, is prepared to use the air forces and the navy to strike at distant points in China to prevent further accretions of Chinese army strength on the front at Shanghai.

* * *

Hangchow, China, Feb. 27 (AP)—Only superficial damage was done by Japanese aviators who bombed the Chinese airdrome here last Friday.

Anticipating such raids, the Chinese authorities hit previously removed most of the accessories from the hangars. The Japanese flyers dropped thirty-five bombs, partially destroyed the hangars, and shot down one of two Chinese planes which they engaged in an air battle. Three Chinese flyers were wounded.

Five planes were destroyed by the bombing here. The fires which resulted by the bomb were soon extinguished, however, with little damage.

A few planes were destroyed when the Japanese bombed two nearby fields and the hangars were damaged.

* * *

Qhanghun, Manchuria, Feb. 27 (AP)—Japanese Manchurian forces struck a sharp blow in defense of the new north-eastern federated state today by attacking and repulsing Chinese bandit regiments under command of Wang Teh-Lin.

The battle took place twenty-five miles northwest of Tunhua following the burning of a bridge on the Kirin-Tunhua Railway by the Chinese.

Reports from the area around Tunhua said, however, that the insurgent threat against the new state was growing more and more serious and that bands of Wang Teh-Lin's followers were concentrating northeast and northwest of the city.

Lieutenant General Ren Mori, commanding the Japanese forces, considered the increasing danger so serious that he began the formation of a special expeditionary force along the Kirin-Tunhua line and moved his headquarters from Kingchulin.

Reports from Harbin said General Jiro Tamon's Japanese division was still held up there because of the refusal of the Russian management of the Chinese Eastern Railway to permit the use of the road for troop transportation.

* * *

Tokyo, Feb. 27 (AP)—It was explained in authoritative circles today that the bombing of Chinese airports at Hangchow yesterday was due to a report that the Chinese air force was preparing to attack Japanese troop transports.

* * *

Shanghai, Feb. 27 (AP)—A Japanese spokesman announced today that the total of Japanese casualties suffered in the city to date was 104 dead and 975 wounded.

The losses suffered by the Japanese naval landing party, he said, were approximately 100 dead and 500 wounded.

Three are Unaccounted for Following Mine Explosion

Bluefield, W. Va., Feb. 27—Thirty dale, district mine inspector, engineer, and the Bishopwain mine of the Pocahontas Fuel Company between six and seven o'clock this morning.

Until some word comes from the investigation of the rescue squads working in the mine, there is no clue to the exact situation. The cause of the blast was undetermined.

Another Road Camp to Close

North Bay, Ont., Feb. 27.—Another transient camp for unemployed men will close on Monday. This is the second of the camps to be closed down during the past few weeks, and it is probable that more will be closed as the work reaches near completion. The camp to close on Monday is one at the head of Mooney Lake, second from the eastern end of this district of the new colonization development branch. There are about seventy men there, mostly from Penbroke and Renfrew.

Orders have also been received here to reduce the number of men in the other camps to the regular strength of 150 men each. A shortage of six or seven men will be let out of each camp.

Will Not Court Crisis with Russia Declare Japanese

Spokesman Say Nervousness of Russia Due to Misinterpretation

LOCAL PROBLEM

(By Clien Babb, Associated Press Staff Correspondent, Copyright, 1932, by Associated Press)

Tokyo, Feb. 27—Japan is not likely to court another international crisis with Russia, Government spokesmen were quick to point out today in commenting on the queries of the Russian Government regarding military operations in Northern Manchuria.

The Russian queries, presented by L. M. Karakhan, acting Soviet Commissar for foreign affairs, turned General Jiro Tamon's Northern Manchuria campaign into an international issue and took official Tokyo completely by surprise, especially in view of the complaisance Moscow had manifested in the Harbin conflict.

"Nervousness of Russia"

Spokesmen for the war and foreign ministries alike asserted today that Russia's "nervousness" over Japan's activities in North Manchuria were based on distorted interpretations of the situation and magnified a "purely local problem" into a matter of international importance.

The war office said it lacked any information to support M. Karakhan's statement that General Tamon ordered 17 trains of 34 cars each for an advance on the town of Pogranichnaya and there was no intention of an advance to the Russian border.

He denied emphatically the Japanese military authorities were conniving in any way to encourage "white" Russians.

Momentous Discovery in World of Science

HENDERSON NEW HEAD OF COMMISSION

French Nominee Defeated at Conference Organization

FRENCH BLOCKED

Britain, United States, Germany and Italy Back Choice

By F. I. LIPSEY, JR.
Associated Press Staff Correspondent

Geneva, Feb. 27 — The French delegation to the world disarmament conference suffered another organization defeat today when the delegations of Great Britain, the United States, Germany and Italy engineered the election of Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson of Great Britain as president of the political commission of the conference.

The French delegation, after having been blocked on several occasions, had made a strenuous effort to secure the election of their candidate, Nicholas Titulesco, Rumanian, to head the political commission, which will consider the French security proposal.

The election of Mr. Henderson, who is president of the general conference, was proposed by Hugh Gibson, actions chief of the United States delegation.

Henderson Leader

Mr. Henderson has been the leader of the movement in opposition to the French plans. After he was chosen president of the conference the French delegation sought to place authority in the conference bureau, but Mr. Henderson was also chosen to head this organization. Then the French delegation moved for depriving the bureau of what was expected to be the dominant role by referring the determination of procedure to a general commission.

Mr. Henderson then was elected president of the general commission, and Mr. Titulesco, French delegation head, moved to create a new commission to deal with political questions, originally expected by other delegations to be handled by the general commission.

For chief of this political commission the French then chose as their candidate M. Titulesco who was defeated by Mr. Henderson today.

Neutron is Found Discovery Rich in Value to Science

Represents First Step in Evolution of Matter Out of Electrons

Baltimore, Md., Feb. 27.—The discovery in Cavendish Laboratory, Cambridge University, London, by James Chadwick of the "Neutron," a particle so minute it carries no electrical charge, and which is the greatest find in the scientific world since the electron, the proton and the X-Ray, was announced today by the Sun in a despatch from the Manchester Guardian.

* * *

The "neutron" was described as one of the ultimate particles in the universe. It would take 200,000,000,000,000,000 to make a mass weighing an ounce. Neutrons are not waves, like the detached gold, but particles, but they have no particles, hitherto unknown powers of penetration. In the realm of astronomy and the evolution of the universe, neutrons are of fundamental importance, representing the first step in the assembling of matter out of primeval electrons and protons, the paper said.

English Football

LONDON, Feb. 27.—(CPC)—Results of English Association League games played in British Isles today were:

English League (First Division)

Aston Villa 6, Portsmouth 1.
Grimsby Town 1, Birmingham 1
Leicester City 1, Derby County 1
Middlesborough 9, Blackpool 2.
Sheffield Wednesday 1, Everton 3.

Second Division

Bradford 3, Swansea Town 1
Burnley 5, Oldham Athletic 4.
Charlton Athletic 1, Bradford City 0
Chesterfield 3, Bristol City 1
Manchester City 1, Barnsley 0
Nottingham Forest 3, Plymouth Argyle 2
Southampton 5, Port Vale 1
Stoke City 9, Millwall 0.
Tottenham Hotspurs 3, Notts County 0
Wolverhampton Wanderers 1, Leeds United 1

Third Division (Northern Section)

Bournemouth and Boscombe 2, Crewe Alexandra 0, Darlington 1
Doncaster Rovers 6, Walsall 1.
Rochdale 1, Halifax Town 4
Southport 2, Accrington 1
Stockport County 0, Lincoln City 1
Tranmere Rovers 2, Hartlepools United 1
Wrexham 3, Carlisle United 3
York City 4, New Brighton 0
Mansfield Town, Rallroad 1

Third Division (Southern Section)

Bournemouth and Boscombe 2, Coventry City 0.
Brighton and Hove Albion 0, Northampton 0.
Bristol Rovers 2, Brentford 0.
Clapton Orient 0, Fulham 1.
Crystal Palace 2, Norwich 0.
Mansfield Town 1, Cardiff City 2
Newport County 1, Exeter City 0.
Queen's Park Rangers 1, Exeter City 0.
Reading Town 1, Southend United 2.
Torquay United 3, Thames 1.
(Scottish League, First Division)
Aberdeen 3, Hamilton Academicals 1.
Celtic 0, Dundee 7.
Cowdenbeath 2, Third Lanark 0
Dundee United 0; Aberdeen 0.
Hamilton Academicals 7; Leith Athletic 0.
Hearts 0; Motherwell 1.
Kilmarnock 3, Airdrie 0.
Morton 4; Falkirk 3.
Partick Thistle 7, St. Mirren 1.
Queens Park 2; Rangers 8.
(Scottish League, Second Division)
Alloa 1; Montrose 4.
Bo'ness 4; Albion Rovers 3.
Brechin City 2; King's Park 5.
Dumbarton 2; Arbroath 2.
East Fife 1; Dunfermline 1.
East Stirling 2; Edinburgh City 4
Forfar Athletic 3; Armadale 1.
Queen of South 2; Dunfermline Athletic 4.
St. Bernard's 2; Raith Rovers 0.
Stenhousemuir 2; St. Johnstone 4
First mentioned team played at home.

Rev. Woods Bishop of Winchester Dies

London, Feb. 27 (By Thomas H. Wood, Associated Press Staff Writer)—The fourth highest position in the Church of Canterbury today was vacant by the death of Rt. Rev. Frank Theodore Woods, Bishop of Winchester since 1924.

A man of fine presence and with distinct gifts of leadership Bishop Woods' advice in the inner councils of the church was deemed extremely valuable. He had great experience having worked in several arduous spheres during his early years as an ordinary Parish Priest.

THROW BONES OUT AND USE OLD COFFINS

Japanese Dislike Hiding Behind Coffins With Corpses

DUMP OUT BODIES

Chinese See Bones of Compatriots Lying in Fields

Shanghai, Feb. 27 (AP) —The Japanese troops, out in burned and blackened area around Kiangwan, were using Chinese coffins today as cover from which to direct fire against Chinese snipers.

These coffins, which dot almost any Chinese countryside where burial is delayed after death, are built of heavy wood and furnished excellent protection for the Japanese.

Don't Like Bones

The soldiers, however, apparently disliked the business of crouching behind the bones filled with bones and as a result in many cases they had emptied the bones upon the ground and dragged the coffins a short distance away.

Many piles of these human bones were visible across the area.

TONS OF SNOW POURS DOWN

Passenger and Telegraph Communication is Disrupted

Calgary, Alta., Feb. 27 (Can. Press)—Tons of snow poured down in numerous sections of the Rocky Mountains late last night and early today to trap passenger trains on their journeys through the passes, disrupt telegraphic communication between Calgary and Pacific coast points and send property damage mounting into thousands of dollars.

Death of John Kochist, 31, in the Monster District on the Canadian Pacific Railway line 14 miles west of Blue River, B.C., has been the only fatality reported so far, but the reports arriving at the offices of both Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways in Calgary indicate the increasing property damage. Trapped in a heavy slide of snow, Kochisk was suffocated before his body was recovered.

Warm weather and excessive rains have caused the slides, occurring extensively for the past three or four days. Just as communication by telegraph was being established late last night, more slides and snow drifts occurred to again crush poles and wires.

Believes Torpedo Did Not Strike Boat

New York, N.Y., Feb. 27—A Royal Commission from Canada started today its task of sifting the evidence concerning the visited concerning the loss of the Canadian schooner Cayuam Queen during the Great War. Two witnesses were to appear today.

They are Herbert and owner, Freeman Hatfield, was awarded $21,000 compensation on the claim she was sunk by a German submarine. Her contention is that the sinking entitled her to the award. At a recent session of the enquiry in Saint John, N.B., a sailor who was aboard the Cayuam Queen said he saw no submarine and did not believe a torpedo struck the boat.

Bandit Uses Former Golf Champion's Body as Shield

Three Bandits Wounded One Killed in Miami Shoot-up

IN CASINO ROOM

Miami, Fla., Feb. 27.—An unidentified bandit was killed, three others wounded and shot to death, on the body of former British amateur golf champion, in the hip when one of the robbers tried to use his body for a shield in the attempted holdup of a fashionable night club here early today.

Gerald Hoyle was among the guests at the club.

The shooting occurred in the Embassy Club, shortly before 3 a.m. when four bandits attempted to stick up the kitchen at the time the dining room was closed.

George Meyers, 40, Tulsa, Okla., bandit leader, was killed by a member gang, in a critical condition from a bullet wound in the mouth. Gene Kinsey, 30, reputedly another of the robbers, critically wounded near the beard; an unidentified bandit who escaped; George Frazier, 30, kitchen employee at the club, shot in the right leg; John Burns, also known as Frank Woods, employe, shot in the left leg.

The bandits sought to hold up the gambling casino of the club.

Fourth Victim of Gang's Vengeance

Cleveland, Feb. 27.—The fourth victim of Cleveland's gang vengeance this week, Charles J. Gentile, was gunned to death on a much frequented road near the Cleveland airport early today.

Gentile and two men were a beer runner of the Lonardo faction, once supreme in the corn sugar business here. Two days ago three members of the rival Porello gang were killed.

Gentile had been carefully laid out on the grass alongside the road. In his hand was a half-burned cigar. He was well dressed and lay on a bed of evergreens.

WILL ESTABLISH BRANCH

Toronto, Ont., Feb. 27—A. B. Dicks Company of Chicago, manufacturers of mimeograph machines, stencil paper and inks, will establish a branch factory there, the Toronto, Industrial Commission announced today. A Canadian subsidiary to be known as Mimeograph Company Limited will be formed.

Hearing Mass by Radio Invalid: Question May be Examined Some Day

No Further Attempt On Speed Record Says Sir Malcolm

Daytona Beach, Fla., Feb. 27. After making new world's land speed records for five distances Sir Malcolm Campbell, British sportsman, decided today to attempt no further trials this year and said he would ship his 12-cylinder Bluebird racing car back to England immediately.

Conditions for further runs were not satisfactory today.

$50,000 LOSS AT HAMILTON

Stubborn Blaze Breaks Out in Old Building

Hamilton, Feb. 27.—A stubborn blaze, breaking out shortly after two o'clock this morning inflicted about $50,000 damage to the store occupied by Calhoun Hatting establishment on King Street East, opposite the post.

The building was occupied on the ground floor by the hat store, and on the upper floors by the Kidner Shoe Company and a number of travellers, sample rooms. The fire penetrated through to the roof and for a time water was forced into the blaze that the cellar was filled to the depth of one foot. The structure, one of the oldest in Hamilton, was owned by Stanley Mills.

The cause of the outbreak has not been ascertained.

Invisible May Now Be Photographed

By Howard W. Blakeslee
Associated Press Science Editor

Boston, Mass., Feb. 27.—A new device which photographs hitherto invisible objects, revealed today by Dr. C. E. K. Mees, Director of Research of the National Kodak Company.

This device, Kenaczamine, when used in emulsion on a photographic plate records very rays or waves of heat radiation. These newly photographed radiations are far infra-red waves much longer than anything hitherto recorded visible.

3 NEW MILLS IN GOLD AREA

Will Be Erected This Year By Different Companies

Rouyn, Que., Feb. 27.—Three new mills for the production of gold will be erected this year in the gold bearing areas of northwestern Quebec. It was learned here today.

According to Cadillac it is stated, will erect a mill of possibly 100 tons daily capacity. Frederick Thomson of the Pascalis gold area is arranging to erect a plant of 100 to 150 tons per day. Beattie gold mines in Duparquet will erect a mill capable of handling 1,000 to 1,200 tons per day and a view toward ultimate increase to possibly 2,000 tons per day.

"Sabotage" Declares Russian Newspaper

Moscow, Feb. 27 (AP)—The rejection of the Soviet government's complete disarmament proposal at Geneva was described as "sabotage" by the newspaper Pravda today.

The newspaper said it was a renewed illustration of the lack of desire on the part of "imperialistic" nations to disarm and that only the Soviet government was sincere in its efforts.

The paper said the meeting is doomed to complete failure because the imperialists do not want to disarm.

CONVICTION CONFIRMED

Chicago, Ill., Feb. 27—The conviction of "Scarface Al" Capone on charges of evading income tax laws was affirmed today by the United States Circuit Court of Appeals.

Bandit Uses Former Golf Champion's Body as Shield

Three Bandits Wounded One Killed in Miami Shoot-up

IN CASINO ROOM

Miami, Fla., Feb. 27.—An unidentified bandit was killed, three others wounded and shot to death, on the body of former British amateur golf champion, in the hip when one of the robbers tried to use his body for a shield in the attempted holdup of a fashionable night club here early today.

Gerald Hoyle was among the guests at the club.

The shooting occurred in the Embassy Club, shortly before 3 a.m. when four bandits attempted to stick up the kitchen at the time the dining room was closed.

George Meyers, 40, Tulsa, Okla., bandit leader, was killed by a member gang, in a critical condition from a bullet wound in the mouth. Gene Kinsey, 30, reputedly another of the robbers, critically wounded near the beard; an unidentified bandit who escaped; George Frazier, 30, kitchen employee at the club, shot in the right leg; John Burns, also known as Frank Woods, employe, shot in the left leg.

The bandits sought to hold up the gambling casino of the club.

$50,000 LOSS AT HAMILTON

Stubborn Blaze Breaks Out in Old Building

Hamilton, Feb. 27.—A stubborn blaze, breaking out shortly after two o'clock this morning inflicted about $50,000 damage to the store occupied by Calhoun Hatting establishment on King Street East, opposite the post.

The building was occupied on the ground floor by the hat store, and on the upper floors by the Kidner Shoe Company and a number of travellers, sample rooms. The fire penetrated through to the roof and for a time water was forced into the blaze that the cellar was filled to the depth of one foot. The structure, one of the oldest in Hamilton, was owned by Stanley Mills.

The cause of the outbreak has not been ascertained.

Believes Torpedo Did Not Strike Boat

New York, N.Y., Feb. 27—A Royal Commission from Canada started today its task of sifting the evidence concerning the visited concerning the loss of the Canadian schooner Cayuam Queen during the Great War. Two witnesses were to appear today.

They are Herbert and owner, Freeman Hatfield, was awarded $21,000 compensation on the claim she was sunk by a German submarine. Her contention is that the sinking entitled her to the award. At a recent session of the enquiry in Saint John, N.B., a sailor who was aboard the Cayuam Queen said he saw no submarine and did not believe a torpedo struck the boat.

Fourth Victim of Gang's Vengeance

Cleveland, Feb. 27.—The fourth victim of Cleveland's gang vengeance this week, Charles J. Gentile, was gunned to death on a much frequented road near the Cleveland airport early today.

Gentile and two men were a beer runner of the Lonardo faction, once supreme in the corn sugar business here. Two days ago three members of the rival Porello gang were killed.

Gentile had been carefully laid out on the grass alongside the road. In his hand was a half-burned cigar. He was well dressed and lay on a bed of evergreens.

WILL ESTABLISH BRANCH

Toronto, Ont., Feb. 27—A. B. Dicks Company of Chicago, manufacturers of mimeograph machines, stencil paper and inks, will establish a branch factory there, the Toronto, Industrial Commission announced today. A Canadian subsidiary to be known as Mimeograph Company Limited will be formed.

Hearing Mass by Radio Invalid: Question May be Examined Some Day

No Further Attempt On Speed Record Says Sir Malcolm

Daytona Beach, Fla., Feb. 27. After making new world's land speed records for five distances Sir Malcolm Campbell, British sportsman, decided today to attempt no further trials this year and said he would ship his 12-cylinder Bluebird racing car back to England immediately.

Conditions for further runs were not satisfactory today.

Decision on Such Delicate Subject Would Be Left to Pontiff

AS TO CONFESSION

Secrecy and Physical Presence Essential Part of Confession

Vatican City, Feb. 27 (AP)—Hearing Mass from a broadcasting station is considered invalid, Ecclesiastical authorities here said today, but Father Gianfranceschi, director of the Papal broadcasting station, said he thought it was a "Question that may some day be examined."

This question, as well as the question of confession by telephone, was brought up by the speech of H. Mattino of Naples and aroused a considerable discussion. Ecclesiastical authorities here also said confession by telephone was invalid.

The Personal Presence.

H Mattino, however, published interviews with two Franciscans, Cardinal Ascalesi of Naples, and Monsignor Alfonso Carinci, Secretary of Consistorial Affairs, in which they explained the fulfillment of the Catholic duty to hear Mass requires personal presence.

Cardinal Ascalesi said the church rule is that the person must not be more than ten steps from the church except when there is an overflow crowd which constitutes part of the congregation. Monsignor Carinci said the Congregation of Rites interpreted strictly against confession by telephone "because it lacks the indispensable requisites of physical presence and secrecy."

Modern Things Approved.

Father Gianfranceschi, besides directing the Vatican broadcasting station, is President of the Pontifical Academy of sciences. He called attention to the approval by Pope Pius XI of many modern things.

"A decision on such a delicate subject, however," he said, "could be taken only by the Holy Father himself in special cases, such as for the sick, who now are dispensed from hearing Mass, he might now require them to hear broadcast Mass when their's are facilities for it.

THE WEATHER

Lake Superior—Partly cloudy tonight and Sunday stationary or a little lower temperature.

Ontario—Local flurry tonight and Sunday not much change in temperature.

Saskatchewan and Alberta—Fresh southwest to west winds fair and mild today and Sunday.

Coming Events

SCIENTIFIC PALMIST, MONDAY. Have your hands read. Know yourself, your relations. Of health. Quinte Hotel, Room 34, 10 till 10, 81.

GOLDEN ANNIVERSARY HERE—Come To-morrow in Dundas St. Church by Rev. Thos. Wallace. Supper and program next Thursday, commencing at six. Admission Thirty and Fifteen cents. 1-27-1t

CONCERT & SOCIAL AUSPICES Ladies' Aert Bible Class, Holloway St. United Church, Tuesday March 1st, 8 o'clock. Excellent program. Refreshments. Admission 25c. 127-2t

DON'T FORGET LEAP YEAR dance, Monday, Feb. 29th, Johnson Academy round and square dancing. Novelties. Door prizes. Come, We do the rest. $1.00 couple. 127-1t

WALLBRIDGE, WEDNESDAY, March 1st. Alternate round and square dancing to Sinclair's Orchestra. Ladies, please bring refreshments. Admission 25c. 127-1t

DANCING TONIGHT AT MEMORIAL Hall to Phyllis Coyne's Boy Tons. Admission 25c. 127-1t

BRESEAH EUCHRE, TUESDAY, March 1st, 8 o'clock, at Odd-fellow's Hall. 127-1t

THE RUMMAGE SALE WHICH was advertised for tonight at St. Thomas Parish House has been cancelled. 127-1t.

City and District News

POLICE CONFISCATE BOY'S AIR RIFLE

An air rifle in the hands of a fourteen year old boy, was the cause of some disturbance among his companions at the corner of West Bridge and Bewell streets, last night about eight o'clock.

One of the boys said that the gunman was shooting the rifle and pointing it at him. Constable Lessard approached "the Gang" the boy with the gun endeavored to conceal it but the constable made his presence it. After giving the offender a warning Constable Lessard took the air rifle to the police station for safe keeping.

BOY STEPS ON TOW ROPE OF CAR

A tow rope tied between two cars this morning on Pinnacle drive almost led to a painful accident shortly after eleven o'clock when a boy attempted to cross over the rope just as the cars in the car ahead swung the other one, pulled ahead and tightened the rope. The boy fortunately was agile enough to jump clear of the rope before it snapped, but missed the rope by a hair and was out of the way before the cars moved ahead. The driver of the first car did not look behind, when he put the car in gear to go ahead, and the car in the following motor vehicle was stalled was the only observer of the near accident. A "dead" battery prohibited the use of his electric horn, and as the car was a closed one his warning about to the boy was not heard. A most unfortunate and near to a distant attention.

COLDER WEATHER AROUND CORNER

Although the weather appeared somewhat colder today the temperatures were about the same as yesterday. Yesterday the temperatures were 43 high and 22 low, this is a rise of 15 degrees during the day. The mercury did not drop below the freezing point today, however. Today's low was 32 while the highest point reached on the thermometer at noon was 37.

EAST HILL ROADS ARE BEING SWEPT

The street sweeper, looking spic and span after a thorough renovation, was out today for the first time this season, doing some cleaning on the east hill.

WEEKLY DANCE BY LADIES' AUXILIARY

Another gala crowd was present at the regular weekly dance and euchre held by the ladies' auxiliary of the War Veteran's association in Memorial Hall last evening. Prizes for the euchre were, first, ladies', Mrs. Clara Marks; gents', Mrs. Carter and Mrs. Osier; Gentlemen, first, Mr.. T. Boyle, Mr.. A. Anderson and Mr. Osier. Miss Helen Darrah and her orchestra supplied the music for the dancers.

C.P.R. PENSIONER DIES AT TRENTON

TRENTON, Feb. 27.—(Special)—Mr. James Connolly Butterill, aged 68 years passed away at his home on Sidney street, on Thursday. He was born in Rhodehouse, moving to Trenton some 20 years ago. Mr. Butterill was employed as a section foreman by the Canadian Pacific Railroad until he was pensioned off some nine years ago. He was a member of the True Sons of Ireland lodge number 4 of Perth, also the Independent Order of Foresters at the Trenton lodge. He is survived by four sons, Ross Butterill of Toronto, William Butterill of Smiths Falls, George Butterill of Cleveland, Ohio, and Clarence Butterill of Montreal, two daughters, Mrs. MacArthur of Montreal and Mrs. Tompkins of Horse Payne. The family funeral will be home for the funeral, which took place at 3.30 today, the services being held at the Christ United Church. Interment at the Mount Evergreen Cemetery.

MRS. MARY COUCH

Mrs. Mary Couch, aged 76 years died at her home on McCann street, on Friday. She was born in Sussex, England, coming to Canada while a young girl. Mrs. Couch is survived by two daughters, Mrs. W. Fuller, Mrs. Lute Glover, both of James street, Trenton, and one son, John Couch, who now lives in England. The funeral services will be held at St. George's Church on Monday afternoon, interment to take place in the St. George's cemetery.

FATHERS, SONS HOLD BANQUET

Holloway Street United Church Scene of Social Affair

An annual event, the Fathers and Sons banquet of Holloway Street United Church was held last evening in the church auditorium. Rev. Manson Doyle of Toronto, being the principal speaker. A large number were in attendance and the evening was one of enjoyment for all present.

Milton McMurray, member to the Older Boys' Parliament of Ontario, was the toastmaster and chairman of the evening. The tables were suitably decorated and abundantly ladened with all good things, the latter being provided by the ladies of the congregation. After the loyal toast to the King, the toast to the Fathers was proposed by Joseph Lowden and Mr. W. J. Lowden and A. L. Greatrix responded. The toast to the church was proposed by Art Looker and Mr. A. O. Hudgins replying stressed the need and importance of Sunday School work. The ladies were not forgotten and the toast to the ladies was proposed by Edgar Jones and Mr. B. McMurray responded in a fitting manner. Rev. Manson Doyle stressed the importance of Father and Son membership centring in the home and in the church. Rev. H. H. Neal, pastor of the church introduced the speaker of the evening and also led in the community sing-song at the conclusion of the banquet. During the evening Alex. Gordon contributed two piano solos as well as Clifford Bennett.

Madoc Pioneers 54th Anniversary

Queensboro', Feb. 27.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sager, pioneers of Madoc Township, are celebrating today the fifty-fourth anniversary of their marriage. Both were born only two miles from where they now reside, Mrs. Sager, who before her marriage was Miss Sarah Jane Moorcroft, is in her eighty-first year. She has the use of all her faculties. She is a member of the United Church and of the W.M.S. She is able to do her own housework. Mr. Sager, formerly of Huntingdon, is a brother and recently observed his eighty-second birthday. Mr. Sager is in two years younger and is remarkably vigorous. Almost 2,000 cakes of ice have been taken from the millpond here this winter. Mr. Sager cut his ice and helped with most of the rest, besides cutting his own wood. The couple have one daughter, three sons and seven grandchildren; Mrs. Bruce Leslie, who resides in the village; Thomas, on a gardener, at Prince Albert, Ont.; Harry, a shoe merchant in Ottawa; and Robert, merchant in Queensboro'.

YOUR EYES

EVERYONE IS HANDICAPPED

whose eyes do not function as they should. How many are there of inch persons? Many of all ages, both sexes, and in every walk of life. How handicapped? In various ways. No one with defective vision escapes this handicap. To be sure YOU are not being retarded by the results of imperfect sight unless here is a modern examination of your eyes.

PHONE 128
FOR APPOINTMENT

J. A. McFEE
OPTOMETRIST

REPAIR IT NOW!

Skilled workmen can repair that car top or years in the shortest possible time and guarantee a first class job.

ST. CHARLES MOTOR CO.
PHONE 333

25c

FULL COURSE MEAL

ROAST PRIME RIBS OF BEEF 30c

ROAST PORK AND APPLESAUCE 30c

FULL COURSE MEALS 25c and 30c

BELLEVILLE LUNCH

Private Dining Room For Ladies
227 Front-St.

136-tf

EXCHANGE RATES

TORONTO, Ont., Feb 27—(By the Canadian Press)—Exchange rates as noon today were as follows:

Pound Sterling in Montreal 3.93 1-2; Pound Sterling in New York 3.92 1-2; Canadian Dollar in New York 88 1-2.

CAR ACCIDENT IS REVIEWED

Justice Masten Presides at Assize Held at Napanee

Mr. Justice Masten of the Appellate Division of the Supreme Court of Ontario, presided at the Assizes for the County of Lennox and Addington at Napanee last week. The principal case on the criminal case and three civil cases. The last case on the list was concluded on Thursday night. Richard L. Parrell of Niagara Falls accompanied by his friend, Walter S. Sharpe the owner and driver of a car, were proceeding to Montreal and Quebec on a short holiday on October 15th last. They stopped in Belleville and Napanee, when leaving Napanee they met another car coming in the distance to the next town, and the four men asked for a ride to Kingston, which was granted providing they got into the rumble seat. A few miles out of Napanee Parrell went to sleep and shortly after the car got over to the soft shoulder of the road and eventually slipped into the ditch. Parrell, in telegraph pole breaking it and stopping at a culvert or embankment. Parrell had his arm broken, and was taken to Kingston General Hospital. Sharpe's injuries were not reduced, and in a few days returned to his home in Niagara Falls. The car had been incapacitated until the present time owing to the fact that the roads would not unite. Parrell brought action for damages against Sharpe and wanted the trial before a jury, but on the objection of the defendant's counsel the jury was struck out, owing to the fact where an insurance company was involved. The plaintiff alleged that Sharpe was driving at a dangerous rate of speed while the defendant contended that he was travelling on the road by an approaching car with blinding lights. Parrell relied on written statements signed by the plaintiff acknowledging that he was at least exonerating Sharpe from all liability and negligence, and a release by which he was paid $100. The evidence of the four men in the car which was very conflicting, led to the conclusion of the trial and after considering same the jury therefore reserved judgment.

J. J. Wright, Catharines, and W. S. Martin, Niagara Falls, were counsel for plaintiff. Major R. C. Morrison, K.C., was counsel for the defendant.

PASTOR ASKED TO REMAIN

Queensboro', Feb. 27.—At the annual meeting of Trinity United church, Queensboro, Rev. Mr. Rivers was invited unanimously to remain for a sixth year. Mr. Rivers was in Parkhill before coming to Madoc.

Cities Service Oil Company Hold Educational Conference

C. S. Rollins' Appointment Received With Enthusiasm

MANY SPEAKERS

A meeting of the Eastern Division of the Cities Service Oil Co. was held in Belleville last night at the Quinte Hotel. Mr. C. S. Rollins was in the chair and his brief opening remarks suggested that his appointment would have been made by the Divisional Manager, Mr. E. D. Dooley.

Mr. Rollins pointed out that the Educational Conference for the year 1932 would be very successful with the close co-operation of all the members of the Eastern Division. It was very regretable that owing to the illness of Mayor Tice and Mr. Chas. Hanna they were unable to attend. The City of Belleville was represented by Mr. Woodley.

Mr. A. M. Wofford, General Manager of the Cities Service Oil Co. Ltd. in Canada gave a very interesting and instructive address regarding the progress that was made by the Company. He pointed out where it was essential for every employee to do his or her part to assist the Organization during the depression by giving one hundred percent co-operation.

The speakers were Mr. S. D. Scripture who spoke on the Company's Accounting Methods and the handling of their business.

Mr. Mc. Alexander spoke on the operation of the Bulk Plant, also personal contact with Bulk Plant Managers and Truck Driver with the customer.

Mr. R. W. Ketchison gave a very interesting speech on Using our Service. Mr. Ketchison being a farmer was very well versed on this subject and the operation of powerful machinery on the farm and the advantages to be derived from this type of machinery.

Mr. N. Alexander spoke on the Elimination of Waste and Office Management. This subject covered the Office, Warehouse and Service Stations in the Eastern Division.

Mr. A. H. Kincaid gave a very interesting talk on the life of Henry L. Doherty, Builder and Engineer. It was certainly very nice to hear the life of so great a Chief, and also the success also he commenced his career in the Public Utilities.

There were a number of dealers present. The conference ran for just every three months and the object of it is to come in contact with and customers with the activities of this organization from time to time.

8th Sidney

8th Sidney, Feb. 27 By Mail — Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Scott and Donald spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Percy Ulman.

Mrs. Elgin Jackman spent Thursday with Mrs. Stanley Irvin.

The concert that was held at the school house by the B.Y.W.I. last Friday evening was a decided success. The program was fine and the proceeds amounted to twenty-one dollars and thirty cents.

Miss Alice Heasman spent the week end at her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Chard and sons spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Morrow.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bush spent Sunday at the home of her mother, Mrs. Hiram Rosebush.

The meeting of the W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. W. H. Hanna on Wednesday afternoon, Feb. 17th. The program was arranged by Mrs. Mathieson and was very interesting.

At your Service!

THE FRUIT MACHINERY CO. Limited
SUCCESSORS TO THE FAMOUS WALKER FOUNDRY.

Don't wait until you are ready to use your tractor, or sprayer. Let us give you an estimate for a thorough overhaul. Our machine shop is equipped to take care of all kinds of general repair work. Lowest prices, consistent with high grade material and expert workmanship. Satisfaction guaranteed.

ALL KINDS OF INTERNAL COMBUSTION AND STEAM ENGINES OVERHAULED AND REPAIRED.

Contractors and Road Building Machinery Overhauled

Grey Iron, Brass, Bronze and Aluminum Castings.

NEW CANADIAN HOME OF "FRIEND" SPRAYERS!

Fruit growers will welcome the news that "FRIEND" sprayers are to be built in Belleville. If you are interested —write for prices.

A complete stock of spraying accessories carried in stock—spray-guns, nozzles, pressure hose, tank-fillers, etc.

SALES REPAIRED AND ADJUSTED
BLACKSMITHING—ELECTRIC ARC AND ACETYLENE WELDING.
Rebabbitting Connecting Rods a Specialty.
FRUIT MACHINERY CO. LTD., BELLEVILLE

PHONE 60 — PHONE 60

Wood-working and Pattern-making

Plow-shares. (Wholesale and Retail)

"Old Clothes" Cry Again Heard on West Side of City

Do You Remember Days of Boys Hunting For Bones, Bottles, Rags?

"MR." JUNKMAN

"Cash for old clothes. I buy old clothes... Have you any old clothes, madam?"...

Such is the old familiar but almost forgotten cry of the house to house man on the west side of the city for the past few days as he makes his rounds from door to door to see what people have to offer in return for a few pennies to pay for his trip.

Remember years ago when the old clothes man would join man used to visit the neighborhood, with his unshackle old rig, and ancient little pony with ribs sticking out like umbrella ribs! And do you remember the boys who made it their work for weeks picking up bits of old iron, bones and other sorts of things—to keep in a bag and save for the time when the junkman only rounds every week or so? Well, this man has buys the 'old clothes' is somewhat different. He has no decrepit rig and tinkling bell to herald his coming. He is a quiet, unpretentious, and except for a sing song voice, which is almost musical in its intervals, he passes unobserved. On his trips only a few of the many purchases he has made, in return for the few pennies he jingles in his pockets.

Again the days when the kids of the block fine rummaged in ash and back lots of the neighborhood, looking for bones and bottles and iron and rags, collecting them up and putting them in old bags, the junkman used to come along, drag in some mysterious weighing apparatus and jiggle the bags on the sliding hook. Then he would jingle the coppers in the palm of his hand, distribute a few around, to make up the total of work, and each kid would be happy. Then the junkman was a personage; the children knew him as "Mister," and he came to represent all the boys and girls he dealt with.

But while this primitive and collector was lynx eyed, sharp and perhaps a bit shifty sometimes, the new peddler does not suffer by comparison. His is a trade with very small capital. He has only the horse trader of old the man who would have no difficulty in haggle and bicker, and size you up to find out how much you could get when it comes to beating down the price. For a few cents he will walk up to the door, and with a pleasant good suit of clothes—to be resurrected in some Hungarian home and pressed and sold again to some man by a dealer in second hand. He has the position to buy a new suit.

When you consider that this gentleman he will frankly admit it has he buys for as little as he can, but when you is known as one of the most witty of us is mind it hasn't altered the wouldn't in my business?"

Just as he can be observed there is no cart for him to take away these purchases he makes, and among the many rooms in the back of a down town building forms the headquarters for the distribution of these articles which find their way by devious routes to all parts of the country. Probably the Esquimaux, under the modern influence have bought a suit of suits that once were the best on Front street. And Chinamen may be seen wearing hats that once sat on the brow of some of our best people. Maybe.

Obituary

LATE RICHARD WADDELL

A largely attended funeral was that of the late Richard Waddell, which took place this morning from his late residence 102 1-2 Church street, to St. Michael's Church. Mass was celebrated at 9 a.m. with the Rev. J. H. Madden as celebrant. He also officiated at the graveside in St. Michael's cemetery.

Many floral tributes and spiritual offerings testified to the worth, in life, of the deceased, and the esteem in which he was held throughout the community.

The bearers were Messrs. Charles Coates, A. Barnum, A. Legault, Fred McDonald, P. Prechette and Joseph Church.

Spiritual offerings were as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. H. Freeman, Mr. and Mrs. Barnum, Mr. and Mrs. Boyle, Mr. and Mrs. John Boyle, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O'Hara Mr. and Mrs. Fred Boyle, Mr. and Mrs. James O'Hara, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Boyle, Mrs. Ryan, Mr. and Mrs. V. Huffman, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Gerald; Mrs. and Mrs. P. Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. James Lynch, Mr. and Mr. John Barrow, Mr. and Mrs. George Johnson, Mrs. W. Hart, James Waddell, Miss Agnes Waddell, Fred MacDonald and family, Miss Mary Waddell, J. M. Grotto, Mrs. Luella Waddell, E. J. Grotto, P. Hayes and family, Mrs. Jack McCumbus and family, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Collins, Harold and Earle Clark, Ronald and Jean Waddell.

Floral offerings included: Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Little, Mr. and Mrs. C. Waddell, Mr. and Mrs. R. Hannah, Mr. and Mrs. H. Post and Ted, Belleville Fire Department, Mr. and Mrs. George Clark.

WESLEY WOODCOCK

The death occurred yesterday at the Belleville General Hospital of Wesley Woodcock of 81½, Church St., following an illness of a lengthy duration. The late Mr. Woodcock was born in Tweed and previous to his residence in Belleville fourteen years ago had resided there from birth. He was an adherent of the United Church.

Left to mourn his loss are three sons and three daughters, Peter and Alexander of Kingston and Howard of this city and three daughters, Mrs. Harrison McGee, Ottawa, Mrs. D. Thomas, New York and Mrs. M. Ford, Inglewood. Ont.

SECOND DEGREE MURDER

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Feb. 27.—William Irving Brown, 18-year-old Newton boy, who fatally shot his stepfather, Richard B. Wilson, Dec. 26, during a quarrel, was convicted of murder in the second degree last night after the jury had deliberated more than five hours. The conviction carries a mandatory life sentence.

Market of 1932 Different From That of Yesteryear

Modern Conveyances, Speed in Trading, Change in Ages

OLD GUARD GONE

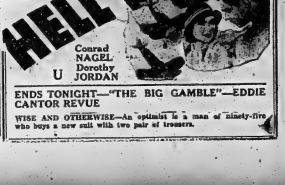
"It use to be interesting to come upon some of the old-timers on the local market, some quaint old bearded, regular Saturday market attendant, "but now where have they all gone?

I used to come with my mother, and I can still remember some of the old fellows who used to drive down with their big wagons heaped high with all kinds of produce—and their fresh, lively horses, but now we don't see them any more. What has happened to them?"

Changed indeed is the Belleville market to-day from that thirty, twenty or even ten years ago. In place of the keen-eyed weather-beaten old men, who used to come into town on Saturday, in order to sell their wares and who looked upon the jaunt as somewhat of an outing, has come another type entirely of a different.

Instead of flowing beards one finds alert, clean shaven men in the prime of thirties dressed in the height of fashion with well pressed suits, shined shoes, and a new hat. Indeed the latest is the most approved manner over the face of the earth.

And in place of the old fashioned wagon we find motor trucks, cars and other more modern conveyances just as we find more modern goods within, and more up-to-date methods of selling. Market day is now business day; they are there to sell their goods as quickly, at the best price they can, and get away as soon as possible. They do not care much for the methods of their fathers—of leaving the goods on view and letting the shopper take his choice at whatever price, or price, too, while they conversed the news with their next door neighbor. And as they are there to do it they could not so afford. These times are more pressing than they were thirty years ago, and business is the thing that way. Time has only served to accentuate this struggle under which the farmer must to-day labor.



Competition has thus been thrust on the shoulders of the younger man who is strong enough to bear it. While the older fokes stay home and attend to affairs, the young man—and his wife—journey to town, the latest of their offerings and are gone as soon as possible. The day when the whole family came in the source of the week's news events, which were so freely exchanged among them, has gone to a large degree. Modern business has quickened the tempo of the life, as it has changed the men who live it.

Prices, however, have undergone somewhat the same change as the market itself. A rise in prices has been in progress. Today your market money will go almost as far, and you will get about as much for it as you did thirty years ago. In some cases food is really cheaper; a few lines, as poultry and the like, have not increased appreciably, but there is not the demand for it—that there was some years ago.

With some this passing of the old guard from the market is deplored. Others of the city, more progressive, they realize that with the passing of the years certain changes must occur. They themselves have changed and it was not unexpected that the customs and the manners which surround them should do like wise. Ten years from now there will be other changes. Twenty-five and fifty years from now they will perhaps be unrecognizable as having belonged at one time to local habits and methods. Then, perhaps, the passing of what constitutes the old-fashioned will be deplored as much

Complete Evacuation of Foreigners in the Shanghai Area Mooted

Chinese Swept By Giant Bombs as Japanese Strafe

POWERS PROTEST

Tokio Asked to Avoid Landing More Troops in Settlement

Japanese artillery and aerial bombers continued their smashing attack on the Yangtsu sector, north of Shanghai, and apparently were making meagre progress against determined Chinese counter-attacks.

At Tokio ambassadors of Britain, the United States, France and Italy asked the Japanese government to avoid landing more troops in the international settlement and to move their warships down the Whangpoo River to lessen the danger of Chinese artillery attacks on the foreign districts.

At Washington announcement was made of plans to evacuate all foreigners from Shanghai in event of "extreme emergency". The plan includes means for protecting foreigners with guards and soldiers to concentration camps, and from the camps to commandeered ships.

At Moscow the position of Soviet Russia in the Far Eastern conflict became more vital as the government demanded formal explanation of Japanese military activities in Manchuria, and the Red army declared its forces were ready to meet White Russian or other attack on the Siberian frontier. The general atmosphere in Moscow and elsewhere was that Japan was preparing other time during the Japanese-Chinese conflict.

Bombs Prepare For Infantry Attack

Shanghai, Feb. 27.—A fleet of big bombing planes, coming in waves fast over the Chinese lines, renewed the Japanese offensive on Saturday, today, by showering the defending troops with thousands of pounds of high explosives.

Shortly after 10 a.m. the Japanese aerial bombardment was intensified as more planes loaded with powerful explosives left the ground. The fleet and ripped the Chinese with huge bombs.

Both military and naval planes participated in the attack on the largest peak yet witnessed in the warfare. Artillery bombardment was resumed and the Japanese land marines announced that a general infantry attack on the Kiangwan and Tasang sectors would begin this morning.

Following an all-night artillery bombardment, which was halted for only a few hours before 10 a.m., Japanese planes went aloft in brilliant sunshine and sped up and down the Chinese lines from Chapei to Kiangwan and Tasang.

Bombs spattered the Chinese Trenches before Tasang, where the 19th Route army and the Chinese Kai-Shek troops have held out for seven days against Gen. Kenkichi Uyeda's "big offensive". The planes zoomed over low to attack Chinese headquarters at Chanju and let loose their carpets of bombs over the entire area of the defence sector as Chinese gunners sought vainly to bring the big war birds down.

Shanghai, Feb. 27.—A Japanese threat to drive the Chinese back up the strategic points on the Chapei-Woosung railway line, and with an early morning Chinese thrust today which drove the Japanese out of Kiangwan village, west of Kiangwan, walled village was the Chinese hard hold for a second.

Later Chinese batteries within Chapei started a heavy shelling of the district. The latter guns responded but weakly.

The short Chinese offensive halted the westward kink the Japanese were putting into their front line somewhat north and west of Kiangwan and pushed the bottle in back around that village.

The Japanese advanced last night against stubborn fire and at almost completely surrounded Kiangwan in an early morning attack. The situation was admittedly serious for the 19th route army at midnight and it soon resorted to a lunge in the darkness to keep open the supply lines for the sturdy defenders of Kiangwan and in addition took Miaohongchen.

Hamilton Has Plan to Aid Unemployed

Hamilton, Ont., Feb. 28 (CP) — Hamilton city council was reported last night to have a plan under consideration for the deportation of all citizens with less than five years' residence, who have become public charges. Four thousand families are on the city relief list and 60 per cent. are non-English speaking. The greater number of this percentage will be included in the deportation order if it is put into effect, it was said.

Cook's Regulating Compound

A safe, reliable, regulating pill, sold in three degrees of strength, No. 1, No. 2, No. 3. Ladies use No. 3 in preference to all others. Ordered by druggist on receipt of price. Free pamphlet. Address: THE COOK MEDICINE CO. TORONTO, ONT. Formerly Windsor, Ont.

$500 Prize List At Seed Exhibition

Wednesday next the Bay of Quinte Seed Fair opens at Bowmanville for a three days' session, March 2-4, judging starts at 10 A.M. on the second day of the show, and the Bowmanville Rotary Club banquet the visiting seedsmen that evening, with Dr. G. I. Christie, President of the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, as principal speaker.

The prize list amounts to $500, and the auditorium exhibits during the closing day of the fair is also of interest to exhibitors and farmers throughout the Bay of Quinte district. Five years ago the show was held in the Armouries here, proving most successful and last year the fair was held at Peterboro.

MISSION WORK IS PRAISED

Heroism of Men is Challenge to Best of World

Montreal, Que., (by the Canadian Press)—The heroic work of the Grenfell Labrador Mission is a challenge to the best of the world, said Canon A. P. Shatford stated at the annual meeting of the mission society held here recently. "Compared with such heroism as is shown through, we know nothing of narrow and straightened circumstances," he said. "Let us not yield to the depression and hard times we suffer."

The work accomplished by Sir Wilfred Grenfell was the finest inspiring example of the contagion of good, for the cause had backlied alone 25 years ago on the coast of Labrador now stretched the sympathy of people throughout Canada, England, Australia and United States.

From reports submitted to the meeting showed that the Montreal society had sent spring and fall shipments of clothing, heavy underwear, hospital supplies, blankets, toys, knitted articles and wool for knitting to Harrington Harbor and Mutton Bay. A sale of handicrafts made by the people of Labrador was held and 1931, it was stated, was of great assistance, as the catch of fish had been poorer than usual last season.

WORKER GASHES FOOT WITH AXE

Edward Flynn, Marmora, Employed on Highway, is Injured

Tweed — Mrs. Geo. Palmateer who has been staying with her daughter, Mrs. White in Belleville returned to her home on Sunday and sometime ago in Kingston General Hospital, returned to her home in Tweed last Sunday.

Edward Flynn of Marmora, while working on Highway No. 7, for the York Construction Company, north of Marmora, struck his left foot with an axe. The injury necessitated medical attention and several stitches were required to close the wound. Flynn was later present confined to the Hospital at Tweed.

Mr. Herb Sayers, Reeve of Tweed and son, Robert motored to Toronto on business on Saturday last. While in Toronto they witnessed the hockey match at the Arena Gardens on Thursday night.

PREPARED TO ABOLISH OATH

Irish Party Opposed to Alliance But Supports De Valera

DUBLIN, Irish Free State, Feb. 27.—(AP)—A statement issued by the Irish Labor party at a meeting last night made it virtually certain that in the view of political commentators, De Valera's Fianna Fail party will have a majority in the Dail for the abolition of the oath of allegiance to the British Crown.

The Labor party has always opposed the oath and will continue to do so," the statement declared.

On the issue of the payment of land annuities, which Mr. de Valera also wants to abolish, the Labor policy is "to examine and reopen this question by friendly negotiation with Great Britain."

WANTED IN COCHRANE

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 27.— (By the Canadian Press)—Wanted in Cochrane, Ont., on a charge of obtaining $634 by fraud, James Beaumont of Toronto, was arrested here last night by Canadian National Railway investigators from the Northern town.

DEFIES DEATH TO BRING OUT GAS VICTIMS

Bears Mother and Child Found Unconscious on Stairs to Safety

THREE ENTRIES

Victims Revived By First Aid—Furnace Pipes in Duplex Fail

TORONTO, Feb. 27. — Defying death from coal gas fumes which had trapped four young women and two children in a duplex building at 639 Merton street last night, a 26-year-old Janitor plunged three times into the building to bring the occupants to safety, three of them in his arms, and then led out in a dazed condition.

Almost stumbling upon the threshold of two of the victims as he opened the back door of the building, the young workman carried them to the open air. Returning, he carried another unconscious woman to safety. Then, in two more trips to the upper apartment of the building, he half-led, half-carried two young women down the stairs. Each of the six had been driven from the fume-filled house did he pause to rest.

Harold Aikens, 49 Seymour avenue, discovered the unconscious forms of Mrs. Sidney Druckman and her six-months-old child Ellen Mary, first on the stairs leading from the kitchen of her apartment, then after his entrance, in a blind endeavor to seek safety. He had failed at the first effort to descend to the furnace in the building, fearing the woman in his arms, he said, might die in the garden and then returned for Ellen.

Mrs. Druckman was put into the house, despite the choking fumes, by her husband, who had returned across a bed, where she had been overcome by the gas. He carried her upstairs and then rushed to the upper apartment.

Mother Clasps Child

Sickened by the fumes, he made his way down the stairs, where he found Mrs. S. Ciglen, almost overcome and aghast as she gazed at the body of her little two-year-old baby which she had been nursing. The tragedy, she said, was that she was breathing in gasp. He seized the child and led the woman down the stairs, returning once again to bring down Miss Margaret Simpson, a maid, who had almost been overcome by the fumes. Miss Simpson, however, was able to walk, and was able to make her way next door to Dr. Aikens' office, where, with Aikens sought to administer first-aid to the other victims.

Firemen, doctors and gas company emergency men sped to the scene. Inspector Ellis led one of two women most seriously poisoned by the fumes.

A telephone call to Samuel Ciglen, husband of Mrs. Ciglen, owner of the house, sent him dashing out of his office to leap into a taxicab. Detective-Sergeant Sawyer's officer to his aid, and the officer paved the way for his car to the front trip to the side of his wife and child.

Furnace Pipes Blocked

Harold Aikens, 28, of 40 Seymour avenue, was the rescuer. He had been door to find Mrs. Sidney Druckman lying unconscious at the foot of the stairs leading to the back yard. Near, her dazed and ill, was Ellen Mary, the two-months-old daughter.

Hurriedly, Aikens carried the two victims to the back door, a trip to the gas impelled him to turn back into the house.

Mrs. Druck and motionless, Miss Celia Marx lay on a bed in the front room. Aikens carried her to the kitchen and turned on the gas.

Mrs. Druck and motionless, Miss Celia Marx lay on a bed in the front room. Aikens carried her to the kitchen and turned on the gas.

Aikens roused them and ushered them outdoors. They were quickly revived.

Miss Simpson entered the house next door and telephoned her to the hospital.

Mrs. Ciglen, husband of the ill woman, also called.

LARGE HERD PASS TUBERCULAR TEST

Dr. Reed and Dr. Penhall, of the government veterinary department completed this week a thorough tubercular test of the entire herd of the Montrose Dairy, one hundred and eighty in number. The findings of the government veterinarians is that the herd was completely free of disease, and has been scientifically handled. The dairy farm was started something over a year ago by Mr. Hastie, who has found one diseased cow in all that period. The Montrose herds are now completely accredited. The government doctors complimented Mr. Graham highly on the excellent condition and cleanliness of his premises. The splendid health condition in which they found his cattle.

NOT ON MAP

St. Catharines, Feb. 27.—A road map of the district published in Toronto entirely forgets that there is such a city as St. Catharines, Niagara Falls, Lewiston, Fort Erie and Port Dalhousie have prominent spots on the map, but St. Catharines, the biggest city of Niagara Peninsula, is missing. Welland and Port Colborne have been left off the map.

Quality has no substitute

"SALADA" TEA

Tea "fresh from the gardens"

Strip State Business of Social Frippery: So Save, Says King

Padlock Provincial Government Houses For Six Months

CRITICISES CUT

'Horizontal' Reduction For All Grades is Opposed

Ottawa, Feb. 27.—Padlocking of Provincial Government Houses throughout Canada six months in the year during a time like this to eliminate "elaborate social functions when economy must be practised in the quarters," was suggested in the House of Commons yesterday by Right Hon. Mackenzie King, Liberal Leader.

"I do not know why social functions should be kept up at this time," he said, when economizing the Government's policy of a 10 per cent. horizontal salary reduction for civil servants. Minister R. B. Bennett had announced it would not apply to the salaries of Lieutenant-Governors, Judges, officers and men of the naval, military and air forces of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

"I think certain people are finding it hard as they are today to make both ends meet and I would have said the Liberal leader, "if only adds to their distress and to the anxiety of their duties to read accounts of elaborate social functions carried on in Government Houses."

Suggests Resignations

F. O. Bachman (Liberal, South Perth), went one step further when he suggested the Dominion request the resignations of the Lieutenant-Governors of every Province in the interests of economy. R. J. Manion, Minister of Railways and Canals, termed both suggestions "dramagogism".

For the entire day the House debated a resolution to authorize the introduction of a Government bill based on the 10 per cent. reduction in civil servant salaries and the indemnities and allowances of members of Parliament and Senators.

On salaries below $1,200 a year, the Government has made special payments made to the Superannuation Fund, making the cut only 5 per cent. The debate was not concluded, and will continue early next week.

To representatives of the Civil Service Federation later in Parliament, Premier Bennett made it absolutely clear that the Government will not weaken in its intention to cut salaries.

The Civil Service delegation which waited on the Premier yesterday left with the understanding of its kind ever to appear before any administration in any country. To them the Premier declared not only that the cut would be made as a matter of economy, but that the Civil Service of Ottawa was overmanned and must be reduced.

The "Greater Duty"

To the Commons in the afternoon the Premier declared: "We receive duty to be far greater than that which is involved in the popularity of a government. We are content to leave the issue to those who ultimately have to decide it."

The Prime Minister's evident anticipation of opposition to the measure was based on what he declared to be the disposition of certain persons to make political capital out of the Government's intended action, which was a thoroughly unfair one. He deprecated "the apparent effort to make politics out of making political capital out of this matter in this Capital city of Ottawa."

Mr. King, who followed, took the Premier to task for his mention of "politics" at the very introduction of his measure, and declared there was no disposition to oppose the salary cut on the broad principle of a reasonable cut in public service, but he did object to the straight horizontal cut. The Opposition Leader suggested that Government Houses in the Provinces might be closed up for six months, and the social functions stopped for the present; and that bondholders, bankers and financiers might be asked to make some sacrifice. As for Canada's financial position, he blame! some of it, amid chorus of Conservative dissent, upon Premier Bennett's election campaign promises.

There are 60,000 Dominion civil servants who are to be affected by the salary-cut, which is being instituted for one year only, according to the bill, and in his remarks to the representatives, Premier Bennett inferred that income tax schedules will be increased when the bill is brought down.

Among the more or less facetious suggestions which were cast at the Premier by opposition members during the afternoon and evening of debate, was one that the Dominion Cabinet itself might contribute $1,000,000 to the State.

POLICYHOLDERS REVISE COMPANY

New Slate of Directors Elected When Board Meeting Held

Lindsay, Feb. 26.—Lindsay's largest auditorium, the Academy Theatre, was the scene of a gathering of 700 policy-holders in the Farmers' Mutual Fire Insurance Company yesterday. They represented farmers from various points in the five counties of Victoria, Haliburton, Peterboro, Ontario, and Northumberland and Durham, and the occasion was the annual meeting of the company. Interest was at fever heat because of the action of the Board of Directors in making a levy of 20 per cent. on the premium notes of the policyholders, and a subsequent indignation meeting held by policyholders called by farmers interested.

Today's meeting was noisy and disturbing. It was stated by the secretary, Miss Pearl James, that 71 per cent. of the policyholders had paid the demand of 20 per cent. in cash, amounting to $112,000, but farmers were present to reiterate their protest and to get some "new blood" on the Board of Directors.

When it came to selecting six new directors, to take the place of retirements, no fewer than 23 were nominated, the four elected for three years being: Col. Sam Hughes, Dunsford, P. G. Sandy of Omemee, Wesley Snively of Bethany, and Jasper Foreman of Kirkfield. Two men, Alex. Graham of Omemee, and A. Easson of Keene and Charles Jeffrey of Oakwood. The election of the directors to reduce their per at board meetings from $5 to $4.50 was approved.

In Egypt there are thirty-seven cities under 10 years of age who have been divorced.

A scientist has succeeded measuring a 600 millionth of a sec ond.

The creation of a gigantic new lake in the area immediate north of Lake Athabaska has been suggested as a means to decrease the rainfall in the Western Provinces.

Porto Rico's sugar crop is expected to break all records.

NEW RECORDS SET BUT NOT FOR THE MILE

Sir Malcolm Campbell Hindered By Bad Driving Conditions

NEAR TRAGEDY

Goggles Suddenly Cloud Over—May Visit Toronto

Daytona Beach, Fla., Feb. 27—Although he failed in his main objective of boosting his world one-mile record, Sir Malcolm Campbell, British monarch of auto speed, yesterday brought down three more automobile speed marks, increasing his total of new world records to five within three days.

After a roaring two-way run up and down the beach in his Bluebird racer, under conditions that were considerably short of ideal, the able British driver was credited with smashing the world records for five kilometres, five miles and ten kilometres.

The records he set for one mile and kilometre two days ago when he stood his latest assault. He may try again tomorrow to break those, although he had arranged to conclude his speed runs yesterday and ship the Bluebird to New York, on

High Speed

Sir Malcolm's average speed for the mile yesterday was 251.765 miles per hour, as compared with the record of 253.968 he established on Wednesday, but he established a higher mark of speed for a longer straightaway stretch than any man has ever done before.

The new record the British driver established over 5 kilometres was 247.941 miles an hour, which was 6.372 miles an hour faster than the speed of 241.569 he set up Wednesday.

His new record over the five-mile route was 246.731. This exceeded by 31.260 the former record for that distance, which Sir Malcolm set at Verneki Pan, South Africa, in 1926 at 211.491.

His new mark over the ten kilometres was 238.659, which was 45.7 miles an hour faster than the old record of 152.9 set up by M. Borzacchini at Cremone, Italy, in 1928.

The speed king's two-way average speed over the kilometres yesterday was 240.517 miles an hour. The record established over the distance Wednesday was 231. 340.

After completing his run, Sir Malcolm drove through a thoroughly crowded race car to the grand stand. He appeared disappointed that only officials he had not broken the record for the mile. He hurried his isochometre, or engine speed indicator, aboard his car and travelling at a clip of approximately 270 miles an hour.

Goggles Clouded

The most hazardous part of Sir Malcolm Campbell's record-breaking run yesterday, he said, came when his goggles suddenly clouded over and almost obscured his vision for a time. He hitting his top speed of more than 250 miles an hour.

Checks Are Endorsed

Checks are endorsed for Spring and so we have a suit in black and white checked worsted that is a popular silhouette and a blue cut skirt. There is an overlapping triangular cuff.

The want of money is the root of all evil.

For painful joints sprains and strains

Rub IN Elliman's Rub OUT pain

Large Bottle 50¢

The most famous liniment in the world—and used all over the world.

Good for RHEUMATIC PAINS

29th Feb. WALLBRIDGE'S at 29c

Leap Year Specials

This Can Only Happen Once in Four Years

Any of the Following Articles for 29c each

Soups, Aylmer, 2 tins 29c
Sardines, Crossed Fish, 2 tins 29c
Beans, Green or Yellow, 2 tins 29c
Pilchards, 2 large tins 29c

Christies Assorted Biscuits, 1 lb. package

Hollywood Cookies, 1 large cake
Christies Delight Soup, 3 cakes
Sanifluah, 1 tin

Marmalade, Best Orange, 48 oz. jar
Grapefruit, 4 good size
Oranges, Seedless, 1 doz.
Jello, all flavors, 4 pkts.

2 long tapers, 2 pair

Peas, Good quality, 3 tins
Corn, white or yellow, 3 tins
Beans, Green or Yellow, 2 tins
Chef Meals, 2 tins

Asparagus Cuttings, 3 tins
Tomato Juice, 2 large tins
Dill Pickles, sliced, spiced, 1 jar
Mayonnaise, Blue Ribbon, 1 jar

Coffee, freshly ground, extra special 29c lb.

Cheese, Kraft, 2 small tins
Toddy, 1-½ lb. tin

Peaches, Crawford, Glass, 1
Phone WALLBRIDGE AND CLARKE Phone
157 158 23 Bridge St. and 56 Forin St. 443W.
Cash Prices, Delivery 10c extra.
C.O.D. orders carefully filled. Orders of $3.00 Delivered Free.

TERSE TALKS on TIMELY TOPICS

Fellow Citizens:

I have been having a touch of flu, and for awhile I thought I was going up it. Every bone in my body ached, including my head. Generally when you are sick you are alone in one place, but when you have flu you have it all over the premises. I was as full of germs as a family toothbrush. Every time I moved it was as good for me as it I ran a load of furniture. And yet I didn't want to stay in one position any longer than a continental stenographer. To move was terrible, and to sit still was worse.

And yet I didn't have any more ambition than a hen with one leg. I didn't care whether we did any plumbing or not, and I had always considered that the only person who ever felt that way was one of our workmen maybe. I felt like I hadn't a friend in the world. I didn't have any among the many people who came into contact with me. As an animal imitator I certainly was a success. I barked like a dog around the plant and mewed like a cat around the office.

Finally I went to see a doctor. I had seen his sign several times, and so I dropped in to see the man himself. Of course I didn't know he was a horse doctor, and it was a good thing I didn't, because that was what I needed. He told me the thing for me to do was to go home and go to bed. I asked him if he though I would feel better if I did, and he said no, but that everybody else would. So I went home and went to bed. That was the first time I had gone to bed in the daytime since the last Democratic convention.

He sent me some goofballs to take, anyway that is the way they looked and about how they swallowed, so I took them. I don't know if it was a horse doctor, but he was, and that was all he could have found out that anything that would cure a horse ought to have some effect on a man, and he was right. The doctor wasn't to blame. I told him it was a little heavy, and he said he'd me accordingly.

I believe in the anxiety of inquiring friends, I wish to say that I have now got over my illness and am still whinney a little, but otherwise you would hardly know I had been sick. That bear oil medicine did the trick. It sure did. Now I don't look any worse than I ever do, or feel much more so. I am almost fit to associate with again. My brain still seems a little fevered, but the doctor says that will pass away. All I need now is plenty of air, bright sunshine and a few orders.

Thankfully yours,

GARN DOBBS,
The Little Plumber Around The Corner on Victoria Ave.

MONTROSE DAIRY

Guaranteed Butter Fat

Our milk is tested daily by experts. The following is taken from our records.

	Jersey	Standard
Sat.	4.4	3.4
Sun.	4.2	3.5
Mon.	4.4	3.4
Tues.	4.3	3.3
Wed.	4.3	3.4
Thur.	4.4	3.5
Average for month	4.3	3.5

We are glad to report our herd is now completely accredited and was this week retested by the Government doctors and not one tubercular reaction has occurred during the year and a half of our operation.

Phone 374

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER
THE DAILY ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER is published every afternoon (Sunday and holidays excepted) at Belleville's Intelligence Building, Front Street.
RATES—DAILY EDITION—
Year, delivered in city $7.00
Year, by mail to rural route $3.50
Year, in U. S. A. $3.50
W. H. MORTON, Publisher.

EXIT THE CROONER

Crooning is said to be on the wane. It has received severe shattering at the persistent attacks of its foes. New York Singing Society has issued an hearty approval of the condemnation by Cardinal O'Connell of crooning as "a degenerate form of singing," the half-dispression, half-smothering of the voices of the croon-ers. The latest foe is a new outbreak in the ranks of the young announcers who interpret the solid lines of the chorus with monotonous, meaningless syllables which cannot be spelled in print. One paper says the new style suggests that the singers have forgotten the words and are just tra-la-la-ing and it is hinted the way for the crooners looks like that of tandem bicycles, mah jong, and midget golf.

But good music goes on. It always has a following, never perhaps as large as the mob which croons when everyone is crooning or jazzing when the whole world things only of jazz but there comes a day when the best in music outweighs in popularity, these freak monstrosities—the day when the cream rises to the top. There are more true music lovers than thoughtless Jazzers and crooners. The following of the one is spherical, and may last one or two seasons, while that of the other is as set as the fixed stars.

RADIO PROGRAMS

During the day time fine radio programs are heard, but many do not hear these, because housewives are too busy to listen and because the men folk are away at work.

It must be admitted that these hours have not the greatest advertising value and so in evenings when the whole family is supposed to be at home before the radio, advertising more and more clutters the radio programs until some of them become obnoxious. It is only when the hours of the end of the day draws near that many superb programs again come on the air.

It must be clear that sooner or later the public will weary of the endless iteration of so many advertising talks and suggestions. While it is realized that the advertisers are paying for the programs and must get value out of the radio broadcast by having their wares brought to notice, there might be a little more deftness in their handling. For if they annoy the public, this advertising medium will tend to lose its value.

Against advertising, newspapers need have no fear of the radio competition for newspapers provide news of the world and of the homes-town, while the radio very generally know that news is news and advertising is advertising. But advertising set to music is objectionable, hardly the best possible, yet there is no other means by which radio can handle the business.

Again advertising through the radio is restricted for time but the newspaper is not. News in the latter is news and as much of it is given as is possible can interest. But the radio newscasts are only brief statements or headings, for time will not permit expansion. They cannot be recalled at will.

A two or three cent newspaper contains more words than one hears in a station could broadcast in an entire day without mentioning advertising and music. Radio broadcast is more tabloid than the tabloid sheet—there is not even substitute for the newspaper, which can be read again and again; as much can be read as one likes, and the more one reads the more potent than the ear in assisting the imagination.

SYMPATHY FOR ANIMALS

A cat stirred the whole Lewis Street neighborhood as poor Puss kept her station on the top cross-arm of an electric light pole for two days.

This interest in the dumb creation (though it is not as dumb as the world would infer, but dumb only as far as discourse between this creation and mankind is concerned) is a healthy thing. Cats have branded one as thoughtless not to do something for the relief of the frightened animal.

This is the inherent good nature of people. But there is another trait which is inherent or inherited as does not in the manner in which animals are trapped for their fur. Steel traps ought to be banned for the most cruel instruments and something ought long ago to have taken their place. A cleverly hidden trap will trap an animal, because man has all his wits against the poor creature—"get him" is seemingly the only object. But the physical torture of the animal caught in the trap added to its mental anguish with its fears of destruction. No human being knows what passes through the mind of the poor creature as it lies with its maimed and bleeding foot in a trap; everything of horror must occupy the poor thing's mind, with the pain of body grating relentlessly upon the frenzied nerves of the creature.

Steel traps of animals for their fur ought to be made the least painful possible and as much as possible the knowledge ought to be kept from the beast that it is to be slaughtered.

There must be room for improvement. Some day these things will be improved. But some one has to fight for that coming day.

Sympathy with the lower creation is a mark of civilization.

SIDELIGHTS
GRAVE and GAY
Supervised by The Lamplighter

ONE WHITE STAR
By Alfine Michaelis

Here is the still pool lying Clasped to the wide lake's breast:
Skyward, the wild ducks flying
And one pale star in the west.

Nothing can change it, ever
Picture of star and pool,
Naught in my mind can sever
Night coming tranquil and cool.
From you with your glad gaze lifted
Up to the heavens afar;
While at your feet there drifted
Pale in the pool, one star.

Skyward, the wild ducks' clamor.
Waning to echoes sweet;
Above you, fine Night's glamor
And one white star at your feet.

MEET SOME MORE of the large Ontario Intelligencer family. Recently I told you about Dr. Bisch who can be found in the next few to this every day, and always has something interesting, educational and beneficial to say. Today meet the ladies, your attention being directed to the Women's Page may be found "Beauty," a daily symposium by Helen Jamieson; "Fashion Flashes," revealing that charming and popular young lady, Alice Alden, who knows all about what the well dressed woman should and will wear; Mrs. Cornelius Beardsmore, who is quite correct, don't you know and tells just how the well bred woman acts in "Good Manners," and then we have Miss Elsie Wilcox whose "Advice to the Lovelorn" has paved many a path to the altar with orange blossoms, and last but not least Miss Kay Livingston who conducts "The Beauty Box" where many of our lady readers find pearls of great price and hints which will increase the loveliness of face and figure. Gazing at these six clever ladies whose feature articles grace the Women's Page of this Great Family Journal the men may get a bit jealous and think rather much attention is being given the fair sex—but wait a minute what about the columns of sport for men only, or almost only, editorial and general news which do not carry so much reader interest for women? Women reader interest centres largely in the Women's Page and the advertisements, for while Pa may be reading the News, Maw is figuring how much she can save this week by reading the advertisements—and don't forget Roberta Lee's instruction on Medern Etiquette daily on the editorial page.

LISTENING TO THE HIGH PAID VOCALISTS featured night after night on radio programs one reaches the conclusion that the whole batch of radio soloists could be scrapped and Belleville could furnish a much better collection of singers. Crooners and Looners are making the mike miserable.

x x x

"So you're the salesman now, eh, Sambo? Do you stand behind the products you sell?"

"No, sah, I sho don't."

"Why, Sam, I'm surprised at you. You should always stand behind your products. What are you selling?"

"Mules."

x x x

A very small boy with a very large bundle of papers under his arm was trudging along the street.

"Don't all those papers tire you, my boy?" asked a kindly gentleman.

"Naw, I don't read them," replied the boy.

x x x

"Smith," shouted the teacher, who was getting out of patience with his class, "why were you absent yesterday?"

"Please, sir, I attended my brother's wedding."

"Whom did he marry?"

"A woman, sir."

"Idiot!" shouted the irate teacher. "Did you ever hear of anyone marrying a man?"

"Yes, sir my sister!"

x x x

Policeman (to schoolboy): "Who owns this cow and calf?"

Schoolboy: "I don't know who owns the cow, but I have an idea who owns the calf."

Policeman: "Well, who owns the calf?"

Schoolboy: "The cow."

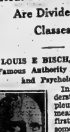
MODERN ETIQUETTE

Q. When must a visiting card be left?

A. One should leave a card within a few days after dining at first meal as a lady's house; or after being invited for the first time to lunch or dine with strangers. Etiquette demands that a card be left in both instances, whether the invitations are accepted or not.

Q. What refreshments should be offered to a caller?

A. A cooling drink on a hot day, or a cup of tea in cold weather.



Q. Is there any certain time for one to arrive at a ball or a large dance?

A. No; one may arrive whenever he wishes.

PLEURISY IN ANY FORM IS DOCTOR'S CASE

Various Forms of Disease Are Divided in Classes

By LOUIS E BISCH, M.D., Ph.D.
(Famous Authority on Health and Psychology)

LOUIS E. BISCH

In order to understand what pleurisy or pleurisy means we must first appreciate something of the anatomical structures involved. Pleurisy indicates an inflammation of the pleura — membranous tissue which covers the lungs and all the inner surface of the ribs, forming thereby a kind of enclosed sac or pocket.

Doctors divide the various forms of pleurisy in different ways. Thus fibrosis of serous pleurisy of fibrinous pleurisy, etc., depending upon the form. When pus is present the pleurisy is designated as purulent—the latter also called as "empyema". Pleurisy with effusion of the lung cavity, likewise the pleurisy often accompanying tuberculosis. There is even a form "pleurisy pain", "pleurisy" whatever its variety, may be either acute or chronic.

Whenever symptoms of pleurisy exist the important thing to examine is whether there is fluid in the pleural sac; secondly, what its composition exists. Fluid inside the pleural cavity gives pain, often sharp and intermittent, whenever the breath is drawn the pain appears, or growth of the fluid with increased pressure of the enlarged lungs. Usually the patient has to "splint" his ribs, so to speak. With all this there may be fever, and often there is dry cough which can become agonizing.

When fluid is present in what might be termed excessive amounts it must be drawn off through needle punctures. If pus is present in empyema, it may even be necessary to cut a piece of a rib and insert a tube into the pleural cavity so that the purulent fluid may escape.

Pleurisy may occur after exposure to cold or after pneumonia. Cancer of the lungs and other affections may produce it. There are numerous other forms of pleurisy in which there is no serious inflammation of the pleura itself, the membrane, is thickened and there is a rather sticky discharge. If virulent germs are present, such pleurisies may get into fluid.

A child often ushers in such a condition with a severe pain quickly follow. Sometimes the symptoms are not apparent in the beginning—merely a pain in the side and a dry cough. Sometimes, accidentally, this pain may seem to be under the arm on the affected side, or the region of the breast. The pain may be sharp, like a knife, and often the patient may actually afraid to breathe.

In some cases the fever rises to 102 or higher. At the end of a week or so it may drop to normal temperature. Then it may rise once. Sometimes, with the cough, the expectoration may be streaked or even streaks of blood.

Whatever the variety of pleurisy be, rest in bed is necessary. In the olden days cupping used to be employed, but now accomplished by burning alcohol or even paper in a glass or cup and, after the flame had subsided, holding it against the chest where the pain was. It was a result—a counter-irritation was set up. Due to the heat, also, the skin would be drawn out.

Cupping has, however, been given up, but dry cupping sometimes by mustard plasters give some relief or the ice bag. Painting over of the side with iodine has proved beneficial.

A liquid diet should be indulged in by the patient, even when the fever is not high. Fruit juices should have found the so-called "dry" diet more efficacious, however, with no liquids given. Sometimes a salt-free diet is best.

Drawing off of the fluid may be necessary. This is known as "aspiration." In my private pleurisy reserve the services of a doctor.

Dr. Bisch's Daily Health Hint

When a specific pneumonic bacillus he must exercise the greatest caution that no pus from tonsil is taken out and no parts left. Otherwise the tonsil may spread to speak, while the absorption from such infected tonsils is likely to be worse than before.

Poet's Corner

MIRAGE

I saw a hound, with nose intent
On sodden city lawn,
Type past my window. Suddenly
The torpid street was gone.

The bracken flickered at my feet,
Flame in the valley's brown,
Within its bouldered-fortred bed,
A scowling stream writhed down.

The hill railed up her granite face
To the-blue deeps of sky,
And I had found the north again
Because a hound passed by.

— Lillian E. I. C. Gunn.

30 YEARS AGO

Clippings From Our Old Newspaper Files

February 27, 1902

Some small boys were standing on the Grand Trunk bridge looking at the river. "I'll bet there'll be a flood, said one. "I hope there is, said another. "It's great fun to see it and we live up on the hill." Human nature.

Navigation is open. Some people in West Belleville have a foot and a half of water in their cellars, and have to float in wash-tubs in order to reach their provisions.

Today is the anniversary of Ovide's surrender, also Macha Day.

Beautiful weather these days, that is, above the ankles.

A horse belonging to McCoy's livery ran away last evening. It was left standing on West Bridge Street near the driving park and becoming frightened, off it started towards the south. After crossing the ferry bridge, the animal collided with the building on the south east corner of Bridge and Front Streets and this stopped its career. The horse was not damaged but the horse was not injured.

A wood famine is threatened in Madoc.

The Rathbun Company's cord-wood shanty north of Marmora broke out on Wednesday of this week, being unable to work any other day on account of the depth of the snow.

R. B. Pruit and J. C. Bowen have been appointed auctioneers of Marmora Village at a salary of $7.50 each.

This afternoon a large quantity of snow came down from the roof of the Coleman block on Front Street to the sidewalk below. A few minutes before the fall the walk at the time was burdened with people, but they all escaped unhurt. Had one been caught the result might have been serious.

At a regular meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Madoc Methodist Church an invitation to the Rev. and Mrs. Pearce to change for the third year was carried unanimously.

The writer of "100-000 Eyes" died in New York yesterday.

"A Taxpayer" writes: "I am not a kicker, but I am tired of being taxed the way I am. I pay my way but I pay my taxes. I have seen the time when a request the tax collector has prepared the tax collector has prepared a statement giving the names of persons owing back taxes which he is unable to collect. I think the public at large would be interested in seeing the list in print, or else hung up in some public place."

A New Jersey man who had been in the habit of smoking 100 cigarettes a day has just been blessed with twins.

To Day's Temperatures: 8 A.M. 21; 12 M. 36; 2 P.M. 41; 6 P.M. 34.

The weather: Fresh to strong winds, mild with rain and sleet to night.

50 YEARS AGO

Clippings From Our Old Newspaper Files

February 27, 1882

A communication was received from the city council with certain ratepayers, asking permission to erect a cattle yard on the corner of Pine and Dufferin streets.

The total taxes of the city amount to $35,000.00. Sirsnuture of which $20,000 has been collect them and it is expected that before the year ends $30,000 will be collected. The remainder will be collected.

Before considering the question of applying for a charter for the Belleville and Trent Valley across the bay, connecting this county with Prince Edward county by the Adelaide road, that he objected to the construction of the bridge chiefly because it was unnecessary and would impede navigation.

The Women's Christian Association has been voted $400 by the city council to be given to the Children's Aid Society.

The quarterly report of the cow inspector shows that during the quarter ending February first, the number of cows impounded was 3; horses 1; pigs 2; sheep 1.

Commander Cherye, R. N., the originator of the project of reaching the North Pole by means of balloons, still, it is possible, lecture in the city in order to raise the money to carry out his project.

Mr. John Intends to commence work on the new opera house next week, and expects to have it completed, ready for occupation by September. The plans for the house are to be made for the house besides the Bridge Street.

The Mite Society of Holloway Street Methodist Church celebrated their first anniversary by holding a social which was very successful.

The principal musical event of this week is the concert in the Metropolitan Hall to be given by the choir of Bridge Street Methodist Church. The programme is an excellent one and no doubt will be well carried out.

TEAM WORK —London Opinion.

HEARD ON THE STREET

(By Jay. Dee.)

The sun sinks down all blushy red
In a sky of amber hue
Delicate fancies in your head
Thrill all your being through.

Across these visions of delight
To work the devil sends
Wafts that olfactory fright—
Frankfurters in a pan.

—Conirib.

x x x

THE LAST OF HIS TRIBE—

Ab Woodward sold the last wooden Indian in Belleville to Harry Aylsworth, up the Trent Road, near Melrose. Harry Aylsworth was offered two hundred and sixty a short time ago for the Indian, but refused as the man who wanted to buy it had not much Harry thinks of his wooden Indian.

x x x

When the late Mr. J. Penn, who formerly owned the old Dan Ham, passed on, the Indian went to Mr. Woonacott, and when Mr. Woonacott moved from the old store on the east side of Front Street to the present location it was moved by him, the brave old warrior went with him. For another period of time the figure stood guard there, but there didn't seem to be enough room for him in his new location, people were always stumbling into him, and, on one or two occasions, the outstretched arm over the street holding the bunch of cigars in the hand, was known to knock a tall man's hat off his head. Nowadays these days move in too rapid a fashion to pay any attention to wooden Indians, so the inevitable result was that when an offer of ten bucks was made for the thing Ab took it.

x x x

TEN PLUS FOR CLEANLINESS—

Whether the transaction was marked by any outside signs of deep grief has not been recorded, and if anybody cried over the fact that the last of the Mohicans was about to take up new residence away off out of the city wasn't known, but in view of the low price asked it did for the lad it seems to indicate that the part of the owners at least there was some thankfulness to be rid of him. Ten dollars—and you pay the freight to have him shipped away, and I will back to pop, saying, Here's your ten plus, and I'll guarantee to change it and most of them get mad.

Lets try wawking, pop said.

With which we did, and by the time we had reached the corner he was as good as new, proving all his ankle needed was exercise.

Little Benny's Note Book

Me and pop, was taking a wawk before supper, and all of a sudden pop tripped over a stone and fell down, and got up all lame and eldent quite, sitting own on somebody's else property. Then he says, by Gods, a little bit more and I'd of twisted my ankle, and I'm not a trolley. By gollies I let the house with nothing smaller than a 20 dollar bill, I cant offer that to a little deserving fellow like you.

Why, pop, what would he do?

Well I and pop said Holy Smoke! I and pop said Holy Smoke! Take this 20 dollar bill and for Peet sake be careful where you go, and don't ever change somewhere, he said.

And he gave me the 20 dollar bill and I started to go in store to get change, going in a cigar store first and saying to the man, I want you mind changing a 20 dollar bill.

On the contrary I'd be'delighted if some kind sole would cny show me where to get the cash to change it with, the man said. Being a little man with glasses and a sad expression, and, I went in a hardware store and asked and the man terrified me, because I didn't know it was in the back of the store. Hay Ed, here's a kid wants to know if we've got a 20 dollar bill. Ask the man in the back of the store.

I asked the man in the back of the store if he had a 20 dollar bill and he said, Sure I have, and he gave me the change, and I went back to pop, saying, Here's your change, and pop said, Now that's more like it, and I and pop said Holy Smoke! Take this change and

Q. V. SCHOOL WINS TITLE

Jack Conners Snipes The Winning Goal After 55 Mins. of Play

Late in the second period Jack Conners, star defence man for the Queen Victoria School hockey team raced down the left boards, of the local rink this evening, to make the only goal of the final game in the Public School Hockey League and give the Pine Street pupils the city championship when Queen Victoria School defeat Queen Alexandra by the score of 1 to 0.

This meeting the final game of the public school league got under way when Queen Victoria school fielded the pupils of Queen Alexandra school. At the end of the playing schedule, in which all the schools of the city have participated this winter, these two teams were tied for first place and this morning's game was the play-off for the city school title.

Battled Hard

Both teams battled hard for the semi-final championship and a number of interested spectators were present. Contrary to the belief of the Pine Street lads, was the school here, when he broke the scoreless tie after 5 minutes of play. Stores for Queen Alexandra school was the outstanding player on the ice and had it not been for the excellent work of Carruthers, in the nets for Queen Victoria School, this lad would have scored enough counters to win any ordinary game. Carruthers turned in a very fine exhibition of net guarding with the result that he kept the local fireballs off the scoring sheet. The Pepper boys, Wesley and Bill, both turned in one of the best games of the season, both on the attack and defense, for Queen Victoria school while Stanley Crowe and Jack Lind were the best for the losers. Queen Victoria School will now retain the hockey trophy at the close of the public school hockey league.

The Line-ups

Queen Victoria—Goal, Carruthers, defence, Crowe, Stanley; centre, Carte, Pringle; wings, Morgan and Bill Pepper; subs, Lind, Hall, Chilcott and Hammet.

Queen Alexandra—Goal, Collins; defence, Rawson and Storms; centre, Lloyd; wings, Conners and Hannas; subs, Clare and Bedstead.

Referee J. Kolesh refereed the game in a very impartial manner.

Fight Results

Chicago, Ernie Schaaf, Boston, outpointed Jack L. (Young) Stribling, Georgia, (10); Ben Jeby, New York, stopped Joe Sekyra, St. Paul (8); Clyde Chastain, Dallas, Tex., outpointed Mickey Patrick, Chicago, (8); Al Fay, Pittsburg, outpointed Dan Davenport, Little Rock, Ark. (8).

NEW YORK—Sammy Fuller, Boston, outpointed Ray Miller, Chicago, (10); Antol Kocsis, Hungary, and Emile Pladner, France, drew (10); Natie Brown, Philadelphia, outpointed Vincente Parrile, Argentine (10); Joe Banovic, Binghampton, N.Y., outpointed Pete Latzo, Scranton, Pa., (10).

ERIE, Pa.—Maxie Strub, Erie, outpointed Sammy Dorfman, New York (10); Ray Collins, Erie, outpointed Chet Smallwood, Cleveland (8).

Play a game and if it is tennis, get some nice tennis clothes. A practical sports ensemble has a red diagonal angora long coat with a double breasted line, bell and red buttons. The tennis frock is of white jersey with short sleeves and narrow red and blue bands inset at the waistline.

REXALL FEBRUARY BIRTHDAY SALE

35c Rexall Shaving Cream and 35c Bottle Rexall Shaving Lotion Both For

50c

McKeown's

DRUG STORE

ARENA

SATURDAY

1.00—12.00—Public Skating

2.15—5.00—Public Skating

7.00—10.00—Public Skating

Admission 35c and 15c

Monday Night

Napanee vs. Cities Service

Frankford vs. Picton

Admission 25c

25% OFF ALL OVERCOATS at CHAS. J. SYMONS Men's Store 196 Front St.

SPORTS By JIMMY THOMPSON

THE MOST STITCHED PLAYER

Every little while one hears of the hockey players who claim to have had more stitches earned through hockey than any other player but here's a record which will stay undisputed for a long time to come. Helge Bostrom of Chicago Black Hawks has had sutures administered in one wound! Three or four times each of his leg had been completely severed necessitating an extremely delicate operation in getting them all tied together again. As Bostrom already boasted of over one hundred stitches from his previous mishaps, he now goes into the lead with plenty to spare. His record title holder, as far as our records show was held by Walter Smail, the old Montreal Wanderers, who suffered 168 in his career.

"V" Alleys

Maryflowers took 3 and Smile and Try 1 in the Ladies' Afternoon League. High bowlers were Mrs. Kelley for Maryflowers with 498 and 219, and Mrs. Lent for S and T with 473 and 211.

In the Industrial League Swift Canadian took all 4 points from Walker Hardware.

High bowlers were Wright for Swifts with 609 and 257; and A. Palmer for Walkers with 564 and 209.

Nine singles and three ducks Browning 241, A. Palmer 202 and, 209, N. Hammer 204, N. Hammer 209, W. Sinclair 205, and R. Wilson 257 and 205.

Hockey Results

Last Night's Results

O.H.A. INTERMEDIATE

Willowdale 2, Markam 2.

Port Colborne 1, Orwell Diamond 1

Port Dover 1, Hamilton A.M. 1

Hamilton 12, Amherstburg 2

2—Hamilton Pats 2, Brantford 0

2—Hamilton Majors Second 6-3.

2—Goderich 2, Mitchell 0

2—Goderich, Exeter, postponed.

O.H.A. JUNIOR.

2Hamilton 2, Preston, 4.

2Hamilton Second, tourist 17-5.

INTERNATIONAL LEAGUE

2Windsor 3, London3

2—Overtime

CANADIAN AMERICAN LEAGUE

Providence 4, Philadelphia 0

SENIOR N.O.H.A.

2 North Bay 2, Falconbridge 0.

North Ontario Coal Briquettes Tested

Federal Report Says Ash Content High, But Better is Expected

OTTAWA, Feb. 27—Regarded by department experts as technically successful, though containing as much as a char made from a carlot of Northern Ontario coal—from the Onakawana deposits have been conducted at the fuel testing laboratories of the mines branch here. This is the first of two shipments of coal delivered to the department of mines for testing purposes. It is understood to be representative of the quality of lignite to be expected in open cut mining, where production is lightest.

A statement given out last night by the department says:

"Generally the tests indicate that a char can be made from Onakakana lignite, which will produce briquettes approaching in quality those made from Pennsylvania anthracite. These briquettes already made, however, are appreciably higher in ash content than anthracite coals now generally on the market. Carbonization of selected lignite of the quality found at Onakawana for more recent developments is expected to produce a char with less ash than that already briquetted at the laboratories.

"Burning tests will be carried out on the briquettes that have been made, for the purpose of determining their efficiency in ordinary domestic furnaces. Further briquetting tests are also contemplated on material now on hand. The department's laboratories are provided with excellent facilities to carry out these various tests."

DOUBLEHEADER IS A NATURAL

District Hockey League Will Be Underway Next Week

Monday night sees the opening doubleheader in the newly formed Belleville and District Inter-City League, when Napanee, champions of the Kingston City League, meet the Belleville team at the Victoria rink in the curtain raiser and Picton intermediates battle the Frankford "Amalgamates" in the nightcap affair. All final arrangements were completed for the opening ceremonies this afternoon when Ross Hurst, of Trenton, was named as referee for the opening game and Wm. Wood, of Belleville hockey fame, will ring the bell for the second tilt.

Napanee come to town heralded as one of the best hockey teams in Eastern Ontario. They have the Kingston Frontenac Junior forward line of Chris Milne and Cowan to start the offensive with Bentley and either Dunn or Baker, the fast Frontenac junior defence man, or Murray at the defence, interchanging on the defence. Cunningham at Kingston, will guard the twine we are informed. The Cities' team of Belleville has the pick of last year's Belleville Collegiate team plus a couple of the local intermediate and Junior players. Sawyer Dudley and Cecil Sifflels have garnered a fast skating forward combination and headed by Bill Sherry and Pete Morgan will give the Napanee boys the arguments of their young lives. This game alone looks to be a pepper, worth the price of admission alone.

The second game of Frankford vs. Picton will be no "tea party" affair either as Frankford have combed their surrounding country for the best hockey talent they could find. Frankford have taken the best junior players from Trenton and have amalgamated them with the three or four good players that have been developed along the Trent River. Picton, on the other hand are using the best of their county league and will be heard from before the finals are finished. Headed by Roly Rorke and Ron Church, the Prince Edward boys, under the direction of Mr. Welsh feel that they are a little bit better than any of the other league teams in group "B". Both of these games will be played in Belleville and the death of the colorful Harry Watson, the Belleville veteran executed from any blame in the matter, as the game is committed by a spectator. The management of the Rink Manager tried to find and punish the culprit but to no avail. A referee was also secured in advanced in town for each game.

In the semi-finals of the O.H.A. against the Toronto Marlboros.

The game in Toronto resulted in a win for the Dukes by the score of 4 to 3 in a fast hard game which was played here on rubber soft ice. The Dukes were far superior to their Toronto rivals and were the first to lead to beat the Dukes 8 to 2 and win the round 12 to 11. This victory gives the Belleville Meteorites a chance to meet Paris in the finals, but they didn't.

The Toronto Marlboros protested Jack Marks on the ground that he played with Provincial base ball in Kingston the previous summer. The management of the Dukes went so far as to send a lawyer to Rochester, N.Y., to find out that Jack had played professional baseball there. The Toronto papers did not upbold the Dukes in their protest as it was airly pointed out that the THEN had a couple of players who were not on the "up hand up." Anyhow Marks was professionalized and Referee Sargeer Burrell was tossed out.

The Belleville game was thrown out and both teams were ordered to play the second game in Peterboro. Belleville refused to play there if the Dukes were allowed to use Marks' pro goal lead which they got in Toronto. They wanted to finish the first game with the Dukes but did not think it fair for the O.H.A. to order them to play the goal disadvantage on neutral ice. The game was finally played on local pleadings and eventually loosed Belleville's hold on Duke. Exit Belleville for 1932.

SOVIET DEMANDS JAPAN EXPLAINS

Tension of Russia And Japan is Near Breaking Point

Moscow, Feb. 27—A demand by the Soviet Union that Japan explain the concentration of troops in Manchuria and the reported incitement of "white" Russian activities there became known yesterday.

Growing tension between Russia and Japan was also apparent, but nothing appeared in the press to confirm it until reports from Pravda and Izvestia published the receipt of the demand between the assistant foreign commissar, M. Karakhan, and the Japanese ambassador to the Soviet, Kinji Hotta, on Wednesday, in which M. Karakhan is said to have made questions to the Japanese.

M. Karakhan informed the ambassador of the activities of "White" Russians in Manchuria, under the sovereignty and directly aided by Japanese, and declared that this was contrary to Mr. Hirota's assurance to M. Litvinoff and Karakhan that the Japanese would not encourage "White" Russian activities there. The explanation of these activities was then asked.

Current Sport

By The Observer

Considerable controversy has been heard about town in regard to our statement last week of saying that "Teddy" McMillan was protested in 1904. Some of the local old-timers claimed that the protested was Jack Marks and not "Teddy." We have every reason to believe that our statement of last Saturday is very authentic. We were the trouble of getting the O.H.A. year books out and after combing through the files of the Daily Ontario of 1904 we found that our statement of last week was quite correct in every detail. McMillan was the player protested in 1904.

In order to right the arguments which have been so prevalent this week in Belleville circles, today, Belleville's O.H.A. team of 1904, one year previous to the McMillan affair, with the late Harry Berrell was the manager of the team, and the following players played for him: Goal, Cooper; point, Bert Wallace; cover-point, Harry Brown, Jack Bambrick, Harry and Dike McGuire; wings, Kennedy and Jack Marks; spare, Allen. That season Belleville was grouped with Peterboro, Port Hope, Cobourg and Belleville. The local team did not lose a game in the intermediate O.H.A. season. In the next round Belleville met the Kingston Ramblers. The same Jack Marks of this season is remembered until this day. Why Well, there he was eight some hind-hearted fan hit Marks between the eyes, whereupon Harry Brown, over the head with a cord-wood stick and it has always been a matter of the local fans that it was the effects of this blow that eventually caused the death of the colorful Harry. The other team members were exonerated from any blame in the matter, as the act was committed by a spectator. The management of the Rambler tried to find and punish the culprit but to no avail. A referee was also secured in advanced in town for each game.

In the semi-finals of the O.H.A. against the Toronto Marlboros.

The game in Toronto resulted in a win for the Dukes by the score of 4 to 3 in a fast hard game which was played here on rubber soft ice. The Dukes were far superior to their Toronto rivals and were the first to lead to beat the Dukes 8 to 2 and win the round 12 to 11. This victory gives the Belleville Meteorites a chance to meet Paris in the finals, but they didn't.

The Belleville game was thrown out and both teams were ordered to play the second game in Peterboro. Belleville refused to play there if the Dukes were allowed to use their pro goal lead which they got in Toronto. They wanted to finish the first game with the Dukes but did not think it fair for the O.H.A. to order them to play the goal disadvantage on neutral ice. The game was finally played on local pleadings and eventually loosed Belleville's hold on Duke. Exit Belleville for 1932.

The stage is all set for the grand opening of the Belleville and District Hockey League at the Arena on Monday night at 7.30 p.m. Napanee take on the newly-formed City Cities team while Picton battle Frankford in the other tilt. All that remains to make this loop a huge success is the patronage of the fans.

Ross Burtt, of Trenton, has been named as referee for the first game and Wm. Wood, Belleville's ex-hockey player has been assigned the task of officiating at the second game.

Considerab'e time and expense has been spent in the formation of this post-season loop and it is to be hoped that the fans will take advantage of the opportunity to support the project and assist the players in their endeavours to put the league across. If the league is a success there is no doubt but that the loop will be revived next fall and some good pre-season hockey games witnessed by the fans. The fate of city and district hockey is now in the hands of the sport fans of this community. They are the judge and jury now.

SPIRIT OF OLD INDIAN TREATY IS CARRED ON

MicMacs Promsed Trading Post Under Terms of Peace

INSTEAD SCHOOL

Interesting Parchment is Still Intact and in Existence

Halifax, N.S., (Canadian Press)—In the spring of the following year the Indians surprised Dartmouth at night, scalped a number of the settlers and carried off several prisoners . . . ." This precise note, from an early history of Halifax, is one item in the long account of troubles encountered by Hon. Edward Cornwallis and his men in the spring of following the city's founding in 1749. "The winter of 1749-50 was spent in continuous apprehension of Indian and French invasion, and in preparation to repel the enemy." An ordinance was issued compelling all settlers to live in the town between 16 and 60, to be formed into ten companies of 50 men each and Lawrences were constantly employed in raising a barricade and cutting it to the water side, and block houses were erected between the forts."

Today the Indian population of Halifax county numbers about 100. You may see some of them in the spring, with their baskets of wares, Barrington street, or basketry; and on the winter days they are also found to market. At Shubenacadie where a trading post was to have been established there are now 30 families. treaty negotiated by Governor Hopson and Jean Baptiste Cope, chief leader of a small tribe, in 1752, made the Micmac responsible for school for the Maritime provinces. There but a few years ago. There such descendants of Major Cope and his tribe were not cared for in white schools, or in their own, but received no attention, may come to learn carpentry, tailoring and craftsmanship of other kinds, to add to their native lore. A large farm is maintained in connection with the institution and helps to support it. Perhaps the Micmac Indian boy or child may pass far enough along in his path of learning to take some direction of that school, and thus become the first Micmac era in the annals of chieftainship.

Complications in Path

But "international complications were in the path of the treaty. A certain Abbe Lauteuil had influence with the Indians, and in consequence of several final skirmishes at Chignecto, the council previously had resolved to send a letter by Col. Desherbiers, Governor of Louisburg, seeking his reward.

The treaty does not appear to have been respected by the Indian chief was Dr. Akins in his history of Halifax, preserved in the Nova Scotia Historical Society's annals. Not more than eight months after its ratification, one Anthony Cartel, although carrying a pass from the governor, was captured by Indians in one of the harbors east of Halifax, and carried to Shubenacadie, the place where he was ransomed by a French inhabitant. "It would appear that the terms of amity had been in some manner without the sanction of Abbe Lelouire, who, when Anthony Cartel was brought before him, reproached Raymond at Louisburg. Inveighed bitterly against Governor Cornwallis, and said if he wanted peace he ought to have written to him and not to have treated with the tribe of Indians. That he, Cartel, might depart, having been released, but that the first Englishman he caught should be treated until he, Lelouire, had full satisfaction for himself and his people."

The matter was not all one-sided. In April following, two men named John Conner and James Crace arrived at Halifax in an Indian canoe bringing with them six Indian scalps. They informed the council that they and their party had been put into a place between Tor Bay and Country Harbor, in a schooner, were captured by the Indians and carried off. They escaped from where their two companions were murdered, that they had scalped the Indians at night, killed several, whose scalps they produced, and escaped to the seaside, seized a canoe, and made their way to Halifax."

Dropped Out of Sight

Provisions of the treaty apparently dropped out of sight. In 1921 Chief George Paul, now living on Reserve unearthed it and various efforts to have it observed by the terms, claiming that much of the land assigned to the Micmacs years ago by whites and that provision for the trading post was still in force. Some such case, a few years ago. There such descendants of Major Cope and his tribe were not cared for in white schools, or in their own, but received no attention, may come to learn carpentry, tailoring and craftsmanship of other kinds, to add to their native lore. A large farm is maintained in connection with the institution and helps to support it. Perhaps the Micmac Indian boy or child may pass far enough along in his path of learning to take some direction of that school, and thus become the first Micmac era in the annals of chieftainship.

Not to be Hindered

It goes on to say that "we shall not suffer that you be hindered from your hunting, nor from your country, as you have been used to do, and if you shall think fit to settle your wives and children upon the River Shubenacadie, we promise you shall hinder it, nor shall meddle with the lands where you are and the Corn that you have a truck house for merchandize there, where you may have everything you demand in lieu of at a reasonable price, and where you'll be given credit for the full value of your pelteries, feathers, or other things which you shall have to sell.

"We approve of your engagement to go and inform your people of this our answer, and that the other tribes, with the promise of your endeavour to bring them to a renewal of the peace When you return here (as a mark of good will we will give you a present whereof such things wherevof you have the most need."

The council expressed the hope that they shall see here some of your chiefs to receive annual presents whilst you behave yourselves as good and faithful children of our great King, and you shall be furnished with provisions for your return to your families every year." To seal the treaty the chief gave you a polecon belt, a laced hat for yourself and another for your son."

Cope affixed his mark to the document, which, after promising to "bring here with me to sign and ratify the Treaty of Peace upon the above said conditions, in a month; or as soon as possible, and I promise and engage to do my utmost endeavours to bring here the other Chiefs of our tribe to ratify likewise."

According to the record, "immediately after the treaty was signed and sealed, Cope left town in a vessel, having received from the Right Honble Governor a present of provisions and other necessaries for himself and family, and a present of provisions and other necessaries for himself and family, and a present of provisions and other necessaries for himself and family, and

Women's Interests in the Home

Beauty.....

BY HELEN JAMIESON

Weather Proofing the Complexion

Every woman must be her own complexion nurse. It's a job she will have to learn on throughout the years with no two weeks off with or without pay. Weather we always have with us and there 's practically no kind of weather that doesn't bother with it some meanie elements that takes a wallop at feminine faces. We are in the present time in the midst of the blue nose season and in a few months the world war against freckles will start again.

Cold nipping winds may create a lovely pink velvet cheek, but they play the ak'n surface up into flakes. That's why the mid-winter darling might just as well order a double portion of cold cream and prepare to settle down to a nightly lanking of her oiled face. There's no such thing as feed'ng it too much when the skin is cold and harsh. Winds bite. They have no manners. And there's nothing you can do about it, except to put up a protective campaign against being divorced from your facial coating.

The only time when weather is bad way kind to feminine skin is when it offers air that is brisk, chilly and moist. Such weather is not likely to turn into rain. Rainy days don't damage the skin. Women who live in foggy regions nearly always have good skins. Moisture helps pores to function, keeps them at the business of house cleaning.

Weather-proofing the complexion against cold winds is a simple treatment other than cold cream-ing, though that is an important detail. The choice of soul with the heavy thinking. We have high grade products now, and know them. No need to tell any adult femme that every particle of soap suds must be rinsed away, first with warm water, then with cold. It's not at all a good plan to use soap and water immediately after exposure to cold air. Begin with a fi'm cleansing of soul with the suds awhile later, if you're scrupulous person feel you have to fight dirt continually to retain self-respect. And who doesn't, this chimneyed spouding black sooty clouds heavenward?

If the skin kicks up a rumpus against all soaps, which happens in rare cases, rest into the country and bring out the breakfast cereal. It is surprising how pleasantly cornmeal and oatmeal act upon the human hide.

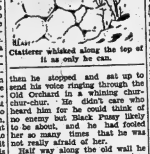
Foundation creams are protective agents. Some contribution to art in the cause of beauty, though it must not be ground into the cuticle like barnkly, to roughen epidermic cells.

Going to bed without removing make-up is criminal neglect. Complexions, like children, thrive on discipline, not lack of care. The more petting that goes on along with the cream, the better for the well beings of the epidermis. The purpose of manage is to stir up circulation, tone fibers, make muscles firm. But it is more than that; it removes the fine texture of the skin itself.

Chatterer H as a Shock

By Thornton W. Burgess

Keep watchful eye and ear, awake For always there is danger lake. —Chatterer the Red Squirrel.



That is one of the very first things that Chatterer learned. He knew it when he was just starting out in the Great World, and he found that he never forgotten it is the fact that he is still living in the Green Forest.

"Even when you feel safest you may be in great danger," says Chatterer, and he knows. He has been proved to him many times. So those bright eyes of his are never still save when he is asleep and those ears of his are ever on guard lest one of his numerous neighbors catch him unaware.

While the winter had been a hard one for many of his neighbors Chatterer had been very comfortable most of the time. To begin with he had a snug home in a certain hollow in a certain tree in the Green Forest. Rough Brush-tail the Wood Mouse and Jack Frost or North Wind and Cold Weather could not reach him there. Then, too, he didn't have to worry about the matter of food very much. He ate and no one to thank for it but himself. Chatterer has his faults but laziness and thriftlessness are not among them. All through the fall he had worked hard storing away nuts and seeds in places where he could get them when he needed them in the winter no matter how deep the snow or how cold it might be. So Chatterer had had nothing to worry about on this score. Now that the snow and ice had disappeared even in a few places he still had plenty in his storehouse. He hadn't had to worry about eating but about how to keep from being eaten. And this hadn't worried him much for Chatterer knew all his enemies, or thought he did, and knew where and when to watch for them.

One day in the early spring he took it into his head to run over to Farmer Brown's to see what the news might be. It was a dull, dark, gloomy day. But Chatterer didn't mind that. Any sort of a day but a stormy day suits him. He whisked along, leaping from tree to tree until he reached the beginning of the Old Stone Wall along the edge of the Old Orchard. He loved the Old Stone Wall. He never felt safer than when he was there. Bushes grew along it to afford cover, especially in the summer. Then there were countless places to pop into between the stones if sudden danger threatened. Chatterer knew every one of them. He always felt that there was no one to fear save Shadow the Weasel who could, of course, follow wherever he might go.

Jumping up on the Old Stone Wall Chatterer skipped along the top of it as only he can. The day might be gloomy but there was no gloom about Chatterer. In fact, he was in high spirits. Every now and then he stopped and sat up to send his voice ringing through the Old Orchard in a whirling chur-chur-chur. He didn't care who knew it. There for he could think of no enemy but Black Fussy likely to be about, and he had fooled her on many times that he was not really afraid of her.

Chatterer whisked along the top of it as only he can.

Right way along the old wall he stopped on top of a big stone system to make up his mind whether to keep on to Farmer Brown's dooryard or to run over into the Old Orchard. He could hear Tommy Tit the Chickadee and Yank Yank the Nuthatch and knew that they were at a feeding shelf put up for them and kept always supplied with feed by Farmer Brown's Boy.

"I wonder if there are peanuts over there," said he to himself, never being one to say a thing if he "I haven't tasted a peanut for a long time, I believe. I'll run over there and see. I would like a peanut right now. Yes, sir, I think I will."

Now, though he was thinking of peanuts, and though he was sure that no danger was to be feared, he didn't fail to use those bright eyes of his. He turned his ear to make sure that all was well behind him, and then with a shriek of fright he dived down between two stones of the old wall and he dived just in time. He had looked back straight at two great feet armed with long curved claws reaching for him from above and just back of him. It gave him a shock that made him tremble all over as he crouched down there under the stone of the old wall.

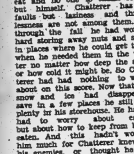
Copyright, 1933, by T. W. Burgess.

The next story: "Chatterer Thinks Fast."

Fashion Flashes

By ALICE ALDEN

Walk Hardy is the nice looking T-strap shoe that is being so much used for Spring wear. A new design combines brown linen and kid with a gold piping edging the cutouts on the vamp.



Very sporty handbags are being worn at Southern resorts. A new model is in rough white nubbed leather with red stitching at the edges and an off-white metal monogram.

Very handy are the new gloves with their fresh and youthful appeal. A smart glove for town wear is done in black kid with rows of white kid ruffrings posed diagonally in the cuff and embroidery done in white.

Always being admired is the white coat with white fox trimming. A new model is done in white with diagonal woolen and the fox trim is an irregular cape that runs over interminating at the side closing. Color is introduced by a red scarf, red, while and blue crepe de chine.

If you feel gray, that gray has been missing from the sartorial color card for so long, cheer up. For it is to be very good this Spring. A new frock is of pale gray faille crepe and has capes that suggest sleeves. There is an easy moulded line and a belt that tied in back. A white organdie flower is at the shoulder.

A comfortable evening is assured the wearer of a soft evening hat. Ideal for wear indoors is a hat of brown matines lace in turban effect arranged in sections. There is a circle of dried green foliage and a rose, short matching brown veil.

Sweaters are being knitted as fast as busy fingers and clicking needles can turn them out. And when these dainty garments become soiled MODERN'S careful cleaning makes them new again without danger of stretching or shrinking.

MODERN
CLEANERS AND DYERS
182 Front St. Phone 729
If Modern Cleaned It's Clean

"Our England is a garden and such Gardens are not made
By singing "Oh how beautiful"
And sitting in the shade.
—Rudyard Kipling

Many library patrons are taking advantage of the display of gardening books in the Reading Room to plan their flower and vegetable gardens well in advance of the season.

Included in the display is a fine collection of seed catalogues from the British Isles, The United States and Canada. Among the outstanding catalogues shown are those from Steele Briggs Seed, Royal Seed Establishment, Reading, whose exhibit's merited the New York Horticultural Society Cup and the Gold Medal of the Royal Horticultural Society, London, Dobbies, Edinburgh, the King's Seedsmen; from Watson's, Dublin, specializing in roses; and the Blue Book of Gardening, catalogue de luxe, from Carter's, Raynham, Mass.

The gardening books, which may be borrowed, deal with every variety of garden craft. Among others may be mentioned Ethel Hollow's "Rose Garden Primer"; The Book of Water Gardening", by Peter Blanz "Rainbow Gardening", by Mary Rockwell, a garden expert of the 1gs, by J. Marian Shull; "Our Wild Orchids", by Mrs. Schuyler Mathews and Edward Eames, which describes in detail the different species to be found in Canada and the United States; "Adventures in Gardening", Among the outstanding is "Gardening Indoors", by Mrs. Rockwell's books on dahlias, gladiolus, and lawns.

Flower lovers, who are ignorant but interested will find "The Beginner's Garden Book" by Mary Wheeler Rush, a practical handbook at all times.

Under Two Cents Net Profit Per $

It is interesting to note from the report of Dominion Stores Limited for the year 1932, sent to its shareholders that with sales for the year ending Jan. 28, 1933, the best in the history of the company, the net profit is less than two cents for each dollar of sales. This amounted, out of every dollar spent with Dominion Stores, that 98c was paid out to the manufacturers of goods sold in its own stores, to five hundred employes and in transport costs to the various railways and trucking companies, leaving less than two cents for expenditure of the business and for dividends for those who have invested in the enterprise.

Canadians living in Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia bought from the Company last year groceries, vegetables, fruits and meats in the amount of $26,200,000, compared with $24,100,000.00 in the previous year. Profits, after operating expenses and provision for Federal Income Taxes, were $232,000.00, compared with $219,207.50 for the previous year, or virtually the same profit, although sales increased over one million dollars.

"This indicates clearly that Dominion Stores Limited has endeavoured to pass on to the public without delay every decrease in food cost that occurred during 1932" said W. F. Stewart, secretary of the Company, in an interview. "Our policy of turning over our stocks rapidly and buying only merchandise required for immediate sale allowed our customers to take full advantage of an average decline of 16 per cent. in the price of food stuffs.

"The officers of this company are delighted," continued Mr. Stewart, "that during the past year, when the opportunities necessarily showed some retrenchment, we distributed more wages, more money to transport companies and more money to farmers from the consumer less profit per dollar of sales than ordinarily. In a period when a great number of business men have been forced to practise the most stringent economy we feel that we have been able to do our part in carrying on, not only in its usual way, but with an increased number of stores and employees and by taking less than two cents net profit from each dollar of sales."

"No one hopes for an improvement in general conditions more than we do, but our customers may rest content that during the present period of low prices we will pass on to them every possible saving, though that is an important detail. The choice of soul with the heavy thinking. We have high grade products now, and know them. No need to tell any adult femme that every particle of soap suds must be rinsed away, first with warm water, then with cold. It's not at all a good plan to use soap and water immediately after exposure to cold air. Begin with a fi'm cleansing of soul with the suds awhile later, if you're scrupulous person feel you have to fight dirt continually to retain self-respect. And who doesn't, this chimneyed spouding black sooty clouds heavenward?

If the skin kicks up a rumpus against all soaps, which happens in rare cases, rest into the country and bring out the breakfast cereal. It is surprising how pleasantly cornmeal and oatmeal act upon the human hide.

Foundation creams are protective agents. Some contribution to art in the cause of beauty, though it must not be ground into the cuticle like barnkly, to roughen epidermic cells.

Going to bed without removing make-up is criminal neglect. Complexions, like children, thrive on discipline, not lack of care. The more petting that goes on along with the cream, the better for the well beings of the epidermis. The purpose of manage is to stir up circulation, tone fibers, make muscles firm. But it is more than that; it removes the fine texture of the skin itself.

DRESS CARNIVAL ATTRACTS CROWD

Races Held Before Judging Interesting to Spectators

Last night's carnival, at the arena, was fair of a failure as far as the attendance was concerned although the fun, who did attend the night's entertainment seem well satisfied as they spent a most enjoyable evening.

Both the races and the dress carnival were sparsely attended but very keenly contested throughout. The races were the first order of the evening and although there were not as many participants as had been anticipated all races were run off in schedule time. The first race, the public school relay was won by the Mosherville public school girls' race and Edith Burley of Q.V.I. was the victor in the pupil's race. Mr. Stanley Hasllo, T. Hogan and J. Culhane. The second were the boy's open, 16 years and under. This race was the best of the night and Don. Hinch led for three dags, only to fall on the second to the finish line beaten out by Jack Mouck who skated a fine steady race. In this race J. Mouck was first, Don. Hinch second, C. Kelleher 3rd and Geo. High 4th. Only two girls entered the public school girls' race and Edith Burley of Q.V.I. was the victor by Jean Mc-Ilcher of St. Michael's when Edith fell on the ice when in the lead. The boys' public school race was very good also when T. Hogan was first, Hasllo 2nd, Culhane 3rd and T. Barrett fourth, all skating a fine race. The feature of the final race of the evening was the dress carnival when a parade when Jack Murphy won with J. Mouck 2nd, Don. Hinch 3rd and Claude Tice acted as starter for all races and Messrs. E. Mouck, A. Hand and J. Hogan were judges. These officials also acted in the capacity of judges in the judging for the dress carnival.

The dress carnival brought out the very best costumes and after careful deliberation the following won prizes, best dressed lady Miss Helen Hand, Belleville, as a Spanish lady, best dressed gentleman Master Billy Hand, dressed as an English gentleman The best dressed comedian was Miss Ethelin and Miss M. Fitzgerald, both dressed comedian costume. The most original costume was worn by Mr. G. Wilbur, dressed as an Italian organ grinder. Mr. Hoover as the comic prize when he appeared in a suit of clothes in the short trousers and all the trimmings.

Little Peggy Smith, as a newsboy, was awarded the unanimous decision as the best dressed child.

During the evening the Belleville Municipal Band played for the skaters and the band played three numbers written and composed by Bandmaster Mr. Jas. Harding. Although there were not as many skaters present as had been expected the evening was a decided success from all other standpoints.

Matters Musical

By Chris. C. Holmes, A.L.C.M.

STUDENTS OF THE PIANO

Learning to play the piano in the shortest possible time is one of the drudge-like work to the average pupil. Scales occupy the first three years of study ties the muscles of the child's dislike of the instrument. It is the scale-work, declared a great essential embodiment of brilliant technique, and every pupil who is master of every scale known to musicians is equipped, but student will merely become a mechanical player, one who plays to amuse him or herself.

Pachmann, Paderewski, Cortot, Rubinstein, Bauer and practically any of the masters of the piano, spend hours each day practicing scales-even Paderewski practices hand alone, for it is the left hand that is the difficult one to train. The third finger of the left hand is usually the chief cause of all the trouble, and the reason is quite a simple one. It arises from the fact that we use the third finger in almost everything we do, and the left hand becomes almost an ornament. In some schools on the European Continent, children are being taught to use both hands alternately in writing, drawing, etc. and the wisdom of such training is undeniable.

It has been found from experience that force will not make a child study music. Success violence is foreign to harmony, and scolding a child will create an intense dislike to object of the scolding. Passing on my own experience of 25 years teaching music and the piano, I found that the secret of success lies in the ability to make it interesting for the child-also either on her to do what you do, and it will be done. Charles Darwin theory of our ancestors being monkeys has something in it. The child will ape, and a good teacher, realizing that, will always endeavour to bring himself down to the level of the intelligence of the pupil and act accordingly. What child is there who does not delight in playing horses or some other childish game with its parents? The parent becomes a companion to the child, and the child's mind becomes free from anything but the most perfect of harmony. And so with the learning of music. The parent must help. The teacher must help, and the aim to keep the student's mind free from any upset due to harshness, must be always prevalent. It can be safely said that 'r a child will not study music under these conditions, providing the teacher or parent is firm to a necessary degree, then it is safe to waste no time in providing further musical training for the youngster.

The old proverb of "You can lead a horse to water, but you cannot force it to drink", applies perfectly to the child as a student of the piano, or any other instrument. It is unwise to be led to believe that music can be learned in any other than the orthodox way. There is no such thing as labour saving when musical study is being discussed, and any parent who feels his child has a natural inclination to music should immediately decide, when the child is five or six, to seek out a reputed teacher, and a year in his hands will prove whether the child will be a musician or not.

Personals

Mrs. E. K. Ma;nan is spending a few days in Toronto.

Mrs. Arthur Booth, Ivanhoe street, is confined to her home through illness.

Mrs. Ida Goodmurphy has returned from Toronto where visiting with daughter, Mrs. W. T. Bunton.

Miss Rose Samuels is the guest of her brother, Mr. Tom Samuels, Toronto, having visited in Detroit and Ann Arbor, Mich.

Mr. S. A. Conklin, who has been confined to his home, Dufferin street, through illness is considerably improved in health.

Mr. and Mrs. George Durette of Toronto are the guests for the week end with the latter's sister, Mrs. G. Cuthbert, 178 Dundas street east.

Mrs. Charles Hulley, who is a patient at the Belleville General Hospital, is improving and expects to return home early next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mills and Miss Marie and Bereqice Mills of Smithfield, and Mr. Charles Craig of Toronto are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Yaleman.

The Misses Doris, Frances, Lois and Margaret Wallbridge of Wallbridge Island, were recently the guests of their cousin, Miss Beatrice Jones, Dundas street east.

Master Bill Holland, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Holland, 169 Pinnacle street, underwent an operation for appendicitis at the Belleville General Hospital, yesterday, is doing well today.

Sister Carleton, N.G., Sister Smillie of Trenton, Sister Sheardown of Peterborough, and Sister Hicks of Belleville, were the guests of Glen-ford Lodge, Frankford, Thursday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Sprague have returned from Buffalo, after attending the funeral of Mrs. Sprague's sister-in-law, Mrs. Sarah Derry, wife of the late Thomas Derry.

Miss Ruth Sills, Marjorie Mc-Donald of Prince Edward County, students of Alma College, Province of Hastings County, received prizes and honors at the recent examinations on the Royal Winter Fair trip, it was announced today.

Friends of Mrs. George Spracklett in Forin village will be glad to hear home last night, for a surprise party, on the occasion of her birthday. A happy evening was spent and refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

Last evening an enjoyable birthday party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Harding, Station street, in honour of Miss Ruby Everson. The evening was spent in games and contests, followed by dainty refreshments, the main feature of which was a birthday cake.

The "Others" Sunday School Class of the Canadian United Church, Foxboro, held a party in the Dramatic Club and members of the choir at a social evening in the basement of the church. There were about fifty present and an interesting evening was enjoyed. A series of games were played and a delicious lunch was served. Rev. Merrick moved a vote of thanks to members of the "Others" class for their splendid hospitality.

Mrs. Andrews, Octavia street, was hostess last night to members of the Ladies' Aid Association. Euchre was played during the evening, fourteen tables taking in progress, prizes were won as follows: ladies' first, Mrs. Mosher, second, Mrs. R. Sager and third Mrs. Sowyer; first men's prize was won by Mr. Sowyer, second by Mr. Charles Cook and third by Mr. Baker. A delightful supper was enjoyed by the guests, Mrs. Charles Cook, offering her home for the next party.

FRONT OF THURLOW

Front of Thurlow, Feb. 27 By Mail)—Mrs. A. M. Leavens is spending this week with her sister, Mrs. A. Clasie.

A skating party composed of over thirty young people from here and the 2nd concession met at the rink at the clay pit and enjoyed a good time on Tuesday evening. The young man from the 2nd had the misfortune to break through the ice, but luckily it happened to be a shallow spot so no serious results followed, and he got out a good wetting. He was forced to leave the rink early, much to everyone's regret.

Messrs. Merrill Everatt of Brookville and Allan of London, have been spending a few days with friends here.

A number of the farmers have been busy filling their ice houses this week.

Mr. Shirly Anderson's new house is rapidly nearing completion, and will be quite an asset to the road when finished.

The erection of Mr. Clasie's new barn is also going on rapidly. The framework is about completed and they are now getting and keep the proceeds was introduced today in the provincial legislature by A. F. Ringer, (Conn. St.) Andrews Toronto), and given first reading.

when "COLDS CATCH YOUR CHILDREN"

. . . a cleansing dose of Castoria!

The first step to take when your child catches cold, doctors agree, is to cleanse the body of all accumulated waste and infection-breeding material.

To carry off this poisonous matter, nothing is better than Castoria. It acts gently and mildly enough for children's delicate requirements, and yet it does the work unfailingly.

Castoria, you know, is a pure vegetable preparation made especially for babies and children. It contains no habit, harmful drugs, no narcotics of any kind. It is so mild you can safely give it to relieve a colicky baby. Yet, in larger doses, it is an effective regulator for older children. And another help for mothers—children like its taste!

When you find a cold, a little fever, or a digestive upset starting, call in Castoria's kindly help. Your doctor will commend you for wise, prompt action. Don't forget — the genuine Castoria always has the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher on the package. Be sure you get genuine Castoria.

(MADE IN CANADA) Chas. H. Fletcher
CASTORIA
CHILDREN CRY FOR IT

Tabernacle W.M.S.

Group No. 4 Tabernacle W.M.S. held their February meeting at the home of Mrs. Frank Hamilton, Front of Trenton. The meeting was opened by singing "Hymn 286 and led by Mrs. J. Frosts. Minutes of last meeting were read and approved. Hymn 186 was sung and Mrs. Jean Maker Mrs. Rollo Fralick followed, each member answering with a verse of Scripture. Mrs. Emerson and Mrs. Bell read the Temperance Lesson, subject "The Good Samaritan". Mrs. Lent read a paper entitled "Modern Parable giving an example of the Good Samaritan of today. Watch Tower was taken by Mrs. Paul and Mrs. Kelly.

Mrs. Hamil gave a very fine paper on Time and Opportunity, Mrs. McMullen gave a splendid solo, Mrs. Hamilton sang Hymn 181 and all repeating the Mizpah Benediction, after which Mrs. Frank served a dainty lunch.

AMEND MUNICIPAL ACT

TORONTO, Feb. 27.—(CP)—(By the Canadian Press)—An amendment to the municipal act empowering boards of police commissioners in Ontario to sell abandoned or unclaimed property and keep the proceeds was introduced today in the provincial legislature by A. F. Ringer, (Conn. St.) Andrews Toronto), and given first reading.

HEAD ACHE

THE woman who lets headaches upset her plans must have her eyes and ears closed to certain facts about Aspirin. There is always swift comfort, and never any harm, in Aspirin tablets. Doctors have said so; men and women everywhere have found it out. Any headache-or-pain is relieved by one or two tablets.

And lots of other aches and pains. Neuralgia. Neuritis. Rheumatism. Nagging pains. The pain from colds which make you "ache all over." Even Systemic disorder — make you "ache all over." Even Systemic disorder — many a pain. Aspirin can spare you lots of needless suffering! Be sure you get Aspirin—not a substitute!

BAYER ASPIRIN
MADE IN CANADA—TRADE-MARK REG.)

QUALITY FURS STORAGE CLEANING
DELANEY
QUALITY FURS REPAIRING REMODELLING
Exclusive Furrier
17 Campbell St. Belleville
Phone 797

FINANCIAL NEWS

VOLUME HEAVY IN TWO ISSUES

Walkers and C.P.R. Feature Session of Exchange

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 27.—Active demand for both Walkers and C.P.R. featured trading for the final session of the week on Toronto Stock Exchange today. Volume was heavy in both issues as interest was sustained until the close. C.P.R. rose to 18 1-4, where it was unchanged from the close last night and Walkers reached 3 5-8 for a net gain of 1-4 point.

Strength or strengthening with the bulls on Wall Street while Walkers reflected the better sentiment toward this stock since announcement of the proposed capital re-organization. The new stock was also in demand, selling up to four before the close. The preferred was unchanged.

Price changes elsewhere were not important. The tone generally was firm. Brazilian, Ford of Canada, Gatineau, Steel of Canada preferred, with small gains. Bell Telephone was firm and unchanged. Abitibi slightly easier but inactive. Smelters and Page-Hersey tubes also picked up a point on odd-lot sales.

TECK HUGHES DRIVEN DOWN

Selling Pressure in This Stock Again Appears

TORONTO, Ont./Feb. 27—Mixed movements marked action on the Toronto Stock Exchange today as selling pressure in to-day's short session. Industrials, as a group, declined 2 cents in the majority of cases, despite a stronger opening tone.

This selling pressure on Teck-Hughes, listed a week or so ago again appeared, driving price down seven cents from last night's close. Right Hargreaves, which has displayed its power to attract buying during the past few days, was the only dividend due at this time, slipped in early trading to 2.50. Hollinger, Lake Shore, Dome and Granada were firm.

Moneta sold up a few cents above the preceding close and Dominion explorers recovered a little ground. Mining Corporation was off two points. Noranda, Bathurst, Granada and Mickel, with small declines showing the only activity among the lower priced stocks Sylvanite, McLeod River and Ribago record a small advance but Mining Corporation, Lake Gold, Canusa and Arno lost a fair ground. Noranda, whose dividend rate have taken for delisting from the New York Curb Exchange, was the other couple to seven in a few transactions.

MARKET LAPSES INTO APATHY

ist as a Whole Barely Changed in Short Trading

New York, N.Y., Feb. 27— The Stock Market lapsed into apathy throughout Monday, and while the shortened weekend liquidation continued, the list as a whole was barely changed.

The transfer of some 400,000 shares was the smallest since last August, as several floor traders who have been accustomed to the bulk of the trading recently failed to appear. Prices moved within narrow limits. The trading tone was barely steady.

A few isolated soft spots appeared in the list. Auburn auto had its moments of weakness but closed with a net actual this week, sinking to a new low for 1932 at 26, off 1-2, then recovering partially. Santa Fe was down two points on its January net earning figures and the bulk of the deficit of $125,901, then recovers

We will be taking part in all major bond issues as they become along during the next few months. Clients should telephone us for information and advice.

Jamieson Bone & Co.

Phone 1344
Belleville, Ont.

k point. Baltimore and Ohio reported a slight gain over January of last year, but the stock made no response.

Lambert, Director of which are expected to meet for dividend action March 7, lost two points. Western Union was again a soft spot, losing two points.

There were a few firm spots. American Telephone finished about a point higher, at old quotations. Gas, Air Reduction and United Fruit, Borden, Kennecott and Woolworth reflected the increased profits of gold mining from time to time by recent reports of the firm as well as rising 3 points.

The week's slump in copper was reflected in heaviness of some of the rest metal issues. Utah, for a new points in a thin market. American Smelting, 1 percent, preferred dropped 2 3-4 to a new low. Kennecott, however, was up a fraction. U. S. Steel, General Electric, General Motors closed off minor fractions.

In the foreign market, the dollar was again firm as against the French franc. Sterling rose then lost its gain.

Stock Markets

Quotations furnished by Biggar and Gordon Stock Trading, branch manager. Quotations at 11.50 a.m.

Mines.
Amulet	16½
Alax	103
Barry Hollinger	3.00
Bidgood	5½
Falconbridge	10.50
Base Metals	85
Granada	7.00
Hollinger	8.00
Hudson's Bay	2.37
Hower	22
Kirkland Lake	45
Lake Shore	2.50
McIntyre	16.45
Mining Corporation	1.07
Siscoe	60½
Sylvanite	2.50
Teck Hughes	4.32
Vipond	33½
Ventures	2.50
Wright Hargreaves	2.58
Dome	10.50
New York.
American Can	67
Auburn	26⅝
American Fur. Power	7⅛
Byers	19⅝
Bethlehem Steel	21⅜
Consolidated Gas	47⅛
Case	35⅝
Drug	53
General Motors	20⅞
Hudson Motors	7⅛
Montgomery Ward	9⅛
North American	38⅝
Packard	3⅝
Standard Brands	12⅜
Simmons	8⅛
Stewart Warner	9
American T. and T.	127½
Vanadium	16⅜
U. S. Steel	47⅛
Toronto.
B. A.	10½
Imperial Oil	10⅝
McColl Frontenac	9¼
International Nickel	11⅞
Distillers Seagrams	3⅜
Hiram Walker	20
C. I. A. C. O.	bid 1¼
Bell Telephone	120½
C. P. R.	bid 18¼
Canada Dredge	13
Cockshutt	8½
Dominion Stores	17½
Ford "A"	3½
Gypsum	3⅞
Nickel	7⅛
Smelters	68½
Loblaw "A"	9½
Massey Harris	3⅝
Noranda	18.85
Brazilian	bid 4¼
Wheat.
May	58⅛
July	60⅝

EGG PRICES ON DECLINE

Sudden Drop of Three Cents in Early Trading Seen

Out of a clear sky the price of eggs suddenly dropped, for no reason that was apparent, by three cents or almost a dozen at Saturday morning's market. Butter also dropped 2 cents, but cents a pound to 22 cents a pound without any warning at all. Considerable sentiment was noticed among the vendors when the prices, suddenly, started to drop, and for the particular reason could be brought forth as to the sudden drop except for large number of eggs in evidence perhaps in excess of the demand as an over supply of the product. A large number of chickens were offered for sale, ranging from 20 cents to about $1.25 each according to their weight and size. Plenty of home cooking and baking products were also offered to the purchasing public.

The outside market was a small hive of industry and considerable trading was in evidence. Prices remained about the same as last week, there being no change except celery. Fresh young rhubarb sold for two bunches for 15 cents, green onions for 5 cents and lettuce brought 5 cents a bunch. Beets, carrots, turnips and parsnips all brought 3c a peck, while fine large potatoes sold for 15c a peck or 60c a bag. The variation of a 25c sold by the hamper and the prices were to accord to the prevailing prices, which have been in vogue all winter.

Trading was rather slow as the purchasers were, seemingly, waiting to see just what was going to decline in price next, as the slumps in prices came like a bolt from the blue.

HOAR TRANSPORT Limited

(Formerly Lucke Transport, Limited)

DAILY SERVICE

WINDSOR — BELLEVILLE — TORONTO
AND ALL INTERMEDIATE POINTS

Belleville Office Phone 3249
GORDON MILLER, Local Manager
Residence Phone 2316

127-26d

Letters to the Editor

To the Editor of the Ontario Intelligencer:

Dear Sir:

There has grown up around the City of Belleville a number of suburbs containing a considerable population, and which, although while they are at home refer to themselves as residing in Belleville, respectively, still when they are away sometimes describe themselves as Belleville people.

1. Avondale adjoining Belleville on the west and extending to the cemetery along the King's Highway.

2. Rosemore to the south and across Bay Shore and Johnna the Bay Shore.

3. Point Anne.

4. Hershiner Avenue section between Belleville and the Fish Hatcheries, and extending northerly.

5. College Hill.

6. "Irish Town" adjoining the west limits of Belleville and lying between Avondale and the Grand Trunk Railway.

7. Lazier's Mills lying to the north of the city and on the river bank.

8. "Stoney Lonesome" lying north of the city and east of Lazier's Mills.

9. The Unincorporated Village of Cannifton.

10. The Unincorporated Village of Corbyville.

11. The Unincorporated Village of Tabors.

These suburbs will no doubt be some day a part of the City of Belleville and in some instances it might be well to change the name, as Stoney Lonesome might be changed to Moira Park or High Park. This is probably one of the highest points in or near Belleville.

Avondale and Rosemore will no doubt ultimately become high-class residential sections.

The name Irish Town was given because many years ago it was occupied by a number of persons who had come from Ireland but as the population increased and changed another name might be suggested which would more accurately describe its present situation and environment.

Belleville with its suburbs now has a population of about 18,000.

Yours truly,
A Citizen.

Construction Camp 4
Kaladar P. O., Ont.
Feb. 25, 1932.

Editor Ontario Intelligencer.
Dear Sir—

Our friend Mr. George Smith returned from Belleville today, after spending two or three days home in Belleville. He was the same with him as with others. When we came in tonight from work, every man shaking hands with us and asking if you could hear for a few minutes of "What's new in Belleville?" "What's new in Belleville?"

Today was a cold day, a little cold for the first part of the morning, but this afternoon was beautiful and mild, and we could not like this weather to continue for a few days.

The boys are all well. Two or three are singing "When we chop down the old apple tree" and that's the sport and a lot we have to be thankful for. The outside crop over a number of men are out of work available, is the best we have had for year like last. Again I must bring my letter to a close as the boys are busy reading a magazine just received from Ex-Mayor Reid.

W. J. Hamer.

Former Alderman Guilty of Fraud

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 27.—(By the Canadian Press) — Stanley Thomson, ex-alderman of Chatham was yesterda fyound guilty of fraud by Judge Wearing in County Court and was remanded for sentence. The charge arose over the stock transactions of Thomson Motor Co., local brokers involving a check for $2,500, which Mr. Thomson said he was drawn refused to honor. The accused was sold out with loss of $2,230 to the broker.

Lightning as Thick as Telegraph Poles

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 27.—(By the Canadian Press)—Hazards of his solo flight across the south Atlantic Ocean were related by Ben Kinkler, intrepid Australian airman at a luncheon here yesterday. Chain lightning "as thick as telegraph poles" played about his machine as he winged his way over the Doldrus, he said, Kinkler, who made his flight in a Turkish-built plane, is in the city renewing acquaintances.

DEATHS

WOODCOCK—In Belleville General Hospital on Friday, February 26th, 1932, Wesley Woodcock in his 69th year.

The funeral will take place from his late residence, 91½ Church St., on Monday, February 29th, 1932. Interment Belleville Cemetery.

127-1t.

TICKELL & BROWNE
Funeral Home
208 Dundas St.
Cor. Victoria Ave.
Phone 41
Limousine Ambulance Service

614-12d

BELLEVILLE
BURIAL COMPANY
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
Private Ambulance
Phone 774-W Day and Night
J. W. IMLAH,
Proprietor
Mausoleum Crypts For Sale

125-tf

F. C. Martin and Son
FUNERAL DIRECTORS
FUNERAL HOME
210-212 CHURCH ST.
PRIVATE AMBULANCE
IN CONNECTION
PHONE 2000

126-tf

THOMPSON
FUNERAL SERVICE
Motor Equipment
Thos. C. Thompson
FUNERAL DIRECTOR
Phone 62
Nights and Sundays 1313

124-tf

To Let

Furnished house, medium size, all conveniences, desirable locality. For three months of Mar. April, May. Possession March 1st. Phone 73 or 228.

113-tf

Store To Let

Best location in Belleville. New and modern, copper and marble show windows front, rear and side. Immediate possession. Apply

W. R. MORTON
Ontario Intelligencer
Belleville.

112-tf

FOR SALE

ONE OF THE - MOST MODERN homes on Highland Ave. 8 rooms 4 bedrooms, sleeping porch, oak floors, hot water heating, in first class condition. Price $10,000, a wonderful bargain, worth $3,500. A fine place to acre farm to exchange for city home or sell.

If you want a square deal when buying or selling a home call

REG. O. SIMMONS.

tf

WHITE LEGHORN BABY CHICKS 10c. White rock 12c. Order now. C. D. Benisteil, R. 3, Trenton.

127-3t.

NOW BOOKING ORDERS FOR baby chicks, $8.00 per 100 per hundred. Hatching eggs $5 per hundred. Phone 2202-15, Campbellcroft, 14 Sidney St. Phone 5648

SHEEP AND LAMBS CHEAP — Apply Mrs. B. Doctor, Bridge St. East, at Belleville Golf Links.

126-3t

THE LATE T. H. GOTHARD Coal Business for Sale, property and equipment. Brick house with all conveniences on Marmora St. Hundred acre farm at Glen Miller. Four acres of land and brick house at Colborne. Situated on Highway No. 2. Enquire Mrs. Gothard or Colborne, or J. Pierce, Box 555 Trenton. Real Estate and Commission Agent.

125-2t

BABY CHICKS, LEGHORNS 10c. Barred rocks 12½c; also custom hatching 1½ day of 180 eggs 2 trays $11. H. Brenton, Corbyville. Phone 2202-15.

125-3t

FOR SALE OR EXCHANGE

FIFTY ACRES, 8 ROOM HOUSE, barn, drilled well. Price very reasonable. Will exchange for house, bonds, or other securities. Apply 161 Albert St.

127-6d

FOR SALE OR TO LET

FIVE ROOM FLAT AND STORE, 88 Station St., six room house with one or five acres garden land, ½ mile from city limits; fifty acre farm good garden ground, good buildings, easy terms if required. Apply 16 Albion St. or John Donovan. 127-8t.

WANTED

WANTED — TO RENT MODERN house by 1st of April or May. Write stating rent expected. to Box "3" Ontario Intelligencer.

127-1t

WANTED—WOOD WANTED, 4 FT. dry, soft wood for boiler. State kind, quality, and price, at our yard. The Rossiter Co.

127-3t

$300 MONTHLY SELLING 10 Carter Tested Washers daily. Check plus pushbee. Good Housekeeping approval. Restricted territory. Write quick. Carter Co., Dept. 786 Front Ave., Cleveland, O.

127-1t

WOMEN WANTED

TO CONDUCT KINDERGARTEN Classes at home. Free Booklet. Write Kindergarten Training Institute, Toronto (10).

FEMALE HELP WANTED

WANTED—WOMEN WANTED TO sew for us at home. Sewing machine necessary. No selling. Ontario Sales Bureau Company, Dept. 101, Toronto 8.

tf 13 20 27.

MALE HELP WANTED

GOVERNMENT JOBS—HOW TO get them. Be ready for spring appointments. Free Booklet. Write MODL, Toronto 8. tf 13 20 27.

WANTED EXPERIENCED Radio and Refrigerator Salesman for Belleville and district. Apply Box "J" Ontario Intelligencer.

126-3t

WANTED—AGENT TO REPRESENT British Insurance Company, for Fire, Auto, and Accident Insurance. Apply Box "F" Ontario Intelligencer.

126-3t

WANTED—RELIABLE MAN TO do housework in small modern home, for lady in business. Good home for right man. Apply Box "W" Ontario Intelligencer, and state wages expected. 125-3t.

HELP WANTED

EARN UPWARDS OF $25 WEEKly growing mushrooms for us; spare time or all; cellars and sheds. Booklet Illustrated Free. Canadian Mushroom Company, Toronto.

125-3t.

WANTED — ADOPTION BY A two and a half months old baby boy. Apply Box "I" Ontario Intelligencer.

125-4t

WANTED—BOOS WANTED UNgraded, extras 3c, firsts 24c, seconds 21c. Phone orders and early dozen egg cases loaned. Lewis and Reid, Queen Alexandra Building, Dame, West, Montreal. 117-tf.

TO-LET

CONVENIENT GROUND FLOOR, well equipped business premises, Victoria Ave. Apply 367 William St. 127-tf.

HOUSE, ALL CONVENIENCES. Newly decorated, immediate possession. Apply 7 Bannister St. Phone 1579. 127-1w

APARTMENT NO. 1, GROUND floor; also separate apartment in the Bellevue Apartments. Apply Mrs. Winn. Phone 2338W. 127-tf

TWO SIX ROOM HOUSES, CONveniences. Rent $17, Harriett St. Apply Mrs. Winn. Phone 2338W. 127-tf

ROOM WITH BOARD IN EXchange for help in kitchen; in small private home. All conveniences. Suitable for two, need middle aged lady. Write Box "U" Ontario Intelligencer for particulars. 127-3t

SEVEN ROOM HOUSE ON CANnifton Road. Possession at once. Apply Mrs. J. V. Connell. Phone 619F. 125-3t

FOUR ROOM APARTMENT, with all conveniences. Apply 8 Deline, 150 Front St. 122-1w.

HEATED APARTMENT, CENTRAL location, suitable for two. Refrigerator. Possession April first. Apply 32 Turnbull St. Phone 2142. 120-1w

HOUSE, ON PINNACLE STREET, second door from Methodist Church. Phone 788Y, apply 216 George St. 111-tf.

APARTMENTS TO RENT. Apply 6. J. Fisher, Bridge Street. 429-tf

COTTAGE, NO. 39 GROVE ST., 2 rooms, furnace, laundry tubs, gas water heater oak floors, wired for stove. Apply 38 Grove St. dlS-tf.

FOR SALE OR TO LET

UP TO DATE HOME. NO. 37 Highland Ave. Can be had on easy payments, at a bargain. Apply Dan Doyle, 282 Front St. Phone 869. Hours 2 to 3 p.m.

c28-tf

LOST

BUNCH OF KEYS ON RING. Finder kindly return to this office. Reward. 127-2t.

STRAYED

ON MY PROPERTY, 1 PIG. OWNer may have same by proving property and paying for advt. If not claimed in 3 days will be sold. Phone 1635. 127-1t

HOAR'S Letter To The Editor

Belleville Office Phone 3249
GORDON MILLER, Local Manager
Residence Phone 2316

127-2td

DOYLE'S DRUG STORE ONLY DRUG STORE Open Sunday

BUSINESS LINERS

TUBEROUS REGONIA BULBS Plant yours now. Large Bulbs 7 for .25c, at Bishop's Seed Store.

125-3t

AUCTION SALE

Of Farm Stock and Implements. On Lots 5 and 6, Hungerford Township, Concession 7. One mile West of Thomasburg on Friday, Tuesday, March 1st, at 12.30 p.m. Sharp. Terms:—Under $10.00 Cash. Five Months Credit 7% interest.

Auctioneer Noble. Prospective buyers will do well to attend this Sale early and look over the offering of this sale, especially the herd of High Grade Holstein Cows as they are intended to be the best in the Township.

C. O. F. COMPTON, Owner.
E. J. COURNEYEA, Auctioneer.

127-1t.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION TO THE LEGISLATURE

PUBLIC NOTICE is hereby given that W. F. Bridgland, of the City of Kingston, in the County of Frontenac, Ontario, will apply to the Legislature at the next session thereof, for an Act extending the powers of said Trustee, as an engineering, as to those entitled to share in the estate of the Trust created by the will of Captain Joseph Taylor Richardson for the benefit of the children of certain married men of the Company of the 2nd. Battalion, 1st. Brigade of the Canadian Expeditionary Force.

DATED at the City of Kingston, this twenty-second day of January A.D. 1932.

NICKLE & FARRELL,
Solicitors for the Applicant.
f5 13 20 27

N. Hardwick

Electrical Contractor
Fixtures, Bulbs, Receptacles
Repairs
All Work Guaranteed
75 BURTON ST., BELLEVILLE

Surplus of Wheat Does Not Exist

REGINA, Sask., Feb. 27.—There never has been a world surplus of wheat, according to Dr. W. W. Swanson, professor of economics at the University of Saskatchewan, in an address here last night. He expressed the opinion that the collapse of the International wheat Market was from other factors, as the alleged surplus had "never existed."

For this reason the economist expressed doubt that the Farm Board would allow that dollar wheat would never return to stay. Taking into consideration that the price of wheat had been linked with the prices of other commodities, those of which had dropped to a greater degree than wheat.

As a ray of hope to the grain growers and others involved he expressed the opinion that wheat prices are due to make a steady recovery, "from a standpoint of its strong statistical position".

ALFONSO HAS CEDED RIGHT

Paris, Feb. 27 (AP)—Persons close to former King Alfonso said today that reports in Madrid and elsewhere that Alfonso had ceded his right to the Spanish throne to the Infante Jaime, pretender, Alfonso Carlos, were substantially true.

Alfonso and Carlos have settled the dispute over succession to the throne, they said. When Alfonso went to Munich recently he continued to Austria, where he saw Carlos, settled their differences and agreed to join forces for restoration of the Bourbon monarchy.

Yesterday the Marquis de Theo, representing Alfonso in Paris, radioed reports that the former King had ceded his right to the pretender.

Classified Ad. Rates

PHONE 99

SOCIAL NOTICES—Births, 50c; marriages and Engagement Notices, $1.00; Deaths and Funeral Notices, $1.00; In Memoriams, $1.00; Cards of Thanks, $1.00; minimum charge, $2.00 for 16 lines, and that 10c per count line; Lodge and Church announcements, minimum charge, 75c.

CLASSIFIED — Per Sale, Wanted, etc.,—1st per word each for first TWO insertions; 1c per word for insertions 10 per word, minimum 25c.

COMING EVENTS—1c per word first insertion; ½c per word over that.

PROFESSIONAL, LEGAL AND BUSINESS CARDS—Daily rate—15c per agate line (14 lines) to count for first insertion; 10c per line for subsequent insertions.

AUCTION SALE—1c per word, heading to count as 12 words; minimum charge 75c for 75 words. Consecutive insertions, 50 per word.

An initial or figure counts as one word.

In estimating allow five words to the line.

Telephone your Want Ads, when it is more convenient. PHONE 99.

The Ontario Intelligencer will not be responsible for more than one insertion of any Classified Ad unless it is in writing.

Advertisers should have their replies addressed to Box Number care of the Ontario Intelligencer.

CANADIAN NATIONAL RAILWAYS

Change of Time effective January 24, 1932

TRAINS GOING EAST

No. 18 12.40 A.M.—Mail and Express Daily.

No. 16 2.50 A.M.—The Maple Leaf, Daily.

No. 8 2.23 A.M.—Express, Daily to Ottawa.

No. 14 11.20 A.M.—The International—Daily except Sunday.

No. 36 3.47 P.M.—The Capitol, daily except Sunday, to Ottawa.

No. 6 6.05 P.M.—The Inter - City Limited, daily, fast train to Montreal.

TRAINS GOING WEST

No. 19 2.45 A.M.—Mail and Express, daily.

No. 7 3.30 A.M.—Express, daily

No. 17 4.43 A.M.—The Inter - City, daily.

No. 5 2.30 P.M.—The Maple Leaf, daily.

No. 35 4.57 P.M.—The Capitol, daily except Sunday.

No. 39 8.00 P.M.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.

No. 13 8.00 P.M.—The International—Limited, daily, fast train to Toronto.

BELLEVILLE TO PETERBORO

No. 11 8.30 A.M.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.

BELLEVILLE TO MADOC

No. 55 3.55 P.M.—Local Passenger, daily except Sunday.

Tice's Auction Sales

Jersey Cattle, Horses, Grain and Implements, property of H. E. Putnam, 1st Con. of Sidney, No. 2 Highway, 400 yards north Cemetery gate, on Thursday, March 3rd, 1932, at One O'clock sharp. Farm has been sold, Mr. Putnam living in good sale, and will start on time. Terms nine months. See large bills.

GEO. O. TICE, Auctioneer.
Phone 433 or 186.

f26-3t

ALTERATIONS, CLOSED VERandahs, Hardwood Floor, General Repairs, Phone 2142.

Special Low Prices Now By Skilled Mechanic
Foster—1325-F

FRASER AYLESWORTH

Ontario Land Surveyor and Registered Professional Civil Engineer Land Surveys, Plans and Descriptions, promptly attended to.
PHONE 5—F. O. BOX 69
MADOC, ONT.

c28-1d

Painting, Paperhanging and Decorating

Give Us a Trial

E. A. McPhee

Decorator to People Who Care
Phone 503
Bellevue, Apt. 6

Business Directory

LEGAL

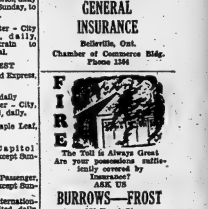
T. Y. WILLS, BARRISTER, SOLICitor, Notary Public, etc. 15 Bridge St., Belleville. Telephone 76. tf

PORTER, PAYNE & ARNOTT, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public. Solicitors for Royal Bank. Chas. A. Payne, K.C. R. Bruce Porter. Offices: 219 Front St., Belleville, Ont.

MALCOLM WRIGHT, BARRISter, Solicitor, Notary Public, etc. Office Campbell Street, Belleville.

FONTON, FONTON & GRAHAM, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries Public, Commissioners. Offices: 28 Bridge Street east. Cobourg. Bank of Montreal. Money to loan on mortgages. W. N. Fonton, K.C., R. D. Fonton, K.C., S. J. E. Graham. Office: Belleville.

WALLBRIDGE, CAMPION AND Co. (Successors to the late F. S. Wallbridge). Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, Money to loan. Dominion Bank Building, Front Street and Bridge streets, Belleville, Ontario.



BUTLER & BUTLER, BARRISters, Solicitors, Notaries, etc. Office 28 Bridge Street E. K. J. Butler, K.C., Ormonde Butler.

B. C. DONNAN, COUNTY CROWN Attorney, Notary Public, Solicitor, Notary Public, etc. Offices: Court House Building, Belleville, Ontario.

COLLINS AND GUSHING, A. B. Collins, K.C., F. G. Gushing, Barristers and Solicitors. Office: Above Royal Bank, corner Front and Campbell streets. Phone 187. Company and private funds to loan on first mortgages.

INSURANCE

BONE & MARTIN
LIMITED
GENERAL INSURANCE
Belleville, Ont.
Chamber of Commerce Bldg.
Phone 1344

The Toll is Always Great
Are your possessions sufficiently insured?
ASK US
BURROWS — FROST
221 Front St.

HALL & EARLE
General Insurance, Fire, Automobile, Accident, Plate Glass, Burglary, Fidelity Bonds.
178 Front Street. Phone 1154W

DENTAL

DR. R. H. EMPSON, DENTIST (Successor to Dr. Geo. Hubbard) X-Ray. 249½ Front St. Phone 483. Belleville.

DR. O. A. MARSHALL
DR. J. A. MARSHALL
Gas Anaesthetic
Phone 1200
Evenings by Appointment
110 Bridge St. East—Phone 146
(Between John and George)

MEDICAL

Dr. S. B. McCrady, B.Sc.
Physician & Surgeon
X-Rays a Specialty
Residence and Surgery
136 Bridge St. East Phone 1200
(Between George and William)

DR. J. S. BIGHAM SPECIALIST, EYE, EAR, NOSE & THROAT. Post Graduate, New York. Honorary Staff Toronto Eye and Ear Infirmary and Victoria Hospital for Children. Office 47 Campbell St. Phone 2120 Hours 10-12, 2-4, and 7-8. 128-1f.

CHIROPRACTOR

S. A. WYATT, Ph.C. SPECIAL Chiropractic Treatments and adjustments given to the mouth for all chronic diseases. Post office orders corrected. For particulars phone 900 or write 238 Coleman Street Belleville. Office, Foster Days and Fridays.

H. R. and Vera S. Pitcher
CHIROPRACTORS
(Phoenix Graduates)
Radio-Neurometer Service
343 Bridge East
Phone 1376 Belleville Ont.

STOCKS AND BONDS
HOGAR & CRAWFORD MEMbers of Toronto Stock Exchange. Phone 1736 P. S. Wills, Branch Manager. 98-1tf.

H. S. Parry
BUILDING CONTRACTOR
Repair Work of All Kinds
Phone 1863

15-1d

COMMUNISTIC MOTION LOSES

Bruening Government Has Margin of 25 Votes

Berlin, Feb. 26 (AP).—A communistic non-confidence motion against the Bruening government was defeated in the Reichstag today by a vote of 298 to 264.

The vote came as a climax of four days' debate on the presidential election attention and gave the government ten more votes than it had expected in predicting a victory for Bruening. That prediction was based on a 15-vote margin.

The vote, which in effect reposes confidence in the often assaulted government of the "chancellor of decrees" followed closely a unanimous decision of the Reichstag to fix presidential election dates for March 13 and if necessary a second date of April 10.

Second Motion Loses.

After the non-confidence motion against the government had been voted down a combined Nationalist and Communist non-confidence motion against Minister of the Defence and the Interior, Wilhelm Roemer, was defeated, 305 to 250.

How Chinese Defended Chapel

This picture explains how the Japanese invaders of Shanghai have so far been unable to dislodge Chinese defenders despite many efforts. A group of Chinese sharpshooters is shown on a roof-top in the Chapel watching for a chance to get in a shot on one of the Japanese on the street below. These snipers have taken heavy toll in the fighting around this section.

Faithful Terrier Benefit of Master

Montreal, Que. (by the Canadian Press)—Two familiar figures have been missing recently from the streets of Montreal's business and shopping districts. They are Joe Berube, a blind peddler and his little terrier Jumbo, who barked a way through traffic for his master for five years.

His master died a short time ago and now Jumbo is looking for some one else who needs his help, for so expertly has he performed his daily task that he is entitled for ample useful service in any other walk of life. His specialty was crossing streets and at a result in the past were often the centre of attraction as a busy corner. He always announced their arrival at the curb with a few sharp barks and when his friend stepped down, he guided and guarded him across with a continuous barking at the maximum capacity of his powerful little lungs. After a safe landing he would throw his head in the air and bark a curt "Thank You" to the crowd and continue on his way.

Word "Manitoba" is of Indian Origin

Ottawa, Ont., (by the Canadian Press)—During the course of his discussion in the House of Commons on the debate on the speech from the throne recently, J. H. Stitt (Cons., Selkirk) painted a glowing picture of the great prairie province and future of his province and, perhaps, incidentally, he did add to his story of the origin and the word "Manitoba."

The first, inhabitants, the Indians called their country, collected, the Great Spirit, "Manitou". The so-called "Narrows" on the Manitoba Lakes, the Indians called "Woban." When the wind swept down the lakes these names it set up a curious, crooning sound which the superstitious Indians believed was the spirit of their God sending his voice across the waters of the lake. It was only a murmur to each other, when the wind blew "Manitou, Woban" and so the great central province of Canada got its name.

The gross revenues of the Canadian National Railways for the week ending February 7, 1932, were $2,594,801 as compared with $3,236,890 for the corresponding period in 1931, a decrease of $642,089.

WOMAN'S VOTE BILL REFERRED

French Senate Turns Down Other Provisions of Bill

Paris, Feb. 26 (AP)—The Senate today rejected the Chamber of Deputies' Electoral Reform Bill by a vote of 192 to 0 but decided to refer the women suffrage and compulsory voting provisions back to special committees.

The major provision of the reform bill was for suppression of a second ballot in elections of deputies when no one got a majority was obtained in the first.

Only one vote was raised against women suffrage in the Chamber of Deputies when the bill was passed on February 12th. The Chamber of Deputies' measure has tried to get votes for women in France, which almost alone among the great powers has denied to enfranchise her women. Each time the Senate has dashed cold water on the plan, today's action, however, in referring the matter back to special committees might have great significance for the suffragist leaders who were spurred to great activity after the overwhelming chamber victory.

More Salmon For Canadian Streams

Ottawa, Ont. (by the Canadian Press)—More than 31,000,000 Atlantic salmon eggs were collected during the autumn of 1931 by the Fish Culture Branch of the Dominion Department of Fisheries and the resultant fry will be distributed in suitable streams next spring and summer. It is by work such as this that the fish culture experts help to maintain and build up the stocks of salmon eggs at the Chandler and sport fish.

These particular eggs were obtained at the seven salmon ponds which the department operates in the Maritime Provinces, and although most of the ponds yielded larger collections than in 1930 the grand total was not quite as high as it was years. A feature of the year' work was a record collection of landlocked salmon eggs at the Chandler hatchery, New Brunswick. All told, over 546,700 of these eggs were obtained.

CENTRAL ONTARIO

Kingston — Hereafter Kingston city officials and clerical staff will work from 9 a.m. till 5 p.m., an hour later than they have been doing. This change is the result of an agitation for a cut in civic salaries and wages. A special committee voted four to four on a proposal to reduce salaries and wages, and the question was shelved. Mayor Wright told the City Council that officials at the City Hall were not being paid what they should receive for their work.

Bowmanville—Bowmanville drinking water is of the purest quality it is stated "A" by the Ontario Department of Health the report presented at the first meeting of the Board of Health of the M.O.H. showed. Mayor Geo. W. James was elected chairman of the Board for the year.

Campbellford—The peoples, customs and dress of many parts of the world, as well as a 25,537 mile round-the-world trip, was described by Mrs. H. W. Lapp of Ottawa, the second number of Campbellford's picture presentation, which is to be lectured in the St. John's United Church on Tuesday evening to a large gathering.

Mrs. Lapp was the winner of the first prize in The Farm and Dairy monthly contest in 1930, and in the couple of weeks since the world trip on the Empress of Australia, which sailed on December 1, 1930, returning on April 16, 1931.

Cobourg — Another near fatality at Rice Lake was averted by the presence of mind of the driver. A truck, driven by Gerald Franklin of Brownsville, went through the ice. He climbed through the window of the cab, and the moment the water was commencing to rise above the floor boards.

Franklin was hauling ice, when the loaded truck went through. He attempted to clear the cracking ice but was unable to do so, barely making his escape. A similar accident occurred about ten days ago when the driver of a team and sleigh of ice, Bunsworth narrowly missed drowning.

Bowmanville— Convicted on a charge of operating a motor truck without proper food and shelter for a horse F. McConichie, of Bowmanville was fined $25 and costs when he appeared in local police court yesterday.

Colborne—Unemployed of Colborne will be given quarters on which to boil their efforts towards providing fuel for the municipal buildings during the winter, while during the next few weeks, for the co-operation has been secured three acres of standing beech and maple wood. Thirteen men are put to work clearing the woods and are to receive $1.50 per cord for wood in four foot lengths.

Port Hope—Port Hope will be the scene of a monster Athletic Meet on May 24th according to a communication received by M. U. Ferguson from the Ontario Athletic Commission. It is expected that a large number of contestants will be here. This district extends from Scarboro on the west, to Belleville on the east and from the Lake to Lindsay on the North—Port Hope Guide.

Oshawa—Oshawa electric consumers whose users will receive a rebate of 12 per cent. on their electric bills for 1931, Oshawa Public Utilities decided at the regular meeting last night. The rebate will amount to approximately $54,000, while the balance of the amount amounting to $28,000, will be used to retire debentures.

Enterprise—Mr. Jack Donohoe, maker ax-Enterprise Cheese Factory had the misfortune to fracture his right ankle while cutting wood last Thursday. At the time it was thought to be only a sprain, but upon examination the main bone was found to be broken. Dr. Carlton reduced the fracture yesterday.

Port Hope—With all entries being well filled, the winter flower show, which was held at the town hall here under the auspices of the Port Hope Horticultural Society, proved to be a good annual event and up to the high standard set in former years.

The silver cup, donated by the Horticultural Society for the best exhibit in the entire show, was won by Mrs. J. Mulvey, while the trophy donated by Mrs. R. Sifton was awarded to Miss H. Flamsmons.

AIR MAIL FILM TO BE SHOWN

Route of Letter From Time Mailed Until Reaching Destination

Postmaster J. V. Truxtich received final instructions in regards to the post office department's moving picture production, which is to be shown at a Belleville Theatre next Monday. The film was made in Canada and is entitled "The Flying Postman" and was made for the department's convenience in the people of Canada exactly how their new air-mail service is conducted and to demonstrate to the citizens the advancement of postal advantages in Canada during the past few years.

"Flying Young, the movie critic for the Toronto Star comes to the front with the following statement in regard to the "Flying Postman" —An air mail aeroplane roaring out of the screen towards you sweeps into the opening title of "The Flying Postman" and this bit of action sets the pace for the rest of this all-Canadian movie-reeler, which in a graphic eleven minutes gives you an insight into the action behind the scenes in Canda's air mail service.

This featurette was made by the post office department, photographed, recorded, developed and printed in Canada, so that it is truly a Canadian movie effort. Every foot treats with the speed of the air mail service in minimizing mileage and the highlight is a race between the mail aeroplane and the C.N.R. fast trains east of Cobourg. These scenes, taking from the air and from the ground show the aeroplane roaring down the narrow space between the two lines and just outside one of those thrills, that you have often felt since coming out to see in sixteen parts.

The picture was solely made and produced to introduce Canada's new air mail service to the general public and therefore acquaint the public more fully on its many excellent qualities as to speed and efficiency.

MODERN MERCHANDISING

Shipped Belleville TODAY

An interesting series of articles on modern merchandising of particular interest to business men by experts who has given much thought and intensive study to the subject. In connection with the articles, questions will be answered by Mr. Edgar Dupuis auditor of general interest evolved by the articles. Merchants and business men generally should read every one of these articles for the many practical valuable information upon the subject of modern merchandising.

GET THE PROFITS FROM YOUR SUGAR BUSH

WELDED STEEL SAP PAN

This is the ideal pan for maple syrup making on a small scale. The welding makes it practically a one-piece pan—no solder to melt or leak if allowed to boil dry. Finished around top with heavy angle steel. A pair of handles each side for lifting off fire. Furnished with or without arches for using on stove, or open fire. Write for further particulars.

W. GORDON STEEL WORKS Limited
Tweed - - Ont.

113 27 mlb

VETERAN RETIRES AFTER 50 YEARS IN RAILROADING

C. J. Smith, European Vice-President of C. N. R. Looks Back

CROWDED CAREER

London, Feb. 27 (CP) — After half a century hard work in which he played an important part in the development of Canadian railways, C. Smith retired as European vice-president of the Canadian National Railways at the beginning of the year. He is a popular figure in London, and a reporter of the Evening News who saw him before he left his desk describes him as "a true Canadian." Mr. Smith began his railways as his life; he started in the local freight offices in Hamilton, Ontario, fifty years ago and has been a manager of one sort or another for the last forty years.

"Well, all I have ever looked for is contentment," Mr. Smith told his interviewer. "I don't think a man has any right to expect more than contentment in this life.

"If you can't have contentment if you are out of a job; you can't have it if you are head-over-heels in debt, if you're behind the times, or if you don't like your work. The best thing to do is to like your work and go ashed with it and do something."

The smile on his ruddy face was an image of contentment.

"When I first started to work on railways in Canada there was a section from Quebec to Toronto and one or two other towns, but that was all. Now the West were served with dog-sleds and canoes. There are now over ten thousand miles of railroad there.

"And those miles of track didn't just happen; they had to be built, and the power and the men had to built them. Those tracks made it possible to get at the timber, wheat, and mines which have since made Canada a rich country. The wealth of Canada was only three millions when I went to work.

The telephone bell rang. He answered it, and disposed of the business in a minute.

"I've had my share of the work, very harder as I have grown older. Work changes as you get on. I've had to put in long days, long periods at a time, and I didn't think it hard work. But at a time I would rather have a Canadian cold or more hardship than a London damp, clammy day here in London.

"Experience comes along and helps you get promotion, and you get more, though the job you tackle may be bigger. I have been lucky in that I've always seemed to been out of a job, now that I think of it, since I started work. He smiled and puffed and thought a little. "Yes, I've been very lucky. I was out of work for about three days, that's all. Then I just be-fore I went to the North Railway Company as vice-president and general manager.

"But those three weeks were the only or less in the nature of a rest. That's the only time in 50 years I've been out of work. I began to tell of his idea of education for success. "Let your Canadian idea of letting a boy work during his summer vacation at whatever business he is going in for is a good one. I've found that helps at school as well as the other. And there's nothing like learning young."

BAYSIDE FARMER KICKED BY HORSE

Many Members of Community Suffering From Severe Colds

Bayside—Mr. George Bush was kicked on the left leg by a vicious horse Monday. Although no bones were broken the muscles of the leg were seriously injured and it will be some time before he will be able to walk again.

Col. Putman, who sold his farm recently, has purchased a home in Deseronto and will move to that thriving centre in the near future.

Mrs. Leeruph was rushed to the Belleville hospital and will undergo a critical operation as soon as her condition permits.

Mr. Maxwell Bush is ill with a severe cold.

Mr. Donald Gumy has decided to stove ice for the summer and has a number of men employed. He expects to have his ice house filled in a week or two.

Mr. Douglas Holton was in Bayside recently on business.

Mr. Donald Irwin and family of Belleville are moving to the Gothard house, March 1st.

Mrs. A. L. Burks who has been suffering from severe cold is improving.

Mrs. John Sargent of the second concession underwent a serious operation in the Belleville hospital during the week. She is progressing favourably.

Mr. and Mrs. George W. Shorts spent Tuesday and Wednesday in Belleville visiting friends.

Mrs. Hoard, who resides with her daughter, Mrs. Leeruph, has been indisposed during the week.

Mr. Lewis Taylor has erected a fine new ice house.

People must have a permit to get out ice this winter.

A government permit makes the ice more durable and safe to put in the drinking water. If one were to drink ice water without a permit and thereafter break out with a rash or something rather the health officers would blame it on the ice.

PAIN like INDIGESTION

WHAT many call indigestion is very often nothing but excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sours. You feel distress when you sit down to table, hours later there is often acute pain. But you need not suffer more. You know what to do.

The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly. The best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali will neutralize instantly many times as much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. The stomach is soothed. All sourness and gas is dispelled. The entire digestive tract is sweetened.

Be careful to ask for Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, the preparation of magnesia prescribed and used by physicians for the correction of excess acids.

Every mother should know certain uses of this preparation. For herself, and for her children — babies too. Complete directions in each package. 50c bottles at drug stores everywhere in the dominion.

The ideal dentifrice for clean teeth and healthy gums is Phillips' Dental Magnesia. A superior tooth paste. (Made in Canada.)

PHILLIPS' MILK OF MAGNESIA

Mother's Nerves

WHAT a joy are healthy, rollicking children when you are in good health. What a worry when the nerves are tired and rundown and every sound irritates and annoys. You have not been sleeping well, had headaches, perhaps, and feel tired and irritable. You are beginning to fear a nervous breakdown.

Only through the medium of the blood can the exhausted nerves be restored and this is best accomplished by using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

Many thousands of tired, nervous mothers have proven this to their utmost satisfaction. It is so much easier to prevent than to overcome diseases of the nerves.

Dr. Chase's Nerve Food

Restores the Tired Nerves

District News

NORTH HASTINGS

Marmora

Marmora, Feb. 27 By Mail—Mrs. McCarry of Toronto, is visiting her sister Mrs. Clifford Spry, this week.

Mrs. J. E. Taylor returned home from St. Joseph's Hospital, Peterboro, on Saturday.

Mrs. Marion Shannon R.N., of Toronto, is visiting her parents Mr. and Mrs. D. Shannon.

Mrs. D. Young of Belleville, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. A. Nichol.

Miss Wanda Bacon of Peterboro, is visiting her uncle, Mr. H. Crawford, and other relatives in town.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hartley, spent Wednesday evening in Belleville.

Mrs. C. Bailey of Stirling, is visiting her mother Mrs. W. Linn.

Mr. George Dunn, of Peterboro, spent Monday in town.

Mrs. J. Jenkins of Seaforth, is visiting her niece Mrs. Charles Nichol.

Miss Jean Thompson has been appointed teacher at Round Lake school near Havelock.

Mrs. Wm. Davis, of Kingston, spent Tuesday in town.

Mr. and Mrs. George Legrow of Stirling, visited the latter's sister, Mrs. Thomas O'Neill on Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Fraser Aylesworth spent Sunday with Mr. Wm. Linch.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Stiles was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Shortt on Sunday.

Mr. Willis Irwin is suffering from an attack of pneumonia.

It is not a man's birth nor his wealth nor his influence which should count. It is the man himself.

DASH AND DOORS

We Specialize in BUILDING MATERIALS

SHINGLES

BRICK TILE

BUILDERS' HARDWARE

PAINT

CEMENT

MILLWORK MOULDINGS

FRAMES LUMBER LATH

DRY STRIPPING IN A BUILDING

GYPROC

PLASTER AND LIME

PREPARED ROOFING

THE Houston Co.

Office: 75 St. Paul St. Ph. 1677

Allan's Mills

Allan's Mills, Feb. 27 By Mail — Mr. Jas. Milne gave a party to the young people and neighbors on Friday evening; those who attended report a good time.

Miss Margaret Burkitt who was operated on for appendicitis in Belleville Hospital returned home and is gaining nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Burkitt of Allisonville, and Mr. and Mrs. John Burkitt are visiting friends on Thursday evening with Mr. A. Burkitt.

Mr. and Mrs. Mark Morton and Roby spent Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Milne.

Mr. Clarence Bailey, teacher and family of S. S. No. 14 called on Margaret Burkitt on Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Dave Wellman spent Sunday with Mr. Wm. Linch.

Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Stiles was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Shortt on Sunday.

Mr. Willis Irwin is suffering from an attack of pneumonia.

Malone

Malone—Messrs Bill Fox, Alex Gawley, George McCrimmon and Henry Weese motored into Belleville on Monday.

Master Harry and Billy Nickle of Belleville are spending a vacation with their grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Nickle.

Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Nickle were guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. Nickle on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Weese also George McCrimmon were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Nickle Wednesday evening.

Mr. Walter Gawley called on Mr. Henry Weese one night last week.

Mrs. W. J. Nickle and family, also Mrs. Wm. Nickle of Belleville, spent a few days last week with Mr. and Mrs. H. Nickle.

It's astonishing how much those gents know.

Ask Ada as you live there's a lot of things you can't do without a permit, but if you decide to drink you can be as independent as a pig on ice. The government can't stop it about the only chance we have or get the laugh on them.

LAST DAY TO LOWER RECORD

Unless Conditions Ideal, Campbell Will Ship Car Home

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla., Feb. 26 —Sir Malcolm Campbell, noted British sportsman, said Beach and weather conditions today would determine whether he would break his newly-made land speed records or ship his twelve-cylinder racing car back to England without further delay.

He made preparations to have the car on the beach as low tide late this afternoon and said if conditions were favorable he would try to lower the record for the kilometre, the mile, the five-kilometre and the five mile records.

Otherwise, he said, he will abandon his speed runs, ship his car back to England tomorrow and leave here himself Thursday or Wednesday, sailing for England March 4th.

STEAMER REPORTED SAFE

St. John's Nfld., Feb. 26 (CP)—The Danish steamer Aggersund, reported Wednesday as disabled 300 miles off Newfoundland, is safe in Bonavista, Mass., under her own power, according to a wireless message received here today and spoken this morning the steamer is 160 miles off the Newfoundland coast.

WOOD'S PHOSPHODINE

The Great English Prescription! Tones and invigorates the whole nervous system, makes new blood in old Veins. Used for over 40 years. Sold by druggists everywhere, or by mail. Price $1.00 per package, or six packages for $5.00. Write for free pamphlet. Address: The Wood Chemical Co., Windsor, Ont. Wood's Phosphodine, No. 1, for Men, No. 2, for Women, No. 3, for Nervous Debility. Wood's Phosphodine is sold in Belleville by The Wood Drug Co.

Belleville Burial Company

FUNERAL DIRECTORS

J. W. IMLAH, Proprietor

14 Campbell Street. Phone 774-W
Belleville Day and Night
Mausoleum Crypts for Sale

The Dime-a-Dance Girl

By Joan Clayton

"That's extremely foolish of you," Myra interrupted sharply. "I'm not taking sides in this but I won't have your imagining that you're persuading you're not. You're every bit as good as Steven Barclay. What if he does have money? You're beautiful. You're sweet and good. You are well-born—"

"You sound like a novel of the 'Nineties, Myra," Ellen broke in with a rueful little laugh.

"Just the same, it's true," persisted Myra.

"You know, I wasn't sure whether I was going to say 'yes' or 'no' until I did," Ellen said, staring out at the winking electric sign across the street.

"You'd know what you were going to say, wouldn't you, if it had been Larry Harrowgate?"

Ellen's face turned scarlet.

"He hasn't asked me," she answered, her cheeks continuing to flame, "I haven't a reason in the world to imagine he will when he's engaged to another girl.

"Has he—ever said anything that might suggest he meant to tell you about that?"

"No, he hasn't." Ellen admitted in a low, strained voice. "That's what makes me—well it doesn't make me hate him but it makes me think I should. Oh, why can't I get more fair?"

There was no answer to that question. Both girls knew it. Presently Ellen murmured a good night and slipped off to her own bed. Myra dropped her book to the floor and snapped off the light.

When what awakened her a pounding on the door from the living room, Earlier in the night her sleep had been light and troubled but toward morning she had fallen into heavy slumber. Nevertheless, the terrific noise brought her wide awake at once. In the dark the building must be on fire, she roused Myra, told her to wake Molly and Mike, grabbed her kimona and ran through the living room to the door. It was barely 6 o'clock.

She jerked open the door and stood in foolish surprise, abruptly conscious of her disheveled attire. Facing her was John Farnum, owner of the building.

"What do you mean rousing us at this hours?" she gasped indignantly trying to hide her bare feet.

"I mean I want my rent and I want it now," he said in a loud voice.

"Come in and stop shouting," she whispered shrill. "Have the kindness to wait until I dress."

"I have the kindness to do nothing," he barked. "Your mother's put me off with excuses long enough. If you've got the money to buy a parcel of new furniture and a lot of fancy grub, if you've got money to entertain folks who have incomes you've got enough to pay your rent."

"You shall have your money immediately," Ellen announced, wondering as she spoke if there were enough in the apartment to satisfy his claim.

She left him standing by the door, Myra in the bedroom had just succeeded in rousing Molly and Mike.

"There's no fire," Ellen said. "It's only Mr. Farnum suddenly troubled at 6 in the morning about his rent. He'll have to pay him immediately."

"Hell wait," declared Molly, relieved and promptly sleepy again. "I handed him day before yesterday and no arr. I'm not the one him. Where's that kimona?"

"I'm afraid it will be useless to see him now," Ellen stopped her. "He's heard about our new last night. I've no doubt he knows everything on the menu."

"Then I'll talk with him with living face powder on," declared Myra obstinately. "We're not going to be put out in the street."

"We won't be living here long if we can't get the rent money," Ellen turned back in a mood to carry her furniture down to the street herself. "Myra, how much money have we any way?"

Myra counted $200 on the insurance There should be lots left. My pocketbook's on the bureau."

Molly went to sleep again. When the pocketbook was opened it appeared that the rent was not unduly optimistic. She managed the day before by the skin of her teeth and Ellen could not hide her consternation. Now she was driven to borrow the vitally necessary insurance to date against fire. But the penalty provided was the rent.

By emptying her pocketbook and Myra's they succeeded in piecing together the $60. It left them exactly $11 for the week's food and incidentals.

Ellen saw that it was out of the question for her to resign her position. It would take at least a week to find another. Besides the possible $25 from Dreamland Saturday would not be sufficient to live on even over.

CHAPTER XX

Days passed. Difficult days for Ellen. Days when, afford as she might, nurse with milk bills and butcher bills seemed hardly worth the effort. Days that left her tired, deep and rest and leisure and fell to the bottom of the doubts job. By vitally necessary for the present, was too much to hope.

She had not broken with Steven. She could not. She saw him in the store and occasionally outside usually at luncheon. He did not ask again of marriage but in a thousand ways he unconsciously revealed to her what was in his heart. There were times those hurried, flurried days—when she forgot her problems, delicious thrilling times made of the stuff of dreams. Those were the hours she spent with Lance. In vain Molly had protested, had wept, had become angry. Ellen persisted in her determination to see him when she chose. One Monday evening she quarrel between her and Molly had come to an ugly climax. Larry had arrived at the apartment, unannounced, and Molly had asked him to leave. Afterward there had been a spiritual scene between mother and daughter result ing in a victory of sorts for Ellen. At any rate Molly had stopped her violent caterwauling against Larry. What was in her mind the girl did not know.

On Tuesday morning Ellen went to the basement lockers at Barclay's to hang up her hat and coat. Absorbed in her usual morning wonderment, she was slow to notice the group of salesmen clustered about the entrance heading the row of lockers. As she removed her hat she heard her name spoken. Ellen stared at the whispering group and saw that Mrs. Bondy was in the centre.

The girl's face blazed. Her throat felt dry and her hands began to shake. She started slowly toward the group, recognized Jenny Elkins, and saw that Jenny was watching her progress with a fascinating fear. None of the others perceived the white-faced, angry girl until she was upon them.

Consternation smote the group. No one moved or spoke. Jenny's compact clattered from her hand. She dared not stoop. The others were embarrassed, ashamed, frightened. Mrs. Bondy saw her power slipping. She made an effort to regain it.

"Suppose you tell us, dearie," she remarked. "We'd all love to know what it's like being an old man's darling."

For a moment the issue hung in the balance in nervous hysteria. The others caught her up. A wave of high, cruel laughter beat at Ellen's ears and drove the blazing color from her face. She saw that her cause was lost. An almost overpowering impulse to announce that she was engaged to Steven swept over her.

It would be a way to stop that laughter and wipe the complacent smile from Mrs. Bondy's face.

Ellen hesitated, made her decision and gave the giggling group a proud, scornful glance as she moved off without another word. Her thoughts were spinning around and round. Her heart seethed with rage and humiliation.

She took the elevator to Steven's office. She waited until the thumping of her heart subsided before she knocked. Steven himself opened the door. His look of surprise faded into delightful welcome. Then he saw that she was unstrung and wretched and he came close to her, drawing her inside.

"What is it?" he asked, concerned and peremptory.

Ellen began to tremble. Exhausted from the forces of anger and humiliation close to tears as she heard the anxiety in his voice, she fell a subtle, almost overpowering weakness. Unconsciously she tightened her grip on his hands and as she leaned forward her trouble fell came close to his.

The gesture had its immediate effect. Barclay's heart beat high with sudden, illogical hope. Quite simply he drew her into his arms.

At once Ellen was herself again. "No, no," she whispered.

Hope left his face and pain came there. Ellen saw it and drew herself backward and a step away from her.

"What is it?" he repeated unsteadily.

For a moment Ellen did not respond. She knew what she had done and knew that she could find no way to mend the pain she had inflicted. But there was no way to undo it. Silence began to heighten her memory and his memory of that last kiss.

"Please don't think I'm always going to run to you when I'm in trouble," she said at least abruptly.

"You know, I'd never think that," he interrupted gently. "Sit down, my dear."

She sat down. All her careful phrases failed her. She thought she heard him say, "I love you."

"Go on," he said more urgently. His brown eyes were upon her face.

"Because something — something a little ridiculous has happened," she faltered desperately, "I've decided to go back to the stage transferred from crestone to another organization."

"I've been thinking of that myself," he said at once, thrusting back his own disappointment and thoughts, his own hopes. Ellen saw with relief that he was business-like once more, composed and competent.

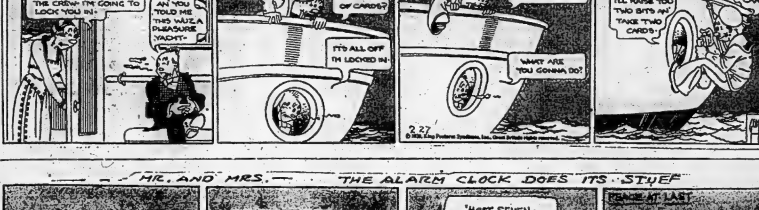
"You're lost there," he went on. "I've been thinking of another job for you."

"What sort of a job?"

"I've just prepared a memorandum for you. You're so pleasantly with pride look, I want you to know I haven't created the job on the spur of the moment."

(TO BE CONTINUED)

You owe it to yourself to try
T-R-C's TRIPLE-CURED ENZYMATIC CAPSULES



TILLIE THE TOILER

By Russ Westover.

BRINGING UP FATHER

—By George McManus.

MR. AND MRS. — THE ALARM CLOCK DOES ITS STUFF

THE BEASTS OF TARZAN, No. 46.

(Metropolitan Newspaper Service)

By Edgar Rice Burroughs.

Somehow Rokoff managed to escape before the apeman saw him, and as Tarzan entered the "bombs" the five sailors, forgetting him, fled in the opposite direction. Carefully he circled the outside of the enclosure and soon came to indications that something had recently passed into the jungle. Moreover, his acute sense of smell told him that both of those he sought had fled in the same direction.

Ever afterward Jane wondered how she lived safely through that night alone in the awful jungle. On this second day, the terror-stricken girl was slinking along a narrow game trail, fearful that the next moment would bring her face to face with some savage beast or equally savage man. As she ran on, hoping her direction was toward the great river, she came suddenly upon a strange sight.

Hiding in a clump of heavy bush, she watched. A great ape sat surrounded by several smaller ones, and in their midst a fine, downy panther was tied to and fro. If she was surprised at the sight of these natural enemies fraternizing, it was with emotions little short of fear for her companion that she saw them presently joined by a tall, muscular warrior. Now she saw that he seemed actually giving them orders.

The entire company filed on across the clearing and disappeared in the jungle. She could not know that they were the Beasts of Tarzan. But another individual, a half mile behind her, lay frozen with terror as the hideous band passed quite close to the and hill behind which he hid. This one was Rokoff, and he recognized the members of the awesome aggregation as allies of Tarzan of the Apes.

Copyright, 1932, by Edgar Rice Burroughs, Inc. All rights reserved.

Radio Features

SATURDAY FEATURES

4.00—Organ, Ann Leaf—CFRB, 4.30—Spanish Serenade—CFRB, 5.00—Central Park Orch.—CFRB, 5.30—Blue Moon Cuckoos—WEAF 6.00—Freddie Martin Orch. CFRB, 6.45—Sports Review—Graham McNamee —WJZ,

7.00—Amos 'n' Andy—CKGW, 7.00—Harry Bedlington Orch — CFRB,

7.30—Guy Lombardo Orch—WGR, 7.30—Jack Denny Orch.—WEAF, 7.45—Royal York Orch.—CFRY, 7.45—Detroit Laurier Orchestra—CFRB,

8.00—Little Symphony Orchestra—WGR,

8.15—The Great Cathedrals — CFRB,

8.30—Pittsburg v. Cleveland — CKOC,

8.30—D'Oray Program—CKGW, 8.45—Graham McNamee—Sports —WJZ,

9.00—Canadiens v. Boston, CKAC, 9.00—Sinclair Minstrels—WJZ, 9.00—Arthur Pryor's Band—WHEN, 9.00—The Simeon Joyce Trio — CKGW,

10.00—Ozzie Columbo Orch. CKGW, 10.00—Jack Denny Orch.—WEAF, 10.15—Vincent Lopez Orch.—CKGW 11.00—Don Redman Orch.—CBS, 11.00—Slumber Music, Ensemble — WJZ,

11.00—Hollywood Dance Orchestra — CFRB,

11.00—Organ, Jesse Crawford — WJZ,

11.15—Messages to Explorers — KDKA,

11.30—National Barn Dance, WLS, 11.30—Julian Woodworth Orch — WGR,

11.30—Vincent Lopez Orch—WEAF 11.30—Sid Wills Orch.—CKAC, 11.30—Jane Froman Orch.—WJZ, 11.45—Madrigears Orch.—CFRB, 11.45—Twenty Fingers of Harmony —WWJZ,

12.00—Guy Lombardo Orch.—CBS, 12.00—Coon-Sanders Orch.—WEAF 12.15—Edgewater Beach Orchestra —WJZ,

12.30—St. Moritz Orch.—CBS, 1.00—Keystone Orch.—WJZ, 1.00—Noble Slasle Orch.—WABC, 1.00—The Boulanger Orch. WADC, 2.30—Congress Hotel Orch.—KYW

SUNDAY FEATURES

9.00—Te Balladers—WHEN-NBC 10.00—Southland Sketches— WEAF 10.00—Faculty Recital—CFRB-CBS 10.30—Sunday Evening Hour—WJZ-NBC

10.45—Song for Today — CKGW-NBC

11.30—Major Bowes Family—WEAF 12.30—From Geneva — CFRB-CBS 12.45—The Street Singer—CFRB-CBS

1.00—Waldorf Organ — CKGW-NBC

1.00—Cathedral Hour — CFRB-CBS

1.30—The Silver Flute—WHEN-NBC

1.45—Old Company CKGW-NBC 1.45—Wee Willie Robyn—WGR-CBS

2.15—Bright Spots—CKGW-NBC 2.30—N.Y. Philharmonic —CFRB-CBS

4.00—From Germany — WHEN-NBC

4.00—Travelogue—CKGW-NBC 5.30—Twilight Circle —WHEN-NBC

5.30—Blue Coal Revue—CFRB-CBS

5.30—Organ, Harvey Robb—CFRY 5.30—Simonis Guardsmen—WJZ 6.30—Concerts Corp. —CFRB-CBS

7.15—The Choir Invisible— WGR 7.30—Three Bakers—WLW-WJZ

8.00—Ensemble Symphonique — WJZ,

8.00—Emma Jetlick—CKGW-NBC 8.00—Thomas Parker— WGR-CBS

8.15—Collier's Radio Hour—WJZ 8.15—Rubinoff Orch—CKGW-NBC 8.30—Organ, Kathleen Stokes—CHOK,

8.30—Talk, W. A. Fraser—CKNG 8.30—Male Univ. Chorus—CFRB-CBS

9.00—Organ; Symphony Orch — CFRY,

9.00—Wm. Hard, Generes—WEAF 9.15—Familiar Music — WHEN-NBC

9.15—Rank Stag Party—WJZ 9.45—The Buick Revellers—WEAF 10.15—The Old Singing Master — WJZ,

10.15—Orchestra, 'cellist—CKGW-NBC

10.30—Ernest Hutcheson — CFRB-CBS

10.30—Foolight Echoes—WOL: 10.45—"E", War Drama — WJZ 10.45—Seth Parker's—CKGW-NBC 11.00—Three Scamps— WGR-CBS

11.00—Newscast—CFRB

11.15—CFRB Dedicatory Prog — WEAF,

11.30—Stackley, Moonbeams — WGR

11.30—Organ, Jesais Crawford — WEAF

11.30—David Novalis, violinist—WJZ 11.45—Sam Herman, xylophone — WJZ

12.00—Henry Theis Orchestra — WJZ,

12.00—Palais d'Or Orchestra — WEAF,

12.30—California Melodies—WGR-CBS

MONDAY FEATURES

6.45—Tower Exercises—CKGW, 8.00—Breakfast Program—CKNG 8.15—Morning Devotions—WHEN, 8.30—Morning Devotions—CFRB 8.30—Cheerio,

8.45—Colonel and Budd—WGR, 9.00—Little Jack Little—CFRB, 9.30—Top o' the Morning—WHEN 9.30—Tony's Scrap Book—CFRB, 10.00—Mrs. Blake's Column—WEAF 10.15—Clara, Lu and Em—WJZ, 10.30—Breen and de Rose—WEAF, 10.30—Ye Madrigal Singers—WJZ, 11.30—Sir Robt. Falconer—CFRB, 11.30—Voice of Firestone—CFRB 12.15—C. Boulanger Orch.—CFRB, 1.00—Columbia Varie.—CFRB, 1.00—Geo. Hall Orch.—CFRB, 1.00—Royal York Orch.—CFRY, 1.00—Canadian Chats,

1.45—Yeaory Rita Orch—CFRB, 2.30—Ann Leaf, Organist— WJZ 2.30—The Revolving Stage—WEAF 3.00—U. S. Marine Band—WJZ, 3.00—Four Eaton Boys—CFRB, 3.45—Hofnjes Cize Chat—CFRB, 4.00—The Rhythm ? —CFRB 4.45—Colorado Coat — CKGW, 5.00—Buddy Warner Orch—CFRB 5.15—Newscast—CFRB,

6.00—Rhia Columbo Orch.—CKGW 6.00—Waldorf Orch.—CKGW, 6.15—Vaughn de Leath—CFRB, 6.30—Geo. Hall Orch—WKBW, 6.30—Royal Vagabonds—WJZ, 6.45—Stebbins Boys—WHEN,

7.00—Amos 'n Andy—NBC, 7.15—H. Beddington Orch—CFCA, 7.15—H. Lenin Orch.—CKGW, 7.30—Prince Albert Prog—WEAF 7.45—Chat. Laurier Orch.—CFRB, 8.00—Secretary Hawk—WHEN, 8.00—Carnation Content—CKGW 8.15—Univ. of Toronto—CFRB, 8.30—Voice of Firestone—CKGW 8.30—Colonel and Budd—WGR, 9.00—A. and F. Gypsies—WEAF, 9.00—The Mills Brod.—WKBW, 9.15—Hudnut Joyce Trio—CKGW, 9.00—Hookey—CKOC,

9.15—Penn. R. R. Dinner—WOR, 9.30—Parade of States—WEAF, 9.30—Livingston Band—CFRB, 10.00—Canada's Mounties—CKGW, 10.00—Guy Lombardo Orch.—CBS 10.30—Royal York Orch.—CFRY, 10.30—Mr. Madrigal Orch.—WEAF, 10.30—Chat. Laurier Orch.—CFRB, 10.30—Joe de Courcy Orch.—CKNG 10.30—Sing Your Troubles, 10.45—Origin of Leap Day—CFRB, 11.00—Slumber Music—CKGW, 11.00—Newscast—CFRB,

11.00—Waldorf Astoria—WEAF, 11.15—H. Barlow Orch.—CFRB, 11.30—Ellis Edward Orch.—CKGW 11.30—Organ, J. Crawford—WEAF 11.30—Hotel Roosevelt—CBS, 11.30—Geo. Shackley—WOR, 11.30—Jane Froman Orch.—WJZ, 12.00—Ben Bernie's Orch.—CBS, 12.00—Don Pe ivo Orch—WEAF, 12.00—Peter ? un Steeb—WJZ 12.30—Carl ? ws Orch.—WEAF, 12.30—Jimmy Joy Orch—WTAM, 12.30—Johnny Hamp Orch.—WJR,

12.30—Noble Slasle Orch.—CBS, 1.00—Claude Hopkins—WABC 1.30—Gus Arnheim Orch.—WABC

SCREEN ATTRACTIONS

Present and Prospective

Previews and Reviews of Current Offerings at Belleville Theatres

At The Belle

GRETA GARBO AND RAMON NOVARRO IN "MATA HARI"

Drawe-ware Tuesday Night

The dangerous and glamorous life of the notorious world war spy, "Mata Hari", is portrayed in the picture of that name which will open Monday at the Belle Theatre for three days, matinee daily, with the sensational combination of Greta Garbo and Ramon Novarro in the leading roles. The amazing cast of this ambitious Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production also includes such outstanding screen personalities as Lionel Barrymore, Lewis Stone, C. Henry Gordon, Karen Morley and Alec. B. Francis, together with a large group of supporting players.

The unprecedented feat of placing two of the screen's foremost personalities in one picture warranted an unusual story. Report has it that following several months of plays and novels, the original story, "Mata Hari", was selected as being the most eminently suited to bring out the best, dramatic talents of both Garbo and Novarro, who last scored individual hits in "Susan Lennox" and "Son of India" respectively.

The plot depicts the engrossing career of the fascinating Mata Hari, whose beauty and glamour as a dancer enables her to win her way into the confidence of allied officers and thus to furnish the enemy forces with strategic war plans. When she finally falls in love with one of the many men whom she has betrayed, it is too late and she is forced to face a firing squad.

"Hell Divers" Spectacular

The first talking picture to feature the newest and most sensational type of navy aircraft, the fighting-dive bombers, is "Hell's Divers", a thrilling drama of the air which will come to the Belle next Thursday for three days, matinee daily, with Wallace Beery and Clark Gable in co-starring roles. The title of the picture is the same as the navy nick-names of these Curtiss-Wright dive-bombers which hurl themselves straight down, five thousand feet or more, hurl bombs and then "straighten out" in the most breath-taking aerobatics ever invented. Prominent supporting roles are played by Conrad Nagel, Dorothy Jordan, Marjorie Rambeau and Marie Prevost.

AGAINST CLASS WAR

Saskatoon, Feb. 27—Industrial revolution and the class war have no place in the program of the United Farmers of Canada, Saskatchewan Section. This was decided yesterday in the closing hours of the convention of the Saskatchewan farm body. The communistic doctrine of class war was rejected by an overwhelming majority when it came before the convention in the form of an amendment to a resolution favoring international peace.

Anyone can write volumes with nothing in them that posterity will preserve; it is done every day while a few rare minds can make slender volumes most of which is treasurable.

At The Capitol

"MEN IN HER LIFE"

COLORFUL ROMANCE

A love story that is colorful as well as sympathetic is effectively told in "Men In Her Life", which opens a three-day run at the Capitol next Monday, with Lois Moran and Charles Bickford in the leading roles. Rowland Kibbee has adapted it from the well known novel by Warner Fabian and he has done a neat job—the language is forceful at all times and the story told with bold, sure intrepidity.

Briefly, it is the experience of one Julia Cavanagh, a beautiful society girl, in her quest for romance. She thinks life is cheating her of it. She goes frantically groping for something something vague and intangible. She finds it, or thinks she has, only to discover that it's a sham. The superficial qualities of the men had fooled her but underneath what she had found the real thing. She discovers that the man she was lacking in all the social veneer commonly attributed to gentlemen was the one real gentleman of her life.

This startling discovery is only made after a series of harrowing but not unpleasant adventures befalls Miss Cavanaugh finds that the suave member of Manhattan's Country Club, Arnold Orioff are made public, young Webster proves himself a wealthy and manly soul on her. The one persons who stands by unstandable by her so staunchly that he commits murder to spare her reputation is Flashy Madden, ex-beer racketeer. His character portrayal by Lois Moran and large sizes in the lot. Shop at 9 for this special, piece

—second floor

THE CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES LIMITED

Store Hours — Open 9 a.m. Close 6 p.m. Saturday — Open 9 a.m. Close 9.30 p.m.

Telephone Orders Given Prompt Attention Phone 2000

Monday is Leap Year Day!

Extra Offers for an Extra Day

we "Pop the Question"—"Will You ?" Respond to the Extra Special Offers"!

Answers to the Big Spring Questions—Here They Are—Read Every Word

Do You Need Shoes?

If you do—this rousing special will bring you here at 9 sharp! In the assortment are patent and kid leathers—in black, sunset, Coral Tran, Red Calf, was as rotten as anyone could possibly be, in spite of his many apparent appearance and his charming, cultured manner. Seduction and blackmail were common occurrences for him. Her experience with Dick Webster, young scion of "Bluebook" American fame, was a bit disappointing. When only a week before her wedding to him her romantic interest in Arnold Orioff are made public, young Webster proves himself a wealthy and manly soul on her. The one persons who stands by unstandable by her so staunchly that he commits murder to spare her reputation is Flashy Madden, ex-beer racketeer. His character portrayal by Lois Moran and large sizes in the lot. Shop at 9 for this special, piece

—second floor

79c

Will You Choose This Lingerie?

A fine assortment at a wonderfully low price — fine rayon pieces that include bloomers, slips and a few gowns. Assorted shades, small, medium and large sizes in the lot. Shop at 9 for this special, piece

—second floor

59c

Do You Want to Save on Stamped Goods?

We are clearing a number of odd lines on Monday — including cloths and servicettes of cynster linen, cot sheets, 54 x 72 and 60 x 36 and 52 x 52 inches. Reg. 1.39 and 1.50. Come down at 9 for these. Special, each or set .....

—main floor left

1.00

Have You Seen the New Merit Washer?

The new Merit Washer will take care of your washing days—and as a saving, too! Hinged in design, a genuine type machine, with 2½ inch rubber rollers, in wringer and powered by a dependable ½ h.p. motor. Thorough and efficient in every way. Rousing value, at .....

—basement

75.00

What About New Curtain Material?

This special will answer this question quite readily — fine 21 inch frilled voile for breakfast rooms, bedrooms, and kitchens. Attached with colored rayon banding. Come at 9 sharp for this value. Yard .....

—main floor rear

19c

What About a Radio?

Model 70

9-tube Fada 57.00

1931

Philco 7-tube Combination 69.50

Deferred Payment Terms if Desired

Why Not Save on These Table Napkins?

For every day use, sturdy cotton damask table napkins—in floral and stripe patterns. Good size of 22 x 22 inches. Shop at 9 for these, at .....

—main floor right rear

3 for 25c

2nd Day of Broadcast Sale of Infants' Wear and Children's Shoes

CANADIAN DEPARTMENT STORES LIMITED

Men! Do You Want Your Spring Suit Made-to-Measure?

For a limited time this special offer in men's made to measure suits lasts. Take advantage of it and have your new suit made in time for Easter—a new line of smart samples for selection. Special at .....

With extra trousers 25.00.

—men's store

19.95

Will You Come Early for These Surprise Specials?

Here you'll find men's fine shirts, sturdy work shirts, flannelette and cotton broadcloth pyjamas — all seconds of better quality merchandise — at rousing sale prices. Shirts, Reg. 14 to 17. Pyjamas 36 to 44. Shop Early Monday, special, garment .....

—men's store

79c

Charles Bickford, Lois Moran and Donald Dilloway in "Men In Her Life", commencing at the Capitol on Monday for three days.

Greta Garbo and Ramon Novarro in a scene from Mata Hari," featuring Lionel Barrymore and Lewis Stone, at the Belle, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Dancing on Skates in Bright Fairyland of Changing Colors

(Mail and Empire)

The very ice was kaleidoscopic, changing slowly from pale green to silver, old gold or mauve, for the brilliant scene presented by the Toronto Skating Club at the Maple Leaf Gardens. From the gaily decorated lamps above the rink coloured lights shone on the varied and constantly changing costumes of the skaters, who made their circuits across a glare of a search-light, and then silently disappeared as blackness fell at the close of each number.

The rink was enclosed by a green box hedge, broken at intervals by glittering trees of blue, rose and pale electric lights. At the south end the band of orchestra, were concealed from the north end the performers made their appearance.

Early the huge arena was filled with spectators, bearing a program, most attractive with its covering design of silver, white and blue and its fascinating illustrations of skaters from other countries and from Toronto.

The performers opened with a "Parisian Kaleidoscope" featuring Miss Ann Taylor, Miss Betty Pile, Mr. Celeste Coulson and Mr. John Norton and was amusing interlude. Mr. Jack Rose and Mr. Robert Sprott.

Interspersed through the programme were singles and doubles, all of which were amusing and well received. Mr. Montgomery Wilson, Mrs. Norman Samuel, Mr. Ernest Balcrft of Germany; Miss Magdelen Colledge, of England; Miss Pritial Burger, of Australia; Miss Virginia Hallen, of Sweden; Mr. Karl Shaefer, of Austria; Mr. Montgomery Wilson and Emilia Rotter, of Hungary, were those who delighted the audience with their marvellous skill on the ice.

Skated to the odd harmonies of "St. Louis Blues," the number called "Youth on Parade" was a colorful and effective spectacle. Mrs. Hugh Tarbox was the director, assisted by Miss Veronica Clarke, and Miss Greg Hamsworth, the instructor.

The junior members appeared in full force in the delightful "Nutcracker Suite," directed by Mrs. Melville Grant and Mrs. Percy Henderson, with Miss Audrey Gallagher as conveners. The appealing story of a little girl's dream on Christmas night was illustrated by pretty snowflake fairies, mechanical dolls, the Mouse-King and his followers, who indulged in a grand frolic together. Miss Shirley Halstead was Clara, the little dreamer, and Mr. Gaboone Coulson was a gallant Prince Nutcracker.

The Spanish tango was particularly effective. Dancers of Spanish ladies were bright yellow, UNIF Wide skirts printed with big red roses and on their heads were Spanish combs of silk in the same gay shades. The men were very smart in black trousers, white silk shirts, cogged sashes and red and black hats. Mr. Jack Hoss directed the number. Mrs. J. C. B. Grant was convener, and the skaters were: Mrs. Hugh Barwick, Miss Aldyth Clarke, Mrs. C. S. Kodis, Mrs. Melville Grant, Mrs. J. C. B. Grant, Mrs. Percy Henderson, Miss Audrey Horrocks, Mrs. Jennett Rathbun, Mrs. Clifford Sifton, Mrs. Gerald Suckling, Mrs. Hugh Tarbox, Mr. W. A. Wadsworth, Messrs Basil E. Berriman, John Bickford, Jim Hoss, W. A. Irwin, John Lindsay, A. Errol Morrison, D. M. Robertson, H. P. Rice, Bruce Scthyes, Arthur Sprott, Gerald Suckling and W. A. Wadsworth. An amusing burlesque, "Sally Who," which followed the charming "Silver Ballet," caused much laughter. Men in gold tinsel skirts, with the "premier danseur" in a bushy red wig, skated ungracefully the steps, and were sufficiently inspired by Candhi in scanty costume, acting as his valet, to indulge in many goat, who also cavorted about the ice, their comical antics much enjoyed by the merriment of the spectators.

The big soon came the finale—a marvellous massing of color—and then each one of the many colored and the first night of the carnival was at an end.

CANCEL MEETING

Ottawa, Feb. 27—With a view to conserving its finances, Dr. Nation, of the Council of Canada, has decided to cancel the 1932 annual meeting, which usually is held in May, it was announced at the headquarters here yesterday. All business of importance will be dealt with by correspondence and the officers and executive will be elected by mail ballot.

The Neptunia, ex of Italy's two great liners which will be put on the South American service, will make its maiden voyage in September. Glancor only makes husband glummer? Be yourself, and as nice a one as possible.

LEST WE FORGET

Magistrate Mikel at a good deal of trouble and some expense has succeeded in compiling a list of the names of those who served overseas in the Great War from this section which he intends later on to include in a history of Belleville and vicinity.

To reduce errors and omissions to a minimum check over the following list of names commencing with T and U and report errors and omissions to Magistrate Mikel.

Costly tombstones soon forgotten, Graves are seldom seen Books by Remembering dear ones Keep loving memories green.

Tapp, Albert A., 39th Bn.
Taylor, Edward, 39th Bn.
Taylor, Frank, 39th Bn.
Toman, Albert Arthur, 254th Bn.
Trierich, Victor Ernest, 39th C.F.A.
Topple, Wm. Arthur, 9th C.F.A.
Taylor, Harry, 155th Bn.
Tilley, George, 155th Bn.
Tillerson, Edward, 155th Bn.
Tugnett, Morris, 155th Bn.
Turner, Samuel Percy, 155th Bn.
Tugnell, Geo. Stanley, 235th Bn
Tuck, Albert Ed., 235th Bn.
Tanner, David, 80th Bn.
Tanner, David, 80th Bn.
Taylor, Herbert, 80th Bn.
Terzechuk, Prokopy, 80th Bn.
Thrasher, Albert O., 80th Bn.
Tullock, Bruce, 80th Bn.
Turner, Wm. George, 80th Bn.
Tuesell, Kimmis, Sjt C.M.R.
Taylor, Robert, 21st Bn.
Taylor, Earl Thos., 39th Bn.
Taylor, Harry, 39th Bn.
Thompson, Thos., 39th Bn.
Trengove, Rich. John, 39th Bn.
Thompson, Percy Alex., 254th Bn.
Thompson, Chas. A. W., 9th C.F.A.
Towns, George, 9th C.F.A.
Tilbrook, Chas. Robt., 155th Bn.
Tilley, Peter Harry, 155th Bn.
Tompkins, Milton Wm, 155th Bn.
Tilley, Robert, 80th Bn.
Thompson, Henry, 235th Bn.
Trotter, Daniel, 235th Bn.
Taylor, Robert, 39th Bn.
Talbot, Sidney, 80th Bn.
Taylor, Harry, 80th Bn.
Taylor, William, 80th Bn.
Thompson, Arthur, 80th Bn.
Trepalink, Bill, 80th Bn.
Tunsley, Earl, 80th Bn.
Twitchell, Chas. Wm., 80th Bn.
Tice, Claude Douglas, 224th Bn.
Tyler, George, 38th Bn.

Uttlo, William, 39th Bn.

F. J. Perry, the rising English tennis star, has as a mascot a terrier small enough to rest on his racquet.

At The City Churches

The United Church of Canada

(Congregational Methodist Presbyterian)

BRIDGE STREET TABERNACLE

11—"Feels Make a Meet at Sin." Mrs M. P. Daff.

7 p.m.—The Story of Ruth.

JOHN STREET

HOLLOWAY STREET

Minister: Rev. H. B. Neal.
Organist: Alec Gordon.
Choir Leader: R. C. Meynes.

Minister: Robert Hall, B.A., B.D. Director of Music: Leo B. Rigby.

Divine Worship and Sermons: Eleven and Seven

S. S. and Bible Classes 2.30 (Bridge St. 2.45)

"My house shall be called a house of prayer for all peoples."

St. Andrews Presbyterian Church

Rev. J. A. Seymour, M. A., S.T.D., Minister.

Services 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. conducted by Rev. Dr. Seymour, Sunday School 3 p.m.

ERNEST WHEATLEY, Mus. Bac., A.R.C.O., Organist.

VICTORIA AVENUE BAPTIST CHURCH

A. Hilliard Jones, Minister

11 a.m. and 7 p.m.—Rev. L. S. Kitt.

Laura D. DaVoie
L.T.C.M., A.A.C.O.
Organist and Choir Leader

EMMANUEL CHURCH SERVICES

THE FREE CHURCH OF ENGLAND

Rev. Geo. Harvard Rector

11 a.m.—Morning Prayer and Sermon. "A Lost Virtue."

3 p.m.—Sunday School and Bible Classes.

7 p.m.—Evening Prayer and Sermon. "Christ the Only Hope For Stand Humanity."

Lenten Services on Wednesday at 8 p.m. until Easter.

REGULAR BAPTIST CHURCH

Masonic Building

Rev. H. E. Bochner, Minister

Sunday School 2 p.m.—Sunday School.

3 p.m.—When Satan Got the Call."

Wed. 8 p.m.—Prayer Meeting.

CHURCH OF ST. THOMAS

(Church of England)

Rev. A. Beauchamp Payne, Vicar

Third Sunday in Lent

8 a.m.—Holy Communion.

11 a.m.—Matins and Litany.

3 p.m.—Sunday School.

7 p.m.—Evening Prayer and Sermon.

Week Day Services During Lent

Thursday, 7.30 a.m. Holy Communion in Chapel; 10 a.m. Holy Communion (in Chapel); Friday 4.30 p.m. each man's Service (in Church); Friday 7.30 p.m. Services (in Church).

Every Monday evening during Lent at eight o'clock in the Parish House the Rev. A. Beauchamp Payne, will lecture on Church history, illustrated by lantern slides.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SOCIETY

Branch of the Mother Church

The First Church of Christ Scientist, Boston, Mass

Odd'fellows Temple 171½ Front St

SUNDAY, FEB. 28—Subject:

"CHRIST JESUS"

Sunday services—11 a.m.

Testimonial Meeting on the Wednesday of each month 8 p.m.

Alliance Tabernacle

West Bridge Street

Pastor—Rev. W. M. Willoughby

10 a.m.—Sunday School.

11 a.m.—"Christ and the Storm."

7 p.m.—God's Answer to Man's Wisdom."

Thursday 8 p.m.—Prayer and Bible Study.

CHRIST CHURCH

Third Sunday in Lent, Feb. 28th

Rev. G. O. Wright, L. Th. Rector

8 a.m.—Holy Communion.

11 a.m.—Morning Prayer.

3 p.m.—Sunday School.

7 p.m.—Evening Prayer and Sermon.

Weekly Lantern Services at St. George's Church, Wed. at 8 p.m.

Christ Church, Friday at 8 p.m.—Subject of Address: "Manhood of the Master."

Evensong is said each day in Christ Church Chapel at 5 p.m.

The World War gave one hour to mankind—two minutes' silence once a year.

Large flocks of gulls are following snowmen in Iceland to eat worms and insects.

WATCH REPAIRS

Don't put your watch in one side as useless until you've had it examined. Maybe a mere little will make it go.

Watch repairing is our specialty.

We do repairs quickly, guaranteeing results and ask reasonable prices always.

J. O. R. McCurdy

Phone 518 224 Front St

THE WEATHER
Lower lake region—Fresh west to northwest winds; mostly fair and slightly colder tonight and Tuesday.

The Ontario Intelligencer

Ten Pages

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, MONDAY, FEBRUARY 29, 1932.

TRUCE IN EAST IS REPORTED AT GENEVA

MAY EXTEND WAR'S AREA FAR BEYOND PRESENT BOUNDS

Japanese May Be Forced to Do So if Chinese Do Not Retire

RUSSIAN CASE

Chinese Retirement at Shanghai is Completed—Believe

Geneva, Switzerland, Feb. 29 (AP)—The Japanese "would have no objection" to holding a round table conference on the powers at Shanghai to discuss a settlement of the conflict there, as soon as security for Japanese interests was obtained, Naotake Sato, Japanese representative informed the council members today.

"Given adequate security as assured by sufficient withdrawal of the Chinese forces," said a confidential memorandum circulated by Sato to the twelve neutral members of the council, "the Japanese government will be ready to consider entering into negotiations at Shanghai today, said that Tokio always has and always will be considered acceptable an honorable peace based on mutual withdrawal of both the Chinese and Japanese forces.

His government will not, however, accept any proposal "calling for one-sided action," he said.

Shanghai, Feb. 29 (AP)—What appeared as the end of a long chapter of incident when Japanese military police arrested a young Chinese in the lobby of the Astor House in the International Settlement today, under conclusion today when it appeared the captive might be set free was met with official protest.

The arrest of the Chinese 19th route army. His identity remains uncertain although the British police describe him as Chang Wang. There is no General by that name in this vicinity, it was reported, but the verity this, saying only, "he may be an important officer in the Japanese have protested to the United States Consul charging the action was a violation of the authority of the International Settlement.

Washington, D.C., Feb. 29—It is not probable that established the United States government is completely opposed to any plan for an economic boycott against Japan, and that the major European powers would be agreed with this stand.

New York, Feb. 29—New York banking circles today were reported information concerning a reported $50,000,000 loan to China.

TEN DAYS EARLIER

Quebec, Que., Feb. 29—Anticipating the early opening of navigation on the St. Lawrence, a new unit to a local steamship company has added to the passenger schedule ten days, the first vessel arriving here April 9.

Japan Wants First Security Then Will Agree to Parley

INOCULATED SHEEP STOLEN AT CHARLEROI

Laden With Potential Disease and Death to People

POLICE SEARCH

Thief Finds Way Into Laboratory at Hospital

Charleroi, Pa., Feb. 29—A year-old sheep, inoculated last week with dangerous and contagious disease germs was stolen today from the Experimental Laboratory of the Charleroi Monessen Hospital.

Hospital attaches and police are making a frantic effort to locate the animal, which is the source of potential illness and death for people with whom it comes in contact.

Shanghai, Feb. 29 (AP)—Japanese military authorities claimed tonight they had won a victory in their attack on Chapei, capturing the compound of the Baptist Mission, Hospital and part of a cemetery in North Chapei.

Nanking, Feb. 29 (AP).—To Wen-Kan, China's foreign minister, today entered into trust negotiations at Shanghai today, said that China always has and always will be considered acceptable an honorable peace based on mutual withdrawal of both the Chinese and Japanese forces.

His government will not, however, accept any proposal "calling for one-sided action," he said.

Shanghai, Feb. 29 (AP)—What appeared as the end of a long chapter of incident when Japanese military police arrested a young Chinese in the lobby of the Astor House in the International Settlement today, under conclusion today when it appeared the captive might be set free was met with official protest.

The arrest of the Chinese 19th route army. His identity remains uncertain although the British police describe him as Chang Wang. There is no General by that name in this vicinity, it was reported, but the verity this, saying only, "he may be an important officer in the Japanese have protested to the United States Consul charging the action was a violation of the authority of the International Settlement.

Washington, D.C., Feb. 29—It is not probable that established the United States government is completely opposed to any plan for an economic boycott against Japan, and that the major European powers would be agreed with this stand.

New York, Feb. 29—New York banking circles today were reported information concerning a reported $50,000,000 loan to China.

TEN DAYS EARLIER

Quebec, Que., Feb. 29—Anticipating the early opening of navigation on the St. Lawrence, a new unit to a local steamship company has added to the passenger schedule ten days, the first vessel arriving here April 9.

Belleville Woman May Profit from Large Estate

Wing-tip of Airplane Razes Fish Shanty

Plane Undamaged and Occupant of Fish House Suffers Light Scratches and Gash as Fish House is Wrecked

A pleasant excursion by air was rudely interrupted when Fred Elliott, of this city, struck a fish-shanty while coming down to make a landing on the bay of Quinte just west of the Bay Bridge road, yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Elliott and a passenger had been "up for a little spin" and after cruising around over the city were returning to their landing field. Local pilots use the ice on the bay for landing purposes in the winter time, when the unfortunate accident occurred. When Mr. Elliott's plane struck the ice it bounded slightly and interrupted a very successful fishing party in the fish shanty of Mr. Harry Rushlow, when the outer or left-hand wing of the plane struck the shanty and completely demolished it. The force of the impact threw the plane over to the right and the other wing hit the fish shanty owned by Mr. Jack Reeves, also of this city. No particular damage was reported to the Reeves' shanty.

Mr. Harry Rushlow, who had finished a very nice peaceful afternoon's fishing, was about to retire for the day, when the plane's wing hit the shanty. The force of the collision completely wrecked the Rushlow shanty and after the plane had come to a stop on the ice the bay Rushlow pushed his head from under the wreckage. He was immediately rushed to the Belleville General Hospital by Mr. Elliott, owner of the plane, and at the hospital it was found that, barring serious in the line of injuries was reported, to have befallen Mr. Rushlow although he was the recipient of many gashes about the face and one deep ugly cut on the right shin-bone. Mr. Rushlow was able to attend his work this morning, although he is suffering some from the result of the shock and his injuries.

No particular damage was reported done to the aeroplane itself and no one is very much the worse for their experience, except the fish shanties.

Passes 21st Birthday but is 88 Years Old Today

Mrs. Euretta Watson, Catharine St., Born Feb. 29th, 1844

HALE AND HEARTY

Today is a gala event in the life of Mrs. Euretta Watson, 48 Catherine street, Belleville, for while she is 88 years old today, she is just celebrating her 21st birthday. Mrs. Watson was born on February 29, 1844 and so missed three out of four birthdays in the course of her life, the turn of the century there being no leap year in 1900.

She was born in Prince Edward County, the daughter of William and Nancy Simmons and has lived continuously in this city for sixty-five years to the place, in which she now resides.

Mrs. Watson has been twice married, her first husband being William B. Woodley, contractor, who died many years ago. Mrs. Watson's Woodley, widow of the city and was a veteran of the council with about twenty years of service to the municipal council to her credit at the time of her death in 1921, Arthur Watson, formerly of Toronto, but now of Belleville, where he and his family reside with Mrs. Watson, being the sole issue of the second marriage.

Hale and hearty, knowing little or no sickness during the 88 years Mrs. Watson is able to read without glasses to this day.

She has led a busy life, for over for over forty years she conducted a grocery on Catherine street, discontinuing about four years ago.

She is the mother of 12 children, she with two sisters and three brothers surviving.

The day was spent quietly at the Watson home with her family.

Greek Women Vote For First Time

ATHENS, Greece, Feb. 29.—(CP) Women voted for the first time in the history of Greece yesterday. The occasion was the municipal elections of Piraeus, near Athens.

Only about 200 women availed themselves of the franchise granted under the newly adopted election law, although the total of male and female voters entitled to vote in the election was over 32,000. The women's vote, it is believed, was passed because no candidate received the required vote of forty per cent.

Barn in Palmerston District Burns

Stratford, Ont., Feb. 29—One of the finest barn properties in the district of Palmerston, a large barn owned by Albert Hinds was destroyed by fire on Sunday night together with the contents of the barn which was saved but the loss will be quite heavy. There is a partial insurance covering.

The Palmerston fire brigade responded promptly but on account of the condition of the roads it was impossible to get through with the apparatus.

TAKEN IN TOW

NEW YORK, Feb. 29.—The coast guard cutter Seneca has the freighter Jean Weems was disabled four miles off Barnegat Light and had been taken in tow for New York by the coast guard cutter Champlain.

BECAME GOVERNOR-GENERAL

MANILA, P.I., Feb. 29.—Fulfilling one of his father's cherished ambitions Theodore Roosevelt today became governor general of the Philippine Islands.

INOCULATED SHEEP STOLEN AT CHARLEROI

Laden With Potential Disease and Death to People

POLICE SEARCH

Thief Finds Way Into Laboratory at Hospital

Charleroi, Pa., Feb. 29—A year-old sheep, inoculated last week with dangerous and contagious disease germs was stolen today from the Experimental Laboratory of the Charleroi Monessen Hospital.

Hospital attaches and police are making a frantic effort to locate the animal, which is the source of potential illness and death for people with whom it comes in contact.

LIGHTHOUSE KEEPERS HELD

British Citizen's Family Kidnapped Near Swatow

HONG KONG, Feb. 29.—(AP)—Reports from Swatow today said Chinese Communists had raided the lighthouse at Nanao, China's 18 miles southwest of that town, and kidnaped Mr. Whitesepon Inskeep, a British citizen named Edwards, his wife and three children.

A British destroyer at Swatow was standing for the kidnappers and another British destroyer was ordered from Hong Kong.

TORONTO BUS IS WRECKED

Driver Jack Page Uses All Possible Means To Avoid Crash

Trenton, Feb. 29 (Special)—Mrs. Ella Brigham, Brighton, was badly cut and is suffering from shock as well as three other women and two men, not known, who were passengers in the early morning bus coming from Belleville to Toronto, when it crashed into flying stones on the highway two large trees off at the base, trying to avoid meeting headon a car, which had turned out to pass another car. The bus was travelling east at Harness Hill four miles west of Welcome early today.

The driver of the bus, Jack Page of Oshawa used the best judgment possible and narrowly averted a serious accident. An auxiliary bus was secured by the company to take the passengers to Oshawa, where they were transferred to another Toronto bus.

It is understood the road was quite slippery from the recent snow, which melted on the pavement but the bus was not travelling at a fast rate of speed. Two cars were approaching from the west and the rear car started to turn out to pass the car ahead, fearing a headon collision with this car, bus driver swerved right into a wood stringer but the bus struck the rear of the car throwing the car off the road. The bus then went out of control, crossing to the south side of the highway where it brought up deep ditch and struck two trees breaking both off at the base. The bus was badly damaged and the car thrown into the ditch was a complete wreck. Most of the passengers were cut mainly with flying glass but Mrs. Brintnell was the most seriously injured although all the passengers got the best attendance arriving from shock.

Albert Garner, Hamilton, driver of the automobile, was slightly hurt and Mrs. Ella Lee was badly damaged. Passengers in the bus out by glass were G. B. Freeman, Belleville, Manager of Stephen Adhesive Company, R. O. Weaver, Trenton, David Moore, Brighton, Mrs. Reed, Oshawa and Mrs. L. Brintnell, Burton.

FAMOUS BOTANIST DIES

Oxford, Eng., Feb. 29 (AP)—George Claridge Druce, world famous Botanist, died here today, he was 82.

Picture of Late Judge W. W. Dean Gift to County

Local Master Mihel has received a picture of His Honour the late Judge W. W. Dean to be placed in the Court House. Judge Dean was the first Local Master at Belleville having resigned to accept the appointment of Judge for the County of Victoria and Haliburton in 1874. The late Judge Dean practised law in Belleville having been a partner of the late Abraham Dimmond, former Postmaster, the firm name being Dean and Dimmond. He was also a partner at one time with the late George D. Dickson, Q.C.

FLESHPOTS TO BLAME POPE PIUS XI SAYS

Wars and Disputes Result of Desire For Power

VANITY OF LIFE

Extols Virtues of Missionary Who Lives For Others

Vatican City, Feb. 29 (AP) —The world's love of the fleshpots, Pope Pius XI declared in a broadcast message directed particularly to the Christian missionaries in the Far East, "is the source of disputes and wars that always have afflicted and still today afflict the world."

His address was based on the virtues of the late Father Louis Assunta Pallotta, who died in China as a missionary, and was to be read on his benediction would be "an augury of universal peace and prosperity".

Prayer

"To those who suffer for still grave and violent conditions of things in Mexico and in Spain," he added, "and to those who continue to desire the peace which our benediction goes with the strong wish and humble confident prayer to divine goodness that it may reveal apostolic benediction everywhere and to all will carry and urge them toward Christian life".

The pontiff also hope that this Christian life would "bear fruit and inspire a wish and a will for peace in them." he said. "Those are the fount of so many disputes and wars that have afflicted and still continue today to afflict the world with its train of misery and suffering, indeed, as perhaps never have been encountered in history."

King's "No Thanks" to U. S. Philatelist

Washington, D.C., Feb. 29 (AP) —Dr. Walter F. Sheman, Professor of Mathematics at Amherst University, offered to do King George a kind turn, but met only with an appreciative "No thanks."

Enthusiastic stamp collector Sheman learned that a number of the new Washington Bicentennial stamps, issued on February 22nd, would be on sale in England, where he is keen philatelist. He wrote a letter to George V, who is also a philatelist, requesting that he instruct His Majesty's private secretary purchase a few sheets while they are on sale. Instead, the monarch collects British stamps only.

$8,000 AWARDED IN ACCIDENT CASE

TORONTO, Feb. 29.—For injuries that Douglas Fergus, 13 received the explosion of an oil oil drum in May 1930, Mr. Justice W. E. Raney today awarded the boy $8,000 damages and costs against the city of Toronto. His Lordship found the city negligent in not removing the drum which had been in the ditch for several weeks prior to the accident.

Fortune May Wait Upon Local Family, Steps are Taken to Guard Claim

Mrs. Richard Brooks, of Ridley Ave., Makes Claim

WENDELL ESTATE

Brother Will Go to New York City to Represent Family

In the modestly furnished room of a small house on Ridley Avenue this morning Mrs. Brooks, wife of Mr. Richard Brooks, who has for years carried on a horse and waggon delivery business in this city, lay in bed ill and reiterated again and again that she had nothing to add to the statement that she was a direct descendant of the Wendell family in New York, the last survivor of whom has just died and left a reputed fortune of millions of dollars to be divided up among several of the branches of that family.

Mrs. Brooks is one of the direct beneficiaries of the will and believes she will benefit under the terms of a will which has been left. What the amount left will be to be divided up among this Belleville family is still unknown but more definite information will be available when the estate comes to be finally focus sops time after March 4th. Will Send Brother

Upon intimation of the fact that they were to benefit under the terms of the will was given years ago by afternoon on the arrival of a lawyer from Brighton, who has had the case under his care for some time. Aided by her brother, Mr. Thomas Brooks, resident of the Trent Road, Mrs. Brooks had engaged the services of a portion of Wendell estate in New York, some time ago. Since then a definite search has been instituted by the legal firm in Belleville to find in their relationship was sufficiently close to enable them to make claim. This has been found to be the case through her mother, who was of the Chase family, is included among those who are of the third generation of the Wendell family.

Hope Ran High

Speaking through an interpreter a neighbor, who had dropped in to administer to Mrs. Brooks, also who was lying in bed sick this morning, Mrs. Brooks was loath to speak at any length of the good fortune, which they consider is "While nothing definite is known," she declared, "still there are many things that to indicate that we will benefit to a great degree by the will. Naturally, our lawyer was down from Brighton and wished to get transportation for my brother to New York, to represent us when the will is probated on March 4th. That's the most I know exactly how much it will be, but we do know it will be considerable. No plans have been made by any of us, and it is our wish to keep the matter as less quiet until we really know what is is all about". Think Considerable

Mr. Brooks, who was also interrogated on the subject stated that he believed there was sufficient evidence to establish claim to considerable portion of the fortune, as his wife was a direct descendant of the third generation and was included in the terms of the will. "While I will not be any happy over it still we are not too optimistic until we find out really how much we will eventually get, as another family have had their hopes dashed over things like this, and as the case with others, we hope that it will not be so in our case. My wife's brother will leave for New York, some time this week and then all will be known more about the matter. No—no plans of any sort have been made yet," was his reply to the numbers of friends who were continually him down from this morning.

FLORAL TRIBUTE FROM FAMILY

In the list of tributes in memory of the late Richard Waddell was included a floral offering from the wife and family of the deceased.

ASTRONOMY AUTHOR DIES IN PARIS

Paris, Feb. 29 (AP)—Guillaume Bigourdan, 80, noted astronomer and former president of the Academy of Sciences, died today. He was a director in the Paris observatory and author of many works on astronomy and science.

APPOINTED COUNSEL

Washington, D.C., Feb. 29 (AP)—Oswald Ryan, of Anderson, Indiana, today was appointed special assistant of the Federal Power Commission.

Chinese Colonel Captured in British Shanghai Hotel

Seeks Settlement Sanctuary in Vain—Turned Over as Spy

BLOCKS WAY

Shanghai, Feb. 29.—(AP)—Volunteer soldiers defending Shanghai's international settlement stood guard over three Japanese in the lobby of the Astor House, internationally known hotel, in the heart of the settlement, after two Japanese policemen chased a fleeing Chinese through the hotel's doors.

British police said the Chinese, who was arrested, was delivered to the Japanese, was an important officer in the Chinese Nineteenth Route Army known as Colonel Wong, and that he possibly was a spy.

Shortly after the arrival here of the new Washington Bicentennial stamps, issued on February cancellations, for the King, who is a keen philatelist, the monarch received from His Majesty's private secretary postage-paid envelopes, filled with the monarch collects British stamps only.

THE WEATHER

Toronto, Feb. 29.—Synopsis, pressure is high from the Gulf of St. Lawrence eastward to Newfoundland and over the whole western portion of the continent. A deep low area, 29.22 inches, is centres near Bermuda and another moderate is also low over Montana and southern British Columbia. The weather has been fair and comparatively mild in the western provinces, while snow or rain has fallen in many sections of eastern Canada.

Lake Superior—Strong northwest winds; mostly fair and somewhat colder tonight and Tuesday.

Manitoba — Fair and somewhat colder tonight and Tuesday.

Saskatchewan and Alberta—Partly cloudy and somewhat colder tonight and Tuesday. Local snowflurries.

Calf Dressed as Man, Throat Cut on Highway

Blood and Huddle of Rags and Calf's Body Used to Fool Motorist

PROBE BY POLICE

Brockville, Ont., Feb. 29—Driving from Athens to Delta yesterday morning, Joshua Moulton, a farmer discovered a pool of blood on the road with the trail of it leading to what at first sight appeared to be the figure of a man, lifeless as the result of a murderous attack on the latter.

Mr. Moulton did not stop to examine the body but hurried to the nearest telephone and informed Dr. F. S. Young, coroner at Seeley's Bay and to the provincial police here. When the latter arrived they discovered that the "body" was that of a calf which had been dressed in a man's clothing, even to a cap on its head, with its throat afterwards being cut. Practical jokers, for whom the police are looking, have followed the highway "rigging" which aroused considerable alarm in the district.

Son Born To Keep Daughter Company

Guelph, Ont., Feb. 29—Four years ago today, Feb. 29, 1928, a daughter was born at Galt hospital to Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Lloyd of Guelph. They Thru Today, on her four year old daughter's first birthday, Mrs. Lloyd gave birth to a son.

CHARGED WITH MURDER

Kitchener, Ont., Feb. 29— Mrs. Katie Kerr is held here charged with murder in connection with the death of Mrs. Harold Muscloe of Kitchener, police announced today. Mrs. Muscloe died Friday in hospital. the result, it is alleged, of an illegal operation. Mrs. Kerr was arrested Saturday and remanded to jail for a week. An inquest into the death will be opened Tuesday.

"BAD WILLIE" GRAY TAKEN

Tottered Naked From Cottage and Collapsed in Snow Bank

BOSTON, Mass. Feb. 29.—With floodlights on the scene of the wildest cops attage in which he and a girl companion found themselves at Greenfield, U.S., a squad of heavily armed Boston Police early today captured William E. (Bad Willie) Gray, notorious robber and escape-artist.

Gray, naked and weakened from two days exposure, emerged from the doorway of the place after his girl companion had surrendered and collapsed in a snowbank.

PAPER LASTS FIVE WEEKS

Sherbrooke, Que., Feb. 29—After an existence of five weeks the Sherbrooke Daily Telegram, an evening newspaper, ceased publication today. Financial difficulties were given as the cause of the suspension.

Coming Events

SCIENTIFIC FALMIST — FEW days only. Have your hands read. Know yourself, your ability, indications of health. Quinte Hotel, Room 54, ten till ten, $1. 729-11.

CONCERT & SOCIAL AUSPICES Ladies' Aid of Bethel A.M.E. Wednesday St. United Church, Tuesday, March 1st, 8 o'clock. Excellent programme. Refreshments. Admission 25c. 727-28

EUCHRE AND DANCE, Canadian Legion Hall, Tuesday, March 1st, 8 p.m. Six card prizes. $5.00 for euchre prize. Dancing from 10 until and lucky chair prize. Helen Darrah's Musicaleers. 728-11

Belleville Woman Dies Suddenly

Mrs. Richard Brooks, of Ridley Ave., Makes Claim

WENDELL ESTATE

Brother Will Go to New York City to Represent Family

In the modestly furnished room of a small house on Ridley Avenue this morning Mrs. Brooks, wife of Mr. Richard Brooks, who has for years carried on a horse and waggon delivery business in this city, lay in bed ill and reiterated again and again that she had nothing to add to the statement that she was a direct descendant of the Wendell family in New York, the last survivor of whom has just died and left a reputed fortune of millions of dollars to be divided up among several of the branches of that family.

Mrs. Brooks is one of the direct beneficiaries of the will and believes she will benefit under the terms of a will which has been left. What the amount left will be to be divided up among this Belleville family is still unknown but more definite information will be available when the estate comes to be finally focus sops time after March 4th.

Will Send Brother

Upon intimation of the fact that they were to benefit under the terms of the will was given years ago afternoon on the arrival of a lawyer from Brighton, who has had the case under his care for some time. Aided by her brother, Mr. Thomas Brooks, resident of the Trent Road, Mrs. Brooks had engaged the services of a portion of Wendell estate in New York, some time ago. Since then a definite search has been instituted by the legal firm in Belleville to find in their relationship was sufficiently close to enable them to make claim. This has been found to be the case through her mother, who was of the Chase family, is included among those who are of the third generation of the Wendell family.

Hope Ran High

Speaking through an interpreter a neighbor, who had dropped in to administer to Mrs. Brooks, also who was lying in bed sick this morning, Mrs. Brooks was loath to speak at any length of the good fortune, which they consider is "While nothing definite is known," she declared, "still there are many things that to indicate that we will benefit to a great degree by the will. Naturally, our lawyer was down from Brighton and wished to get transportation for my brother to New York, to represent us when the will is probated on March 4th. That's the most I know exactly how much it will be, but we do know it will be considerable. No plans have been made by any of us, and it is our wish to keep the matter as less quiet until we really know what is is all about". Think Considerable

Mr. Brooks, who was also interrogated on the subject stated that he believed there was sufficient evidence to establish claim to considerable portion of the fortune, as his wife was a direct descendant of the third generation and was included in the terms of the will. "While I will not be any happy over it still we are not too optimistic until we find out really how much we will eventually get, as another family have had their hopes dashed over things like this, and as the case with others, we hope that it will not be so in our case. My wife's brother will leave for New York, some time this week and then all will be known more about the matter. No—no plans of any sort have been made yet," was his reply to the numbers of friends who were continually him down from this morning.

City and District News

SNOW MELTS AS SOON AT IT FALLS

Winter-like weather returned to this vicinity this morning after Sunday's perfect spring weather conditions. A heavy south-east rain blew in and out of the district short snow storm of the season was very much in evidence today. Although the temperatures were not much lower than those of yesterday the appearance of the snow gave the district a winter-like appearance. Yesterday's temperature were 48 high and 32 low, much higher than the average or mean temperatures. Today, however, the mercury dropped a little and registered 41 early this morning while it had reached but 35 at noon. All appearances are that March may come in like the proverbial lion."

ONLY TWO PERMITS FOR FEBRUARY

Only two building permits were issued at the city engineer's office for the month of February, the total value of both the permits was but $200. Both permits were of the alteration type and no actual buildings were erected in Belleville this past month. The two permits issued were to the Palmolive Company for alterations to the old Standard Theatre, while the second was for $100, while the second permit was issued to Mr. Joseph Franklin, 19 Sidney Street, for the erection of a back porch valued at $100.

CUSTOMS RETURNS SHOW INCREASE

Customs returns for the month of February 1932, compiled today by Major E. A. Gean, collector for the port of Belleville, show material increase over those for January and an advance over the corresponding month of a year ago. February, 1932, $139,586.26; January, 1932, $93,46.30; increase, $23,113.26; February 1931, $85,606.16, an increase over the same period of that year of $44,980.10.

GOLFERS PLAY AT THE COUNTRY CLUB

While scores of resident of the city employ perfect balmy breeze of an ideal springtime Sunday yesterday in the open air of the country in their motor cars, and other thousands elevated through the city mines coals and other unsavoury odors, a few determined members of Mr. Walter Belair and Bob Wray were smacking them along the fairways of the country club course, with their usual amount of guess and none chalance even if the calendar did show it to be the latter part of February, and therefore all the more remarkable. Later on, after they had circled the course twice, Mr. Don Carman appeared on the scene, teed off and then went around the eighteen holes.

All players reported a fine and dry course and in perfect condition for playing, with the exception of the scores reported by them. The is the first Sunday of the winter that golf has been played on that course.

EIGHTEEN MEN RETURN HOME

Saturday at midnight eighteen Belleville men, members of Canadian Harbor, near Burk's Falls, thirty miles from Parry Sound, where they have been engaged on Government road construction, arrived for some time.

Thirty men went from Belleville and the eighteen who have just returned were the only ones to remain until the work was completed in that particular section; the other twelve left at various times prior to job's progress.

The men speak well of their treatment and all look to be in excellent health.

FAMILY ALTAR SERVICE HELD

The service at the Salvation Army Citadel Sunday morning took the form of a family gathering and was termed "A Family Altar Service."

The families all sat together and the members of the band did not take their usual part in the service but joined their families in the congregation. The service was largely attended and was very interesting.

BRIEF STORM IS PARALYZING

Hills, Walks and Roadways Become Very Slippery

Highway traffic was temporarily paralyzed this morning as the heaviest snow fall of the season descended in an almost opaque mass, rendering the roads almost invisible during the short time in which it was falling on the windshields of the numerous cars and trucks, in spite of the furiously working wipers which tried in vain to keep the glass clear; the snow added further to the discomforts of those who were driving on the highways in the city and district.

While the fall was of short duration nearly four inch of snow fell in the short space of an hour or so, and even the compacted snow of the day did not allow it to melt away from the roadways and in the case if it had not fallen so heavily. Several large trucks on the highway were forced to pull towards the side of the road and wait until the storm had abated and visibility again returned. In the city, hills and roads were made very slippery, and in some cases, considerable damage was experienced by those cars which were not equipped with chains on the wheels. Murray's Hill was especially hazardous for the cars which were forced to creep up it in labored fashion.

DEFENDANT IS GIVEN $758.47

Decision is Handed Down By Local Master

In the Supreme Court of Ontario, held before Magistrate Mikel, Local Master, the case of Hicks vs. Hicks was heard last week. His Worship withheld his judgment until today and then handed down the following verdict.

"This case was an action brought by the plaintiff to set aside a deed of a house and lot in Marmora conveyed to the defendant on condition that she support and maintain for five years and a half. At the trial the Honorable Mr. Justice Garrow directed that the case be referred to the master to Local Master W. C. Mikel to find out if the plaintiff's claim should be allowed the defendant for supporting and caring for the plaintiff and expenditures upon the property. I find the time that the defendant cared for and supported the plaintiff. The Local Master finds that the defendant is entitled to 75 cents a day for maintenance of the plaintiff and 50 cents a day for special care together with some expenditures upon the property amounting in all to $758.47."

Mr. J. T. O'Flynn appeared for the plaintiff and Mr. C. A. Payne, K.C., for the defendant.

H. A. ROSS SR. OFFICER

Takes Over Position Occupied By Late F. H. McLenaghan

Mr. H. A. Ross, now senior customs excise clerk of the local customs house staff, has been notified officially of his promotion to that position from that of computing clerk in a letter dated Feb. 27 last, from the Customs and Excise Division of the Department of National Revenue, Ottawa. The promotion effective as from February 1st, 1932, is to fill the vacancy in the staff created by the death of Mr. F. H. McLenaghan.

FIGHTING IN FINLAND

Helsingfors, Finland, Feb. 29 — (AP)—Fighting broke out 25 miles from Helsingfors today when armed forces Government troops and a similar force of several thousand fascist citizens marching on the capital.

Jaunty Attitude Towards Sin is Menace of Today

Shady Performance of Some Church Members is Arch Enemy

DR. BELL'S VIEW

"The Mock of Sin", was the subject of the sermon discourse by Rev. Dr. Bell at Bridge Street United Church, Sunday morning.

Dr. Bell in his remarks in Scripture touching upon foolishness the following were stressed as texts: Prov. 14: 8, 10-23; Rom. 1-22. "The use of the word 'fool' has always been considered dangerous" said Dr. Bell, "and Christ discreetly referred to the warning contained in Matthew 5: 22. There is a tendency quite pronounced today in treating sin jaunitly. It is hard or almost impossible to wash our consciences clean of the taint of sin. The danger of wrong influences and impressions, is far reaching. Our greatest curse now is that of the attitude of the world in general evil and its practices. The prevalent lawlessness, rebellion against authority, levity regarding sin are things requiring our earnest and serious consideration.

The Arch Enemy

"Scoffing is still not the arch enemy of our civilization rather the indifference and hardness of appearances of some respectable church members. Are we indignant toward sin? The psychology of human nature in desiring change has been greatly manipulated in legislation respecting the liquor traffic on the American continent.

Levity Towards Sin

"Amusement and entertainment are necessary for us often unfaithfulness over sacred relations and make light of sin. The movies affect juvenile life greatly. Radio advertising by some concerns is a minister tendency particularly along the line of narcotic use as exposure in these time for economy.

YOUR EYES

WE SELL A SERVICE

that deals effectively with all defects of vision, a service which if needed is of far greater value to you than it costs. A service that supplies the correct and comfortable vision possible. A service that is needed by half the population of this community, And which unknown to you YOU may need.

PHONE 128
FOR APPOINTMENT

J. A. McFEE
OPTOMETRIST

Performance of Some Church Members is Arch Enemy

DR. BELL'S VIEW

"The Mock of Sin", was the subject of the sermon discourse by Rev. Dr. Bell at Bridge Street United Church, Sunday morning.

Dr. Bell in his remarks in Scripture touching upon foolishness the following were stressed as texts: Prov. 14: 8, 10-23; Rom. 1-22. "The use of the word 'fool' has always been considered dangerous" said Dr. Bell, "and Christ discreetly referred to the warning contained in Matthew 5: 22. There is a tendency quite pronounced today in treating sin jaunitly. It is hard or almost impossible to wash our consciences clean of the taint of sin. The danger of wrong influences and impressions, is far reaching. Our greatest curse now is that of the attitude of the world in general evil and its practices. The prevalent lawlessness, rebellion against authority, levity regarding sin are things requiring our earnest and serious consideration.

The Arch Enemy

"Scoffing is still not the arch enemy of our civilization rather the indifference and hardness of appearances of some respectable church members. Are we indignant toward sin? The psychology of human nature in desiring change has been greatly manipulated in legislation respecting the liquor traffic on the American continent.

Levity Towards Sin

"Amusement and entertainment are necessary for us often unfaithfulness over sacred relations and make light of sin. The movies affect juvenile life greatly. Radio advertising by some concerns is a minister tendency particularly along the line of narcotic use as exposure in these time for economy.

Phillip Snowden, Chancellor of the Exchequer in Great Britain, has recently stated that the reduction in the one-fourth of the expenditure in instituting beverages was curtailed much would be by big difference in the problems facing the nation. A well-known Canadian statesman claims that while one half of our population is clothed in inadequate clothing and clothing requirements, we have a great contrast in what the labor trade furnishes with employment and sustenance compared with that of many legitimate enterprises so needy and foolishly neglected.

Modern Dance

"The modern dance needs wide discrimination. Children's parties become premature grown-up affairs in dress and contacts. We jest about various cocktails confronting our girls even, but at the moth flirts around the flame so everybody may be burned by the allurements of sin. Judging by the results, fear for the future is justified. The history of civilizations teaches us striking lessons.

The Questionable

"St. Paul forbade Christians to refrain from many apparent good or questionable things, but his letter or weak one stumbled thereby by individual conscience. Personal responsibility is more important than personal liberty and the abuse of liberty. What our example is upon others is likewise to be considered. Conscience is a God given safeguard. Because it may be popular to pursue certain courses or life on account of 'everybody doing it' renders all such questionable. We need attention to question the wisdom of our conduct. Sin is disdeceptive under food and appetite upsets and divides our connection with Him.

"In modern times we can mock the Christ and the divine mission yet as God-fashioned human beings did."

These striking high spots of Rev. Dr. Bell's remarks made a profound impression on the minds of the large congregation of morning worshippers. The musical part of the service was up to its customary high standard, Mrs. G. McKinnon of the choir rendered in a touching solo "Forever with the Lord".

RUTH TYPE OF GIRL OF TODAY

"Seek Comradeship Only Among Equals" Dr. Bell Advises

Ruth, the immigrant from the type of girl every home, the girl of the service, the girl who serves in the offices, and in the factories, was the subject of Rev. Dr. Bell's day evening sermon of Dr. R. H. Bell, at Bridge Street United Church. Prefacing his remarks with the reading of this interesting story from the Biblical records, Dr. Bell pointed a lesson of the times for those of appreciative and proper understanding of the young women. In his prayer at the first of the service he mon he prayed that "through no lack of our service should indifference might one fall from grace."

Ruth Type Girl

Dr. Bell's sermon was a straight call to the people of today to be determined and resolved underpinned the devotional life of the young women.

To the girls in the congregation the minister said: "Seek to make yourselves worthy of the best. Seek fellowship and friendship only among those who will give you an elevating friendship."

Life's success largely a matter of will and decision, he went on to say. Ruth could easily have left Naomi but had the will to stand by her choice, to leave home and cleave unto her. "To do not cleave unto her. "To do not think," he remarked, "that she was not tempted as others did. She was thinking of others."

The Greatness of Will

One of the great faults of the age is that the staff cannot seem to make decisions for them and act as an authority for them, particularly in matters of religion. People want a religion of authority, but rather think for decision is difficult to make and people are only too pleased to have their every choice as long as possible, they welcome relief from moral duty that crave external guidance. It is a case of indecision of the human will.

Those who are constantly depending upon others to guide them do not succeed. The time comes when they must exercise their will, for no outside power can do it. That is where religion wins out.

The minister returning to his thought of Ruth the type of the girl from another land or place, told of girls' yearning for friendship and the opportunity which waits those who have accepted it, "Seek no mock, for these 'pang strangers, 'flame of their flame,' he said, 'to high for the ideal character because they miss the sympathy and friendship of their fellow people.

"Ruth won her reward. She became the ancestress of our Lord. Naomi the ancestress of our Lord Jesus Christ."

MAN'S HEART STOPPED BY BAD STOMACH GAS

W. L. Adams bloated so with gas after meals that his heart missed beats. Adlerika brought out all gas and now he eats anything and feels fine. McKeown's Drug Store.

Kidney

Acidity Kills Energy

If you feel old and run-down from Getting Up Nights, Nervousness, Neuralgia, Lumbago, Leg Pains, Dizziness, Burning Bladder Kidney Acidity, use quick-acting Cystex (fiss-tex). Often stops trouble in hours. Guaranteed to work satisfactorily or return empty box and get money back. Only 75c at druggists.

NO FREEZING OF SERVICES

Not a Single Case of Frozen Water Service Reported

Rigorous Winters in this city have in the past been characterized by a train of frozen water pipes necessitating considerable work by the plumbers to thaw out the pipes which have in the past been kept frozen for days. Many thawed out the pipes, burst by the expansion of the water inside them. In some cases they have had to lower them further down in the earth where they would not reach frost. This has been specially noticeable when, with the cold weather there has been an absence of snow. Without the snow to act as a protection a greater depth and freezes solidly the earth it passes through on its way down.

Thawer Not Used

The new hot water thawing machine so spasmodically used in previous years has not been in action; there have been no frozen pipes, and not one complaint of this nature has been registered. Further than that, so far this winter there has been over one half million gallons of water "lost".

"In cold weather people let their taps run and dribble all night, when the house is temporarily vacant they leave them on all day, too," declared manager E. T. Leach this morning, and continued, "a thing that is the most annoying is to be quite easy to go down in the cellar and turn off the main supply of the house, then, if they let the water in the taps run until the pipes are empty there is not the danger. If the water was metered that would not be done."

Water Not Wasted

"How do you account for the consumption of water compared with that of other years?" a reporter asked him.

"We are getting down to closer figures of consumption all the time. Water is not being wasted as much as it has been in other years." Does that meter at the pump house measure accurately every drop of water pumped to the city?" "Yes, within a very small percentage of error, not over 5 per cent. We know pretty nearly all the time if there is a leakage and to a certain number of gallons what the next day's supply for the city's consumption increases the supply we look for the cause. A leak of 100 gallons per hour we have never went outside of it, could always find it. Sometimes it is in the other outside just by looking at the gauge on the well, and comparing the water used that day with the next, or the one that went before."

"If it is very hot the needles on the gauge will jump to a higher point, indicating that a considerable amount of water is being used. Lawn sprinklers and other faucets are being used. If the day is cold the needle point is proportionately high, and sometimes higher than the day before. It is good to see citizens are leaving their taps running."

"Then, if a fire should break out and one or two taps be left on, you would know at once that something was wrong?"

"Yes, the moment I looked at the gauges—which is second nature for me in the pump house—my vigilance at the gauges every few moments—we would know at once that something had happened. The same applies to even a compressed air leak, or to the gas line. If there is constant flow somewhere we know it at once and it is easy to trace the trouble very quickly by church and chapel, specially organized for the purpose of tracing the murmurs water will make when it is escaping."

It is rather pleasant to escape a severe winter owing to the fact that we are not called out at all hours of the day and night to try and get something with the burst pipes. A few years ago, when we had a particularly severe winter, I have seen our department up for twenty four hours at a stretch trying to keep open the numberless house services that were frozen, and at the time were being thawed out. With the winter which has been nearly over we have had no trouble at all."

TWO BOYS ESCAPE AT MIMICO SCHOOL

Sunday morning the Belleville police department received a telegram from the police superintendent of the industrial School at Mimico, advising that two boys had escaped from that institution and offering a reward for their capture.

The boys are John Kremer, aged fifteen years of Timmins and Oscar Carr, aged sixteen years of Brockville.

Kremer is four feet and a half in height, fair, round face and was wearing dark brown suit with bloomers and peaked cap. No overcoat.

Carr is four feet and seven inches in height, dark complexion and was wearing blue coat, brown bloomers and peaked cap.

Obituary

E. F. CHAPMAN

ST. CATHARINES, Feb. 29.—R. Edgar Chapman, aged 51 years, died at his home, St. Catharines on Friday. The late Mr. Chapman was born in Napanee, the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jeremiah Chapman. He was ill for some time in Deseronto, Moosejaw, Regina and Toronto, but took up residence in St. Catharines where he was an insurance broker. He was married in 1908 to Miss Mary Louise (Minnie) Allan of Brampton, Ontario, who survives. Other survivors are two sisters, Mrs. John Irwin, Campbellford, Ont., and E. Kennedy, Syracuse, N.Y., and two brothers, Mr. Ernest Chapman, Brantford and William Chapman, Bath, Ontario.

The funeral took place on Monday afternoon from the Funeral Home of Butler and Son to Victoria Lawn Cemetery, St. Catharines.

MRS. ANN CLARE

The death occurred Saturday at the residence of her son Mr. W. E. Clare, 52 Baldwin street of one of the oldest, if not the oldest resident of Belleville, in the person of Mrs. Ann Clare, relict of William Clare, who died in 1907. Mrs. Clare was born in England ninety-seven years ago, coming to Canada when some time but has been a resident, here the past sixteen years. She was a life long member of the Anglican church.

Left to mourn her passing are two sons, William and Mr. Ernest Clare and William E., of this city; Mrs. O. Sullivan, Brantford and Mrs. Jos. LeSage, Toronto and Mrs. W. G Stoliker of Belleville.

LATE EMILY LASKARIS

This afternoon the funeral took place from the residence and Browne funeral home of Emily, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Laskaris, 156 1-2 Front Street, aged twenty days, who died early Saturday noon after an illness of several days. To the bereaved parents sympathy is extended the sympathy of their friends in this community.

ELMER L. LUCK

News has been received here of the death in Edmonton Hospital of Elmer L. Luck, M.A., in his 49th year. Mr. Luck was an honor graduate of Albert College and Victoria University, Toronto. He married Miss Ethel Span, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Rev. John Span, North Front street, Belleville. She died in Edmonton in December. Mr. Luck was engaged in study at the time of his death. He leaves a son, Lt. Gilbert Span Luck, of the Royal Canadian Regiment, Toronto. He is also survived by his father, Germany Mr. Luck was born in Belleville, one of a family of eight children and spoke at a meeting in this city, telling of his experiences in Germany.

A native of Beaton, Mr. Luck received his early education there. Deseronto where his father, now residing in Calgary, was then principal of the public school. He won an Edward Blake Scholarship at Albert College, Belleville, graduating from Victoria College, Toronto, as B.A., 1st modern languages, 1907, and was for a time lecturer in the Department of English at Alberta College, 1907 and was also principal of the King Edward School in South Edmonton. He was a graduate student in modern languages at Strathcona High School, Edmonton, 1910 and at Toronto University in 1910. In 1913 he left for Germany.

On his return from Germany Mr. Luck went to Edmonton where he became married Miss Mary Flint of that city.

He was greatly interested in music, organized the college glee club, was a well known instrumentalist, and a 32nd degree Freemason.

Graduates of Alberta College learn with much regret of the passing of this affable and brilliant scholar.

ERNEST CARL YOUKER

At his late home, 83 Octavia St. occurred early the death of a much respected and esteemed resident of this city, Ernest Carl Youker, at the age of 58 years. The late Mr. Youker was born in Stirling and for many years in the whole life was spent in Belleville. He was an employee of the Canadian National Railways and a member of Brookville Lodge No. 30, Independent Order of Railway Trainmen. He was an attendant of Bridgewater St. United church and fraternally a member of Belleville Lodge No. 77, Loyal Orange Association, Belleville.

Some two years ago his wife predeceased.

The immediate family surviving to mourn his death are two sons, Ernest Youker of Belleville and Lloyd Youker of Toronto; two brothers, Mr. Augustus Youker, a daughter, Evelyn at home, a brother, George, and two sisters, Mrs. M. Wright-meyer and Mrs. E. West, all of this city.

Team Did Not Break Through Ice

A reported accident concerning a team of horses belonging to Mr. Maurice Callaghan, which were engaged in hauling ice on the bay, and which were rumoured to have fallen through the ice into the water Saturday afternoon is not correct. No accident, according to Mr. Callaghan occurred except that the horses did not go through the ice near the short into about a foot of water. The trouble was experienced in getting it out, however, and the truck was not harmed in the least. "The ice on the bay is quite soft now and has been bending under the runners of the sleighs. This probably led to the rumor that they might go through some time, and from there it advanced to the report of an actual occurrence. But nothing of the sort happened," stated Mr. Callaghan.

A&P
ESTABLISHED 1859
WHERE ECONOMY RULES
Mon. Tues. Wed. Specials
SANTA CLARA
Prunes 3 lbs. 20c
PURE GOLD
Jelly Powders 5 pkgs. 25c
Salmon Sockeye No. 1 Tin 29c
AYLMER
Plum Jam 48 oz. Jar 23c
Chocolate Drops lb. 16c
QUAKER BRAND
Cornflakes 3 pkgs. 24c
BRISKET For Boiling lb. 7c
PORK
Spare Ribs lb. 9c
A AND P QUALITY BEEF
STEAKS
Wing - - - lb. 22c
Sirloin - - - lb. 19c
EXTRA SPECIALS
SMOKED
Finnan Haddie lb. 10c
BOX $1.45
These Prices Also Good in Trenton
The Great ATLANTIC & PACIFIC Tea Co.
LIMITED of CANADA

Theft Charge is Dismissed By Judge

Peterboro, Ont., Feb. 29.—The charge of theft of more than $100 from the Peterboro Chamber of Commerce against Frank G. Stinson, former manager of the organization was dismissed this morning by Judge O'Connor. The Judge ruled that the contract entered into between Stinson and the Chamber of Commerce relative to the turning over by Stinson of the money collected received for issuing motor licenses was illegal.

In dismissing the charge the Judge told the prisoner he hoped that the world does not be mistaken by the Chamber of Commerce.

Where Can we Find Words to Describe this New Four-Star Garbo Triumph!
BELLE
TODAY — TUES. — WEDNESDAY
Perf. 2.30 — 7.00 — 9.15
Pred. 7.00 — 9.15
LEWIS STONE
LIONEL BARRYMORE
STARS
in as great and thrilling a picture as the screen has ever produced.
Greta Garbo and Ramon Novarro
in "MATA HARI"
SHE FED THE FLAMES OF LOVE, WITH THE FIRES OF HATE! Garbo, the Mysterious, Portraying a woman the world can never forget—MATA HARI, the spy, who really lived.
THELMA TODD—BASIL PITT'S COMEDY — NEWS
Tuesday is Dresserware Night
BEGINS THURS.—After 9 weeks at $2.00 Astor Theatre, N.Y. — WALLACE BEERY and CLARK GABLE in "HELL DIVERS"—no thrill EVER to equal it!
WISE AND OTHERWISE—Advice is like castor oil, easy to give and hard to take.

WHAT CHANCE HAD SHE IN A WORLD OF MEN? life
To add to your enjoyment a dramatic a COMEDY
BELIEVE IT OR NOT!
AUDIO REVIEW
SPORT SLANT
based upon the sensational best-selling novel by WARNER FABIAN with a brilliant cast headed by LOIS MORAN CHARLES BICKFORD
NOW! 2.45-7.15-9.00
CAPITOL
"Where Sound Sounds Best"

FINAL SESSION OF LEGISLATIVE OPENS TUESDAY

"Economy Session" is Name Applied By Premier Bracken

NO ANNOUNCEMENTS

Believe Measures Will Be in Line With Other Western Provinces

WINDUPEG, Man., Feb. 29.—(By The Canadian Press)— Manitoba's "economy session" of the legislature is to open here tomorrow, a session that marks the final gathering of the 18th assembly of the province and leaves clear the way for a general election this summer.

Premier John Bracken has not announced what steps he proposes to suggest to the house for slicing administration expenses, cutting general services and generally reducing expenditures, but his measures are expected to be in line with those brought before the Alberta and Saskatchewan sessions by Premiers J. E. Brownlee and J. T. M. Anderson.

Neither has Mr. Bracken made known definitely what moves will be made to bolster falling revenues, but those too are considered likely to parallel proposals discussed in the other prairie legislatures.

The three prairie premiers have held several conferences during recent months, announcing each time they discussed problems common to all provinces.

Salaries of government employes have already been reduced, indemnities of assembly members will be ten per cent. less this session and cabinet ministers have taken a corresponding cut. But Premier Bracken is known to have other economy plans under consideration, and two at least, are of particular importance.

One, that will greatly reduce the cost of the attorney-general's department, is to have the Manitoba provincial police force taken over by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. In April, Alberta's provincial police will be merged with the R.C.M.P., Saskatchewan has been policed by the mounties for several years, The Held Conference

Mr. Bracken had discussions both here and at Ottawa with Dominion government officials and it is believed legislation will be presented at the coming session to approve the policing change.

So far his most widely-discussed economy proposal, Mr. Bracken's one-province-government scheme, is believed likely to come before the house in some form or other. Probability is that the premier will urge appointment of a special committee to deal with the question, and perhaps sound out the reaction of Saskatchewan and Alberta governments to it.

Saving to the three provinces would amount to "millions", the Manitoba premier said when he made public his favorable views to the single-government scheme.

Sales Gasoline Tax

Among legislation designed to increase revenue is likely to be a bill raising the tax on gasoline from five cents a gallon to whatever are seen opnts. Persons close to the government predict the new tax will be seven cents.

Mr. Bracken indicated several weeks ago that income tax returns had fallen to such an extent that amendments might have to be made to the Income Tax Act. Reduction in corporation taxes is also thought to what extent has not been divulged.

Mr. Bracken government's following will stand alone in the house as this session opens, only two Liberal and Progressive forces was affected on that line say. Two or more Liberals are to be taken into the cabinet after the session or following the provincial election—providing the Progressives are returned to power.

The five Liberal members of the house, however, are expected to side with the government on all important questions, giving Mr. Bracken 39 followers.

Present standing in the legislature follows:

Progressives	28
Conservatives	15
Liberals	5
Labor	3
Independents	2
Vacancy	1

Seven new water-filtration plants were constructed or put into operation in New York State during 1931.

STOP Coughing

Luden's cooling Menthol Action relieves throat irritation in just 10 seconds.

10¢ SILVER PACKAGE

LUDEN'S MENTHOL COUGH DROPS

John D. Hands Out Advice

"Don't drive so fast, young man," is what John D. Rockefeller advised Sir Malcolm Campbell, British auto speed king, at their recent meeting at Ormond Beach, Florida. Campbell apparently took John D.'s advice, because he only travelled at 253 miles an hour, to establish the new land record. This was 12 miles an hour faster than his previous record of 265 miles an hour.

Tyendinaga Farmer Killed Within Sight of Own Home

Thomas Topping, 72, Struck By Car Driven By Phyli Wilson, Toronto

SATURDAY NIGHT

Driver Charged With Manslaughter and Released on $35,000 Bail

Within sight of his own home and returning from making a short visit to his son, Harry, who lives on an adjoining farm, Thomas Topping, 72, life long resident of Tyendinaga Township, was instantly killed shortly after eight o'clock on Saturday night, four miles east of Shannonville, when he was struck by a car driven by Mr. Phyli Wilson, electrical contractor of 29 College Street, Toronto, both the car and the victim being westbound. After extricating himself from the wreckage, Wilson, who was not injured, proceeded to a nearby farm house and raised the alarm and shortly after, Traffic Officers Ryles and Frink were at the scene.

Investigation Made

After an investigation, Wilson was placed under arrest and brought to Belleville, the victim being taken to the undertaking parlors of W. J. MacFarlane at Shannonville where an inquest was opened before coroner Dr. R. W. Tennant on Sunday afternoon. After preliminary evidence was taken, the hearing was adjourned until Thursday night at eight o'clock. The jury is composed of Percy Moore, foreman, Earl Vernan, Kenneth Vivian, R. E. Liddle, Sandy Goodfellow, Orville Stratton, John Larose, Harvey Shetler, and Benjamin Gilroy, all residents of Tyendinaga Township. Wilson was incarcerated in the police station for the night and on Sunday appeared before Magistrate George Tice on a charge of manslaughter. He was released to appear on March 7th; bail being furnished for $35,000.00 there being his own recognizance of $20,000.00 and three sureties of $5,000.00 each. Dr. Bell of Toronto, Wilson's brother in law was present in court and made arrangements for the bail.

On Way To Toronto

Mr. Wilson, an electrical contractor is employed by the wiring of the new Nurses' Home at Brockville and was returning to Toronto to spend the week end, when the accident happened. Constable Bridinger and Campbell, who came into the case after the Traffic Officers had investigated interrogated the man and also went to the scene and had the path of the car marked in white and also the position of the body, when found. The driver of the car, it is alleged, states he was travelling at near the 40 mile per hour mark and it is apparent from the marks on the pavement, he was driving well into the centre of the highway and just before hitting the deceased was a little over on the wrong side or, to the south of the centre mark. Topping was walking on the south side of the highway a little towards the centre and it is probable that he became confused with the approach of the car and stepped directly into the path of the motor car, as the driver swung to avoid striking him. Wilson states, that he did not see the man until the moment of impact, the car went along the shoulder of the south side for a considerable distance and then was righted into the road. It is known the car turned over twice and landed on the four wheels on the pavement. There is no evidence of skids from the point where the body was found, the car has a total wreck, the body being badly crushed from the rolling and the body was dragged and badly wounded and the windshield was smashed.

The late Mr. Topping was born in Tyendinaga Township and has been a resident on the same farm for many years. His son, James, works the farm with the father and Harry Topping lives but a short distance to the east on an adjoining farm. Of late the family has had considerable sorrow, two of the members dying within a short space of time. He was a member of the Anglican Church and besides his two sons, there remains the widow, and a large circle of friends to mourn his loss.

Muskrat Season Two Weeks Earlier

Toronto, Ont., Feb. 29 — The Provincial Department of Game and Fisheries last night confirmed reports that open season on muskrats in the counties of Norfolk and Halimand would begin two weeks earlier than last year, due to warm weather.

The open season in Essex, Kent, Elgin, Norfolk and Haldimand will extend from March 1 until April 7, the department said.

MOST SCHEMES HAVE FAILED

Migration Policy of England Has Been Drain on Treasurer

LONDON— (By The Canadian Press)—Some figures in the latest report of the Comptroller and Auditor-General are peculiarly interesting at a moment when Crusaders are gushing about the opening of a new chapter in the story of the Empire," remarks the weekly paper Truth. The report shows the cost to the taxpayer at home of various schemes of land settlement in the Dominions. Under agreements with the Canadian Government and certain Australian companies, the British Treasury provided loans to the amount of £4,064,470 for the assistance of migrants from this country, the loans being secured on the holdings they acquired. Only £445,000 has been repaid. The biggest loss has been in connection with the "3,000 families" scheme, which was boosted so blatantly in Parliament and the press some years ago.

"No less than £6,805,000 has been contributed to development schemes in Australia, the consideration being the satisfactory settlement of 'nominated' numbers of assisted migrants from the United Kingdom. This is over and above the expenditure on the scheme of 1923, whereby over 300 men, mostly ex-soldiers were lured with the help of the British Government to the State of Victoria. They have complained for years past that they were grossly deceived by the Victorian Government, being induced to invest their own capital. The latest scheme mentioned is said to have been something like £2,000,000. On the purchase of farms on which it was impossible to make a living. The treatment of these unfortunate settlers, many of whom have been reduced to the direst poverty, is a scandal which is now being made the subject of a belated inquiry by a Royal Commission in Victoria."

Following institution of economies in the tin and rubber industries of Malaya, 1,000 Chinese and Indians have been repatriated.

DANGERS OF WAR MUST BE KILLED

Einstein, Millikan and Beard Point Out Ways to Peace

Pasadena, Cal., Feb. 29— Three authorities of science and history, Einstein, the father with the post as a guide, warned Saturday that civilization faces failure with destruction and then was ushered in nearly by its own progress if the nations fail to kill forever, the danger of war.

Dr. Albert Einstein, Robert A. Millikan and Charles A. Beard, speaking on a programme "in the interest of public opinion," sought to point out the ways to peace through the ordered functions of sober governments.

A hero must be strong; must fight, and if against odds, the more the merrier.

LOWEST PRICES in History for GUTTA PERCHA TIRES

Never before have you been able to get such remarkable value—such amazing features at such low prices.

Gutta Percha Tires are Gum Cushioned—Protected against battering road shocks by broad pads of pure gum rubber built in between the plies of cord fabric.

Look at these outstanding advantages in Gutta Percha Tires—Gum Cushions (exclusive to Gutta Percha); "RESISTO" Safety Tread (exclusive to Gutta Percha); Rubber impregnated cord fabric; "Bias-cut" cords; reinforced side walls; tubes of heat-resisting black rubber.

Gutta Percha Tires give you more for your money—let us put them on your car today.

The "GP" Tire

Finest grade materials, Superior skill and technical precision, combined with GUM CUSHIONS and hard wearing "RESISTO" tread make the "GP" Tire the greatest value on the market.

The Roadcraft Tire

The Gutta Percha Roadcraft Heavy Duty and Regular Balloon Tires have the exclusive GUM CUSHION feature and the tough "RESISTO" Tread, and are exceptional value at a lower price.

COMPLETE-EXPERT-COURTEOUS-SERVICE

Cleanliness and courtesy are our watchwords. Our smartly uniformed attendants are experts in servicing your every need. Our complete service includes:

Three leading brands of gasoline. Castrol and B.A. Motor Oils.

Best known Anti-Free Solutions. Exide Batteries.

Our Service car is available for road calls at all times.

Gutta Percha Tires—with the exclusive "Gum Cushion" feature that gives you extra miles and extra value at no extra cost. Complete Chassis Lubrication. Tire Repairing and Vulcanizing.

Remember the 'Phone Number, 661

BELLEVILLE VULCANIZING CO.

11 Moira Street, West — Belleville, Ont.

English Duke Sells Coronet to Increase Supply of Gold

Ancestral Headpiece Goes For $75,000—Will Be Melted Down

TO HELP ENGLAND

London, Feb. 29—Carrying his coronet under his arm like a derby hat, an English duke walked into a Bond Street jewelry shop Saturday and sold the ancestral headpiece for £15,000 so that it could be stripped of its jewels and melted to increase the nation's gold supply.

The identity of the duke was not disclosed but it was said that his family has held baronial rank for nearly five centuries. His action was cited as an example to other Britons to disgorge their gold.

This transaction was the latest development in Britain's "gold rush" in which thousands of golden trinkets, ornaments and coins have been sold so that their owners can benefit from the present high price of gold and the nation benefit by its export.

With bullion quoted at 118 shillings 10 pence an ounce, long lines have formed at jewelry stores and the offices of dealers in foreign exchange for days. One firm bought 80,000 sovereigns at about 28 shillings each last week.

The situation has developed "sterling patriotism," persons who refuse to make a profit on their coins, taking them to their banks and exchanging them for pound sterling notes, thus sacrificing eight shillings on each coin. The banks have to send the coins to the Bank of England and thus the government nets an eight shilling profit besides increasing the gold reserve. Most of the coins may not be melted, but the coronet sold by the unidentified duke has been sent to Amsterdam. After the diamonds are picked out, its eight golden strawberry leaves will be melted down.

VISITS TORONTO

Toronto, Ont., Feb. 29—(CP)— Sir Malcolm Campbell, who last week broke his own world speed record for automobiles, last night received his telegram of welcome to Toronto next Thursday.

Sir Malcolm consented to speak at a luncheon of the Empire club. He will leave for New York Thursday night.

There is a spring on the beach near Jonesport, Maine, that at high tide is covered with salt water, but at low tide one can get from the spring clear fresh water fit to drink.

Church will Use Radio States New Archbishop

Quebec, Feb. 29—Radio will be used with increasing frequency in efforts to consolidate the relations between the ecclesiastical authorities and the faithful of the diocese," said Mgr. J. M. Rodrigue Villeneuve, recently elected archbishop of Quebec, in a radio broadcast throughout the Province Sunday. In making this announcement Mgr. Villeneuve stated that "I am following the example set by his Holiness, Pope Pius XI."

A letter, signed by Mgr. Villeneuve, was read from the pulpits of all the churches of the diocese yesterday morning. It was a brief communication in which the Archbishop paid homage to his predecessor, the late Cardinal Roulieau, restated his affection for his erstwhile charges of the Diocese of Gravelbourg, Sask., and warned his diocesans against "modern dangers, particularly the prevalent lack of discipline and the lust for unwarranted pleasures and liberties."

Mgr. Villeneuve stated that he hoped to work in close co-operation with Laval University, which is within his diocese, and with all Catholic action" organizations. He hoped "that religious and legislative authorities will be mutually aware of their respective fields of endeavor and helped by mutual consideration for their respective rights."

KICKED BY COLT

Georgetown, Ont., Feb. 29.—Kicked in the head by a colt he was leading out of its stall yesterday, Leslie Van, 21, Toronto, was killed. Van suffered a fractured skull. The coroner decided an inquest was unnecessary.

THE ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER

THE DAILY ONTARIO INTELLIGENCER is published every afternoon (Sunday and holidays excepted) at The Ontario Intelligencer Building, Front Street.

RATES—DAILY EDITION—

Year, delivered in city $7.50
Year, by mail to rural offices $5.00
Year, in U. S. A. $5.50

W. E. NORTON, President.

LEAP YEAR BIRTHDAY GREETINGS

Congratulations to Mrs. Eurettа Watson, 88 years old today and yet as birthdays run, only 21 years of age! Mrs. Watson is one of the number who celebrates once every four years, her birthday being February 29th, between 1896 and 1904 she did not have a birthday because leap year did not come between those dates, so that in all she has lost 67 anniversaries as those born on any other day of the year know them.

Mrs. Watson is one of the oldest residents of the city. She is well known throughout the city and county. For forty years she conducted a successful grocery business. One of her sons, William A. Woodley, by her first marriage is a resident of Toronto, a veteran of service to the city as a member of the council and has served on various boards. Her other son, Arthur M. Watson, is well known, having been engaged in the bakery business in Belleville and in Toronto.

Mrs. Watson's family are pleased to know that at her great age she has preserved her intellect intact, her interest in life, hearing and sight undimmed so that she can read the newspapers and take more than ordinary interest in every occurrence. She has watched the city grow since she first came here from Prince Edward County many years ago.

Personages born on Leap Year day are few and those who reach the great age attained by Mrs. Watson are very few indeed.

INVENTED PICTURE POSTCARD

Heinrich Lange, a stationer, is dead at Goettingen, Germany, at the age of eighty-four years. He was the inventor of picture postcards which held sway for many years and which have been one of the romances of the mail service. The picture postcard opened up a whole world of beauty and it must have given an immense impetus to the photographic industry and art. Though the mails today carry nothing like the vast millions of cards which used to be posted, still the picture postcard has not lost all its power. The tourist and the guest are the present foundation of the industry and though it lacks much of the immense volume of trade it once enjoyed, it will probably never quite die out.

Twenty years and more ago the picture postcard was in full swing. From all quarters of the earth these cards came, many were brought home as the best record of voyages to the Old World, and many a believing home has its album of these cards which have been handled again and again.

What hurt the industry? Was it the beginning of the war which put thoughts of a picture world out of the frame? Was it the coming of the camera which in itself opened out a wonderful world of the great outdoors? Or was it that the immense improvement in the little colored cards from one of the most prominent places in the interest of man.

That generation which does not require to be very old to remember these cards will never forget them.

Herr Lange's contribution may seem to many a very one-sided idea, but simplicity is more often not the secret of success. It is the little thing that counts a good deal.

A REAL THRILLER

New York Times tells of a strange detective story running in the London Morning Post. It is written by Post readers themselves, a different one writing an instalment a week and even the authors know from the start who the murder is. Those who attend movie thrillers will take some interest in the following account of plotting:

"Out of a list of 4,000 names 'Xenophon Ray' was selected as the sleuth to track down the criminal. Eight hundred gruesome mystery murders were submitted for him to solve, and of these the story 'Le Fauve Bonhomme de Neige Boiteux' was selected. Xenophon Ray's task is to find out who "The Limping Snowman" is and who killed him. The opening chapter finds him kneeling in the snow at Fontainbleau looking for clues.

"This sort of composite detective story involves the wholesale production of plots. Each competitor who submits a part of it, if he plays fair, must have in mind a possible solution. But it is the writer of the final chapter who will have the hardest work in bringing to a logical conclusion all the complications spun out by his co-authors."

His Opportunity

Cynic—I could make a better world than this.

Sage—That is why God put you here. Go do it.

LOVE'S BETTER WAY

By Aline Michaelis

Though it seem strange, dear one, I say
Our love has learned a better way;
A way which we had never known
Through happy years that now are flown.

The love of youth was sweet, so sweet!
Our rapture made life full, complete
But now our love has waxed more wise;
We love with clear, unclouded eyes.

We love with faith, hand clasped in hand;
We love with hearts that understand.
Life cannot all be sun and song,
Yet love will last the whole way long.

REQUESTS TO SIDELIGHT READERS that they send in the smartest paragraphs they have run across in the past week's reading has resulted in copious contributions of which the following are selections. If the readers do not object too much we propose to make this an occasional feature of the column so send in your selections of the funniest stories you have heard or read anywhere. We will make it easier for the column conductor besides providing variety, which after all, is really the spice of life! Here 'Tis:

x x x x

O Horse, you are a wonderful thing;
No licensing to be done to honk;
You start yourself; no clutch to rip,
No spark to miss, no gears to strip;
No licensing every year to buy,
No plates to screw on front and rear;
No gas bills climbing up each day,
Nor smelling you, you don't stink;
No speed cops chugging in your rear,
Your spark plugs never miss and fuss;
Your engine never gets a cough,
Your frame is good for many a mile,
Your body never changes style.
Your wants are few and easily met;
You've something on the auto yet.

x x x x

When you travel on the ocean and you see the sad folks hanging over the rail after dinner, you may reflect that here is just another instance of the returned goods evil.

x x x x

She's so dumb—
She thinks a case of Scotch is a Sassenach lawsuit.
—She thinks a bookmark is a smudge of dirt on the pages.
—She thinks that because no one has proposed to her, it just proves "Love is blind."
—She things science is a another look.

x x x x

Explanation

A patient who complained of digestive troubles was told by a specialist that he was drinking too much and would have to knock it off.

"Off?" said the patient, "what am I to tell the wife?"

The doctor thought for a few minutes and then said, "Tell her you are suffering from syncopation. That will satisfy her."

The patient did as he was told.

"What is syncopation?" asked the wife.

"If don't know," said the husband, "but that is what he said."

wife looked up the word in the dictionary and found it meant "irregular movement from bar to bar."

x x x x

Why the Parade?

Two Irishmen watching Shriners' parade.

"Who are those fellows, Mike?"

"They are Shriners."

"And what are Shriners?"

"Why, they're Masons."

"Sure and what the divil do they want now? They've gettin' $18 a day."—Forbes Magazine (N.Y.J.)

x x x x

Every Little Bit Helps

"Is there anyone present who wishes to the prayers of the congregation for a relative or friend?" asked the minister.

"I do," says the angular lady who arises from the rear pew. "I want the congregation to pray for my husband."

"Why, Sister Abigail!" replies the minister. "You have no husband as yet."

"Yes, but I want you all to pitch in an' pray for one for me!"—Life.

x x x x

MODERN ETIQUETTE

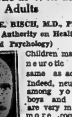
By Roberta Lee

Q. What is the correct size of the wedding invitation?

A. It may be about 5 1-8 inches wide by 7 3-8 inches deep, or slightly smaller.

Q. Where should the coffee urn be placed on the breakfast table?

A. Before the hostess, who serves the coffee.



Q. Who accompanies a funeral party to the cemetery?

A. Only those persons who are invited to do so.

WATCH SIGNS NERVOUSNESS IN CHILDREN

Boys and Girls May Be Neurotic as Well as Adults

By LOUIS E. BISCH, M.D., Ph D. (Famous Authority on Health and Psychology)

LOUIS E. BISCH

Children may be neurotic the same as adults. Indeed, among the young boys and girls are very much more common than most people realize.

A neurosis is, of course, a nervous disorder. It is not a disease. It is not

That is, no structural changes in the nerves themselves or in any part of the tissues of the body, are involved.

The fact that something is amiss in the workings of the nerves, rather than in the children of the nervous system, does not make neurosis a matter to be dismissed or held as inconsequential, by any manner of means; for a neurosis in a child can become a chronic affair, lasting through adult life. When it does, it usually interferes, and sometimes seriously, with a child's general development, physical as well as mental.

Wherever there is a case of suspected neurosis, the child should be thoroughly examined from the physical point of view. Corrections are needed, or bad tonsils should be removed—what ever the handicap to growth, no matter what corrective measures should always be taken. The general hygiene of the patient must also be looked into, the sleeping hours, diet, play and study time, etc.

Often the correction of the obvious causes of nervousness will suffice. On the other hand, there are cases where the child appears perfect and the child is regular in all habits. Nevertheless a neurotic state persists.

Emotional instability may be a prominent symptom. Such neurotic children are given to violent temper, outbursts of anger, crying and laughing, sudden spells of excitement which they cannot control. Usually they are mentally restless, as well. Nothing holds the interest for long. They are prone to act positively to another all day long. They are unable to concentrate on any assignment, no matter what is done for them.

Such children cannot, of course, relax, and soon they become thin, even anemic. They appear to be restless and characterized by night cries and sleep-walking. Dreaming is often of the night-mare variety. In consequence, the children are patient as they are tired. Inasmuch as they are losing energy faster than they can build it up, they suffer from too quick fatigue and even from recoupings after comparatively slight exertions.

School work suffers as well. Memory is poor; concentration even worse. So on interest is lost. Play is no fun. Games are not played. They become difficult pupils to teach and to keep under control.

Sleep-walking, otherwise known as "somnambulism", likewise must develop in these cases. Even convulsions may appear, or other grave simulations of epileptic character.

Lastly, such children become as fears and obsessions, very much as in adults, often gradually come into being. Often a fear leads to a habit. Later on a devastating fear of the dark, or of solitude, or some vague dread that something may happen to injure them or even the world. Impulses of various kinds are also met with—even suicidal ideas and actual suicidal attempts.

Neuroses are not to be trifled with. Its are not to be neglected or treat. Patience and understanding are essential in the successful handling of such a child. The services of an expert in medical psychology is usually required.

Dr. Bisch's Daily Health Hint

Intestinal worms are not uncommon in children. These may be of the round worm, pin worm and other varieties. They are not to be trifle also. Always should an exact diagnosis be made before treatment is begun.

DEADLY MACHINE GUN

The tremendous advantage that the invention of the machine gun gave to the defense's side in warfare was demonstrated in the concentrated than in the recent fighting around Shanghai.

One man with a machine gun can be the equal of a whole battalion, under certain circumstances. A bombardment that reduces the numbers of a defensive force to a tenth of their original strength is utterly useless if it leaves the few machine guns that can come into action as soon as the attacking wave gets within range.

It was this unsuspected fact that made the World War battles so frightfully costly. The Japanese, evidently, are discovering it all over again. Until some way of coping with the machine gun is found, the offensive is paralyzed.— Guelph Mercury.

Colleges today attempt to offer students opportunities to secure education rather than to give it.—John Crier Hibben.

30 YEARS AGO

Clippings From Our 'Old' Newspaper Files

February 25, 1902.

The livery stables of Mr. John C. Lake, on Pinnacle Street, are being visited by large crowds of curious sightseers. Recently an ostrich egg was brought to that gentleman, gave birth to three calves. Two of were alive and two were exceptionally lively, but the third was rather weakly, that all three will live. The triplets are identically marked, being red and white.

Those who are dealing ice should, when they drop a piece off on the street, endeavor to pick it up or take it out of the road. At night, especially, they are a very much in the way.

Dr. Clarke has returned from Toronto, where he was attending the Ontario Dental convention.

One little item of $776.00 appears in the list of Dominion taxpayers (or non-taxpayers). It is owed by a gentleman who says he wants to pay promptly, and would, no doubt, come in handy, if it could be collected.

An alderman distributed souvenirs in his ward Monday at the last meeting of the council. They were illustrated booklets describing the Rolling Mills in Sydney, Nova Scotia. The aldermen looked at them with tears in their eyes.

The residents of Charles St. south of Bridge Street, and Church St. north of Bridge, on sidewalks are given out they'll capture them if they use the sidewalks of that neighborhood in an objectionable manner.

A Hamilton alderman is in the habit of making brief after-dinner speeches. Sh-h-h. Don't let any Belleville alderman hear about that.

Sixty ladies are to lead the singing in Bethel Sunday School on Sunday.

The people are wondering if Belleville is going to take any action in regard to the proposed International baseball league for the formation of which has been suggested by Kingston sportsmen. A good team would pay well, and would be a great interest in this city.

A lady's hood was found on Front Street by the police and it may be had by the owner upon application at the police station.

50 YEARS AGO

Clippings From Our Old Newspaper Files

February 28, 1882

A number of delegates have been appointed to attend the Orange Grand Lodge of Ontario East at Napanee.

The City Solicitor has sent over to Adolphustown to be circulated among the farmers of that township, a petition for a government wharf, reference to the ferry license.

The position of Chief of Police McKinnon has so far improved that he is considered by necessary for his friends to sit up with him during the night, as of night.

Mr. John Jellett took the place of Mr. Joseph Clarke on the team of carriers which went to Brockville.

There was no lack of muscle in the gathering of the Rink Syndicate this morning. A citizen who was passing at the time he said on his way home from the Rink at 7 o'clock, the ice ringing since seven o'clock last night."

The curling season may be said to have closed. The ice in the rink is less like ice than slush. The latest game that has been played here was on March 6 last season.

A small bulletin in the post office this morning announced the death of Mrs. Hamilton Spencer, wife of Mr. Hamilton Spencer.

Don't let the first spring robin deceive you by singing in the onion bed. Spring robins can stand a foot of snow and zero weather.

At last night's meeting of the city council a letter was received from a minister, asking that the city would allow the paying taxes on account of his being a Methodist minister.

Thirty summonses have been issued against parties who have violated the snow bylaw.

All the representatives of this county voted in favor of the Bill legalizing marriage with a deceased wife's sister.

There are further rumors of trouble between the Indians in the neighborhood of Edmonton.

A lady's "fancy dress ball" staines for use between Brockville and Belleville have been rented to be at the Grand Trunk works.

Poet's Corner

SNOW-BOUND

So still, so white, so glamorous
The country lies,
No colour flames, no pulse of life
Is felt; there cries

Nor voice of bird or wind or leaf;
Enchantments keep
Earth, weary mother, and her child
In slumber deep.

—M. C. L. in the Glasgow Herald.

A mysterious disease which attacks and kills sheep in a single night is puzzling veterinarians in Portmanagh, Ulster.

HEARD ON THE STREET

(By Jay. De.)

YOU DID IT TOO—

"It has been my custom to wake little boy up every morning just before eight to get him ready for school. And what a job I have sometimes," remarked a city man-about-town yesterday. "But Saturday morning I went to the bed room and the boy was not in it. Busy reading up before breakfast. Any other day he would have been fast asleep."

"What's the idea of getting up early?" inquired a friend.

"Cowboys and Indians at nine o'clock," was the reply.

BELLS ON THEIR FINGERS—

If you hadn't seen it, or rather heard it, you'd find it hard to believe, but the other morning we saw a revival of a fad which has been missing for some years.

Down the street came a smartly dressed young lady, stepping along as brisk as if she were in a race with some one. A tinkling sound accompanied her as she walked. It wasn't a loud tinkle, but it was loud enough to inform the casual observer that somewhere on her person hung one or more tiny bells. Years ago they used to have them in some other part of the country, Belleville couldn't be looked closely—enough to see, had them in pairs on their feet, but not on her furry galoshes. Little golden bells they looked and tinkled with every step. Nifty, sez you.

GHOSTS—

One reader asks through this column if we believe in ghosts. We don't say a ghost. This one, from all accounts seems to be a harmless, troublesome one, and perhaps from the publicity given to the matter and concerning all ghosts in general, it has made up its particular mind to "haint" somebody else's house. Rumors in the neighborhood now concern a ghost that is to be seen in a horse's ghost. Which may make it a bit hard to keep the animal in oats. And if one may be permitted to pun a bit, the ghost is a nuisance. It is not exactly a nightmare, even though it is said that strange things pens at night. While it has never been seen face to face, it has been heard by more than one person wondering what to do.

Maybe it needs a help there.

It's like this. For the past three or four weeks at various times when he wasn't doing amateur acting in "Over the Hill" Burt Bush of the old Opera House, he used to be thinking up new and original ways to put his 4d across, and he had a lot of fun, and made others as much as the people who used to look for them. One of the PAX original ads on the subject of PAX FITS FOLKS. ARE YOU ONE OF THE FOLKS PAX FITS?

TRUSTED PULLIC SERVANT FIRED

TRURO, N. S.—A tried and trusted public servant has been fired for nearly fifty years, has been dismissed by the Provincial administration and citizens of Truro want to know why.

"Surely," remarked a town councillor, "this official could not be charged with political partisanship."

"If so, we never had a royal commission to make a complete civil service before the axe was used," replied another councillor.

Little Benny's Note Book

Pop was smoking and thinking fit his private chair and I said, May pop?

At your service, within reasonable limits, pop said, and I said, Suppose I'm going to get married, how is my wife and my mother and I ought to get along with each other, with one would it be my duty to act?

Well, that comes under the head of extremely delicate questions, pop said. Of course, most people think that a mans wife should always be the first consideration, he said.

Thats what I was thinking, I said, and on the other hand, a man is under certain obligations to his mother, and you can never hope to fully repay, no matter what the circumstances.

Yes sir, pop said, I was thinking, I said, and pop said, Well then you do, you never be in much of a dilemma, he said. Thats a bete fetiere to look fallward to, never to be confronted with the choice of saving your wife's life or your mothers. No sir, pop said, let it go at that and incidently save yourself from a nervous breakdown, he said.

But, G. pop, in case it ever does happen, I wut to be ready to know just what to do, I said and pop said, Don't cross very, very true. Well, naturelly your mother would probably be worried about the life of your wife, and you know the saying, Age before beauty.

Thats nice, but suppose I distert my wife and then I find children afterwards, they wouldent have anybody but a grandmother, I said, and pop said, Well, if you have a thawt, or I mite say a complicawtion.

Wich just then I saw ma standing in the kitchen doorway and I said, O well, I dont care, I could have lots of wives if I wanted to have one mother, I'd save my mother and take a chance on my wife being like ma.

Herray, saved at last. Im so happy, ma said, and she came to me and gave me a kiss and left me stay up a half hour extra.

MONDAY THE 29TH

St. Thomas, Feb. 29—Mr. and Mrs. W. Dennis of Yarmouth Township will celebrate their golden anniversary of their marriage at their home today with a gathering of their children, other relatives and friends. The occasion will mark the first return of the anniversary on the same day of the week on which they were married.

Special radio equipment for the British forest rangers is a recent development of a Canadian company.

Other Papers Opinions

THE TRAGEDY OF JAPAN

After sixty years of national effort to establish Japan's place abreast of other civilized nation's an inflamed military clique is leading to undermine the whole structure. Japanese success to the Russo-Japanese war since September has repeatedly done damage to Japan's national integrity. They have made it appear that subversive influences were operating to set Japan into conflict with the newer forces of western civilization as they are reflected in the League Covenant, the Briand-Kellogg Pact and the treaties at Washington.

From the first move of the Japanese military to capture Mukden from within, on the night of September 18, to the present ravaging of the city of Shanghai, the efforts of international forces of conciliation have been treated with contempt. Even the intoxication of war is fastening itself upon the Tokyo authorities, even the very appearance of regard for international sentiment is being thrown off.—Ottawa Citizen.

BACK TO HAND LABOR

A significant ceremony took place in Montreal last Monday. Under the auspices of a city aldermanic, a crowd of laborers assembled to take part in the burial of a steam shovel. They turned it in a field bordering on some railway tracks and Mayor Houde, alderman was reported as saying:

"This is a symbolical of the future policy of the administration in regard to labor. Men are destined for the relief of the unemployed.

The shovelful workers cheered. They threw their hats in the air in the aldermanic style. The worker comes into his own—the steam shovel is buried.

And while the modern laboratories of National Council of Scientific and Industrial Research are being made ready in Ottawa, be increase the world's productivity with less laborious effort the municipal administration of Montreal is turning back to a policy of hand labor.

Perhaps the decision has come to be regarded as going injury to the unemployed in Montreal. Certainly the influences are beginning to think of nothing better than to turn back the hands of the clock.

Nor is this reactionary attitude confined to aldermen catering to the unemployed in Montreal. Economic influences are equally backward in places of high authority. They are expressed in panic measures of drastic retrenchment, economy and the general belief that a nation can attain to conditions of private, although the progress of modern industry has made its power so abundance for every Canadian worker.—Ottawa Citizen.

IT'S PUZZLING, AT THAT

Dempsey, defeated in a fourround bout at Chicago, collected $15,000 and booted about with $35,000 by a public that can't afford to pay $2 admission to see a bad kid trade to your list of Things Wrong with the World.—Hamilton Spectator.

Distinguishing Characteristics

Fact from the Annual Report
(Weekly Message)

The strong financial position of the London Life is demonstrated by the fact that in 1931, notwithstanding general unfavorable conditions, the Company was able to maintain all its special funds intact, but to strengthen them by more than one and a half million dollars. The total assets now stands at $11,100,736 beyond the requirements of the Dominion Insurance Act.

This amount is made up as follows:

Reserves held in excess of requirements of Dominion Government Insurance Act	$ 4,986,704.00
Premium Reserve and Unearned Premium Reserve	827,700.00
Provision for Profits payable in 1932	1,059,602.00
Investment Reserves, Dividend Contingency Reserves and other special reserves	2,415,000.00
Surplus Unapportioned	1,811,731.00
Total	$11,100,736.00

When you mention Life Insurance place back of your home the same security which characterizes this Company.

Established 1874

London Life
Insurance Company
"Canada's Industrial Ordinary" Company

HEAD OFFICE LONDON, CANADA

The London Life Insurance Company, London, Ontario

Please send your booklet, "Interesting Facts." I am interested in insurance and should like to know more about your Company.

Name (Please Print) .....

Address .....

TWO GAMES IN MADOC ARENA

Madoc Wins From Bancroft 1 to 0 on Soft Ice

Madoc, Feb. 29 (Special)—The return game between Madoc and Bancroft was played on Madoc Arena on Friday evening with a fair crowd of spectators, but rather soft ice. R. Wood of Madoc, referee.

The going was slow, and speed with the puck was impossible. Both teams showed endurance and few penalties were incurred. Madoc drew two, and Bancroft one.

No goal was scored during the first period, though many attempts were made, only alertness on the part of the goalies prevented a large score for each team.

During the second period, Nickle scored on a pass from Akey after several threats on Bancroft's goal, securing the one and only counter of the evening.

The final period was faster with many long shots and several attempts to score by the visitors.

Final count 1-0 for Madoc.

Referee—K. Hoid, Madoc.

Line-up—

Bancroft — Joynt, goal; Harold Watson, r. defence; M. Maghee, l. defence; Walters, centre; A. Warren, l. wing; Hartley, r. wing. Subs, R. Reid, R. Marshall, J. Fraser.

Madoc — W. Hulin, goal; L. Blue, r. defence; K. Weston, l. defence; Wood, centre; J. Watson, l. wing; Mc. Nickle, r. wing. Subs, S. Armstrong, F. Akey, C. Nickle, R. Whytock.

The Bancroft boys were entertained by the local club at Blue's Hotel where they spent the night, lunch after the game being served to both teams.

Hematite Wildcats met the Ivanhoe Rovers on Ontario Arena on Madoc Arena on Thursday night. It was the usual "free for all" until P. McGuire made a blue rush and scored the first goal. Second goal was scored by Ivanhoe Rovers on a pass from McQuigge. 2-0 for Hematite was score at end of first period.

The goal tenders were kept busy and many sensational saves were made, one goal was scored for Ivanhoe, making it 2-1.

In third period, Holland scored for Hematite and Ivanhoe scored two counters making a total score 3-1. Both teams played well.

Ivanhoe Rovers — K. Haggerty, goal; N. Henderson and Vandale, son, defence; O. Gibson, centre; J. Gibson and Reid, wings; Subs, R. Haggerty and Blakely.

Hematite Wild Cats — C. Kellar, goal; A. McQuigge and H. McQuigge, defence; B. Latondresse, centre; J. Holland and H. McQuigge, wings. Subs, B. Martin and J. O. Riordan. Referee—Vaughan Jack of Madoc.

LEAGUE LEADERS

—Canadian Division—

Team—Montreal Canadiens, won 19, lost 14, tied 8, points 44.

Points—Goals and assists—Jackson, Toronto, 23 goals, 19 assists, 42.

Goals—O. Conacher, Toronto, 23.

Assists—Primeau, Toronto, 31.

Penalties—Dutton, Detroit, 82 minutes.

Shutouts—Hainsworth, Canadians, and Worters, Americans, 5 each.

—American League—

Team—New York, won 20, lost 12, tied 7, points 47.

Points, goals and assists—Bill Cook Rangers, 26 goals, 9 assists, 35.

Goals—Bill Cook, Rangers, 26.

Assists—Boucher, Rangers, and Clapper Boston, 17 each.

Penalties—Johnson, Rangers, 64 minutes.

REXALL FEBRUARY BIRTHDAY SALE

35c Rexall Shaving Cream and 35c bottle Rexall Shaving Lotion Both For

50c

McKeown's DRUG STORE

ARENA
MONDAY
2.30—5.00—
Public Skating
7.30 P.M. SHARP
Napanee vs.
Cities Service
Frankford vs. Picton
Admission 25c
Ladies with Escort Free

25% OFF
ALL OVERCOATS
at
CHAS. J. SYMONS
Men's Store 206 Front St.

KI-Y JUVENILES WIN AT NAPANEE

Hold One Goal Margin For Their Return Game

On a rather soft sheet of ice the Belleville Ki-Y juveniles defeated the Napanee juveniles by the score of 1 to 0 in Napanee on Saturday afternoon. The local juveniles now entertain a one goal lead to take into the return game, which will be played here Tuesday evening at the Arena. If the Ki-Y juveniles win this round they will be presented with the Spalding trophy emblematic of the juvenile championship of Eastern Ontario.

When the local juveniles arrived at Napanee on Saturday morning they were met and welcomed by Chief of Police Edward Wallis, who also is manager and coach of the Napanee juveniles. Mr. Richards of Kingston was present in his official capacity as supervisor of all juvenile hockey in Eastern Ontario. A fairly good crowd of interested spectators witnessed the game but it left the rink with a feeling, that the future of hockey is being very well taken care off by the sponsors of these juvenile teams.

Cliff" Howie Here

"Cliff" Howie was the hero of the game when he bagged the only counter of the tilt late in the second frame. The game was of the close checking nature with plenty of stickiness of the soft ice, which prevailed. "Cec" Sinfield, in the nets for Belleville, turned in his usual steady game, while the defence of Gid Wood and Art Fayres were called upon to rise to bright time after time to stave off certain defeat. The forward line of George (High) Hall, centre, "Cec" and "Cliff" Howie were working like a well oiled machine. The second line of Len. Hammett and Harvey Burr were used quite often and made the opposing forwards look very ordinary, at times.

Art Fayres, Earl Richardson, on the defence, was the outstanding player of the game. This lad is one of the finest juvenile players seen in this section of the province and he will bear watching in the return game on Tuesday evening. Barrager, Murphy and Hearn all played excellent hockey for the home team but they just could not seem to beat Sinfield for the lone goal. The inability to shoot seems to be prevalent among all juvenile hockey players. Whether it is their youthfulness or lack of experience is a question but outside of this fact these teams play a high class brand of hockey. The game was rather clean and Referee Freddie Bentley had an easy time of it.

The Play

Play opened with both teams showing signs of cautiousness and neither forward line seemed to be anxious to try and penetrate the opposition's defence. Considerable combination was shown by both teams, but due to the soft ice it was practically impossible to pass the puck. No score was in evidence the first period. Play in the second saw the local juveniles willing to carry the play into the enemies territory with the result, that Curry was called upon to make some brilliant saves. Barrage was benched for tripping and while the "home-steders" were short handed Coach Joe Shortt sent four men on the offensive and the result was that Howie whipped home the only counter of the game, when he beat Curry from close in. When Savage returned to the play the Napanee combination had a series of individual rushes, which were telling on the locals but the period ended with Napanee pressing. The score remained Belleville 1, Napanee 0 at the end of the 2nd frame.

One goal does not Napanee boys opened the third period on the offensive and gave all that they had to try and even up the count. Coach Fedje, Watts used five forwards, at times to try to tie the score. Only the excellent work of Sinfield kept the "home team" from the score sheet in this frame as the net minder was hard put with goals as far as Sinfield was concerned. Sinfield must have thought that it was raining rubber at times, but the lad kept a cool head and the game ended 1 to 0 for Belleville Ki-Y juveniles. The transportation for the local boys was supplied very generously, by Messrs. J. Shortt, Steve Lucente and Jimmie Alexander.

Although the lads carry a one goal margin into the return game which is to be played at the local arena next Tuesday night, they will need that goal and plenty more before they win from the Napanee juveniles.

The line-ups were:

Belleville Ki-Y — goal Sinfield; defence, White, Fayres; centre, High; wings, Howie and Tobe. — Subs, Hammett, Harrer and Lee.

Napanee — goal Curry; defence, Richardson and Savage; centre, Barrager; wings, Leary and Murphy. Subs, Hearn, Davidson, Byrne and Millsap. Fred Bentley of Napanee was referee.

Summary—1st period—

No score.

Penalties—Fayres and Barrager.

2nd period—

Belleville—Howie 17.00

Penalties—Savage and Hearn.

3rd period—

No score and no penalties.

The first sailing vessel built in the Maritimes was launched in 1606 at Port Royal now Annapolis Royal.

SPORTS

By JIMMY THOMPSON

HOW THIS BOY LIKES HIS HOCKEY!

"The age old maxim"—, bear for punishment" fits no one as it does Freddy Robertson, erstwhile Marlboro defence star who is now carving behind the blue line for the Toronto Maple Leafs. This year Freddy started out to play "big-time" hockey with the Marlboro club—aligned to a farm for Toronto prospects, and that job alone is worth something. But Freddy didn't stop there. He was given a job with big store and played hockey for them in a mercantile league which played as often as did his team in the senior O.H.A. Add to this the fact that Freddy, despite the fact that he didn't have to, always managed to get down to work on time and put in a full day at the office, while the other boys on the team slept in after a game. Then when the Marlboro team was eliminated from the Allan Cup play-offs, Freddy turned right around and signed a contract with the Toronto Maple Leafs and started right in to play in really big time stuff. Unfortunately, the Leafs lost the final game he played in, although that was no fault of Fred's. Like Chuck Gardiner of Chicago, Fred is a "n'Englishman" born in Carlyle, England. He came to Canada at the age of three. An unusual feature about his hockey career is that he is one of the few Canadian players who didn't start right at the bottom in bantam or midget leagues. The first team he ever played with was a Toronto juvenile team. Description tips the scales at 191 pounds without skates or gloves. He'll be a tough one to pass.

KI-Y LEAGUE

In a scheduled Ki-Y league game the Red Wings defeated the Holy Name Society juveniles by the score of 2 to 0 on Saturday afternoon. By virtue of their win the Red Wings kept up in the running of their loop. The game was very closely contested throughout and Referee High kept the players in tow all during the sixty minutes of play. The Red Wings are now within striking distance of the league leading Bullidogs and a merry battle is expected to be staged in the final few games left in the schedule. The line-ups for Saturday's game were:

Holy Name Society—Boyle, Fred Lee, Hughes, Frank Lee, Barrett, Meagher, O'neil, Langton and Doyle.

Red Wings—Empson, Collins, Mattis, Fisher, Schrieder, Green and Thompson.

Referee—George High.

Current Sport

By The Observer

Tonight sees the opening of the newly constituted Belleville and District Hockey League. The idea or project is not entirely new in Eastern Ontario, other places have pre-season leagues, but never have we heard of a district pool-season loop. Often we have heard of an elimination series being staged at the end of the O.H.A. playing season, but as a rule, sport promoters are a little shy in trying to put over these post-season loops. The promoters of the Belleville and District League have opened their or no expense up time that a good brand of hockey may be witnessed by the fans of this district during the next three weeks. Tonight's double-header will tell the tale, and the future of the loop depends on the attendance this evening.

* * *

Both games tonight are perfect naturals. The curtain-raiser of Napanee vs. the local Cities' Service team promises to be a bit-bit of hockey. The night-cap game between Picton and Frankford will see plenty of action as both teams are strengthened by the inclusion of the ills. Picton have garnered the best players in Prince Edward County and the fact that they were while Frankford have combed as close as possible the surrounding country for players to make up the team. They have players from Trenton to Stirling on their roster.

* * *

Two games of "two bits" is not too bad, to say the least. Then to round off the night will be the most interesting ladies are to be admitted free. The fact that all the "boy friends" will be dragged to the local arena tonight for the first time should be no bear. It will be a cheap evening's entertainment for the fair sex to take their lady friends to.

* * *

It was deplorable to see the small attendance on Friday night at speed tests at the arena. Just why the younger generation do not take to fee hockey is a mystery. We have seen to delight in racing around the ice surface on cold nights thus making things uncomfortable for the older fans, who have come to enjoy skating to the band music. Why the youngsters will not take advantage of the skating into a honest-to-goodness race is beyond our knowledge. Perhaps there is not enough promoting of speed tests on the ice in this district to interest the younger element of skaters in.

* * *

The Belleville Collegiate Junior basketball team are a team of "cagers" that any town or city should be proud of. These kids have been practising faithfully all season and have whipped themselves into almost perfect condition. They play an excellent brand of shortpassing and defensive basketball while on the floor. In the near future we will be able to represent Belleville Collegiate in the provincial finals which are to be played in Toronto in the near future. We are not out to spoil the fun but will hold the honor of Belleville High at these play downs.

* * *

Coach Farley Vanalstar has spent hours with his squad of juniors and feels that they are ready to win a provincial title. Finances are the main difficulties for the kids to overcome. Coach Vanalstar asked on Saturday that the B. C. I. junior basketball team be given the best team of "cagers" for their age ever to represent the local institute. The kids are quite anxious to make the trip to Toronto, for the final series, as they feel that this is Belleville's year as far as basketball goes. Here's hoping that they are able to make the trip.

* * *

Although we are not "counting our chickens before they are hatched", we are of the opinion that Belleville is to have one championship team to boast of for 1932. We refer to the Ki-Y juveniles who won the Napanee Saturday afternoon. If the local kids can "take" the Napanee juveniles, or even hold them to a tie, here tomorrow night they will have annexed the juvenile championship of Eastern Ontario and will receive the Spalding Trophy for their efforts this winter.

* * *

These kids play a smart brand of hockey and it is to be hoped that a fair turn-out of fans will greet them tomorrow night when they play the second game of the finals at the arena. The puck will be faced at 8 p.m. There is no charge for these juvenile games as the kids "dig down" into their pockets or maybe dad has to pay the shot, and hire the rink these festives. That is amateurism in all its glory.

Mr. Frank Fidler B.A. Addresses School

Mr. Frank Fidler, B.A., of Victoria College, Toronto, who was a guest of Rev. Dr. Bell and Mrs. Bell over the week end, addressed the members of Bridge Street Sunday School yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Fidler was secretary, at one time, of the Boys' Work Board of Manitoba, and was a delegate to the Y.M.C.A. World's Convention some time ago at Helsingfors, Finland. It was upon this trip to this convention that Mr. Fidler addressed the Sunday school and his address was most interesting and informative.

NOTICE TO MOTORISTS

NIGHT DRIVING NOW MADE SAFE BY THE USE OF STOP-GLARE REFLECTORS. These Reflectors can be attached to the light bulbs in the head lamps of your car. They greatly increase your driving vision, spreading the light from fence to fence, making it impossible for you to miss the many things along the highway.

It is a wonderful invention and makes night driving a pleasure.

They are sold at a low price.

They are guaranteed for the life of your car.

Undoubtedly, every automobile, truck and bus will be equipped with STOP-GLARE REFLECTORS, as soon as they can get them. This is not a painted light bulb.

Write us at once for prices, full particulars and exclusive selling rights.

STOP-GLARE REFLECTORS. LTD.
624-628 Lister Bldg., Hamilton, Ont.

EIGHT TEAMS RACE TO WIRE

Harvey Jackson Now Four Points Out in Front in Scoring

Toronto, Feb. 29 (CP)—Eight of the most evenly matched clubs in the history of professional hockey are today racing down the stretch for a berth in the National Hockey League play-off series. With no club definitely out of the running, the final weeks of the campaign are expected to furnish many thrilling contests before one club in each division is eliminated.

The only today stand behind Harvey Jackson, sensational young left winger of Toronto Maple Leafs and the pumping pack in the National League scoring records. Picking up three points in the Chicago game Saturday, Jackson pulled four points ahead of R. "Bingo" Stuart, crack centre of Montreal Maroons, who is out of the line-up at present with a fractured hand.

Only the marvelous work of Charlie Gardiner, guarding the twine for Chicago, kept the Toronto Maple Leafs from running up a record score against the Black Hawks. Lesi Peters continued his scoring streak, the weakened Hawk defence but the curly headed Winnipeger turned back the majority of their efforts with sparkling saves.

Toronto were weakened for the game as Joe Primeau and Harold Cotton were both out of the line-up, the former through sickness while the latter was under a game's suspension having incurred three major penalties this season.

FIVE YARDS NOW ON CATCH

Backfield Players Will Now Have More Protection

Toronto, Feb. 29.—Five yards will be allowed on a catch, instead of three as hitherto, the rules commission of the Canadian Rugby Union decided at its annual session here Saturday. Another motion, which was approved by the commission, provides that in future defending with an unarmed stand at least three feet back of the ball until it is put into play. Other suggested amendments to existing rules were defeated.

The forward pass, introduced to Canadian rugby for the first time last fall, was the subject of discussion at the meeting. Wilson D. Mc Cann, of the rules commission, suggested only short passes be permitted a team in each game. Along with an amendment, providing that the ball be dead when a forward pass is completed. This question was scrapped.

Peace Offer Rumors By Japs Stir People Demands Not Known

Shanghai, Feb. 29 — At 7.30 this morning rumors flew thru' Shanghai that Japanese diplomats were ready to negotiate peace and make concessions under their original ultimatum to the Chinese. Official confirmation was lacking.

—The Passing Show, London.

THE SHOPPING TOUR OF Rambhai Barni

Her name is Rambhai Barni, and her husband is the only absolute monarch left in the world. She has more jewels than the sky has stars, and nothing is unattainable to her if money will buy it.

But even Rambhai Barni can't find in Siam all the luxuries that her feminine heart delights in. And when she came to this Country last spring she had the pleasure of a real Canadian shopping trip. . . from which she returned with seventy-eight pairs of Canadian silk stockings and fifty-five pairs of Canadian kid gloves.

How much more fortunate the Canadian woman is! She doesn't have to buy a year's supply of stockings. . . or of anything else. . . all at once. She buys only as she needs or wishes, confident that the best the entire world can produce is offered for her choice today, tomorrow, or next month.

And advertising is her buying guide. Through advertising she learns what is new, smart, fashionable. Through advertising she discovers where her money can be spent most advantageously. Advertising is a real and useful influence in her life. THERE'S SOMETHING IN THE ADVERTISEMENTS TODAY TO INTEREST YOU. READ THEM.

Miller's WORM POWDERS

Children like Miller's Worm Powders because they are sweet and pleasant to take. They get rid of worms quickly and cleanse even the most delicate system quickly and thoroughly but without any danger and are free from all narcotics.

MORTENSON & LYMAN CO., LIMITED, TORONTO, CANADA

Women's Interests in the Home

Beauty..... BY HELEN JAMIESON

Throttled by Fate

By Lotta Adele Gannett

Brand boasted that he was a self-made man. He was, but he must have run out of material when he reached the top—he was a second-rate man. He had no sense of balance! Used to taking what he wanted when and where he met it, he grew berserk when opposed; insanely jealous of his little wife; yet how long her she was like a boiling badness in his veins, he was ripe for the gods.

Nina was "going with" Mel Brand when Brand came to their village. Brand saw her and knew that she was the only woman he had ever had wanted, or would want. Ruthlessly, forcefully, he went after her. Nina was timid, shy, and so the big dominant man carried her off her feet and, before she knew what had happened, the man "who got everything" and had taken her from the boy who had nothing else but his brains and his books, Preston Hale more than anything on earth, she married Brand.

Mel went off before the wedding with a party of explorers and, from time to time, wrote some back to the village of the important finds the party had made. Later, Young's name was mentioned prominently in the news and at each item, Brand would fly into a towering rage. He gave Nina presents he never had a word with the man he had supplanted and Nina, for the life of her, couldn't see he had his wife, her loyalty and subjection—there was a closer word for it—but there was that he could never enter. Nina knew that Brand's life had been a failure before he had married her, that in marriage, if he hadn't dropped from her sight entirely, he was merely going about with Brand, that marriage would never have changed Brand, that, in reality, her eyes, divined her feeling almost instantly.

Then, one morning at breakfast, Brand burned with a special kind of flag—had returned. He smashed his fist through the printed word that blazoned from the world: "Melville H. Young, noted explorer, has arrived in London on his way to the world many undreamed of and valuable finds." Brand tossed up from her grape fruit, and at the glaring headline, now slashed, the blood drained from Nina's face, turned and caught a queer look in her eyes.

"Never see or speak to that—skunk—as long as I live," Brand thundered and Nina tiny, timid, said no word in reply, but for the first time in her life, she gave him back glance for glance. In her misery, Nina could not, would not read something that fired his very soul.

"If you ever do," he gritted, "by God, I'll kill you both!" and Nina smiled, quietly, wearily, left him in the room. Brand was like a man taken by the throat, the first time in his life, he feared something he could not grab and wring. It was not a mere attachment that Nina fainted for no reason whatever, but a love that possessed him, and just slipped into unconsciousness. Brand, frightened, had called doctors, nurses. The doctors examined and prescribed. Nina for just a little weaker each day.

"Do something, do something! Brand would shout, "you're killing out of my very hands."

Then the doctors said, "hot-pilot—blood transfusion," the last was all Brand heard and his answer was instantaneous.

"Take it," then quickly, "Cling her to life, give her plasma if—all, if she needs it."

Then the doctors at the hospital made the tests and shook their heads; his blood wouldn't do for Nina. Through the fabulous amounts and donors by the dozen were examined, tested, but none would do. And Nina was edging ever so quietly, quietly, toward something that other shore.

Then one day Doctor Gordon said he had found the perfect blood. The transfusion was made that night. Brand was like a madman. He covered Nina with kisses, fondled her. He vowed he would hold her; nothing—nothing could stop him, nothing could take her from him. Everything calm and, unable to wait, he rushed out. Maybe it was done; they said the patient rallied at first, but Brand never knew it.

A short distance from the hospital gates, he almost bumped into a man. He looked up. It was Young—he—they had been corresponding, maybe meeting. Instantly he was raving. Young was saying:

"You are going to my wife?" Brand shouted. Young nodded. "And I say you shan't—you shan't!" Brand grilled.

"Oh, yes," Young said quietly and on the word Brand leaped. His great hands grasped the smaller man's throat, and gripped hard! Grimly he held, then thrust the limp form from him, not even noting that it fell in the street, or that the street was empty save for the two of them.

He gave no thought to consequences. He was in a wild orgy of rejoicing at a good deed well done. He couldn't see Nina like this. He must be quiet. Excitement might harm her; just over her ordeal. He walked for hours seeing nothing—no one; looking at everything—everyone. Weary, but quiet, he returned to the hospital. He must be careful, enter quietly. His manner must be soothing, gentle. He tuned his eyes and lips to a smile.

Doctor Gordon stepped out as Brand neared his door. "Good Brand" he said, "Will you step in here?"

"By just a moment," Brand said, "I must hurry to Mrs. Brand, my wife." Then he paused, understandingly. "I know, I'm tired to death, you're tired, too, I'll make it short."

"I know. Will you step in here?" Brand's lips did a very devil's dance with his teeth.

"She is—dead!"

Gordon said, "the transfusion—that—saved her?"

Doctor Gordon shook his head, bowed gently on those broad quivering shoulders and said, "I'm sorry, Brand, but it didn't save her; but the donor was killed by an automobile just outside the gates as he was coming to give her his blood."

"Was—was—suicide—the gates? His name? Man! God! His name? Was it Young? Was it—Melville H. Young?"

Brand's huge body sunk to a chair. He held out his great hands and looked at them. "Together, together at last!" he whispered. "And now the hands that opened the door!"

Then he shrieked, and shrieked in mad laughter.

THE END

WHAT NEXT?

Probably the most distressing thing about children, to people who have not had any, is the way that children are never stable.

Especially the manner and the accompanying them on their mental development is to refuse everything I try to keep them thinking about one thing as long as you or I have to be in the interests of frustration and annoyed.

Children's interests have shorter duration than ours. And more importantly, their interests are new experiences, new sights, new games, new occupations. Why, I'm told, it is not much by this state of affairs we betray our stagnation that we prefer old things to new, old age—not chronologically perhaps—but mentally, always.

A mother who refuses her husband's invitation to the theatre, for instance, because she likes the old associations, the familiar scenes and the familiar music, many times, when her young son has invitation to "Wild West" movies. And she has not any copyright on this expression. I've heard it from the lips of a lot of mothers.

The young pirate of today is very likely to be a cowboy or aviator tomorrow. The young miss, mothering her doll this morning, will utterly forget her small charges tomorrow in the lovely possibilities of crayons and queer looking daubs of color. It isn't that she won't be interested in children when she grows up. It is merely that she has found a new field, and is totally absorbed in a new interest.

Why, I'm told, that from two to one long with the same thoughts is what is wrong with a lot of us, and we have a valuable lesson from children by broadening our interests. Unless each day we are entirely foreign to our work or usual interests.

Spare your child the shocked: "What next?" with which we greet the new. What next! It's a good sign when Sonny surprises you with his wide range of ideas and fads and his joyous welcoming of strange new games and accounts of his child-life.

A railway 328 miles long and connecting Bangkok with Singapore has been completed in the Federated Malay States and runs for many miles through uninhabited jungle.

Personals

At the home of Mr. Albert Baldwin, Tecumseh street the Misses Baldwin are confined to their home and Mrs. Baldwin and George also are indisposed through the prevalent epidemic of 'flu.

Mrs. (Rev.) A. L. Geen is ill at her home, Moody Cottage, West Bridge street, also confined to their home through the prevalent epidemic, visiting Belleville, are Mrs. (Major) Ernest Geen and daughter, Phyllis.

Mr. Reginald Geen of Oshawa, was yesterday called to the bedside of his mother, Mrs. A. L. Geen, owing to her illness, and will be a visitor in the city, till Mrs. Geen's condition improves.

Messrs. Cedric and Barnet Smith of Toronto University, were home for the week end.

Miss Evelyn Whalen, Toronto, is visiting at her home on Coleman St.

Rev. E. C. B. Radcliffe, B.C.L., Rural Dean of Lennox and Addington and rector of St. Mark's Church, Desoronto, conducted evensong and preached the sermon at St. Thomas' Church yesterday and Rev. A. Beauchamp Payne, vicar of St. Thomas' Church, conducted evensong and preached in St. Mark's Church, Desoronto.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Doran and family and Miss Stella Ford spent Sunday afternoon in Kingston, visiting Miss Stella Doran at Provincial.

Mr. Morley Luffman, Toronto, is spending a few days at his home Dundas street, before leaving for a month's vacation in Vancouver.

Mrs. R. H. Silver and daughter, Doreen, have returned to their home Dundas street, after visiting relatives in Pembroke, where Mrs. Silver's mother is seriously ill.

Miss Hilda Savage, Toronto, spent the week end with her mother, 189 Wellington street.

Mr. F. H. Henry is in Toronto, this week attending meetings that are engaging his attention.

Mrs. W. Norris and daughter, Gloria, Ann street, spent the week end at their home in Picton.

Mr. C. B. Colling, who is a student at the College of Pharmacy, Toronto University, spent the week end at his home in the city.

Mr. W. H. Walker, who has been manager of the branch of the Bank of Montreal at Kirkwood, has been transferred to Belleville and will arrive in the city shortly to take up his duties here.

Mrs. Peter Cote has been called to Odessa, owing to the death of Mrs. Cote's father, Mr. Wm. Lawler. The late Mr. Lawler is an uncle of Mr. Maurice Lawler.

Mrs. Ray Grant of Toronto, spent the week end with her sister, Mrs. Bob Miles.

Mrs. O. F. Fortune, Trenton, spent the week end in the city the guest of Mrs. J. F. Dolan, Victoria avenue.

Mrs. James R. Reid, 25 Chatham street, entertained at a delightfully arranged bridge party on Saturday afternoon in honor of Mrs. G. Boyd, Worthy Grand Matron of the Grand Chapter of Ontario, Order of the Eastern Star, and Past Matrons of Belleville Chapter, No. 84. Red and white were used for the prizes for rubbers were won by Mrs. Darrah, first, and Mrs. George Cornish, second.

The officers and members of the Young Women's Auxiliary of Bridge street Church motored to Belleville on Friday and were the guests of Mrs. Ben Thompson at Hall, who have lately taken up residence in the city. Following the regular meeting, the hostess served refreshments.

Mrs. Jason S. Tice, mother of Mayor Gordon Tice, celebrated her eighteth birthday quietly at her home, 200 Bridge street, yesterday. Mrs. Tice, who is enjoying splendid health, was born at Point Hall, who have lately taken up residence in the city. Following the regular meeting, the hostess served refreshments.

Weddings

REID—MILLER

A marriage was quietly solemnized at the residence of the officiating clergyman, Rev. MacTavish on Saturday afternoon, when Miss Mary Agnes Miller, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Miller of Madoc township became the wife of Mr. Oran Allen Reid, one of the progressive young farmers of Thurlow township. Mr. J. A. Miller, brother of the bride supported the groom while Miss Hilda Reid, sister of the groom, performed a similar service for the bride. The happy couple left for a motor trip to Perth and after a brief honeymoon will take up residence in Madoc township.

HONOR FOR CANADIAN

Ottawa, Feb. 29—Hon. Gideon Robertson, former Minister of Labor, will be nominated for the Presidency which meets next month at Geneva, it was learned today. Senator Robertson is leaving Canada on March 19 for Geneva. The other Canadian delegates are Tom Moore, president of the Trades and Labor Congress, and W. A. Riddell,

SPECIAL OFFER to HOUSEWIVES

equip your kitchens with Oniwon PAPER TOWELS

more sanitary... more economical more convenient

This Beautiful CABINET AND 3 refills (375 TOWELS) $1.75 value for 98¢

ASK ABOUT THIS INTRODUCTORY OFFER OR PLACE YOUR ORDER WITH OUR REPRESENTATIVE WHO WILL CALL.

the E.B.EDDY COMPANY, LIMITED

HULL, QUE.

Kingston Branch

MAKERS OF A WIDE RANGE OF HIGH QUALITY PAPERS FOR COMMERCIAL PROFESSIONAL & DOMESTIC PURPOSES

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

Chatterer Thinks Fast

By Thornton W. Burgess

To long survive he is best fitted
Who proves himself the quickest witted.
—Old Mother Nature.

Chatterer the Red Squirrel is, as you know, a small person. He is the smallest of that branch of the squirrel family known as Tree Squirrels because they make their homes in and spend much of their time in trees. But he makes up for his small size by his quick wit. Were it not so he would have been caught by one of his hungry enemies long ago. He is very quick, quick and moves quickly, as those who have tried to catch him well know. He is smart, and he knows it. Perhaps he knows it a little too well, his confidence in his own smartness has made him the saucy little rascal that he is. There is no more impudent little person in all the Green Forest.

Now as Chatterer, all airesible from his narrow escape from great claws that had all but seized him, crouched in the safety of an opening under the roots of the old stonewall, he was thinking fast.

"Now, who could that have been?" thought he. "All I saw were those big feet and claws. No one but members of the Hawk family have feet like those excepting Owls, and they of not hunt by day. Yet I didn't hear the sound of wings and that is queer. I didn't hear anything. If I hadn't turned my head when I did I wouldn't have been and I wouldn't have known who caught me. I ought to find out who it was, so as to know who to watch out for. The sooner I find out the better."

So very, very cautiously Chatterer crept to a point where he could peep out, yet be safe. At first he saw no one. Then, with just the faintest sound of exercise, he discovered sitting motionless on a big stump of the old dead tree where the opening through which he had dived to safety. A big creature wholly new to any one he ever had been in all his life.

"What a face," thought Chatterer. "What a face! I didn't suppose there were such faces in all the Great World. If it were round I would say that a fellow's head is big, but it is long rather than round. And what long legs! The legs of Hooty the Owl are hidden by long feathers when they are, but this thing has only short short feathers that they look almost bare. And what big feet and long sharp claws!" Chatterer shivered as he thought of how narrow an escape from those claws he had had.

"He does look like a Hawk, He"— Chatterer didn't finish. That stranger had heard him. He it was had turned it until he was looking straight behind him and had looked back at him. He it was who bowed. "An Owl!" gasped Chatterer. "No one but an Owl can turn his head way around like that!"

Just then Mooley Owl, for that was the name it was, Monkey-face the Barn Owl spread his big wings and without a sound flew away in the direction of Farmer Brown's barn. Chatterer then promptly came out and sat up to watch him. All the time he was doing some fast thinking.

"As sure as I am alive, that is an Owl," thought he.

"As sure as I am alive, that is an Owl!" thought he, "a newcomer to the Green Forest. But what is he doing out in the middle of the day? That is what I want to know. Hooty the Owl and Screech Owl hunts by day sometimes. In the darker parts of the Green Forest, especially when he has a family to feed, but never before have I had to watch for an Owl over here near Farmer Brown's. That fellow must be half starved or—I know! He has a nest and young. That is why he is hunting in the daytime. It is dark and gloomy today and he is out hunting. And he must have a mate. Probably she is out hunting too. With those Owls hunting in the daytime it is going to be exciting around here. I guess I will get back to the Green Forest and stay there unless the sun is shining. I don't believe they will hunt on a bright day. My, but I am lucky I saw that fellow when I did!"

Chatterer waited no time in getting back to the Green Forest.

(Copyright, 1932, T. W. Burgess)

Next story: "Chatterer Finds His New Side."

Correct Manners

IN THE RESTAURANT

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:—

Will you please tell me what is a suitable way for a girl to thank a waiter for any service when she is eating in a restaurant with her escort?

—Since a gentleman rises when a lady enters the room, what is the proper way for her to tell him to be seated again after she greetings are over?

—When eating in a restaurant with an escort, who gives the order to the waiter, the man or the woman?

A.W.

1—Yes. The well-bred person does not ever hesitate to thank anyone for any service rendered courtesy. And this is true of thanking the waiter for the service or anything in a restaurant, or when he serves us successfully. There is no reason for being niggardly with our thank-yous . . . they are much charming accents.

2—If there is a chair next to you, it is proper to say, "Won't you sit down and talk with me?"

Red Nose? Try the Salt Glow

When a nose is incorrigible, when it gets blotchy and stays blotchy in a perfectly shameless manner it should be taken post-hurry to a medical man who specialises in skin diseases. He will diffuse probably that the trouble results from a diet that is too rich with fats and too stimulated with condiments, and that the poor nose is the victim of an insulted digestion.

When the nose reddens at times, pales at others and the owner of the nose complains of cold feet and sleepy under any number of blankets, there is a possibility of home treatment that will bring glorious and satisfying results. Because the root of the trouble is impaired circulation. Circulation has everything to do with looks; the blood is the grocery supply for complexion, hair and finger nails as well as for every other cell of the body. Girls whose blood streams don't gallop wear a pinched, drawn look. No need of that.

The salt glow, which awakens the network of capillaries that reside just under the skin, is a refreshing practice. Keep a container of salt in the bathroom. Pour a cupful of salt into a bowl, moisten slightly with water. Stand in the bath tub and, with the salt pack, scour the body surface. The crystals have a way of exhilarating, toning and cleansing tissues. Turn on the tepid spray, chilling gradually. Finish with a rub-down.

If a five minute session with setting up exercises proceeds the salting, so much the better. Lungs will be washed free of stale air, and the sluggishness of cool first waking moments will disappear. How she starts the day is something to think about. It has to do with how one faces the day's difficulties and what day dreams she makes up!

Local treatment for the ruddy beak consists of the application each morning after one's bath of a thin ointment of zinc oxide, a healing cream which can be bought at the corner drug shop for a very small sum of money. Put it on at night and if you don't like how you look slap over it a bit of absorbent cotton.

Face bathing must be done with promptness and one rule is evident: the nose is a blooming fuchsia shade —do use water that's neither too hot nor cold. A light powder is more acceptable to a color-stick less than one that is heavy and oily.

Malnutrition, which slacks up circulation, takes its toll of nose beauty by tinting it a certain way. It should say then that a glass of milk and cream, half and half, topping off each meal is a slick means of getting the best of the criticisms.

Keeping the feet warm is sometimes that every girl should do; it is something that practically no girl does. Light shoes in bad weather are not only a menace to the health, but they look silly. Walking shoes with a plentiful allowance for what the doctor orders. Chilfon stocking are useless. Leave the door near when the thermometer is likely to fall down cellar and start there. Wear them at the peril of collecting goose's flesh on little legs and serve you right if you get them.

3—The woman tells her escort her order, and he, her host, relays both orders to the waiter. If the woman's order differs from his, he mentions her order first, as he gives both orders to the waiter.

TIPS ON KNIFE AND FORK

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

1—When using the fork in the left hand do you rest the fork on the plate on the left side when it is not in use?

2—When you are finished eating, do you rest both knife and fork at the top of the plate from the right or the knife from the right and the fork from the left?

3—Do you think that the form of address in writing to an important person, "Mrs. Brown, this is Miss Black" is correct, or should we say, "Mrs. Brown, may I present Miss Black"

Clementine

1—Yes.

2—When we have finished the course, we rest the knife and fork together on the plate, in the center part of the plate . . . never with the tines of the fork or the tip of the knife-blade on the rim of the plate. For when we do allow the tines of the fork or the tip of the knife to rest on the rim of the plate, we increase the possibility of having the knife and fork pushed from the plate when the plate is taken from the table, or of having them fall. The handles of both the knife and fork should be rested a bit to the right, for this too makes for their safety.

We should pay special attention to this matter of resting the knife and fork after eating, for it happens to be one of those things that show up our table manners as definitely bulged.

3—That form is correct under certain circumstances. The first form of introduction, "Mrs. Brown, this is Miss Black", is quite all right to use for an informal introduction. An introduction that obviously we wish to make casual. The form of introduction that is an introduction of an intimate type, the form used in family introductions and in other informal introductions.

The form, Mrs. Brown, may I present Miss Black would be an excellent form to use when we wish to make the introduction a very important one, for instance when Mrs. Brown is a woman much older than Miss Black, or is a woman of special distinction. This would, for instance, be the perfect form to use if we were presenting a debutante (Miss Black) to Mrs. Brown.

We show ourselves as an especially accustomed and knowing person if we pay special attention to the nuisances of introduction-forms, choosing the one appropriate to the occasion at hand.

Added to these forms that you mention is the one in which it seems appropriate to mention the name of the women whom we are introducing to each other. This is the usual form, for instance, of course: "Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Black".

OFFER SERVICES

Detroit, Feb. 29—Five Detroit aviators and one airplane mechanics, some of them with war experience offered their services to Ethiopia on Sunday at a mass meeting of the Detroit Chinese Patriotic League.

George Murphy, a pilot, and brother of Charles Murphy, originated the fliers and acted as spokesman at last night's meeting. He said he and his fellow pilots "highly resent the attack being made on Chinese women and children" accompanied by "savagery and abuse" and that "slaying of women is the Chinese women and children".

SNOW IN SUNNY ITALY

Naples, Italy, Feb. 29—About fifty persons, mostly aged people, were removed to hospitals yesterday after slipping in a four-inch snowfall, unusual for this section of Italy, and for forty-three years. A white blanket covered the mainland for the first time in years.

Children's Colds Checked without "dosing." Rub on Vicks VAPORUB

OVER 21 MILLION JARS USED YEARLY

QUALITY FURS STORAGE CLEANING

DELANEY

Exclusive Furrier

17 Campbell St. Belleville Phone 797

QUALITY FURS REPAIRING REMODELING

FEELING WELL AGAIN.

"I was in a weak, run-down condition and suffered from nervousness, loss of appetite," writes Mrs. R. M. Hart, of Tisdale, Sask. "I was often dizzy, weak and fainting spells, and weighed only 105 pounds. I finally decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. After taking six boxes I was completely restored to a normal condition. I also gained 25 pounds. My condition began to improve after taking the second box. I have had no recurrence of my trouble since. I strongly advise Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for anyone in the same condition as I was in."

Mrs. Roy Holland, R. R. 4, Dunnville, Ont., describes her case as follows: "Just about a year ago I was in a general run-down state of health. My appetite, nerves and irritable. Could not sleep at night, and could not lay still. My limbs would twitch, I would cry over nothing, and I had several bad spells. I was often alone with the children. I tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills again, as I had used them before with good results. The results were excellent again. I am now feeling well and strong, do my own work, and weigh more than I have for a long time."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have earned the praises of thousands of sufferers like these whose health has been restored by their aid. These Pink Pills actually create new red blood, which supplies to the nerves the very elements they need and builds up the whole system. Try them if you are run down, anaemic or rheumatic. Now obtainable in the new glass containers at your druggist's. 50c a package.

FINANCIAL NEWS

ANNUAL MEETING

Annual meeting of the Conservative Association of Belleville, will be held in their Club Rooms, 319 Front Street, Friday evening, March 4th, at 8 p.m. All Conservatives are cordially invited to attend.
M. McEWEN, R. H. Ketcheson, President. Secretary.
236 mi 1. 3.

C. P. R. SHARES TOUCH $19 1-2

Brazilian and Nickel Are Fractionally Heavier On Monday

Toronto, Feb. 29—While the general list of Toronto Stock Exchange was fairly active this morning's trading, outstanding strength in Canadian Pacific common, where the feature of the market. C.P.R. rose sharply as last week closed and later opening with a clean undertone this morning resulting the advance, reaching 19 1-2 at first gain of 1 point by mid-day. Brazilian was held unchanged but the new asked slightly to 3 3-4 while the preferred dropped below

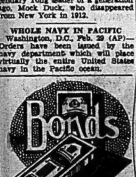
STRENGTH ON STANDARD BD.

Veranda in More Active Demand Among Mining Shares

Toronto, Feb. 29 — Interlisted stocks showed a moderately strong tendency on the Standard Stock and Mining Exchange market in the forenoon today, relieving some extreme weakness in irregularly lower action in the balance of the list. Trading was quiet from the outset and lacked featuring issues. Veranda and Standard Mining each appeared to be in better demand, former selling up 50 at 14 and the latter 25 at 59. Dome added another 20 to recent gains to sell at $1030 and Pickle Crow Gold improved 5 to $4.25. Molsivre came out at $16.65 for 25, Noranda at $15.50 for 100 and Wright Hargreaves 6 to $3.56. Eldorado met more reserved support and was up 8 at $1.43 when taken. Dominion Explorers reacted 6 points to 7. In the cheaper golds Bonetal firmed 3 cent and Macassa sold slightly lower. Home Oil was turned over at 25, off 8 from yesterday's close. Canada Bread put up a cent to 8 in unquoted investments.

POUND STERLING

Toronto, Feb. 29. (CP)—Exchange rates at noon today were as at closing:
Pound sterling in Montreal 3.92 7-8; Pound sterling in New York 3.48 3-4; Canadian dollar in New York 88 3-4.



TONG WAR IN U. S. REVIVED

Attempt Made to Assassinate President of The Hip Sing Tong

New York, Feb. 29—A Chinatown mystery as to "Mock Ark" killing was revived today.
It was the attempt to assassinate "Mock Ark" Wing, national president of the Hip Sing Tong, last night in the Tong headquarters in the heart of Newark, N.J., Chinatown. Two bullet wounds, one in the fleshy part of Mock's neck, its intended target, testers said, failing by the fraction of an inch.
Known as "Shanghai Duck" Tong men, police believe Mock Sai Wing is head either of the Kuomintang or Sandy Tong leader of a reactionary sect. Mock Duck, who disappeared from New York in 1913.

WHOLE NAVY IN PACIFIC

Washington, D.C., Feb. 29 (AP)—Orders for the entire United States navy department wherein will place virtually the whole United States navy in the Pacific ocean.

We will be taking part in all major bond issues as they come due during the next few months. Clients should telephone us for information and advice.

Jamieson Bone & Co.
Phone 1544
Belleville, Ont.

Stock Markets

Quotations at 2 p.m. furnished by Biggar and Crawford, P. H. Willis, manager:

Mines.
Acme	13½
Amulet	16½
Ajax	1.01
Barry Hollinger	4.00
Bidgood	5¼
Falconbridge	bid 75
Granada	1.00
Hollinger	4.65
Hudson's Bay	2.25
Howey	31½
Kirkland Lake	42½
Lake Shore	27.85
McIntyre	41½
Mining Corporation	1.08
Moneta	60½
Sylvanite	55
Teck Hughes	4.35
Venturex	43½
Wright Hargreaves	3.60
Dome	11.00
Moffatt Hall	4
International Nickel	4.85
Noranda	15.50
New York.
American Can	67
Auburn	58¾
American Fur. Power	7¼
Byers	31½
Bethlehem Steel	20¾
Consolidated Gas	63
Case	53½
Drug	33¾
Fox	2 15-16
General Motors	21
Chrysler	15¾
Montgomery Ward	10¾
North American	38¾
Standard Oil of N. J.	31¾
Radio Keith	5¾
Simmons	13¾
Standard Brands	13¾
Stewart Warner	9¼
Swift & Co.	17¾
Vanadium	17
Int. T. and T.	30¾
U. S. Steel	46¾
Toronto.
B. A. Oil	10¼
Imperial Oil	10¾
Standard Prontenac	8¼
International Petroleum	13
Massey Harris	3¼
Steel of Canada	31½
Canada Cement	bid 46
Wheat.
May	67⅛
July	53⅜
May Rye	48⅝

DEBATING IN TWO SCHOOLS

One Team From Each School on Opposite Sides

To conclude their programme of inter-collegiate debates, Albert College and Queen's College, Belleville, will debate in Napanee and for the first time in this district, the method of having each school debate both sides of the topic will be used. The debate has been arranged here, remains as assistant manager of the Bay.

Ice Cutting

Ice harvesting is now in full swing in different parts of Prince Edward County. A number of men have been recruited from bays open to Lake Ontario, ice is but from 9 to 12 inches thick. In the bays harbor and the inland lakes of the county, however, ice from eight to 11 inches. It seems quite unusual to cut ice from a bay in March and not a bit of snow in sight.

Mr. Reginald Bowerman has returned from Kingston where she has been visiting her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Fraser.

Mr. E. A. Pearce was in Toronto on business.

Mr. Ronald Baxter, of Queen's University, spent the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Ernest Baxter.

Mrs. A. J. H. Downing was a visitor in Toronto for a few days last week. A number of friends were guests, a happy social time being spent.

Miss Dorothy Given of the Municipal Show on Thursday and Friday nights included the following numbers: Choruses "Happy Days are Here Again" by the Girls; "Give Yourself a Pat on the Back"; "Here's to Fall in Love," by seventy Darkies; "Sailing Down the Chesapeake Bay" and Dr. A. H. Walton; solo, "Oh! Oh! Delphine," by Miss Given in costume; step dancing by Jack Verterveit; acrobatics by Stewart Brotherhood; monologue by Miss Given and Mrs. Clair Newman, Mrs. A. E. Wright and Mrs. Ernest Bailey; Mr. Jack to Old Virginny," by Ruby Taylor and Madeline Speers (Mrs. Newman and Mrs. Waugh); dance, Miss Given and Mr. V. Tone; orchestra selections; song, "I Know That You Know," by Mrs. Newman; twins in kilts and costumes; saxophone solo, Glendon Minaker; saxophone quartette, Glendon Minaker, Mrs. Jamieson, Winston Hicks and Fredrick Bailey; pianist, Mr. V. Tone.

The end men, Jesse Mason, Clifford Meadowcroft, Mrs. Jamieson, Edgar Keep, Jack Vesterveit and Clifford Bailey provided many laughs.

During intermission these end men sold programmes (the whole contained prizes and candy donated by local merchants. Several hundred programmes were sold and a nice sum realized in this way.

As all money has not yet been turned in, proceeds are not known.

Mrs. Charles Hadson is visiting her sister, Mrs. H. J. Clarke, Belleville.

Mrs. Norman Sharpe of Toronto, is a guest of her sister, Mrs. C. B. Goodwin and Dr. Goodwin.

Mrs. Davey Thompson is visiting her son, Dr. C. F. Thompson, in Toronto.

Mrs. Charles Vineall and children have returned to their home in Bloomfield after a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Cockburn at Bloomfield.

MAIN STREET POLES PASSING

One Side of Picton Street is Being Cleared By Bell Co.

Picton, Feb. 29—Main Street is changing not a few features these days. Poles are being removed from one side of the street and many of the trees have been cut down. Though citizens regret the destruction of the trees their removal is necessary.

The Bell Telephone Company is erecting thirty thousand feet of new cable, which is 60 pairs, on the south side being strung on the same poles as the Hydro wires. The Hydro poles are near the top of the poles and the new telephone cable will be about fifteen feet from the ground.

In the past the cables have been strung on both sides of the street with many poles. Now, only one set of poles is required and the others, those on the north side, are being removed.

During the summer the town council decided to widen Main St. as an unemployment relief measure and entered into an agreement with the Bell Telephone Company, but later changed their mind and did some sewer work.

Now that the poles have been removed from one side of the street, it will not be difficult a matter to widen the street. This town is quite famous for its heavy day crowds when the whole county flocks to the county town then, especially the Saturday before Christmas parked on both sides of the street. This leaves only a narrow space between two vehicles pass in between.

Practically all the telephone cable in the town is being replaced and the new cable serve about one thousand subscribers and it should give better service.

The Gas Co. are at present here, states Mr. Coons, foreman in charge of the work, will be about $25,000.

As mainly skilled labor is required at the present time the employment situation locally a great deal. But some local men have been given employment when "underground cables had to be laid." (?)

At present subscribers to the Bell Telephone Co. must go to get man of the committee and as Chas. E. Hanna was also manager of the Band, and as he was also Secretary-treasurer of the Band, therefore, Chas. E. Hanna is ready to give any statements he makes herein.

The second paragraph of the letter refers to the statement of the Secretary Treasurer of the finance committee, approved by the entire finance committee above named and by the Band executive of Mr. Aldred's statement in the third paragraph, with regard to uniforms, were selected in the presence of the committee by Mr. Aldred, Bert Sent, although I do not believe he was a member of the Band executive, as according to my knowledges of the Municipal Act, the Mayor is only a member of standing committees and not specially appointed committees such as the Band committee, these uniforms, as approved, were purchased from a local business firm, namely the Deacon Shirt Company, and the bill for same which helped also to assist in providing employment for local people.

Further with regard to the salary of Mr. Aldred, the letter was shown as paid out of this grant, but reference to the letter is another $500.00 grant. This grant was made to the Band back salary for 1931 really, making in all $1200.00 or $100.00 per month. This $500.00 grant was made before the uniform committee was appointed, and does not allow in the slightest degree of the special committee which, as stated, was appointed by the city of council's appointees.

True, the council had nothing to do with the hiring of Mr. Zeally, but this grant was approved by council before he was appointed by the uniform committee, as stated in Mr. Reid's letter, the instructions were paid for by the City, I have already explained the reason why I think while the City granted the $2000.00, one can readily see that the Band only got the money previously granted to the Regiment for uniforms, and had nothing to do with the $500.00 this would leave the receipts from the City for the year of $1500.00 together with Uniforms 480.50 making a total of $1000.00

Funny how figures can be twisted, especially in financial affairs, in conclusion I will, however, please let me say that the books of the Band are open for inspection, any time as far as I am concerned, and the Band appreciates what has been done for them.

The Citizens by petition, have requested the council to support them, and if we as Citizens, wish to listen to the pessimist instead of the optimist, well—let the Band sink.

The past Mayor never told me as manager of the Band, that he was not satisfied with the statement of Mr. Aldred, and the Band did not receive a grant from the City last year.

Many other matters referred to should be answered—but I am of the opinion that space in your valuable paper is too expensive to grant a controversy of this kind, still, however, be willing to discuss this matter or any interested Citizens at a public meeting, called for that purpose.

Yours truly,
Chas. Hanna.

Letters to The Editor

Editor of Ontario Intelligencer:

While I do not wish to enter into a controversy through the pages of your paper, I believe it only fit and proper that I should answer the letter appearing in your paper of yesterday, referring to the local Band.

While the writer's first paragraph refers to Mr. Cleveland, present manager of the band, and Mr. Dobbs present treasurer of the band, it is personally mentioned in one or more times throughout the article. I do not feel it is my too much space in your paper, but do wish to give a statement for your information.

Mr. Reid's letter. In the first place was addressed and presented to the city Council by ratepayers, requesting the appointment of the Royal Ancient Order Grand Orange Lodge of Ontario East, Belleville, to the Grand Orange Lodge of Ontario East, Belleville, to the Grand Orange Lodge of Ontario East, Belleville, to the

Tokio Restates Position to Powers in Significant Move to End Battle; Guns Shake Shanghai as Troops Land

Walled Village Falls Finally Without Struggle to Japanese

DEFENDERS DEPART

Renewed Roar of Artillery Punctuates Rumors of Peace Proposal

Tokio, Feb. 29—A Government spokesman was reluctant today to discuss moves for a truce at Shanghai, declaring that discussion was inadvisable at present.

It is enough for the public to know that sincere attempts to arrange peace are progressing at Shanghai and Geneva, he said. The atmosphere is encouraging. Present prospects for a successful agreement are fair, he added.

It was learned reliably that British Minister Lampson at Shanghai has arranged for a meeting on the British flagship there between Admiral Kichisaburo Nomaru and Yosuki Matsuoka, representing the Japanese, and the chief of staff of the 19th Chinese army and Wellington Koo, representing the Chinese. British Admiral Sir Howard Kelly will act as observer.

Proposal in League

Geneva, Feb. 29—The Japanese Government proposed the negotiating significant diplomatic negotiations of the Far Eastern war crisis last night in separate talks for a complete re-statement of her case against China before the League of Nations League of Nations general assembly meeting.

The negotiations were described as a definite move. They involve all powers represented on the League of Nations council and the United States. It was understood.

Members of the Japanese delegation have personally visited almost all delegates to the council, in addition to sending formal memorandums to them, as individual representatives of their governments, outlining the Japanese proposals for cessation of fighting at Shanghai.

Naotake Sato began conferences with Joseph Paul-Boncour, French president of the council and Paul Hymans of Belgium, which is more likely to be chosen president of the General Assembly. It was understood Ambassador Matsudaira at Washington conferred with Secretary Henry L. Stimson.

All were informed of the Japanese terms under which a lasting truce might be developed, preferably through a round-table meeting of representatives of the powers at Shanghai. It was considered significant that the Manchurian situation was not mentioned in the memorandum. It considers its separate from the Shanghai warfare.

Five Points in Memorandum

The memorandum was understood to contain the following five points:

1.—Japan declares she has no intention of insisting her concession in Shanghai and that her armed forces are there only to protect Japanese lives and interests. Japan is willing to retire to within the international settlement, if the Chinese withdraw to a point consistent with safety—presumably 12½ miles from Shanghai.

2.—Japan points out that the Chinese 19th Route Army which has won fame defending Shanghai is comprised of "dangerous elements engaged in Communist agitation." In this connection the memorandum noted specifically the 61st division, commanded by General Chien. It was declared that General Chien was responsible for British and other interests at Shanghai in 1927 and that, while he is there, there cannot be any degree of safety or order.

3.—Japan suggests that, if both Chinese and Japanese withdraw there should be a round-table conference of the interested powers probably to establish a neutral zone at Shanghai.

Jap Navy Head

The appointments of Admiral Prince Hiroharu Fushimi (above) as Chief of Staff of the Imperial Japanese Navy is regarded as a strategic move by the Jingo (war party) at Tokyo. While a member of the Imperial family heads the army or navy, those departments cannot be publicly criticized.

Japan Outlines Case Privately to Members of Council

NEUTRAL ZONE

Presents Five Points as Settlement Basis Before Assembly Meets

Shanghai, Feb. 29.—(UP)—War fare on the Chapei and Kiangwan front broke out with a new intensity to-day.

Japanese marine headquarters claimed gradual advances in the shell-torn area in and around Chapei district, but Chinese were pouring a deadly artillery fire into the ruins of Kiangwan, which the Japanese had occupied over the week-end.

(By Morris J. Harris)

Shanghai, Feb. 29.—Chinese and Japanese artillery shook the countryside today in a bombardment which greeted fresh Japanese troops pouring into Shanghai from Woosung and punctuated reports of further efforts toward peace between the rival forces in the vicinity.

Kiangwan, focal point on the Chapei-Woosung battle line, had fallen to the Japanese, apparently without a struggle after days of attack there.

The big guns of both sides roared in Chapei and beyond toward Klang wan, however, splitting the thin atmosphere hanging over Shanghai in a constant, ear-splitting din.

The shelling began soon after day light and continued intermittently well into the afternoon.

If peace was near, it was not evident from the battle front.

General Shirakawa said the Japanese commander expected large Japanese forces to arrive in Shanghai today and tomorrow.

At least three Japanese troops came ashore within the international settlement from a tug that docks of the Japanese Steamship Line, in the guidance of a launch. Stones threw below the Japanese Consulate on the banks of the Whangpoo River.

WM. SOUTHAM PASSES ON

Pioneer of Press Dies in Hamilton, Aged 88 Year

Hamilton, Ont., Feb. 29—William Southam, pioneer of Canadian journalism, and head of the Southam Press, died on Saturday evening about 7 o'clock at his home, 163 Jackson Street West, at the age of 88. Mr. Southam had not been in robust health for some time, but he was able to be about, and usually visited his office in the Hamilton Spectator at least once a day. A few days ago his health began to fail, and he was confined to his home.

From a small beginning, he developed and directed a chain of papers that is the largest in the Dominion, and stretches from Eastern to Western Canada. He had high journalistic ideals, and adhered to them in all branches of the vast organization which bears his name. The Spectator was the first and oldest paper of the chain, and it was bound to Mr. Southam by strong ties of sentiment. Under his guidance it grew from a small journal to one of the most important dailies in Canada.

Public Interest.

Mr. Southam was a quiet, unobtrusive gentleman, who was seldom in the public eye, but his sense of public spirit was very large. He took a deep interest in his community and his country, and his journals always strove to further anything that was in the public policy or aimed to improve the well-being of the people. Mr. Southam was a kindly, philanthropic man. He gave generously to charity, and he and his late wife did much to found the Mountain Sanatorium here.

Mr. Southam's funeral will take place on Tuesday afternoon from Christ's Church Cathedral, the hour to be announced later.

RUSSIA WILL GIVE CONSENT TO USE LINE

Number of Japanese May Be Transported Over Chinese Eastern

MAKE CONDITIONS

Soviet Rights and Interests in Manchuria Must Be Respected

Moscow, Feb. 29—Soviet Russia gave permission Sunday for the movement of a limited number of Japanese troops in Manchuria over the Chinese Eastern Railway, which it partly owns, but again called upon Japan for an explanation of a reported massing of troops along the Russian frontier.

Russia, having charged Japan with supporting and protecting anti-Soviet White Russian activities in Manchuria, a charge on which Japan denied in reply, asked Japan to explain a concentration of soldiers on the Soviet border in Siberia.

L. M. Karakhan, acting Foreign Commissar, informed Kuki Hiroia, Japanese Ambassador, that the consent for troop movements as far as Imienpo and Hailin was conditioned on a Japanese promise to respect Soviet rights and interests in Northern Manchuria.

He raised the point that use of the railway "for strategical objects" would violate the Portsmouth Treaty of 1905 that ended the Russo-Japanese war, and asked Japan to state whether it intended to preserve the railroad's neutrality.

The Chinese Eastern Railway is jointly owned by Russia and China. The Japanese military command at Harbin, Manchuria, had requested 17 troop trains to move soldiers from Imienpo to Pogranichnaya.

Troops Needed for Protection

M. Karakhan charged last week that the troops were expected to be sent to the Soviet border. Kuki Hirota denied this and reiterated that the troops were necessary for the protection of Japanese subjects in the eastern part of Manchuria, owing to a "changing situation" there.

Russia consented to the movement of troops only from Harbin west to Imienpo or Hailin, at the utmost.

Russia also had asked for an explanation of the new Manchurian State, set up under Japanese auspices, and about reports that the Japanese command had proposed a lease of the railway and free transportation of troops, which M. Karakhan said was of a "political character and could not be decided by the railway management."

H. Hirota called at the Foreign Office today with a statement in reply to M. Karakhan's questions.

As Envoys Appealed for Peace

Ambassadors of three great powers are shown as they called on Japanese Foreign Minister Kenkichi Yoshizawa, at Tokio, to present notes from their governments protesting against the endangering of lives and property of their nationals in Shanghai. Left to right are Count Damien de Martel, France; W. Cameron Forbes, United States.

NORTH INDIANS NEGLECTED

Ottawa Claims Appalling Stories Are Exaggerated

Ottawa, Feb. 29—Startling stories of neglected Indian children in the Patricia District dying in slow agony of glandular tuberculosis, of hundreds going blind with trachoma, and others on the verge of starvation in this land of plenty, were receiving the attention of the Department of Indian Affairs over the week-end.

Before adequate and effective measures can be taken for the relief of Canada's suffering and starving wards in Northern Ontario, however, it may be necessary for some one to expose the shocking facts on the floor of Parliament itself.

Public attention has been called to the neglect of Indians in the Patricia district by John Butterfield, a prospector of twenty-years' experience in the Northland, who laid bare the harrowing details Saturday.

If John Butterfield will keep up the good work Canada needs the Charles Dickens to rouse public opinion on behalf of those unfortunate "wards of the Crown."

No Representation

Patricia is not represented in Parliament, which may partially explain why the Indians of the district have been so sadly neglected. The Indians have no votes; no one who lives in Patricia, not even in mining good work Canada needs the franchise, unless he goes somewhere else to exercise it. Consequently there is no one to speak for the Indians of Patricia. Nowhere, Hon. Peter Heenan, who represents the neighboring constituency of Kenora, is expected to bring the plight of the Indians to the attention of the government.

The Department of Indian Affairs admits there is some truth in Mr. Butterfield's allegations, but declares they are "grossly exaggerated." It submits as one excuse for neglect of the Indians in the Patricia District that it has no hospitals in that region. Another excuse is that the appropriation was cut down by $853,000 in the main estimates for the coming fiscal year and by $1,000,000 in the fiscal year now drawing to a close.

"We could spend all additional $1,000,000 looking after the health of Indians if we had it. We are doing the best we can with the money available," an official said.

Problem of Nomads

The department also explains that it is difficult to care for nomadic Indians. "Five million dollars would not do it." The total amount appropriated in the main estimates this year for Indian affairs is $4,107,000.

Revolution is Near in European Cities, Two Nations Report Today

Lisbon Says Rebels Plan to Cut Off Light and Water

FEARS ATTACKS

Fascists in Finland Ready to Strike With Armed Force

LISBON, Portugal, Feb. 29.—A revolutionary strike planned for today was called off at the last moment after the plot was divulged to the Government.

The Communist Party of Portugal ordered its members to remain at work, said two "traitors" in the party revealed the plans. The revolutionary outbreak, the Communists said, therefore was postponed to a more suitable time.

The Government had charged that the rebels planned to cut off the water and electrical supplies of Lisbon.

The authorities ordered troops in neighboring garrisons to be ready for any emergency.

Just before midnight last night London sources reported that telephonic communication between London and Lisbon had broken down. It was feared that serious trouble had broken out in the Portuguese Capital, in view of the fact that disorders were known to be expected on Monday morning. Madrid was also out of telephonic communication with Lisbon.

The Government, in announcing that the Lisbon police garrison and Republican Guards had been mobilized, declared the anti-revolt movement planned for today originated with Socialists, Radicals and students, who were termed revolutionaries. The Government said the students planned a great demonstration against President Oscar Carmona, and intended to create disorders as well as a general strike. Early last night police raided several meeting points for alleged revolutionaries and jailed many of them.

Trouble in Finland

Helsingfors, Finland, Feb. 29.—A concentration of thousands of the Lapua (the Finnish equivalent of Fascists) within 35 miles of Helsingfors, last night, led to an order to confine all troops to barracks. A march on the Capital was feared.

The Government learned that 4,000 armed men were concentrating in Mantsala Parish, and were saying they could muster 20,000 men for a march on Helsingfors. Hundreds more were reported en route from group warned a Social Democrat in the Finnish Diet, who was lecturing on Marxism never to show his face in Mantsala again. Party police were helpless to interfere.

Minister von Born before the Cabinet meeting last night, said the situation at Mantsala had created a "critical situation throughout the country."

"The police are absolutely powerless to deal with this kind of disturbance," he said, "and order can be restored only with the help of the army and the civil guard."

DOMINION STORES

MEAT MARKETS

2 lbs. Pork Chops 25c
½ lb. Bacon, 1 lb. Sausage, 1 lb. Liver for 25c
1 lb. Rd. Steak, ½ lb. Bacon for 25c
½ lb. B. Ham and ½ lb. Bacon for 25c
1 lb. Sausage and ½ lb. B. Ham for 25c
Finnan Haddies, 2 lbs. for 25c

Smoked Fillet or Salmon 15c

Phone 2310 — Free Delivery on All Meat Orders — Phone 286
170 Front St. — 225 Front St.

FATHER TIME PLAYS TRICK

64 Years Old Yet Mayor of Halifax—Had Only 16 Birthdays

HALIFAX, N. S.—George E. Hilchie, Mayor of Halifax, will observe the fourteenth anniversary of his birthday this month. Yet he was born 64 years ago.

It began like this: He was born on Feb. 29, 1868. According to rule, Leap Year comes once in four, giving him sixteen birthdays in his sixty-four years. But about the time the Census Bureau and the Gregorian Calendar, now in use, a discrepancy in time was discovered and to correct this, one day was taken out of each century. So around the first part of this century, the Mayor did not have a birthday for eight years. This represented two day years and two more anniversaries are deducted from his sixteen birthdays, leaving the fourteenth anniversary of his birthday to be celebrated on the 29th of this month.

Father Time has played a mean trick on His Worship, according to a story he tells. The favorite of the grandchildren, he was to receive a legacy from his grandmother on his twenty-first birthday. When he attained majority and joyously went to the law office for his grandmother's bequest, the bespectacled barrister told him it would be many many years before his twenty-first birthday. His Worship is still looking forward to receiving it.

Although he has been married for 39 years, he has only had nine birthdays in that time. According to this reasoning his youngest in birthdays than his youngest son, who is twenty-one years of age. Mayor Ritchie has eight children, five girls and three boys.

20 BODIES ARE LOCATED

Believe Other 18 Trapped in Virginia Mine, Are Dead

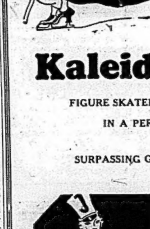
Pocahontas, Va., Feb. 29—Twenty bodies were located in the Island No. 3 Rosevain mine near here yesterday by rescue workers who, following a stream of gas, slate and fallen timber to reach 38 men trapped by the explosion yesterday.

Rescurers believe all of the men are dead. They said they expect to find the other 18 bodies soon. Hugh Frost, room to room and from entry to entry a crew of 80 pick-maked workers are exploring the workings of the mine, one of the largest operated by the Pocahontas Fuel Company. Of about 80 men in the mine only about a dozen escaped.

The Toronto Skating Club Presents

Kaleidoscope

THE WORLD'S MOST WONDEROUS SPECTACLE ON ICE



A COLORFUL AND MUSICAL EXTRAVAGANZA FOR THE EYE AND EAR

Kaleidoscope

FIGURE SKATERS OF THE WORLD IN A PERFORMANCE OF SURPASSING GRACE AND SKILL

ONE NIGHT ONLY!

at the

Belleville ARENA

Friday, March 11, 1932

Kaleidoscope

BALLET NUMBERS THAT THRILL WITH PRECISION OF MOVEMENT AND BEAUTY OF COSTUME

TRULY THE "SILVER ANNIVERSARY" CARNIVAL

ONE NIGHT ONLY

AUSPICES BELLEVILLE ROTARY CLUB—BENEFIT CRIPPLED CHILDREN'S FUND

Tickets 50c $1.00 $1.50

RESERVED SEATS AT CHAS. J. SYMONS' STORE, 206 FRONT STREET
GET YOUR TICKETS EARLY

So New This Year!

Sweaters are being knitted as fast as busy fingers and clicking needles can turn them out. And when these daintly garments become soiled

MODERN'S careful cleansing makes them new again without danger of stretching or shrinking.

MODERN

CLEANERS AND DYERS
192 Front St. Phone 729
If Modern Cleaned It's Clean

The Dime-a-Dance Girl

By Joan Clayton

He drew three typed sheets of paper aside, straightened a drawer, and slid them across the desk. Ellen read them, wondering. She knew what was coming. Knott, the buyer of misses' dresses. She looked at his sardonic face, and waited for a suggestion. The second, from Lorene, in the millinery. Lorene's quaint notations and asked for the buyer's approval. Across the bottom of the sheet Lorene had scrawled: "Let me see her." Ellen thrust consented a brief response: that Ellen should be given an interview.

Other buyers saw employees and dresses in their own fields, but Knott preferred Ellen looked in on him. Julius Knott telephoned once about 15 minutes ago asking you to come and see her about this morning."

Ellen shrugged again at the slips in her hand. A faint color rose in her face. It was true that every salesgirl to become a buyer. A dream few realized. Buyers moved in a world apart from other salary employees. They came and went almost at will. The girl had unexpected thrill at the idea of becoming included in such a select group a thrill that was colored by the thought of leaping over the heads of her fellows and escaping the reach of their cruel tongues.

"Don't think I'm impertinent," she said with youthful awkwardness as she did you suggest you because you thought I was qualified to be a buyer or because you liked me?"

"I was afraid you'd ask that," responded with a rueful, but pleased laugh. "I'll try to be honest. I think it was a mixture of the two. You're intelligent and you have taste and that qualifies you for a buyer. I did suggest you because I like you—although that's a poor way of putting it."

Ellen flushed furiously.

"You're to understand there are no strings to the job," he remarked suddenly, finishing in turn. "But you do understand that, don't you?"

He longed to tell her, he wanted her to know, that she held a place in his life apart from any other human being. He wanted her to know that it was not a pure coincidence that had caused him to lay in her lap but everything beautiful and lovely in the world. Jewels she should have—jewels and furs and clothes. He wanted to wrap her in the garment of his love and her world at her feet. But he lacked the words to say such things.

Ellen suspected dimly what it must have cost him to say so this. How easy and simple he had made her path and with what intricacies and complications he had ensnared her gratitude and relief she never saying just then the words she had longed to hear.

"I know you wouldn't tie strings to anything you offered me," she said last unequivocally, feeling for the second time a slight treacherous weakness running through her body. "I'm sure you'll be glad to know you're the kindest man I've ever met."

The kindest man she had ever met! Steven would have preferred something else, perhaps. Ellen had said that. His dark eyes lighted. He leaned across the desk that separated them.

"Then you won't be afraid of any more, dear?"

"No."

"You won't suspect my motives again?"

"No," she murmured.

How grateful she was just then! How much she admired and respected him! How unlike him in Steven's absence! As he reached out to grasp her hand, the telephone rang shrilly and imperiously. The moment was broken. The spell that had been woven about them was broken, though he removed his hand. Ellen felt that whoever Barclay saw that Ellen was relieved, saw that telephone call had saved her from its triumph. He was too wise to attempt to recapture a mood that had passed.

"You'd better see Miss Knott immediately," he said in a matter of fact way.

"I'll do that. And thank you again."

As she girl slipped out of the office she—wondered.

XXX

Lorene Knott proved to be a smart, thin woman who carried a pugnacious head and a nervous manner to manage it. After several questions personally asked and nervously answered she pronounced herself satisfied. There had been no question of salary between Ellen and herself, but Lorene had intimated that Ellen's work had been adequate, was stupefied with delight to learn that as an assistant buyer she would receive $50 a week. That was $20 more than a salesgirl in Ellen's stockings received.

"Are you sure it's $50 a week?" Ellen inquired, to say.

"Perfectly sure," Lorene responded with a cryptic smile. Inwardly the older woman sighed a little for the sheer high youth of the girl before her. Years ago $20 extra each week would have changed entirely the course of Lorene Knott's life. Now a raise meant only that she could buy a little more fun in her odd hours. She roused from her dream of long ago and smiled at Ellen.

"I hope $50 a week will be satisfactory."

"Satisfactory? Oh!" Ellen stammered. "That's not the word at all. It's simply perfect. You can't know how perfect it is. Just wait till my mother hears this!"

Then and there, only a sudden doubt smote her. She flushed furiously.

"Is there something else you want to ask?" Lorene said.

"Why, yes." Ellen conceded in a low tone. She struggled a moment and finally got it out. "Is there a regular starting salary for assistant buyers?"

"It's the regular salary," Lorene replied promptly and unfeelingly. Since receiving Steven Barclay's instructions Lorene, not unnaturally, had been prepared to dislike the recipient of his favor. Ellen's innocent embarrassed and proud little question had changed all that, had promptly made a place for her in Lorene's affection.

Entirely reassured, Ellen ran to telephone her mother, literally up in the seventh heaven. Everything was marvelous. When the girl returned to the basement to remove her belongings, she was so lightheaded she felt almost giddy. What did she care for the other girls now? She was an assistant buyer! An assistant buyer with a salary of $50 a week. In her line at all the best once would be paid again. Fifty dollars a week! That was wealth.

Jenny was consumed with curiosity, eager to apologize and to make friends again, but Ellen gave her no chance. She gathered up her comb, brush and the mirror and kept tucked away under the counter. She was pretending that Jenny, Mrs. Bondy and all others had nothing to do with her.

She knew well enough that a scandalous inference could and probably would be drawn from her sudden rise in the world but she would not think of that. Nothing should be permitted to spoil her pleasure. What the others said would not affect her.

It could, of course. But not then. She turned from the counter, her arms full of her small possessions. Ellen walked straight into someone.

"I beg your pardon!" she said quickly.

"Aren't you even going to give me a glance?" Larry Harrowgate exclaimed.

For a second she was bewildered. Then her face lighted and her heart leaped upward.

"Larry!"

"I've been hanging around for 15 minutes," he was saying excitedly. "I thought you'd never come. Here, someone help!"

He attempted to relieve her of the bundled assortment in her arms. Conscious of Jenny's open mouth and equally open curiosity, Ellen flushed and shook her head.

"You shouldn't have come here," she said acutely, moving away.

"Aren't you glad to see me?"

"Of course I am, silly," she told him with a confused laugh.

How handsome he was. She loved the way he kept in step with her. She loved his clothes, obviously from the best tailor they were causing on the floor. They did look a trifle odd—the double-breasted youth jackets and the girl in workaday store costume with neat paper cuffs and sensible shoes. Ellen knew that. But she felt a delicious thrill as he explained that he had learned from Salomon where she worked day times. That must mean something! It would certainly mean something if upon that Larry were concerned. But for that harm-season, she already knew. To have an impulse was to obey it.

Our old friend Salomon was convinced my interest was often dishonorable," he remarked impudently, glancing furtively at her. "I had to tell him that I only meant to carry you off to lunch. Will you? Or are you carrying you off to lunch?"

"I'm afraid not," she explained with a serious but businesslike air. "I've a new job and I mean to learn so much in the next few days—today."

"Nonsense," he protested. "Surely you aren't saying you prefer a career to me, Ellen?" He was a cheap and attempting to ignore his soiled collar and dubious conversation, when she had begun to place toward the stairway to see Larry entering. Her heart missed a beat; her feet missed a step. Larry caught her eye. Then two young people smiled contentedly and to Ellen the night burst into bloom. She could hardly contain herself until the dance was over and she could rush to the table where Larry was impatiently awaiting her.

"I'm terribly sorry about this morning," he said immediately.

"That's all right," she told him feeling irrationally idiotically happy.

"No it isn't all right. There's more to it than that," he said suddenly after they were both sitting.

dissatisfaction with the world was due to her double failure. Realization did not better matters.

That night at Breamland she did not expect Larry. All the afternoon she had tried to make herself understand that it was entirely possible she might never see him again. So the evening was stale and flat to her; the dancing boring and her own popularity boring. She hated dancing with the men who frequented Breamland, hated the jokes and gab, the tinny, mechanical music. But it was her job—even if it was to last only a short time now—and she set herself resolutely to it.

Toward 10 o'clock she was dancing with a blond young Slav—not a

"I'm very much afraid that you and I had better watch our step."

His expression was odd and constrained. He leaned over and began to play with a bangle she wore on her arm. She watched him expectantly.

"What do you mean?" she asked. "What do you mean?" he echoed foolishly.

Ellen looked at him sharply. She wondered for a moment if he had been drinking. The lights had been dimmed for a moonlight waltz. The single shaft of light from the artificial moon fell across the table but his face was in the shadow.

"I just wanted to know," she resumed in a strained way, "what you meant by saying that we'd have to watch our step."

"Oh that!"

He laughed. The lights came up as the music stopped and she saw that his mysterious confusion had left him. She saw too that he had not been drinking. His was simple and natural, at ease again.

"Don't you know, Ellen?"

"No, I don't know."

Her heart was beginning to pound.

"Well, I was jealous as the very devil this morning," he confessed smiling at her. "Jealous of your self and very being more interested in that than in having lunch with me! You know what that means, I suppose?"

"What?"

(TO BE CONTINUED)

TILLIE THE TOILER

By Russ Westover.

BRINGING UP FATHER

—By George McManus.

THE BEASTS OF TARZAN, No. 47.

(Metropolitan Newspaper Service)

By Edgar Rice Burroughs.

No sooner had the Beasts of Tarzan vanished than Rokoff rose from his hiding place and raced through the jungle as fast as his legs could carry him. His one thought was to put as much distance as possible between himself and that frightful pack. So it happened that as Jane came to the river's bank, down which she hoped to float to the ocean and eventful rescue, Rokoff was but a short distance behind.

Upon the bank the girl found a great dugout tied to a tree. After an hour's work she was pushing it free from the retarding mud when she saw a man running toward her. A little cry of terror rose to her lips. It was Rokoff. Another moment and the dugout would be free. She worked furiously. With a sudden lurch the dugout swung quickly into the current, just as Rokoff reached to grab its bow.

His fingers did not miss their goal by six inches. The girl almost collapsed from the nervous strain of the past few minutes. But, thank fortune, at last she was free. Soon she breathed a silent prayer of thanksgiving, she saw an expression of triumph lighten the face of the cursing Russian. He dropped suddenly to the ground, grasping firmly to some thing which wriggled through the mud toward the water.

Jane crouched, wide eyed and horror stricken, in the bottom of the boat, as she realized that at the last moment success had been turned to failure, and that she was indeed again in the Russian's power. For the thing that the man had seen and grasped was the end of the trailing rope with which the dugout had been moored to the tree. But his smile of leering triumph was destined to be short lived.

Radio Features

MONDAY FEATURES

4.00—The Rhythm Kings—CFRB
4.45—Colorado Cowboys—CKGW.
5.00—Buddy Wagner Orch.—CFRB
5.15—Newscast—CFRB.
5.45—Rhythm Boys Orch.—CKGW
6.05—Waldorf Orch.—CKGW.
6.30—Singin' de Tunes—CFRB.
6.30—Geo. Hall Orch.—WKBW.
6.30—Royal Vagabonds—WJZ.
6.45—Stebbins Boys—WHAM.
7.00—Amos 'n Andy—NBC.
7.15—Bedtime Stories—CFCA.
7.15—H. Lanin Orch.—CKGW.
7.30—Prince Albert Prog.—WEAF
7.45—Chat. Laurier Orch—CFRB.
8.00—Rosemyrtle Sketch—WHAM.
8.00—Carnation Contented—CKGW
8.15—Univ. of Toronto—CFRB.
8.30—Voice of Firestone—WEAF.
8.45—Colonel and Budd—WGR.
9.00—The Gold Dust Prog.—WEAF.
9.00—The Mills Bros.—WKBW.
9.00—Ipana Troubadours—CFCA.
9.00—Hockey—CKCL.
9.15—Penn. R. R. Dinner—WGR.
9.30—Parade of States—WEAF.
9.30—Kensington Band—CFRB.
10.00—Canada's Mounted—CKGW.
10.00—Ben Bernie Orch.—CFRB.
10.30—Royal York Orch.—CFRY.
10.30—Mr. Bones and Co.—WEAF.
10.45—Chat. Laurier Orch.—CFRB.
10.30—Joe de Courcy Orch.—CKNC
10.45—"Leap Year"—WJZ.
10.45—Origin of Leap Day—CFRB.
11.00—Slumber Music—CKGW.
11.00—Newscast—CFRB.
11.00—Waldorf-Astoria—WEAF.
11.15—H. Barlow Orch.—CFRB.
11.30—King Edward Orch.—CKGW
11.30—Organ, J. Crawford—WEAF
11.45—Enric Madriguera—CBS.
12.00—Geo. Shackley—WGR.
12.30—Jane Froman Orch.—WJZ.
12.30—Dorsey's Orch.—CBS.
12.00—Don Pedro Orch.—WEAF.
12.00—Peter Van Steeden—WJZ
12.30—Carl Moore Orch.—WEAF.
12.30—Andy Sannella Orch.—WTAM.
12.30—Johnny Hamp Orch.—WJR.
12.30—Tom Gerun Orch.—CFRB.
1.00—Claude Hopkins—WABC
1.30—Gus Arnheim Orch.—WABC

TUESDAY FEATURES

6.45—Tower Rascals—CKGW.
8.00—Breakfast Program—CKNC
8.30—Morning Devotions—WHAM
8.35—Morning Watch—CFRB.
9.30—Little Jack Little—CFRB.
9.30—Tom the Minute Man—WHAM
9.35—Tony's Scrap Book—CFRB.
10.15—Clara, Lu and Em—WHAM
10.15—Breen and de Rose—WEAF
10.45—Happy Band—CFRB.
10.45—Big Ben's Drama—WEAF.
11.45—Ben Alley, tenor—CFRB.
12.00—C. R. Hoins Chris—WHAM
12.13—Weather Bulletin—CFRB.
12.15—Boulanger Orch.—CFRB.
12.30—Farm and Home—WJZ.
10.45—Jack Miller—CFRB.
11.00—Slumber Music—WJZ
11.00—Willard Robinson—WGR
11.00—Newscast—CFRB.
11.00—Jesse Crawford—WEAF.
11.15—Al Barlow Orch.—CFRB
11.30—Hal White Orch.—CKAC.
11.30—Jack Denny Orch.—WEAF.
11.30—Rosebowlers—WGR.
11.30—Dream Pictures—WJZ
11.30—Geo. Olsen Orch.—CFRB.
12.00—Gus Arnheim Orch.—CBS.
12.00—News of the North—CKAC.
12.00—Enric Palmquist's Orch.—WJZ.
12.05—Pennsylvania Orch.—WEAF.
12.15—Charlie Agnew Orch.—WJZ.
12.15—Orazio J. H. Mortgage—CFRB.
12.45—The Stebbins Boys—WEAF
1.00—Eddie Black Orch.—CFRB.
1.00—Hotel Bossert Orch.—WABC.
1.30—Claude Hopkins—WABC

By Leila E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Had had dizzy spells

Afraid to leave house . . . found awful dizziness would make her keel over. She reads Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in tablet form.

SCREEN ATTRACTIONS
Present and Prospective

Previews and Reviews of Current Offerings at Belleville Theatres

At The Belle

GARBO AND NOVARRO HEAD CAST IN "MATA HARI"

Tuesday, Downers night!

This is probably the most impressive cast ever assembled for a talking picture will be seen today, Tuesday and Wednesday at the Belle Theatre, when "Mata Hari", co-starring Greta Garbo and Ramon Novarro, opens for three days.

Not content with placing two of the screen's greatest drawing cards in the leading roles of this romantic production, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer assigned prominent supporting parts to Lionel Barrymore, who recently won the "Academy award" for the finest screen performance of 1931; Lewis Stone, C. Henry Gordon, Karen Morley, Alec B. Francis, Blanche Frederici, Edmund Breese, Helen Jerome Eddy and Frank Reicher. The direction of the picture was entrusted to George Fitzmaurice, who achieved such fine results with "Strangers May Kiss."

The story of "Mata Hari" is based on the life of the notorious spy dancer whose intrigues as a spy during the World War resulted in her execution by a French firing squad. This famous woman was as well known for her love affairs as for her espionage manoeuvers and it is on this angle of her life that the plot of the picture is centered. Garbo, of course, plays the dancer, while Novarro is cast as a young Russian flyer, whom she betrays.

British Garbo, who made a sensation in "Susan Lenox" and Novarro, who made his films was the combination for "Son of India", are said to have the most dramatic and effective roles of their respective screen careers, while the supporting names are said to include even the famous Garbo-Gilbert "sizzlers" of silent screen days.

Report in every effort was made by the M-G-M publicity chief, Howard Strickling, the background was ransled by its exceptional story and cast with the result that the picture is said to have the most artistic and the most brilliant photographic effects ever achieved by graphic effects ever achieved by this company in any of its talking films. This applies also to Miss Garbo's gowns, which are expected to set a new note for the extreme in ultra-modernism.

Plans Opens

The plan for the Spring Style Show at the Capitol next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights at 7.30 is now opened at the theatre. Seats can be reserved at the small admission of 40c. The stage and screen presentations are to occupy three hours.

The new Golden Gate span plans to speed 15,000 vehicles hourly over the largest bridge of its kind in the world. It has a capacity load of 40,000,000 vehicles a year.

At The Capitol

"MEN IN HER LIFE" ENGAGING ROMANCE

The dove and the hawk mate in "Men in Her Life," at the Capitol Theatre, this week, for Lois Moran playing the girl who flies away from the dovecote to seek romance and Charles Bickford portraying the lion who proves less fearsome to the girl than the wolves in sheep's clothing she has been meeting.

To drop the metaphor, Julia Cavanaugh is discovered in Europe just as she has made up her mind to keep a tryst with Count Ivan Karloff. Julia is an inveterate seeker after romance, but she soon gains make up her mind when she has found the real thing and when it is only about. She has convinced herself that the romantic Count is genuinely in love with her and finally when the news of the loss of her entire fortune brings to her the state of his heart. News of her approaching marriage to Count Karloff on the front page of the London Herald, her trail with blackmail. Flash Elliott and the most brilliant private detective and the most brilliant private detective and the most brilliant private detective